Q. That report purports to show the age of H Carter—where did you get the information, if you got it, as a basis of making that report, in so far as it shows his age? A. From him.

Q. From him. Did you record the age as he gave it to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I notice that report shows also the name of the pupil Viola Carter; she is the other Carter child of whom you spoke, is she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That purports to give her age. Is the same thing true with reference to her age that it was with reference to his—as to the source of your information?

Mr. Blakeney: I object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and not the best evidence.

Q. I will change the question. Where did you get the information as to Viola's age which you put in that report?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, I suspect as well as I can remember that I got it from her; at least that is the only source that I can remember.

Mr. German: I want to offer in evidence Government's Exhibit No. 27.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and we ask that we be permitted to examine her on voire dire as to the competency of this evidence, and prefer making that a part of our cross examination, as other exhibits will probably be identified by her.

Q. Miss Bryon, I hand you Government's Exhibit No. 28 and will ask you to examine it and state what that is?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, that is a teacher's term report to the District Clerk.

Q. Is that one of your reports? A. I think so.

Q. Please see, Madam, whether you signed it.

A. Yes, I did.

Q. Is the writing in the body of the report, your own?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year is that report for?

Mr. Blakeney: We object, the report would be the best evidence, if material.

A. For the term ending 1899.

Q. In the spring? A. In the spring, 1899.

Q. When did you make up that report, Miss Bryon, with reference to the end of the school term of '98 and '99? What time in the—what time did you make it up, approximately?

A. Well, I can't answer that because I don't remember.

Q. Was it while the school was going on, or at the close of school?

A. At the close of school but I don't remember just the time.

Q. That report, Miss Bryon, purports to show the name of H. Carter as a pupil and to give his age. Please state where you got the information upon which you made that report.

> Mr. Blakeney: If you know. The opportunity of her knowledge how she knows is first to be inquired about. The question in the present form is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, as I remember, I got it from him but I don't know.

Q. Well, where did you get the ages of the children?

A. I always took the ages from the children; that is I asked them.

Q. And you entered that on the record?

A. And entered that.

Q. That was your practice? A. Yes, sir.

> Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and move to strike that out because I didn't have time to interpose that objection. I move to strike it out.

Q. When did you obtain from the pupils, their ages, Miss Bryon? What time during the session?

A. When they entered school.

Q. When they entered? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Would you ascertain from them their ages any time after that during that session? A. No, sir.

Q. The report for 1897 and '98 that you have testified about, what time was it prepared by you, approximately?

A. The report of '97, did you say?

Q. Yes, '97 and '98, the first term that you were there?

A. Well, after the term sometime; I don't know just how many days, or anything like that.

Q. Would it be very long after the term?

A. No, perhaps the next day.

Q. Would you or not take into consideration in making that report, the fact that some of the children may have passed a birthday during the term—school term—at that particular term? What I mean is, that they would give you their ages upon school opening in the fall; then some of them might have birthdays during the term. Would you make any inquiries upon that subject, or take that into consideration?

A. No, sir.

Q. Then, your report, made at the conclusion of the term, would show their ages as given at the beginning of the term?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who were those Carter children living with?

A. With an elderly gentleman named Carter, as I understood from the District——

Q. Colored or white?

A. Well, his last name was Carter; just Mr. Carter.

Q. I said, colored or white?

A. Well, I beg your pardon. He was colored; at least, I supposed he was—I never saw him.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike that as incompetent.

Q. What relationship did he bear to these children?

Mr. Blakeney: I object to the competency of the witness.

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever learn who the parents of H. Carter were?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, hearsay, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. No, sir, I did not.

Q. Did he make any statement to you on that subject?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever inquire to him as to who his parents were? A. No, sir, not to my memory, I did not.

Q. Do you recall now who the Secretary—know who the District Clerk of School District No. 53 was while you were teaching there?

A. Well, the Board was changed while I was there and I don't know. Let me see—I believe it was Mr. Post. I think it was, at least.

Q. That it was Mr. Post? A. Yes, sir.

Q. C. J. Post, of Ackerland? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was that—what name did that District bear?

A. Do you mean the number or the——

Q. The name. It was No. 53. A. Brown School.

Q. Known as the Brown School?

A. The Brown School.

Q. Where was that school with reference to the town of McLouth?

A. Well, it was northeast of McLouth; I don't just know how far—I think it was northeast, at least. I have been at McLouth.

Q. Approximately how far?

A. Well, I should think four or five miles perhaps.

Q. It is in what part of Leavenworth County?

A. Well, let me think.

Q. What direction is it from the city of Leavenworth?

A. It is west and a little bit southwest, I believe.

Q. About how far?

A. Oh, I should think 17 or 18 miles, perhaps further than that, I don't know.

Q. Miss Bryon, do you recall whether H. was in school the last term you taught there, which was the school term of 1899 and 1900? A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. If you see a list of the pupils for that year, would it refresh your memory in any way with reference to that matter?

A. Well, I would probably know whether he was there or not, if I saw a list—a complete list.

Q. Will you please examine the paper which I hand you?

Mr. Blakeney: Object.

Q. Which purports to be your report for the school term of 1899 and 1900.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to her using this list as she hasn't stated it could refresh her memory. The list hasn't been identified and is not competent.

Q. State what that is, please Ma'am?

A. That is a teacher's term report to the District Clerk.

Q. For what year?

A. The year of 1900. This is the spring of 1900.

Q. Ending in the spring of 1900? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. German: Will you mark that please, Mr. Examiner? It will be number 29.

Q. Miss Bryon, is that report which is now Government Exhibit No. 29—was that report made up [] you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Signed by you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you put in all your report the names—your term report—the names of all your pupils who attended that school for that term?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you looked over the list of names in that report—Exhibit No. 29? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Does that in any way enable you to refresh your memory as to whether or not H. Carter attended your school that term? A. I don't remember his being there that term.

Q. I see. If he had been, you would have put his name—A. I would have reported it, no doubt.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the last question and answer and move to strike it out as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and not tending to prove any facts.

Mr. German: We offer Exhibit No. 29.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to Exhibit No. 29 for the reason that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Miss Bryon, this report made in the spring of 1900, shows the name of Viola Carter, and in the proper column is an age for her; where did you get the information which you put in there as to her age?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. From her, as I remember it.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Is it Miss Bryon? A. Bryon.

Q. It is Miss, still, is it? A. It is.

Q. Miss Bryon, you have used the expression several times, as I remember, of some fact given? A. Yes.

Q. Do I understand from that that you have no distinct recollection of it, except as you see matters in the report?

A. I didn't get your question.

Q. You have no recollection of any of the ages of the pupils there except as you have examined your report?

A. No, I have not.

Q. You had a book, didn't you, in which you entered the names of the pupils, and their ages, and studied that they had, and grades? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you kept that up from day to day? A. I did.

Q. And then at the end of a term you made out these reports from that book—is that right or not?

A. You mean the attendance, and age, and such as that?

Q. Yes, ma'am; anything that you put in this report—any of the matters that you have in this report, you got out of that book? A. Out of the daily register, yes, sir.

Q. Out of the daily register. That is true of all three of the reports that you have identified, being Exhibits 27, 28, and 29, is it? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We ask that this part of our examination be directed toward the objection which we interposed to each of these exhibits.

Q. Miss Bryon, what do these marks indicated in these reports? A. You mean those?

Q. The marks in columns, yes, ma'am.

A. Well, it means that such a person was in that.

Q. Had those studies? A. Had those studies.

Q. As an illustration, in Exhibit No. 27, we take the first name there of Lottie Fox, under the column somebody's copy book. A. Laura Bush, number 2.

Q. You have a straight mark; that means that——

A. That she studied that particular book, and that is true of the rest.

Q. Now, Henry Carter, whose name appears in this same exhibit last referred to, attended—you have first, age 16; number of days attending 61; and you go over to column marked copy book and you have——

A. No, I think not; I think it is the next.

Q. Henry Carter, the first mark, I notice, is under copy book; that shows that he was using that—that he was writing, in other words—studying writing, using copy book—is that right? A. Yes.

Q. Then, going over to the next entry in the same exhibit, we have Speller; under column Speller, you have a straight line—that indicates that he was studying Speller? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you go over to the Fifth Reader—is that right? He was in the Fifth Reader? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And so forth. These entries show what studies they were using? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, I notice in Exhibit No. 28, now, which was the following year Exhibit No. 27 referring to the term opening September 13, '97, and closing April 7, '98, Exhibit 28 referring to term opening September, '98, and closing April, '99, I notice that Henry Carter's age is corrected as 19? A. Yes.

Q. And you have no explanation for it except as a rule that you took what they said about their ages, and you supposed that he must have made that statement to you?

A. That is as nearly as I remember.

Q. You have no remembrance about it but you judge that from an examination of your report, is that right? A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember Henry telling you that he didn't know how old he was? A. I don't think I do.

Q. You don't remember anything about that? A. No, sir.

Q. If you had any talk with him about his age and he told you he didn't know his age, you don't recall it?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. As I understood you, you said that when he first entered your school in '97 in the fall, that H. was at any rate 16 years old? A. That I thought he was.

Q. Yes, if not older? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike out the answer as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial. I want to move now to strike out both of those answers as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and not re-direct and a statement of no fact.

Q. Miss Bryon, was there anything about H. that attracted your attention when he first entered the school?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as not proper redirect.

A. Well, I don't know just what you mean.

Q. Was there anything about his appearance or his dress?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as not proper redirect.

A. Well, as I remember him the first day that he entered school, he had on a sort of a cut-away coat, and he was tall, and while he was quite slight, yet he was rather tall, and in that way I judged him to be in at least 16, but I don't know his definite age, only as he told me.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Bertha Covington, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript beginning at page 854.

And thereupon BERTHA COVINGTON being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. State your name. A. Bertha Covington.

Q. Where do you live? A. Omaha, Nebraska.

Q. What age are you? A. 39—going on 39.

Q. You are now 38? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When will you be 39? A. The 14th day of February.

Q. Four days from today? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were your born?

A. I think it is just about three miles from McLouth, Kansas.

Q. Who is your father and mother?

A. John and Maria Yoakum.

Q. They live here in Leavenworth, now?

A. Yes, sir, 705 Shawnee.

Q. You were born, you say, near McLouth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where with reference to your grandfather, Henry Carter's place?

A. Well, I can't say just what the distance is but it is close to where his place is at.

Q. Were you born on his place? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever live on his place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you were a child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year were you born in? A. '77.

Q. February 14th, '77? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know H. Carter? A. I do.

Q. Do you know Viola Carter? A. I do.

Q. Where is Viola living now, if you know?

A. Out at aunt Susie's, on grandpa's place—Susie Smith.

Q. At the old Henry Carter home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is northeast of McLouth? A. It is northeast.

Q. A little more nearly east than northeast, isn't it?

A. Yes, I think it is, but I know it is north. You have to go north here from McLouth, to go to grandpa's place.

Q. About 18 miles southwest of Leavenworth?

A. I can't exactly say, but I think it about 24 miles; I am not sure.

Q. 24 miles? A. I think it is—I won't say for sure.

Q. Do you remember Henry Carter as a child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. A little child? A. Because I used to nurse him.

Q. How? A. I have nursed him.

Q. That is, you have held him in your lap? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you any children? A. No, sir.

Q. About how old was he when you first remember him?

A. A little baby—a little bit of thing.

Q. Where was it that he lived when you first knew him?

A. He was at my mamma's house.

Q. Your mother's house? How far did you live from your grandfather's at that time?

A. Oh, let me see; it might have been a half mile, and might not have been so far. It didn't take us no time to get over there.

Q. Right there on your grandfather's place?

A. Yes, sir, it was on his place.

Q. Do you remember how old you were when you first remember him? A. No, I can't remember that.

Q. Did your parents move away from your grandfather's place? A. Yes.

Q. How old were you when they moved away?

A. Well, I can't say just how old I was but I remember when we moved.

Q. How? A. I remember when we moved.

Q. Were you still just a child? A. Yes.

Q. Where did you move to? A. Down on Big Stranger.

Q. Do you remember how long you lived on Big Stranger?

A. No, I don't remember just how long but we weren't down there so overly long; it might have been a year or two—something like that.

Q. Then where did you move to?

A. Here in town; Leavenworth, on Pottawatomie street.

Q. How big a child was Henry, or H, I should say; what did you call him, Henry, or H? A. H.

Q. How big a child was H when your parents moved off of your grandfather's farm?

A. Oh, I can't just remember just how large he was.

Q. Was there any sister or brother of yours younger than you? A. One.

Q. What is her name? A. Annie.

Q. Annie? A. Yes.

Q. Angy—is she called Angy?

A. No, Annie, and then Minnie—but Minnie died.

Q. What is the name of this sister of yours who just left the witness stand? A. Angy.

Q. Is she older or younger than Annie?

A. She is the youngest child.

Q. Youngest of all? A. Yes.

Q. She older or younger than Minnie?

A. She is younger—my mother's youngest child.

Q. Did you say Minnie died? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then Annie was just younger than you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Minnie was just younger than Annie?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Angy was just younger than Minnie?

A. Quite a good deal younger.

Q. Were any of those children a nursing baby when H was a nursing baby?

A. Yes, Annie and Minnie both; they both nursed because Annie wasn't much older than Minnie.

Q. At the same time that H was nursing? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much older—what do you mean by nursing?

A. Well, they nursed their mother's breast, I guess; I guess that is what they meant. Isn't that what it is? I never nursed any, I don't know.

Q. Well, that is the only meaning it has.

A. Because I never did have any; I never did nurse any.

Q. How much older are you than Annie?

A. Well, they was—I am a year and nine months; of course I can't tell——

Q. Do you know how much older than Minnie, Annie was? A. They said nine months.

Q. Do you know how much Minnie was then Angie?

A. Must have been three or four years, or five—or something—or six—or something like that. I can't just say.

Q. You say Minnie died when she was a baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old was she, did you know?

A. They said she was seven months.

Q. After you moved to Stranger, did you see H any?

A. Not until after I moved to Leavenworth.

Q. Then did you see him very often?

A. Went out there pretty near every summer.

Q. Every summer? A. Pretty near; not every summer.

Q. Did you see him frequently?

A. When I went out there.

Q. Where did he live? A. At grandpa's.

Q. Old man Henry Carter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know whether he went to school out there?

A. Well, I guess he must have; I didn't see him.

Q. You didn't see him?

A. No, because I wasn't out there; all I know is they say he did.

Q. You needn't to tell what they say.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the answer; not only object to the answer but object to the question—it is apparent that she can't have no information.

Q. Whatever became of H? Did he ever leave out there?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. Did you ever know about his going to Indian Territory? A. Well, I was in Omaha.

Q. When did you marry? A. 1902.

Q. And went to Omaha then? A. No.

Q. When did you go? A. 1898.

Q. You went to Omaha in 1898? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has that been your home ever since? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was child was H, if you know?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness; not an attempt to ask for any facts, but an attempt to ask for a conclusion.

Mr. German: I withdraw the question.

Q. Did H have any sister or brother?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the question; as to the competency of the witness, and to the—I want it to appear in the record that the Government's theory of this matter is definite and is an attempt to establish it without proving any fact, either by anything—asks for a conclusion and asks the question so that it will illicit a conclusion of the witness.

A. Viola.

Q. Who was the older? A. H.

Q. Viola or H?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and asking for a mere conclusion. I interposed the objection just as counsel completed the question; the answer the witness gave was an interruption of counsel's question and before it was completed.

Q. About what was the difference between their ages?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as improper and it asks for a conclusion of the witness which is incompetent.

A. Well, I just can't say but I don't think there was very much difference; might have been a year or two or something like that.

Q. Where was Viola born, if you know?

Mr. Blakeney: We object on the same ground that we stated. Counsel understands that the question will permit the witness to give her conclusions and not to state any facts; purposely asked to get the improper conclusion in the record as evidence.

A. Grandpa's house.

Q. Was that before or after you left your grandpa's farm to move to Stranger? A. Before.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Bertha, do you remember the names of your brothers and sisters? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well now, commence at the top and tell them to me; what is your oldest brother or sister named? A. Henryetta.

Q. Alright. A. Johnnie.

Q. Johnnie. A. Mary.

Q. Mary. A. Lillie.

Q. Lillie.

A. Emma, Tommy, Ethel, and myself, Bertha; then Annie, then Minnie, and then Angie.

Q. Well, did any of your sisters ever have nicknames? Was one of them ever called Babe? A. That is my aunt.

Q. That is your aunt; Babe is your aunt? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Those were all the brothers and sisters?

A. What I called over—but not Babe; that is my aunt.

Q. I called those you mentioned were your brothers and sisters? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know where Viola is now?

A. Out to aunt Susie's.

Q. Do you know where she has lived during all these years? A. Out to aunt Susie's, on grandpa's place.

Q. That is your grandpa's original place, is it Bertha?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has Viola ever married? A. Not that I know of.

Q. The little boy that was called H Carter over there—was that a nickname which you gave him?

A. I didn't give it to him; they did, so it must have been a nickname.

Q. What was your grandfather's name? A. Henry Carter.

Q. Henry Carter; do you know whether they called him H instead of Henry?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as calling for a conclusion, and incompetent.

Q. They called him H, did they? A. Yes.

Q. Do you know after whom he was named?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for a conclusion and incompetent.

A. Grandpa.

Q. Named after your grandpa? A. Yes.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the last question as asking for a conclusion, and incompetent.

Q. Your sister Lillie, was she the very light woman on the stand here? A. Yesterday?

Q. Yes. A. Yes.

Q. Called Mrs. Williams? A. Yes.

Q. Is older or younger than you, Bertha?

A. Why, she is a whole lot older than me.

Q. Older than you? A. Yes.

Q. Now, how far did you live from your grandfather's place?

A. Well, I can't say exactly. It might be a half mile, and still it might not be so far.

Q. Did you children go continuously back and forth from your mother's place to your grandfather's place?

A. Yes, would go up there every day.

Q. I asked you whether or not you saw this boy Henry there every day when you went there?

A. Yes, after he was taken back over to grandmother's.

Q. You saw him there? A. Yes, used to hold him.

Q. Do you know whether or not a certain Henry Carter is in this law suit—claims to be in this law suit?

A. Well, I can't say, because I haven't seen him.

Q. You haven't seen him. A. Because I can't say.

Q. How long since you saw him?

Mr. Blakeney: There is not any controversy about that fact.

Mr. Stuart: We want to identify him.

Mr. Blakeney: We admit the identification that the Henry Carter who she is testifying about, is the Henry Carter in the suit.

Q. The Henry Carter mixed up in this law suit is he the same Henry Carter you pladed with as a baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know that to be a fact? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was your aunt's name—Adis? A. Ada.

Q. What is the other name called?

Mr. Blakeney: In the Bible, it was put Edest, but that was an attempt to spell Adis.

Q. Well, you understood her to be your aunt Adis?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, who was the mother of this boy Henry?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of this witness, and insist that the counsel representing the party is making a fight common with the Government and the question has been asked and answered on behalf the Government, and it is not proper merely to ask the same question.

Mr. Stuart: My only answer to that is this, and I want it to appear in the record. I am asking these question- on the theory if Henry Carter is the true Tommy Atkins, my Tommy Atkins is out.

Q. So I now ask you whether or not this boy you played with, is the same boy that is in this law suit? You said, yes, to that, didn't you? A. Yes.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to that as a repetition.

Mr. Stuart: I just asked that as a preliminary to the other questions.

Q. Now, you heard your family talk a good deal about this, have you Bertha, or not?

A. No, not a good deal about it; I wasn't here.

Q. You heard your family talk a good deal about the parentage of this boy Henry Carter?

A. Well, I haven't heard them say so much about it.

Q. You heard them say something about it?

A. They didn't say so much about it.

Q. Who was reputed—do you know what the word reputed means? A. No, I don't know what you mean.

Q. That means recognized—who was reputed in your family to be the mother of Henry? A. Aunt Adis.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent.

A. Can I answer?

Q. Yes, answer it now. A. Aunt Adis.

Q. Adis who? A. Adis Carter.

Q. Your aunt? A. Yes, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Who is aunt Adis now—what is her name now?

A. I haven't seen her for a long time. Her name was Wright. I don't know whether she is married again or not.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Did you ever see any of her family—children?

A. I haven't for quite a while.

Q. Did you ever see them at all? A. Yes, I seen them all.

Mr. German: There is one thing I want to ask about before you proceed further.

By Mr. German.

Q. You say you were born in February, 1877? A. Yes.

Q. Your sister Annie is about a year and a half younger than you, isn't she?

A. I think it is a year and nine months, I think, but I won't say for sure because I don't know.

Q. Then, have you not examined the Bible record with reference to the date of the birth of yourself and sisters?

A. Not lately.

Q. Your family Bible? A. Not lately.

Q. Your Minnie, to refresh your memory, is it not true that your sister Minnie was born three years and one day after your sister Annie?

A. Well, I know they are all younger than me.

Q. And that your sister Angie was born about two years and a half after your sister Minnie?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to that.

Q. Oh, she must have been born—it was longer than that.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Referring again to your aunt Adis, or Ada, Wright. You say you have seen all of her family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you see them?

A. Before they moved from out there at grandpa's.

Q. Did you see them at your grandpa's place?

A. Yes, I was over at her house. Uncle Tom and Adis came in town and I went out with them.

Q. At your aunt's place? A. At aunt Susie's.

Q. You went out to visit your grandfather's place?

A. Yes.

Q. And while there you went over to see Adis and saw all her family? A. Yes.

Q. You never saw any of her family in your mother's place there in Leavenworth? A. Sir?

Q. I am talking about Adis' family.

A. I believe her and her husband were there a year ago.

Q. One of her oldest children married? A. Yes.

Q. You were there? A. I was there.

Q. A year ago, when they were there?

A. Yes, and stayed all night.

Q. This daughter you referred to of Adis' was a married daughter and her husband? A. Yes, and she had a little baby.

Q. Naming the children, you named them in order Emma and Tommy, is that right? A. Yes.

Q. Emma was older than Tommy? A. Yes.

Q. How much older was Emma than Tommy?

A. I can't tell you.

Q. How much older was Emma than you?

A. Can't tell you.

Q. You don't know that? A. No.

Q. You say you used to nurse—you used to hold Henry in your lap when he was a baby? A. I have.

Q. How old were you at that time? A. I can't tell you.

Q. Well, you can give us some idea.

A. I don't know how old I was. I was large enough to hold him.

Q. Ten or twelve? A. No, I couldn't have been.

Q. How old? A. I don't think I was that old but how old, I can't say.

Q. How old was Henry? A. I can't say how old he was.

Q. How much younger is Henry than you?

A. I can't say that.

Q. Well, ten years or four years?

A. Oh, no, he isn't ten years younger than me.

Q. How much younger than you, would you say.

A. Three, or four, or five, or six, something like that—I can't say.

Q. You see that is indefinite. Between three and six years? A. Well, I can't say for sure.

Q. Can you make it more definite than that?

A. Well, he might be four years.

Q. That would be your judgment, then, between four and five? A. Yes.

Q. Now, I believe you said, Henry was once nursed by your mother? A. I did.

Q. You mean by nursing that he was fed from your mother's breast? A. Yes.

Q. And he was fed from your mother's breast how long?

A. Oh, well, I can't say.

Q. Well, you said during a period of nursing of two of her children? A. I said that.

Q. You said that at one time your mother was nursing three children? A. Well, I think she was.

Q. That is correct, is it? A. Yes.

Q. Sure?

A. They were all there; they were all little babies.

Q. All little babies and all there? A. Yes.

Q. And they weren't fed any other way?

A. No, I guess they couldn't have been.

Q. Let's don't guess; if you don't know——

A. I don't know.

Q. Well, you don't know how they were fed?

A. I don't know whether they were fed any thing else or not.

Q. You never saw the three nursing at your mother's breast? A. No, not at the same time because they couldn't.

Q. No, but you never saw the three nursing during the same period of time, or during the same day?

A. I seen mamma with two of them on her lap.

Q. You seen her with two of them on her lap?

A. Yes, because she called me and I had taken one of them.

Q. You have seen your mother with two of her children on her lap younger than you, haven't you? A. Sure.

Q. I am asking you about once. Did you ever see your mother nursing two at the same time? A. Yes.

Q. What two? A. Sister Annie and H.

Q. Did you ever see her nursing any other two?

A. No, not no other two because there wasn't but two then.

Q. Did you ever see her nursing Minnie and H?

A. No, I never.

Q. Ever see her nursing H and Annie?

A. Yes, had them up there; must have been nursing.

Q. How old are you? A. 39, I guess.

Q. 39? A. That is what the Bible says, I guess.

Q. You are 39 yourself—do you know what a woman is doing when she is nursing a baby? A. I never did nurse any.

Q. You have seen enough nursing babies, and mothers nursing their babies to know what a woman is doing when they are nursing a baby?

A. I have seen them have the breast in the mouth—I guess they are nursing.

Q. That is the only way you know—by guessing?

A. I guess that is what they must have been doing because I never did nurse any.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Anna Davis, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript beginning at page 1420.

And thereupon, ANNA DAVIS, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn, and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What is your name? A. Anna Davis.

Q. Your residence? A. Kansas City, Mo.

Q. You are teaching school now in Kansas City, Missouri? A. I am.

Q. What school are you teaching? A. Garfield school.

Q. Miss Davis, did you teach school in Brown School House in Leavenworth County, Kansas, School District Number 52, at any time in the past?

A. I don't know whether that is the—I don't remember the number of the school district.

Q. What is the name of the school?

A. The Brown School.

Q. When did you teach that school?

A. In the fall of eighty-nine and the winter, six-month term, and the winter of ninety, and the following year; I taught there two years.

Q. When did you quit teaching there?

A. At the end of the—that would be——

Q. Spring of ninety-one?

A. End of the second year, spring of ninety-one.

Q. Have you ever taught there since? A. No.

Q. During the time that you taught school at the Brown

School House, did Henry Carter and Viola Carter attend school? A. Henry Carter?

Q. H. Carter?

A. That is the way he was known, I didn't know his name was Henry; and Viola, both.

Q. Were they colored people?

A. They appeared to be, they might have been mixtures for all I know.

Q. Were there any other colored people in school?

A. I think not.

Q. Do you remember the age of those two children?

A. I do not, I don't remember.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. How long did you say you taught in the fall of eighty-nine and ninety, how long a term?

A. I think it was six months.

Q. About six months, do you remember about when you commenced? A. I do not, sometime in September I suppose.

Q. Have you any very distinct recollection of the circumstances of the keeping there of the pupils there, such as the studies and things of that kind now?

A. Why, the studies of the—ordinary studies in the country schools.

Q. Yes, ma'am, you would know that if you didn't have any memory of it at all, you would assume that wouldn't you?

A. No, I remember teaching certain things there; I remember of teaching these colored children reading in the Primary, but I don't remember just what grade they were in.

Q. Remember teaching them in the Primary Reading?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember just when they started? A. I do not.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. At what age did children start to school at the Brown School House?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, I can't say, I suppose the same age as the—I don't remember just the age that admitted them at that time, might have been five and might have been six.

Q. That they started to school?

A. Not these children that you have reference to but the——

Q. The others? A. The others, any one of them.

Q. Had these children been started, was that their first year? A. That is what I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember?

A. No, I have been trying to remember all day.

Q. Do you remember which was the oldest, H or Viola?

A. I do not. There must have not been many years between them.

Q. Were they both there at the same time? A. Yes.

Q. Were they both there at the beginning of the term?

A. They may have been, I don't remember as to that.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Mary Green, taken before Mr. Penick and appearing in his transcript at page 746.

MARY GREEN, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Please state your name and residence.

A. Mary Green; I live out in Alexander Township.

Q. What is your postoffice? A. Jarbalo, Kansas.

Q. Is Jarbalo in this county—Leavenworth, County?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far is it from Leavenworth?

A. Well, I can't exactly tell you how many miles.

Q. What direction? A. South.

Q. What age are you?

A. Fifty; I was fifty, the 4th day of January.

Q. What was your maiden name? A. Mary Yoakum.

Q. Who was your father and mother?

A. John and Maria Yoakum.

Q. Where did they live?

A. Lived here in Leavenworth, on Shawnee Street.

Q. Do you know what the street number is?

A. I think it is 705—I think where they lived—the house.

Q. Where were you born?

A. I was born here in Leavenworth, on Walnut street.

Q. On what street? A. Walnut.

Q. What was your grand-father's name, on your mother's side?

A. Harve Carter; some calls him Henry but they nearly all calls him Henry—we call him Harry.

Q. Is he living or dead? A. He is dead.

Q. Where did he live at the time of his death?

A. In the line of Jefferson County, Leavenworth.

Q. The line between Leavenworth and Jefferson County?

A. Yes, sir, right on the line.

Q. What direction from Leavenworth?

A. It is kind of southwest, I think from here; I wouldn't be sure but I think it is.

Q. Towards McLouth?

A. Yes, sir, towards that way. McLouth is on the other side of him; that is this side of him.

Q. McLouth was west of him?

A. Yes, sir, I think kind of that way.

Q. About how long had your grand-father lived there when he died? A. Ever since I knowed him.

Q. How old were you when you first knew your grand-father?

A. Well, I can't tell you but I have known him ever since I have been big enough to know anybody—just like any other child when you get big enough to know who your grand-father is.

Q. Did your father and mother when you were living with them ever live near your grand-father?

A. Yes, sir, they lived right on the farm in a large house.

Q. On your grand-father's farm? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how far from the house?

A. Well, I can't exactly tell you; wasn't much more than a quarter of a mile, anyhow—within hollering distance.

Q. How long did they live in that house?

A. Well, I can't tell you that, neither. I know they lived there a long time; I never kept no count of it but I know I was a little girl when I went there, and I think I was 14 years old when they moved away—or 15—somewhere along there—15 years old when they moved away.

Q. Did you have an aunt named Ada or Adest?

A. Yes, sir, Ada Carter was her name.

Q. She was your mother's sister?

A. Yes, sir, youngest one living.

Q. Where was she living when your father and mother lived on your grand-father's place?

A. She was at home with her mother and father.

Q. With your grand-mother and grand-father?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know of her giving birth to any children there at your grand-father's when your folks were living on your grand-father's place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many children? A. Two.

Q. What was the first one's name?

A. They called him H. but his name was Henry Carter. That was the oldest one, and the other one was Viola.

Q. About when was H. born?

A. Well, I don't know exactly the year that he was born in because I never kept no account; that is in the Bible.

Q. Did your parents move away from your grand-father's place? A. Yes, sir, they moved away from there.

Q. Where did they moved to?

A. Moved down to Stranger.

Q. Stranger? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how far is that from your grand-father's?

A. Well, it is between five and six miles from there.

Q. Did they make that move before or after H was born?

A. Well, H was a great big boy when they moved down there.

Q. About how old do you think he was?

A. I never kept no court of his age; he was a great big boy.

Q. Had Viola been born when that move was made?

A. Yes, sir, only about two years difference in the children's age.

Q. H and Viola? A. Yes, sir.

Q. H was older? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how old is H now?

A. Well, according to my understanding, he is about thirty-six or seven—somewhere along there.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to her understanding as not competent.

Q. Where did you get that understanding?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to that as immaterial, and seeking for a conclusion.

A. Well, I never kept any count, you know; I never thought there was anything going to turn up about it. That is the reason I don't exactly know his age.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike the answer as not responsive.

Q. Do you know what year it was that your parents moved away? A. No, sir, I do not.

Q. From your grandfather's place? A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. About how long did they live at Stranger?

A. Well, I can't exactly tell you that. They moved down there, I think in the fall, and in the spring I got married and moved off to Salt Creek Valley and they stayed there, I think that summer, and then they moved to town; that is all I know about it.

Mr. Blakeney: I object to what she thinks, as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Moved to what town? A. Leavenworth.

Q. Have they been living here ever since? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you got married in the spring following?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. The time your parents moved from your grandfather's place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was it you say you lived then?

A. I said I lived at Salt Creek Valley.

Q. Salt Creek Valley? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far was that from your grandfather's?

A. Well, I can't exactly tell you because I haven't heard anyone say how many miles it is from there.

Q. It is [] Leavenworth County? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you visit your grandfather? A. I did.

Q. After you married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you live—did you ever move from Salt Creek Valley?

A. I did; I moved from there to High Prairie Township.

Q. Is that in Leavenworth County? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you live there?

A. Well, I lived on High Prairie some eight or nine years.

Q. How long have you been living where you now live?

A. Been there 21 years.

Q. Did you see very much of H after you moved away from your grandfather's place?

A. H came to our house two or three times a year to visit me and my husband, and after my husband died, he came there to visit my boy.

Q. Did you ever visit your grandfather? A. I did.

Q. While H was there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did H ever get married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who did he marry? A. Ara Simpson.

Q. Where? A. Here in Leavenworth.

Q. Do you know where he is living now?

A. No, sir, I don't know anything about them now.

Q. How long since you have seen him?

A. Well, I can't tell you—it ain't been a year, though; I seen him before he left here, and they all said he was in Oklahoma, so I don't know—that is the last time I seen him.

Q. Did he ever say anything to you about claiming to be Thomas Atkins? A. He said that once.

Q. Said what?

A. I think just the day before Thanksgiving a year, he came to——

Q. What did he say?

A. He came to my mother's and he said, now if you keep your mouth still, he says, I will make you independently rich, and Mamma says, for what? Well, he says, don't you tell who my mother is, and she said, I am not going to tell no lie; she said, you know Adis is your mother.

Q. Where was this conversation taking place?

A. Right in the house where she was sit[] by the stove.

Q. Here in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he say anything about Thomas Atkins—being Thomas Atkins?

A. He said he got two or three letters from his real mother; and that is the only one that ever told him that is his mother and Mamma said, you know better than that because you know she is not your mother.

Q. Did he call her name? A. Said Minnie Atkins.

Q. Did he say what his name was supposed to be?

A. Tommy Atkins; he said that is what they called him.

Q. Is that the same boy that was born to your Aunt Adis?

A. Yes, sir, Henry Carter was.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. How old were you when you went out to your grandfather's place?

A. I can't tell you how old I was; I was a little child when I went out there.

Q. About how old do you say you were?

A. When H was born?

Q. Did you understand the question I asked you?

A. You said how old was I when I went out to my father's place?

Q. Grandfather's place, to live?

A. I can't tell you; we were all little children, then.

Q. About how old was you then?

A. I can't tell you; I must have been about ten or eleven years old when I first went there.

Q. How long were you out there before Henry was born?

A. I was fourteen years old when he was born.

Q. Fourteen? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember how old you were, or have you looked at the bible, or some other place to refresh your memory? A. No, I know how old I was when he was born.

Q. Where were you living when you went out there first?

A. We were living on old man Shaw's place.

Q. How long did you live there?

A. I don't exactly know; lived there two or three years.

Q. Were you living on Shaw's place when Henry was born? A. No, sir.

Q. You had moved to your grandfather's place?

A. Yes, sir, living right on there when he was born.

Q. About two years after that, Viola was born?

A. Yes, because there was about two years difference.

Q. How do you know it was two years difference?

A. Because I know; wasn't I there?

Q. That is the reason, is it?

A. Yes, sir. When my grandmother got so old, she kept hid to keep people from seeing her. They got me back there to help milk cows and do chores around and go to the door, and tell them they couldn't come in there.

Q. You actually were living there at the time Viola was born? A. I was.

Q. And staying about the house and going to the door?

A. Yes, sir; and washing her clothes, and taking her things to eat when she was in bed with H.

Q. You had done that with both of these children then?

A. Yes, with both of them.

Q. Stayed at the house before H was born?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And stayed before Viola was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you milked the cows?

A. Yes, sir, helped my grandmother to milk the cows.

Q. And you did the work that Adis usually done?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And would go to the door and tell people not to come in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You done that before both children were born?

A. Yes, sir, she told me not to let them come in there.

Q. Did you go to your mother's home at night?

A. Yes, sir; there all the time.

Q. Would go to your mother's home at night?

A. Sometimes I would and sometimes I wouldn't.

Q. What proportion of the time would you go to your mother's?

A. Sometimes when I got through milking I would go down there and tell mother to come down with some things she wanted.

Q. During the time she was so large, you kept her hid?

A. She kept herself hid.

Q. Well, she kept herself hid? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is so funny about this?

A. I don't see anything so funny.

Q. Why are you laughing so much?

A. I nearly always laugh.

Q. Is that the only reason that you now have for laughing? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was so funny about that last answer that you had to laugh at?

A. Well, not anything that I see, only it is natural to laugh.

Q. Was Adis keeping herself in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. During that time you stayed at the place?

A. Yes, sir, my grandmother told me to go down there and help her milk the cows. She had 12 cows to milk and couldn't milk them all—I milked six and she milked six.

Q. You did that when Viola was born?

A. Yes, sir, when both of them were born.

Q. Did the same service for your grandmother when Viola was born as when Henry? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was this when she was so large she was trying to conceal? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how long did you stay?

A. I don't know how long; until this all was over.

Q. Until the children were born?

A. I can't tell you that. Some persons gets pretty large and stay that way a good long time.

Q. Adis got large and stayed that way a good long while?

A. Of course she did, like any other woman.

Q. About how long, then, did she show?

A. I can't exactly tell you that; as soon as she got large enough to show, is all I can tell you.

Q. Can you give about the time? A. No, sir.

Q. It was nine months, wasn't it?

A. Of course she has to go nine months.

Q. That she was so large?

A. Of course she wasn't so large the whole nine months.

Q. About how many months do you recall now, that she was so large that you had to do the work?

A. I guess about four and a half or five months.

Q. You think you stayed at your grandmother's place and assisted for about four months? A. Off and on.

Q. Off and on? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what other members of the family were there during the time that you say that she carried Henry?

A. Well, there was my sister Lillie, and my father and my mother were there, off and on, all the time—every day or two, or something.

Q. Your sister Lillie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old is Lillie? A. She is next to me.

Q. How much difference in your ages?

A. Two years difference in the ages between——

Q. Two years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She was up at the house?

A. Off and on—she didn't stay there.

Q. Well, what other persons were there?

A. All the children were there, off and on.

Q. What ones of your aunts and uncles were there?

A. Wasn't any of them.

Q. Wasn't any there at all?

A. My uncles were there, my aunts wasn't.

Q. What aunt is it known as Mrs. Simonton?

A. Well, that is Babe Simonton.

Q. You call her Babe, do you?

A. Yes, but her name is Elizabeth.

Q. What name do you call her, Babe? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was Babe around there? A. No.

Q. Wasn't there at all? A. No.

Q. You are sure, are you, within four or five months Henry was born, that your aunt Babe wasn't about the place at all?

A. No, her or Aunt Susie, either; none of my aunts were there but Uncle Tom.

Q. None of your aunts but an uncle? A. That is all.

Q. When was Henry born? Not the year, but what season?

A. Well, now, I know it wasn't—no, I can't tell you exactly. I don't know whether it was in the fall, or in the spring, but I know it was raining mighty hard when he was born—I don't know which one it was.

Q. It rained that night, did it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were at the house when he was born?

A. No, I was at my mother's; she was asking me to go home.

Q. I asked you if you was there?

A. Not at the house where he was born, I wasn't.

Q. Now, if Henry was born in November, when do you say that you went there to do the work for your sister Adis?

A. I was there before.

Q. Well, would you be there from June?

A. Well, I can't exactly tell you; I never kept no count of months.

Q. Let's see if we can figure without an account book: October, September, August, July, is four months.

A. I know.

Q. Now, from the 7th of July up to the 7th of November would be four months; were you there that long?

A. I was there in corn planting along in the spring, until after everything was over.

Q. Corn planting? A. Yes, sir, helped about the corn.

Q. You were there April and May?

A. Something like that.

Q. Until the child was born. You are sure that it was during that time that your aunt, Mrs. Simonton, or Babe, was not there? A. No, sir.

Q. She married at your father's house?

A. She married at my father's house.

Q. Wasn't she married in July that year?

A. I don't know what time she got married—she got married.

Q. July of that year, wasn't it?

A. I can't tell you, I never kept account of when she got married.

Q. Don't you know she was married in July, 1871?

A. I don't know when she got married; I know she came out there and brought a preacher and got married—what month and year, I don't know.

Q. Who attended at her wedding?

A. Whole lots of people were there—I can't tell you.

Q. What of the family? A. Any of the family?

Q. All that was in that neighborhood?

A. No, there wasn't—I can't tell you.

Q. Adis was there? A. All the time, yes, sir.

Q. At the time of the wedding? A. Yes.

Q. Your Aunt Susie there? A. No.

Q. She wasn't there? A. No.

Q. You remember she came a few days later, didn't she?

A. No, she didn't.

Q. You remember she had been to Chicago, attending some meeting of some colored club, or association, and came back? A. No.

Q. Came back a few days after your sister was married?

A. No, she didn't.

Q. You are sure of that? A. I am sure of that.

Q. Sure your aunt didn't come through the first of August and stay until about the first day of September?

A. No, she didn't.

Q. You are sure that is not true?

A. Yes, I am sure that isn't true.

Q. You are also sure that from corn planting time up until Henry was born, that your aunt, Mrs. Simonton, was not married at that house?

A. I don't know whether she was married then or not, but she wasn't there then.

Q. She wasn't married at your father's place during that time—the marriage ceremony?

A. No, it was before that.

Q. You are sure, I say, it was not performed during that time?

A. No, sir, I was sworn to tell the truth and that is what I am going to do.

Q. What are you laughing about then?

A. I told you I always laugh.

Q. You laugh whenever you say you are going to tell the truth, do you? A. I laugh all the time.

Q. Do you always laugh when you say you are going to tell the truth?

A. Why no, but then I laugh all the time.

Q. Now, you had milked the cows on the day that Henry was supposed to be born that night?

A. I told you that I went down there and helped to milk the cows; I didn't say what day.

Q. Well now, let's get the date. Do you remember you continued to milk the cows up until you say you went home one night, and stayed home, and your mother went over to Carter's place?

A. I said the day before I went home, Grandma told me to go home.

Q. I don't want what she told you. You went home and your mother came to the Carter's place?

A. Didn't come that day.

Q. That night?

A. Yes, sir, my grandfather came after her.

Q. Did you milk the cows that evening? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you went home, who did you find at that place?

A. My mother and father, and the children.

Q. What children?

A. Emma, Billy, Bertha, Annie, and Ethel.

Q. Emma is the oldest?

A. I am the oldest, and Lillie is the oldest, and Emma next.

Q. Lillie is older than—who is next to Emma?

A. Ethel.

Q. Who is next to Ethel? A. Bertha.

Q. Who is next? A. Annie.

Q. Annie was the youngest?

A. Yes, sir, Annie was the baby.

Q. How old was Annie?

A. Well, I can't exactly tell you now what her age is but there ain't much difference between H and Annie—there ain't over 6 months difference between them because Mamma nursed H and Annie at the same time.

Q. About how long did you commence being at the place before Viola was born?

A. Just like I did with H, as soon as she got so she couldn't get around, she got me to come there and do the chores.

Q. Do you remember the season that Viola was born?

A. In the fall.

Q. Then you came about corn planting time when Viola was born?

A. No, I can't tell you that because she was born in the fall, I think.

Q. What is that?

A. I think she was born in the fall, along in October.

Q. Then you would come a little earlier, wouldn't you, to work when Viola was born, than you did when Henry was born?

A. Of course I went there because she tried to hid everything; her condition—that was the first one. She wasn't so particular about that as she was about the first one. I didn't stay there as much as I did when Henry was born.

Q. You did stay and help milk the cows? A. Yes, sir.

Q. As when Henry was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And sometimes you would stay all night with your grandfather, and sometimes you would go back to your mother's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Your mother was living there on the place?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are you sure that your mother was living there on the place when both of them were born?

A. Yes, sir, when both of them were born.

Q. When both of them were born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first see Henry?

A. When did I first see him?

Q. Yes.

A. I seen him that night before he was dressed.

Q. Before he was dressed?

A. Yes, my mother brought him home and washed him and dressed him.

Q. At your place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you saw him?

A. Yes, sir, and nursed him and tended to him.

Q. Now, when did you see Viola first?

A. Well, I seen her the next morning after she was born because my mother told me—they sent for her—and they told me to go home and stay with the children, and when she came, she said, well they have got another girl; you go down there.

Q. Don't tell what was said; I told you, now, that I don't want any statement that your mother said to you, or you said to your mother. The question was, when did you first see Viola?

A. I seen her the next morning after she was born.

Q. How often did you see Henry after his birth?

A. Why I seen him all the time when he was at our house.

Q. He was at your house and you seen him all the time?

A. Yes, long as he was there.

Q. Viola stayed at her grandfather's place?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when you left to go up to Stranger Creek and live, and your parents went up to Stranger Creek to live, you say that Henry was quite a big boy, running around?

A. Yes, a little boy, running around, with dresses on then.

Q. How old was Viola?

A. She was a little baby; could sit alone and crawl around on the floor.

Q. Couldn't walk? A. No, sir, couldn't walk yet.

Q. She was about six or eight months old then?

A. I guess something like that but she was always so fat she couldn't get around.

Q. She may have been a little older then?

A. Yes, sir; she was so fat she couldn't stand like most children.

Q. Henry, then, would be close to three years old?

A. I guess he was when we moved away.

Q. When you moved away? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have children, have you? A. I had two.

Q. How old is the oldest child?

A. Well, my oldest one would be 32 years old if she was living.

Q. 32? A. Yes.

Q. And how long have you been married?

A. I have been married 38 years.

Q. 38 years; sure of that?

A. Why certainly I am sure of it.

Q. Sure you married 38 years ago? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were married in 1886? A. No.

Q. When were you married [A.] 1882, I think.

Q. 1882? A. I think that was when it was.

Q. 1882 you married. How come that [] be 38 years old?

A. It would be 38 years old this March coming—38 years.

Q. This 1916, isn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You then was married in 1878?

A. No, it is in the bible—I can't exactly tell you.

Q. You know you haven't been married 38 years anyhow.

A. Well, maybe it ain't, but that is what I figured it up to be.

Q. Is that the way you figured about Henry, too?

A. No, because I know.

Q. And you know that within four or five months of when Henry was born, Mrs. Simonton was not married at your father's place?

A. I wouldn't say she wasn't married; I say she wasn't there when H was born.

Q. And you said that between the time that Mrs. Simonton was married, up to when Henry was born, your Aunt Susan was not on the place? A. No.

Q. What do you mean by no—that you didn't say it?

A. I say she wasn't there; she was in Chilicarthy attending school.

Q. How often did you see your Aunt Susan there about the place? A. Do you want me to tell when she came?

Q. I want you to answer that question.

A. Aunt Susan never came home until after my mother was paralyzed and got down, and she came home to take care of H and my mother and Viola.

Q. She came home when Edna was married, didn't she?

A. No, sir.

Q. When Edith was married? A. Yes, she was then.

Q. She was there when Edith was married? A. Yes.

Q. Do you know when Edith was married?

A. I know when she said.

Q. How old was Henry when she married? A. A big boy.

Q. She was married in 1886?

A. I don't know when she was married; all I know is when she told me—I didn't see her get married.

Q. Explain to me why you laughed about that?

A. Well, didn't I just tell you a while ago that I always laugh? That ain't cutting no figure.

Q. You aren't laughing now, are you?

A. Well, I can laugh.

Mr. Blakeney: I would like the record to show that the proceedings are suspended while the witness laughs.

A. Well, it is better to laugh than cry, isn't it?

Mr. German: I would like the record to show that counsel for Henry Carter suggested that she laugh, and smiled at her, whereupon she did laugh.

Mr. Blakeney: What I suggested was in the record.

Q. Now then, if Adis was married in '86, Susan was at home at that time? A. She was at home when she got married.

Q. Where were you living then?

A. I was living on High Prairie.

Q. You were married yourself, then, were you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And were living on High Prairie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you at the wedding? A. No.

Q. When were you over after the marriage?

A. I never went there after she got married; I have never been inside that house since she was married. She never come in mine and I never went in her'n.

Q. She has two grown daughters, hasn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have they ever been in your house? A. No.

Q. Ever been in your mother's house?

A. Can't tell you that; I am not at my mother's all the time—I can't tell you.

Q. You never saw them at your mother's house?

A. No, I heard them say she was there but I never seen her.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out what I heard them say, as not responsive.

Q. You were there when Mrs. Simonton was married?

A. I was there when she got married.

Q. And you saw Adis there? A. Yes, Adis was there.

Q. And Adis didn't show at that time, any pregnancy?

A. No.

Q. Going back now, to the time that Adis was married, all you know about her being married, is that you heard she was?

A. That is all I know about it.

Q. You heard she was married very soon after she was supposed to have gotten married, did you?

A. I heard she was married, is all I know.

Q. You heard about the time?

A. I heard about the time but I don't know—I didn't see it.

Q. But you heard it right after it was supposed to have occurred? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At that time, your aunt Susan was at your father's?

A. Yes, sir, after my grand mother got down sick she came there.

Q. I mean at the time you heard Adis was married, was Susan at your grandfather's place?

A. Yes, sir, she was there.

Q. About how long after that was it before your mother got down sick? A. I can't tell you.

Q. Three or four years?

A. I was just telling you what I know—I don't know.

Q. You know about the length of time, don't you?

A. Well, I ain't going to say because I don't know, and I am here to tell the truth and that is all I am going to tell.

Q. When did you see your aunt Susan at your grandfather's place, now, before Adist's marriage?

A. No, she never was there before.

Q. Never was there before?

A. She might have been there on a visit but I never seen her.

Q. She never was at your grandfather's place all this time? A. No, sir, I never saw her.

Q. Until after your grandmother got down?
A. If she was, I didn't see her.

Q. If Henry was born in 1879, and from 1879 up until Adist got married, you never saw your aunt Susan about your grandfather's place? A. No, I never saw her there.

Q. And then after Adist was married, she stayed a while and left, did she?

A. I can't tell you that either; I heard she went away—I don't know.

Q. You afterwards saw her back again when your mother got sick? A. No, I ain't seen her there. When I went on a visit, she was gone away, in a house to herself.

Q. When your grandmother was sick, did you see Susan about the place? A. Yes, she was there about all the time.

Q. There all the time in the sickness of your grandmother? A. Yes, and my grandfather, he was there.

Q. After she came, she continued to live on the home place? A. Yes, sir, and she is there yet.

Q. Thomas was there, too?

A. Thomas, too, has always been there; he has never been away from home.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You say he has never moved away from home?

A. No, sir, when aunt Susie got married, he went away a couple of weeks down to Lawrence and that is all the time he has been off the place.

Q. You mean he is living there now? A. Yes, sir.
Q. That is his home, now, is it? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. How old are you now? A. I am 50.
Q. How old were you when you were married?
A. When I was married I was 17 years old.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. The Thomas that you referred to, is that your uncle?
A. Sir?
Q. Is the Thomas that you referred to, your uncle?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Your mother's brother? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Was he older, or younger, than your mother?
A. He is younger than my mother.
Q. Is he older or younger than your aunt Susan?
A. He is older than aunt Susie.
Q. You say you married in 1882? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you ever—has the man you married, then, still living?

A. He has been dead seven years the 22nd day of January.

Q. And you say the time of your marriage was the spring following the removal of your parents over on to——

A. I say they moved that fall before.

Q. Moved to Stranger Creek the fall before?

A. Yes, sir, and I married in the spring—March—following—the 3rd day of March.

Q. What county were you married in?

A. Married right here in Leavenworth; up there in the courthouse.

Q. Courthouse? What was your husband's name?

A. George Green.

Q. Have you any Indian blood in you?

A. That is more than I know; I can't tell you. I have heard my grandma say there was a little bit but as far as I know, I don't know nothing about it.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out what her grandmother said, as incompetent and hearsay.

Q. At the time of the birth of H and Viola, was your aunt Adis married? A. No, sir.

Q. She was single at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how far is it from Leavenworth to where your grand-father lives? A. They call it 20 miles.

Mr. German: I wish you would mark this Government's Exhibit—whatever it is (Exhibit 19)—that is a part of direct. I didn't have this at that time and I want to make it further direct.

Q. I show you what has been marked as Government's Exhibit No. 19 and ask you to look at that and tell whether or not you recognize anybody in that picture?

A. There is H, right there.

Q. Which one of the children there is H?

A. Right there—the boy; they call him Henry.

Q. Is H in the front, back, or middle row?

A. There is H, right there.

Q. Is H in the front, middle, or back row?

A. He is standing in the back row, between them two people there.

Q. In the middle, or at one end?

A. Here it is, right here.

Q. Tell it so that man can write it down. Middle or one end?

A. Not exactly in the middle, or at the end—two on one side and three on the other side—I don't know, but he is standing behind.

Q. Where is he standing with reference to that girl in the back row? A. Right side of her.

Q. Did you ever see this picture before? A. No, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Do you know any of the other persons in that picture?

A. I never looked at them good?

Q. When did you first see it? A. Which, this picture?

Q. Yes. A. Just now.

Q. Examine it and see if you recognize any of the other persons in that.

A. Ain't that Adis, and all her family? It certainly favors her down there. That looks like Viola, and I know that is H. Isn't that Adis Wright and all the Wright family—I think so.

Q. Which one, now, is Viola?

A. That one standing up there by H, in the corner.

Q. Which one do you say is Viola?

A. I say this one up here is Viola.

Mr. German: Standing by the side of H?

Q. Standing to our right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And to H's left?

A. Yes, sir, and that is the mother and all the children.

Q. This, you say, is Viola? A. I think so.

Q. The top row, the first one at our right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The next one, you say is Henry? A. That is Henry.

Q. The rest of them you say are members of the——

A. Of the Wright family.

Q. The Wright family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This you say is Adith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Your Aunt Adith is it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And these are—— A. The little children.

Q. Four little ones on the bottom row and four on the upper row, not counting those that seem to be cut in two?

A. Yes, sir, there is H. right there himself.

Q. Who is this one?

A. I don't know nothing about him unless it is John Wright. It kind of favors him, her husband.

Q. And you think that man there in the middle there is John Wright?

A. It favors him, looks like him. I wouldn't say for sure, it looks like him.

Q. You can't tell about these three that seem to be cut off on our left? A. No, sir.

By Mr. German: We offer that Exhibit 19 in evidence.

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, not properly identified. We particularly object to any part of the picture, except the picture of Henry.

By Mr. German: At this time, we agree to the objection except so far as it relates to Henry.

(Witness dismissed.)

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Jessie A. Hall, taken before Mr. Penick and appearing in his transcript at page 802.

And thereupon JESSE A. HALL being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your name? A. Jesse A. Hall.
Q. Where do you live, Mr. Hall? A. Leavenworth.
Q. What age are you? A. 39.
Q. What is your occupation? A. Lawyer.
Q. How long have you been practicing law?
A. About six years.
Q. Did you ever teach school? A. Yes, sir.
Q. In Leavenworth County? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where? A. Oh, various places.
Q. Did you ever in School District No. 53? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where is that located with reference to the town of Leavenworth—the City of Leavenworth?

A. Directly west; west boundary line is in Jefferson County.

Q. Is it known as the Brown School House? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you teach school there?

A. I taught two terms there; the first beginning in September, 1894, and ending in the spring of 1895, and the second beginning with September, 1896, and ending in the spring of 1897.

Q. You state that you begun in the fall of 1893—you mean '94? A. I didn't say '93—'94.

Q. I misunderstood you. Did you know a family residing in that school district by the name of Carter?

A. I knew two children that attended school by the name of Carter.

Q. What were their given names?

A. The boy's name was H; the girl's name was Viola.

Q. Did Viola have any other given name, or was she ever called by any other given name also? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Do you remember her to have been called Pink?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. What the nationality of these children?

A. Well, it was generally understood——

> Mr. Blakeney: We object to the answer as incompetent, stating an improper conclusion.

A. It was generally understood and represented to me that they were colored and Indian mixed. That was my understanding of their nationality.

> Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike the answer as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. How did they look as to nationality?

A. Well, the boy looked very much as though he must have had—must have considerable Indian blood in him—that is my recollection.

Q. Did he look as though he had any negro blood?

A. Yes, some, probably.

Q. How did the girl look as to nationality?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness; he has not shown that he is able to determine blood by looking at the face or features.

A. Well, the girl appeared to me like she was more of a mulatto.

Q. Were there any other colored children in the school besides those two? A. Those were the only ones.

Q. All the rest were white? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know about what age H was—or Henry Carter? What was he known as, H or Henry?

A. H. I never knew him by any other name.

Q. What family did H—what was the name of the head of the family where these children resides?

A. I am not certain as to that; I think he told me he stayed with his grand-parents, or some relatives—Wright—or by some such name—I don't remember just exactly what the name was.

Q. Where was this school located with reference to the town of McLouth? A. North and east.

Q. North and east—about how far?

A. About five or six miles.

Q. You spoke of Wright—did you hear of the family known as the Carter family—the old man being Henry Carter?

A. I believe I did but I don't remember much about it. It was so long ago, I can't say as to that.

Q. Do you remember the two children well?

A. Yes, sir, quite well.

Q. Did you have any trouble with H as a pupil?

A. Oh, I used to strike him quite a good deal with the stick.

Q. Bad boy?

A. Oh, he would get a little bit mischievous but we always quit the very best of friends.

Q. You were quite young then yourself? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how much older were you than H?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for a conclusion and an improper question. It hasn't been shown as to the age of either.

Mr. German: He had shown the age of this witness.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness. The question is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and asking for a conclusion.

Q. Go ahead and answer, Mr. Hall.

A. Well, I can't say as to that. H never knew his age exactly.

Q. Did he give you his age? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you make any record of that?

A. Oh, I always made a record of ages; made the report to the district clerk.

Q. In writing? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were those reports made on printed forms?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I show you Government's Exhibit No. 21, and ask you to examine it and state what it is?

A. That is the teacher's report to the district clerk.

Q. School district? A. No. 53.

Q. The clerk of that district? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Whose report is that?

A. That is my report for the year 1894 and '05—school year 1894 and '05.

Q. Whose writing—who made the figures and writing there on that report in ink? A. That is mine.

Q. Did you sign it? A. That is my signature.

Q. That is your signature at the conclusion of the report? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you make that up, Mr. Hall?

A. At the end of the term.

Q. School term? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, can you state what age H Carter was at that time?

Mr. Blakeney: Now you mean to state from this report?

Mr. German: No, I am asking him to state if he can.

Mr. Blakeney: The witness was obviously incompetent unless he was at the birth of the boy.

Q. I will change the question. What did he say his age was at that time?

A. I don't remember exactly; I know he always stated he didn't know his exact age.

Q. Did you make a record on that report of the age H gave you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can you by reference to the report, refresh your memory as to what he said? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: Well, we object now, to the form of the question and move to strike the answer as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. What did he tell you at that time that his age was?

Mr. Blakeney: We object and insist that the witness be required to state what Henry said about his age, and not—and counsel's question is leading and suggestive.

A. This report says that his age was 14.

Q. Well, what did he say to you with reference to what his age was?

Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike out this last answer as not responsive, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. He must have given his age in as 14—the report has it as 14.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the answer as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Did you recall that age as given to you by him?
A. Yes, sir, as near as I can remember.
Q. And that report is one of the records that you made?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. On that subject? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you have Viola as a pupil? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you get her age? A. Yes, sir.
Q. From whom? A. From her.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Did you make a record of that as given to you by her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Does that record appear in this report? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can you by reference to the report, refresh your memory as to what she told her age was? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it? A. 12 years old.

Q. At that time? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. German: We offer Exhibit No. 21 in evidence.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and prior to the reception in evidence, we want to examine the witness, but I am willing to make my examination as to this matter a part of my cross examination, and not interrupt you now.

Mr. German: Well, I am about through.

Q. Mr. Hall, I show you Government's Exhibit No. 22, and will ask you to examine that and state what it is.

A. That is a teacher's report to the District Clerk.

Q. For what year? A. For the shool year 1896 and '97.

Q. Whose report is that? A. That is mine.

Q. Whose writing is that—the figures and writing that appear in ink? A. Mine.

Q. Did you sign that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is your signature at the conclusion? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you give the ages that H. and Viola that appear? A. Yes, sir.

Q. From them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did you record those ages, Mr. Hall? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that report one of the records that you made of those ages? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can you by reference to that report, refresh your memory as to what they told you as to their ages that year?

A. Well, I can tell what ages were put down there as given by them.

Mr. Blakeney: The question is, can you refresh your memory so that you remember independent of it, after you have examined it?

A. Well, I don't know that I could exactly do that; I could only rely on what the report says there.

Q. Did you correctly record the age as given by them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What age did H. give you for that year?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading, suggestive, irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial, and we object to as his answer.

A. 16.

Q. What age did Viola give you for that year? A. 14.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and we object for the same reasons stated, and if the answer was incorporated ahead of my objection, I move to strike it for those reasons given.

Q. What time of the year, Mr. Hall—school year—would you ascertain the ages of your pupils?

A. Well, I think, as near as I can remember, these ages were taken in the spring.

Q. In the spring?

A. Yes, sir. The ages were taken in the fall but, if I remember right, when the report was due in the spring, we took the ages as they appeared in the spring—that is my recollection of the report.

Q. Why did you make those reports?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. The law requires them.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the answer as not the best evidence.

Q. Were you acquainted with the laws of Kansas on that subject at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that law contained in the compiled laws of the state?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness.

Q. At that time?

A. I don't know whether that was on the General Statutes or the Sessions laws, I can't say as to that, but it was the law.

Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike out the witness' answer that it was the law; he is not competent—he was not a lawyer at the time—and it is not the best evidence.

Mr. German: I now offer in evidence Government's Exhibit No. 22.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and not the best evidence, and we want further to object to it being received at all until our examination of the witness regarding it which we think will show it is incompetent fully.

Mr. German: I wish you would please mark this picture as Government's Exhibit No. 23.

Q. Mr. Hall, what did you do with these reports which are Exhibits Nos. 21 and 22, that you have testified about—what did you do with them when you made them out?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Q. Who would you turn them over to?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the last part as leading.

Q. If any one? A. To the clerk of the District.

Q. Do you now recall who that was at that time?

A. No, sir, I don't remember the clerk.

Q. I will ask you to refresh your memory whether or not it was Mr. Stigleman?

A. Mr. Stigleman was a member of the Board; I don't remember whether he was clerk, treasurer, or director.

Q. Do you know a W. B. Moore?

A. Yes, sir, he was a member of the Board.

Q. Did you know Mr. Robert Lee?

A. Yes, sir, he was a member of the Board.

Q. What was the name of the Post Office out there?

A. Ackerland.

Q. Do you know C. J. Post, of Ackerland? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he living there at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember whether he was on the Board?

A. No, sir, he was not.

Q. At that time? A. No, sir.

Q. I show you Government's Exhibit No. 23, which is a photograph, and will ask you if you know anything about that picture?

A. Yes, sir, that was a picture of the school.

Q. When you taught? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are you in that picture? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where are you in the picture?

A. In the center part.

Q. The man who appears to have on a collar and tie—who looks white in that picture? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In fact, you are the only man in the picture, aren't you? A. No, I am afraid not.

Q. You are afraid some of those boys look like men?

A. There are some older than I am there; you can't probably tell that but I remember it.

Q. Is H. Carter in that picture? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which one is he? A. This one is H.

Q. Where is he with relation to you?

A. To the back row, and to the right—the first one to the right in the back row.

Q. That is to your right as you are sitting now?

A. To my right, as I am looking now—to my left in the picture, I presume, but as I view it, to my right.

Q. In the back row, in that picture, there appear to be four boys on one side and three girls on the other; which one of the four boys do you refer to?

A. The third boy from the end.

A. I think not; she was in school but probably was absent the day of the picture. I don't see her picture there.

Q. Where was that picture taken?

A. Taken at the school house.

Q. Do you recall when? A. No, sir.

Q. It was while you were teaching? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where has it been since then—that particular photograph? A. I have had it in my possession.

Mr. German: We offer Government's Exhibit No. 23 in evidence.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and we specially object to any portion of the picture except the picture of Henry Carter and the teacher.

Q. How did your age and H. Carter's age compare?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for a conclusion; incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. I can't say except what the record here shows.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mr. Hall, you taught during the winter, or fall, of 1894 and 1895, first? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you taught in 1895 and 1896 and '97?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I mean to ask you if you taught the second term in 1896 and '97? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You commenced teaching in September in each of the terms? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And quit in February? A. No, about April.

Q. About April?

A. Yes, sir, as near as I can remember—the report will show.

Q. During the school term you obtained information as to the ages of the different students attending? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And at the end of the term, or close to the end of the term, you made your report? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This report that has been marked as Government's Exhibit No. 21, being—or purporting to be—for the term commencing October 1st, 1894 and ending the 19th of April, 1895, you made about the month of April 1895? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have no distinct recollection of what Carter—H. Carter—told you his age—except that he said he didn't know very definitely what his age was?

A. Didn't know definitely about that somewhere, and I suppose I put it down.

Q. You remember him saying about that, or do you just assume that by finding it in your report? In other words, I want to separate your exact recollection from your conclusion from an examination of the report.

A. I don't remember about that. I remember his stating that he didn't know his age exactly.

Q. You don't know whether he followed that by giving this age, or after discussing the matter with him, you reached his age by conclusion as to the age put down?

A. I don't remember, it is so long ago.

Q. Don't remember? A. No, sir.

Q. But you did take any information that you got to find out the correct ages? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you say now whether you got that information directly and wholly from the pupil or not?

A. I think that was the custom that we took the ages from the pupil when they were old enough to give them, and when they were not old enough to give their ages, we took it from the older brother or sister, or someone who knew them. These two pupils in question were old enough to know [] state their own age.

Q. I believe you stated they didn't know their own ages?

A. H, in particular; I don't remember what Viola said, but I know H in particular said that.

Q. Now, in making out your report the next year, you would have used any information you acquired the previous years? A. Very likely, yes, sir.

Q. You can't say positively that you made any inquiry about any particular person's age that year if you had information from other sources, or if you recollected the age previously given you?

A. Well, I can't say as to that whether I put it down from recollection from previous years, or from their statement; I presume it was from their statement.

Q. Where did you originally put down the ages—did you have a book you would keep? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had what is known as a teacher's attendance book? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you would put down the matters in that book?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, in 1896 when you commenced teaching school, at that school house the second time, you still had the book that you had used in 1894 in that same District, did you?

A. I don't remember whether the book was used up or not; it might have been a new book.

Q. It might have been a new book, or might been the same book, so far as your recollection is concerned?

A. Yes, sir, so far as I can remember—I can't say.

Q. And if you had the same book, it would have shown the ages that you put down? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you could have gotten it from the book without consulting the pupil? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And it is probable that you would have gotten it in that form, isn't it?

A. No, if I remember right, we—I took the ages as they entered school. If they were there the first day, I took the ages from them.

Q. Now, you have no recollection, I believe you have said, as to what Henry Carter said about his age—that is about how old he was, and the figures that he gave you, independent of your report?

A. No, he didn't seem to know. I don't know how that got there, except he might have mentioned about that, or something like that.

Q. When you made these reports, then, that have been marked Government's Exhibit Nos. 21 and 22, you made it from your teacher's book, or this book that you had your record in? A. Yes, sir.

> Mr. Blakeney: We now renew our objection to this examination, and to the introduction of Exhibit No. 21, and also renew our objection to Exhibit No. 22, for the reason that same is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and not properly identified, and not the best evidence.

Q. I call your attention to the picture marked Exhibit No. 23; that was a picture taken at that school when you taught? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember when it was taken? I don't mean the date, but I mean, the first part of your term, or the last part of which term?

A. I can't say; I think sometime during the first term which was 1894 and '95—I don't remember whether it was the fall or the spring.

Q. Do you remember what Henry Carter was studying in your school? A. I do not; the report there will show it.

Q. You have no recollection yourself as to what studies he was taking?

A. Well, yes—I think that I could name a few but as to—

Q. Mr. Hall, because you are a lawyer, you can help me in this matter; I don't want your deductions and conclusions that we sometimes draw, but I want your recollection of the identical fact. Have you recollection with a book, or of his studying a particular book—have you that independent recollection? A. No, sir, I can't say.

Mr. Blakeney: I want to make this inquiry in case it is determined the report is admissible.

Q. What does the letter X indicate after the names?

A. May I see the report a minute?

Q. Yes, if you will remember. Does the letter indicate studies they didn't take, does it?

A. Indicates the studies they took.

Q. They took? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I ask you to examine it a little more closer; I notice you have got a cross on everything that was taught there, or one way or another.

A. Of course, some of those crosses are duplicates, if I remember right; I can't remember now just exactly what those are myself.

Q. You don't recall? A. No, sir, not exactly.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Hall, did you ever have any reason to doubt the ages as given you, or the age given you by the boy H?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and seeking for a conclusion.

A. Well, he never really knew his age.

Q. What was his appearance? Did he appear to be about that old?

A. No, I should say that he appeared to be a little younger.

Q. How much? A. Probably a year or so.

Q. As much as four or five years? A. No, sir.

Q. Then when you noted his age as 14, he didn't appear to be a boy 9 or 10? A. No, sir.

Q. How was he as to intelligence? Did he appear to have the intelligence of a boy of that age, or of a boy of 9 or 10?

A. Well, if I remember right—the subject that he was pursuing——

Q. I don't mean in his studies; I mean in his activities.

A. Well, I wouldn't say 9 or 10, but a year or so more than that—less than 14.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Which was the older—H or Viola? A. H.

Q. You got Viola's age from her?

A. Yes, sir. Two years difference, I remember that, without any record whatever.

Q. You have an independent recollection of that?

A. Yes, sir; distinctly.

Q. Viola knew her age?

A. They both gave their ages to me and I just remember that there were two years difference in their ages.

Q. You say Viola appeared her age?

A. As far as I know, I suppose she did.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Hall, in Government's Exhibit No. 21, which is your report you have identified, I notice that Chester Lee is a pupil whose age is reported as 9 years, can you point out that boy on Exhibit No. 23?

Mr. Blakeney: I want to object to any of this examination of counsel. I asked and insisted that all counsel used in this witness in chief against me make the examination before I cross examined, and Mr. Hanford stated that he had none.

Mr. Hanford: This is redirect examination.

Mr. Blakeney: Not redirect, as I never referred to the picture at all in there, except as to the time it was taken, and I object to the question for the further reason that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and not proper redirect.

Q. On Government's Exhibit No. 23, can you point out and state the position of Chester Lee?

Mr. Blakeney: We object for the same reason in our last objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where does he appear? A. Over on the corner.

Mr. Blakeney: We object for the same reason now.

Q. On the left-hand corner? A. I think——

Q. Of the picture?

A. Yes, sir, in the second row—on the second row.

Mr. Blakeney: We object for the same reason. We object to both questions, now.

Q. The large boy at the extreme left-hand edge of the picture who stands just behind Chester Lee——

Mr. Blakeney: We object for the reasons assigned in the last objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is your left-hand of the picture that you referred to and next to the stenographer's mark of identification, is that right?

Mr. Blakeney: We object for the same reason and for the additional reason that it is leading and suggestive.

Q. Is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to that question and answer to that question for the same reason.

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mr. Hall, these boys and girls there, standing on the back row of this picture, Exhibit No. 23, are standing on the steps, or some elevation, aren't they? A. Yes, sir.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Mrs. Elmer Jones, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript beginning at page 921.

And thereupon, MRS. ELMER JONES, being called on behalf of the United States, and being first duly affirmed, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Please state your name?
A. Mrs. Elmer Jones, my husband's name.
Q. Mrs. Jones, where do you live?
A. About three fourth's miles southeast of McLouth.
Q. What is your postoffice? A. McLouth.
Q. Did you ever teach school at the Brown School House?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. When did you teach at that place?
A. The winters of ninety-two and ninety-three, and ninety-three and ninety-four.
Q. During all of that time, during any of that time, did Henry Carter and Viola Carter attend that school?
A. Yes, sir, H. Carter.
Q. H. Carter? A. Yes, the way his name was given.
Q. Did they commence going to school at the first term?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time during the term did they commence going to school? A. The first of the term.

Q. Do you remember the appearance of those two children at that time? A. Exactly.

Q. Were they colored or white?

A. Well, they were not entirely white, I shouldn't judge, that is the white race.

Q. Did they associate with the white race?

A. They did at school.

Q. Were there any other colored children there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many? A. One I believe.

Q. What relation did this H. Carter and Viola Carter bear to each other?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness, asking for a conclusion, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. I was under the impression that they were brother and sister.

By Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike the answer as not a statement of facts.

Q. State whether or not they would come to school together or go away together? A. They did.

Q. Both they would come and go together?

A. I think so.

Q. Do you know where they lived?

A. Do you mean at the present time?

Q. No, at that time?

A. I won't say for sure just where they were living then.

Q. To refresh your memory, do you remember whether or not they were living at old man Henry Carter's?

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to that as leading.

A. Yes, I think so.

Q. At the time that you commenced teaching that school, about what size was H. Carter?

A. Well, he was a right good sized boy.

Q. What about the girl?

A. Well, they were some size—that is he was tall and slender and she was rather heavy set.

Q. Do you know whether or not they had been going to school previous to the time—prior to the time that you taught there? A. No, sir, I do not know.

Q. Do you remember how far advanced they were in their studies?

A. He was in the Fourth Reader, and I don't remember about Viola.

Q. Was he taking other studies?

A. Yes, sir, the other studies that came in the regular course.

Q. At the time you commenced teaching that school about how old was Henry Carter if you know—H. Carter?

> By Mr. Blakeney: We object to the form of the questions, the witness has not been properly qualified, and as irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial.

A. As well as I can remember, it seems to me that he gave his age as eleven, or somewhere near that, it might have been a little less or a little more, I can't say positively.

Q. What about the girl?

A. She gave her name as younger—her age as younger.

Q. How much?

A. Well, I think it was somewhere near two years.

> By Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike the answer as not a statement of facts.

Q. How old did he appear to be—did H. Carter appear to be at that time, if you remember?

> By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and calling for a conclusion.

A. Well, that is rather a hard question.

Q. You could only, of course, estimate your knowledge—from your knowledge of other children and their ages.

A. So far as I could judge, I wouldn't question it at the time but what their ages were given correctly.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Did you make a report? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you any distinct recollection at this time just what H. Carter said to you about his age? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you have your attention first called to this matter? A. Do you mean——

Q. To this testimony that you are testifying?

A. Do you mean to this case, or that I should be called as a witness?

Q. Yes, that you probably would be called as a witness, when did you first get that information?

A. Last night about half past two, that was the first I thought about it.

Q. Had you been talked to by anybody recently in the matter? A. Nothing in particular, no, sir.

Q. Well, had anybody pretending to be lawyers or officers called on you or talked to you about the matter?
A. No, sir.

Q. You never had been visited or been asked if you remembered about Henry Carter until you came on the stand and came here to testify? A. No, sir.

Q. Never had? A. No, sir.

Q. This is the first time that you have ever had your memory called to it? A. By anyone.

Q. That is what I mean, by anyone? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had been thinking about it yourself had you?
A. No, sir, I had read some of the case but——

Q. What?

A. I had read some of the case occasionally.

Q. You had read and knew this case was pending in Court, you knew that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you hadn't had your mind called to the fact that these pupils had attended your school and so forth?
A. No, sir.

Q. And you just testified as you recalled when questioned today? A. Yes, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You don't know now anything about the issues in this case, do you?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as immaterial.

A. Why, I don't know very much about it.

Q. You don't know whether—what figure in other words, the age of Henry Carter cuts in this case?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as immaterial.

A. I understand that they are trying to prove a certain age.

Q. Do you know what that age is that they are trying to prove?

A. Well, I have heard some talking today and I have understood that it was a certain age.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. You never talked to anybody reporting to represent Henry Carter in the matter at all, have you? A. No, sir.

Q. This is the first time you ever saw any of us, was when you came in here to testify?
A. When I came here today.

Q. Well, when you came in the building to testify was the first time you had ever seen anybody representing Henry

Carter and then you didn't know who they represented, did you?

A. Well, we met a gentleman out here on the street this morning, but I talked very little to him myself, he talked to a gentleman in the crowd.

Q. It wasn't me, it wasn't I? A. No, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Who was it? A. I can't tell you his name.

Q. Was he a white man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never talked to the Government about the case until you came up here to testify did you? A. No, sir.

Q. To anybody representing the Government?

A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Joseph L. Kelsey, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript beginning at page 869.

And thereupon JOSEPH L. KELSEY being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your name?

A. My name is Joseph L. Kelsey.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Kelsey?

A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. What age are you? A. 38.

Q. What is your business? A. Traveling salesman.

Q. What are you selling?

A. The McCaskey Accounting System; the name of the Company is the McCaskey Cash Register Co.

Q. How long have you been traveling as a salesman?

A. For these people, since May.

Q. Of this last year? A. Yes, May of last year.

Q. Did you ever teach school? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long? A. Altogether 8 years.

Q. Did you ever teach in Ackerland, in Leavenworth, Kansas school district No. 53? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is the name—by what name does that school go? A. Then, it went by the name of Brown School.

Q. What term did you teach there?

A. Well, the year of 1895 and 1896.

Q. Did you teach more than one term?
A. No, one at that place.
Q. Did you have as a pupil there, a boy by the name of H. Carter? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did he have a sister in school? A. Yes, sir.

My Blakeney: We object as a conclusion whether or not it was a sister, and to the competency of the witness, and we ask that the objection be interposed before the answer.

Mr. German: I will withdraw that question.

Q. Was there any other child in that school by the name of Carter? A. Not to my recollection.
Q. Well, other than H?
A. Well, there was a girl, Viola Carter; I thought you meant in addition to the two.
Q. What was their color?
A. Well, they are considered negroes.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the answer as not responsive, and states a conclusion.

Q. What appearance did they have as to being white or colored? A. They had the appearance of being colored.
Q. Did you have any other colored children in school there? A. No, sir.
Q. About what age did H say he was when you taught that session——

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness.

A. The report of the term——

Mr. Blakeney: We object to what the report shows.

Q. I want to get your recollection.
A. Well, my recollection is, he was a boy about 15 or 16 years of age.
Q. About what age was Viola? A. Well, she was younger.
Q. About how much younger?
A. Well, about as much as two years younger—something like that.
Q. Do you know whose family these two children lived in? A. No, I do not.
Q. Did you know old man Henry Carter out there?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you know where C. J. Post lives, or lived at that time?
A. Well, he lived in the district, but just where he lived, I don't know. He was in the district.

Q. Who were the members of the school Board?
A. Robert Lee, and William Moore, and Mark Stigleman.
Q. Do you recall who was the Clerk of the District?
A. Stigleman was the Clerk.

Q. At the conclusion of the session, or the term that you taught there, did you make up a report to the District Clerk of the record of pupils in attendance, and list of the pupils who attended your school? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I show you Government's Exhibit No. 30, and will ask you to examine it and state whether you have ever seen that before? A. Yes, sir, that is the one I prepared myself.

Q. When, approximately, did you prepare that?
A. At the close of the term. I don't know whether there is a filing date on here, or not; the law requires a report of this character to be made at the close of the term.

Q. Then, you made that report in the spring of what year?
A. 1896.
Q. Is that report in your handwriting? A. Yes.
Q. Is that your signature at the conclusion of it?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know what you did with the report after you prepared it? A. Filed it with the clerk of the District.

Q. Mr. Kelsey, that purports to show the name and age of H. Carter; where did you get the information that you placed in the column as his age?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as immaterial.

A. Well, the custom was to get it from the pupils themselves and I know of no reason why I should have varied in this case.

Q. You have no independent recollection of that fact?
A. No, no independent recollection of that because—but that is the way that we got our information.

Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike out the answer as stating a conclusion, and as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. The ages as indicated opposite the names of the pupil given in that report, are they the ages obtained in the manner you stated?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to that as leading, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Mr. German: I will withdraw the question.

Q. Did you make any record of the ages that were given to you by the pupils? A. At the time they gave them to me?
Q. Yes, sir? A. I did, yes, sir.

Q. From what did you gather from the information as to the age that you have put in this report?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, and immaterial.

A. Why, we kept a daily record; a book in which we recorded from day to day, the attendance and various other information regarding the work of the school, and from that book we made up this report. The book was also filed with the clerk.

Q. What time of the year would you get the age from the pupil? A. At the beginning of the term.

Q. State whether or not this report shows the ages of the children as given to you by the children.

> Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for a conclusion, and incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that is true of H. Carter?

A. That would be true of all of them, yes, sir.

Q. Was Viola large for her age, or small for her age, or about the right size for her age as given by her?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading, and incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial; asking for a conclusion, and assuming facts that are not proven.

A. My recollection is that she was large for a girl of her age as given there.

Q. Where is the book that you speak of in which you kept a record of these various things?

A. I don't know where it is, but at the close of the term, we filed it with the Clerk.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mr. Kelsey, have you any distinct recollection of the ages of your pupils that attended at that time, except as you have refreshed it from the examination of your report?

A. Well, the report shows the ages as we had them recorded, and then my general recollection of the size of the pupils at that time——

Q. Independent of the report, could you give approximately the ages of your pupils there?

A. Well, from my recollection, the ages given there would be just about right.

Q. I am not talking about these two but any of the others? A. Yes, sir, any of the others.

Q. Did you have a pupil who attended by the name of Alva Carr?

A. Well, there are a few there, now, I may be a little hazy on. That Carr family didn't come there very long. My recollection about Alva Carr—she was about the age of Henry Carter.

Q. That would be your recollection? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember a boy by the name of Perry Blackford?

A. Yes, because I boarded at his house. He was a boy about 14 at the time.

Q. Do you remember a pupil named Rasby Graves?

A. Yes, he was a boy at least of 18 years of age; about the oldest child there.

Q. Do you remember a boy named Robert Lee?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. About his age?

A. Robert Lee was not as old as he was.

Q. About how old is your recollection, I mean now——

A. Robert was about 16 or 17.

Q. What do the marks indicate in these columns?

A. The studies they pursued.

Q. Studies they pursued? A. Yes.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of C. J. Post, taken before Mr. Penick as Examiner, appearing in his transcript beginning at page 912.

And thereupon, C. J. POST, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your name? A. C. J. Post.

Q. What age are you?

A. I am sixty years old past just a month or two.

Q. Where do you live?

A. Between Springdale and McLouth.

Q. What is your postoffice? A. Ackerman.

Q. How far do you live from the City of Leavenworth?

A. About eighteen miles.

Q. Do you live in Jefferson County? A. No, sir.

Q. I mean in Leavenworth County? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you lived where you now live?

A. I have lived there since 1865.

Q. Do you know a family by the name of H. Carter—I mean of Carter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Colored people? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How far did you live from them? A. Just a mile.
Q. What direction? A. East.
Q. Who was the head of that family?
A. Henry Carter.
Q. Is he living or dead? A. What?
Q. Is he living or dead? A. He is dead.
Q. About how long has he been dead?
A. Oh, he has been dead for fourteen or fifteen or sixteen years, or something like that I should judge, I don't know just how long, I don't remember.
Q. Several years?
A. I know he has been dead quite a while.
Q. Did he have a daughter named Ada? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Who did she marry? A. John Wright.
Q. Did you know a boy in that family by the name of H.?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did H. have a sister?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness.

A. I don't know now whether he had or not. Of course, there was a girl there said to be his sister by outside talk but that is as far as I know of.

By Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out that statement and answer because it is shown to be incompetent.

Q. Was there a little girl in that family?
A. What, in the Wright family?
Q. No, in the Carter family? A. Yes.
Q. What was her name?
A. She went by the name of Viola.
Q. Viola, was she ever called by any other name?
A. Why, she was generally called Pink.
Q. Was she older or younger than H.?
A. I think she was.

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to the competency of the witness.

A. I think she was younger, I wouldn't say for certain.
Q. What was her appearance? Did she appear to be older or younger?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to that as asking for a conclusion of the witness and as incompetent.

A. Why her appearance was younger to my notion.
Q. About how much?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness.

A. Why, two or three years, or something like that, or maybe more.

By Mr. Blakeney: And as calling for a conclusion.

Q. Do you hold any official position, Mr. Post?
A. Nothing only school officer.
Q. You are a school officer, what office? A. Clerk.
Q. How long have you been clerk?
A. Oh, I have been on I think nine years, ten running now; I have been clerk I guess for twenty-five or thirty years at different times.
Q. What is the number of that school district?
A. Fifty-three.
Q. What is the name of the school house, what do they call it? A. Brown's.
Q. Where is the school house from your house?
A. About a little southeast.
Q. About how far? A. About a mile and a half.
Q. You say the Carters lived west of you? A. Yes.
Q. Did these two children that you speak of H. and Viola, go to school? A. Yes, sir.
Q. At the Brown School House?
A. At the Brown School House.
Q. In going to school would they or not pass your house?
A. They would pass my house, yes, in the yard as a general thing.
Q. You saw them frequently?
A. I saw them frequently, oh, yes, every day as a general thing.
Q. Was there any other H. Carter that went to school there, so far as you ever heard or knew?
A. No, never was any other H. Carter went to school in that school.
Q. Was there any other Viola Carter went to school there? A. No.
Q. Do you remember a school teacher by the name of Miss Byron? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did she ever teach there? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you know Mr. Kelsey?
A. Why I think I remember—I think there was a Kelsey; yes, there was a Kelsey who taught there, but I don't know what his given name was.
Q. Did you know a Mr. Hill who taught there? A. Hill?
Q. Hall?

A. Yes, sir, Hall taught there, I think he taught three terms in succession.

Q. Do you remember a Miss Denny who taught there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who is she now? A. Mrs. Soupiset.

Q. As Clerk of the School District, did you make any report to the County Superintendent?

A. Made the annual reports.

Q. As clerk of the School District, did you receive from the school teachers there from year to year their reports?

A. Term reports?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember that those reports you refer to showed the name of H. Carter?

By Mr. Blakeney: This is a preliminary, I suppose.

By Mr. German: Yes, preliminary.

Q. What is your answer?

A. I suppose they are on all the reports, for he went to school at that time; all that went to school them years that I was clerk was on the reports.

Q. I wish you would grant that these reports—

A. No, not now, I don't know, I aint got no specks with me.

Q. Didn't you bring them with you?

A. No, I never thought about them, I can't see anything.

Q. Mr. Post, is the H. Carter, whose name appears in those reports, the same H. you have been testifying about?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What size child was he when you first remember to have seen him, about how old was he?

By Mr. Blakeney: I want to move to strike out that last answer because I objected to the introduction of those reports and I have—don't want to wave that objection; and if that is sustained I want the answer stricken. I object to this last question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and as asking for a conclusion, and as to the competency of the witness.

A. As near as I can say he might have been two or three or four years old, I wouldn't be certain; it has been so long ago I never give it any thought about anything of that kind.

Q. Do you know who his father and mother were?

A. No, sir.

Q. You say he lived with old man Henry Carter?

A. He lived with old man Henry Carter.

Q. Did you ever hear H. say anything about who his parents were? A. No.

Q. Did you ever hear H. refer to old man Carter, or call him—speak to him or address him?

A. Why, he always called him grandpa.

Q. You have heard him call him——

A. Heard him call him that dozens of times.

Q. Did you ever hear old man Carter say anything as to who this boy was?

A. No, I heard him say that he got him in Leavenworth to raise.

Q. You did? A. Yes.

Q. When did he tell you that?

A. Oh, years ago when he was a little fellow four or five years old, I don't remember just when.

Q. You don't remember when that was? A. No.

Q. Did you ever hear him say that more than once?

A. Yes, heard him say that more than once, telling different people that he took the boy to raise, but I don't ever remember him saying whose boy he was or anything of that kind.

By Mr. German: I want the record to show that a large part of this evidence will be used by the Government as rebuttal evidence.

By Mr. Blakeney: You are referring to the evidence of this witness?

By Mr. German: Yes, sir.

By Mr. Blakeney: We of course insist that when you introduced the deposition of the witness that you introduced the whole, that you will not be permitted to pick out that that you think you can distort to your advantage and omit that that is against you.

By Mr. Hanford: Mr. German is that part of the rebuttal evidence referred to yesterday in regard to the Minnie case?

By Mr. German: No, sir, the rebuttal evidence I referred to yesterday related particularly to your client, Mr. Hanford.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mr. Post, you have been testifying from memory as to your early knowledge of H. Carter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. If I understood you right, you didn't recall just how old he was the first time you saw him?

A. Well, I don't know just exactly how old he was, I suppose maybe he was about two or three or four years old as near as I can remember.

Q. Couldn't he have been five or six years of age?

A. Well, he might, I wouldn't say for certain how old he was.

Q. I say you are testifying from your memory?

A. As near as I can yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Post, Henry grew up there in that neighborhood after you first got acquainted with him he grew up?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Into a young manhood? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Rather a large boy, wasn't he?

A. Oh, he wasn't—he was a medium tall slim——

Q. He was a tall boy but slim? A. Yes, slim like.

Q. The girl was a heavy fleshy girl?

A. A heavy built girl, yes.

Q. And rather a large girl for her age?

A. Well, she was a tolerably large girl, yes, heavy set, not so awful tall. Of course she wouldn't look as tall because she was a little larger around in weight.

By Mr. Blakeney: I was expecting to take Mr. Post's evidence out at McLouth myself when we got to where we would take other evidence and some data that we thought might refresh his memory, so that I don't care to examine him any further now.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of A. J. Ridgeway, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript at page 909.

And thereupon, A. J. RIDGWAY, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What is your name? A. A. J. Ridgway.

Q. Your age? A. Fifty.

Q. Where do you reside?

A. A mile and a half southeast of McLouth.

Q. You were summoned at your residence as a witness in this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Ridgway, did you ever live in the vicinity of the Carter home, the old man Henry Carter home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you reside there?

A. Well, I lived there seventeen or eighteen years a mile north of the Carter home.

Q. Did you leave that community? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you leave that community?

A. About twenty years ago.

Q. Did you know H. Carter, who is a defendant in this case?

A. I am not personally acquainted with him, no. I know of him and I know him when I see him, but so far as knowing him personally I don't know him, I don't know that I ever spoke to the man in my life.

Q. How long have you known him when you would see him? A. Oh, right around thirty years.

Q. Did you see him after you left the Carter community twenty years ago?

A. Yes, I have seen him a few times since that—yes, but—

Q. Do you remember about how old he was when you left the Carter community twenty years ago?

A. Well, of course——

Q. Just say yes, or no; Do you remember about?

A. About eight or nine years I should judge.

Q. How old do you say he was at that time?

A. Eight or nine years I think it was.

Q. How long have you been married?

A. Twenty-five years.

Q. How long before you married was it that you left the Carter community? A. About three years.

Q. Where did you move to? A. From the home place?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, about two miles and a half from McLouth.

Q. And have you lived in that community since that time?

A. In that community ever since and around about there.

Q. You are a farmer are you? A. What is that?

Q. You are a farmer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The Court can't see you Mr. Ridgway; this evidence will be transmitted to the United States Court in Oklahoma, so I will ask you this question: You are a white man?

A. Supposed to be.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mr. Ridgway, what time of the year did you move from the old home place?

A. Well, it was—when I left that neighborhood, if I remember right, it was in the fall of the year and we moved to my brother-in-law's—didn't move, but I went to stay with him, I was still single and I wintered with him the first winter and with H. W. Dickenson.

Q. During these three years you visited your home place from time to time, but stayed at some other places?

A. I wasn't back in that neighborhood because my parents had left there; my mother had died a short time before that and my father went back to Indiana, and the home then was broken up and this place was rented and I left there at that time.

Q. When did your mother die?

A. Why, I think it was in eighty-four if I remember right.

Q. Your mother died in 1884? A. I think so.

Q. And how long did your father stay in the country after her death?

A. It seems to me in the neighborhood of two years, eighteen months or something like that.

Q. You stayed with your father there during that time?

A. Yes, around there close by home and with another farmer.

Q. Then after your father left, you went up to stay with a brother-in-law you say?

A. Yes, a brother-in-law of mine, there close to McLouth.

Q. Have you any way of fixing just how long your father stayed there after your mother died except from your memory?

A. No, I have not, no dates given that I could refer to, I think it was in the neighborhood of eighteen months, something like that, my father went east to Indiana to his old home where he was raised and remained there until his death.

Q. What time of the year did your mother die?

A. In the spring of the year, in the last of February or the first of March, the last day of February I think it was.

Q. And then he stayed the rest of that year and practically another year? A. Yes.

Q. And then left?

A. Yes, the rest of that year and then he left and went east to Indiana.

Q. He practically made two crops? A. I think so.

Q. The crop that year that your mother died?

A. Yes, sir, I think so.

Q. And then left? A. Yes.

Q. Where was your mother buried? A. At Springdale.

Q. Who was the place first rented to?

A. My father's place?

Q. Yes?

A. A man by the name of Shultz—Adam Shultz, I think.

Q. Do you know where he is now?

A. Why, I think he lives in Illinois; his son lives out close to McLouth and he could give just where he lives, but I think he lives in Illinois just now.

Q. Where were you married?

A. I was married near McLouth in my father-in-law's house.

Q. Do you remember the date of your marriage?

A. Let's see. I have been married twenty-five years the 25th of this month.

Q. The 25th of February?

A. The 25th of February I will be married twenty-five years.

Q. You married then in 1891?

A. I guess that would be it.

Q. Did you procure license in this County?

A. In Jefferson.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of .... V. Ritchie, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript at page 3192.

Mrs. EMMA V. RITCHIE, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your name? A. Emma V. Ritchie.

Q. What was your maiden name, Mrs. Ritchie? A. Rice.

Q. You live near Oskaloosa?

A. Three and a half miles northeast.

Q. How long have you lived in this neighborhood—the neighborhood of Oskaloosa, approximately?

A. This is the nineteenth year.

Q. Where were you reared?

A. Well, in the east part of Jefferson County, about seven miles from here I guess.

Q. Where, from McLouth?

A. North and east of McLouth; north three miles, and east a mile and a half.

Q. What is your nativity, what blood have you?

A. Well, English and German I guess.

Q. Mrs. Ritchie, did you know a colord man by the name of Henry Carter as you were growing up? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you live when you were a girl with reference to where Henry Carter lived?

A. I lived a quarter of a mile west of the County line and he lived right at the County line of Leavenworth County.

Q. You say you lived a quarter of a mile from Henry Carter?

A. I suppose about a quarter, where you cat-a-cornered across about a quarter, I suppose.

Q. What direction did you live from Henry Carter's?

A. West and a little north.

Q. You lived with your father and mother there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. They raised you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have a brother named—— What is your brother's name who is here today? A. Will Rice.

Q. How much older are you than Will?

A. Well, I guess a little over eight years.

Q. When were you born? A. Sixty-eight.

Q. In 1868? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In what month? A. January 18th.

Q. How long did you live, you and your parents live—How long did you live with your parents there in a quarter of a mile of Henry Carter's?

A. Nineteen years and a few months.

Q. From the time that you were born until you were a little over nineteen? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What girls did Henry Carter have, name his daughters?

A. Well, there was Susan and Mary and Maria and Adis. The older ones were not at home very much after I was old enough to remember.

Q. Do you remember of Adis having married a man named Wright? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know a boy who used to live at the Carter home by the name of H? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were there any other little children there as H grew up?

A. Yes, there was different children there at times of the family, the girls' children.

Q. Was there a child there by the name of Viola?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which was the older, H or Viola? A. H.

Q. About how much older?

A. I can't say just how much, but two or three years anyway.

Q. When was the first time that you ever saw H. What age was he the first time you ever saw him?

A. Well, he was just about as young a baby as I ever saw. They said he was born the day before.

Q. Where was it that you saw him then?

A. At Yokum's house, a short distance from Carter's.

Q. Maria Yokum's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In her house?

A. She brought the baby to the door, called me to the door.

Q. How did she happen to call you to the door if you know?

A. I don't know why she did unless she wanted me to know they had a baby there.

Q. How came you to be near there?

A. Well, we had relatives living a little further or east there, and I was over there, and as I came along by their house, the yard was close to the road, and as I got about even with the door, she called to me and said, come and see what we have got here.

Q. What did she say about that baby?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as heresay and incompetent.

A. She said that a wealthy lady in Leavenworth had got her to take care of it.

Q. Was Adis Wright—What was Adis Wright's name? Had she married at that time? A. No, sir.

Q. She had not? About how long was that before her marriage?

A. Well, she has been married twenty eight or twenty nine years. It must have been about ten years then. I wouldn't swear to that though, I can't just be positive.

Q. But it was several years before her marriage?

A. Yes, she was married just before I was to Wright, before I was married.

Q. When were you married?

A. I was married when I was nineteen years old.

Q. Had you seen Adis Wright around the Carter place any just before this H. showed up there?

A. She was at our place just a short time before in the yard.

Q. How was she dressed?

A. Well, she had a big shawl on her, and at that time from her head and it came on almost to the bottom of her dress.

Q. About how old were you at that time?

A. I was about eleven years old.

Q. Did you see Adis—Do you know whether Adis had been anywhere away from home shortly before this child H was seen by you there as an infant?

A. Yes, sir, along a month or so before that, they said she was at Leavenworth. Of course, I don't know where she was. We didn't see her around home there for some little time.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out what they said as incompetent and hearsay.

Q. After you first saw the child, the little child H.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the form of the question as assuming a state of facts not proven.

Q. Was Adis around there, around the Carter place?
A. Yes, she was for a while, I don't know how long.
Q. What became of this child H, this boy child that you saw there that you say you saw there the day that Mrs. Yokum called you in?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the question as assuming a state of facts not proven.

A. Well, she told me——

Mr. Blakeney: We object to what was told her.

Q. Let me ask this question: This boy you saw there, the morning that Mrs. Yokum called you in, the boy that she told you the rich folks had asked them to take care of, state what that boy was named, what name was given to him?

Mr. Blakeney: We object now as calling for a conclusion and assuming facts not proven.

A. Henry Carter, but he was always known by H.
Q. Did he continue to stay around the Carter place or not? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Would you see him very often?
A. Well, generally when we were passing the house. It was pretty close to the road. That is, in the summer time. In the winter time we didn't see him as often.
Q. State whether from the time that you first saw that baby, which you say was given the name H, up until the time you married, you ever missed him from being around the Carter home for any particular length of time?
A. No, sir.
Q. Did you know whatever became of him finally?
A. Well, he has been away from here some, he went to Oklahoma or some place down there and married and brought a wife back and this is the first time that I ever knew of his being away from the neighborhood.
Q. Was that before or after your marriage?
A. That was after, of course. He was only nine years old when I was married.
Q. Only nine years old when you married? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Now, from the time that you first saw that boy until you married, was a period of about nine years you say?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. During that nine years where did that boy live?
A. He lived at Carter's as far as I know.
Q. The child named Viola, whose child was that if you know?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness.

Q. Well, we alway thought it was Adis's too.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out what they thought as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Where would you see the boy from the time he was big enough to play around until you left there?

A. Why, he most always was with his grandfather about the place there.

Q. Playing around in the yard?

A. Yes, sir. He has been at our place occasionally.

Q. Was there any talk in the neighborhood as to whose child he was?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to that as hearsay, immaterial and incompetent.

Q. At that time, along about the time that he was born and afterwards for a few years?

A. Why yes, of course there generally is you know.

Q. What was the rumor and reputation in the community as to whose child that was?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for hearsay and incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. That is was Adis'.

O. The child, Viola, who was you say younger than H, was there any reputation in the community as to whose child that was?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, hearsay, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, there was.

Q. What was the reputation in the community as to that?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and hearsay, and immaterial.

A. Well, that it was Adis'. I don't know as anybody knew positively.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. What year were you married in, do you remember?

A. I don't remember just what year it was. I was nineteen years old. I was born in sixty eight.

Q. Then you were married in eighty seven, wouldn't it be?

A. Well, I guess it would. I am poor—at remembering dates. I have been married twenty nine years.

Q. How old was this boy at the time you were married? That is, judging from his size?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object to that as repetition.

Q. How big a boy was he, how old would you judge him to be?

A. Well, he was rather small for his age until he was ten or twelve years old. There wasn't very much difference in the size of the children.

Q. Whose child was he generally reputed to be in the neighborhood?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object as hearsay, irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial, and to the competency of the witness, and to his reputation. The examination is being made by the Page interests in this matter, allied with the Government.

A. Well, that he was Adis'.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. What was it that Mrs. Yokum told you there about the child?

A. She said a wealthy lady in Leavenworth had got her to take care of him.

Q. Did she tell you the name of the wealthy lady?

A. No, she told me no names.

Q. Did she show you the child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you take it in your arms? A. No, sir.

Q. How did she exhibit it to you?

A. She brought it to the door and I walked up to the door and looked at it.

Q. The child was dressed? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Did you see this boy any after you were married?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is the boy you saw after your marriage the same boy that you knew around the Carter place there before you married? A. Why, he always looked like he was the same.

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. After you saw this infant exhibited to you there at Mrs. Yokum's, you didn't see the infant any more for sometime?

A. Not for a few months. He was big enough to be carried around in the yard before I saw him again.

(Witness dismissed.)

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Mary Soupiset, taken before Mr. Penick appearing in his transcript at page 888.

Mrs. MARY SOUPISET being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your name? A. Mrs. Mary Soupiset.

Q. Where do you live, Mrs. Soupiset?

A. I live in Jefferson County; my postoffice is Winchester.

Q. Jefferson County, Kansas? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you lived there, or in that community?

A. I have lived there just nine years now, and up to that time, I lived down southwest of Leavenworth for seven years—about five miles southwest, and then all the rest of my life, I lived in the western part of Leavenworth County about six miles from where I live now.

Q. Is Jefferson adjacent to Leavenworth County?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which direction is it from Leavenworth County?

A. West.

Q. Where is your place of residence with reference to McLouth? A. I live three miles east.

Q. At this time?

A. Oh, at this time, no. It is eight miles northeast.

Q. What county is McLouth in? A. Jefferson.

Q. About how far is McLouth from Leavenworth?

A. About 21 miles, I think.

Q. How far do you live from Leavenworth, about?

A. About 18 miles.

Q. Did you ever teach school at Brown's school—school district No. 53, Leavenworth County?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. When? A. In the years of 1891 and 1892.

Q. Had you been reared in that County? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was your maiden name? A. Mary Denny.

Q. Had your parents lived in that community then?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. They still live there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know a family by the name of Carter living in that County—colored people? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did they live with reference to Brown's schoolhouse?

A. I can't tell the distance exactly but I think it was somewhere in between two and three miles.

Q. In what direction from the schoolhouse?

A. Northwest from the school house.

Q. More nearly west than north?

A. Well, as near as I could judge, I believe it would be about equal.

Q. I see. In what direction did your parents live from the schoolhouse? A. Southwest.

Q. So the schoolhouse was between your folks and the Carters? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you taught school there, did you have any pupils whose names was Carter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Name then.

A. H Carter and Viola Carter.

Q. Where they white, ot colored, or what?

A. Well, I should think they were mulatto.

Q. I see. Did you have any other mulattoe, or colored children in the school? A. No, sir.

Q. The rest of the children were white? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You taught there one term? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What age, if you know was H Carter at that time?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object to the form of the question. She ought to be first shown to have qualifications. The question is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.
>
> Mr. German. I will ask her another question.

Q. Do you know what age H Carter was at that time, or about what age? A. Yes, sir, I know about the age.

Q. About what age was he?

A. As nearly as I now remember, H was 11 years old at that time.

Q. That was in 1891 and '92? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The school session of 1891 and '92? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of the year, did you figure that age?

> Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and asking for a conclusion, and assuming a fact not proven.

Q. Go ahead.

A. Tha was in September when school commenced.

Q. 1891? A. Yes, sir, September 1891.

Q. Was there any relationship between H and Viola?

> Mr. Blakney: We object to the competency of the witness.

A. They were supposed to be——

> Mr. Blakeney: We object to what they were supposed to——

Q. Go ahead.

A. They were supposed to be brothers and sisters.

Q. Why do you say they were supposed to be?

Mr. Blakeney: We object, now, as leading, suggestive, and incompetent, and argument.

Q. What information did you have as to whether they were kin to each other?

A. I believe I heard the children call each other brother and sister.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the statement as not a statement of a fact.

Q. When did you hear them call each other call them that, if you did?

Mr. Blakeney: We object, now, as assuming, and as incompetent.

A. During the school session.

Q. Would they come to school together?

A. Yes, sir, they always came together.

Q. Would they have [] to do with each other, particularly at school? A. Yes, sir, they would sit together.

Q. They sat together?

A. Well. other children—the girls would sit on one side of the schoolhouse and the boys on the other but these two sat together in the same seat.

Q. What was Viola called. if she was called by any other name? A. She was called Pink.

Q. What was Viola's age?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and object to the competency of the witness.

A. I think she was nine years old.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike the answer as not a statement of a fact.

Q. She was younger than H then?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for a conclusion, and as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. About what was the difference between their ages?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness, and the question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Between one and two years.

Q. How did they compare in size

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial so afr as Viola is concerned.

A. The girl was just about as large as the boy.
Q. Was she or not large for her age?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness, and incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, sir, she was large for her age.
Q. Was she fleshy or slender? A. She was fleshy.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as immaterial.

Mr. Berman: That is all.

Mr. Blakeney: I move, now, to strike out all the evidence of this witness as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and particularly move to strike it out as it in no manner supports the Government's case in chief, this being a mere effort of the Government to introduce evidence that would be competent on the contest between defendants when the Government is not of record representing any of the defendants in the case.

Mr. German: Nor otherwise, why don't you add, Mr. Blakeney?

Mr. Blakeney: It has no connection in any way in the world with your case.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mrs. Soupiset, did you obtain the ages of the different children that attended the school from them, or from their families, or how did you obtain their ages?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading.

A. I obtained the ages from the children themselves.
Q. Did you have any reason to doubt that H. Carter was about the age you have given?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. No, sir, I should judge that that was about his age.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike the answer as not responsive, particularly the last part of the answer which says I should judge, etc.

Q. From his appearance? A. Yes, sir.
Q. What did you take into consideration in judging his age, and as to how you formed your opinion?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, from his general appearance; by the look of his face, I should judge he was about that age.
Q. How about his size?

A. I would consider that he was a little small for that age.

Q. Do you remember him well at this time?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading; incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, sir, I remember him well.

Q. Your recollection as to that particular child is quite clear? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading.

Mr. German: Let me ask her one more question before you start.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You say he was possibly a little small for a boy of 11?

Mr. Blakeney: We object, now, as leading, and assuming, and incompetent.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What age would you judge him to be from his size?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and a repetition.

A. Well, I can't answer that only by explaining by other children.

Q. Yes? A. I have seen——

Mr. Blakeney: We object to any comparison or——

Q. Well, you state this; you said on his general appearance, he seemed to be a boy of 11 years old? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: I object.

Mr. German: I haven't completed my question.

Q. And you stated that from his size, he didn't appear to be quite that old; what age would just his size, eliminating his appearance, have lead you to believe he was?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading, suggestive, argument, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and an attempt to either cross examine or bolster up his witness.

A. From his size, I would not judge him to be over ten.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. When did you first have your attention called to this case? A. Sometime in November, about the middle, I think.

Q. Of last year? A. Yes, sir, last year.

Q. Who called your attention to it?

A. It was an attorney; I think he said his name was McMillan.

Q. And attorney named McMillan?

A. That is the way he introduced himself, if I got the name.

Q. Did he tell you who he was representing? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you make him an affidavit?

A. He just asked me questions and I answered them.

Q. Did he put it down on writing or did you sign it?

A. No, sir, I didn't sign it.

Q. That was in November of 1915? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Twenty-four years have transpired approximately before you—since you had had your mind directed towards this fact?

A. Well now, there are some things that I can't answer unless I have seen the family—some of the family—and heard their names spoken—something like that—but no one never questioned me about them.

Q. You never had your attention called to their ages?

A. No, sir.

Q. How frequently had you seen any member of the family?

A. Well, after two or three years after I taught that school, it was probably four or five years at a time before I would see any of them.

Q. During that two or three years how often would you see them? A. Oh, probably once a month, or near about.

Q. Who would you see?

A. I would see as I passed there, sometimes Mr. Carter, and then again, I have seen passing the road by our place I saw Mrs. Adis Wright, and at other times, I seen another member called Susie Carter. So, at that time, I don't know whether that is her name, yet or not.

Q. Then, some two or three years after this, you left that country, did you?

A. Yes, sir, that is left it as far as over here southwest of Leavenworth—four miles.

Q. You moved over southwest of Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far were you from that Carter place?

A. I would be about 14 miles from there, I think.

Q. Did you ever go over to their place after you moved southwest of Leavenworth? A. No, sir.

Q. Were you married when you were living southwest of Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you marry out there?

A. I married here eight miles west of Leavenworth.

Q. You didn't marry when you were living out there northwest of this school house that you mentioned?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You married there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far were you living from the school house?

A. About 4 miles.

Q. Northwest? A. Southwest.

Q. About how long did you marry after you had taught?

A. Four years.

Q. What had you been doing during that four years?

A. Well, I taught school the next year after I taught the Brown, and the next two years, I worked at home.

Q. You taught one year school and then you worked at home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you teach school any more? A. No, sir.

Q. Then you were married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And since that you have been engaged in housework?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did the party that talked to you in November, make any statement to you about what they were trying to prove?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did not tell you that they were trying to prove Henry Carter's age?

A. He never told me anything about what he was trying to prove.

Q. But he did ask you about Carter's age? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you remember then the size and appearance, age of Henry Carter when it was mentioned to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Some twenty-four or five years after you had taught there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you happen to remember that one was 11 and that one was 9?

A. Well, just—I can't tell you that only how I remembered other children's ages of the school.

Q. You remembered the ages of each?

A. I can't say probably that I did every one, but the majority of them, I could remember pretty well their ages.

Q. You mean by that that you could remember the size of the children and from that you would judge of their age?

A. No, I——

Q. Do you remember what they told you about their ages after that lapse of time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You did? What did Henry Carter tell you about his age?

A. I don't say for certain that I remember every child's age, but very nearly.

Q. What I was asking was whether or not you just remember about the size and appearance of the scholars who attended there, and you would now fix about the age from that size and appearance, or whether you would remember what they said to you about their age.

A. Well, I can remember a great many what they told me their ages were.

Q. What did Henry tell you about his age?

A. I believe he told me 11 years.

Q. Why do you say believe?

A. Well, I don't want to say too sure when there could absolutely be a little difference in it.

Q. Yes. Didn't he tell you he knew his age?

A. No, each child—every one—gave me an age.

Q. Every one gave you an age? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Some of the very young children, you would get their ages from older brothers or sisters, wouldn't you?

A. Well, each child gave me his own age.

Q. You are sure of that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you are sure of Henry giving you his age?

A. Yes, sir, every one.

Q. Well, you say, yes, sir, about that last question because your recollection is that you asked all of them their ages, and they all gave you their ages?

A. Every one gave me their age.

Q. Don't you remember Henry Carter told you he didn't know his age? A. He didn't tell me that.

Q. But that he supposed that he was just about that age?

A. The children, each one, gave me a certain age for themselves.

Q. Do you remember that as a fact, or that they must have done it, as you always inquired for ages?

A. I know they each one gave me their age because I didn't have to inquire to any other one for their ages.

Q. But you don't remember the language they used with reference to their age?

A. Each one would give me their age when I asked them, is all I can tell you.

Q. Well, if some of them would give you the dates they were born instead of their age, you could compute their age, couldn't you? A. Yes, sir, I could have.

Q. Do you remember whether anyone ever did that?

A. No, sir, they did not.

Q. Every one just answered out when you asked them their age? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was Henry Carter sitting when he gave you his age? A. They were all——

Q. No, not all, but just Henry?

A. Sitting in his seat.

Q. Sitting in his seat? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And can you see him there now, sitting in his seat, and his saying my age is 11, when you asked him, or are you just assuming that you asked everyone that?

A. I remember that each one—of course you said to see each one—but I remember H. was sitting in his seat, and when I asked him his age, he said.

Q. You have a picture in your mind—his sitting there and saying, my age is 11? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Viola saying my age is nine? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then you looked at his feature to see whether he was telling you the truth about it?

A. No, sir, I didn't think of such a thing as that.

Q. Well, you were looking at him when he answered you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you could see from his features and facial expressions, and his physical development that that was the truth?

A. Why no, there is no soul on earth that can do that exactly.

Q. But you say from his appearance you would judge that he was 11, and from his size, you would probably think he was a year or more younger?

A. I say in his face he looked that old but his size was smaller than the majority of children of that age.

Q. You noticed that and had that in your mind when he answered up as to his age? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you carried that—kept it fresh in your memory during these twenty-five years, have you?

A. Yes, sir, I remember it.

Q. Do you live on a farm? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say these two people sat together? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Viola and Henry? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They sat together because they were the only two colored people in the school and they sat together? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Their sitting together was because they were relatives in any way?

A. I don't suppose so because children didn't care to sit with the colored children and they sat together.

Q. You had two sitting at each seat? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Regular desks at the school? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And two sat at each desk? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And to keep two white children from sitting with each one of them, they sat together? A. Yes, sir.

Q. There were other brothers and sisters attending school there, and boys and girls sat at different desks? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is it more difficult for you to tell the age of a colored pupil than it is white?

A. Of grown colored people it is.

Q. But of Henry Carter and Viola Carter, you had absolutely no difficulty?

A. No, I could tell those I think as well as——

Q. You could tell better, couldn't you?

A. I don't know as I could tell any better.

Q. Did you make a report?

A. Which, at school?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you do with the report?

A. Sent it to the Superintendent.

Q. The County Superintendent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you ever seen it since? A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of Lilly Williams, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript at page 771.

And thereupon, LILLY WILLIAMS, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What is your name? A. Lilly Williams.

Q. Age and place of residence?

A. 200 Sherman Avenue.

Q. How old are you? A. Forty-seven.

Q. Have you been sick recently?

A. Yes, sir, I have been sick ever since the 6th of December; I haven't been out of the house until today since the 6th of December.

Q. Today is the first time you have been out of the house since the 6th of December?

A. Yes, sir, have been in bed six weeks.

Q. Where did you live in eighteen and seventy nine and eighty? A. 1879?

Q. And eighty?

A. Let me see, I don't know exactly, I think though——

Q. I will ask you this question: When were you married?

A. About—I was married twenty-seven years the twenty-fourth of December.

Q. To your present husband? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Prior to your marriage where did you live?

A. I have lived here in Leavenworth ever since I was married.

Q. Before that where did you live?

A. Well, I lived—I was born here in Leavenworth, and then we moved out in the country on—I forget the name—Shaw, I believe—Shaw's farm, and I think we stayed there a year, I think it was a year, and then we moved from there over on Grandpa's place.

Q. Are you a daughter of John and Mariah Yokum?

A. I am.

Q. Who was your grand-father, on whose place you then moved? A. A Harry Carter.

Q. Henry Carter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know H. Carter? A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. Who is the defendant in this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know whose child he is? A. I guess I do.

Q. Who is his mother? A. Ada Wright.

Q. Where were you when he was born?

A. We were living on Grandpa's place.

Q. Were you at the house where H. was born at the time of his birth? A. No, sir.

Q. Where was he born?

A. He was born at our house.

By Mr. Blakeney: I object as incompetent. The witness was not there.

Q. Did you learn at that time where he was born?

A. He was born at Grandmother's.

By Mr. Blakeney: I object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. When did you see him with reference to the time of his birth? A. The next morning.

Q. Where did you see him? A. Mamma brought him home.

Q. When did your mother bring him to your house?

A. The next morning.

Q. How long did he stay at your mother's house then?

A. Well, I don't know just exactly how long, but he was a small child yet, although he was pretty good size, but still he was small. I can't say just how many months because I don't remember.

Q. Did you have a brother or sister that was born soon before Henry was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the name of that child?

A. Annie Blanche Yokum.

Q. Is she living or dead? A. She is dead.

Q. How long has she been dead?

A. She has been dead about, I think it will be thirteen years in April.

Q. Who nursed this baby during the time she stayed at your house? A. Which baby?

Q. H. Carter?

A. I did, me and my other sister, but I cared for him the most.

Q. What did he eat during that time? A. Sir?

Q. Was he raised on a bottle or nursed during that time?

A. No, at first my mother put him on the breast and then she put him on the bottle afterwards, but at first she started in on the breast.

Q. What became of him after she had kept him for some time after bringing him to your house? A. What became of H?

Q. Yes? A. She taken him down to Grandma's.

Q. Have you known him since that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is this man, H. Carter, who is the defendant in this case the same H. Carter that was born, as you understood at the time, to Adia Wright that night? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Blakemore: We object to that understanding.

A. Yes, he is the same.

Q. Do you know whether H. Carter is married or not?

A. Married?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir, he is married.

Q. Did he ever get married?

A. He has been married twice, I guess he has been married twice, he has been married once to my knowing.

Q. Who was that you know of him marrying?

A. His first wife, he brought her up here from the Territory, her name was Lela, she was red headed and cross eyed. He said she was Indian, but she looked like a white woman to me. I guess my house was the first place they came to when they came here to town.

Q. Who did he next marry? A. Ara Simpson.

Q. Is that the girl that you know about him marrying?

A. Yes, sir, she was Matron at the Hospital.

Q. That first wife was Lela or Lilly?

A. We always called her Lela, she told us that was what her name was.

Q. Lela? A. Lela.

Q. I hand you Government's Exhibit 10 and ask you——

A. I can't see without glasses, I forgot my glasses.

Q. Did you see that picture just before coming on the witness stand? A. This picture?

Q. Yes?

A. I can't see it without glasses—there is H.

Q. You have got on glasses now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Looking at it through glasses? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which one did you point to? A. This one.

Q. Is the one you pointing to standing up or sitting down? A. That looks like H., he looks to be standing up.

Q. In the back or front? A. In the back.

Q. In reference to the girl that is standing in the back, where is H. standing? A. Why he is standing to the left.

Q. Is he on the side or in the middle?

A. He is on the side—— He is in the middle of the picture in the back.

Q. Is he standing next to the girl that is standing in the back? A. Yes, sir, he seems to be.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Do you know which year it was that you say H. came up here and brought Lela with him?

A. No, I don't know just exactly what year it was, but let's see. My Georgia was a little baby and she will be twelve years old, next September, the 7th, and she was a tiny baby, I had never been out of the house.

Q. So that it was eleven or twelve years ago?

A. Yes, sir, it will be twelve years, I don't remember just exactly what month she came in. Well, it must have been in October, because she was born the 7th of September, and I wasn't able to get around much.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Who are you living with now?

A. Who am I living with now?

Q. Yes? A. My family, my husband and children.

Q. Your husband and children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Anybody else living in the same family?

A. I have a daughter-in-law living there with me—her husband and son.

Q. You have a daughter and her husband and son living with you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where do you live with reference to your parents?

A. What did you say?

Q. Where do you live with reference to your parents?

A. With reference to my parents?

Q. Yes? A. My parents live on Shawnee Street.

Q. Where do you live?

A. I live on Sherman Avenue and Ninth.

Q. Examine that picture that has been exhibited to you, marked Exhibit No. 19, and tell us the other persons in that picture if you know them? A. That looks like Viola.

Q. Which one? A. H's sister.

Q. Which one, I say, looks like Viola? A. This girl here.

Q. The one to our right standing up in the back row?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. You think it is Viola? A. It looks like her.

Q. Do you recognize any of the others? A. No.

Q. You have the ages of all the members of your family in a Bible, haven't you? A. No, sir.

Q. You haven't anything to do with the Bible that your mother has?

A. No, sir, that is hers. I have a Bible but I haven't any ages in it yet.

Q. Can't you tell who all the others in that picture are?

A. No, I don't think I know any of them. This boy here favors the Brosy boy.

Q. Who?

A. Frank Brosy, but I don't know whether it is him or not.

Q. Who was Frank Brosy? A. He was a German boy.

Q. Where did he live?

A. A mile, or about a mile and a half from Grandpa's place.

Q. From your grandpa's?

A. Yes, sir, that looks like Frank, I don't know whether it is or not.

Q. The others, you say you don't know?

A. No, sir, I might know them if I heard their names.

Q. You didn't know this man or woman?

A. I have saw that man. I might know him if I heard his name.

Q. You have seen him, have you? A. Yes, I think I have.

Q. Where do you think you have seen him?

A. I think I saw that fellow out around McLouth some place.

Q. You don't know who it is however, can't give the name? A. No.

Q. Did you ever see this one?

A. His face is familiar but I can't tell who it is now, I have seen that face I think.

Q. Where do you think you have seen that face?

A. Out there some place.

Q. The face of a white person? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Some white person that you knew? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is a white man, some white person that you knew? A. Yes, sir, I have seen him.

Q. You don't think it is Adith Wright, do you?

A. That is a man.

Q. This woman here? A. That is a boy.

Q. What?

A. That is a boy, and this is a girl there, and this a boy.

Q. Is that a boy? A. Yes, looks like a boy to me.

Q. The one right immediately under——

A. Under this girl here.

Q. You think is a boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you were there when Viola was born?

A. No, I wasn't there.

Q. You was on your grandfather's place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When Viola was born? A. Yes, but I wasn't there.

Q. And how many years did you live on your grandfather's place?

A. I don't know exactly, I never kept any account, we was there—I know there were two children born there, there were Annie and Minnie.

Q. Annie and Minnie? A. Minnie, she is dead.

Q. Two of your sisters were born there?

A. Yes, sir, were born on grandfather's place. Minnie was older than Annie.

Q. Minnie was born first? A. Yes, sir, she is dead.

Q. And she died and Annie was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Both born on that place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, you had been living there how long before Annie was born? A. I don't remember.

Q. In other words, how long between Minnie and Annie?

A. I don't remember that either, because I was a child, I don't remember.

Q. How old did Minnie live to be before she died?

A. Minnie was seven months old when she died.

Q. About how long is your best recollection now between Minnie and Annie?

A. Well, I don't remember. Of course, Mamma has their ages in the Bible. I know Minnie was older than Annie, must have been a year or two years, something like that.

Q. Between a year and two years?

A. Yes, must have been.

Q. You say must have been, have you any recollection about it or just talking about human nature?

A. Well, no, I think it was about two years, must have been.

Q. You were living there on your grandfather's place about two years before Annie was born then?

A. Well, I can't say and tell the truth, I don't know how long she was there.

Q. Let's tell the truth about something else then.

By Mr. German: I object to the remark of counsel and move to strike.

A. I ain't telling anything but the truth if I tell you anything.

Q. Let's get the truth then. A. I am telling you.

Q. How long between the birth of those two children?

A. I don't know, I said about a year or two years, along there some place, I know they are——

Q. You fix it to be two years?

A. I say it is along there about that.

Q. Can you now tell me how long it was?

A. I can't tell you because I don't know.

Q. Can you tell me how long you lived there before Minnie was born?

A. No, sir, I can't because I never kept any track of it.

Q. Now, you were living there when Minnie was born?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. On your grandfather's place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were living there when Annie was born?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You lived there something about three years, you say?

A. I don't know how long we lived there, there were two children born when we lived on Grandpa's place.

Q. How old did you say Annie was when Henry was born?

A. Well, there was a small child and baby?

Q. About how old?

A. I don't remember how old, but she was a small child, she was still nursing and she had to be cared for.

Q. Now, how long did your mother nurse the baby Annie?

A. No, sir.

Q. To about what age? A. No, sir.

Q. How long did you live there after H. was born?

A. How long after H. was born?

Q. Yes, on your grandfather's place?

A. I don't know just exactly how long, I don't remember that.

Q. You lived about two years, didn't you?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Well, you lived there until after Viola was born?

A. Yes, she was a small child when we went away.

Q. You lived there until Viola was born? A. Yes, sir?

Q. So, how much older is Henry than Viola?

A. Well, I don't just exactly know, I can't say positively; there ain't so very much difference; he was small, I can't tell you how much older he is than her, not so very much difference.

Q. Not so very much difference between Henry and Viola?

A. No, they both were small together; of course, H. is older than Viola.

Q. About how much difference would you say?

A. I don't know, because I never kept any track of the ages, I know he is the oldest, that is all.

Q. Now, wasn't there three years and one day——

A. I don't know.

Q. Between Annie B. Yokum's birth and Minnie Yokum's? A. I don't know, I can't say.

Q. What?

A. I can't say, if I would tell you that I would tell you something I don't know.

Q. Minnie was born there and Minnie was older than Annie? A. Minnie was older than Annie.

Q. You can't say there was three years difference in their ages? A. No, because I don't remember.

Q. Where was Bertha born? A. Bertha?

Q. Yes? A. What Bertha?

Q. Did you have a sister named Bertha?

A. Yes, oh, yes, Bertha was born over on the Shaw farm.

Q. On the Shaw farm? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Minnie was the first born and then Annie and then Bertha?

A. Bertha is older than Annie or Minnie. Bertha was born on the Shaw farm and we moved from the Shaw farm.

Q. Bertha was born on the Shaw farm? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you moved to your grandfather's farm?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then Minnie was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then Annie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, don't you know that Annie was born before Minnie was? A. Don't I know what?

Q. Don't you know Annie was born before Minnie was?

A. No, because I think Minnie was the oldest.

Q. Sure of that?

A. I believe Minnie is older, I think Minnie is older than Annie.

Q. Than Annie? A. Yes, I think she is.

Q. But you are sure Minnie was born on your grandfather's farm? A. Yes, sir, I am sure of that.

Q. Then, Bertha was born in 1877 on the Shaw farm, you were living on the Shaw farm in 1877?

A. Well, I guess we must have been.

Q. Then the last of these two, Annie and Minnie, both were born at the last—were born in 1881, you had lived down in that country three years then?

A. I never kept any track, so I can't answer that, I don't know, I have told you the best I know.

Q. But you are sure both of these children were born while you lived out on your grandfather's farm, Minnie and Viola? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That you are sure of? A. I am sure of that.

Q. Are you acquainted with the family of Adith's?

A. The Wright children?

Q. Yes, Adis?

A. No, I never seen all of them, because they lived out on the farm and we lived here in town and some of the children I never saw.

Q. You have seen the older ones haven't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you ever see them?

A. Out at Grandpa's. It was so far to their place we never went out there after we moved in.

Q. Where were you when you were married?

A. In Leavenworth.

Q. Living in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had moved back to Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year do you say you were married in?

A. I have been married twenty-seven years.

Q. But you don't know the year?

A. I have forgot, I have got it on my certificate, but I have forgot, I can't remember everything.

Q. Twenty-seven years, married about 1888?

A. Along there some place, eighty-eight or eighty-nine, I forget which, along there some place.

Q. Where were you living when Adis was married?

A. When Adis married John Wright?

Q. Yes? A. We were living on Big Stranger, I think.

Q. Where? A. Down on Big Stranger.

Q. On Big Stranger? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you over at your grandfather's place about the time that Adis was supposed to be married? A. No, sir.

Q. When was your Aunt Babe married?

A. Aunt Babe married when I was a child.

Q. When you were a child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember it, were you old enough to remember what was occurring then, I reckon?

A. Some things I guess I could remember.

Q. About how old do you say you were?

A. I don't know just how old I was, but I know I was a child, I was a good sized child.

Q. Well, give us something between five and fifteen, can't you?

A. I must have been— I won't say positively, but I must have been eight or nine, along in there some place.

Q. Were you at the wedding? A. I was.

Q. Who was at the wedding of the family?

A. Of the family?

Q. Yes?

A. There was Mamma and Papa, Uncle Tom, and I don't remember whether Aunt Babe was there or not.

Q. Your Aunt Babe? A. Yes.

Q. We are talking about Aunt Babe's marriage?

A. Not Aunt Babe, Aunt Susan. I don't remember whether she was there or not. Grandma and Grandpa, Mary and myself.

Q. Where was your father living when Babe was married?

A. My father?

Q. Yes?

A. On Grandpa's place. Now, wait, let me see: Yes, I think he was.

Q. Was Adis—where was Adis living?

A. With Grandma and Grandpa.

Q. When Babe was married she was living with her parents? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Before Adis was supposed to have had this child Henry, did you see her personal appearance? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was her personal appearance last before——

A. Well, you might know what her appearance was if I see her, I was old enough to have——

Q. You say you were old enough? A. Yes.

Q. How old were you?

A. Oh, I must have been ten or eleven, along in there some place.

Q. Ten or eleven?

A. Must have been along in there some place.

Q. You noticed the fact that her person showed that she was pregnant? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Carrying a child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You noticed that, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you notice that?

A. I don't remember that, I know I noticed it.

Q. You noticed it for several months?

A. I can't answer that question because I don't know.

Q. Did you notice it the night that your Aunt Babe was married? A. No.

Q. You didn't notice it? A. No.

Q. Then she didn't show that she was?

A. No. No, she didn't, because Aunt Babe was married, she wasn't—she wasn't here and making her home, Aunt Babe, she was working when she came back home.

Q. Let's get that right. Adis was working here in town?

A. Yes, sir

Q. And making——

A. I am not sure about her working now, I don't know whether she was working or going to school, but I know she was here in town and came home.

Q. Here in town living with your sister, your Aunt Babe?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she came out home showing that she was with child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And how long was she at home before she had a child?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Don't you remember how long before she had the child that she came home? A. I don't know.

Q. Don't you know as a matter of fact, July 7th, or in the month of July, the year you claim Henry was born, 1879, that your Aunt Babe was married in her father's house?

A. I never told you that I knew H was born in that day, because I didn't know, and I never noticed her being in that stage when she was married, and I don't think I told you that either.

Q. But you now tell me that you didn't notice her in that stage when Babe was married?

A. No, I never noticed her in that stage.

Q. And when Babe was married, Babe moved up to town to live? A. Yes.

Q. And she came up here and stayed with Babe?

A. Yes.

Q. And stayed how long would you say?

A. I don't remember, I don't know.

Q. Stayed some time with Babe and then came back home to have this baby?

A. I know she came home, she had it after she came home.

Q. You know it wasn't in four or five months after she was married, don't you?

A. I can't answer that and tell the truth, because I don't know.

Q. Where does Mrs. Symons live now?

A. She lives on the corner of Chicapoo up stairs. At first she lived with my Aunt Emma, had her front room, and she moved from there at up over the grocery store on Fourth and Chicapoo.

Q. When you say that Adis was living with Mrs. Symonton, you mean after Mrs. Symonton's marriage? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You mean she came in and lived in their house?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember your Aunt Susie going to Chicago to attend some lodge or organization of colored people and not being able to come to the wedding, but came a few days after the wedding?

A. Well, I can't say positively about that, I knew she was the leading officer in the tabernacle I think, one of the leading officers, I think.

Q. Do you remember that it met in July?

A. I think there was something like that, but I won't say positively, I don't really think Aunt Susie was there.

Q. But you do recollect that she came a few days after the wedding before your sister left home? A. Left home?

Q. Before she left your grandfather's place?

A. No, sir, she left there that evening.

Q. Babe left there that evening? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember whether your sister Susan came a few days afterwards? A. I don't remember.

Q. That is if she married about the first of July, '79, she came there about the first of August '79, coming from this convention in Chicago? A. I don't remember that.

Q. You don't remember that? A. No.

Q. You remember she was there about that time and stayed several months?

A. I know Aunt Susie came home, but I don't remember how long she stayed or how long it was after Aunt Babe married.

Q. Were you at your grandfather's place close to the time that Adis married?

A. When she married, John Wright went to living down on Big Stranger.

Q. Were you over to your grandfather's place after that day frequently or occasionally?

A. After Adis married John Wright?

Q. Yes. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see Susan there?

A. Well, Susan came home to stay; she taught school in Missouri, and after grandma had a stroke she came home to take care of grandma.

Q. What is your recollection about the marriage? Was she married about the time of your grandma's stroke?

A. She had three; I can't say positively whether it was the first one or second.

Q. How long was she sick with the three?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Sick about two years with the three, wasn't she?

A. Along there some place.

Q. About how long do you say it was before she had the first, that Adis was married? A. I don't remember.

Q. You remember it was something like four years?

A. Well, I can't say and I wouldn't say and be positive about it; I remember she had three strokes. I don't remember how long they were apart.

Q. Search your memory and see if you can tell us about how long it was between the time that Adis married and the first stroke that your grandmother had. A. I don't remember.

Q. Have you any recollection as to whether or not any time intervened?

A. I know she was home. They lived there after they were married—her and John; they lived at home a while before they went to themselves.

Q. Don't you remember that Susan came home and was with them, and she left after that and was gone about three years and came back when your mother was sick?

A. I can't answer that because I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember?

A. I know she came and went but——

Q. When these two children, Viola and Henry, you say, were born, they continued to live there after Viola's birth, with your grandfather?

A. Yes, they have always been there.

Q. Always lived there after Viola's birth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were they living there when your sister Susan came there to attend the marriage of Adis? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Living there at your grandfather's place?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are sure of that? A. I am sure.

Q. But you don't recall any other visits that Susan made to the place?

A. Oh, she made several backwards and forwards but I don't remember.

Q. During all these visits she made there, these two children were there on that place?

A. I can't say during them all but she was there, and they were both small when Susie was there, I know.

Q. Your mother was nursing Annie, you say, at the time that Henry was born? A. That Henry was born?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Annie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember whether Annie was over at the marriage of your sister—your Aunt Babe?

A. I don't remember.

Q. You remember that Babe received some presents at the time that she was married, don't you?

A. I think she did, yes.

Q. Do you remember that they were placed on the table and that your grandfather would take them off the table and hand them to Annie to carry to your——

A. No sir, I don't remember that.

Q. Don't remember that? A. No, sir.

Q. Don't remember that Annie was a little, tottling baby at that time, and could walk?

A. No, sir, I don't remember that.

Q. And that your grandfather handed the presents on the table to Annie—— A. No, sir.

Q. And Annie would take them over and give them to your married aunt?

A. He might have but I don't remember.

Q. Annie was at the wedding, you say, or not?

A. I don't remember whether she was or not—I have forgot.

Q. Annie was born after that time, was she?

A. I can't say positively; I don't remember whether Aunt Babe was married before Annie was born or afterwards.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Do you know Floyd Kessling? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is his name? How do you spell his last name?

A. I don't know how you spell it, I know we always pronounced it Kessner.

Q. Kessner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he ever go with any of the girls there at your grandfather's?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as not proper redirect examination.

Mr. Allen: We make it a part of our direct examination.

Mr. Blakeney: I object to that. I insist that after the cross examination that the Government will not be permitted—in the guise of a redirect examination—to reopen the direct.

Mr. Allen: I want to state that I was not advised at the time that I directed the examination of this witness, of this information that the witness had.

Q. Did he ever go with Adis Wright—Adis Carter?

A. Went with her as company, you mean?

Q. Yes. A. No, no, he did not.

Q. You borrowed a pair of glasses to look at the picture that you looked at a while ago of Henry Carter?

A. I did, yes.

Q. Do you use glasses to read by? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where are your glasses?

A. I forgot them; I left them at home.

Mr. Allen: Mark this Government's Exhibit 20.

Q. Will you take this picture over to the light and look at it carefully and see if you recognize Viola?

A. I can recognize it right here. There is Viola, and there is H—on the end; there is Viola, and in the end, top row, there is H; this is H, and that is Viola.

Q. Which is Viola?

A. There is H, and there is Viola.

Q. Where is Henry, with reference to the back row, commencing on the end?

A. He is the third person from the left and the fourth person from the right.

Q. And where is Viola?

A. She is the first person on the right.

Q. Standing here in the back? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Allen: We offer this picture in evidence as Government's Exhibit 20.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial; not properly identified, and we especially object to any part of it, other than the part identified to as H and Viola.

Q. Where were you married?

A. Married here in Leavenworth; C. M. E. Church—in the C. M. E.

Q. At your home?

A. The church there— I had the C. M. E. pastor but was married at home.

Q. To whom? A. George Williams.

Q. Where was Babe married? A. At the farm.

Q. At the farm of whom? A. Grandfather.

Q. To whom was Babe married? A. Eli Symington.

Q. Is that in Leavenworth County?

A. Yes, sir, right on the line. Their farm is on one side of the road—the other side of the road is Jefferson County.

Q. Where was Adis' father married?

A. I don't know.

Q. To whom was she married? A. John Wright.

Q. John Wright. Is your husband a white or colored man?

A. Well, he is mixed; he is French and colored—he is half.

Q. With what race does he associate?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Q. The white or colored race? A. Colored.

Q. Is that true of the other members of your family?

A. Is what true?

Q. That they associate with the colored race?

A. They do, yes; they associate with the colored race.

Q. Did Adie Wright marry a white or colored man?
A. She married a white man.
Q. Where does Babe live now?
A. Well, I don't know whether she is in Helena, Montana, or Butte, Montana, but I think she is in Butte.
Q. Did you ever have any conversation with H. Carter with reference to his being a son of Minnie Atkins?

Mr. Blakeney: Now, I object to that for the reason that it is not proper redirect.

Mr. Allen: This is another matter that I was not advised about when I examined the witness in chief.

Mr. Blakeney: I appeal to the record as a contradiction of that statement. He asked the former witness——

Mr. German: No, I did that.

Mr. Blakeney: Well, the Government's attorneys.

A. I did.
Q. Where was that conversation? A. At my house.
Q. At Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to it all as not redirect.

Q. About when? A. It was last winter.
Q. About what time last winter?
A. I am not really sure but I think it was along about November.
Q. Was anyone else present?
A. My two sons and my children—small children—and my two grown sons.
Q. What did he say to you in reference to his being the son of Minnie Atkins, or his claim in this case?
A. Why, he said that he had just learned that he was not a Carter; that he was part Indian and that his mother was Minnie Atkins, and that he was taken to the Carter farm, and I told him it wasn't no such thing—I knew better.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out that statement as not responsive, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and hearsay.

Q. What did you say to him? A. I told him——

Mr. Blakeney: I object to her statement as self-serving, irrelevant, immaterial, and hearsay.

A. I told him that I knew who his mother was and so did he, and that it was no time for him to let no person pull that into his head—that it was known up there that Adie Carter was his mother, and that I knew it.
Q. What did he say in reply to that?

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out her statement as hearsay, and incompetent.

Q. What did he say in reply to what you said to him, if anything?

A. He wanted to know then, why it was that she didn't own him, and I said, you know why she didn't own him——

Mr. Blakeney: I object as hearsay, incompetent, and immaterial, and not responsive.

Q. What did you say to him then?

A. Well, I told him that he knew who his mother was.

Mr. Blakeney: I object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and hearsay.

A. And I told him if he wanted to know who his mother was, to go to mamma—she could tell him all about it—and he knew anyway who his mother was.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the expression he knew anyway who his mother was, as a conclusion of the witness and not responsive to the question.

A. He does, too.

Q. Did he say anything more, then, after you made that statement to him?

A. Oh, yes, he said quite a good deal.

Q. State what he said, as near as you can remember.

A. He said so much I don't remember all he did say. I know he tried to make me believe that she wasn't his mother—that he was another child——

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the answer as a conclusion, irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mrs. Williams, you have identified who you call E in these two pictures, as this boy here?

Mr. Gorman: This Exhibit is 19.

Q. I am showing you Exhibit 19; has this boy that I am pointing to—is that the one that you pointed out as E?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. In this picture, it is the boy I am pointing to here, in Exhibit 20—— A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: They are the same pictures, you see.

Q. These are the same pictures, are they not?

A. Well, I don't know whether they are or whether they are not. This is E, and that is Viola, but these——

Q. Well, you have difficulty recognizing——

A. That is H Carter.

Q. How do you know it is H?

Q. I have knowed H ever since he was born, and I have got a picture of H at my house now—later than this, when he was 17.

Q. Well, you know what he looks like.

A. This is his father.

Q. Does he look like anybody else?

A. He looks like his mother and father's Carter family.

Q. Who? Like Adis? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the answer that he looks like anybody else in the picture.

Mr. Hanford: I am asking the witness how she knows it is H, and who H resembles.

A. He resembles his mother.

Mr. Blakeney: Wait a minute. I object to the witness giving any information as to whether he resembles any parent or not. I move to strike out the former answer in which she says he resembles Adis Wright. I was making the suggestion that I didn't understand the question illicited that kind of answer, for the reason that I didn't object to the former question. I move to strike out the former answer and I object to this question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and asking for an improper conclusion.

Q. You are looking now at Exhibit No. 19. I will ask you who that girl is that stands on H's left?

A. This looks like Viola.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and we move to strike out the answer, as being given before I could interpose the objection, for the reason stated in the objection.

Q. Look now, at Exhibit No. 20; do you see that same girl in that picture?

Mr. Blakeney: We object.

A. There she is, but her hair is combed different, and I suppose she was younger.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to her supposition and move to strike it out as incompetent.

Q. In Exhibit No. 20, she is the girl standing on H's left—take it to the light, if you want to.

Mr. Allen: I wish you would take it to the light.

A. This is Viola here.
Q. On the end of the top row?
A. Yes, this favors her a little, but here is the right one.
Q. Now, the court can't see what you are pointing to.
A. This first one here—there is Viola.

Mr. Blakeney: Exhibit 20.

Q. On the end of the line? A. Yes, sir.
Q. And this girl, you say, in Exhibit 19, who stands on H's left, favors her a little? A. Yes, sir, she does.
Q. But this is not Viola?
A. No, it didn't look like her—this is her.

Mr. Allen: The witness points to Exhibit 20, to the girl on the extreme right, standing up in the back.

Mr. Blakeney: We think that while Mr. Hanford is conducting this examination, he is doing it in harmony with the Government's ideas, and that he ought to be permitted to conduct it without the assistance.

Q. Then you were mistaken in your former testimony?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. When you called this girl on H's left, in Exhibit 19, Viola? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Then do you ask to correct your former testimony in that regard?
A. Well, it is a mistake—that first one that I said looked like Viola.
Q. Just answer the question. Do you ask to correct your testimony? A. Yes, sir.
Q. As to that girl in No. 19 being Viola? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Is the resemblance betwen H and Adis very marked?
A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We object.

Q. Very plain resemblance? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: I want my objection before the answer. Let the record be correct about that because this is important. I was trying to interpose the objection and counsel was continuing to ask questions, and the witness answer it before apparently the question was completed. I object to the question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and asking for an improper conclusion, and we move to strike out her answer interposed under those circumstances for that same reason.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is Henry's color compared with yours, Mrs. Williams, is he lighter or darker?

A. Well, I guess we are about the same.

Q. About the same color?

A. Yes, sir, not much difference.

Q. At the time his mother became pregnant with him, she was not married, was she Mrs. Williams—she was not married? A. Not to my knowing.

Q. And Henry was known in your family, to be an illegitimate child, was he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mrs. Williams—I believe that is your name?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are part white and part colored, are you not?

A. I am Mexican and colored.

Q. Mexican and colored? A. My father is a Mexican.

Q. No white blood, I mean, but Mexican blood?

A. No, not any white; my father was born in old Mexico, on the Rio Grande.

Q. And you are brighter than the ordinary light colored person, are you not?

A. Well, it is a different color because the African race is a mulatto color; the Mexican is a different color.

Q. Then, you are lighter than the ordinary African?

A. Supposed to be, yes, sir.

Q. Well, it is a fact you are, isn't it? We have got to get it in the record? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Your mother was Maria Yoakum? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Maria Yoakum was white and colored? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About what proportion of her color was white?

A. Well, she was more white than colored—I can't say.

Q. She was at least half white?

A. She is more than half white.

Q. I said at least. A. Yes.

Q. Was she three-quarters white? A. Yes.

Q. About three-quarters white? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Your father was a Mexican?

A. My father was a Mexican.

Q. Born in Old Mexico? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And of French nationality?

A. No, he was a Mexican.

Q. Do you know what nationality his descent was from?

A. No, I don't know—only Mexican, that if all.

Q. Well, you understand that the Mexicans—the white

Mexicans—emigrated to Mexico the same as they emigrated here, don't you? A. Yes.

Q. And you don't know what nationality?

A. I know he is not a greaser because they are dark. I cannot explain the difference.

Q. That is, he is not an Indian? A. No, he is a Mexican.

Q. The greasers, as you understand, are dark?

A. I think the greasers are Mexicans and negro, aren't they?

Q. Well, the Mexicans are Mexican Indians.

A. The greasers, are, I think——

Q. That is, you mean original Mexicans? A. Yes.

Q. You say he is not of that type?

A. No, no colored blood in my father at all—no African.

Q. And your mother, being three-fourths white, you have that much white in you of course, and your father had no negro in him? A. None at all.

Q. Did your grandfather, Henry Carter, have any considerable amount of negro blood in him? A. No, sir.

Q. Yellow-white man, is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he a mulatto at all?

A. Yes, sir, grandpa was really light.

Q. A light mulatto? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He wore a beard? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Had a long, straight beard, did he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How was his hair? A. Curly.

Q. Was it curly, or kinky? A. It was curly.

Q. It didn't have the short kink to it of the African?

A. No, sir.

Q. How was his physical—lips thin, or thick?

A. He was thin—a tall, fair man.

Q. How was your mother—grandmother?

A. She was something like my mother—short and fleshy.

Q. Did she show her negro blood stronger than your grandfather?

A. Well, I don't know. Grandma looked like an old French lady—I don't know.

Mr. German: Looked like what?

A. She looked like black French; she looked something like mamma, only I don't think she was quite as tall as mamma. She had black curly hair.

Q. What was the color of her hair? A. Black.

Q. Was it straight black, or—— A. Black and curly.

Q. Curly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It wasn't kinky? A. No, sir.

Q. Did the children generally resemble your mother—your grandmother I mean, as to color?

Q. Well, there was only one dark one in the bunch, and that is Uncle Tom. Yes, I think Adis and Uncle Shannon—of course mamma used to be much lighter than she is now—she has been sick so much and is dark.

Q. Adist was about as bright as your grandmother?

A. Yes, she might have been a little bit lighter, but a different color.

Q. What kind of difference?

Q. She was a light yellow and grandmother was an olive.

Q. How about Susie?

A. She was more of a white mulatto color—difference color from the rest.

Q. Lighter than your mother? A. Yes, different kind.

Q. And lighter than Adist?

A. Yes, I don't know whether lighter but a different kind. Ada had more of a yellow cast and she had a white cast. When Susie was young her hair was light but as soon as she got older, it was dark.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Geman: We offer the deposition of Jarret Smith, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript at page 3200.

And thereupon, JARRETT SMITH, being called on behalf of the United States, sworn, and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. State your name? A. Jarrett Smith.

Q. Where do you live? A. I live here in town.

Q. In Oskaloosa, Kansas? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What county is Oskaloosa in? A. In Jefferson County.

Q. What age are you?

A. What age? I am eighty-nine year old the 7th day of this month.

Q. How long have you been living in Oskaloosa?

A. Well, I have been living here about nine or ten year.

Q. Did you ever live northeast of McLouth, Kansas?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know a colored man by the name of Henry Carter? A. Yes, I knew of him, I have seen him, yes.

Q. Did you know him personally? A. What is that?

Q. Were you acquainted with him? A. Yes, kinda.

Q. Did you ever live near him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far from him?

A. As near as I can tell you, about a quarter of a mile, maybe a little more, maybe might have been a half mile.

Q. What direction from his house did you live?

A. Lived east, I lived south. I lived east and then I lived south.

Q. Did you know his daughter, Adis? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know his daughter Maria? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was Maria Yokum? A. Afterwards.

Q. How long did you live near Henry Carter's home?

A. Well, I just can't tell you now.

Q. Was it several years? A. Some three or four years.

Q. How long?

A. Three or four year, I guess, right around in the neighborhood there, in a mile and a half or two mile.

Q. How long did you live in a half a mile of him or a quarter of a mile, which ever it was?

A. I lived there I think two year. I think I raised two crops there.

Q. Did you ever have occasion to bring Adis Wright from Leavenworth out to old man Carter's?

A. Yes, sir, I brought her out several times.

Q. Several times? A. Yes, sir.

Q. From Leavenworth?

A. Yes, she used to go to town with me sometimes.

Q. Was that before or after she married Wright?

A. Oh, before she ever married Wright.

Q. Did you ever take her to town or bring her from town in Leavenworth I mean, from or to Leavenworth, after she married Wight? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know a boy at the Carter home by the name of H? A. Yes, I saw him.

Q. Did you know a girl there, a little girl by the name of Viola? A. Yes, I knowed her.

Q. Which was the oldest, H or Viola?

A. Why, H was the oldest.

Q. About how much older was H? A. I can't tell you.

Q. What is your best judgment?

A. Two and a half year I guess, that is my best judgment, I don't know.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike the answer as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Was Viola born before or after Adis married Wright?
A. Before.

Q. About how long before?

A. I can't tell you just how long.

Q. What is your best judgment?

A. I never taken any notice of that. It must have been three or four years I guess, I don't know.

Q. That is your best judgment is it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Prior to the time that this boy H was around the Carter place, did you have occasion to bring Adis from Leavenworth to old man Carter's? A. No, sir, no, sir.

Q. Did you ever bring Adis from Leavenworth to old man Carter's before H was around there any? A. Yes, sir.

Q. State whether you ever brought her out to old man Carter's when she had the appearance of being in a family way?

A. Yes, that is judgment. I was no doctor, that is just my judgment.

Q. Now, how did she appear?

A. Oh, she appeared to be kind of sick at her stomach. She came out with me and my wife one evening.

Q. How did she appear, what was her size and shape?

A. I never noticed particular, only she was sick.

Q. Was she large in the lower part of her body or not?

A. I thought she looked kind of bunchy, but a man can be fooled.

Q. You might have been mistaken about it?

A. Yes, I might have been mistaken about it.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as argument.

Q. Tell how she looked. You say she looked kind of bunchy?

A. Why, she looked like I have seen women that were in a family way, I don't know about that.

Q. Where did you come from that time in Leavenworth?

A. I don't know whether it was at Chris Meyers or who. That is where we always traded at.

Q. Chris Meyers? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of a business did Chris have?

A. Grocery store and whiskey and beer.

Q. How far was it from Leavenworth to where you lived then?

A. It was twenty-one miles, called twenty-one miles.

Q. Twenty-one miles southwest of Leavenworth?

A. Which?

Q. It was what direction from Leavenworth?

A. It was a little south of Leavenworth, but not that for. I suppose Leavenworth lay about two or three miles north of where I lived.

Q. Oh, it was south and a little west? A. What?

Q. It was south and a little west?

A. Oh, no, east.

Q. In what direction was Leavenworth? What direction did you live from Leavenworth?

A. I lived a little southwest.

Q. About twenty-one miles in all from your house to Leavenworth?

A. I think so. I think that is what it was called, I ain't certain.

Q. Was there anyone with you besides Adis on the occasion when she looked to you like she was in a family way?

A. Yes, my wife was with me.

Q. Where did you take Adis to on that occasion?

A. Brought her to my house. I lived right there on adjoining farms. Old man Carter lived on one quarter and me on the other.

Q. What were you in? A. Wagon.

Q. She got out of the wagon at your house? A. Yes.

Q. Did she stay at your house or go somewhere else?

A. Went right on. Maria didn't live more than three hundred yards from me.

Q. Where did she go to?

A. I don't know, sir, I guess she went home.

Q. To Carter's?

A. Yes, sir, I never noticed after we turned in.

Q. How long was that before H appeared around the Carter or Yokum home? A. Around the Yokum home?

Q. Yes?

A. I can't tell you that. Sometime later in the fall.

Q. What time in the year was it that you brought Adis out on that occasion?

A. I think it was about wheat harvest as near as I can remember, about July, I think.

Q. Was it the coming fall that H appeared there?

A. I think so, yes. They say he was there. I never saw him there then.

Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike that out as irrelevant and immaterial. He says he never saw——

Q. When did you first see the boy?

A. I first saw him at Mariah Yokum's, a boy there, I don't know whether it was H or not.

Q. Didn't know whether it was H or not?

A. No. Mariah didn't claim it then.

Q. Did Mariah say anything to you then as to whose child it was or where it came from?

Mr. Blakeney: Object as hearsay.

A. No, sir, she never told me, but she said it was born— The night it was born they said the next morning. I never knew anything about it being born or anything about it. Some of them told that my wife was there but it was all a mistake.

Q. What is it a mistake?

A. My wife being there when she had the child.

Q. Oh, your wife was not? A. No, sir.

Q. Is your wife living? A. No, sir.

Q. About how long has she been dead?

A. Twelve year- ago last September, 6th day of last September.

Q. How old was H when you first saw him, about how old?

A. Well, he was quite young when I first saw him.

Q. About what age?

A. Oh, a baby, I don't know, a young born baby, a new born baby it looked like.

Q. Where was it you saw him? A. Mariah Yokum's.

Q. Was Mariah keeping him at that time?

A. Yes, sir, I think she was. She said that she had a child that she got from Leavenworth.

Q. What?

A. She said she had a child she got from Leavenworth and was keeping it and getting paid for it.

Q. Where was Adis then? A. At home I guess.

Q. How long did Mariah keep the child?

A. Well, now, I can't tell you that. I know it was along sometime when corn first commenced coming up the next spring that the old man and Mariah fell out about ducks being on the ground.

Q. Old man who? A. Old man Carter.

Q. What did the falling out have to do with the boy?

A. Then Mariah said she wasn't going to keep him any longer, told my wife. didn't tell me that.

Q. She didn't tell you? A. No.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the statement that she said she wasn't going to keep him any longer as hearsay, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. After the falling out after the corn commenced to come up that spring, where was H, where did H stay?

A. He didn't go nowhere that I know of but out home.

Q. Did Mariah continue keeping him after corn came up that spring?

A. No, they fell out and she took him home somewhere, I don't know where she took him, she took some child, I can't swear it was H.

Q. Where did you see the child after that?

A. Well, it was sometime. He got about that high, just could talk, and I was up around old man Carter's, and old man Carter had a cow down and I went into the lot to help him raise her and the little boy come around on the road talking about his calves at grandma's. The child called Mrs. Carter grandma, I don't know about that. She told him to go back to the house.

Q. Who told him to go back? A. Old Mrs. Carter.

Q. Did you see the child very often?

A. No, I never saw him very much after that until he got so he could get around, a good sized boy.

Q. Where would you see him?

A. Saw him around the place there.

Q. The Carter place?

A. Yes, working there at John Wright's.

Q. What did they call this child?

A. H is all that I ever knowed him called.

Q. Did you see the boy off and on for a good many years, or not?

A. Why, I saw him most—yes, most all the time, once in a while traveling around. John Wright was doing public work. shelling corn and around shelling and he was generally with him. had him up home a good deal.

Q. Who? You did?

A. No, John Wright. H generally was up at John Wright's.

Q. Oh, H got big enough to work? A. Yes.

Q. John Wright? Who was he?

A. That was Adis' husband.

Q. Did John Wright and Adis live at the Carter place?

A. No. not then.

Q. Did they live near the same place?

A. Yes, lived near there sometime, at the stone house. You ever been to Carter's place?

Q. Yes. A. See that stone house east of them?

Q. Yes. A. They lived there.

Q. Did you know about H having finally left that community? A. What?

Q. Did H ever leave that community? A. Leave it?

Q. Did H ever leave that neighborhood?

A. I think he did, I think he went down to Oklahoma.

Q. Well, did you know him up to the time that he left there. that is, did you see him off and on?

A. Oh, I would see him places. I moved here to McLouth. I have seen him in McLouth.

Q. Where was he living from the time that you first knew him as a child and as a baby up to the time that he went to, you say, Oklahoma, if you know?

Mr. Blakeney: We object now as obviously a very unfair question, assuming a statement not proven and trying to connect isolated incidents with the witness as stated he cannot know, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. I don't know where he was living while he was a baby after Mariah quit him, I don't know nothing about that.

Q. You don't knew whether he lived at old man Carter's or not?

A. No, I don't, until I saw him about that high.

Q. Until you saw him about that high? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: Put that into the record. The witness is holding his hand higher than the table where he is sitting.

Q. How high, with reference to the height of this table, how high?

A. Oh, small. He wasn't much higher than that; not any higher than that.

Q. Not any higher than your hand or the table?

A. From the floor up, my hand ain't very high.

Q. From the floor up to your hand? A. Yes.

Q. High as this table or higher?

A. Might have been that high, or a little higher.

Q. How much higher than this table?

A. I can't tell you how much higher than that.

Q. About six or eight inches?

A. Yes, might have been or might not have been so high.

Q. What age was he? A. I can't tell you.

Q. About what age would you say he was?

A. Oh, I can't tell you to be certain; I don't know; I don't know the figures and like of that, never kept no count of it, nothing to me and I kept no count of it.

Q. It would be three or four or five years old?

A. No, I don't think he was.

Q. You don't think he was quite that old?

A. No, I think not.

Q. I don't quite understand you. You say you knew where he lived up to the time that he was that high or that——

A. I do which?

Q. I didn't understand?

A. I don't understand you either.

Q. Did you say that you knew where he lived up to the time that he was about that high, or that you didn't know where he lived up to the time that he was about that high?

A. I said that I didn't know where he lived, but it was supposed that he lived there at Carter's.

Mr. Blakeney: Answer yes or know whether you knew. I move to strike out the last part of that answer as supposition.

Q. About how many times did you see the boy from the time that he was a little baby until he was about that high?

A. I never saw him but the one time until he was about that high.

Q. Just the one time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was when he was just a tiny little baby?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as assuming a state of facts not proven.

Q. Then, after he was about that high, about six or eight inches higher than this table, did you see him very often?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where would you see him when you would see him?

A. I don't know that I saw him at all until he got able to walk.

Q. Did you still live in that community? A. What?

Q. Did you still live in that neighborhood?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see him after he was about six or eight inches higher than this table? A. Yes, lots of times.

Q. Where?

A. All over the country. He worked all over the country.

Q. Did you know where his home was?

A. He made his home at old man Carter's and John Wright's together, working.

Q. You say that Mariah Yokum kept that baby that you saw when it was a tiny little infant until the next corn commenced to come up? A. Yes, she had one there.

Q. How often did you see it during that[ ]?

A. I never saw it but the one time.

Q. How do you know that she had it there?

A. She sent word up for my wife to come down and see the baby she brought from Leavenworth.

Q. Then, you saw it too? A. I saw it after that.

Q. You didn't see it but once?

A. No, not until it got large.

Q. Then, how do you know she only had it until the spring of the next year?

A. I only know because she told my wife, that is all.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out what she told his wife as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, and hearsay.

Q. Jarrett, was there any talk in this community as to whose child H. Carter was?

A. That was the general talk, that it was Adis' child, that is all that I know about it.

Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike out the answer as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Did they talk that very much?

Mr. Blakeney: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, and hearsay.

A. Oh, I don't know how much they talked it.

Q. That was the general repute in the neighborhood?

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Yes, that was the general talk among the people.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. How large a woman was Adis Wright? Was Adis Wright a large woman or a slender woman?

A. I don't know how large she is now, she was a slender woman.

Q. Slender woman then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. So, if you saw her big around the waist, that would be an unusual condition for her?

Mr. Blakeney: We object for the same reason that we have been objecting to these other witnesses. That counsel is allied with the Government in this proof, and would necessarily be confined to inquiring about matters not inquired about on direct, and would also be required to examine the witness with proper questions and not leading questions. We object to this question as incompetent, irrelevant, and leading and suggestive, argumentative and immaterial.

A. Why, I thought so, but a man can be mistaken.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Jarrett, you are attempting to say that you saw Adis in a pregnant condition? A. What you say?

Q. You are not attempting to say that you saw Adis in a pregnant condition?

A. I thought she looked that way, I can't say that she was.

Q. You thought she was looking a little fleshy or fat?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is what you thought? A. Yes.

Q. Then, you say that you don't know how long that was before you heard of Mrs. Yokum having brought a child out from town?

A. Well, it was along late in the fall.

Q. Late in the fall that you heard that?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And this, when you came down, was in May or June?

A. What?

Q. When was it that you brought her out, in May or June?

A. I don't know what time it was, I never kept notice of it.

Q. Do you know whether it was the same year or not?

A. Yes, sir, the same year.

Q. Sure of that? A. What is that.

Q. Sure that it was the same year? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is your best judgment about the time that you brought her out?

A. Well, I think it was just along about wheat harvest or a little before, might have been in June.

Q. That would be in June or July, wouldn't it? A. Yes.

Q. Wheat harvest then was a little later than now, wasn't it? A. No, sir, none at all.

Q. Weren't you used to a different wheat in this country, Mediterranean wheat?

A. Used to Mediterranean wheat all my life.

Q. What time is harvest now?

A. July or first of August.

Q. You knew the daughter, Babe, didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. Old man Carter's daughter, Babe? A. Yes.

Q. You knew her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember when she married old man Simonton?

A. Yes, I was at the wedding, but I can't remember the time.

Q. Adis was there at the wedding, wasn't she?

A. Well, I can't tell you.

Q. Don't you remember that she stood up with her sister? A. Well, she might.

Q. Well, don't you remember now after thinking it over that she did?

A. No, I don't remember, but she might have been there, I can't tell you about that.

Q. Do you remember what time she was married?

A. No, I don't.

Q. How long ago was it now that you brought Adis home before Babe was married?

A. Before Babe was married?

Q. Yes?

A. Oh, that was away after Babe was married.

Q. You brought her home after Babe was married?

A. Yes.

Q. Then, if Babe was married in July, when did you bring her home now, the next year afterwards?

A. I don't think she was away when Babe— She was not away to bring home when Babe was married, I don't think.

Q. I am just trying to help you to refresh your memory now, I am not trying for any other purpose.

A. I don't think that was the year at all.

Q. Don't think that was the year? A. No, sir.

Q. Was Babe married before or after you brought Adis home? A. She was married before, my best judgment.

Q. Your best judgment is that you brought Adis home afterwards. A. Afterwards.

Q. Now, if Babe was married in July, 1879, you brought her home you think then, it must have been in 1880 or later than that? A. Yes.

Q. 1880 or later that you brought her home?

A. Yes, but I can't tell you what time.

Q. It was in the same month anyhow or in the same summer Babe was married? A. No, it wasn't the same summer.

Q. Because you do recollect that Adis was at the wedding?

A. I think she was, pretty certain she was.

Q. Now, you saw a child you say at Yokum's?

A. Once.

Q. Was it once— Saw it once at Yokum's? A. Yes.

Q. A baby was it? A. What?

Q. It was a baby that you saw there at Yokum's?

A. Yes, it was a baby.

Q. Did you ever have it in your arms? A. No, sir.

Q. It was dressed? A. What is that?

Q. The baby was dressed? A. I don't hear you.

Q. Dressed. Had on its clothing? A. Yes.

Q. You didn't know whether it was a boy or girl?

A. Only what they said.

Q. You didn't know yourself? A. No, sir.

Q. Then, you didn't see any child around there until you saw over at old man Carter's, you saw a boy that, as you have indicated, was from six to ten inches higher than this table?

A. Yes, along there somewhere.

Q. This table you are referring to is the table that the stenographer is writing on now? A. No, no.

Q. About the average height for a table?

A. About that high.

Q. I mean the table is about an average height for a table, an eating or writing table? A. Yes.

Q. You saw the child then running out to the gate?

A. No.

Q. Where were you?

A. Somewhere around the barn, he was outside in the road and we were inside the lot, and hollering about his little calf.

Q. The child came running around where he was?

A. No, he didn't come to me, close to me as that wall.

Q. He came within about thirty or forty feet of you?

A. His grandma made him go back.

Q. He came running up within some thirty or forty feet of you? A. I don't know.

Q. You said to that wall, that wall is thirty or forty feet distant isn't it? A. Somewhere along there.

Q. And old man Carter's wife made the child go back?

A. Yes.

Q. How was the child dressed, do you remember?

A. I think it had on these little clothes, I think.

Q. Did it have on baby clothes, do you mean by that, or had on a dress?

A. No, I think he had on little pants or something. He was standing with his hands on his hips hollering about the calf.

Q. Now, going back now just a minute, do you recollect now in your mind, just how the boy looked there standing, or the child looked there standing with its hands on its hips, did he have on a dress or a pair of pants?

A. He had on a little pair of pants I think.

Q. But the fact you say you don't just remember?

A. Yes, no, I don't.

Q. Don't just remember what he had on?

A. No, I don't.

Q. How long was that after Babe Simonton was married?

A. Babe had been married before that.

Q. Before you saw the child?

A. Yes, in my judgment I think she was. I don't think the child had ever been there before Babe was married.

Redirect Examination by Mr. German.

Q. At the time that the child came up to the place where the cow was down? A. Which?

Q. I mean to ask you this: Was Adis married at the time that little boy came up to the place where the cow was down? A. No, sir.

Q. She hadn't married yet, are you sure of that?

A. Yes, sir, I am pretty certain of that.

Q. You say that your best judgment is that Babe married before the time when you brought Adis from Leavenworth when she looked like she was in a family way?

A. Yes, sir, I think she was married before as well as I can judge. I think so now.

Q. Do you mean when you say that, that is your best judgment but you don't know whether it was or not, or what do you mean?

Mr. Blakeney: We object now as leading and argumentative, cross examination and improper, and an attempt to keep his own witness from telling the truth.

Q. Where was Babe married?
A. Married right at the old man Carter's.
Q. You say you think Adis was there at the wedding.
A. I think she were.
Q. How long was that before you brought Adis from Leavenworth when she looked like she was in a family way?
A. Oh, sometime, sometime.
Q. About how long?
A. Well, I can't tell you at all; I never taken any notice of her at all.
Q. Well, was it a year or six months or two months?
A. Yes, a year anyhow, maybe more.
Q. Where was Viola born, if you know?
A. I suppose she was born there at Carter's they said it was born at Carter's. I don't know, I wasn't there.

Mr. Blakeney: We attempted to object to that question before it was answered as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial. I want to object to the question in addition to that as not proper redirect.

Q. Did you have any little children? A. No, sir.
Q. At that time? A. No, sir.

Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Got none at this time neither.

Mr. Blakeney: I want that same objection inserted in all of these questions.

Q. Were you at the marriage of Adis to Wright when she was married to Wright? A. No, sir, I were not.
Q. Were you living there in that community then, in that neighborhood? A. Lived here in McLouth.

(Witness dismissed.)

Mr. German: We offer the deposition of W. H. Rice, taken before Mr. Penick, appearing in his transcript at page 904.

W. H. RICE being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your name? A. W. H. Rice.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Rice?

A. I live at Oskaloosa, Kansas.

Q. How far is that from Leavenworth?

A. It is twenty-nine miles by rail.

Q. What railroad is that on?

A. It is on the Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific.

Q. What direction from Leavenworth?

A. It is southeast.

Q. Where is it with relation to McLouth?

A. It is west and a little north.

Q. About how far?

A. It is about seven miles from McLouth.

Q. Did you ever live at or near McLouth?

A. I lived in McLouth.

Q. How long, about? A. About five years.

Q. Prior to that where did you live?

A. I lived on a farm northeast from McLouth about four miles and a half.

Q. How long had you lived there?

A. Well, I was born there on the farm.

Q. And raised there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And lived there until you moved to McLouth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old were you when you moved to McLouth?

A. I was twenty-two years old.

Q. In what year were you born? A. 1875.

Q. Did you know a family by the name of Carter living in the county near you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where you were raised? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the name of the head of that family?

A. Why, we called him Henry; Uncle Henry Carter.

Q. Henry Carter— How far did your folks live from Uncle Henry Carter's when you were living there in the county with them?

A. The houses were about a quarter of a mile apart, the farms adjoined.

Q. Which side of the road was the Carter house on?

A. Well, it was on the east side of the north and south road; there were cross roads there.

Q. Cross roads? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the other road ran east and west north of the house, didn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which side of the road did your folks live on?

A. We lived on the north side of the east and west road; on the west side of the north and south road.

Q. Did they have any small children in that family when you were a child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What were their names?

A. Well, there was a boy that we called H, and a girl that we usually called Pink.

Q. Do you know whose child H was?

A. I have no positive knowledge of my own.

Q. Was he regarded as an illegitimate or legitimate child?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent.

A. He was considered as an illegitimate child.

By Mr. Blakeney: We move to strike out the answer as a conclusion and as an opinion and hearsay.

Q. Was there anybody there who was known to be his father so far as you know?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and to the competency of the witness.

A. Not as far as I know.

Q. Who did he live with?

A. He lived at the Carter home.

Q. With the old man, Uncle Henry Carter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was Uncle Henry's wife named?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you remember her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how old was H. when you first remember him?

A. Well, I can't tell you his age exactly, he was some younger than I was and probably as far back as I remember distinctly we were together.

Q. Did you ever play with him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how much older were you than he?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to the competency of the witness, irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial.

A. I was probably three or four years older than he.

Q. Mr. Rice. you say you moved away from your father's place there when you were twenty-two years old?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year was that? A. That was in ninety-seven.

Q. In 1897, you were born in 1875? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see this boy, H. Carter, very frequently during the time that you lived on the farm there with your father?

A. Yes, sir, I saw him very frequently.

Q. Did he ever live anywhere else, so far as you know, up until the time you left your father's in 1897?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object now as asking for a conclusion, and as indefinite.

A. Not from the time that I remember him, he lived no place else.

Q. How old was he when you first remember him?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as asking for a conclusion, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, I can't say as to his exact age.

Q. Approximately?

A. We were boys there together and it never entered my head as to how old he was, and I can't recall now the first time that I saw him.

Q. Do you remember him as early as the time when you started to school?

A. Well, about that time somewhere I think.

Q. You are not sure about—— A. No, sir.

Q. Well, do you remember him as far back as you can remember occurrences and associates when you were a child—do you or not?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as leading.

Q. I remember him about the same as I do any of the other young fellows around there as far as I can recall.

Q. Which was the older, H. or Viola?

A. H. was the older.

Q. About how much older?

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to the competency of the witness and as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Was there very much difference in their ages?

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to the competency of the witness again, and the question calls for a conclusion, it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. She was some two or three years younger, I should judge.

Q. Did you know a woman in the Carter family by the name of Adis or Ada? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was her other name, Ada what? A. Carter.

Q. Did she marry anybody?

A. She married a man by the name of Wright.

Q. Ada Wright? Did they live out in that country after the marriage? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they ever move away from that community or the immediate vicinity of the old man Carter's?

A. Well, they were in that community somewhere; they moved to different places.

Q. I see. You have an older sister, have you not?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is her name?
A. Well, I have three or four sisters older than I.
Q. Who is Mrs. Ritchie? A. Well, she is a sister.
Q. Sister of yours? A. Yes, sir.
Q. About how much older than you?
A. She is about seven years older.
Q. Where does she live now?
A. She lives near Oscaloosa.

By Mr. Blakeney: We pass him now, we are not going to examine him now. When I take my evidence I will examine him. I don't care about doing it now.

(Witness dismissed.)

Mr. German: We offer as Government's Exhibit A-105 a certified copy of a marriage license issued to Henry Kessenger and Miss Lela Shoemake, on November 3, 1904. That relates to the Henry Carter.

The Court: What is the purpose of that?

Mr. German: Your Honor, the depositions relating to Henry Carter show he was married to this Shoemake girl under the name of Henry Kessinger here in Muskogee in 1904. He is identified and he obtained the license and he gives his age.

Mr. Cobb: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and hearsay.

The Court: Overruled.

Mr. Cobb: Exception.

The Court: It may be admitted.

Mr. German: I would like to get an agreement that Nancy Atkins gave her deposition in Sapulpa on July 3, 1914. I wanted to get the date of that testimony.

The Court: Are you gentlemen advised as to that date, as to the date—— You refer to the testimony in the trial of the case in Sapulpa?

Mr. German: Yes, sir.

The Court: 1914?

Mr. German: Yes, sir.

The Court: You suggest the date is what?

Mr. German: July 30th.

Mr. Rosser: No, sir, that is not correct.

Mr. German: What is the date?

Mr. Rosser: I don't know, but you have the case-made; I think it is the 24th or 25th.

Mr. German: Well, whatever it is, we would like to prove it.

The Court: Well, let's determine it right now.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, while they are determining that, I would like to call your attention to one phase of this record: Mr. German at an early stage of the trial, introduced certain portions of certain depositions taken at Tulsa, and introduced a bunch of them on the ground that they represented a group of persons, and introduced them for the purpose of showing that the defendant had fabricated a case, and that he would prove that the testimony in those depositions were false. Now, it may be necessary for us to have some witnesses here. We assume, if Your Honor please, we have a right to use for our own benefit the balance of the depositions that he offered in evidence, for this reason; he has offered a portion of the depositions; of course we are entitled to the whole deposition, because they might qualify, explain, or color the statement which you read.

The Court: Clearly so far as he gives that, you would be entitled to it.

Mr. Stuart: But how are we going to tell, Your Honor——

The Court: I think the Court very safely would permit you to introduce that on the theory that it would so explain or qualify.

Mr. Stuart: Yes, sir, and we want to reserve the right now to introduce those depositions if we see fit.

The Court: If that is the theory on which they are offered, I think they are clearly admissible.

Mr. German: I think that, aside from the—after we get this date of the testimony of Minnie which Judge Rosser is looking for, that aside from the witnesses that Judge Allen referred to, relating to Nancy Atkins, and in addition thereto, Edward Merrick, that we are ready to rest. Of course, we cannot rest until we have produced those witnesses.

The Court: Are you ready to proceed with the Nancy Atkins?

Mr. Maxey: I think, Your Honor, if you will give us until afternoon, we can save time.

The Court: Now, you are looking up that date, are you—24th of July. May the records show then that it is agreed that Minnie Atkins gave her testimony in the case in the state court at Sapulpa on July 24th, 1914?

Mr. Stuart: I think, Your Honor, that that may be shown. I was not there and have no personal recollection of it but I assume that is correct. I think it may go that way. If there should be an error, we will correct it.

The Court: The case seems to show that; so that for the present, it will be taken as the date without further proof.

And thereupon, court recesses until 2 o'clock P. M.

And thereafter, court having convened pursuant to adjournment, and at the afternoon session thereof, further proceedings herein were had as follows:

J. E. NEWBERRY, being called on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. Mr. Newberry, state your name, age and residence.

A. J. E. Newberry, 65 years old, residence Wagoner, Oklahoma.

Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?

A. I have lived there since the 27th day of March, 1890.

Q. When you went to Wagoner, where did you first live or board?

A. I was principally raised in Arkansas; I went from Arkansas in 1887 to Eufaula.

Q. You didn't understand my question, Mr. Newberry; I said when you first went to Wagoner, where did you first live or board? A. I boarded at the Barnard hotel.

Q. You boarded at the Barnard hotel?

A. Yes, sir, I boarded there for two years after I went there.

Q. For two years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir, I used to.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with Nancy Atkins?

A. I think the first time I ever seen her or did get acquainted with her was in Eufaula but I got acquainted with her in Wagoner. She was around the hotel after I went there to board

Q. You may have seen her in Eufaula but after you went there to board on the 27th of March, 1890, you saw her around the hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was she doing around the hotel?

A. She worked around there; it is my impression that she worked in the cook room—back in the back part.

Q. Did you discover anything about her condition in the summer of 1890—her appearance?

A. Well, she didn't have an ordinary appearance—that is like most women have.

Q. What is that?

A. I say that her appearance showed that she was not in the ordinary condition.

Q. Well, what do you mean?

A. Well, I will say a virgin, then.

Q. She showed she was in a family way, did she?

Q. About when did you notice that?

A. I don't remember—during the year sometime.

Q. During when?

A. It was during the year sometime; it was during the summer. I guess it was.

Q. In the summer of 1890, do you guess? Do you know anything about her having a child born to her after you noticed this condition? A. Not only what I was told.

Q. Well, tell what you were told.

> Mr. German: Now, Your Honor, we object to that as hearsay, unless he connects it up in a proper way. I understand they have considerable evidence of this character, so we would like to make our point clear to the Court, if we may at this time. * * *
>
> The Court: Let me ask you now—— I will have to know the trend of this testimony sought to be brought out by this witness.
>
> Mr. Hill: I expect to prove by this witness that the doctor who attended Nancy talked with him and told him of the birth of this child.
>
> The Court: At the time of the occurrence?
>
> Mr. Hill: At the time, yes, sir.
>
> The Court: Is that objected to?
>
> Mr. German: If it is so related as to form a part of the res gestae.
>
> The Court: Counsel states that what he seeks to prove by this witness is that at the time of the birth of this child, about which there has already been evidence; that at that time there was a certain doctor in attendance and that that doctor at that time made a statement to this witness which he is asked to relate.

Mr. German: He would need to prove independently that that doctor was attending on this case.

The Court: Yes, that would be an element.

Mr. German: And then if the declaration was not so related to the occurrence as to form a part of the res gestae the death of the doctor must be proved.

The Court: Well, you may proceed with the case.

Mr. Maxey: We are introducing Mr. Newberry a little out of the ordinary on account of his having a sick wife, and so we put him on first so he could get away.

Q. I asked him to relate the occurrence; I am referring now to what Dr. Bryant said.

Mr. Cruce: We object to that as hearsay on behalf of Mr. Page.

Mr. German: I just started to make the same objection.

The Court: The record may show the objections. This is being admitted on statement of counsel that he will produce proof as to the fact that the doctor referred to was in attendance in this case and that this statement was made at or near that time.

Mr. Hill: That is my information.

The Court: Unless it is done and connected up the Court will of course not consider it.

Mr. Hill: Yes, sir, we can't put it all on at once.

Mr. Cobb: If the Court please, I presume that it will be understood that the objection made by Page or Minnie Atkins goes to the Carter interest without special objection being made.

Q. Did you know Mr. Bryant? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where is he now?

A. I couldn't say, he went north from Wagoner about fifteen years ago; I don't know where he is.

Q. Don't know what has become of him?

A. No, sir, I don't know where he is.

Q. He was living at Wagoner at that time we are referring to now in 1890, was he? A. He was.

Q. Were you acquainted with him?

A. Practicing physician there at that time; he was the only one that was there at that time that I know of.

The Court: Can you speak a little louder? Speak as if you were talking to Judge Stuart there.

Q. Did you have a conversation with Dr. Bryant in regard to Nancy having a baby, if so, state to the Court what it was?

The Court: First, let's see when it was.

Q. Well, when was it that you had a conversation with Dr. Bryant?

A. Well, sir, I can't exactly locate the time, but it was in the summer or fall or sometime I think of 1890.

Q. In the summer or fall of 1890? A. Yes, sir, it was.

The Court: When was it with relation to the time that you saw Nancy Atkins in this unusual condition?

A. After.

The Court: How long after?

A. Oh, I couldn't positively state, because I saw her nearly every day.

The Court: Well, was it a year after that?

A. No, sir.

The Court: Six months?

A. I suppose it was after I first noticed it was three or four or five months, I don't know.

Q. That is three or four or five months after you first noticed her in that condition? A. Yes, sir.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That you had this conversation that I am inquiring about? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Very well, state what convesation you had then?

A. As I started to say, I started to breakfast and I met Dr. Bryant at the gate and went into the yard of the hotel. And he says: "You ought to go and see your kid." Says I, what kid? He says: "Old Nancy's." I says, thunder has she got a kid? And he says: "She sure has." That was the only conversation.

Q. The only conversation with Dr. Bryant? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Stuart: We move to strike that out because it couldn't have been a part of the res gestae. This doctor was alive at the time the statement was made.

The Court: I will reserve a ruling on that.

Mr. German: We make the same motion.

Q. How soon after that did you see Nancy?

A. Well, it might have been a month, I don't know, couldn't say positive.

Q. When you next saw her, state what her condition was then as to pregnancy?

A. The next time I seen her, she didn't look like the time I seen her before.

Q. Appeared to be no longer in a pregnant condition?

A. No, sir, didn't show it.

Q. You did not accept the doctor's invitation to go and see the child? A. I did not.

Q. When did you next see Nancy, tell any occurrence that you remember about seeing her or the child?

A. Well, it might have been a month and it might have been longer, I couldn't say as to that.

Q. Tell about that?

A. The next time that I remember of seeing her after the report was that the child was born, I had occasion to deliver some furniture to an old lady by the name of Walker. I taken the furniture down, some bedsteads, and set them outside by the door, and after I got the things set out I stepped to the door. The old lady was there in the house and I said there is the furniture. And she come to the door and said: "Do you want to see Nancy's baby?" Says I, what in thunder do I want to see Nancy's baby for? And Nancy was laying on the bed. That was after I know September, 1890, it was later than September, but I couldn't say exactly.

Q. Did you see Nancy in bed and recognize her?

A. I recognized her laying on the bed, she wasn't covered up, she wasn't in the bed.

Q. Did you see a little boy around Wagoner there any time after that, that by common reputation was known as Nancy's boy? A. I did.

Mr. German: We object on the ground that that is hearsay and incompetent.

The Court: Well, I am impressed with these authorities that the federal rule would exclude this general reputation of persons not members of the family. I shall sustain the objection and give you an exception as to the general reputation in the community among persons other than the members of the family.

Mr. Hill: We will offer that to prove by this witness that it was generally reputed in that neighborhood that this boy known as Tommy Atkins was the son of Nancy Atkins.

The Court: The record may show your offer and the ruling of the Court and your exception.

Mr. German: Your Honor, will remember that R. S. Davis testified for them a few days ago and his testimony was solely based on reputation, and we now move to exclude his testimony.

The Court: Yes, he testified that a certain little boy came to the store with Nancy; his testimony also covers general reputation.

Mr. Maxey: We haven't offered it yet. We took it out of time.

The Court: That is in the record, but out of time by permission of the Court.

Mr. Allen: They took it as a deposition.

The Court: It can be ruled on then when it is offered.

Mr. Stuart: We again move to strike the statement of that doctor as to that baby, which clearly occurred a day or two after the baby was born.

The Court: That is the one with regard to which I reserved a ruling.

Mr. Stuart: Yes, sir.

The Court: Well, the question is whether it was so related to the incident of the birth as to make it a part of the res gestae.

Mr. Stuart: In order to be res gestae, he must have just come from the birth of the child.

The Court: Of course, it is very clear that the circumstances must have been such there that at that time the reason which now exists for a statement with regard to the matter didn't exist. The doctor, if he made such statement must have been presumed to have made it without motive of coloring the truth. I will not rule on that now. You have your motion.

Mr. Hill: In regard to that, you asked if we would connect him with it. I am still uncertain about it and will reserve it myself.

The Court: All right.

Q. Mr. Newberry, did you know a little boy around Wagoner that you saw with Nancy Atkins?

A. I couldn't say that I ever saw him with her.

Q. Ever saw him with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see a little boy at the Birney's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Betsey Birney's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About when did you see that boy?

A. Well, I should say the boy must have been——

The Court: About when did you see him?

A. I couldn't know the date, it must—— He must have been some four or five, maybe six years old from his size, I couldn't say.

Q. Do you remember the boy, can you describe him?

A. Sir?

Q. Can you remember him so that you could describe him?

A. Yes, I could remember him. I don't know that I could describe the color exactly but I could describe his appearance.

Q. Describe him as best you can?

A. He was a little boy—— I suppose, well, I reckon he must have been that high (indicating). That is, from the table to my hand. He was very dark, I don't know whether—— He was rather yellow and he was very ragged and dirty.

Q. Do you remember the color of his hair?

A. No, sir, I do not.

Q. Where was Nancy living at the time you saw this boy at Betty Birneys? A. I can't say.

Q. Do you know where she usually lived?

A. No, I think she lived sometimes at Betty Birneys' and sometimes at another, I can't say.

Q. You know she was at Betty Birneys' frequently?

A. Sir?

Q. Do you know whether or not she was frequently at Betty Birneys'? A. I have seen her there quite often.

Q. Did you know Betsy Birneys' children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was this little boy that you were describing one of Betsy Birney's children? A. Why I should think not.

Q. What was that little boy called?

A. I don't know what that little boy was called; the one I have been speaking about, I can't say.

Q. Did you know anything about the death of that little boy? A. Not only what I was told.

Q. Well, what were you told in regard to his death?

Mr. German: We object on the ground of hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Hill: We offer to prove by this witness that it was generally reputed in the neighborhood that this little boy whose name he does not recall, who he testifies being a little boy at Betty Birneys, died about the year 1901.

Mr. German: We object to that.

The Court: You have your exception and you have made your proffer, and I have ruled against that.

Mr. Cruce: The same objection for the Page interests that the Government reserves.

The Court: You see I have sustained the objection.

Mr. Cruce: Well, I don't want it to appear that we have not objected with the Government.

The Court: Well, you want the same objection with the Government?

Mr. Cruce: Yes, sir.

Mr. Hill: Now, I want to put another question differently.

Q. Mr. Newberry, don't answer this question until the court rules upon it. Mr. Newberry, did you hear a general talk or discussion around Wagoner that Nancy Atkins had an illegitimate child and that it was a common joke in the neighborhood as to who was it's father?

Mr. German: We object to that on the ground that it is hearsay.

Mr. Cruce: We object for the same reason.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Hill: We offer to prove by this witness that there was a general discussion around Wagoner at the time this boy he has described was quite young and some years thereafter, was an illegitimate child of Nancy Atkins, and there was a joke in the community as to who his father was. Our exceptions will be noted?

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hill: That is all.

The Court: Any cross examination of this witness?

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You spoke of going to old lady Walker's one day?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. She said something to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, who was old lady Walker?

A. Well, she was an old widow woman, I think, that lived in the town of Wagoner.

Q. Where did she live with reference to Betsy Birney?

A. She lived further south, I suppose—well now, it would be two or three blocks.

Q. Two or three blocks. She was a white woman?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it you said she said to you?

Q. She asked me if I want to see Nancy's baby.

Q. If you wanted to see Nancy's baby? A. Yes.

Mr. German: Now, I didn't clearly get that, Your Honor, when the witness testified about that on direct examination, and I move to exclude his testimony on that subject. It is not shown that Mrs. Walker is dead, and on the ground that it is hearsay. Let me ask this preliminary question to the court passing on the objection.

Q. Is Mrs. Walker living? A. What is that?
Q. Is Mrs. Walker living? A. I think not.
Q. Don't you know that she was here at court yesterday?
A. I can't say, I don't know.
Q. Is it Mrs. S. T. Walker?
A. I don't know what her initials was; she is very old now.
Q. The mother of Minnie Taylor, that is the woman, isn't it? A. I can't say.
Q. Would you know her if you would see her?
A. I don't suppose I would now.
Q. Where do you live now? A. Sir?
Q. Do you live at Wagoner now? A. I do.
Q. Did she run a sporting house at that time?
A. No, I don't know that she did; I can't say that she did.
Q. Well, what kin was she to Nancy?
A. What is that?
Q. What kin was she to Nancy?
A. I don't know that she was any. Nancy, I think, was staying there.
Q. What?
A. Nancy, I think, was staying there. I have seen her quite often there.
Q. Working there as a servant?
A. No, sir, I don't suppose she was.

The Court: Was that admitted over your objection?

Mr. German: I don't think it was objected to at the time, Your Honor, it came in so——

The Court: That came out in connection with his testimony in which he said that Nancy was lying there on the bed; that he could see her lying there on the bed, and this old woman at the door asked if he wanted to see Nancy's baby.

Mr. German: I move to exclude the statement, that asking if he wanted to see Nancy's baby.

The Court: Overruled and exceptions noted.

Q. Now, when you went in that house, did you see Nancy?
A. I didn't go in there.
Q. Oh, you didn't go in?
A. No, sir. I seen Nancy lying on the bed.
Q. From the door? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Well, what else? Anything else?

A. I saw the families—they that was there.

Q. You didn't see any baby, though, did you?

A. I did not.

Q. You don't know whether the baby she was talking about was dead or alive, do you? A. I do not.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, CHARLES BAILEY was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant, Nancy Atkins, and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. Charles Bailey.

Q. What is your age?

A. I am fifty-eight years old.

Q. Fifty-eight years old. Where do you reside?

A. I reside at Sand Springs, Oklahoma.

Q. How long have you lived at Sand Springs?

A. Three years.

Q. Did you ever live at Wagoner? A. I did.

Q. How long did you live at Wagoner prior to the time that you went to Sand Springs or Tulsa?

A. I went to Sand Springs in 1888 and I lived there up until 1907.

Q. Do you mean Sand Springs or Tulsa?

A. Wagoner.

Q. You went to Wagoner in 1888? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And resided there how long?

A. I left there in 1907 I think.

Q. 1907?

A. Nineteen hundred and six or seven, I forget just which.

Q. Were you acquainted with Nancy Atkins?

A. I was.

Q. When did you first become acquainted with her?

A. Well, I became acquainted with her at Wagoner, but I have seen her at the Mission quite often, at the Tullahassee Mission down at Col. Robertson's place.

Q. Well, did she ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you acquainted with her while she lived in Wagoner? A. I was.

Q. Where did she live?

A. When she first came to Wagoner, she lived—worked at the section house I mean, I don't know just how long, but she was working at the section house for the section foreman or his people. Afterwards she lived with a colored woman by the name of Birney.

Q. Betsy Birney? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, where were you working at that time?

A. I was with Davis & Jones Mercantile Company.

Q. Do you remember the circumstance of her having a child? A. I do.

Q. Did you see her prior to the time, a few months prior to the time? A. Yes, sir, see her quite often.

Q. Did you ever notice whether or not she was in a pregnant condition? A. I did.

Q. Was she or was she not? A. She was.

The Court: Now, what year was that?

A. I think it was in 1889, I won't be positive now whether it was in 1889 or 1890.

Q. Either in 1889 or 1890?

A. Yes, sir, one or the other, but I couldn't say positive.

Q. Now, do you know where the child was born?

A. The child was born——

Mr. German: Wait a minute. Do you know, answer that yes or no.

A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. State when it was born?

A. It was born just back of Davis & Jones Mercantile House, over in what was the prairie. There was no street or anything there at that time, there was just a prairie right up to Davis & Jones yards and gin; and this tent was west of that a little ways.

Q. What tent are you speaking of?

A. A tent that she was living in at that time.

Q. Now, how do you know the child was born there?

A. There was a colored woman came in the store early one morning and spoke to an Indian a clerk, about getting something, some groceries and he referred her to me. And she came over there and told me that this girl was sick, had a child, and she didn't have any money or anything suitable to eat, and she wanted to get something there, some few little articles. And I told this Indian boy to let her have it, whatever she wanted.

Q. Now, did you see her or the child?

A. No, I never saw her for I suppose, or maybe it was a week or ten days before I ever saw her.

Q. When did you see her?

A. I saw her, she went from this tent to Betsy Birney's house. I saw her over there.

Q. Do you remember the time they moved her? A. Yes.

Q. From the tent to the house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you assist in moving her? A. No, I did not.

Q. Did you see them moving her?

A. No, but I seen that the tent was gone and they said that they had taken her over to Betsy Birney's.

Q. Now, you afterwards saw her at Betsy Birney's?

A. Yes, sir, quite often.

Q. Where was she?

A. Betsy Birney had a two-roomed house and she moved into one of those rooms.

Q. Now, was she in bed or what part of the house was she in? A. No, she was walking around in the house.

Q. Now, did you see the child at that time?

A. I never saw the child until it was probably a month or two months old.

Q. Where did you see it then?

A. Right at this house. The road run within thirty feet of the house. It was a road it was no street.

Q. Who was with it when you saw it?

A. I don't mind whether it was Betsy Birney or Nancy.

Q. Where was it? A. At that house.

Q. At Betsy Birney's house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say it was about a month old when you saw it?

A. The first time I seen it to notice I suppose was a month after confinement, after this woman was confined there.

Q. Now, did you see it after that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How frequently?

A. Oh, maybe once in a week, maybe later on two or three times a day.

Q. Where did you see it? A. At this place.

Q. Who accompanied it?

A. Well, it would be around the yard and playing with those children. Later on I bought property just outside of the corporate limits and built a house and moved over to it, and I passed by this place two or three times a day and I see this child there pretty nearly all the time.

Q. About how long did you see it there?

A. Oh, I suppose four or five years.

Q. Do you remember whether it died or not?

A. I remember that I was told that it died.

Mr. German: Now, wait a minute, we object to that on the ground that it is hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Q. Well, did you miss it afterwards? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Quit seeing it around there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, I will ask you if you heard what became of it?

Mr. German: We object on the ground it is hearsay.

The Court: Sustained.

Mr. Maxey: Exception. We offer to show by him that after he missed seeing the child around where he was accustomed to seeing it, that he was told that it was dead

Q. Who told you it was dead?
A. I can't call to mind who it was told me.
Q. Did you hear more than one person say it was dead?
A. Yes.

Q. Was it generally reputed in the neighborhood there about that time—about the time that you quit seeing it around there that it had died?

Mr. German: Now, we object to that on the ground that it is hearsay, and in addition to that we move to strike the other two or three questions and answers for the reason that they are leading and state that—and calls for evidence in violation of the rules of law now being applied by the Court. They were made in such a way that we can hardly object to them.

The Court: I will tell you. This is going to run through your phase of the case pretty generally. I am going to do this. Before I exclude all of this finally, in view of the fact that it is nearly adjourning time now, I am going to give this matter a little further consideration between now and Monday morning, and I will not go further with the proof tonight. I want to satisfy myself with a little further investigation. This is a very important stage of this case.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, we might finish the cross examination of this witness, because that is the only question he is going to ask him.

Mr. Maxey: Oh, no.

The Court: Probably you might go into the other questions of fact in which this question does not arise and finish with him to that extent but leave this question as to the reputation of death until I give it some consideration between now and Monday morning.

Q. Do you remember what name this child had?
A. It was called Tommy Atkins, the only name I heard it called by.
Q. Was it a boy or girl? A. Boy.
Q. Do you know Minnie Atkins? A. Yes, sir.
Q. What relation is she to Nancy?
A. She is a half sister, I have been told—I don't know, I can't say.
Q. Do you know Minnie's children?
A. I know two of her children.

Q. What were their names?

A. Charlie Harrison and Harvey Harrison.

Q. When did you first see those children?

A. I think it was '95 or '96.

Q. 1895 or '96? A. Yes, 1895 and '6.

Q. Where did you first see them?

A. The first time I saw them, Charlie was brought to my house.

Q. What relation if any have you borne to those children, official or otherwise?

A. Well, this boy lived—his aunt asked me if I would take the boy and keep it. I told her I would.

The Court: What boy is that, now?

A. Charlie Harrison.

Mr. Blakeney: Minnie's boy.

A. I told her I would and she sent her son after this child. He was some 15 or 18 miles above Wagoner, living with some negro people and this son of Kate Holden went and brought him to my house. That was the first time I ever saw the child.

Q. Do you know what relation Kate Holden was to Minnie and Nancy?

A. She was a half sister to Nancy; a sister of Minnie. That is I have been told that ever since I can remember.

Q. Well, now, how long did this boy stay at your house—Charlie Harrison?

A. He stayed there until he was about 22 years old; something like four years ago—five or six years ago, or something like that.

Q. Did he have a guardian?

A. After several years I don't remember—but several years after that his aunt petitioned the court to appoint—for me to be appointed guardian of the child and I was appointed guardian at this place here, in the Federal court.

Q. Did you serve as his guardian up to the time that he became of age? A. I did.

Q. Did you ever have any conversation or correspondence with Minnie with reference to her children after they came to your house?

A. I had a letter from Minnie Atkins from—written from St. Joe, Missouri, there wasn't much said about the children; she asked for a loan.

Q. Have you got the letter? A. No, sir, I haven't.

Q. Do you know what become of it?

A. Well, I can't say because it was just probably just thrown away—I don't know.

Q. You haven't seen it recently?

A. No, I haven't saw it in I know——

Q. Did you search for it about the time of the trial at Sapulpa?

A. Yes, prior to that I did. I had a trunk at Wagoner with some papers.

Q. Were you able to find it? A. I was not.

Q. Haven't ever found it since?

A. No, I looked for it.

Q. State what was said in the letter with reference to the children, if anything.

A. She said that she understood that I had one of the boys.

Q. Did she say which one?

A. She said Charlie, and she said that she was very sick and asked me if I would send her some money.

Q. Do you remember about what date that letter was?

A. It was in ninety-six or seven, somewheres along in there.

Q. 1896 or '97?

A. Somewheres in there. I can't remember.

Q. Do you know what became of the other boy Harvey?

A. Kate Holden, that is his aunt, came to—the boy was out 8 miles from Wagoner living with Jim Childers, and she went there and got the boy and taken him to her house west of the Arkansas river at her home.

Q. Now, which was the older, Harvey or Charlie?

A. Charlie.

Q. About how old was he when he came to your house?

A. I never learned how old he was, he was very small though. I suppose he was about 4 or 5 years old; he was very small.

Q. Do you remember whether his mother was here about the time that you first saw him?

A. No, she wasn't here.

Q. Do you remember about her being here about the year 1895? A. Yes.

Q. Did you see her at that time?

A. I seen her in Okmulgee at that time.

Q. Is that the only time you saw her?

A. Yes, that is the only time I seen her for several years; before that while she was at Tallahassee Mission I saw her there.

Q. Now, at any of the time that you saw her, or in any of the correspondence you have had with her, had she ever mentioned anything about a child by the name of Tommy Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. Did she—she did write to you about Charlie? She understood he was living with you and wrote to you about him?

A. Yes, sir. I don't think she spoke about the other boy; she just spoke about this boy that was living at my house.

Q. Did Charlie have an allotment? A. He did.

Q. Did you look after that for him?

A. I filed on the quarter section of land there by Wagoner; property I had been living on for several years. I bought it prior to that.

Q. You are not an Indian yourself?

A. No, sir; Shannon owned the place about six or seven hundred acres there and he sold it to me; just sold me the improvements on it.

Q. And you filed on it for Charlie?

A. Yes, sir, I filed on 160 acres of it for him.

Q. Did you hear from Minnie any more after this letter from St. Joe? A. Never did, never heard.

Q. Do you remember how long that was after she was here in 1895?

A. Well, I think it was in '96 or '97, or somewheres along there—I can't remember.

Q. Six or seven years?

A. 1896 or 1897, somewhere along there.

The Court: What St. Joe was that?

A. St. Joe, Missouri.

Q. Speaking of the times that you heard that he was dead, I will ask you whether you know anything about the making up of money to bury him?

A. I do not. I was not in town I am sure, I am very sure I wasn't at Wagoner at the time it died. I was frequently away from home for a week or three weeks at a time, in Texas or Louisiana, or Texas, or Kanses City, or other places where I had business. And if I would have been there I would certainly have known it at the time.

Q. Now, how old would you think it was then the last time you saw him?

A. I should judge he was five or six years old.

Q. What was the date of the last time you saw him as well as you can remember, the year?

A. I couldn't say, I couldn't state what year. I had no occasion to think about it.

Q. Well, now, you spoke a while ago of filing on some land for Charlie, living with you; what time was it that he disappeared, that is, what time did you quit seeing him there with reference to the filing, the time they opened the land office?

A. Well, it was several years.

Q. It was what?

A. It was several years before that, three or four, I don't know.

Q. You don't remember seeing him after they commenced filing? A. No, I don't.

> Mr. Maxey: Well, until the Court rules on the other, I believe——

Q. Where did this boy live? A. Which?

Q. The Tommy Atkins you knew?

A. The last time I saw him was living in Wagoner just west of our place.

Q. With whom? A. With Betsy Birney.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Bailey, you say that you saw Nancy Atkins pregnant at one time? A. I did.

Q. Did you ever see her in that condition more than once?

A. No, sir, not to my knowledge.

Q. How old did you say this child was that you saw at Betsy Birney's, was it when you first saw it?

A. It was quite small, it was an infant, quite small, I couldn't say how old.

Q. You testified once before concerning your knowledge of this child, didn't you Mr. Bailey? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the District Court in Creek County when the contest was on there between Minnie Atkins and Nancy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Between Bartlett and Nancy Atkins. You testified at that time that this child was a year or two old the first time you saw him, didn't you? A. I don't think I did.

Q. I will ask you if the following questions were not asked you to which you returned the following answers: "Do you know whether Nancy Atkins ever had a child or not? A. Only from what I was told, yes, she had a child there. Q. Did any child ever live there with her? A. Yes, sir. Q. How old was that child the first time you saw it? A. It must have been a year or two old, for I never was in her house." Were those questions asked and did you answer them in that way?

A. I don't remember, I expect I did.

Q. Refreshing your recollection from those questions, isn't it a fact, Mr. Bailey, that you never saw this child at the Birney home? A. No, sir.

Q. Until he was a year and a half or two years old?

A. No, sir. I saw a child there that was an infant. I don't know, I couldn't say whether it was one month or two or four, but it was an infant, and was told——

Q. But at that time you didn't know its name?

A. I did not, I never went in the house.

Q. Later you saw a little negro boy running around that community named Tommy Atkins, is that right?

A. Well, I wouldn't call him a negro boy, he run around with the negro children, but he wasn't called a negro boy.

Q. He associated entirely with negroes?

A. Yes, sir, he was living with a negro family.

Q. You saw him around the negro house?

A. I did, I passed by the house two or three times a day.

Q. Did you ever see him any place else except the Birney house? A. I saw him up around the street.

Q. You saw him later on hauling wood? A. No.

Q. You never knew but the one Tommy Atkins?

A. That is all.

Q. That is all the Tommy Atkins you ever knew of around Wagoner?

A. That is all the Tommy Atkins I ever knew or heard of.

Q. Betsy Birney moved away from that community you say several years after you first saw this child there?

A. Yes, she moved away from this place.

Q. And you never saw the child after he was five or six years old, did you?

A. No, sir, I suppose he was about that, I don't remember.

Q. Now, let me understand you, the first time you ever saw this boy you saw him around Betsy Birney's, you don't know just how old he was and didn't know his name?

A. Not at that time.

Q. Afterwards, you saw some boy around there and around the streets of Wagoner which you understand was named Tommy?

A. Named Tommy Atkins is what he was called.

Q. And that boy you never saw again after he was five or six years old? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know where he went to when he left—— He passed out of your recollection? A. Do not.

Q. Mr. Bailey, you have done considerable work for the Nancy Atkins interest, haven't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you go around with Mr. White trying to get witnesses for him?

A. I went with him once to Dave Marshall's place to see him, went out from Tulsa. That is the only time I went for a witness.

Q. You told him—— Did he pay you anything for that service?

Mr. Maxey: We object to that. He had a right tc pay him.

The Court: He may answer.

A. He did not.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You knew Nancy before she left Muskogee, didn't you?

A. No, I never knew her in Muskogee; I knew her at the Mission.

Q. You knew her at the Mission? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew her before she went to Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Knew she was Minnie's sister? A. Yes.

Q. Did you know that? A. Yes, sir, I knew she was.

Q. Minnie's sister? A. Yes.

Q. You knew that, sir? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when Nancy first went to Wagoner, she associated with negroes entirely, didn't she?

A. I can't say as to that.

Q. Well, what did you know about it—anything?

A. When she first went to Wagoner, she worked at the section house—I don't know how long she was there—maybe a month or maybe two months, I don't know.

Q. Don't you know that Nancy lived in that small negro community at Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She lived there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Stayed there didn't she? A. Yes.

Q. She had her home there with them?

A. I think so.

Q. And she slept there with those colored people, didn't she? A. I suppose so, I never was there after night.

Q. But whenever you saw her at all, you saw her going to and from those colored homes, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you took her to be a resident of that colored community, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know Eliza Sterling? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Nancy Barnett? A. I did.

Q. Know Betsy Overton? A. I did.

Q. Did you know Henry Anderson? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Angeline Moody? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, those colored people lived right in the immediate neighborhood where Nancy stayed, didn't they?

A. Lived in that neighborhood.

Q. Right around there close, didn't they?

A. In the negro part of town.

Q. In the negro part of town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The fact is that the negro part of town was a sort of segregated part of the town, wasn't it?

A. It was.

Q. It was and they lived there as a sort of colored community to themselves, didn't they?

A. Yes, sir, they did.

Q. And in that community Nancy lived?

A. Yes, sir, that was a fact.

Q. When did you first see Nancy in Wagoner—what year? A. What year?

Q. Yes? A. It was in '89 or '90, I can't say which.

Q. '89 or '90. Was she pregnant when you first saw her?

A. I didn't notice it when I first saw her.

Q. How long after she came to Wagoner before you noticed her pregnancy? A. Probably three or four months.

Q. Probably three or four months? A. I can't state.

Q. Where was she living when she had her baby?

A. She was living just back of the Davis and Jones Mercantile house.

Q. In whose house? A. In a tent.

Q. In a tent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In a tent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she have her baby in the tent?

A. Yes, sir, I was so told she did; she was living there anyway.

Q. She had the baby in the tent. Whose house was that near to—what was that near to—what colored house?

A. It was near to Betsy Birney's house.

Q. Near to Betsy Birney's house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You spoke of seeing an infant; you never was inside to see the infant was you? A. No, sir, I was not.

Q. Well, how did you see it?

A. I seen this woman and I don't mind whether it was Nancy or Betsy Birney—one of them had a child in her arms a little infant, in the yard on the porch immediately in front of the door.

Q. That was Betsy Birney's house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You don't know whether that was Nancy's baby, or Betsy Birney's or Betsy Birney's grandchild?

A. No, I don't know.

Q. You didn't know whose child it was; you just was going along the road and saw an infant there? A. In the yard.

Q. In the yard and that is all you know about that infant that you saw there? A. I didn't inquire naturally.

Q. Now, you knew Nancy up there after she was reputed to have a baby, until she went to prison, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She never was pregnant between the time she had that baby and the time she went to prison, was she?

A. I don't think she was; I knew nothing about it.

Q. She came back, didn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you never knew her to be pregnant after she came back from prison, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. And so as a matter of fact, so far as your knowledge and observation goes, Nancy never had but that one baby, did she? A. So far as I know.

Q. That is it. Now, you remember that Charlie Harrison did go up there, didn't he? Charlie Harrison, the boy that you claim to be guardian for, he came up to Wagoner, didn't he?

A. Yes, he was not in Wagoner, though, at the time they brought him to me—to my house.

Q. I didn't ask you that. I asked if he came to Wagoner.

A. I never saw him in Wagoner.

Q. Don't you know, Mr. Bailey, that Charlie Harrison was up there with his Aunt Nancy in Wagoner and stayed with her? A. I do not.

Q. Do you say that is not true?

A. I say I do not know it.

Q. Well, do you know it is not a fact? A. No.

Q. Well, you was his guardian, wasn't you?

A. This child was booked from near Choteau to my place —was the first time I ever saw him.

Q. I haven't ask- you that, Mr. Bailey. Let's speak of my question. A. Well?

Q. You were his guardian, weren't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, as his guardian, will you tell the Court whether or not he came there and stayed with his Aunt Nancy?

A. I never saw him there.

Q. You say he wasn't there?

A. I say I never seen him there. I never knew of the child until his aunt told me about it.

Q. Well, that is not the question. Did he come there after you knew of the child? Did he go there after you knew of the child? A. No, sir.

Q. He never came to Wagoner atfer you knew of the child? A. Knew of Charlie Harrison?

Q. Yes?

A. I never knew of him until two days probably, before he came to my house.

Q. I know, but he did go there didn't he? A. Yes.

Q. Now, didn't he afterwards stay with his Aunt Nancy?

A. No, sir, he didn't.

Q. He didn't?

A. He never was out of my house after he came to my house.

Q. Now, to your knowledge, did he stay with his Aunt Nancy before that time? A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Not to your knowledge? A. No, sir.

Q. You say you got a letter from Minnie?

A. I got a letter from Minnie? [Q.] What year was it?

Q. I can't say what year it was. I said it was in '96 or '97.

Q. How much? A. '96 or '97.

Q. '96 or '97? Did you go to see her? A. I did.

Q. You went to see Minnie? A. I did.

Q. Paid your own way up there? A. I did.

Q. What for?

A. I was in Kansas City and I just taken a notion that I'd go over and see her.

Q. Well, whay did you take a notion to go over and see her at St. Joe?

A. Well, I thought probably she might be really in need of this money and if she was——

Q. Where was she in St. Joe when you saw her?

A. She was looked in what looked to me like a sporting house; a rooming house.

Q. Can you tell what place—what part of the town it was?

A. I had the number of the place and went there.

Q. Did you? A. I went there.

Q. Well, can you tell us what direction it was from the center of the town—in which direction it was?

A. No, I can't.

Q. And didn't she tell you that she had tuberculosis?

A. She told me she was sick, she looked to me like she did.

Q. She looked like she had tubèrculosis? A. Yes.

Q. She said she was very ill at that time?

A. She looked to be a very sick woman; she was lying covered up?

Q. Did she have a doctor with her?

A. I wasn't in the house thirty minutes.

Q. Well, did she say that a physician was attending her?

A. She did.

Q. She told you she was down and out, didn't she?

A. That is what she said.

Q. Told you that she expected to die?

A. That is the remark she made.

Q. And you went away, and where did you go to after you left there?

A. I came back to Kansas City and came from Kansas City to Wagoner.

Q. Well, did you notify any of her relations about her desperate condition? A. I did not.

Q. Why didn't you do it?

A. Simply because she told me not to.

Q. Told you not to tell where she was? A. She did.

Q. Told you that she didn't want anybody to know where she was, didn't she? A. That is the remark she made.

Q. You think that letter was in about '96 or '97?

A. I think it was, I don't remember.

Q. About '96 or '97. Now, you had no particular reason for watching Nancy while she was at Wagoner, did you?

A. None whatever.

Q. You had no particular [] in keeping up with her domestic affairs or her children, did you? A. No.

Q. You had no reason and the fact that your attention was especially directed to her, other than what you heard around in the neighborhood, did you? A. No. sir.

Q. And consequently you couldn't say, Mr. Bailey, really, whether her child was born dead or alive, of your own knowledge? A. Not of my own knowledge.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Bailey, how old is Charlie Harrison at this time?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. How old was he when he was brought to you?

A. I couldn't say. I taken him to be four or five years old, he was very small and he was sick at the time. He never knew his age and I never found out. Never saw anyone that did know. I took it though that he was about four years old from his looks.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. Mr. Bailey, how long has it been since you saw Charlie Harrison? A. Been about two weeks.

Q. Been about two weeks? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where does he live now?

A. Well, he has been living in Tulsa for sometime, he told me he had been up there a couple of months.

Q. Now, how long has it been since you first saw Charlie Harrison the first time you saw him?

A. Oh, it must be twenty years anyway.

Q. And the principal part of that twenty years he has lived with you?

A. He has lived with me all the time up to——

Q. I wish you would describe the appearance of Charlie Harrison to the Court, his face and complexion?

A. His presence you mean now?

Q. Yes?

A. He is a tall slender made man; has very dark eyes and hair; would weigh about a hundred and forty five or fifty pounds; rather a good looking young fellow.

Q. Is his hair straight? A. Yes, sir.

Q. His cheek bones high? A. Not very.

Q. Shows the Indian? A. Shows the Indian some.

Q. Rather inclined to be thin, you say? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long has it been since you saw Harvey Harrison? A. Been over two years.

Q. Harvey is still living? A. I think he is.

Q. Where does he live?

A. I think he lives near Haskell, is where his farm is, his land.

Q. Now, when did you first meet Harvey?

A. His aunt came to my house.

Q. I don't care about the circumstances, about when was it?

A. Probably three or four months after this other boy was brought to my house.

Q. And you have known Harvey Harrison for practically twenty years?

A. Yes, sir, because he used to come to my house and stay for a week at a time, two weeks.

Q. I wish you would describe to the Court the personal appearance of Harvey Harrison?

A. Harvey is considerably larger and heavier than Lee, larger in every way, and darker.

Q. And darker? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say he is darker, about what is his complexion, looks to be about a half blood Indian or a quarter blood Indian? A. Half blood.

Q. Looks to about a halfblood Indian. Is his hair straight? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Eyes black? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About what height, five, seven or eight?

A. Yes, I should think he is fully five-eight.

Q. Now, you say he shows to be about a halfblood?

A. He is darker complected than his brother.

Q. And his brother would show to be between a half and a quarterblood Indian, about that complexion? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Cobb: That is all for the present. We may have a further question.

The Court: Any further examination of this witness?

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Bailey, what year was it when you first saw this child of Nancy's that you say you saw there?

A. I couldn't say what year.

Q. Do you remember what year it was that you saw her pregnant? A. Well, no. It was '89 or '90.

Q. That you saw her in a pregnant condition?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, it might have been one of those years or the following year that you saw the child? A. Yes.

Q. Was it as late as '91 or '92?

A. I don't think it was as late as '92.

Q. You are sure you saw that child younger than a year or two old? A. Yes.

Q. You have answered that you testified in Sapulpa in the case between H. U. Bartlett and Nancy Atkins. I will ask you if the following questions were not asked and answered by you. Reading from page 197 of the official record: "Q. Do you remember during the time that you knew Nancy Atkins whether she was pregnant at any time during that period? A. From the time I knew her? Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir. Q. About what time was that? A. I should think it was in '88 or '9, I wouldn't say positive." Is that your testimony?

A. I expect it is.

Q. Well, I am asking if you testified that way at that time?

The Court: Yes, he has practically said that he did.

Q. "Q. Well, now, how long after that was it until you saw this child? A. Probably in '91 or '92, I couldn't say." Is that your testimony? A. I think so.

Mr. Hanford: That is all.

Mr. Cobb: Just for one more question. Come around Henry.

(And thereupon, Henry Carter stood up for the inspection of the witness.)

Q. Mr. Bailey, I wish you would look at this party here and state to the Court whether you see any resemblance between him and either of the Harrison boys?

A. I can't see no resemblance in the face.

Q. In the features. As to the complexion, how does his complexion compare with either of them?

A. Well, his complexian is something like Charlie's, the older boy.

Q. About the same complexion as Charlie?

A. I think so.

Q. His hair is black and straight, the same?

A. Theirs is, I can't tell what his is.

Q. What about their height, about the same height?

A. He looks taller than Charlie, I don't know though that he is. He looks taller from here.

Q. About how much taller? A. Probably an inch or so.

Q. As to the color of the eyes, about the same color of the eyes?

A. What is his eyes, I can't see them from here?

Q. They are black, coal black?

A. Charlie's eyes are black.

Q. Mr. Bailey, isn't it a fact that there is a resemblance between Charlie Harrison and this man here enough for them to be brothers?

Mr. Maxey: Your Honor, I object as not cross examination.

The Court: Sustained.

Mr. Cobb: Exception.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Bailey, you say that this party, Henry Carter, was about the same color as Charlie Harrison? A. He is.

Q. And in that respect only——

A. He may be a little darker.

Q. In that respect only they resemble? Mr. Bailey, do you know who Charlie is working for now, Charlie Harrison?

A. I don't think he is working for anyone.

Q. Do you know who he has been working for?

A. He told me he worked for Mr. Page a while, and told me he worked out on the pipe line for Mr. Page.

Mr. Allen: That is all.

The Court: Any further questions?

Mr. Cruce: Nothing only I would like to ask if those other two boys are bald headed like this boy who stood there?

A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed.

Whereupon, Court adjourned until Monday morning May 14, 1917, at ten o'clock A. M.

And thereafter, and on May 14, 1917, at ten o'clock A. M., Court convened, pursuant to adjournment herein, and further proceedings were had as follows:

The Court: On the question which was left with the Court when Court adjourned Friday evening, after the receiving in evidence of statements of witnesses with regard to what was the neighborhood reputation, general reputation, not confined to the family, but general neighborhood reputation as to the birth, kinship, and fact of death and time of death, of a certain child contended by the Nancy Atkins interest to be her child, I have during the interim, since Friday night, again gone carefully over all those authorities suggested by counsel on both sides. It is pretty well summed up by Mr. Wigmore, in Section 1605, at page 1953, where he says: (Reads from Section 1605).

Mr. Wigmore takes the most advanced position of any of the authors, on the side of Nancy Atkins interest here, in the contention that general reputation should not be confined to the family, but should extend to reputation among neighbors, friends, and those associated in the community. But after a very learned discussion of the matter, as he views it, he winds up in the way I have just read.

Now, here is a case where the evidence has gone far enough to show that it is contended by the Nancy Atkins interest that Nancy had a child, probably about twenty seven years ago, up at Wagoner, which is fifteen or sixteen miles from Muskogee where this case is now being tried. It is contended as against the contention of the Government, that the child which she had died, this child lived to be four or five or six years old; that it was around with her in Wagoner for several years as a little baby and as a growing child. The evidence has gone far enough to indicate pretty clearly that probably it will not be a contention that Nancy had more than the one child, and the question will revolve around that birth there, and as to whether that child was born dead and buried in its infancy, or whether it lived a number of years. If it died, as contended by the Nancy Atkins interest, it died a little more than twenty years ago. If there was any neighborhood reputation in that little community from Wagoner up there in regard to the birth and kinship of that child to Nancy, or its death, that reputation arose from matters of fact which certain people in the community knew. The facts which gave rise to that reputation must, in the nature of things, be very generally within reach of the parties now. Nancy Atkins, the mother, or reputed mother, of this child is a defendant and is in Court and may be called as a witness to testify as to its birth, the length of its lifetime, and the date of its death. And reviewing the whole matter, even taking the advanced position taken by Mr. Wigmore, I am of the opinion that the evidence, so far it relates to the general reputation in the community up there, outside of the family, in regard to these facts, is not admissible. The Court will adhere to the ruling announced Friday, and your exceptions will be noted and you may make whatever proffer you desire to save your record.

Mr. Hill: I expect, your Honor, we will have to make it from time to time as the witnesses appear.

The Court: I presume that the witnesses whom you seek to prove that by will have other matters?

Mr. Hill: Yes, sir, that is what we say. When we ask the questions we will be careful to instruct the witness not to answer the question.

The Court: All right, you may proceed.

Mr. German: We would like to have Mr. Bailey.

Mr. Maxey: Mr. Bailey is not here yet.

The Court: Well, Mr. Bailey may be recalled when he comes. Call another witness.

And thereupon, JAMES E. LONG, produced as a witness on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. James E. Long.

Q. How old are you Mr. Long? A. Fifty-four.

Q. Where do you reside?

A. I live in Chelsa, Oklahoma, Rogers County, at present.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner County, Oklahoma?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year did you live in Wagoner?

A. From 1896 until last year.

Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins when you lived in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How soon after you went there was it before you got acquainted with her?

A. As well as I remember it was something like a year after I moved there.

Q. Do you know whether or not she had a child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of a looking child was it?

A. She had a mulatto looking boy.

Q. How old was he when you first saw him?

Mr. German: Now, your Honor, we object to this evidence, because it appears that the witness did not know Nancy until 1896—until 1897.

The Court: Has that statement been his statement?

Mr. German: Yes, sir, that he first went to Wagoner in 1896 and first knew Nancy about a year after.

The Court: Well, probably his cross examination will bring out the facts upon which he bases his statement that this was her child, and I will hear the whole matter all together.

Mr. Maxey: Answer the question please?

A. He was six or seven years old, I judged by his size.

Q. How long did you see him around there?

A. Well, four or five years.

Q. Who was he with when you would see him?

A. With Nancy Atkins and with another woman by the name of Maggie Martin.

Q. Where did Nancy live then?

A. She lived a part of the time on Church Street in Wagoner, and part of the time over in what we call Nigger Town on the west side.

Q. About how often did you see Nancy and this child together? A. In 1907 and a part of eight.

The Court: You mean 1907?

A. 1897 I mean and a part of eight.

Q. What official position did you hold if any in Wagoner at that time?

A. I was City Marshal. Went in in April of '97 and then went out in April of '98.

Q. Do you know what become of the child?

A. In 1901 or '2 it is reported to have died.

Mr. Pinson: That is objected to, your Honor, as hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained. It will be stricken out.

Q. Now, you needn't answer this until I—until the Court rules on it. State how you fix the time that you heard the report that he was dead? A. Well, it was the——

> The Court: He is merely asked now with regard to the time that he heard the report. That is a matter of fact as to date.

A. I was handling horses at that time and mules in 1901 and it was either one or two, I don't remember, I don't remember, only I know it was a very dry year that we had and I had an Indian fellow that was working for me that was very intimately acquainted with Nancy Atkins and we were called on to contribute to the burial of Nancy Atkins little boy, is how I come to remember that.

Q. Did you contribute?

A. Yes, sir, it strikes me I gave something.

Q. Do you know whether the man working for you gave anything?

A. I know my man gave fifty cents and I believe I gave a dollar.

Q. Now, did you see this boy around there after that?

A. No, sir, I never did.

Q. Now, you will not answer this until—— I will ask you this first: What was this boy called if you know any name?

A. He was called Tom.

Q. What was the general reputation among the people of the town—— Don't answer this now until I get through—— What was the general reputation among the people of the town as to who was the mother of this child?

> The Court: I suppose the objection is interposed to that?
>
> Mr. Pinson: Yes, sir.
>
> The Court: The objection will be sustained and exceptions noted.
>
> Mr. Maxey: Now, we expect to prove by this witness that this child was generally reputed in the neighborhood to be the son of Nancy Atkins, among all of the people that knew him at that time or resided there.
>
> The Court: The record may show the proffer and objection sustained, to which you except.

Cross Examination by Mr. Pinson.

Q. Mr. Long, did you know Nancy Atkins pretty well?

A. Yes, sir, I think that I had her in my hands severals times, I think I had her in charge in Police Court several times.

Q. She was quite a character about town, wasn't she?

A. Nothing desperate, no, sir.

Q. She was well known there in the community?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. She ran about a good deal, didn't she from place to place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was a Police Court character as you knew her?

A. There was, I should say, quite a number of those characters there at that time.

Q. Quite a number of that kind of characters? Nancy was one of those characters, was she not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, have you any personal knowledge as to whether Nancy ever had any child?

A. No personal knowledge, no, sir.

Q. Do you know where Nancy was living, if anywhere, in the year 1896? A. No, I know where she was living in '97.

Q. Where was she living in '97?

A. She lived a part of the time on Church Street, near the residence of Captain Jackson, and part of the time over in nigger town, the southwest corner of the town.

Q. With what class of people did she associate there at that time? A. Well——

Q. With regard to color? Negroes?

A. Yes, and Indians.

Q. Negroes and Indians? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many little boys were about these two places where Nancy lived, at the place over on Church Street where Nancy lived first, how many boys were around that house?

A. Only one.

Q. Only one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many women lived in that house besides Nancy?

A. Only two.

Q. Who were they?

A. Maggie Martin, I don't know what her name was then.

Q. You say two women, you mean Maggie and Nancy were the only ones who lived there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did Maggie have any children?

A. Yes, sir, she did.

Q. How many? A. Two, both girls.

Q. Did you ever see this boy running around with those children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You did see him there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You think he was a mulatto looking boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What do you mean by that, lighter than the average negro?

A. Well about leather brown with chocolate colored hair if I remember right, and brown eyes.

Q. You could easily see that he was a negro or part negro?

A. Well, he resembled white and Indian really more than he did negro.

Q. Well, was he a mulatto as you said a while ago, Mr. Long, or not? A. In color, yes, he showed mulatto color.

Q. Well, you say that he showed negro?

A. Well, yes, he had straight hair.

Q. Well, why did you use the term mulatto?

A. Well, because of the color.

Q. Do you understand what a mulatto is?

A. Yes, I think I do.

Q. You always have known, haven't you?

A. I think I do.

Q. Mulatto is part negro isn't it? You used that term in reference to this boy, didn't you, a while ago?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Answer so the stenographer can get you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You used that term, you used it meaning that this boy was part negro, didn't you?

A. Well, it looked that way to me.

Q. Now, did Nancy live in this house on Church Street in 1897?

A. She lived there part of the time, I don't know how long.

Q. Do you recollect any time along about that time when she was away from Wagoner for a time, when you missed her?

A. No, I can't tell whether she was there all the time or not.

Q. Did you ever see her with two boys along about that period of time?

A. No, sir, I never saw but one boy with her.

Q. You never saw her with two boys? A. No, sir.

Q. You are sure of that, are you, Mr. Long?

A. I don't think I ever saw her with but one boy.

Q. Now, this boy that you are speaking of was about six or seven years old you say?

A. I judge him to be that old from his size.

Q. And you don't know personally whose boy that was?

A. No, I don't know personally.

Q. Do you recollect Nancy going out in the country and staying about two years along in '96 or '7?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. You don't recall anything about that? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you recall Minnie having two boys there?

A. Sister, no, sir.

Q. You don't know anything about that? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you remember when Nancy went to Nowata?

A. No, sir.

Q. How long did you know Nancy to be around Wagoner from 1897 along until 1902?

A. I saw her off and on there from the time I went in the City Marshal's office in '97 until 1901 or '2.

Q. She did not leave there then for any appreciable time during any of those years?

A. Well, she might have done it and I not have known it.

Q. Mr. Long, isn't it a fact that Nancy moved away from Wagoner and went up to Nowata to live shortly after you went to Wagoner? A. I don't know, sir.

Q. Well, about how often did you see her about the streets of Wagoner from 1897 on?

A. Well, '97 and a part of '8 I saw her I should judge probably once a month, but after that after I went out of office I paid very little attention to her.

Q. Are you pretty sure that she was around there about the time you heard this rumor about a boy being dead?

A. Who a subscription was taken up for a funeral?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir, I am pretty positive she was there.

Q. You are pretty positive Nancy was there and living in Wagoner at that time? A. I think so.

The Court: Now, when was it that this subscription was taken up?

A. About 1901 if I remember right. It was a dry year.

Q. Who took up that subscription?

A. I can't recollect.

Q. A white man, negro, or Indian?

A. A white man, somebody I believe connected with Davis & Jones Mercantile Company, but I can't swear as to who it was.

Q. That subscription was taken up on a written list or simply by somebody going around?

A. Just simply going around to take up some money to bury Tommy Atkins which was done in several instances while I was there.

Q. Now, you say you had a man working for you who was quite intimately acquainted with Nancy, who was that?

A. Don Winton.

Q. Is he living or dead?

A. I haven't seen him for five or six years. He moved off to the southern part of the State.

Q. You don't know whether he is living or not?

A. No, sir.

Q. Don't know where he is? A. No, sir.

The Court: What was he, an Indian or——

A. A Cherokee Indian, practically a white man though, he wasn't anything near a fullblood.

Q. Are you acquainted with the Birney's there in Wagoner?

A. No, I saw some of them, not very well acquainted with them.

Q. Did you ever know any of the Barnett's there?

A. Barnett's?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see Nancy living at any place except the two places that you have mentioned?

A. No, sir, I don't recollect any other place now.

Q. You say she stayed around those two places, did she, you know she lived around those two places do you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you say this boy that you refer to, did you ever speak to him and call him by name?

A. I don't know that I ever did, sir.

Q. How did you happen to hear his name called?

A. Well I heard it called a number of times just the same as any other woman's kids that was follering around there, and the woman getting into trouble occasionally.

Q. Now, who called that name?

A. Oh, I can't tell you now.

Q. Can you remember one person that you heard call this child Tom or Tommy?

A. Well, I have heard her call it Tommy and I could swear to that very correctly.

Q. You have heard Nancy call it Tom?

A. And I have heard others call it Tommy, but I don't know who those others are now.

Q. Now, tell me where you got the name Tommy Atkins?

A. I heard it there, heard Nancy call it.

Q. I don't mean from your conclusion, Mr. Long, but do you as a matter of fact remember hearing anybody speak about that child as Tommy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir, I heard a number of people call it that.

Q. Just spoke to the child and would call it Tommy Atkins? A. Just spoke of the child.

Q. What is that?

A. Speaking of the child and its mammy.

Q. Now, when did you hear it called Tommy?

A. Well, probably the same time I heard it called Tom.

Q. Now, which did you hear it called, which more frequently, Tommy or Tom?

A. I don't know whether they called it Tommy or whether they called it Tom.

Q. What was the name of the two children of Maggie Martin, the two children that you described?

A. The oldest one was Bernice and the other one I don't recall.

Q. You recollect Bernice and Tommy? A. Yes.

Q. Those two were colored about the same color?

A. No, sir.

Q. What color were Maggie's children?

A. They were both white.

Q. Was Maggie Martin a white woman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And both the children were white?

A. Yes, sir, I knew the father of her children, that is a fellow that claimed to be the father.

Q. Do you know of any other child that Nancy raised or had anything to do with up at Wagoner? A. No, sir.

Q. Besides the one you referred to? A. No, sir.

Q. Mr. Long, when were you first talked to in regard to this case?

A. Something like three years ago, two years ago I guess.

Q. You had no occasion to have the matter of Nancy or Tommy brought to your mind prior to that time since the rumor of the death?

A. Well, it was 1914 I think was the first conversation I had with anyone in reference to this case.

Q. Who was that?

A. It was Mr. J. B. White and Mr. Cunningham an attorney.

Q. Did you instantly recall the child that you referred to in your examination this morning?

A. Well, I remembered the woman and I remembered the boy.

Q. Was the name of Tommy Atkins mentioned to you at that time?

A. I don't remember now, sir, just what was said.

Q. Now, you referred a while ago to the fact that you had heard other people call the name of this boy Tommy Atkins, mention one of those persons?

A. Well, I don't know that I could mention one of them, it has been a good while ago and I couldn't recall a man's name that had said that particular thing.

Q. Are a good many of those people who were living in Wagoner at that time still living?

A. I think so, yes.

Q. Not all dead are they? A. No.

Q. Who was the next person that spoke to you about this matter after Mr. White spoke to you?

A. Mr. White and Mr. Cunningham, an attorney, are about the only men who have ever talked to me about this case.

Q. Have you ever testified before in this case?

A. No, sir, I made an affidavit.

Q. Who was that before?

A. Mr. Cunningham, I think, a Notary Public.

Q. Now, in that affidavit, you swore that you knew that Nancy Atkins had a boy child by the name of Thomas Atkins, didn't you?

A. I think so, I don't—— That was the substance of my affidavit.

Q. Well, you didn't know that, did you, Mr. Long?

A. I knew Nancy Atkins had a boy that she called hers and its name was Tommy.

Q. You heard Nancy call the boy hers?

A. I have heard her call him that more than once, yes, sir.

Q. What did she say about him?

A. Well, when I had her in Police Court, she referred to her boy, and that was frequent. I can't quote her language.

Q. I didn't understand the last?

A. I said I can't quote the language.

Q. She said something about her boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she used the name of Tommy or Thomas, or which? A. Tommy mostly.

Q. Now, what other people did you hear refer to it using the name Thomas or Tommy?

A. Well, he was called Tommy and Thomas both.

Q. Called both those names? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see the boy, Mr. Long, after he got to be eight or nine or ten years old there? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you see him any more after the time you refer to about when you were City Marshal?

A. Yes, I saw him frequently there up to three or four years after I went out of office.

Q. Three or four years after up to 1891 and '2?

A. Yes, sir, up to one occasionally.

Q. Now, did he do anything around town there or play around town like other boys?

A. Just loafed around town like other kids.

Q. You don't remember seeing him do any particular line of work? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you remember any boys that he loafed around town there with? A. No, I don't.

Q. Can you remember the names of some other boys, mulatto or negro boys who were in Wagoner about that time, who were about the same age?

A. Well, I don't think I could. There were a lot of negro kids there about his size.

Q. Can you recollect the name of one of them with whom you have seen this boy playing or loafing?

A. No, I can't, I wouldn't like to do it unless I knew.

Q. You can't recollect the name of one? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you recognized this boy about town from time to time as being the same boy you saw, could you?

A. Yes, sir, I recognized the boy by my associating with his mammy, with his mother Nancy, more than I would any other way.

Q. Now, you mean associating with Nancy Atkins, don't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you couldn't have anybody point him out to you as Thomas Atkins?

A. I don't think I ever had anybody point him out to me, no, sir.

Q. You recognized him as being her kid?

A. Except his mother, I heard his mother refer to him.

Q. You remember that his mother was there with him from time to time straight through these years? Do you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he ever live with anybody except his mother who you call Nancy? A. No, sir, not that I know of.

Q. Do you know that Nancy was in Wagoner at the time of this funeral that you referred to took place?

A. No, sir, I am not.

Q. You are not sure of that? A. No, sir.

Q. Are you sure of any length of time that Nancy remained there after you got to Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long?

A. During part of the year 1907 and part of '8 I know she was there.

The Court: 1907?

A. During 1897 and part of eight she was there practically all the time, might have been away for a day.

Q. Did you see her from time to time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the boy was with her?

A. Nearly all the time.

Q. I was just going to ask you how long you can now state positively that you saw Nancy there from time to time with this boy?

A. During most of 1897 and up to April of '98.

Q. And that is as far as you can go?

A. That I paid any attention to her, because I went out of office and went into another business and didn't look after that class of people.

Q. Well, did you see her after that from time to time?

A. Yes, I saw her about after that, but not as often as I had been seeing her before.

Q. Well, now, how often, Mr. Long?

A. I can't tell you, might have been once a year for all I know.

Q. Once a year or——?

A. Or twice a year for all I know.

Q. Can you mention any of the other characters who you used to arrest at that time who had a boy and child that you refer to? A. I don't understand the question?

Q. Can you mention any other police characters who you arrested while you were City Marshal who had a boy to whom she referred?

A. Now, this Maggie Martin had two girls, I don't remember of any other of those old women that had any boys.

Q. You don't remember. Do you remember of any other woman who had girls to whom you ever heard her refer when you arrested them?

A. I arrested Ada Wall, a time or two, for having young girls in her place of business, not hers, but girls under sixteen years of age.

Q. I am speaking of their own children?

A. No, that is the only one that I know of.

Q. You don't remember of any other? A. No.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Long, you say that you were City Marshal in Wagoner in '97? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What month did you take office in?

A. I think it was in April.

Q. And how long did you hold office? A. Held it a year.

Q. That office only continued for one year?

A. Yes, sir, was at that time.

Q. So, you held office one term? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What other office did you hold?

A. I was Deputy United States Constable for something like a year or year and a half, working for the United States Commissioner.

Q. And what else?

A. Well, that is all until 1910, I was elected Sheriff of Wagoner County.

Q. You were Sheriff in 1910?

A. No, I served on the City Council, member of the City Council during the time, I don't remember the year.

Q. When were you sheriff of Wagoner County?

A. 1911 and 1912 and a part of '13.

Q. Now, how long were you Deputy United States Constable?

A. Well, I can't recall the date. Andy Cunningham of Tahlequah was Constable and I was Deputy. He stayed in Tahlequah and I stayed in Wagoner, and the United States Commissioner lived in Wagoner.

Q. Was that the same Mr. Cunningham to whom you referred a minute ago? A. No, sir. No.

Q. How long did you hold office as a sheriff?

A. 1911 and 1912 and part of '13.

Q. Then, you didn't continue through the full term of office? A. No, sir.

Q. Why did you give up your position as Sheriff?

A. I was indicted by the Grand Jury and charged with embezzlement and resigned as sheriff.

Q. Were you tried? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Convicted? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you serve your term?

A. No, sir, the case was dismissed.

Q. But you were convicted? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year was that?

A. Thirteen I reckon, or fourteen—— Fourteen, I believe.

Q. Did you know Patsy Birney? A. What is that?

Q. Did you know Patsy Birney? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't know Patsy Birney? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know anybody in Wagoner by that name at the time you came there in '96?

A. I knew some of the Birney's, but I don't recall their given names just now.

Q. That was the boys that you knew?

A. Yes, as well as I remember some boys or men that lived over towards Coweta.

Q. They lived over towards Coweta? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They didn't live in Wagoner?

A. I don't recollect they ever lived in Wagoner.

Q. During the time that you were City Marshal in '97 and '98, you never knew of any colored woman named Betsy Birney living in Wagoner? A. No, sir, I didn't know her.

Q. And you never knew of Nancy living with Betsy Birney during that time in Wagoner? A. No, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. You spoke of being convicted of embezzlement there and the case being dismissed. Was a new trial granted?

A. No, sir, a motion was made for—— Yes, a new trial was granted, a new trial was granted and it was dismissed before that came to trial.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Just one question. I want to ask you if the new trial was not granted on the grounds solely that the Court defined reasonable doubt to the jury? A. I don't know what it was—

Mr. Maxey: We object to that as immaterial.

The Court: Yes, don't go into that any further.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Did the County Commissioners remove you from office? A. No, sir.

Q. Did they recommend your removal?

A. Recommended my removal and I resigned.

Q. For embezzlement? A. Yes, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, RICHARD BIRNEY, being called on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Richard Birney.

Q. Where do you live?

A. I live at Cushing now, near about Cushing.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What years did you live in Wagoner?

A. Along about '94; I used to live there when I was quite a kid.

Q. How long had you lived there in '94—1894, was that?

A. Yes, sir. Well, I came to town when I was—well, I guess I must have been about eight or nine years old. My mother came to town and stayed there until I was grown, I reckon.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know whether or not she had a child?

A. Yes, sir, she had one there at our house.

Q. What was that?

A. Yes, sir, she had one there at our house.

The Court: I don't understand you.

A. I said yes, sir, she did.

Q. Where was the child born if you know?

Mr. German: I object unless the witness knows.

The Court: Unless you know where it was born you needn't state.

By the Court.

Q. How old was the child when you first saw it?

A. Oh, it was small, a little bit of thing.

Q. How big, how many days old?

A. I don't know, Judge, because I was a small kid myself.

The Court: Well, he may go on and state what he knows about that.

By Mr. Maxey.

Q. About how old was he when you first saw him?

A. Well, sir, I can't tell you; I was just a kid and they brought the child to my mother's house. I don't know how old.

Q. How often did you see the child after that?

A. Every day when I would go in—when I would be at home.

Q. Did Nancy stay about your mother's any?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, how long after that did you see the child?

A. Well, I seen the child a good deal after that until I left home.

Q. How large was it the last time that you saw it?

A. Pretty good sized child; I can't say.

Q. About how old do you think he was?

A. Well, I can't say just really because——

Q. What kind of a looking child was he?

A. Well, I don't know what you would call it; his hair was kind of yellow hair to me. I can't tell nothing about that.

Q. Well, was he white or yellow?

A. I don't know; he was mixed up pretty bad. I can't tell you anything about it.

Q. Well, about how many years did you see him around there?

A. Well, I don't know just exactly about how many years because I never tried to keep any account of anything like that because I wasn't nothing but a kid of a boy myself, and I never paid any attention to it.

Q. Well, did your mother afterwards move away from town? A. Yes, sir, yes, sir.

Q. Where did she move to?

A. Moved over across from the Verdigris on Dry Creek.

Q. Did you see it any more after you went over there?

A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Now, what was this boy called?

A. Tommy Atkins is what they called him when he was there.

Q. Did you ever see him with his mother?

A. Yes, sir, I saw him when they brought him there.

Q. How did she bring him?

A. Why, they hauled them there in a wagon when they brought him there.

Q. Well, was he large enough to walk? A. No, sir.

Q. Did she have it in arms?

A. Yes, sir; that is the way that she brought it there.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Dick, you say the first time that you ever saw that child was when they brought him to your mother's house in a wagon? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They brought Nancy along at the same time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year was that?

A. Well, sir, I don't know really; I can't say.

Q. Where had they brought her from?

A. They brought her from up on the hill right north from where we lived.

Q. Where did you live? A. There in Wagoner.

Q. Where at Wagoner?

A. West of town—west of Wagoner.

Q. Well, you mean in the west part of town, don't you?

A. Yes, sir, the west part of town.

Q. Just west of the railroad track? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Close to Elnor Williams?

A. Yes, sir; near abouts.

Q. And close to Mandy Barnett's?

A. No, sir, we were not so close to them. They lived on the south side of town—south end of town.

Q. Now, where did they bring Nancy from?

A. Up there on the hill, near about where old man Bob Davis lived, near as I can get at it.

Q. Which side of the track? A. West side.

Q. Up on the hill? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how far from your mother's house?

A. About three quarters of a mile.

Q. About how old was that baby at that time?

A. I can't tell you.

Q. Well, about, you have an idea don't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Ten years old? A. No, sir.

Q. A year old? A. No, sir.

Q. Six months? A. No, sir. couldn't have been.

Q. A month? A. I can't tell you.

Q. Well, about how old?

A. Well, sir, I can't tell you and I wouldn't dare say. I don't know.

Q. You saw the wagon coming, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir, when they brought it there.

Q. Who drove that wagon?

A. Old man Saus Childers, if I ain't mistaken, and his wife.

Q. They are Indians? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did you see the wagon start up at Davis'?

A. Start up?

Q. Start; see the wagon when it started up there?

A. No, sir, I didn't see it until it got there.

Q. When did you first see the wagon?

A. When it got there at the house.

Q. Right at your house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they have to carry Nancy?

A. Carried her into the house.

Q. What did they carry her on? A. Cot.

Q. Cot? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did they do with the baby? How did it get out?

A. They took it into the house.

Q. Who carried it? A. Mother.

Q. Who? A. My mother.

Q. Your mother? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how old were you at that time?

A. Well, sir, I really don't know just then.

Q. About 12 years old?

A. Oh, about somewheres about like that.

Q. Somewheres about that. Now, you had known Nancy before that, hadn't you?

A. Yes, sir, I had seen her when I was a little bit of a tad when she first come to our house, I had seen her.

Q. How old were you the first time that you saw Nancy?

A. I don't know sir.

Q. Three or four years old?

A. Maybe so, I don't know; it has been so long.

Q. The fact is, Nancy came there so long ago and you were so small you don't remember?

A. I don't know when she came to town at all, I knew her when she came to mother's house.

Q. The truth of the matter is, you knew Nancy about as long ago as you remember anything? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is a fact isn't it?

A. Yes, sir, I remember it.

Q. Now, how old are you? A. 39.

Q. 39? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then what year were you born in?

A. I don't know what year I was born in.

Q. Wouldn't it [] about '78?

A. Some where along there, I guess.

Q. So you were about 12 years old in 1890?

A. Yes, sir, just about.

Q. Don't you know that Nancy didn't go to Wagoner until about '88? A. I don't know sir.

Q. When you were 10 years old?

A. I don't know, sir, what time she come.

Q. Don't you know that you can remember lots of things that happened before '88?

A. Oh, I guess so, but I never paid any attention.

Q. Was this child—you know this child was never at your mother's house until it was brought there from Davis' house?

A. No, sir.

Q. Never was? A. No, sir, never was.

Q. Wasn't around there? A. No, sir.

Q. You never heard of it until then? A. No, sir.

Q. Wasn't born in a tent around your mother's was it?

A. No, sir, never as I know of.

Q. Was not? A. No, sir.

Q. And wasn't born at Elnora Williams, a hundred yards away from there? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, let's see. Dick, you have been to the penitentiary, haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What for?

A. Well, they claim it was for larceny, all I can tell you.

Q. Claimed it was larceny? A. All I can tell you.

Q. You was not guilty? A. No, sir.

Q. But they convicted you and sent you up?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. More than once? A. No, sir, only once.

Q. You plead guilty, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What penitentiary were you in?

A. Fort Leavenworth.

Q. Fort Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. For five years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, let's see. What year was it that you went to the pen? A. I disremember what year it was.

Q. Don't you know that you was sent to the pen in April 1900? A. 1900?

Q. Yes, sent to the penitentiary? A. No, sir, no, sir.

Q. Well, let's see. Who did you first talk to about this case? A. This Creek case?

Q. Yes, about testifying in this case?

A. I disremember who it was; not anyone that I knows of until I was called as a witness.

Q. What is that?

A. Not anyone that I knows of until I was called as a witness.

The Court: Oh, somebody talked to you about this case. Now, when was it and who was it?

A. I disremember, Judge, when it was and who it was.

By The Court.

Q. Now, when was it?

A. The first time I was in this case was in Sapulpa.

Q. Who talked to you about going down there?

A. Didn't anyone at all they subpoened me to go.

Q. You got a subpoena you say?

A. I don't know, sir, when I got the subpoena.

Q. The first you knew of it was when you got the subpoena?

A. Yes, sir, I didn't know anything about it until I got the subpoena.

By Mr. German.

Q. When you got over there who talked to you before you testified? A. I don't know, sir, who it was.

Q. You know J. B. White? A. I talked to him.

Q. You talked to him?

A. I never said anything to him that I knows of.

Q. How come you to come here to court?

A. I was subpoened.

Q. Did you talk to anyone before you came here to court?

A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't talk to any of these lawyers before you came here to testify?

A. No, sir, I didn't talk to anybody.

Q. Now, don't you know this; that there was a child born to Nancy right there, either in a tent right near your mother's house or in Elnora Williams' house that was born dead?

A. I don't know anything about it.

Q. Never heard of that before? A. No, sir.

Q. In your whole life? A. No, sir.

Q. And you lived right there with your mother all the time? A. Lived right there.

By The Court.

Q. Do you remember about Nancy Atkins being sent to the penitentiary over at Fort Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when was this baby brought to your house with relation to that time—before or after she went to the penitentiary?

A. Well, the baby was left there in care of mother.

Q. Well, while she was in the penitentiary? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long before she went to the penitentiary, was it, that this baby was brought there?

A. I don't know, Judge; I really can't say just how long it was because——

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Dick, you have testified before in regard to this matter, haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You testified down in Sapulpa? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In a case entitled H. U. Bartlett, and others, against Nancy Atkins, didn't you

A. Yes, sir. I don't know—how was that?

Q. That was in a case——

> The Court: I don't suppose there is any question about what he testified in Sapulpa. He probably wouldn't know the style. The record may show that it was in a case which you have mentioned.
>
> Mr. Hanford. A State court case.

Q. Dick, I will ask you if the following questions were not asked you, to which you made answers as I will read. Reading from the cross examination on page 116, of the record in that case: "Q. About how old were you at the time of Thomas' death? A. I must have been—I can't tell exactly. Q. About? A. About 15, I suppose. Q. About 15 when he died, and you were 12 when he was born? A. I was older than that—I must have been about—I can't think it has been so long, the only way I can tell is my age and reckoning back." Is that your testimony? A. I guess it is.

Q. That is your testimony; and on page 123: "Q. Where did he die? A. Right there at home, at Wagoner. Q. Were you there? A. Yes, sir." Is that your testimony?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember when he died?

A. I don't know just what day of the week it was, or what day of the month.

Q. He died at your mother's house?

A. Yes, sir; but I can't remember the day of the week or month, either.

Q. You say that your mother moved to Wagoner?

A. Before she moved to Wagoner.

Q. Before she moved to the Verdigris? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Before she moved out to the Verdigris? A. Yes, si

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Dick, you never hear of Nancy having but one child in your life, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. Just one. Now, didn't you testify at Sapulpa as follows: "Did Nancy ever have any children to your knowledge? A. Yes, sir. Q. How many? A. One, to my knowledge." You testified that way over there, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. Where was she living when that child was born? A. In a tent." Didn't you say that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then didn't you make an affidavit before James H. Cobb, at Wewoka, on the 12th of April 1913, about this matter? A. Before Judge Cobb?

Q. Yes, about this trial? A. Not as I knows of.

Q. Before this Mr. Cobb's brother?

Q. Not as I knows of.

Q. You knew his brother, didn't you? A. I knew him.

Q. Didn't you make an affidavit there on the 12th of April, 1913? A. Not as I knows of.

Q. You talked to him, didn't you?

A. I talked to him but never made any affidavit that I knows of.

Q. I will ask ou if you didn't make this affidavit before him? A. Not that I knows of.

The Court: Wait until it is read to you.

Q. "State of Oklahoma, Seminole County, Richard Birney being duly sworn, on oath states that he resides in Seminole County, State of Oklahoma; that he knew Nancy Atkins, a full-blood Creek Indian, who was a sister of Minnie Atkins, a full-blood Creek Indian; that said Nancy Atkins resided in the town of Wagoner about the time between the years 1889 and 1900; that Nancy Atkins had a child named Thomas Atkins, who was born about the year 1890 in a tent in the town of Wagoner; that said child lived in and around Wagoner with different persons, other than its mother, and died about the year 1900." Did you sign an affidavit to that effect?

A. I wasn't there in 1913, I don't think.

Q. Do you say that you didn't sign an affidavit to that effect? A. I don't remember.

Q. Have you signed an affidavit to that effect anywhere?

A. I have not signed that I knows of, I don't remember.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. Dick where is your brother Henry?

A. He is dead.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Dick, you served five years, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Did Henry serve a term in the penitentiary?
A. Yes, sir; he did.
Q. What for? A. I don't know, sir.
Q. Was he with you?
A. No, sir, he wasn't with me at all.
Q. How long back?

Mr. Maxey: That shows it I think, Mr. German.

Mr. German: It shows it on its face?

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir.

Mr. German: That is all.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, NOLAN WILLIAMS, being called on behalf of the defendants, Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Nolan Williams.
Q. Where do you live, Nolan? A. I live at Wagoner.
Q. How long have you lived at Wagoner?
A. I have lived right in Wagoner, I expect as near about as I can remember, I guess about 24 years.

The Court: Now listen to me a little bit. It will be necessary for you to talk out loud so that everybody here will be able to hear you. The Court is not going to get after you for talking too loud.

Q. How old are you, Nolan?
A. Well, I am along in the fifties.
Q. Do you remember the year you went to Wagoner?
A. The year I moved to Wagoner?
Q. Yes.
A. Well, the year I moved to Wagoner was--you see when I first came to this country, three years—I stayed out of the country three years.
Q. Well, when did you first come to this country then?
A. About '89; you see, I stayed across the river about 25 miles.
Q. What were you doing here?
A. Handling cattle for Mr. Scott.
Q. Winfield Scott? A. Yes, sir.
Q. He was a cattle man at Fort Worth, Texas?
A. Yes, sir, he is ead now, yes sir.

Q. Well, where did you do your trading when you first came here?

A. Well, we done our trading at Wagoner; most of the trading at Wagoner.

Q. What store? A. Davis and Jones' store.

Q. Did you get acquainted with Nancy Atkins?

A. In the first year that I came here I did not.

Q. How soon after you got here?

A. Well, it was somewheres along in the '90's—I don't know just exactly—along in the '90's, though.

Q. Do you know whether Nancy had a child or not?

A. Well, I know that there was a child with her that she said was hers; I don't know whether she had any or not.

Mr. German: We move to exclude the answer that she said it was her's on the ground that it is a self serving declaration.

The Court: Well, I will not rule on that now; the record may show your motion.

Q. How old was the child when ou first saw it, Nolan?

A. Well, I don't know but it was a little fellow, seemed like—might not have been that high, me sitting up here, but it was small.

Q. A year or so old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you see it?

A. Well, I seen her going from the—down from Davis and Jomes' going to where a colored fellow had a restaurant—name of Birney; me and him were standing there, and she was coming from the store and I made the remark to her and spoke to her, and asked her if that was her child and she said yes, and I looked at it and didn't say any more, and I said well, what is its name and she called it Tommy; and I said it kind'a looks like a little girl, and she said it is a boy, so after she passed on by I asked old man Birney, and I said is that her child——

The Court: You needn't to state what you said.

A. Alright. She passed on toward the house.

Q. Did you see them any more after that?

A. Yes, sir, I seen them long after that, for a year or two. It would be quite a while you know before I would ever go to Wagoner; you see, we traded off and on for about three years at Wagoner, and then moved the trading point to Choska because it was nearer; the country got a little more settled up.

Q. Then, you saw it for about three years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of looking child was it, Nolan?

A. Well, I paid attention to her—it looked sort of like betwist an Indian and mulatto.

Q. What was the color of its hair, if you remember?

A. To the best of my recollection it was a little bit light; not so light but you know some people's hair is a little light, you know.

Q. How old was it the last time you saw it?

A. I can't tell you, Mr. Maxey, how old it was; a good big child, though. In the first place, I don't know how old it was at first.

Q. Now, you needn't answer this question until the Court rules on it. A. Alright, sir.

Q. Was it the general talk among the people of that community as to whose child it was? A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Now, don't answer this question until the Court rules on it.

Q. What was the reputation in the neighborhood there among the people as to whose child this was? Now, don't answer that yet.

The Court: Your objection, I suppose, is interposed as to this?

Mr. German: Yes, sir.

The Court: The record may show the objection; the objection sustained, and counsel may, if they desire, make proffer and your exception will be noted.

Mr. Maxey: We expect to prove by this witness that it was the general reputation in the neighborhood there among the people who lived at Wagoner at that time that this child—that he as described was the child of Nancy Atkins. Exception noted.

Q. You said that after you had traded at Wagoner for a while and saw this child around there that you changed to Choska? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And weren't about Wagoner much after that?

A. No, sir, just once in a while.

Q. When did you move to Wagoner to live?

A. Must have been about three years.

Q. Were you living in Wagoner in 1900?

A. Well, I was; I just stayed out there three years and then moved into Wagoner.

Q. Along in 1901 and '02?

A. No, I don't think I was in Wagoner in 1902, I don't think, without I just happened to go over there. I would go over there after we quit trading once in a while, you know.

Q. I don't remember whether I asked you or not when I talked to you but were you in Wagoner when it was reported this child died?

A. Well, I didn't hear nothing about it right then, no sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You knew a man name of Turner, didn't you?
A. Yes, sir, Steve Turner, he worked for me.
Q. The first time you ever saw Nancy, he was with you?
A. No, sir, I don't think he was.
Q. The first time you ever saw the boy, Steve was with you?

A. No, sir, I think probably we were talking about it since I come to remember. This talk was not when I first seen Nancy; it was afterwards. I was talking with him about her. He was more acquainted with her than I was because he stayed around town a good deal.
Q. You and Steve didn't see her together with the boy?
A. Steve?
Q. Didn't you and Steve see Nancy with that boy?
A. I am not so sure.
Q. Did you ever testify in this case before?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where? A. Sapulpa.
Q. I will ask you if this question was not asked you and if you didn't give this answer: "Q. Where did you see the child——

The Court: Just a moment. You listen to the question and answer and say whether or not you said that at Sapulpa.

Q. "Where did you see the child? A. Patsy Birney and she was together and I was up to Patsy's house and there wasn't but two colored places around there and there wasn't many colored people living around there then, and her and Patsy were together; and he remarked to Nancy that is not your child, and she [] yes, I can prove it by Patsy." That is old Patsy, isn't that a fact?
A. I might have testified to that—it has been so long.
Q. Well, it is true when you testified to that?
A. Well, we was talking—it might have been either Steve and I—we had so much talk; I might have said that and I might have not.
Q. Well, how come you to think Steve was with you at the last trial at Sapulpa?
A. Well, to tell you the reason why I thought he might be, he done the hauling of the grub.
Q. Steve said there is old crazy Nancy, didn't he?

A. That is what he always calls her.

Q. Crazy Nancy; and Nancy did say it is my child and I can prove it by Patsy, didn't she?

A. Well, Nancy told me it was her child?

Q. And said she could prove it by Betsy?

A. Either by Betsy or Richard, one. I got my mind from talk with old man Birney.

Recross Examintion by Mr. Allen.

Q. You say you got your information from old man Birney? A. Yes, sir, the most of the information that I got.

Q. So Nancy didn't say anything about it?

A. I asked him like this, is that her child and he said yes.

Q. You said you were talking there with Nancy and Betsy? A. Yes, sir, I seen them both.

Q. And then you asked old man Birney whose child that was and he said Nancy's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is how come you to know now that Nancy had a child? A. Yes, sir, that is the way I know.

Q. You testified at this case at Sapulpa, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Testified there that you didn't know whether you had ever seen this child but one time in your life?

A. Well, maybe I did. Seems like I seen it more but I wanted to be sure I knew what I was talking about.

Q. You couldn't be sure that you had seen the child but one time in your life?

A. Yes, sir, I think so because I wanted to be right.

Q. That is as much as you will swore to in Sapulpa?

A. Yes, sir; I wanted to be right.

Q. And you fixed his age anywhere from 15 to 2 years?

A. No, sir, not 15. I said he was small, about like this.

Q. You were not sure about his age?

A. No, sir. Somebody asked me could he have been 15 and I told them if he was he was mighty little.

Q. You say you don't know how old he was?

A. No, sir I don't know how old he was.

Q. You had asked old man Birney whether it was a boy or girl, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I said is that her child.

Q. You said he told you it was a boy, didn't you?

A. Nancy told me it was a boy.

Q. And old man Birney told you it was Nancy's child?

A. Nancy's child.

Q. That is how you happened to get this information that you give here and testify about?

A. Yes, sir, I seen the boy.

Q. You knew Chaney Trent and that whole family there?

A. Yes, sir, I knew Chaney Trent.

Q. Knew the whole family and everything?

A. I used to know them all but they have all got out of my memory.

Q. You say this same boy was playing with the Trent family, weren't they?

A. No, sir, I passed right by the Trent's when the river was down.

Q. Do you remember the children in that family?

A. I know several of them.

Q. You went by there every day or two, didn't you?

A. Well, they was little fellows, Frank and a little girl lives up at Choteau; they called her Mary—they was the biggest children; the others were little fellows. I know the old man pretty well.

Q. Was that not a family that you was intimately associated with? A. No, sir.

Q. You went by there every day or two?

A. No, sir, only when the river was down.

Q. Every time you went to Wagoner, didn't you pass there?

A. No, sir, when the river was up I went to Childers Ferry.

Q. Every time when you went to Wagoner except when the river was too high to ford it, you passed right by Chaney Trent's? A. I wouldn't stop there.

Q. You would see them there?

A. I would see somebody.

Q. They came over to your house occasionally?

A. They never have—the old man was there. You talking about Jim Trent?

Q. I am talking about Chaney Trent's house.

A. That is her husband, Jim Trent.

Q. You knew all the members of that family at that time?

A. No, I didn't. There was heap of them little folks and I never asked no names.

Q. You say them oftener than you saw Nancy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir; they came over to help round up or something like that.

Q. The first time you saw Nancy in your life was in Wagoner when some one told you that was crazy Nancy?

A. I seen her there; I never seen her anywhere but Wagoner.

Q. The second time you saw her in your life, was the time you say old man Birney told you this child with her was her child?

A. I said some time in '90; I don't recollect what time.

Q. The first time you ever saw Nancy?

A. It might have been; I didn't say for certain.

Q. That is the first time you will swear to now?

A. Yes, sir, but it has been a long time; a man can recollect a whole lot of things.

Q. That is the only time that you have any definite recollection of ever having seen the child with Nancy or seen Nancy around with any child, isn't it?

A. Well, I might have seen her but I can't judge for certain to be sure about it.

Q. But you won't be certain that you ever saw this child again?

A. No, sir, I would be certain I seen some child; I wouldn't say what child—some child with her.

Q. You wouldn't be certain about whether it was her child? A. No, sir, certainly not; not be positive to know.

Q. You don't know anything about it dying?

A. No, sir, I moved out from Wagoner.

Q. Who first mentioned this child?

A. I wouldn't be certain; I heard them talking.

Q. You and Jim White, are very friendly, aren't you?

A. Yes, sir, very friendly.

Q. He used to credit you when he was in the mercantile business? A. No, sir.

Q. You used to trade with him?

A. No, sir, he had a store at Coweta, I had no credit to be made because——

Q. You know you traded there?

A. I traded at Jones, all the time.

Q. You knew Charles Bailey intimately?

A. Yes, sir, I knew Charlie Bailey.

Q. Have you always been friendly with Charlie?

A. Yes, sir, certainly.

Q. Charlie Bailey came and talked with you about what you knew about this trial, didn't he? A. Charlie Bailey?

Q. Yes, sir. A. What I am talking about now?

Q. Yes?

A. No. Most of the talk, I heard people just talking.

Q. Who did you talk to and tell you had ever seen a boy with Nancy Atkins? A. Who did I tell?

Q. Yes, who did you first tell?

A. I disremember, it has been so long. Most of my talking was in our own camp.

Q. Did you talk with Mr. White? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you talk to Mr. Bailey? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else have you talked to?

A. Might have made some little remark, not for sure, only the lawyers asked me questions.

Q. The only definite recollection you now have is that sometime in the past you were coming out of Wagoner and you saw a child with Betsy and Nancy, and that Nancy told you it was her boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the old man Birney told you it was Nancy's boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Could have been Betsy Birney's and they have been joking with you? A. Could have been sure.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You lived twenty-five miles from Wagoner?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never came there except for supplies?
A. No, sir.

Q. And that wasn't often?
A. I didn't go there very often.

Q. Never went there except when you had to get supplies? A. That is all.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. When you were trading at Davis and Jones, whose account did you run there, yours?
A. No, Winfield Scott's account altogether.

Q. You was foreman on his ranch out there?
A. Yes, sir, I didn't need no account.

Q. Now, you told Mr. Allen on cross examination that Richard Birney is the one told you this was Nancy's child?
A. The old man that is dead.

Q. Did Nancy tell you it was her child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you asked Birney if it was and he said yes?
A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Maxey: That is all.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You thought Nancy was just joking so you asked old man Birney about it? A. Yes, sir, that is right.

Q. Nancy and Betsy Birney was just joking about the boy was the way you took it?
A. Well, I didn't know but just for curiosity I just asked the question.

Q. You didn't have any reason for prosecuting that inquiry?
A. The only reason I asked questions, you know people was very——

Q. I say you didn't have any particular reason?

A. No, sir, I didn't know whether they was joking; it didn't make no difference to me whose it was.

Mr. German: Now, Your Honor, we move to exclude the testimony of this witness with relation to tge conversation with Nancy Atkins or Dick Burney; that as to Nancy it constitutes a self-serving declaration, and as to Birney that is hearsay.

Mr. Maxey: As to Birney, Your Honor, they brought that out themselves, on cross examination. He didn't testify anything about that.

The Court: Well, yes, that was brought out by Judge Allen on cross examination. He was not permitted to make that statement on direct examination. As to what Nancy may have said from time to time, of course Nancy is going to be here to testify. But I am disposed to hear any testimony that there is with regard to what Nancy said away back there at that time when she was handling this boy with regard to her relationship to the boy, and weigh it ultimately with everything else that appears in the evidence, in determining what value if any it has. I may be extending the rule a little far, but I am disposed to do that.

Mr. German: I want to save an exception.

The Court: Your exception is noted. So far as what Nancy said at that time about it.

Mr. Hill: On that point, and the only proposition I make right now, I want to call Your Honor's attention to Fredericks vs. Conway, eleven Howard, 408.

The Court: We will not take any more time about it, I am going to hear the testimony and give you your exceptions. I will weigh that with everything else.

Mr. German: Just one little suggestion. As to the admissibility under the theory that Mr. Walker's evidence came in, and Judge Williams, then it wouldn't constitute substantive evidence in the case supporting her contention——

The Court: I will hear you in argument on its place in the case afterwards.

(Witness dismissed.)

Mr. German: Your Honor, Mr. White is not a party to the suit and I understand he is to be used as a witness for the Nancy Atkins——

Mr. Maxey: He is a party.

Mr. German: He is a party?

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir.

Mr. German: Then, I beg your pardon.

The Court: Mr. White is a party he is entitled to be present. If he is not, he should be placed under the rule. If there is some instrument in which he is involved sought to be set aside?

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir, he was one of the lessees from Nancy Atkins.

The Court: Is it sought to set aside that lease?

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir.

Mr. German: We are asking to set aside all of these instruments. He is not sued though.

The Court: Well, all right, I guess we will go on.

Mr. Maxey: He was one of the original parties to the suit at Sapulpa.

The Court: Of course, the parties in the case have a right to be in the room.

Mr. German: Yes, sir, I mean with reference to conversing with the witnesses.

The Court: Heretofore, Mr. White has sat here in the Court room. Now, this morning for some reason he is pretty active in passing in and out of the Court room. Mr. White may stay in the room but will cease to pass backward and forward.

Mr. Cruce: Mr. Long is not here this morning, he is sick in bed, but he has been in the Court room all during the case. Do you want him under the rule?

Mr. German: Yes, sir.

The Court: Well, he is not here. It is suggested he has been in the Court room. He is not here now.

Mr. Cruce: I will tell him. We thought perhaps he might be excused from the rule.

And thereupon, JOHN T. BEARD, was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant, Nancy Atkins, and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. John T. Beard.

Q. Where do you live? A. Wagoner.

Q. How old are you? A. Fifty-eight years old, past.

Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?

A. With the exception of part of 1915 and '16, I have been there thirty years.

Q. In what business were you engaged?

A. I am a hardware salesman, however, I am not right now.

Q. Who were you with?

A. With Dunlap and Taylor and Jones Mercantile Company, and Wagoner Mercantile Company, and then I was in business a while for myself.

Q. When did you first go to Wagoner?

A. August 4, 1887.

Q. What business were you in then?

A. I was railroading.

Q. What railroad were you working on?

A. Iron Mountain.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you get acquainted with her?

A. It was about—to the best of my recollection it was the latter part of '89 or '90, I don't just recollect, sometime right along there.

Q. Where did you first meet her?

A. Well, she was there on the street Wagoner was a small place, it only had about a hundred and fifty or seventy-five—— Well, when I first went there there wasn't anybody there. When she came there, there was forty-five or fifty people there.

Q. Did you notice her condition at that time as to whether she was pregnant or not?

A. Well, yes, it was just a little later on when I first saw her. Possibly the latter part of 1890 or 1891; she was on the streets there every day and everybody was talking about the way she looked and her condition.

Q. Do you remember when she was sent to the penitentiary? A. I don't remember just what time it was.

Q. You remember the fact? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, now, was it before that that you saw her in a pregnant condition?

A. It was before is my recollection.

Q. Do you know anything about her giving birth to a child?

A. Well, nothing only just town talk there, I didn't see her child.

Q. You observed she was in a pregnant condition? A. Oh, yes, sir.

Q. Then, did you see her after she had gotten over that condition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see her with the child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she carrying it?

A. Well, I have seen her carrying it, and then I have seen the child after it got large enough to walk by itself.

Q. How old did the child appear to be the first time you saw it?

A. Well, I don't know now, I suppose two or three months old, something like that.

Q. Where did you see it then? A. She had it up in town.

Q. Carrying it in her arms? A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about whose child it was? A. Yes.

Q. You may state what she said about whose child it was?

Mr. German: We object on the ground of being hearsay and self serving.

The Court: Overruled. Exception noted.

Q. Whose child did she say it was?

A. She said it was hers.

Q. Did you ever hear her call it any name?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What name did she call it?

A. She called it Tommy.

Q. Now, how often did you see that child around there, Mr. Beard?

A. Well, in 1897 and 1898 and 1899 I worked for Mr. Schrimscher, in the store Mr. Schrimsher used to extend Nancy credit during the week from a dollar and a half to two dollars, and she washed and she would pay up Saturday night. And she used to send this little boy in during the week.

The Court: When was that?

A. Ninety-seven or eight. 1897 or 1898.

Q. How large did he appear to be at that time?

A. Well, he looked like he was seven or eight years old, something like that, a good sized boy.

Q. Well, how long did this continue, this coming to the store there, during those two years?

A. Well, I would say a year, now, I don't recollect just how long; it is a long time back.

Q. Did you ever see him with Nancy?

A. Oh, yes, he would come there with her a heap of times.

Q. Did you continue to live there in the situation, after 1900? A. Continuously, yes, sir.

Q. When did you last see that child?

A. I don't recollect, sometime— I don't know if it was '98 or '9, sometime along there.

Q. Do you remember hearing a report that he was dead?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. About when was that?

Mr. German: We object to that on the ground that it was hearsay.

The Court: Well, I think that is stretching the rule. The report itself wouldn't be admissible and this set his testimony to a date. Objection sustained. That is, he relies on just general neighborhood reports.

Q. Now, do you remember when it was reported to you that the child was dead, whether there was a collection taken up to bury it?

A. Yes, sir. W. U. Hall, a man there in town. I don't recollect if I contributed or not, I most always did though.

Mr. German: We move to strike that out.

The Court: Here is a witness testifying that a certain man came along taking up a collection with relation to a death. That is a circumstance that probably is admissible. He may testify about that.

Mr. German: We except.

The Court: Exception noted.

Q. Who was W. U. Hall?

A. He was a citizen there of the town, and I believe mayor at the time, I am not sure.

Q. Is he living or dead?

A. He is dead, died a short time ago.

Q. Now, Mr. Beard, don't answer this question until the court rules on it. Was there a general reputation among the people who lived there with reference to who was the mother of this child?

Mr. German: We object on the ground that it is hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Massey: Exception.

Q. Now, you needn't answer this.

Mr. Massey: We offer to prove by this witness that there was a general reputation among the people who lived in Wagoner at that time as to who was the mother of this child that he has described, and that that reputation was that it was Nancy Atkins' child.

The Court: You have your profert. I have sustained the objection to that evidence. You have your exception.

Q. Did you state what the child's name was?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. What name was he known by?
A. Tommy, Tommy Atkins.
Q. Did you ever know Minnie Atkins? A. No, sir.
Q. Where was Nancy living at the time you saw her and this child around there?
A. She stayed with a darkey by the name of Bett Birney I think most of the time.
Q. Where did she live with reference to Davis and Jones store? A. She lived right back of it there.
Q. Where was she living at the time you first saw this boy?
A. She was, I think, staying with old Bett Birney.
Q. What kind of a looking boy was it?
A. Tommy Atkins?
Q. Yes?
A. He was a kind of bright, we would call him a kind of mulatto looking boy.
Q. What was the color of his hair?
A. It was rather light but later on as he got older his hair got a little darker.
Q. Do you remember at the time he died of seeing a funeral procession at the time this collection was taken up?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where did the funeral procession pass with reference to where you worked?
A. Right along in front of the store up Main Street.
Q. And what year do you think that was?
A. I think it was about 1901 or '2, sometime in the fall or spring of 1901 or '2.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Beard, you say that they buried this boy as a pauper? A. As a pauper?
Q. Yes. That they had to go around among the neighbors and friends to take up a collection to bury him?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Wasn't you a little surprised at that when you saw a funeral procession following the body of the boy that you had subscribed to help bury?
A. Oh, I don't know that I was.

Q. They had lots of funeral processions those days, didn't they? A. Had some, yes.

Q. And can you tell me now of any other funeral procession that you remember along about that time?

A. Well, none in particular that I recollect of, no.

Q. Well, they buried this boy in the yard back of Davis and Jones' store, didn't they?

A. No, sir, not that I know of.

Q. Whose child was that [] was buried there that was born dead? A. I don't know.

Q. Near the tent back of Betsy Birney's house?

A. I don't know, I didn't know there was anybody buried there.

Q. Didn't you hear of them burying him there?

A. No, sir.

Q. You clerked at one time at Davis and Jones' store, didn't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever work there?

A. No, sir, not for Davis and Jones.

Q. Is this the only Thomas Atkins you know anything about around Wagoner?

A. It is the only one, yes, sir.

Q. Did you know the Trent family, you know old man Chaney Trent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know her brothers and sisters? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew the family of Chaney?

A. I knew Jim Trent and his wife, yes.

Q. They trade around Wagoner, didn't they?

A. Yes, sir, they do yet.

Q. What did this Thomas Atkins that you saw there do?

A. Why, I never saw him do anything.

Q. Never saw him hauling wood around there?

A. No, sir.

Q. Mr. Beard, you say that he was some month or two old when you first——

A. Two or three months old, something like that.

Q. When you first knew he was Thomas Atkins, the son of Nancy? A. Well, I saw Nancy carrying him.

Q. You heard her say at that time that he was Thomas Atkins? A. She was in the store, yes.

Q. You testified in this case at Sapulpa?

A. I think so.

Q. As a witness for the Nancy Atkins' interest?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you if the following questions were not asked you at that time to which you returned the following answers: "A. I saw her with this boy. Q. What was its name? A. Tommy. Q. How old was he the first time you ever saw him? A. The first time I ever saw him to know it was Tommy Atkins, and the boy, he was about three or four years old. Q. How long was that after you had observed she was pregnant? A. Some four or five years I guess. Q. Did you see him often or not? A. Well, after he got to be a boy of about seven or eight years old he was in the every day buying something. I was well acquainted with him." Did you answer those questions in that way?

A. I think so. There is some connections there that I don't recollect of making, but there is nothing out of the way that I know of about them.

Q. Then he was three or four years old instead of— Then he was three or four years old instead of two or three months when you first knew him, is that right?

A. Well, my recollection is that he was about three or four months old when I first saw him with his mother.

Q. Why did you say at Sapulpa that the first time you saw him then to know that he was a boy was three or four years old instead of three or four months, wasn't your recollection as good then as now?

A. I think that is a mistake; I think I said three or four months.

Q. Well, you also said at Sapulpa, you just stated that this was four or five years after you saw her in a pregnant condition. Your recollection was as good then about these dates back there as it is now, wasn't it?

A. Oh, must have been, yes, sir.

The Court: How old was the child when you first knew his name?

A. I think three or four months old sir, when I saw the mother having him.

The Court: You say its name was Tommy Atkins?

A. She told me that that was the boy's name.

The Court: When she was carrying the child in her arms?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Beard, did you know any other children around there about that time that this boy associated with?

A. Yes, I think Betty Birney had a lot of children.

Q. Outside of these two, Betsy Birney boys who were sent to the penitentiary about that time, who was it he associated with? A. Well, I don't recollect.

Q. Dick Birney and Henry Birney were not his associates, they were in the penitentiary then, were they not? What about Joe Birney, did you know him?

A. No, sir, I don't believe I did by the name of Joe.

Q. You understand that Nancy was living over in the bottom, you say?

A. Well, they called it the bottom, but it is not the bottom, it is right there back of Davis and Jones' store.

Q. With the Betsy Birney people? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw her around there with a little boy called Joe Birney? A. Not that I know of, no, sir.

Q. If Betsy Birney ever had a child named Joe you never knew anything about it?

A. I don't think I did, no, sir.

Q. And isn't it a fact, Mr. Beard, that there was a Joe Birney instead of Tommy that you saw Nancy with?

A. Well, I have testified, told you what I know about it.

Q. You never had this matter brought to your attention from the nineties until 1914, did you, when you testified in Sapulpa?

A. Well, I have several things; one of those things that makes me remember the circumstance very distinctly about Nancy being in this pregnant condition.

Q. I know, but about the name of this child? A. No.

Q. You never thought about that again from the time you saw her in the nineties until 1914 when your recollection was refreshed?

A. Well, as I said now, when Nancy was going around on the street in this condition, the boys all accused Uncle John Newberry as being the father of this child.

Q. The man who testified here?

A. I don't know whether he testified or not, we had considerable fun about it. And as I said, there was only a few people living there and I was working for the Iron Mountain Railroad at the time and knew she lived across there. You could see everybody walking around through town, you could see her every time she was out of the house; and it was just west of the depot; and then later on the boys told old Johnny he had better go down and see his boy after the child was born.

Q. I am not calling for that testimony, Mr. Beard, I am directing your attention to the name of this boy. Mr. White first came to see you, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir, if you will just let me explain I will show you why I recollect his name was Tommy.

Q. Did Mr. White first come to see you about this case? Answer that yes or no. About your recollection of this boy?

A. Yes, he came to see me about it, yes.

Q. Didn't you tell him then that you couldn't remember much about it, and didn't he refresh your memory about the boy by telling you about the occurrence of its birth and its name?

A. I don't recollect that he did.

Q. Up until that time, you hadn't thought about the boy for years, had you?

A. Only through old Uncle John Newberry, deviling him as I told you.

Q. The first time you saw that boy to have heard his name was when he was three or four years old?

A. Two or three months old is my recollection.

Q. Then you were mistaken when you said at Sapulpa three or four years?

A. I think that is a mistake in the stenographer; that is what I think about it; I am not sure.

Q. Then it wasn't three or four years after you saw her in a pregnant condition that you first saw the boy to know what its name was?

A. I think it was about three or four months.

Q. But you never knew anything more about the boy, whether it was two or three months, or two or three years, you never saw anything more of the boy until he was six or seven years old and was coming to your store?

A. I seen him with her out on the street and following her.

Q. When did you ever see her with this boy following her up the street?

A. Well, most any time, she was on the street and she was on the street most every day.

Q. There were other women there who had boys around there? A. Why, sure.

Q. Can you tell me the name of another boy who was following his mother around?

A. You mean colored or white?

Q. She ran with the colored people didn't she?

A. Well, I didn't.

Q. Well, I will confine it to the colored race or Indians?

A. I don't know that I just could call to mind.

Q. You don't remember another one?

A. I don't think I do.

Q. You wouldn't have remembered this if you hadn't had your memory refreshed?

A. Well, I remember it from other circumstances.

Q. You have talked it over at great length with Mr. White, haven't you? A. Well, some, yes.

Q. And you and he have talked about the incidents leading up to the birth and death of Tommy, haven't you?

A. I think so, yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever discuss it with Charlie Barry?

A. No, sir, I don't think I did.

Q. But you and Mr. White have had frequent conversations about the birth and death of Tommy?

A. Well, not so many, I think we talked it over once or twice.

Q. You are sure that there was no other Thomas Atkins around Wagoner, are you?

A. Not that I knew of, no, sir.

Q. You never heard of but the one Tommy?

A. That is all.

Q. And that was the boy around Wagoner there?

A. That's all.

Q. Mr. Beard, did you know Charlie and Harvey Harrison? A. No, sir, I don't believe I did.

Q. Nancy ran with negroes there, didn't she?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had no more reason to follow the birth and death —life and death of this child than you had any other negro child around there, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. Your recollection of that matter now is just the recollection that anyone would have of any stranger there, isn't it?

A. Well, now, my own knowledge and with what I have talked to others about of course has refreshed my memory as you say.

Q. The others you have talked about it with has been Mr. White? A. Well, and some others, yes.

Q. You say you never knew Charlie and Harvey Harrison when they were little children with Nancy?

A. No, sir, I don't think I did.

Q. You don't know and can't say now whether this boy you saw running with Nancy was Charlie, Harvey, or Tommy?

A. Only what she said; she told me its name was Tommy is all I know.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You say you think that statement that you made up there that you never saw the boy to know him as Tommy until he was three or four years old is a mistake?

A. I think that must have been a mistake. I think I said three or four months.

Q. You made it twice. They asked you on direct examination how long it was and you said three or four months. Now, on cross examination they asked you this, didn't they: "You say you first saw the child when it was three or four years old? A. Something like that." You answered that same way on cross examination when three or four years was put directly to you, didn't you?

A. I might have done so; seems like I did, you have it there.

Q. Now, you saw Minnie Atkins and Nancy in 1890?

A. Minnie? I don't know that I ever saw her.

Q. You say you never knew her?

A. Minnie, no, sir, I don't know her.

Q. Now, let's see about that. Weren't you asked at the trial: "Did you ever know Minnie Atkins? A. Did I ever know Minnie Atkins? Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir. Q. Where did you know her? A. I have seen her at Wagoner. Q. When did you first see her in Wagoner? A. 1890, I think. Q. After the time you first saw Nancy? A. Sometime after Nancy was there. Q. Was Minnie living in Wagoner? A. I don't know, she was with Nancy."

A. I don't recollect that I ever seen Minnie Atkins.

Q. What did you swear to that for?

A. I don't recollect that I made it at all. I don't recollect that I ever seen Minnie Atkins at all.

Q. You were asked that question, weren't you?

A. That might have been, seems like you have it there, but I don't recollect of ever answering that question.

Q. If the question was asked you, why did you say you saw Minnie and why did you say you saw this?

A. Well, I am telling you that I don't recollect that the question was ever put that way.

Q. Were not these questions and answers given: "Did you ever see Minnie after that? A. I don't believe I ever did. Q. You saw Minnie before that? A. Yes, sir. Q. You ceased to see Minnie as soon as you saw this boy? A. Well, I don't know that I did. Q. You won't say you never saw this boy with Minnie, will you? A. I don't know that I ever did." Didn't you testify to all of that up there? Why is it your memory has failed you at this hearing?

A. Well, I am honest about it, I don't know.

Mr. Stuart: All right. You don't know why it failed you.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Beard, Davis and Jones had charge of the funeral of the boy that you heard was dead, didn't they?

A. Not that I know of, I don't think they did.

Q. Did you testify at Sapulpa, did you make the following answers to the following questions: "Q. Did you know that boy from the time you first saw him up to the time of his death"— No, this question: "Do you know which undertaker had charge of the funeral? A. I think Davis and Jones had charge of it." Did you answer that question that way at Sapulpa?

A. I don't recollect that I did. I might have done that. At that time; Davis and Jones were undertakers, after that, but at that time I don't think they were in the undertaking business.

Q. The time that this child was buried, which you say I believe was 1900— What time did you say it died?

A. The fall of 1901 or spring of 1902.

Q. Along somewhere during the years 1901 and '2?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Davis and Jones were in the undertaking business then?

A. Yes, at that time. That is true.

Q. Now, refreshing your recollection, don't you remember that they were the undertakers who had charge of the burial of this boy? A. They might have done so.

Q. What you mean by having charge of the burial was that they furnished the coffin that was bought by this public subscription? A. That would be all.

Q. There were lots of people buried in Wagoner in those days by taking up subscriptions for them to buy a coffin, wasn't there? A. Yes, sir, I expect there was.

Q. Now, if Mr. Dillon was taking up that subscription to bury this Thomas Atkins, it must have been some other person that was being buried as a pauper that you subscribed for?

A. Dillon?

Q. Yes. The boy or girl or whoever it was that you were giving money to help bury, that money that was taken up by Mr. Hall? A. W. U. Hall, yes, sir.

Q. Again testifying at Sapulpa, did you or not give the following answers to the following questions: "Q. Did you know that boy from the time you first saw him up until his death? A. Well, no I didn't. I couldn't answer that question. There was some space of time I wasn't familiar with him when he was small. Q. Nancy lived there during that period? A. Yes, sir. Q. You saw her frequently? A. Yes, sir. Q. You wasn't absent from that time during the space of a month or a year? A. I wouldn't say that." Did you answer those questions?

A. That I wasn't absent a month or a year? I will say I might have been absent a month but I wasn't a year.

Q. Did you make those answers to those questions?

A. Yes, sir, I expect I did.

Q. "Did you know that boy from the time you first saw him up until the time of his death? A. Well, no, I didn't. I couldn't answer that question. There was some space then I wasn't familiar with him."

A. Well, Judge Allen, I didn't keep along with him every day of his life.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Where was this boy buried?
A. Out in Wagoner graveyard, Elmwood Cemetery.
Q. The procession took him out there and buried him?
A. Yes, sir.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, court took a recess until two o'clock P. M.

And thereupon, court met pursuant to adjournment and the following proceedings were had.

And thereupon, M. I. SULLIVAN was produced, sworn, and examined as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant, Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. What is your name? A. M. I. Sullivan.
Q. What is your age?
A. I am fifty-three years old now.
Q. Where do you live? A. Wagoner.
Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?
A. Ever since 1892.
Q. 1892?
A. It was absent five years. I moved to Wagoner in December, located there in January '92 and stayed there until December, '95, when I was away for five years and come back there, have been there ever since.
Q. Came back in 1890? A. 1900, in December, 1900.
Q. Are you acquainted with Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where did you first get acquainted with her?
A. Why, the first year that I was there in 1902, sometime during the year.
Q. Where was she living when you went there?
A. She was living on the west side of town somewhere, I never did know exactly.
Q. Do you know whether she had a child?
A. Well, she had a child.

Mr. German: Just a minute. Answer that yes or no.

The Court: Do you know whether she had a child, yes or no.

A. I know what she said. Said it was hers.

Mr. German: I object and move to exclude that answer on the ground that it is hearsay. And I would like to add in this connection another reason, for the reason that it is a self-serving statement; and for the further reason that as constituting a declaration of a member of the family, it would be improper because the declarent is alive.

The Court: Yes, that is true. That is the rule with regard to that. Your objection will be noted, overruled and exception.

Mr. German: While I am on the floor, Your Honor, I would like to move to exclude the testimony of the witness Beard relating to statements made by Nancy Atkins on the same ground and for the same reasons.

The Court: The record may show your objections; overruled and exceptions.

Mr. German: In order to save raising these objections every time, may it be understood we object to the statement of any kind purporting to give the statements of Nancy.

The Court: Yes. Any witness on behalf of Nancy Atkins who is interrogated about anything that Nancy may have said as to this child by herself, and subsequent question will be considered as objected to by counsel for the Government and counsel for the Page and Minnie Folk and other like interests, and overruled and exceptions noted.

Mr. German: Yes, sir. I notice a witness for the Page interest in the court room.

Thereupon, the witness was cautioned and placed under the rule.

Q. How old was the child the first time you saw it?
A. Oh, he was small, I guess two or three years old.
Q. Large enough to be walking around?
A. Walking, toddling.
Q. Where was it the first time you saw it?
A. It was in my place of business.
Q. Who was with it? A. Nancy.
Q. How come she to tell you it was her child?
A. I was talking to her about it, asked her if that was her kid and she said yes.
Q. Was she frequently about your place of business?
A. Yes, most every week, sometimes two or three times.
Q. What business were you in?
A. I was in the retail mercantile business.

Q. How often did you see the child with her?

A. Oh, I couldn't say how many times; I was there for two or three years and saw the child probably every week.

Q. What kind of a looking child was it?

A. I don't remember Judge, it has been so long back.

Mr. Cobb: If the court please, we can't hear.

The Court: Speak up a little louder.

A. I said I didn't remember how it looked.

Q. Do you remember the name of the child?

A. No, I don't remember the name of it.

Q. You say you were away until 1890? A. 1900.

Q. Did you see it after you came back?

A. I don't remember of seeing it after I came back.

Q. Do you remember of it being reported that the child was dead?

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay?

The Court: Objection sustained.

A. I don't remember of hearing it, no, sir.

Q. When was the last time you saw it?

A. Well, I can't call to memory the last time I saw the child.

Q. Did you see it after you came back?

A. No, sir, not that I remember of.

Q. Don't recall? A. Don't recall.

Q. But you were acquainted with it from 1890 to 1895?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you saw it frequently, you say, during that period? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was this child with her every time that she came to the store?

A. Well, I don't know that it was with her every time that she would come; that is the only time I would see the child was when she had it with her.

Q. Well, was that frequently?

A. She would come lots of times by herself. I was right on the Main street where the biggest passing by in the town was.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about it more than once?

A. I expect I have, I don't remember now. Talked with her a number of times.

Q. You just recall that you asked her whose child it was?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she told you? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Where was your store, Mr. Sullivan, in town?

A. Right on the Main Street, if you remember where Kellan's bake shop is, it was right on that spot.

Q. On which side?

A. On the west side of Main Street on the east side of the M., K. & T. Railroad.

Q. You went there in 1892? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At that time about how large a place was Wagoner?

A. It was a small place.

Q. Approximately what population?

A. Oh, not over two or three hundred.

Q. Two or three hundred? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The town increased in population from year to year, didn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did it have any sort of sudden increase in population as time went on? A. Never did.

Q. What population is it now?

A. I suppose between four and five thousand.

Q. Been gradually increasing since you first went there until it reached its present population? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you went there where was Jones' store?

A. Davis and Jones' store was on the west side of the railroad.

Q. Now, the main business part of town when you went there was on the west side?

A. There was just that one store over there.

Q. That is the only store that has ever been on the west side? A. No, there was Dunlap and Taylor.

Q. At this time the main business part of town is on the east side? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And there isn't any business part on the west side?

A. Not to amount to anything.

Q. Did you know where the Birney negroes lived when you first went there?

A. I don't remember exactly where they lived, no, sir.

Q. Well, you know about where? A. Yes, sir.

Q. On the west side of the track? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you knew about Elnora Williams living over there?

A. I don't remember whether I remember her name or not.

Q. You knew about Mandy Barnett living over there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then there was some other colored families living over there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did—— And there were several colored families in town? A. Yes, sir, a number of them.

Q. A number of them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And were there some Indian families living in town?

A. Not but very few Indians if any.

Q. What class of people did Nancy associate with, colored or white? A. Colored people mostly.

Q. She was pretty much of a character around town, wasn't she, drank a good deal?

A. That is what they say, I don't know, I never see her drinking any.

Q. What other children did she come to the store with?

A. I didn't question her about any others.

Q. Well, I am asking you about——

A. Not any that I ever saw.

Q. Well, did you see her around the streets with some children?

A. Yes, I have seen her in the street with her little fellow following along, noticed her that way.

Q. Do you remember about what period of years was covered by her association with this child?

A. Not only from 1902 to 1905.

Q. 1892? A. 1892 to 1895.

Q. That was the period you noticed her?

A. Yes, sir, three or four years.

Q. And yet Nancy stayed around town after that?

A. I don't remember, I was away five years.

Q. What five years were you away?

A. I left there in December, 1895, and was away until December, 1900. Five years, and then went back and have been there ever since.

Q. What was the color of this boy's hair?

A. I don't remember, it has been so long.

Q. What was the color of his complexion?

A. I don't remember that, just remember a toddling kid.

Q. Do you remember the Birney children?

A. I suppose I do.

Q. How many of them were there? A. I don't know.

Q. Did you see them around on the streets?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who would come there with them?

A. They would come there by themselves sometimes, and sometimes some of the family.

Q. Who would they come with in the family?

A. Well, I don't remember that.

Q. Don't you remember that they would come there with Nancy?

A. No, I don't remember whether they ever came with Nancy or not.

Q. What other child would come around your store that you recall?

A. Well, I can recall a number of them around there.

Q. Name one.

A. Well, there is Henry Kidds' children—had a gang; I knew them well.

Q. They colored folks? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did they live?

A. The west side of the track.

Q. How many children did they have?

A. They had a gang of them; I don't remember how many.

Q. Who would come in the store with them?

A. Well, they would come there by themselves once in a while, and with somebody, once in a while.

Q. Tell us some of their names.

A. Well, Henry's children—I can't specify the names of them.

Q. Can't tell the names?

A. No, sir, there were so many of them. I was in public business and seen them come and——

Q. That is true of Nancy's children that might have come there with them?

A. Yes, she might have come with lots of children.

Q. Might have come with lots of children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Lots of different children? A. Yes.

Q. Now, she said to you that this was her child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Just use her language, now, to the Court and the language that you used.

A. Well, Nancy was a peculiar woman, you know. She was so nearsighted and pigeon-toed and a little scrawny thing—would make anybody remember her and she was a byword in the town with the boys.

Q. What do you mean by byword?

A. They had a little song that they used to sing about where is my Nancy—a little song that was all over town; she was a peculiar woman that would make anybody remember her, and I have seen her come in the store with the kid walking along, and seen her pick the kid up on her hip, and I would ask her whose kid it was and she said mine.

Q. You regard it as a joke, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I thought she was telling the truth about it. I know it was reported that she had a kid there.

Q. Well, now, I didn't ask you about any report.

A. Well, I know, but that is the reason I took her word as to what she said.

Q. You based it on a report, didn't you?

A. Just what Nancy said to me is all.

Q. Just what she said to you. Now, Nancy was—Nancy would say nearly anything, wouldn't she? She would gossip and gape around?

A. Like all the balance of the women folks over there.

Q. They would say nearly anything?

A. I don't know about that because I didn't run run with that class very much and I didn't know much about them only when I came in contact with them only in my place of business.

Q. You knew Nancy's reputation around there wasn't good for truth and veracity at that time, was it, at that time?

Mr. Maxey: We object to that.

The Court: Answer; we will see.

A. Well, I never heard of Nancy or anything only—except, simply kind of old street girl.

Q. She wasn't married?

A. I don't know whether she was married or not.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. You say you came there in January, 1892? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see Nancy continuously up until you left in '95?

A. Why, she was just like any of the rest of those folks there that I would see probably every day or once a week, or two or three times a week.

Q. Continuously?

A. I don't know whether it was continuously or not.

Q. Did you ever see this boy with anybody else?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. Never saw him with anybody else around there?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. He was always associated with Nancy?

A. The only times that I seen him Nancy was carrying him along.

Q. Your recollection is that Nancy was there all the time you were there from '92 to '95?

A. No, I don't remember whether she was there continuously or not; she might have been absent.

Q. You remember when Nancy went to the penitentiary?

A. No, I don't remember that.

Q. Don't you know that Nancy was arrested in connection with some trouble over the mails, the United States mails, in March, 1902?

A. I don't remember now; probably might have at the time it happened but I don't remember now.

Q. You don't remember that at all? A. No, sir.

Q. So she might have been away some time without your knowing it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You don't recall that? A. No, sir.

Q. But you do recall that you never saw that boy with anybody else except Nancy? A. Not that I remember.

Q. Did you ever hear of Nancy being arrested for introducing liquor? A. No, not that I remember.

Q. You never heard of her going to the penitentiary at Detroit? A. No, I don't remember.

Q. For selling liquor? A. I don't remember if she did.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You know J. B.—Jim White, don't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you known him?

A. Well, I think I got acquainted with Jim a year or six months—or a year, after I went there.

Q. You and him are related in any way?

A. No, sir, no relation.

Q. You have been very intimate friends, since then, haven't you?

A. Not in particular; not any more than any good citizen.

Q. Who first spoke to you about this Nancy matter in recent years?

A. Well, Jim is the one who came and asked me about it, and I told him about what I told you—told the Court.

Q. Now, when was that?

A. Well, when this case first started, I suppose.

Q. About three years ago?

A. About three years ago, I suppose; two or three years ago.

Q. It has been talked a good deal up in Wagoner since then? A. Not so powerfully much.

Q. Well, it has been talked some?

A. Yes, been talked some.

Q. And had not been talked before that at all?

A. No, sir, I didn't know anything about it until Jim named it to me.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, A. GRANT WASSON, being called as a witness on behalf of Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. What is your age, Mr. Wasson? A. 53.

Q. Where do you live?

A. Five miles east of Wagoner.

Q. Did you ever live in the town of Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you lived in that neighborhood?

A. 29 years.

Q. Where were you living in 1889 and '90, and along there? A. Right by Wagoner.

Q. In the town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with her?

A. In '89.

Q. Do you remember ever seeing her in a pregnant condition? A. No, sir, I don't remember that I ever did.

Q. Do you remember whether or not she had a child?

A. I remember that she had a child, yes, sir, that she claimed was hers.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was its name? A. Tommy.

Q. How old was it the first time that you saw it?

A. Well, I don't remember; it was about 2 years old, I think.

Q. Where was it?

A. It was—close to where Davis & Jones Mercantile Company used to be in Wagoner.

Q. Was it with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how come her to tell you about it being her child?

A. Well, this little child was with some little niggers and one of these niggers was the worst one I ever seen, and I had a brother-in-law up here on a visit from Arkansas and he was always saying something to everybody he met, and I says to him, I said, say something to that girl and——

Q. Don't repeat what he said—I know what it is.

A. Well, I won't, and she got out some pretty bad language, and I said, Nancy is them your children, and she said none of them only Tommy, this little boy.

Q. Did she point him out? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how often did you see that child around there afterwards? A. Oh, I seen him—I don't remember. Often.

Q. For how long?

A. Well, for—about '85 or '86; somewhere along there.

Q. You mean '95 or '96? A. Yes, '95.

Q. Then, did you move out of town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see him after that?

A. I don't remember ever seeing it after that, no, sir.

Q. About what age was he, about the last time you saw him? A. Oh, he was four or five years old.

Q. A good big boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What mind of a looking child was he?

A. Well, he was—looked like he was mixed between an Indian, nigger and white; he had kind of white looking hair. We always called him a white-headed nigger.

Q. You say you saw it often from the first time you saw it until you moved out? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In 1895? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you don't remember seeing it after that?

A. No, sir.

Q. Do you remember hearing whether it was dead or alive? A. No, sir.

Mr. Stuart: We object to that, Your Honor.

The Court: Well, he says he doesn't remember, anyhow.

Q. You remember about them taking up a contribution?

A. No, sir, I don't remember anything about that.

Q. You don't remember that? A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Mr. Wasson, what time of the year of '89 was it that you met her?

A. Well, I don't know. It was off and on all the time there.

Q. How do you know it was in '89?

A. Well, I came there in '88 from Oregon—Baker City, Oregon, in '88.

Q. Where did you meet her?

A. Well, I met her off and on down there. Our blacksmith shop was right close to where her tent was, but the old Brown hotel.

Q. Where did you meet her the first time?

A. Well, I can't tell.

Q. What conversation did you have with her?

A. I never did have no conversation with her; only this one time is the only time I remember speaking to her.

Q. She never said anything to you at any other time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you talk with any other people at that time?

A. At that time, no.

Q. Never at any time did you have any conversation with any person up there? A. Oh, I have along, yes.

Q. Tell us one, and what the conversation was.

A. I don't remember; we used to joke each other there about the child, and about whose child it was.

A. Well, did you talk with anybody about that time with reference to anything else? A. No, sir.

Q. And other business matters or personal matters?

A. No, sir.

Q. You never visited with anybody?

A. Well, I didn't at that time I am talking about, no.

Q. During that time did you have any visit with any other person? A. Well, no visit, no sir.

Q. Did you talk with any other person?

A. Well, I suppose I did.

Q. Well, now, tell us one person that you talked with and what that conversation was.

A. Well, I don't remember about that; I wouldn't have remembered that only but for this little girl.

Q. What little girl? A. This little nigger.

Q. What was her name? A. Betsey Birney.

Q. What other child was there? A. A little negro boy.

Q. What was his name?

A. He was one of the Birney children; I don't remember his name.

Q. How long was it after '89 that you had this conversation that you say you had?

A. It was in '92 or '93, I don't remember exactly.

Q. What time in the year? A. It was July.

Q. Either July of '92 or '93? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are sure about that, are you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Nancy was then in Wagoner?

A. I think it was '92 or '93; I think, though, it was '92, I don't remember exactly.

Q. What else happened in the year 1892 that you now remember? A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Anything at all?

A. '93 was the year that I moved north of Wagoner.

Q. Well, how long was it before you moved?

A. Well, let's see; I moved in—it was August or September that I moved out there on the prairie—I had taken a lease.

Q. Mr. Wesson, how long was it before you moved that you say you had this conversation?

A. Why, it wasn't but a month or two.

Q. Now, along about that time, can you tell us anything else that happened? A. No, sir.

Q. Either connected with yourself in which you were personally interested or a matter of public interest? Did anything happen that you now remember?

A. No, I don't recall anything that happened at that time.

Q. Do you recall anything that happened during the year of 1893 or was—that is the year 1893, I believe you said a while ago? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, can you tell the Court anything that happened in the year 1894? A. No, particular thing, no.

Q. Mr. Wasson weren't there a number of women who had children there in Wagoner, were there not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About the age of this child?

A. Well, I don't know; there wasn't any great many women there then.

Q. No great many women? A. No, sir.

Q. Such women as were there, you saw them, would you, occasionally? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Knew them well? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Tell us the name of a woman who had a child two or three years old? A. I don't know of nary one.

Q. Who did you talk to about this case?

A. Well, Mr. White. Mr. White asked me if I knew anything about this trial; remembered anything about it.

Q. When did he talk to you?

A. Well, I don't know; it has been I suppose a year or two ago. I don't remember; it may have been a couple of years ago.

Q. Did he tell you when Nancy was supposed to have had a child? A. No, sir.

Q. What did he tell you?

A. He didn't tell me nothing only did I remember Tommy Atkins.

Q. Had the matter been brought to your attention?

A. No, sir, never.

Q. Between the time——

A. Never had heard of such a thing.

Q. You had no occasion to recall it? A. No, sir.

Q. Between the time it happened and the time Mr. White spoke to you? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, can you tell the Court anything that happened in 1895? A. '95?

Q. Yes.

A. Yes, sir, that was the year of the strip payment.

Q. That was the year of the payment? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Wasson, you said that this child looked as if it were a part Indian, a part negro, and a part white?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Light-headed? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Its hair was light?

A. Yes, sir, we always called it a white headed nigger.

Q. What color eyes did the child have?

A. Well, I don't remember.

Q. How was it dressed?

A. Well, it had on a—you wouldn't say it was dressed; it had on some rags.

Q. And where was it you saw it?
A. It was close to the Davis and Jones' Mercantile store.
Q. In a house or in a tent?
A. No, it was out on the sidewalk, walking along.
Q. Who was with this child? A. Nancy.
Q. You never saw her in a pregnant condition?
A. No, sir.

Q. You saw her frequently from 1889 right along up to the time that you saw this child, did you?
A. Well, yes, sir, off and on.
Q. You noticing her when you saw her?
A. Well, not much, no.

Q. Would you notice her differently than you would other women? A. Why, I did in a way she walked, yes, sir.

Q. Was there anything to attract your attention about her more than would attract your attention about other women who lived there?
A. Nothing, only just the way she walked.
Q. Had a peculiar walk? A. Yes, sir.
Q. What was that peculiarity?
A. She was kind of pigeon-toed.
Q. And you would observe that, would you?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. You couldn't tell any other woman that had a child at that time? A. No, sir, I don't remember that.
Q. Was this a boy or girl? A. Sir?
Q. Was this a boy or girl?
A. Well, she said it was a boy; I don't know, now, whether it was a boy or girl.
Q. All you know about it at all is what she said?
A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hamford.

Q. How long did your brother stay with you?
A. Brother-in-law?
Q. Yes. A. Why, he didn't stay but a little while.
Q. He was just in town that once? A. He was, yes, sir.
Q. That time you spoke to Nancy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You don't remember how long he stayed there after that? A. No, I don't. He didn't stay long, though.
Q. He left you there in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Was that the year that you moved out on the lease?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. It was the year before, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You moved out on the lease in '93? A. Yes.
Q. So that would put it '92, wouldn't it?
A. I think so, I think it was '92.

Q. And you recollect that he was there in the month of July? A. I know it was July.

Q. July? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you met Nancy out on the sidewalk?

A. Yes, sir, we were in a wagon; we never did get out of the wagon there.

Q. You didn't? A. No, sir.

Q. But she was on the sidewalk? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And how far up town was it?

A. Well, about all the town there was there at that time.

Q. Well, exactly about where did you see her on the sidewalk?

A. Well, she—I guess it was about 40 or 50 feet from the Jones, Davis Mercantile store—Davis & Jones store, southeast.

Q. Nancy came along the sidewalk with this child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have it by the hand?

A. No, sir, just walking along in front of her and these other two little niggers were right in front of them.

Q. And you are sure it was the year your brother-in-law was visiting you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And your brother-in-law visited you in July?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. The year before you moved out on the lease?

A. Yes, sir, '92 or '93; I moved on the lease in '93.

Q. And you do know that your brother was there the year before you moved?

A. Yes, sir, I think that is the way it was, yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. How large was the child?

A. Oh, he was about that high.

Q. Well, how high is that?

The Court: How many years old was he?

A. Oh, I suppose about 2 or 3 years old; about 3 years old is what I thought.

Q. You got acquainted with Minnie in '89? A. Minnie?

Q. Nancy. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else did you get acquainted with in that year?

A. Oh, I don't know.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Where is your brother-in-law now? A. He is dead.

Q. He is dead? A. Died of consumption, yes, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon ANDREW JACKSON, being called on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Andrew Jackson.
Q. How old are you, Andrew? A. 51 years old.
Q. Where do you live?
A. I live 5 miles southeast of Wagoner.
Q. How long have you lived in that neighborhood?
A. 47 years this spring.
Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.
Q. What years did you live there?
A. Well, I lived in Wagoner three different times.
Q. What is it?
A. I have lived in Wagoner three different times.
Q. Were you living there in 1888 and '89, and '90, along there? A. No, sir.
Q. What year did you go there?
A. It seems to me that it was in '92.
Q. 1892?
A. Oh, no, I will take that back; no, it was fall—well, it was the dry year, 1902.

The Court: Do you mean 1901 or '02 or——

A. No, sir, it was 1902.
Q. Was it the dry year? A. That was the dry year.
Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How long had you known her at that time?
A. At that time?
Q. Yes.
A. Well, I guess it must have been some 8 or 10 years; along there.
Q. Where did you know her?
A. Well, the first I ever saw her was in Wagoner.
Q. About when did you first get acquainted with her?
A. Well, I never was to say rith really acquainted with her; I just passed her and repassed her.
Q. Well, to see her to know her, is what I mean.
A. Well, the best I remember it must have been 1892 or '93.
Q. Do you know whether or not she had a child?
A. Yes, she had a child?
Q. What kind of child was it?
A. It was a boy child; light headed and kind of yellow looking hair.

Q. How old was he at the time that you first saw him?

A. Well, the first time I ever saw it to know it, I judge it must have been three or four years old; three years old anyway; wearing dresses.

Q. Where did you see it?

A. Well, that day and time, that country was fenced in, pasture, you might say a cattleman's country, and they lived a little ways north of Davis and Jones—that is where we done most of our trading—Davis owned a store on the west side of the track, and I started out of town, galloped around the road that came in from the country—the blacksmith shop was on the corner and it seems to me as if she lived in a little tent, or over the tent or a little box house; and this little kid was out in the road and I like to run over the kid, and I stopped my horse right quick and I said, Nancy, is this your kid, and she said, yes; and I said, well, you had better keep him out of the road—he will get run over.

Q. Well, now, did you see him after that?

A. Well, I don't know, Mr. Maxey, I am satisfied I saw it but just that once occasion drawed my attention to it for I liked to have run over the child.

Q. About how often did you see it after that?

A. Well, I can't say; I done my trading at Davis' and Jones' over there.

Q. Did you ever see it about the store?

A. Well, I think I have; I wouldn't be positive.

Q. About how long did you see it around there?

A. Well, I wouldn't say because I lived in the country at that time and I would go to town once a week or probably a little oftener.

Q. Did you hear the people talk about this child?

A. Well, now, I don't suppose so.

Q. You wasn't in town enough? A. No, sir.

Q. How large was the child the last time you saw it?

A. Well, I can't remember only that one occasion in particular.

The Court: You are not right sure that you ever saw it again after that occasion, are you?

A. Well, now, I am not, judge.

Q. Do you remember them taking up a contribution one time to bury somebody? A. Yes, I do.

Q. Who was the person they were taking up the contribution for? A. Supposed to be that——

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Oh, yes, that is a little bit too hazy.

It is in evidence that they had the practice of taking up contributions.

Mr. Maxey: Well, unless he knew it was for that particular person.

By the Court.

Q. When was it?

A. When was it when the child was——

Q. When was this contribution you are talking about? You have something in mind about a contribution, what year was that?

A. Well, sir, I rather believe that was in 1902 or '03, the years that I was in town.

The Court: Well, he can relate the circumstance.

Mr. German: We except.

Mr. Maxey.

Q. State what you remember about it.

A. Well, all I remember, they just passed around there taking up a collection.

Q. You know who it was taking up the collection?

A. No, I can't say positively.

Q. To refresh your recollection, was it Mr. Hall, the mayor at that time?

A. Well, it has been so long, I heard it was Mr. Long since, but that has been twenty-four or some odd years ago.

Q. You don't remember positively who it was?

A. No, I don't.

Q. Your father was the first mayor of Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Mr. Hall followed him, didn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You say you heard about this collection business, when was it you heard about Mr. Hall in connection with that collection business?

A. Well, I have heard that mentioned since this case got into court.

Q. You have heard a good deal of talk about this?

A. Not this time.

Q. Within the last year or two or three? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Last two or three years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The last two or three years, there has been a lot of talk around Wagoner about Nancy and the boy, hasn't there?

A. No, sir, not any more than——

Q. You are a brother-in-law of Jim Long's, aren't you?

A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Kin to him? A. No, sir.

Q. Where do you live, right now?

A. I live five miles southeast of Wagoner.

Q. Now, did you have any near accident about 1892 or '93 with any other child? A. Who, me?

Q. Yes, you. A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't like to run over any other child?

A. No, sir.

Q. That was the only child that you nearly ran over?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know the Birneys? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They lived there in the west part of Wagoner?

A. Knowed of them.

Q. They had some children?

A. They was darkies, yes, sir, I suppose they had.

Q. Now, you knew of a white child that run around with Nancy some, too, didn't you? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Did you know about her taking care of a white child there? A. No, sir.

Q. For a while? A. No, sir.

Q. What time in the year was it, that you ran into this child, or nearly ran over this child?

A. This was in the spring.

Q. What year?

A. Well, sir, as near as I remember, in 1892 or '93.

Q. In the spring? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how close did you come to running over that child?

A. Well, sir, I just come close enough—I just choked my horse up. There was building on this side and one on this side and I came around the street—wasn't no street but a broad place in the road, I came up about 60 or 70 yards and was going west.

Q. Around in front of the store?

A. I went from the front of the store and then went west. The blacksmith shop was on the corner.

Q. Then, this was back of the store?

A. No, it was a little north and west of the store.

Q. What way did the store face? A. Faced the east.

Q. Little northwest of the store. Where was it with reference to the Birney house? A. To the Birney house?

Q. Yes? A. Well, now I don't know.

Q. Was there very many tents there at the time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Just this one tent?

A. No, I wouldn't say that. There used to be several tents when the railroad was building, in front of the store, used to be there when the railroad was building.

Q. When they finished that railroad, didn't they take away all of those tents? A. I think so, yes, sir.

Q. Then the time you saw this child that you are talking about and nearly ran over it, was when they had the tent there wasn't it?

A. I wouldn't be positive, that is a long time back for a man to remember correctly.

Q. Yes, sir. Let's get at it as near as you can remember. Wasn't it about the time they had the tent there building the railroad? A. I rather think so.

Q. Did you go to Wagoner very frequently? A. No, sir.

Q. How often? A. Once or twice a week.

Q. And you remember very well about the time that the railroad came into Wagoner, the Iron Mountain?

A. I remember very well, but what dates, I haven't got them in my head.

Q. But you remember the occasion? A. Oh, yes.

Q. And then about the railroad being built on north to what is now Claremore and on up towards Nowata?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, at the time they built the road, the tents were there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And after they built the road they didn't have the tents any more. The child was old enough to be wearing dresses and be out by itself? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Nancy was living in a tent?

A. There was a kind of little fence as well as I remember right in front of her.

Q. She was inside near the tents? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I believe the tents was where she was living at the time?

A. I suppose so, I don't know whether she was living in it.

Q. And when she came out you asked her this question?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what is your name? A. Andrew Jackson.

Q. Mr. Jackson, don't you know they finished building that railroad there and moved all those tents away from there in 1889? A. No, I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember? A. No, sir.

Mr. German: That is all.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. They didn't commence building the road west from Wagoner in 1891 and '92, did they?

A. I don't know, Judge, I worked on that road two days when they commenced going to Claremore.

Q. You don't remember when that was? A. No, sir.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, JOHN FORD, was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant, Nancy Atkins, and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. John Ford.

Q. Where do you live? A. I live now in Cherokee County.

Q. What place? A. Hulbert.

Q. What is your age?

A. Well, I will soon be fifty years, 11th day of June.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What years did you live there?

A. Why, I come to Wagoner about 1887.

Q. What was the occasion of your coming there?

A. We was haying then. I come up and when they run the Iron Mountain road through there.

Q. How long did you live at Wagoner?

A. Oh, I stayed at Wagoner about twenty or twenty-five years, something like that.

Q. From 1887 on? A. Yes, sir.

Q. For twenty or twenty-five years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. I did.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with her?

A. Well, I got acquainted with Nancy about 1888 I think.

Q. Do you remember her being in a pregnant condition at any time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year was that?

A. Why, the best of my knowledge now, I think it was about 1889.

Q. Do you remember whether she had a child born or not? A. Yes, sir, she did.

Q. Where were you living at the time the child was born?

A. Wagoner.

Q. Where abouts?

A. We was camped right in the street right close to where the post office is.

Q. Where was Nancy living?

A. She was staying out back there where the old Davis and Jones Store is, she was out there in a tent.

Q. How soon after the child was born did you see it?

A. Why, I saw it the next two or three days.

Q. Where did you see it? A. At Betsy Birney's.

Q. Where was the child? A. There in the bed with her.

Q. With who? A. With Nancy.

Q. Now, how often did you see it from then on?

A. Well, I saw it mighty near every day and night too, because we fellows—I used to gamble then and there was gambling going on ever night.

Q. You would go down to Betsy Birney's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What were you doing, shooting craps, John? A. Yes.

Q. How long did you notice it around there after that?

A. Well, I would notice it around there, oh, I don't know, off and on most all the time, that is I would—— Now, I suppose must have been a year; and then I noticed him much more then. I would see him too, and we went out from there about twenty-five miles I guess, out baling hay you know, but I never saw him then as often as I always had. I would see him once in a while. Of course he growed out of my recollection. They would just tell me that it was him.

Q. What kind of a looking child was he?

A. Well, to the best of my knowledge he was a pretty bright looking child.

Q. What was his color?

A. Well, he had an Indian look—— I couldn't say. He wasn't a white child.

Q. Kind of a yellow color? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of hair did he have?

A. Looked like he had sandy hair to the best of my knowledge.

Q. How large was he the last time you saw him, John?

A. Well, the last time I saw him he appeared to me like—well, he was a pretty good sized fellow.

Q. About how old did he appear to be?

A. That is to my best judgment he looked like to me like he ought to have been eight or nine years old, might have been ten.

Q. When was that, John?

A. Well, that was along about '99, I guess; along about '99.

Q. Do you remember hearing that he was dead?

A. Yes, I were there when he died all right enough. At least I didn't see him, but that is what they told me, and when they came around to take up the money I gave them twenty-five cents.

Q. Who was getting up the money?

A. I don't remember who it was, but they came to me and said the boy is dead.

Q. What boy?

A. Tommy, Tommy Atkins, and they asked me to donate something and give something and I gave twenty-five cents.

Mr. German: Now, Your Honor, we move to strike that answer because it is hearsay.

The Court: Overruled.

Mr. German: Exception.

Q. Were you in town the day they buried them?

A. I think I had come in town after some wire but I didn't go out there at all.

Q. Did you see a funeral procession that day? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't know whether they buried him?

A. No, sir, I don't know, I don't know only what they said.

Q. Did you know of Nancy having any other children?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Betsy Birney? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She was living there at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know Angeline Moody? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live?

A. I don't know where she lived, out there in the country a piece. She wasn't in Wagoner. At that time there wasn't very many niggers in Wagoner.

Q. Do you remember how many niggers there were there?

A. I don't know just exactly, but they was awful scarce, there wasn't no niggers there but very few.

Q. Was Mundy Barnett living there?

A. Yes, he was there.

Q. Where abouts was he living?

A. He was living right in the same place where his daughter occupies now, Eliza.

Q. Do you remember Sam McHenry? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he living there?

A. He might have been there about '99 or 1900, something like that, but I don't remember whether he was living there at that time or not, I don't think he was though.

Q. There was very few negroes there then?

A. Oh, there wasn't any negroes there hardly at all. That is when this child was born, because they had never come in there.

Q. Did you ever see the child with Nancy?

A. Well, I saw it there in the bed you know?

Q. Yes, after that?

A. You say after that, you know Nancy was arrested you know. They taken her away from there.

Q. Well, she came back didn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see it there with her after she came back?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How often?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell how often, I just fooled around that place all the time, you know.

Q. Saw it often? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Maxey: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. John, where do you live now?

A. I live in Cherokee County, Hulbert, Oklahoma.

Q. Hulbert? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What do you do? A. Farming.

Q. How long have you lived over there?

A. Well, I guess—— I don't know, about eight or ten years I reckon.

Q. Are you a married man?

A. Been a married man. My wife is dead.

Q. When were you married? A. November 4th, 1887.

Q. How long did you live with your wife?

A. Well, I guess about—— Oh, I don't know, six years, six or seven years.

Q. You went over to Wagoner in what year?

A. I went over there in about 1886 or 1887.

Q. Well, now, which was it?

A. Well, I were cutting hay there you know in '86 and '87 the best of my knowledge when the Iron Mountain come through I helped lay the track.

Q. Did you get married before you went to Wagoner?

A. I got married before I went to Wagoner.

Q. Then, you didn't go to Wagoner until after November 4, 1887?

A. I said I married I think about November 4th, 1886 or '7, I said.

Q. Well, now, which one was it, do you remember?

A. Well, it might have been '87, I don't know. Anyhow we were married all right.

Q. You know that you were married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That's the only thing about it you do distinctly remember? A. Well, I can remember that better than anything.

Q. You don't remember the date?

A. Well, I married November the 4th all right.

Q. You don't remember the year?

A. No, sir, I don't remember, it was 1886 or 1887.

Q. You went to Wagoner to work on the Iron Mountain Railroad?

A. No, sir, I helped lay the track from down close to Van Buren.

Q. A good many darkey employees in that construction?

A. Oh, more darkies than a little.

Q. When was it the construction was completed, John?

A. Well, you say the construction work, what do you mean by that?

Q. Well, when was the railroad built and trains begin to run?

A. I don't know just exactly when they did begin exactly.

Q. About when, can you tell us the year?

A. I believe after the trains commenced running and making regular time it was in '88.

Q. In '88? A. I reckon.

Q. When was it you would go down to Betsy's to gamble, was it while you were working on the railroad?

A. Oh, we was baling hay; I stayed around there and baled hay for fifteen years.

Q. And when was it you went to gambling at Betsy's with reference to the time you worked on the railroad?

A. When I was employed by a white man named J. D. Hammett.

Q. When did you go to gambling with reference to the time you worked on the railroad?

A. If you will let me explain it to you I will tell you. After we come to Wagoner we stopped there and then we were employed by another man on the railroad; that is when this gambling took place.

Q. You would go down and shoot craps?

A. Yes, we shot them too.

Q. Who did you go with?

A. Oh, several of other darkey boys, my brothers.

Q. Who were they?

A. There was myself, George Yates, John Ross, Tom Mayberry, Anthony Mayberry—— I don't know just exactly.

Q. Are they living now? A. No, some are dead.

Q. You would all go together and gamble?

A. Sometimes we would.

Q. What room of the house did you gamble in, John?

A. We would gamble in the front room.

Q. In the front room? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that the south room or the north room?

A. We would be in the north room.

Q. There was two rooms in the front of the house?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many rooms were in the back of the house, how large a house was it?

A. Small little old piece of a house, cabin. House built that way with another el on it and we would be in this room there; Nancy would be in this room back this way.

Q. How many rooms all together? A. Two.

Q. That wasn't a tent was it John? A. No, that wasn't a tent.

Q. Are you sure of that?

A. I am sure. If I can understand what you are trying to get at. You see Nancy first lived out in this tent and she moved out of that tent into this house.

Q. Oh, she first lived out in the tent?

A. Stayed in the little tent, yes, sir.

Q. How far was the tent from the house?

A. Well, I don't know that. Oh, hit wasn't very far.

Q. This Birney family, they never lived in the tent?

A. They lived in the house.

Q. But they didn't live in the tent?

A. You mean Mrs. Birney?

Q. Yes? A. Why, she lived in the house.

Q. She never did live in that tent, did she, John?

A. Well, now you are getting me so quick I don't know but when I saw her she was in the house.

Q. What was her husband's name?

A. At that time she didn't have no husband; she had been married to a man named Richard Birney, but at that time she was staying with another man, but that wasn't her husband.

Q. Now, when was it Nancy gave birth to the baby, was you there at the time?

A. No, I told you I wasn't right there when it was born, but then I saw it you know.

Q. Now, how long after it was born did you see it?

A. Well, just like I stated to you to start with I would come there and she would be right there in that room like people would have a cot.

Q. Now, wait a minute, she was in a tent wasn't she?

A. Well, you said so, I told you she wasn't at that time.

Q. When was she moved from the tent to the house?

A. That was after she had been confined.

Q. Who moved her? A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever see her in the tent?

A. Sure I seen her in the tent.

Q. Was she living there by herself? A. She was there.

Q. Were you ever in the tent?

A. Yes, I would come around there to the tent.

Q. Well, do you know when she was moved, was it daytime or night time that she was moved?

A. You asked me did I know; all I know about that is what they told me; I didn't see them.

Q. How old was the baby when you saw it?

A. Oh, it was a little bit of something.

Q. Nursing at her breast was it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, that wasn't a bottle baby was it, John?

A. Now, you know you asked me something that I don't know anything about.

Q. John, you know that is a fact, don't you? A. Which?

Q. That baby nursed at the breast and didn't from the bottle?

A. Afterwards, I suppose according to what I understand, I don't know that of myself and I don't want to answer, but that was my understanding that it did nurse from a bottle but I don't know myself and I ain't going to say so because I don't know.

Q. What doctor waited on her, John?

A. I don't know that.

Q. You don't know that? A. No, sir.

Q. Did the doctor come and see her?

A. Not as I know. Now, you take it at that time, I will tell you there was very few doctors around there, darkeys didn't have much to pay them.

The Court: Do you know whether there was a doctor or not?

A. I don't know, I didn't know.

Q. Now, John, were there any other colored people living about that part of town?

A. If there was, I don't know, I don't remember it.

Q. You were pretty well acquainted there, were you?

A. Well, yes, tolerable.

Q. Well, did you know Elnora Williams? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew her, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live, John?

A. She lived just a little ways from there, oh, maybe forty or fifty yards from there.

Q. Did you know Eliza Sterling? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live? A. Down between the rivers.

Q. Between what rivers?

A. The Verdigris and Arkansas.

Q. How far from Wagoner?

A. Oh, about ten miles or twelve.

Q. She didn't live there in town? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Patsy Overton? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live? A. She didn't live there either.

Q. Did you know Mandy Barnett? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live?

A. She lived right there in Wagoner.

Q. But Patsy Overton didn't live there in Wagoner?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Joe Birney?

A. I might have, but if I do, I don't remember it. I know Richard Birney.

Q. You have seen him about here?

A. Oh, yes, sir, I knowed him all right.

Q. Well, now, did you know any of the other Birney's?

A. Well, yes, I knew Charlie Birney.

Q. Where was he?

A. He was living there, that was Patsy's boy. I knew Henry Birney.

Q. Did you go any other place to gamble except Birney's?

A. Why, not at that time.

Q. Afterwards, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where?

A. Well, we had a box car on the railroad.

Q. What year was it that you went to the box car?

A. That was along the same time off and on.

Q. What year was it, John, that they moved Nancy from the tent over to Birney's house?

A. Why, I think it must have been about the year 1889.

Q. What time of the year?

A. Well, just don't know just exactly what year it was. I don't know, but seem like it was kind of cool, I don't know exactly what time it was.

Q. John, what else happened in the year 1889, if you remember?

A. Oh, I couldn't say what happened, I don't know.

Q. Can you tell us anything that happened in the year 1888 that you can remember? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it? A. I got put down here in jail.

Q. You got put down here in jail? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time in the year 1888 was it that you got put in jail? A. I think along in the summer.

Q. How long did you stay?

A. I stayed about four or five days.

Q. When you come back, where was Nancy?

A. Why, she was there I guess. I saw her after that.

Q. John, how long did you continue to see this boy you say?

A. Well, I naturally saw him off and on for six or seven years, longer than that.

Q. And what kind of a looking boy did he grow up to be when he was six or seven years old?

A. It looked to me he wasn't a white boy but he was kind of yellow looking boy with reddish looking hair.

Q. He wasn't a white headed boy?

A. He didn't seem like that to me.

Q. He wasn't black headed either? A. No, sir.

Q. He didn't have straight black hair like an Indian?

A. No, sir, to the best of my knowledge, I don't think he did.

Q. What color eyes did he have, John? A. I don't know.

Q. Where was it you last saw the child?

A. Well, I don't know the last time; I remember now it has been a good while ago. I just remember seeing him fooling around town. These Birney people used to have him you know with a kind of old wagon pushing him around, I never paid much attention to them.

Q. Well, can you tell us where it was the last time you saw him and when it was? A. No, I can't.

Q. Can you tell us any time you did see the child except the time you mentioned seeing it in the bed with its mother?

A. Yhy, yes, sir.

Q. All right, tell us?

A. I told you I would see him around Betsy Birney's place and over at Elnora Williams.

Q. How far did she live from the Birney's?

A. Oh, about forty or fifty yards I think to the best of my knowledge.

Q. When did you leave Wagoner?

A. Oh, until eight or ten years ago, I have been at Wagoner off and on for the last thirty odd years.

Q. Well, how long have you been living at Hulbert?

A. Well, I have been down to Hulbert, I guess it would be off at Wagoner, eight or ten years. I do most of my business at Wagoner.

Q. John, was this called to your mind any time from the time you say you saw this child, from the last time up until you were subpoenaed here as a witness?

A. Why, sure, I have talked about it.

Q. Well, now, who did you talk to first, John?

A. The first time I ever talked about it just seen it in the paper. I talked to my brother.

Q. Now, what paper did you see it in?

A. I don't know, one of the Muskogee papers.

Q. When? A. When the case was first at Sapulpa.

Q. And who did you talk to then?

A. My brother and several more fellows.

Q. Who else did you talk to about it?

A. Several people since then.

Q. Anybody come to see you and talk to you about it?

A. No, sir.

Q. Anybody come out there to your place and talk to you to find out what you knew about it? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, do you know why they subpoenaed you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Why?

A. Because I was taking to Mr. Cunningham over at Wagoner one day.

Q. What Mr. Cunningham? A. H. E. Cunningham there.

Q. And what were you talking about?

A. Just talking about the case.

Q. And when was that John?

A. I don't know just exactly when it was.

Q. About when?

A. I don't know whether it was—sometime last year, I don't know just exactly.

Q. What did you talk about, just tell?

A. Why, he was talking about the old timers about people living in Wagoner and he knew I had been living there for the longest and he just asked me what I knew about it.

Q. And you just told him what you knew? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is what you have testified to is it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. John, who was city marshal at that time?

A. Why, I believe—— I know he was an officer, Mr. Turnbal.

Q. Was he city marshal? A. I think so.

Q. You boys were gambling?

A. Well, us boys, the city, there wasn't no city there. He was a kind of officer here and city marshal, there wasn't no city.

Q. That was the time that you first saw the baby?

A. When?

Q. When that man was officer?

A. I don't know about that.

Q. Do you remember a man named Long being an officer around there? A. Yes, sir, Mr. Jim Long?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He wasn't city marshal when that baby was born was he? A. No, sir.

Q. When was he city marshal with reference to the time the baby was born? A. I don't know.

Q. About how long?

A. I don't know that. He was city marshal all right enough. That was away after lots of people done come into town then.

Q. John, did you see Nancy around there with another boy? A. No, sir, not as I know of.

Q. You saw her right around all the time?

A. Yes, sir, I would see her right around there.

Q. Right around there several years until this boy was five or six years old?

A. Yes, sir, I have been seeing Nancy the Indian.

Q. You would see her very frequently? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she didn't have any other boy with her?

A. She might if she did I don't remember.

Q. If she had a boy living there with her and around with her for a year or two you don't remember?

A. Any other boy you say?

Q. Yes?

A. She might have had but if she did I didn't pay any attention.

Q. You never saw but one boy with her?

A. Well, I am just telling she might have had, I don't know.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. When you was in Wagoner, I understood you to say you were gambling? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you make your living entirely by gambling?

A. No.

Q. What else were you doing?

A. We were baling hay for J. B. Hammett.

Q. You say you were married at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did your wife live?

A. My wife didn't live in Wagoner. I stayed out in a tent.

Q. Where was that with reference to the colored community there? A. Well, it was east.

Q. How far out, were those colored people living there together?

A. There wasn't no colored people there but a mighty few.

Q. Do you mean to say there was five or six families of colored people in Wagoner at that time that lived in a segregated portion to themselves? A. I don't believe there was.

Q. I mean in the same neighborhood of the Davis & Jones store? A. No, sir.

Q. What year do you say they weren't there, fix your year? A. Well, along in 1889.

Q. Were they there in 1890?

A. I don't know they might have been there.

Q. Tell me the other people that you knew in 1896?

A. Dick Birney.

Q. Is Dick the one that testified here, old Dick?

A. Old Dick.

Q. The one that is dead? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, Dick and his family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. All right, give me another?

A. There was Patsy Birney.

Q. That is part of his family?

A. He had another family.

Q. Who else? A. There was Mundy Barnett.

Q. All right, who else? A. There was Mollie Vann.

Q. That is three families, four families. Go ahead?

A. That is all that I know anything about at that time.

Q. Did you know Patsy Overton? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she there then? A. No, sir.

Q. When did she move there?

A. Oh, she never come there until—I don't know.

Q. Did you know the Williams woman, Elnora Williams?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she there then? A. Yes, sir, she was there.

Q. Now, that is all you can remember is it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Nancy lived right in that little colored community, didn't she, that is where she stayed right in that community all the time?

A. Yes, sir, that is where she stayed, with old lady Birney that is where I saw her.

Q. She slept out there at nights? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she associated with them entirely didn't she? And the first you ever heard of the baby somebody told you about it?

A. Yes, they told me about it and then I went and seen it, you know.

Q. Tell the Court what you saw when you went there. What did you see? A. When we went there every night——

Q. Never mind, what did you see? A. I saw the baby.

Q. Where was the baby?

A. Laying there in the bed.

Q. With Nancy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In whose house? A. Betsy Birney's.

Q. Now, who was there?

A. Bob Childers, John Galley, Tom Mayberry, Anthony, Mayberry and myself and brother, Luke Ford.

The Court: Was Betsy there?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Who else?

A. The homefolks.

The Court: Who were the homefolks?

A. Well, there was Dick Burney, and I think Charlie was there too and Henry Birney, Bob H., he lived there with Birney.

Q. Any women besides Betsy?

A. Well, there would be some there sometimes.

Q. Well, I am talking about this particular time?

A. I don't know, there might have been.

Q. Think it up and see if there wasn't some women there?

A. I don't know.

Q. Any women there?

A. I don't know, could have been.

Q. Could have been? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Don't you think there was some there?

A. I don't know, there could have been. There would be some there sometimes.

Q. Did you boys all go out there to see the baby?

A. We would be out there gambling and getting all excited.

Q. You were out there sporting were you?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court.

Q. Do you know Henry Anderson? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was he doing there?

A. Henry was working on the track. He was in that construction business.

Q. In the construction business?

A. Working on the tracks.

Q. Was he or not present when you say you saw this baby?

A. Henry was there, but I disremember whether or not he was there at the place then. I don't know whether he was there right at that time or not, I don't know.

Q. Did he have charge of some men in that construction work? A. If he did I don't know anything about it.

Q. You didn't work under him? A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. You say you were in town the day the boy was buried?

A. Yes, sir, I was in town.

Q. You just came in town to get some wire? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were baling hay then? A. I think it was wire.

Q. It was something about baling hay, that is all you remember? A. Fixing to do something about the hay.

Q. You were working out in the hay were you at that time? A. I think so.

Q. And did you gamble a little bit that day?

A. No, sir, I don't think that I did.

Q. Weren't you down at the box-car? Didn't you go down to the box-car at all that day?

A. A white man was with us all the time, then; I didn't have no time to do nothing.

Q. Wasn't that the time that you contributed that twenty-five cents down at that game at the box-car? A. No, sir.

Q. Did the other boys put up?

A. I don't know whether they did or not.

Q. All you know is that you were in town, baling hay, is that it?

A. I said I was in town; I think I came in to get some wire, or something or other—I don't know what—and anyway, I know they asked me if I would give them something and I said that I would give them a quarter.

Q. Did you go to Betsy Birney's that day? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't go to her house? A. No, sir.

Q. She still lived there, then, did she?

A. I don't know whether she did or not.

Q. Do you know when Betsy Birney moved away?

A. I was right around town but I don't know when she did move.

Q. You were right around town when the boy died?

A. I was, I was right around town and I don't know when she moved away; I don't know.

Q. Do you know where the boy died?

A. Not of myself, only what they told me, you know; what they told me.

Q. What else did you do around Wagoner, what else did you work at?

A. I didn't work at anything else. I was employed right there baling hay for 15 or 20 years.

Q. What time of the year did you bale your hay?

A. All times, I commenced and didn't stop.

Q. At all times, baled hay for about 15 years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you went at that right after you left the railroad? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many times have you been in jail? A. Sir?

Q. How many times have you been in jail?

A. Been in jail? Oh, I have been in a couple of times; maybe more than that—maybe two or three times.

Q. Where? A. Here at Muskogee.

Q. What for?

A. One time was for cutting hay on Sunday, and the next time was getting into a fight up there at Wagoner.

Q. Ever been in the penitentiary?

A. I have been in there but never was sent there. My brother was down there at McAlister.

Q. You were never sentenced yourself? A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, J. L. DYER, being called on [behalf of] the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. J. L. Dyer.

Q. How old are you Mr. Dyer? A. I am 58 years old.

Q. Where do you live?

A. I live three miles and a half, or four miles from Wagoner.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner?

A. No, sir, I never did.

Q. How long have you lived in that neighborhood?

A. I went where I am in '89.

Q. '89? A. December '89.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first know her?

A. Some time in the winter of '90.

Q. Do you remember ever seeing her in a pregnant condition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was it?

A. I am not sure whether it was in '90 or '91; either one of those years.

Q. '90 or '91? A. Yes, soon after I went there.

Q. Do you remember whether she had a child?

A. I remember seeing her with a child after I missed her a few months or weeks of'en the streets.

Q. Do you remember, Jim, when she was sent to the penitentiary? A. I don't remember what year.

Q. Well, you remember the fact of her being sent away?

A. Yes, I knowed she was gone some 7 or 8 months.

Q. Now, was it before or after she went to the penitentiary that you saw her with this child?

A. She had this child before she went.

Q. Had the child before she went? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how old was the child the first time that you saw it? A. I guess it was three months old.

Q. How much?

A. I guess it was three or four months old; two months, I reckon. Not over two months, I seen her carrying the child; it looked like a white child—its head was light.

The Court: Was that before she went to the pen?

A. Yes, sir, his head was kind of bluish looking flax; didn't have black hair.

Q. Do you remember the child's name?

A. Well, I seen it often after that. They called it Tommy.

Q. About how long did you see it around there?

A. Well, I suppose until it was nine or ten years old, the last time I saw it.

Q. Then you quit seeing it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then did you learn what became of it?

A. I heard it died, I just heard it spoken of—I never saw it dead.

Q. Were you in town about the time it died?

A. Yes, sir, I was in town twice a week.

Q. Do you remember the circumstance of them taking up a collection to bury anyone?

A. No, I don't; I just heard that it died; Birney said it was dead or some of those fellows.

The Court: Never mind about what was said; I am not considering those reports about the death and that sort of thing.

A. I just heard it died.

Q. You never saw it after it was 9 or 10 years old?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, after how often did you see it during—from the time that it was born up to the time that it was——

A. Well, I can't say but I was to town once or twice a week generally; I didn't see it every time, of course. I often noticed; I remember noticing it in Schrimpter's butcher shop a number of times after it was five or six years old or maybe older—on up until 1901, maybe, was the last time I seen it.

Q. And it disappeared about that time and you didn't see it any more? A. No, I didn't see it any more.

Q. Do you remember there being any talk around town among the men of the town as to who the father was?

Mr. German: Wait a minute, we object.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Q. What was the general understanding among the people of the town there as to who the mother of this child was, if there was such an understanding.

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Maxey: We offer to prove by this witness that there was a common reputation among the people of Wagoner at that time that this was Nancy Atkins' child and it was so regarded by all of them.

The Court: The record may show your proffer.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Mr. Dyer, you say you live about three miles from Wagoner? A. Three and a half miles.

Q. Are you any kin to Jim Dyer who used to live up in that country? A. I am Jim Dyer.

Q. You are the one that had trouble with the court down here? A. Not here, in Fort Smith.

Q. In Fort Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you ever convicted, Mr. Dyer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What were you convicted for?

A. Well, I don't know whether I could tell you or not.

Q. Train robbery? A. No.

Q. What was it?

A. For being constructively present as to a robbery.

Q. You were convicted for being constructively present at a robbery?

A. That is what they charged me with.

Q. Where was that robbery?

A. Back over here at Blackston.

Q. The celebrated Blackston robbery? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you were convicted for being constructively present at that robbery? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you serve time for that?

A. No, sir, I was sent off but got a new trial and got off at that trial. I put up a six thousand dollar bond.

Q. Mr. Dyer, after you got through with your trouble, you went back to live at this same place, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir, I wasn't gone a year.

Q. How old were you when you first noticed Nancy Atkins? A. How old was I?

Q. Yes? A. I was about 31 years old or 32.

Q. And you had a farm about three miles from town?

A. About three and a half miles, yes, sir.

Q. Now, what particular interest did you have in Nancy Atkins?

A. Well, sir, nobody much lived at Wagoner at that time and I went there and frequented the gambling shops at that time, and I seen Nancy Atkins when I went there.

Q. You were a pretty wild boy at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you would see Nancy Atkins when you would come in there?

A. Yes, sir, I seen her when I came in there, with the child, lots of times, and seen her come in there where the gambling was, and they would give her a half a dollar and tell her to get out.

Q. Do you remember seeing Nancy there?

A. Yes, but not every time.

Q. You were in town frequently?

A. Yes, sir, in town frequently; at night lots of times.

Q. How old was the child when you first saw it?

A. Two months old, I guess.

Q. Where was Nancy?

A. I seen her carrying it, and the shack where she lived. She lived with a woman named Birney for a while.

Q. Did you go over to Betsy Birney's much in those days?

A. Well, I have sat on my horse and talked with them.

Q. Sat on your horse and talked with them. Was Nancy at Birney's much?

A. She stayed there for quite a while; I don't know just how long.

Q. Were you acquainted with the darkies in the town at that time?

A. Yes, sir, I knowed most of them—most all of them.

Q. Nancy lived over there with the darkies, didn't she, Jim? A. With the darkies and the chippies.

Q. Yes, with the darkies in that country?

A. Yes, associated with them.

Q. And lived over there with them?

A. Right close there.

Q. She slept over in that part of town, she stayed there —that was her place of abode?

A. Yes, I think so. The store was close to Birney's; he run a little——

Q. You never had known Nancy before you went to Wagoner? A. No, I didn't know her, I had seen her.

Q. Did you know Minnie?

A. No, I didn't know Minnie, I had seen her.

Q. Where did you see Minnie, at Wagoner?

A. I had seen Minnie here at Muskogee a time or two.

Q. Had you ever seen her in Wagoner?

A. No, I aint sure that I ever seen her in Wagoner. I never had any acquaintance with Minnie—just knew that she was Minnie Atkins.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Do you know what is known as the Dalton gang?
A. I have heard of them.
Q. You were accused of being one of the members of that gang, weren't you, Jim?
A. No, I think I was accused of being in that bunch; I think I was accused of a good deal.
Q. What was the gang that you was accused of being in?

The Court: Well, don't go into that.

A. It don't matter about that.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon JASPER NEWTON SKRIMPSHER, being called on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. Skrimpsher.
Q. What is your first name? A. Jasper Newton.
Q. Commonly called Newt Skrimpsher? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You don't hear very well, do you?
A. No, sir, you will have to talk tolerably loud to me.
Q. You will have to talk loud, too, so all these people can hear you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How old are you Mr. Skrimpsher?
A. I am going on 70.
Q. Where do you live?
A. Wagoner, near Wagoner in the country six miles.
Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.
Q. When did you go to Wagoner?
A. I went to Wagoner sometime in 1890.
Q. And how long did you live there?
A. Lived there up to about 12 years ago.
Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Was she related to you in any way?
A. No, sir, she was related to my wife—first wife.
Q. Do you remember her being in a pregnant condition?
A. No, sir.
Q. Do you remember whether or not she had a child?
A. Well, no sir, only what she told me.
Q. What did she tell you?
A. Well, she had a boy running around there with her, six or seven years old, she said it was her boy.
Q. What was his name?

A. She called him Tommy Atkins.

Q. Now, what business were you in at that time?

A. I was a butcher and merchandising.

Q. Did she trade at your store? A. Yes, sir, some.

Q. Now, tell the circumstances, how she traded there.

A. Oh, she traded some little now and then. She would come in, sometimes the boy would be with her and sometimes he wouldn't be, and sometimes she would pay for what she got, and she spoke one day—if I send this little boy up here, why let him have it and I will pay you. She wouldn't get much, must a little stuff, you know—meat or something.

Q. And did she send the boy by himself at any time?

A. Yes, I have let him have meat out of the market there, and little things in the store sometimes.

Q. Now, how long did that continue?

A. Well, off and on for about a year, I guess, as near as I can remember.

Q. Now, how old was this boy the last time you saw him?

A. Well, he must have been about 8 years old when I saw him.

Q. Do you know what became of him?

A. No, sir, I don't remember.

Q. When did you quit seeing him?

A. Quit seeing the boy?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, they were in there off and on for about a year and finally I didn't see him around. They didn't come in; I supposed they was other places. Well, I saw her off and on in town, you know—now and then, like I would anybody else, passing and re-passing, but they didn't come around there much.

Q. Well, I will ask you was there talk around the town among the people as to who this boy's mother was?

Mr. German: We object on the ground that it is hearsay.

The Court: Sustained.

A. Only——

Q. Never mind.

Mr. Maxey: Now, I offer to prove by this witness it was a common rumor and general reputation of the town that—among the people of the town that this child was a child of Nancy Atkins—this boy that he has described as coming to his store.

A. Yes, sir, he was generally known or supposed to be—she claimed him——

The Court: Never mind.

Mr. Maxey: Never mind.

The Court: The answer will be stricken.

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir, I didn't call for the answer.

Q. Did Nancy ever tell you whose child it was?

The Court: He has answered that. She did tell him it was her boy.

Mr. Maxey: Alright, sir; I had forgotten it.

Q. You don't know whether the child died or whether it is still living? A. No, sir, I don't.
Q. What nationality are you?
A. I am Cherokee and white.
Q. What is the nationality of Nancy Atkins?
A. She is Creek and Euchee.
Q. And what was the appearance of this boy—being white or Indian or——
A. Well, he looked to be about a halfblood Indian—half breed.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What did you say your name was?
A. I live at Wagoner.
Q. I say what did you say your name was?
A. What is that?
Q. What is your name? A. My name?
Q. Yes, sir? A. Skrimpsher.
Q. Skrimpsher? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you marry a Euchee?
A. Part Euchee and part white.
Q. Where did your wife live? Were you married here?
A. I lived in Muskogee.
Q. Where did your wife live when you married her?
A. She lived in Muskogee.
Q. In Muskogee? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Had she been a member of the Euchee Town?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. What time did you marry her?
A. I married her the latter part of '73.
Q. Latter part of '73? A. Yes, sir.
Q. And you say she was kin to Nancy? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How much kin? A. She was her aunt.
Q. An aunt of Nancy's? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Was she living with you in Wagoner at the time that you saw Nancy with this baby?
A. Oh, no, no, sir; my wife had been dead long ago.

Q. She had been dead a long while? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew Nancy well did you?

A. I did, knew her.

Q. And knew Minnie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Lee? A. And Lee.

Q. Now the first time that boy ever came to your store he was about seven years old? A. He looked to be.

Q. And he quit coming when he was about eight didn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw him after that? A. No.

Q. That is the first time you saw the boy when he came to trade with you?

A. Yes, the first time I paid any attention.

Q. You never paid any attention to that boy being Nancy's boy did you? A. No, only just the rumors.

Q. You was kin to Nancy by marriage? A. Yes.

Q. But you didn't concern yourself with it at all?

A. No, sir, I was in business and paid no attention.

Q. And you don't know whether that was Nancy's child or not do you? A. No, sir, I did not.

Q. Do you know anything about it? A. No, sir.

Q. And didn't pay any attention to it? A. No, sir.

The Court: Mr. Johnson when did you go in business at Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: When did you begin business there?

A. I begun there about 1890.

The Court: What business?

A. I first put up a meat market and run that for a while and then I went into the dry goods and notions.

The Court: You ran through 1890, 1891 and up to 1896 and '7?

A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Now what was the color of that boy's hair?

A. Well, it was dark.

Q. Dark? A. Black.

Q. It wasn't a kind of strawberry color?

A. No, it looked to me kind of dark looking. Might have been about the color of yours.

Q. What was the color of his eyes?

A. His eyes I couldn't say.

Q. The first you ever noticed of this boy was about 1897 you said?

A. Along about some time between '90—earlier than '97.
Q. Well when? A. Must have been about '91 or '2.
Q. Did you ever take him to your house? A. Never did.
Q. Never took any interest in him? A. None at all.
Q. He was about seven years old in '91 or '2?
A. Six or seven years old.
Q. Is that right? A. I think that is about right.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon FOIL M. BRADY was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. What is your name? A. Foil M. Brady.
Q. You are commonly called Bill Brady?
A. Yes, oh, yes, that is my nickname.
Q. What nationality are you, an Indian or white man?
A. Well sir my mother was a fullblood Indian woman, Muskogee Indian, and my father was a Cherokee.
Q. How old are you, Bill?
A. Sixty-one years the 25th of last March; I was born in 1856, March 25th.
Q. Where do you live?
A. I live four miles west of Wagoner.
Q. How long have you lived in that neighborhood?
A. I went there in 1881, February 16th, 1880.
Q. Do you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How long have you known her?
A. Well I have known her a good bit.
Q. When did you first get acquainted with her?
A. Oh it was along about '89.
Q. What was she doing when you first got acquainted with her?
A. Along about '90 I think it was '90, I can't hardly tell the date of the year only one way, just before the Indian payment, this $29.00 payment, just a while before that I saw her —I had a boy crawling around the McNally Hotel she was dishwashing——
Q. At McNally's restaurant?
A. Yes, sir, hotel; and I went out there after my boy——

The Court: Well never mind that detail. He saw her then at McNally's restaurant as dishwasher.

A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Maxey: I think he will shorten that by just finishing that up.

A. I went out there and there was a little boy two or three years old and my boy was out there with him. And when I went out there to get this boy Nancy came out. I says, Nancy is that your boy? Says, yes. I says, what is its name? She says, his name is Tommy Atkins. I said you shouldn't never named him Thomas Atkins, his right name—in early days his right name was Shawnee Atkins——

Q. Well I don't care for that detail. Now you knew Nancy's father did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was his name? A. His name was Thomas Atkins.

Q. Now how long did you know this boy that you saw there?

A. Well I saw it that time. In about a month I was back to town again and she was at the Brown Hotel; and I says, how is your boy getting along? She said my boy died. That was before this Indian payment.

Q. Well did you see it any more after that? A. No, sir.

Q. Now do you remember when Nancy was sent to the penitentiary?

A. I didn't know until she was back. I know she was away from Wagoner.

Q. Well did you know this boy that she said was hers before that?

A. No, sir, I never have saw it from that day that I saw it.

Mr. Maxey: I believe that's all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. When was that Indian payment, what year?

A. Which?

Q. When was that Indian payment, what year?

A. I think it was somewheres along about 1891 or 1892 I can't—I haven't no education and I can't give no recollection but my boy drawed that $29.00.

Q. You think it was about 1891 or '2? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were born in 1856? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember that distinctly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember that you went to Wagoner in 1882 or 1883? A. I come from the Cherokee Nation.

Q. You were born in 1856? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Went to Wagoner in '82 or '83? A. Yes, sir, '81.

Q. 1881 or '2? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember that distinctly; you remember distinctly that you saw Nancy in 1889 for the first time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you can't tell when that Indian payment was; you drew that $29.00 didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well when was that Indian payment?

A. Well sir that is one thing I can't tell.

Q. That is out of your memory?

A. Yes, sir, I have no education at all.

Q. Well you know dates pretty well?

A. Yes, sir, I can keep up.

Q. With dates pretty well? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well anyhow you think that was about '90 or '91?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. A short time after you saw this boy you came back?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Nancy said he was dead? A. Yes, sir.

Q. So the boy when you saw him was two or three years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then when Nancy told you the boy was dead——

A. It wasn't no longer than a month.

Q. Then the boy died when he was three or four years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. According to Nancy's story? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You said he died before the payment? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He died before?

A. Yes, sir, before the Indian payment.

Mr. Stuart: That is all.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon KIRK TURNBO was produced, sworn and examined as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. Kirk Turnbo.

Q. Where do you live Mr. Turnbo?

A. Wagoner, Oklahoma.

Q. How long have you lived at Wagoner?

A. I have lived at Wagoner since 1892.

Q. How long have you lived in that vicinity?

A. Well I have lived there off and on ever since. There was four years during this time that I was in Texas.

Q. What four years was that?

A. Well from 1906 I believe.

Q. When? A. 1906 till 1911 I came back.

Q. Are you acquainted with Nancy Atkins?

A. Well I used to know her.

Q. Where did you first know her?

A. I first knew her there at Wagoner of course.

Q. How soon after you went to Wagoner?

A. And I haven't been there but a short time. I came from Texas there.

Q. Well it doesn't make any difference about that. You came there in 1891? A. 1892.

Q. 1891 or 1892.

A. Yes, 1891 or 1892; I think though it is 1892.

Q. Well you got acquainted with her shortly after you came there you say?

A. Well I just met her, learned who she was.

Q. She was quite a peculiar character around there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Attracted strangers at once?

Mr. Stuart: We object to that because it is leading your Honor.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Q. Well how come you to get acquainted with her?

A. Well when I went out there I was acquainted with J. W. Gibson, and he told me if I felt so disposed I could go out and stay at the ranch and it would save paying board. So I went out to his ranch; and I wasn't working but I made a kind of hand. So we came there to have some horses shod and on this occasion is when I saw her. She came hollering for this boy.

Q. What boy?

A. Well Tommy Atkins; I learned who it was.

Q. Who did you learn who she was hunting for from her or some one else?

A. No, some one else of course; I didn't know her name.

Q. Did you hear her inquire about the boy?

A. Yes, sir, of course somebody——

Q. Well what was her language?

A. Well, "Have you seen anything of my boy Tommy?"

Q. Well now how often did you see him after that?

A. Which the boy?

Q. Yes?

A. Well I reckon as much afterwards, once in a while.

Q. Where did they live?

A. Well, now at that time I couldn't tell you, but I think they lived what we knew as Old Betsy Birney.

Q. Now, how old was he the last time you saw him?

A. Which the boy?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, now I don't know that I know. Now he was I suppose—now they made up money there at one time to bury him; now just what time that was I don't know, but I believe it was in 1902 to the best of my recollection.

Q. Well what size boy was he the last time you saw him?

A. Well he was always very small, kind of weazled looking child.

Q. Well what age would you think he was the last time you saw him?

A. Well, I would judge he would have been ten or eleven years old.

Q. Now did you contribute when they were taking up that money?

A. Well, now, Judge, I don't remember whether I did or not, but I expect I did; but I think I did.

Q. Do you know who it was making up the money?

A. Well as well as I remember it was W. U. Hall who was mayor there at the time or marshal. I don't remember which, he was at one time both; that is he was mayor at one time and mayor also.

Q. Do you remember whether you saw a funeral procession that day or not?

A. Well, no, sir, I do not; don't know that I know any more about it only he asked me if I could help him out on this burying.

Q. Who did he say he was making up the money for?

A. Told me Tommy Atkins, Old Nancy's boy.

Mr. Maxey: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. How long before that money was made up that you had seen the boy?

A. To bury him? Well, now that I don't know. Don't know as I can remember exactly how long I was in town and out but I did see him quite often, every time I was in see the boy somewhere.

Q. See him very often? A. Well when I was around.

Q. Who was he with? A. Sir?

Q. Who was he with?

A. Some times he would be with her.

Q. Who is her? A. Nancy, his mother I suppose.

Q. Some times you wouldn't?

A. That is I always thought so. Yes, some times I would see him with a lot of other kids.

Q. Who else did you see him yith? A. A lot of children.

Q. What grown person did you see him with besides Nancy Atkins?

A. No one else; I seen her at the blacksmith shop and at the drug store.

Q. Where did you live at that time?

A. I lived in Wagoner. I was in and out.

Q. You first came to Wagoner in '92? A. 1892.

Q. 1892? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you got acquainted with Nancy?

A. Well just happened to meet her, yes, sir.

Q. You don't know whose boy that was?

A. Well, she was taking care of him. I supposed it was her child, I don't know of course.

Q. You don't know about that?

A. She was taking care of him.

Q. You stayed at Gibsons awhile? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long? A. Oh, I was out there a month maybe.

Q. When did you come to Wagoner to live?

A. Well, I came there in June the best I can remember of 1892.

Q. To live?

A. Well, after I came from Texas there. But when I left the ranch I came back in town.

Q. And when was that?

A. I think it was in July or September.

Q. Of 1892? A. 1892.

Q. Did you know about Nancy going to the penitentiary?

A. Well I had heard that she had but I don't know anything about it.

Q. Then you lived in Wagoner how long?

A. I lived in Wagoner from that time on.

Q. Living there now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was this thing first talked about in Wagoner in recent years? A. Well, sir, I don't remember now.

Q. About three years ago? A. Two or three I suppose.

Q. Who first talked to you about it?

A. Well now that I don't remember; I declare I don't.

Q. Do you know Jim White? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he?

A. Well, Jim White asked me at one time if I remember Nancy Atkins.

Q. Is he the first one talked to you about it?

A. I don't think so; I think I had recalled the case.

Q. There was something in the Wagoner paper about it?

A. Perhaps there might have been.

Q. There has been a great deal of talk in Wagoner about it recently? A. There has been some, yes.

Q. And the general run of the conversation has been whether Nancy had a child that lived or a child that was born dead?

A. Well, of course I have heard some different remarks about it.

Q. Heard it both ways haven't you?

A. Yes, by different parties.

Q. The question has been discussed there in the last three or four years a whole lot hasn't it?

A. Well, I don't know as it has been so broadly considered.

Q. Well, considerably hasn't it?

A. Well, to some extent. I suppose it has.

Q. And you have been thinking about it a good deal haven't you?

A. Not much; I don't know that I have given it much.

Q. What other child did you see with Nancy?

A. Well, I don't remember that I ever seen any others.

Q. You were living in Wagoner in 1895? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you would see her then a good deal?

A. I would see her a good many times.

Q. And in 1896 you saw her a good deal?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Well, didn't you?

A. I tell you I have seen her so many different times I have kept no tab of it at all.

Q. Did you see any other children with her in 1895 or 1896 or 1897? A. Don't remember, no, sir.

Q. Well refresh your memory now and tell us whether you did or not?

A. Well, I know in reason that I didn't see any only just this child that we are speaking of.

Q. Well, did you know Minnie? A. No, sir.

Q. Minnie Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't know her at all? A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard of her? A. Oh, I have heard of her too.

Q. You didn't in those days? A. I don't know that I did.

Q. About the time they got up the money to bury this child Nancy was living in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And I suppose you saw her? A. At that time?

Q. Yes, did you go to the funeral? A. No, no.

Q. You don't know whether you contributed to that or not? A. No, I disremember.

Q. Had you seen the child with Nancy say shortly before that time?

A. Well, no I don't know that I had, I don't remember.

Q. Well, how often would you see her?

A. Well that of course I couldn't testify to, but I would see her at intervals you know, at different times; see her and the child in town; but just when it was and how often I don't remember.

Q. You were in business there? A. No, sir.

Q. What other child did you know that lived around town? A. I knowed quite a number of children.

Q. Name some of them, colored people?

A. A whole lot of colored children I could pick out.

Q. Well, give us the names.

A. Well, Tom and Jack for instance, they are widely known.

Q. Tom and Jack who?

A. Well that is all I can answer; I don't know their names. Tom and Jack is all I know of.

Q. How many children was Nancy looking after in 1892 when you came to town that time and did you ever hear of her having any except Tommy?

A. Well I never seen but the one; she picked this one up and went on out with him.

Q. Oh, it was there? A. Yes.

Q. Now, did not Nancy say this; did you see anything of my boy? A. My boy Tommy, as well as I remember now.

Q. Well, what other boy did she have?

A. Well, there were two other little kids back there about the size of him—maybe a little larger.

Q. Did she take them, too?

A. No, sir, they didn't go with her.

Q. Had you seen the boy she had with her, before?

A. No, sir, it was the first time I had seen her.

Q. He was a little white headed boy, wasn't he?

A. Some people would term him white—more sandy, though, I would judge him—more inclined to be sandy.

Q. Well, what color was its eyes?

A. Well, I don't know that I can remember the color of that boy's eyes.

Q. You don't know whose boy that was?

A. I don't know nothing only that Nancy Atkins was looking after it.

Q. That is the only time that you ever heard her call him her boy, isn't it?

A. As well as I remember, yes, sir.

Q. What was the first time you served as a peace officer in this country up here? A. When I——

Q. What was the first time that you served as a peace officer up in this Indian Territory? A. In '82—1882.

Q. In the Indian Territory I am speaking of.

A. Well, that was 1882.

Q. Where was you?

A. I worked for this court here; Judge Stuart was the—

Q. Was the Judge? A. Yes, sir, he was the——

Q. United States Judge?

A. Yes, sir, United States Judge.

Q. What office did you hold?

A. Well, I was under McAlister.

Q. Well, what was the name of your position?

A. Well, I was a deputy United States marshal.

Q. Then, how long did you hold that office?

A. Well, about a year, I suppose.

Q. That was in '82?

A. I think it was '82; it might have been a part of '83.

Q. Well, let's see. Wasn't Judge Stuart first on the bench about—sometime in the '90's?

A. I don't remmber, but that was the time—when he was on the bench at that time.

Q. He was on the bench, anyhow, when you were deputy United States marshal? A. Yes, just had come in.

Q. And you are unable to say what year that was?

A. It was in '82 as near as I can remember.

Q. Now, how long after you was deputy marshal, was it, until you first saw this boy?

A. Well, it was from this time, now, sometime—some time in June that I came here, and then, it was sometime in June, I suppose, that I first met this boy.

Q. Well, was it that same year that you was deputy marshal?

A. Same year that I came in the summer and went——

Q. You said '82? A. 1882.

Q. Did you mean '92?

A. 1882 is when I come to the country.

Q. Now, you are sure of that?

A. I am sure that I came here in 1882.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Mr. Turnbull, what time did you say you first laid eyes on this boy of Nancy's—what year was it?

A. Well, Judge, I suppose it was 1882.

Q. 1882? A. 1892.

Q. 1892? A. 1892.

Q. You saw the boy in '92? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How big was it then?

A. Well, it was just a small, toddling child, I suppose a year or little better, maybe.

Q. You had been marshal before that time—you were marshal then? A. No, I wasn't marshal then.

Q. When were you appointed marshal?

A. I was appointed sometime in the fall.

Q. Of '92? A. Of '92.

Q. You are sure of that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, don't you know I wasn't appointed Judge, until way yonder in '93? Figure it up, now

A. Well, I was marshal anyway.

Q. Well, I wasn't appointed Judge until '93.

A. Well, it was under Cleveland's administration.

Q. Well, you are mistaken about its being '92 for I——

A. Well, it must have been '93 because I was here when you shoved a whole lot of niggers out of the door and said we call you niggers in Texas and you call them colored people here.

Q. Is that so? That incident struck you very forcibly, didn't it? A. Well, I was here.

Q. Did you resign as marshal or stay on a while?

A. I stayed on a while.

Q. You didn't resign. Well, now, as a matter of fact, it must have been in the fall of '93?

A. Well, it possibly was, now; that has been quite a while ago, and I don't——

Q. And that is the first time you ever laid eyes on the boy? A. Well, it was in that summer, yes, sir.

Q. Was it in that summer that first you ever saw the boy, the summer of '93?

A. Well it seems to me like it was 1892.

Q. How long did you serve as a deputy marshal?

A. Oh, I served a year or year and a half maybe.

Q. Did you quit voluntarily? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Wasn't fired? A. Well, I reckon I was partly.

Q. Yes, who fired you? A. McAlester.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. How long had you been deputy marshal before Judge Stuart was appointed?

A. Well, now, I can't say, but I know I happened to be in here when he run that bunch of negroes out of here, but I don't know whether that was my first trip or not.

Q. I am not asking you about that. A. I don't remember.

Q. Well who was the Judge before Judge Stuart?

A. Why, Judge Turner, as well as I remember.

Q. Judge Shackleford? A. Judge Shackleford.

Q. Is McAlester the man who appointed you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now he went in with Judge Stuart, didn't he?

A. Well that was my idea about it.

Q. And that was the first time you were ever deputy marshal wasn't it, in this country up here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you didn't hold any official position up in this country of any kind, other than deputy marshal or anything up until then, did you?

A. Not up until that time, no.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon WALTER POSEY, being called as witness on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. Walter Posey.
Q. How old are you? A. I am 57 years old.
Q. Where do you live? A. Wagoner.
Q. How long have you lived in that neighborhood?
A. Ever since '91.
Q. 1891? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins?
A. Yes, sir, I have seen her.
Q. When did you first see her to know who she was?
A. Well, I think it was along in—I ain't certain——
Q. When? A. In 1891, or '92, somewhere along there.
Q. Where did you see her? A. At Wagoner.
Q. Did you know whether or not she had a child?
A. Well, they said she had one.
Q. Well,—— A. I seen the one she said was hers.

Mr. Cruce: If the court please, I move to exclude that answer.

The Court: Yes, it will not be considered by the court.

Q. Did you ever see a child with Nancy Atkins?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Now, did you ever hear her say whose child that was?
A. Yes, sir, she said it was hers.
Q. Where was it you first saw it with her?
A. There about Jones and Davis' store.
Q. How often did you see it around there with her?
A. Well, I seen it quite a while there, well a few times with her, and mostly with Dick Birney, old man Dick Birney.
Q. It stayed around there with the Birney children?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Was it older or younger than the Birney children?
A. Well, I don't recollect; I noticed it, I remember, because it was four or five years old and white-headed, and Dick Birney came there lots of times, and I asked him whose it was.

Q. Well, never mind what he told you. Now, how large was it the last time you saw it? A. The last time?

Q. Yes?

A. I can't say for certain, the last time, but I think it was along in 1900 or 1901, or something like that.

Q. Well, how old did he appear to be then?

A. About 10 years old, he looked to be.

Q. Do you know what became of him?

A. No, sir, not only what I heard.

Q. Well, were you there at the time someone took up a collection to bury—— A. No, sir, I wasn't there.

Q. You weren't there? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, how often did you see this child with Nancy?

A. Well, I never seen him very many times; a few times.

Q. What was the general reputation and understanding in that community—don't answer this until I tell you to—as to who was the mother of this child?

> Mr. German: We object, on the ground that it is hearsay.
>
> The Court: Objection sustained.
>
> Mr. Maxey: Now, we offer to prove by this witness that it was commonly understood and the general reputation in that neighborhood that this child that he has described was the child of Nancy Atkins.

Q. What color did you say its hair was?

A. White, I called it, white; it wasn't snow-white, it was like light haired babies.

Q. And what did you say it was called?

A. They called him Tommy; Tommy Atkins.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What was the color of his eye? A. What?

Q. What was the color of his eye? Light blue, wasn't they? A. Light blue?

Q. Light blue eyes?

A. Well, I think he had blue eyes.

Q. He was an albino Indian, wasn't he? White eyes and white hair? A. Well, I called him a mixed breed.

Q. Did he have Indian in him? A. What?

Q. Did he have Indian in him—appear to have Indian in him? A. Yes, sir, he looked like it.

Q. Well, now, if he had light blue eyes and white hair, where was the Indian?

A. Well, I have got some in my eyes. I don't know about him, where his Indian was.

Q. You got some in your eyes?

A. White headed and blue eyed.

Q. Perfectly white hair?

A. Oh, no; it wasn't perfectly white; you have seen them.

Q. This was a white, tow-headed fellow, wasn't he?

A. I don't know about tow-headed.

Q. What do you mean by a tow-head; about the color of Mr. Bruff's head over there?

A. No, his looks kinder sandy over there. His was sandy.

Q. Little sandier than Mr. Bruff's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And blue eyes? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. You say the boy was four or five years old the first time you saw him?

A. The first time I seen him, I judge he was about four or five years old.

Q. That was in '91 or '92?

A. Two or three, somewhere along there; I might be mistaken about the date; been so far back.

Q. You saw him shortly after you came to Wagoner?

A. Sir?

Q. You saw the boy shortly after you got to Wagoner?

A. Well, I know exactly the time I got to Wagoner.

Q. When was that? A. 1891.

Q. '91, and shortly after you got to Wagoner it was that you saw him?

A. Well, I judge the boy to be four or five years old when I first saw him.

Q. That was in '91 or '2?

A. Or '93, somewhere along there.

Q. It was in a short time after you came to Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon is produced on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., GEORGE WILLIFORD, who, being first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. George Williford.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Williford? A. Wagoner.

Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?

A. It has been——

Q. Oh, about how long; we don't care as to the date.

A. It has been right close to about 30 years, somewhere along in there.

Q. How old are you? A. 55.

Q. Do you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first know her?

A. Where I first got acquainted?

Q. Yes? A. I got acquainted with her at the hotel.

Q. What? A. At the hotel.

Q. Well, I say when?

A. It has been between 22 and three years, altogether.

Q. What hotel was she at? A. Mr. McAnally's.

Q. Do you remember ever seeing her in a pregnant condition?

A. Yes, sir, I seen her once in bad condition.

Q. What time was that?

A. Somewhere along in between 22 and three, somewhere along in there, about that.

Mr. Cruce: You mean about 22 or 23 years ago?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember the time she was sent to the penitentiary? A. No, sir, I don't know.

Q. Well, you remember the circumstance of her being sent? A. I heard of it; I don't know where she went.

Q. Now, was it before or after that that you saw her in this pregnant condition? A. It was before that.

Q. Do you know whether or not she had a child born?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. Did you ever see a child there with her?

A. No, I seen one that she called Tommy.

Q. Who did you see with that child? A. Sir?

Q. Who did you see the child with? A. Nancy.

Q. Now, about how old was it when you first saw it?

A. Between two and three year old.

Q. Where did you see it?

A. There at Mr. McAnally's hotel.

Q. Did you see it anywhere else with her than there?

A. Well, I seen it a time or two up in town.

Q. Up at the house? A. Up in town.

Q. Oh, yes; with Nancy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how large was that child the last time you saw it? A. How large was it?

Q. Yes? A. Well——

Q. About how old would you say it was?

A. Between 2 and three somewheres, along in there.

Q. The last time you saw it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, did you know what became of the child?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. Did you ever see it about any other place than McAnally's?

A. I saw it up town a time or two, and that is the last time I saw it after she went off.

Q. After she went off?

A. Never heard any more about it after she went off.

Q. Well, do you know how long she was gone?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. Do you remember seeing it after she came back?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You say your name is Williford? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?

A. Off and on?

Q. Yes, sir? A. I came——

Q. When did you first come to Wagoner?

A. In 1880 and stayed there——

Q. How long did you live there at that time?

A. Well, I didn't live; I just was going; I went home a time or two.

Q. Now, is that the time you saw Nancy at the McAnally Hotel? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you see Nancy at the McAnally hotel?

A. Right close between twenty—somewheres along in between twenty-two and twenty-three—somewheres along in there; I didn't keep no record of it.

Q. Twenty-two and twenty-three? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What do you mean? A. Yes, sir, altogether.

Q. Years ago? What business are you in, Mr. Williford?

A. What business in?

Q. Yes, sir? A. Street cleaner.

Q. In Wagoner? A. In Wagoner, yes, sir.

Q. What do they call you? A. I don't know.

Q. What do the people call you?

A. They never have——

Q. Have you a nickname?

A. No, sir, not that I know of.

Q. Didn't Mr. Bruff come to see you not long ago—the gentleman sitting there on the back row, and talk to you about this case—this gentleman sitting on the back row there, did he come to see you? A. Yes, sir, I think so.

Q. Didn't you tell him you were positive it was in 1880?

A. When I first went to Wagoner.

Q. Or 1881, when you first saw Nancy and this child?

A. No, sir, I don't think so.

Q. Did he call your attention to the fact that you testified that it was in '91 and you said you were mistaken, it was in '81? A. It was '81 when I first came into Wagoner.

Q. I am talking about the time when you first saw Nancy Atkins.

A. It was between twenty-two and three years when I seen——

Q. Well, what year, about what year? A. What year?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, I disremember; somewheres along in there.

Q. Well, it was at least twenty-two to twenty-three years altogether, when you saw her with this baby?

A. Saw her with the white-headed boy.

Q. Oh, it was a white-headed boy, was it?

A. It was Bobby.

Q. What was the color of its eyes, notice that?

A. No, sir, I didn't. I never paid much attention to it.

Q. Don't know whether it had gray eyes or not?

A. No, never paid much attention to it.

Q. It was a boy called Bobby, you state? A. Tommy.

Q. You were mistaken a while ago if you said Bobby?

A. Yes, I was mistaken.

Q. Didn't they sometimes call him Joe, too?

A. I never heard it.

Q. Did you know Joe Birney? A. Who?

Q. Joe Birney; you knew Richard and Henry Birney, didn't you? A. No, sir, I didn't know none of them either.

Q. You didn't know any of the Birneys at all? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you say the first time you saw this child it was two or three years old? A. Which the——

Q. Thomas Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never knew what its name was then did you?

A. Not until she was——

Q. Nancy didn't talk to you about it, did she?

A. No, sir. She was talking to the others.

Q. And you saw it just the one time?

A. I saw it two or three different times.

Q. Nancy after that went to the penitentiary?

A. She went somewhere; I don't know where; I lost track of her.

Q. But this boy that you saw with Nancy was about how old when Nancy went to the penitentiary?

A. He was—I don't know when she went.

Q. I know but you knew about her going to the penitentiary? A. No, sir, I don't know where she went.

Q. She went away, though, after you saw this boy that was how old?

A. He was between two and three year old, I judge.

Q. You heard that she went to the penitentiary didn't you at that time? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Then you never saw her or the boy again? A. No, sir.

Q. And who was the first man talked to you about this case? A. I don't remember.

Q. Mr. White talked to you about the case, Jim White?

A. No, sir, not until they come and put a subpoena to me.

Q. When did they come and put a subpoena to you?

A. Well, when they first got the suit.

Q. You made an affidavit over at Sapulpa? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is when Mr. White talked to you?

A. Well, he didn't exactly talk to me.

Q. He didn't ask you anything about what you knew about the case did he? A. No, sir, I don't think that he did.

Q. Nobody ever asked you what you knew about the case?

A. Just wanted to know if I knew about Tommy.

Q. He just fixed up an affidavit and told you to sign it?

A. All he asked me if I knowed Tommy.

Q. And then they prepared an affidavit and you signed it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is all they asked you?

A. That is all they asked me. I certainly knew him.

Q. How do you fix the time twenty or twenty-two years ago when you saw Nancy and this baby?

A. I was there at the hotel.

Q. You are sure it was not sixteen years ago?

A. No, sir.

Q. Twenty-two and twenty-three years ago?

A. Between——

Q. Sure it wasn't thirty years ago? A. No, sir.

Q. You are not positive it was twenty-two or twenty-three years ago? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That you saw Nancy with this two or three year old white headed boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw her after that?

A. I saw her up in town after.

Q. How soon after? A. Short time after.

Q. You have lived here in Wagoner ever since?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And never seen the child since? A. No, sir.

Q. You have made Wagoner your home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you have been a street cleaner there for a long time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And never saw any Tommy around there?

A. I haven't saw him from that day to this.

Q. Is this the same Tommy that used to haul wood around Wagoner when he was a little boy; you didn't see that?

A. I didn't see that.

The Court: What were you doing at the time you lived at the hotel, what was your business there?

A. I was just first one thing and another; used to make hay in town and out of town.

The Court: Just a laborer around.

A. Just a laborer.

The Court: Been there ever since?

A. No, sir, I went home twice.

The Court: How long did you stay away?

A. I stayed a year or two.

Q. Now you had seen Nancy frequently before this twenty-two years ago when you saw this boy? A. What?

Q. You had seen Nancy frequently twenty-two years ago when you saw her with this boy?

A. No, sir. I think the first time ever I saw Nancy she was at McNally's Hotel.

Q. That was what time, before you saw the boy?

A. I saw the boy with McNally's boy.

Q. That was some time before you had seen Nancy with the boy? A. Some time.

Q. How long before you saw Nancy and the boy was it you first knew Nancy by sight?

A. It was some where along in right close—I don't know, I may make a mistake.

Q. Well about how long?

A. Right close to three or four years.

Q. That you would be seeing Nancy frequently around there? A. At the hotel yes, sir.

Q. You never saw any boy with her until this twenty-two or three years ago? A. That was all.

Q. Now she didn't have any boy with her during those three or four years?

A. If she did I didn't see it. She done the cooking at the Brown hotel and for Taylor and McAnally.

Q. Your memory is not very good about what happened back there is it?

A. Well I don't know that there has anything happened only I was after something to eat and I got it and went on.

Q. This boy made no particular impression on your mind? A. No, sir.

Q. You might be mistaken now as to the name of the boy, might you not? A. No, sir; she called him Tommy.

Q. That boy was not a little mulatto boy you saw was he?

A. Yes, sir, he was what I called a little white-headed boy between two and three year old, and his head wasn't so very white either; it was between molasses and butter color; that is just about what it was.

Q. You are sure that was not more than twenty-two or three years ago; that was in 1895 wasn't it?

A. I disremember the dates; I never thought anything about it.

Q. Did you know Minnie Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't know that about that time that Nancy Atkins had Minnie Atkins' boys?

A. No, sir; I don't know anything at all about the balance of them and wouldn't have known her if she hadn't been cooking.

Q. This is the only boy you ever saw with her and only saw him one or two times? A. That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You saw the boy the first time about twenty-two or three years ago? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That would make it about 1895 or 1896, wouldn't it?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. Well 1895 is twenty-two years ago and 1896 is twenty-one years ago. It was about 1895 or 1896.

A. It was some where along there.

Q. And you saw the child for the first time and a short time after that the child disappeared? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you never saw it any more?

A. I never saw it any more.

Q. I believe you said that prior to the time you saw the child for the first time you saw Nancy frequently and there was no child with her? A. There was no child with her.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon court recessed until ten o'clock A. M.

And thereafter, and on May 15, 1917, at 10 o'clock, A. M., court convened pursuant to adjournment, and further proceedings herein were had as follows:

THOMAS BREWER, being produced as a witness on behalf of Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Thomas Brewer.

Q. What is your age? A. 45.

Q. Where do you live? A. Collinsville.

Q. What is your nationality? A. Cherokee.

Q. Are you related to Mr. Brewer, the Postmaster here?

A. Yes, sir, first cousin.

Q. Where have you lived most of your life, Mr. Brewer?

A. About half way between here and Wagoner.

Q. Where were you living in 1889 and 1890, and along there? A. Living in Wagoner.

Q. How long did you live in Wagoner? A. About 5 year.

Q. About what year did you go there?

A. '89. I wouldn't be positive—no, it was in '98 or '99 when I went there.

Mr. Cruce: '99?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, do you mean '89 or '90, or '99 and 1900? A. 1899.

Q. Then, you either went there in '89 or 1900? A. Yes.

Q. Or 1890? A. Yes.

Mr. Cruce: No, it would be——

Q. Which was it, Mr. Brewer? Let's get that straight.

A. Well, I wouldn't—it was '99 I moved to Wagoner.

The Court: Well, now that would be just about 18 years ago?

A. Yes, sir, sometime along there.

Q. Did you get acquainted with Nancy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. When?

A. Well, I knew Nancy Atkins long before ever I moved to Wagoner.

Q. Where was she living then? A. There in Wagoner.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with her?

A. Oh, I don't know just when; we done our trading at Wagoner and had all our work done there at Wagoner; that is blacksmithing. We traded there; Davis and Jones were in business there.

Q. What year did you commence trading there?

A. Oh, I have been trading in Wagoner mighty near ever since Wagoner started.

Q. Well, about when did you first get acquainted with Nancy Atkins

A. Oh, I guess—I don't know just exactly about when I did get acquainted with Nancy Atkins first. I used to go up to Wagoner, you know, and rally around there with the boys. I knew her a year or two before I moved there.

Q. Do you remember ever seeing her in a pregnant condition?

A. No, sir, I knew nothing about that; that is, if I did it slipped my mind. I never paid any attention to it.

Q. Do you remember whether or not she had a child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you find out it was her child?

A. Well, he told me he was Nancy's boy.

Q. And did Nancy ever tell you it was her boy?

A. I don't remember whether ever I asked her, only I know the kid told me he was Nancy Atkins' kid and other kids told me.

Mr. German: We object to what was told him.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. German: Understand that we object to it all of course.

The Court: Yes.

Q. Now, how large was the boy the first time you ever saw it?

A. Oh, he was a good big kid, going around everywhere and talked.

Q. Who did he go around with?

A. Oh, I can't tell you; a lot of kids. He played there among the niggers.

Q. Did you ever see him with Nancy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How often? A. Oh, several times I had seen him.

Q. Where would you see him?

A. There in town, in Wagoner.

Q. Did you ever see them in Davis and Jones' store together?

A. Yes, I would see them around there; they lived right back of the store—Davis and Jones', across the track over there.

Q. What kind of looking boy was he?

A. Well, he was sort of a mixed blood.

Q. Yellow or white?

A. Well, he was sort of mixed up. You could tell he was not a white kid and he wasn't a—he had—Oh, he was, I don't know, he was—his hair—he was sort of a molasses kid, I reckon you would call him. He wasn't white and he wasn't a nigger.

Q. Now, how long did you see him around town there?

A. Oh, I saw him off and on there quite a while; I can't tell you just how long. I had nothing to—no occasion to notice him much or anything of that kind.

Q. Do you remember what name the boy went by?

A. Tommy Atkins.

Q. Do you know what became of him? A. Died.

Q. About when did he die?

A. Well, it was about—he died, I believe it was a year after that dry year—that I believe was 1901 or—I wouldn't be positive which, but anyhow, it was about a year, just a little while after that I know the kind died there. I was living just down below there at the time.

Q. How did you find out that he was dead?

A. Well, I passed right by the house every day going to town; mighty near every day. I was buying cattle there and trading around there, and my road from my home went right by there to town.

Q. Do you remember the circumstance of them taking up a collection to bury him?

A. Well, no, sir, they had taken up at that time—oh, lots of times there in Wagoner they were taking up a collection every little while to bury somebody but I paid no attention to that; or to feed somebody or something.

Q. You say you think it was 1901 or '02 that he died?

A. Yes, sir, somewhere along there. I never paid any attention to it; it wasn't nothing to me.

Q. Did the boy ever come to your house or about your house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What would he come there for?

A. Milk; he came there as a kid and got milk there. I had quite a lot of cattle.

Q. And who would send him there, or how would he come to come there?

A. I don't know, they just found out that we had milk there, you know, and a lot of folks were around there for milk.

Q. Do you remember anyone ever referring to him as your namesake?

A. Why, yes, sir, one time there—I remember one of the boys just hollored Tommy—said here is your namesake, or something—I never paid any attention to it; just joshing.

Q. Now, whose child was that generally understood to be among the people of the town?

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Maxey: Now, we offer to prove by this witness that it was the general reputation among the people of the town of Wagoner at that time, that this boy that he has described was the son of Nancy Atkins.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What is your given name? A. Thomas.

Q. Thomas, what? A. Thomas Brewer.

Q. You haven't any middle initial? A. Sir?

Q. You haven't any middle initial? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What? A. F.

Q. Thomas F. Brewer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old are you? A. About forty five.

Q. What year were you born? A. Sixty two. Five from seven is two and four from ten is six.

Q. Wouldn't it be Seventy two, Mr. Brewer? A. 1917.

Q. You ought to remember though what year you were born?

A. I am forty five years old and forty five from seventeen undoubtedly leaves sixty two.

Q. Well, don't you have an independent recollection of the year you were born? That is, don't you know without calculating it what year you were born?

A. No, I never paid no attention. I just stopped for a minute and I can tell you exactly.

Q. You still say it was sixty two, do you?

A. You can figure it yourself, can't you?

Q. Yes, but I am asking you?

The Court: Well, he has stated it. Pass on.

Q. Mr. Brewer, where were you living the year you say this boy died? A. Living in Wagoner.

Q. How long had you been living there?

A. Oh, a couple of years I guess, or three, I never paid no attention. This Tommy Atkins didn't bother my mind at that time; it has been a good long time ago I never paid no attention to it.

Q. You never paid any attention to the boy?

A. Just saw him like you see me here and you pay no attention unless there be something to make you remember it.

The Court: Don't argue. Just go on and answer the question.

Q. Where was this boy living just before he died?

A. Wagoner.

Q. At whose house?

A. Well, I don't know. You see they just lived around there. I know Nancy stayed there at this house; I never asked whose house it was, never did know.

Q. How far did you live from where she lived at that time?

A. Well, I lived about a little over a quarter, might have been a quarter and might have been a little over a quarter.

Q. You lived in the edge of town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which edge? A. West.

Q. The Western edge of town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And where was the place that she lived?

A. Well, it was a little bit north of east from where I lived.

Q. Close to the railroad?

A. Yes, sir. towards the railroad.

Q. Among colord folks?

A. Yes, sir. right in the colord part of town.

Q. What age, about, was this boy at that time?

A. I don't know, he must have been six or seven years old, something along there; I never paid no attention to that.

Q. I am speaking now of just before he died?

A. Well, I say.

Q. Six or seven years old?

A. Something along there, I couldn't say.

Q. You say you passed by that house every day?

A. Mighty near every day.

Q. In going from your house to town you would pass along that street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were there other colored people living there?

A. Yes, sir, on that side of town is colored people, lots of colored people.

Q. There were lots of children there?

A. Lots of colored children around there, yes.

Q. And a number of white children in town?

A. Yes, a few white children on that side.

Q. And a number on the other side?

A. Yes, on the other side is white.

Q. At that time Wagoner was a place of about two or three thousand people?

A. Oh, I don't know how many was there.

Q. Well, it was not just a little tiny village?

A. It was small.

Q. Were there a thousand people there?

A. I don't know, I never paid no attention to the amount of people.

Q. How many stores were there on the east side of town at that time?

A. Well, I don't know that; old man Schrimsher and Newberry——

Q. The main business part of town at that time was east of the track? A. Yes, it was on both sides.

Q. I say the main part?

A. Yes, the main part was on the east side.

Q. Now, how long before the death of that child was it that you saw Nancy around among those colored people?

A. Well, I couldn't tell you. As I said, I lived down in the Cherokee Nation but done my trading——

Q. I am talking now about when you were living in Wagoner? A. Oh, in Wagoner?

Q. Yes, you say this boy died while you were living in Wagoner? A. Yes.

Q. How long before this boy died had you seen Nancy?

The Court: In other words, was Nancy living at the house at the time the boy died?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: You know that, do you?

A. Yes, sir, I reckon she was. She was there in town, I don't know whether she was living at this house when the kid died.

The Court: You know she was there in town?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And had she been living in the town all the time before that since you first knew of her being in Wagoner?

A. That is the only place I seen her.

Q. Well, how often would you see her before the boy died?

A. I never paid no attention. I wasn't noticing Nancy; just the same as the rest of the people there.

Q. After the boy died did Nancy continue to stay there in town? A. I don't know, I never paid no attention.

Q. What became of her? A. I don't know.

Q. Did she continue to live in Wagoner a while after the boy died?

A. I don't know. I had no desire to pay any attention to her whether she stayed or left.

Q. Well, did you have any desire to pay any attention to the boy? A. Not a bit in the world.

Q. Did you attend the funeral? A. No, sir.

Q. How do you know that it died? A. What?

Q. How do you know that it died?

A. Well, I just know the people said Tommy Atkins died. That is all I know. I didn't notice him.

Q. Wasn't there anything connected with your passing by the house that led you to believe he was dead?

A. No, I just heard he was dead. I never got down to look and see.

The Court: You stated a while ago that he died in 1901 or 1902, and stated as a reason for knowing that, that you passed right by the house?

A Every day, yes, sir.

The Court: What did you see when you passed by the house that led you to believe that the boy was dead. Did you see anything?

A. I seen some people around there just like anybody else, they said the kid died there in the house; somebody said Tommy Atkins is dead. I just heard them talking about him being dead.

The Court: What kind of a house was that?

A. Well, a shack back of Jones, store; there was quite a good many.

The Court: I don't care how many there were. How many rooms did this house have?

A. I don't know, I never was in it.

The Court: About how many?

A. Couldn't do that. Some would be one little old room, some two.

The Court: I don't care about the others, I am talking about this house. Did Nancy Atkins live in the house?

A. I don't know whether she lived in that house or not, I seen her around there, I just saw her around there.

Q. You say you don't know whose house it was?

A. No, I don't know.

Q. Did you know the Birney's? A. Birney's?

Q. Yes? Negroes?

A. No, I might have known them; I have heard of them all my life.

Q. Where did you hear they were living?

A. Never heard; don't know that I ever noticed about them. I have heard about all of the old timers here in the Creek Nation.

Q. Tell us some other children that you knew there in Wagoner, give us some of their names?

A. Oh, my God, I knew lots of children.

Q. Name some of them?

A. Drapers had a lot of kids there.

Q. White or colored?

A. Colored. Kidd had some children there.

Q. White or colored? A. Colored.

Q. All right, what are their names?

A. Well, I know one or two.

Q. Call them? A. Gertie Kidd.

Q. Boy or girl? A. Girl.

Q. How old was that child when you first knew her?

A. She was a girl, big girl.

Q. What became of her? A. She is there in Wagoner yet.

Q. Name some other colored children that you knew?

A. Drapers.

Q. Name the child?

A. Well, there was one called Will Draper.

Q. How old was he when you knew him?

A. About seven or eight years old.

Q. Where did he live? A. In the west part of town.

Q. Right over there among these negroes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you pass by his house every day?

A. No, he lived off to the right.

Q. Is that boy living? A. Will Draper?

Q. Yes? A. He was the last time I knew anything of him.

Q. Name some other children, negro children or colored boys? A. I never paid no attention.

Q. Well, there was some two or three dozen around town, weren't there, Mr. Brewer?

A. Yes, but Lord, I never went around to find kids names.

Q. You didn't pay much attention?

A. No, just like Will Draper, just hear his name, and of course you will naturally get acquainted with some, I don't care where you are.

Q. You say the first time you ever knew this boy was about a year before you moved to Wagoner? A. This boy?

Q. Yes, Tommy? A. No, I didn't say that.

Q. Well, about two years? A. No.

Q. You say you didn't say that a while ago?

A. No, sir.

Q. You did know him before that though?

A. Before I moved to Wagoner?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't know him at all until you moved to Wagoner? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew Nancy when you were living out in the Cherokee Nation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you would come down frequently to trade?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see this boy before you moved to Wagoner? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Hadn't seen him that you know of? A. No, sir.

Q. You say you would come to Wagoner to trade lots and you knew Nancy before she ever moved to Wagoner?

A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't? Well, how long before you moved to Wagoner was it that you first knew Nancy?

A. Before I moved there?

Q. Yes?

A. I don't know, I say I would go to Wagoner often, might have been a year.

Q. Oh, it was Nancy you had seen around there for about a year before you moved? A. Yes.

Q. And you had known her before, is that what you are testifying to before? A. I hadn't known before I moved there?

Q. Hadn't known Nancy before about a year before you moved to Wagoner?

A. No, I say I won't be positive it was a year.

Q. Something like that? A. Yes, before I moved there.

Q. And you moved there in either 1899 or 1900?

A. Yes, sir, something like that.

Q. And Nancy was living in Wagoner when you moved there? A. Yes, sir.

By the Court.

Q. How did you associate the time of the death of this boy wtih the dry year? What makes you remember that it was about the time of the dry year?

A. Well, I had a bunch of cattle there in Mr. Bailey's pasture, there, just right west of town, and I had to move them out on account of water.

Q. Well, what connection has that with the funeral? That is what I am trying to get at. How did you associate the two?

A. How?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, after I had to move my stock, I had to move—I remember I couldn't keep but one or two milk cows then, and had quit letting milk go and kids were coming after milk and I had to turn them down because I only had enough for my own family use. Everything went dry and I had to move them back down—the only place we could go on account of the water.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Which direction did you live from Wagoner?

A. From Wagoner?

Q. Yes, out there?

A. Well, it was pretty near south but a little bit east of south.

Q. A little east of south? A. Yes, sir, a little.

Q. Out there on the river?

A. Right here at Fall City; north Muskogee it is called now.

Q. You knew Chaney Trent? A. Who?

Q. Chaney Trent; you knew Chaney Trent, didn't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard of her?

A. No, I have heard of Trents around there but I never knew them personally.

Q. Did you know Jim Trent?

A. No, I wouldn't say that I knew Jim Trent; I knew of the Trents—heard of the Trents there but wasn't acquainted with them.

Q. Did you know where they lived, though? A. How?

Q. You know where they lived?

A. No, I don't know where they lived.

Q. Who was some of the other children at that house?

A. Which house?

Q. Where you say this boy died?

A. Why, I don't know; you see I don't know how many kids were there. I don't suppose they all stayed there.

The Court: Well, don't go into that. If you don't know, just say so.

A. Well, I don't know.

Q. But there were other kids came to your house for milk? A. Yes, lots of them from town.

Q. Came there with his boy?

A. Always would be three or four together, you know; I don't know whether they all lived at the same house or not. I never asked.

Q. They came with him; came at the same time and got milk?

A. Yes, there hardly ever would be just one; two or three would come.

Q. Name one of those other children? A. Which?

Q. That came at the time that he came to get milk?

A. Well, I don't know that I could name just positive—I——

Q. Can you name one of those other children?

A. Well, as I named a while ago to him, kids that lived there and would come and get milk.

Q. Well, I want to know the kids that came when he came, that he came with.

A. Well, he would come with different ones.

Q. Well, name those different ones.

A. Well, I couldn't do that; I never asked them; I don't know.

Q. Didn't pay any attention?

A. No, sir, they would get the milk from my wife.

Q. You can't associate him with anybody else except Nancy? A. Who, that kid?

Q. That kid. Can't connect him up with anybody except Nancy? A. No, I——

Q. You can't connect him with any particular house?

A. Up?

Q. You can't connect him up with any particular house?

A. I just saw him there in town.

Q. What direction was that house from Davis and Jones' store?

A. Right west of it, behind it. There was an old lumber yard and these houses back of it.

Q. This house was standing by itself or were others around it?

A. Oh, they were there in—mixed up around it; just a street passing there.

Q. You remember passing the house the day these people were there? A. Who?

Q. The day of the funeral, you remember passing the house?

A. I passed the house every day. Yes, sir, every day, very near.

Q. You remember passing the house the day of the funeral? A. The day they said the kid was dead, yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember a lot of people there?

A. Yes, sir, a crowd.

Q. A number of people and you asked what it was as you were passing?

A. No, sir, I didn't ask. I went up town and somebody said there was a dead kid down there.

Q. You remember the crowd of people?

A. No, I seen them gathering up there.

Q. Can't you see that plain today as it was then? Isn't that the way it occurs to your memory—you can just see that house and see those people out there, don't you? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't remember how it looked, do you?

A. No, sir, that day and time my mind was on——

Q. You just remember what was said, is that all?

A. Who?

Q. You just remember what was said at that time?

A. I just remember they said Tommy Atkins was dead.

Q. You don't remember how it looked? A. No.

Q. The house and the people, and you don't know who the people were, do you?

A. Never paid any attention; just rode by and looked to see——

Q. Don't remember who said this to you? A. No, no.

Q. And don't remember who told you that Tommy Atkins was dead? A. No, no.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. How old was this child when you first saw it? About how old? A. I don't know; he was a great big kid.

Q. Well about how old would you take him to be?

A. Well, I would take him to be five years old—four or five.

Q. Four or five years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what year was it that you first saw him?

A. When I first saw him?

Q. Yes, see if you can get that. What year was it when you first saw him?

A. Well, the first year I moved to Wagoner—I was there about 1900 or—I wouldn't be positive.

Q. About when? A. About 1900.

Q. About 1900? A. Yes, when I first moved to Wagoner.

Q. Now, 1900, that has been 27 years ago, hasn't it?

A. No, sir.

Q. Hasn't it? A. Not quite.

Q. Seventeen—seventeen years ago. You were 28 years old then, were you? A. What?

Q. You were 28 years old then, were you; you are 45 now are you? A. I was 28?

Q. You was 28 years old, then, weren't you? A. Yes.

Q. What? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were 28 years old and that was the first time that you ever saw the boy?

A. The first time I ever saw him?

Q. Yes?

A. As I say, when he came there to my house, after milk, I don't remember exactly whether that was the first time I never paid no attention to it.

Q. You moved there in 1900 you think?

A. '98 or '99, or 1900.

Q. Well, you have three years latitude, now. Can you get closer than three years? When did you move there as near as you can—what year did you move there?

A. Well, sir, I wouldn't say positively whether it was '99 or 1900; I can't say. I don't remember.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, FRANK ENGLES, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Frank Engles.

Q. What is your age?

A. I will be 55 years old the 10th day of November.

Q. Where do you live? A. Sapulpa, Oklahoma.

Q. How long have you lived in Sapulpa?

A. It will be 17 years the 8th of next August.

Q. Where did you live prior to going to Sapulpa?

A. Wagoner, Oklahoma.

Q. When did you go to Wagoner to live?

A. I moved there in January, 1891, when I moved my family there.

Q. Had you been around Wagoner prior to moving there in 1891? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long?

A. Well, I lived at Pryor Creek nearly two years and I used to haul lumber from Wagoner up to Pryor Creek to build houses. Used to buy my lumber from John Newberry there.

Q. When did you go to Wagoner? With your family, or ahead of them? A. I went ahead of them.

Q. When did you go there yourself?

A. I came in December '90.

Q. December 1890? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins?

A. Well, not right at the time that I moved there. Well, it is just hard to tell the exact month or the time that I was there until I met her; it was along five or six months—something like that.

Q. Do you remember whether you ever saw her in a pregnant condition? A. No, I don't.

Q. Could you say whether or not you met her a short time after you got there or——

A. Well, it wasn't over six months probably, I wouldn't say just the exact month because I don't remember.

Q. Do you know whether or not she had any children?

A. Well, she had a boy around there with her, a small kid, when I saw her.

Q. Did you ever hear her say whose boy it was?

A. Well, now, I couldn't say positively about that it has been so long but the child was with her and I seen her carry it in her arms and lead it around.

Q. How large was it when you first saw it?

A. Well, the best I remember it was about a year old; looked like about a year old child—just beginning to walk.

Q. What kind of looking child was it?

A. Well, sir, it was always a very dirty looking kid. It was kept in a awful shape; I can't hardly describe it. She always kept it very filthy and dirty and ragged.

Q. Now, now often did you see it?

A. Well, after I got acquainted there and got to doing the work at the Brown hotel—I used to—there was hardly a month for six years there that I wasn't working at the Brown hotel at something in the month. I did repair work and built two additions on the Brown hotel and this Nancy Atkins was living in the little servant house there behind the hotel there, a great deal of the time, and she had this kid with her, doing the laundry work and scrubbing of the kitchen and dining room there—the rough work she had around the hotel; and then I put in a butcher shop up town, across the street from Mr. Skrimpsher, and she used to come up there quite often and bring this kid with her, and we would give her meat and things out of the shop to eat. She was kind of a pitiful character and we helped her in such way as we could, you know.

Q. Now, how long did you know this child?

A. I don't remember just the year because I wasn't very much interested in it and how I come to remember her so well was her noted character, her and another woman that was there; what makes me remember the pair so well, was the two noted characters there, her and old High Pockets, they called her.

Q. Do you know what became of this child?

A. No, I don't from my own knowledge.

Q. Did you ever—well, I will ask you, when did you quit seeing the child?

A. Well, now, that would be hard; I know I saw the child there for several years—five or six years after I was there. I can't say positively when I saw it last.

Q. Do you remember of ever hearing of its death?

Mr. German: We object to that on the ground that it is hearsay.

The Court: Sustained.

Q. What time was it with reference to the time that you moved from Wagoner that you saw the child last?

A. That I saw the child last?

Q. Yes. [A.] Well, I left Wagoner in 1901, well, now—it was along in the latter part near 1900, it seems to me like. I can't say just positive.

Q. Did you move to Sapulpa in 1901?

A. Yes, sir, I went over there and me and my oldest son went there in August of 1901 and then, I bought a lot and built my house and moved my family over the 6th day of November, 1901.

Q. You think it was about a year before you——

A. Well, I wouldn't say whether it was a year or a year and a half. I wouldn't say positively.

Q. Something like that? A. Yes, something like that.

Q. Was this child a boy or girl?

A. The one that I saw was a boy.

Q. Was he wearing pants the last time you saw him?

A. Yes, he had pants on the last time I remember seeing him.

Q. What was the general understand- and reputation among the people of the town at that time as to whose child this was?

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. Maxey: Now, we offer to prove by this witness that during the time that he lived there and knew this child, that it was the general reputation among the people of the town that it was Nancy Atkins' child.

By the Court.

Q. About what years, was it, now, that you were doing the work on that hotel there?

A. I commenced doing the work for J. R. Brown in 1892, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine.

Q. All through those years?

A. Clear up to the time I left there.

Q. Now, just about how much of that time was Nancy working at the hotel? I don't want it definite or anything of that kind but just your judgment?

A. Well, in my judgment, I don't think that there was a month during the time that I was working at the hotel that I didn't see her around there.

Q. Well, was she working there?

A. She was doing laundry; lived in the servant's house—a box house right behind the hotel.

Q. On the hotel property?

A. Yes, sir, on the hotel property.

Q. Did anybody else but the boy live there in the servant's house with her? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Well, did the boy stay with her all the time at the servant's house while——

A. Well, he was around the hotel there in the yard all the time.

Q. You say he stayed in the servants house with them, how do you know that?

A. Well, I seen them in there eating together, this boy and Nancy.

Q. Anybody else with them?

A. No, I saw the servants around there with them.

Q. Now, this boy—I wish you would tell me just as near as you can, what he looked like—what was his complexion? Did he look like an Indian, negro, or white boy? Just describe him as near as you can.

A. Well, he was dark as well as I remember him; he was always dirty.

Q. But suppose he was cleaned up; give your judgment as to the color of his hair.

Q. Well, he was very dark complexion as well as I remember.

Q. Well, what was the color of his hair?

A. Well, I can't say positively the color of his hair.

Q. You say he was a dark complexioned boy—do you mean his skin was dark? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was his hair dark?

A. Well, it seems to me that his hair was kind of brownish yellow—dirty color.

Q. Well, now what impression did he give you as to whether he was white, Indian or negro, or whether he was a mixture?

A. Well, the impression now that I had, thinking as the general public there did that it was her style, that it was an Indian, having an Indian mother, naturally a man would think it was an Indian child. Of course I wasn't—I didn't know who his father was.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. Did you ever [] the name of the child?

A. Yes, I have heard it but I don't know it positive.

Q. Did you ever hear Nancy call it anything?

A. Hear her call it son, honey—loving ways; all names like a mother would call her children.

Q. Did you ever hear Nancy say whose child it was?

A. Well, I can't say that positively.

The Court: Says he can't say.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mr. Engles, you first went to Wagoner in 1891, did you say? A. I went there to make it my home?

Q. In 1891? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you moved away from there in 1901?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. In August? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long before you left there, was it, that you last saw the child that you are talking about?

A. Well, just as I told you a minute ago, I can't say exactly the year or the month—I don't remember.

Q. What was the last time before you left Wagoner that you did any work on that hotel?

A. Well, it was not so long because I did all the work that has been done after I first moved there and begun to do his work. No other man ever did any work for him.

Q. Was this child around that hotel when you did the last piece of work on it?

A. Well, I can't say, the last piece of work because——

By the Court.

Q. I think we can shorten this a little. Do you have any recollection now that the boy had disappeared as far as you knew before you left town?

A. No, sir, I don't have any recollection.

Mr. German.

Q. Had Nancy disappeared?

A. I couldn't say that; I don't think she had.

Q. You think she was still in Wagoner when you left town? A. Yes—I think she was.

Q. You say that—— The period of time covered by your notice of this boy was five or six years?

A. Yes, all that, maybe more, I don't remember the exact time; I had nothing to——

Q. About what age was this boy when you last saw it in Wagoner?

A. Well, he was a good big chunk of a kid; six or seven years old. Of course, I can't say just his age not knowing but judging from the size of the child——

Q. Now, you say during the entire time that you made repairs on that hotel, during the entire period of time and every time, or approximately every time that you made repairs on that hotel, that Nancy was around there?

A. Well, don't get that every time I had a piece of work there because I would go down sometimes and hang a couple of screens and go back again, but every time that I did work of any note I note—I built additions on to the hotel.

Q. When was it you built the additions?

A. 1895, I built the additions.

Q. Both of them?

A. No, it was two or three years apart.

Q. Well, when was the first addition?

A. The first addition was in '94.

Q. When was the second?

A. Well, that was '97; that was somewheres about that.

Q. What hotel was that?

A. J. R. Brown hotel; big red hotel, a little bit south or southwest of the depot.

Q. Is it there now? A. No, sir, torn down.

Q. Was it there when you left Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Every time that you ever noticed Nancy was at that hotel?

A. No, sir, I couldn't say—I didn't say that; I saw her all over town.

Q. Did you know—did you ever know her to live any place but in that shack back of that hotel?

A. She used to stay in a tent over back of Davis and Jones store.

Q. When?

A. Well, I can't name the time but during the time I had known her. She would go over there and stay a week or two; maybe sometimes she would quit the hotel for a week. She was a character that gadded around a good deal all over town, quite a noted character.

Q. You say you lived near Wagoner?

A. I lived at Pryor Creek.

Q. Pryor Creek? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did any work in Wagoner before you moved to Wagoner?

A. Nothing, only built my own residence; I came down and built my own residence.

Q. When did you start your residence? A. 1891.

Q. 1891? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, you moved there in '91?

A. Moved my family there.

Q. The first time that you ever saw this child did it have on dresses? A. Had dresses on, yes, sir.

Q. Short dresses or long? A. Short dresses.

Q. How old was it?

A. I judge a year, I couldn't say exactly.

Q. What time in 1891 did you move there?

A. Moved there in January.

Q. Where was Nancy working the first time you ever saw that child?

A. Well, I don't know that I could just name that place unless a man would take a notebook and was looking for something like this; I couldn't say, but it was in Wagoner.

Q. Was it at the hotel?

A. No, I wasn't working at the hotel the first year I was there.

Q. How long had you been in Wagoner before you saw Nancy?

A. Oh, I judge five, six, or seven months before I got acquainted with her, might have been here before but I didn't know her.

Q. Now, Mr. Engles, when did you first think about this matter in recent years?

A. Oh, she has appeared to me a thousand times but I never gave it any thought or study until about two years ago.

Q. Who first came to see you? A. Mr. White.

Q. Jim White? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Of Coweta? A. Used to be of Wagoner.

Q. You have known him intimately?

A. I have known him ever since a year or two after I went to Wagoner.

Q. How long did Mr. White talk to you about it the first time?

A. He just asked me if I knew about Nancy Atkins, and I told him I remembered her.

Q. Did you tell him you remembered her well?

A. Yes, I told him I remembered her.

Q. How long was he in conversation with you?

A. I suppose about five minutes.

Q. Was that all he stated to you?

A. Yes, sir, that was over at Sapulpa when he asked me that.

Q. That was over at Sapulpa? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you testify over there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you testified over there you didn't know the name of the boy?

A. I didn't say what it was, you watch and see.

Q. Yes, sir, I am asking you?

A. No, sir, I didn't know the name of it.

Q. You don't know whose child that was?

A. Nothing only what she said. The child was with her all the time.

Q. I thought you said that you didn't remember?

A. The child was with her and she always called it pet names.

Q. You just conclude that?

A. Yes, I told you a while ago I didn't know whether it was her child because I wasn't at the wake.

Q. Did you know the Birney negroes?

A. Yes, I used to know them.

Q. They had some children in their family?

A. I suppose so, most all colored people do.

Q. Were there any boys? A. Yes.

Q. Any girls? A. Yes.

Q. What was their names? A. I do not know.

Q. You don't know? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, you saw Nancy running around or saw all of those children going around with Nancy?

A. Well, I don't think I did ever see them running around with her very much. I couldn't say whether I ever did or not.

Q. Well, refresh your memory now, let's see if they didn't go around with her?

A. I say I don't remember, they might have done it, I don't know.

Q. Did you know the Williams family there, colored people? A. Might have known them but I don't remember.

Q. Did you know Joe Birney, a little boy child?

A. Not that I remember.

Q. Can you say that you ever saw any other children running around with Nancy at any time there?

A. Oh, I have seen her playing with little girls at the hotel; she used to take them out on a bicycle to teach them to ride.

Q. What did she call those girls? A. I don't know.

Q. Did she call them pet names? A. I don't know.

Q. She probably said honey so and so?

A. She might have, I don't know.

Q. In fact, don't you remember to have heard her do that? A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. Now, it was in 1897 that you built the last addition to that hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Nancy was there then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In that house back of the hotel?

A. Yes, sir, she was working there and was scrubbing the floor. One incident that makes me remember that so well was—— I will just tell that.

The Court: Yes, I will be glad to hear it.

A. I was taking out the old refrigerator between the dining room and the kitchen and had it all torn out but one side; and there was one or two drummers there that day. And the old man always gave me my dinner when I was working there. There was a rat about half grown, the cat chased it out and it run up the fellow's breeches leg, and we tore the fellow's breeches to get it out. And old Nancy was there with a broom running around.

Q. You say Nancy was fighting the rat with a broom?

A. Yes, sir, and there was a little house dog and cat chased the rat and it was so close it run up the fellow's breeches leg.

Q. Was that known as the Barnard Hotel?

A. No, sir, that was north of there.

Q. Was that known as McAnnally's?

A. No, sir, it was J. R. Brown's Hotel.

Q. J. R. Brown's Hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And this child was there then?

A. I didn't say I saw the child that day. I say Nancy was there.

Q. Oh, Nancy was there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know about Nancy keeping some children of Minnie Atkins there, did you know that?

A. I never heard of Minnie Atkins until this case come up.

Q. And you never knew of her?

A. No, sir, never heard of Nancy Atkins until this case.

Mr. Maxey: You mean Minnie?

A. Minnie, I mean Minnie Atkins.

Q. Don't you know now, just to refresh your memory, that in 1896 Nancy had a boy there by the name of Charlie?

A. No.

Q. And she kept him for two or three years?

A. I don't remember.

Q. You do not? A. No, sir.

Q. Never was with her while you saw her?

A. Not of that description, no I don't know anything about that part of it.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You didn't know a boy down there with Nancy by the name of Harvey?

A. No, Judge, I don't remember any of the names that the kids went by.

Q. Well, now, how old are you?

A. I will be fifty-five years the tenth day of this coming November.

Q. That has been how long ago? Since you went there, twenty-six or twenty-seven years?

A. Twenty-six or twenty-seven years.

Q. You were about thirty years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You worked about that hotel a good deal? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Nancy worked in the laundry?

A. She did the laundry, she just washed out of a tub.

Q. Did you talk with her any in the laundry?

A. Oh, passed along by there and probably spoke to her.

Q. Did you go in the laundry? A. She didn't have any laundry, it was just a little kind of shed.

Q. Well, did you go into the shed?

A. I expect I went in there.

Q. Went in there and talked with her? A. No.

Q. Well, how is it after nearly thirty years you can remember these endearing names that she called that child; why does that impress itself on you, honey and baby?

A. Because I heard her.

Q. Did you ever hear anybody else call children honey and baby? A. Every place I go, yes, sir.

Q. They all call them honey and baby? A. Yes, sir.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF OKLAHOMA.

Pleas and proceedings before the Honorable Ralph E. Campbell, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Oklahoma, presiding in the following entitled cause:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Equity vs. No. 2131

MINNIE ATKINS, et al.

VOLUME IV.

Statement of the Evidence (Continued).

And thereupon, W. A. McELROY was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. W. A. McElroy.
Q. What is your age? A. Forty-nine.
Q. Where do you live?
A. I live in Jennings, Pawnee County, Oklahoma.
Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner, Oklahoma?
A. I used to live west of Wagoner up close to Coweta.
Q. What year did you live there?
A. I lived there from 1889 to 1901.
Q. Did you ever live in the town of Wagoner?
A. No, sir, I never did.
Q. What was your business when you were up there?
A. I was in the cattle business, pasture business.
Q. Did you have occasion to be about Wagoner very much? A. Yes, sir, I was there a good deal.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with her?

A. Well, I used to see Nancy around before I saw her at Wagoner. Then I saw her at Wagoner.

Q. Do you remember about the first time you saw her in Wagoner?

A. I think the first time was somewhere about 1890.

Q. Did you ever see her in a pregnant condition?

A. No, sir, don't know that I ever did.

Q. Do you know whether she ever had a child?

A. Well, the report there was once that she had a child.

Mr. German: Wait a minute.

The Court: Never mind what the report was. Do you know of your own knowledge?

A. Well, I know this: They taken up a collection for her, and said she had a child behind Davis and Jones Store, but I wasn't out there.

Q. About when was that? A. I think about 1890.

Mr. Cruce: We move to exclude the statement about taking up a collection—— I will withdraw the objection.

Q. Where was the collection taken up?

A. Taken up there at Davis and Jones store.

Q. Did you ever see the child?

A. Not for a while; I seen it around there with Nancy afterwards, or that she said was her son, I understood it was hers.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about it?

A. No, sir, I don't know that I ever did.

Mr. German: We move to strike his answer as to what he understood.

The Court: As to what he understood will not be considered by the Court.

Q. How often did you see it with Nancy?

A. I was there about every six months for several years and I saw it around town there nearly every time I was there.

Q. About how large was it the first time you ever saw it?

A. Well, the first time I ever saw it was around Davis and Jones store or on the street around Bill Smith's Drug Store; sometimes it was on the street with Nancy.

Q. Did you ever see it around with Nancy?

A. Yes, sir, I saw it in Davis and Jones Store with Nancy.

Q. How many years did you see it around there?

A. Well, off and on until I left there in 1901.

Q. About how large was it? The last time you saw it, what age would you take it to be?

A. I take it to be seven or eight years old.

Q. Do you know what became of the child?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. Do you know what the general reputation, or repute in the town there amongst the people was as to whose child it was?

Mr. German: We object to that.

The Court: You may answer that yes, or no. You are asked whether you know what the general reputation was there as to whether it was Nancy's child. Now, general reputation. You may answer yes or no.

A. Yes.

Q. That is made up by what people say about it.

The Court: All right. Put the question.

Q. What was that general reputation?

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Sustained.

Mr. Maxey: Now, we offer to show by him that it was the general reputation in the town there among the people who lived there at that time, that this child he has described was Nancy Atkins' child.

The Court: In a good many instances where your profert has been made the record doesn't show that the witness could have answered.

Mr. German: Very frequently he has simply asked what was that reputation.

The Court: Well, we will not take up any further time.

Q. Do you remember what the name of this child was?

A. Yes, always understood it was Tommy Atkins.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You understood it to be Tommy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir, that is what they called it around Betsy Birney's.

Q. Where did Betsy live?

A. She lived right back of Davis and Jones Store.

Q. You went around there very frequently, didn't you?

A. Well, I had to, yes, sir.

Q. Why?

A. Well, I had three niggers that was working for me and they used to keep there a great deal and I had to go by there to get them.

Q. What were those negroes names?

A. Sam Wood, Jim Pipp and Atwood ———.

Q. What years were you there? A. 1896, '7, and '8.

Q. And then was the first time you learned his name?

A. No, I saw the child around there before that.

Q. I am asking you if it wasn't when you first learned its name? A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Well, didn't you assign that as the reason you remembered its name?

A. Yes. It was known amongst the boys as Tommy Atkins?

Q. That is all you know? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, these boys working for you in 1896, '7 and '8, isn't that the time that you first learned its name?

A. Well, I expect it is.

Q. Was Nancy living there?

A. I couldn't say she was, I saw her around there a good deal.

Q. Did the boy live at Betsy Birney's?

A. That is my understanding.

Q. All the time? A. I couldn't say that.

Q. That is the only place you ever saw him in a house?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That wasn't back of the Brown Hotel?

A. Well, you might say it was back of both of them.

Q. Right by the side?

A. No, it was kind of to the back.

Q. How far from the store?

A. A hundred and seventy-five or two hundred yards.

Q. Faced the same way as the store did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And back of the store and back of the hotel were these negro houses? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Including these negro houses? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What other negro houses? A. Oh, a number.

Q. Any shacks back there?

A. Yes, sir, I think there was.

Q. Who occupied them?

A. I couldn't tell you that because I wasn't around any of them.

Q. There were a number of colored children around there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Name some of those colored children?

A. Well, I don't know that I could outside of Dick Birney.

Q. Name them? A. I couldn't do it.

Q. What sized boy was Dick Birney when you first knew him? A. Twelve or fifteen years.

Q. When was it you first learned who he was?

A. Well, when I was going back there after those niggers.

Q. In 1895, '6 and '7 or '8, is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how many other negro children were back there?

A. I couldn't tell you. Seven, eight or ten sometimes maybe.

Q. Who did they live with? A. Couldn't tell you that.

Q. How many of them lived with the Birney's?

A. Couldn't tell you that.

Q. About?

A. Well, I don't know how many lived at Birney's.

Q. What was the name of some other children back there?

A. Couldn't tell you.

Q. Well, these boys called the names of all of those didn't they?

A. Well, I expect they did. I would just go by old Betsy's and Dick and get the boys that were working for me.

Q. You are unable to call the names of any other children that they called? A. I can't remember.

Q. When was it you first talked about this boy lately?

A. Well, I don't know when was the first time.

Q. You have talked to some one about it lately, haven't you? A. No, I don't know that I have.

Q. How come them to bring you here as a witness?

A. Well, I have talked to Jim White and the lawyers.

Q. When did you first talk to Jim White about this?

A. Oh, I expect two years ago.

Q. Where? A. At Jennings, Oklahoma.

Q. Jim come over there to see you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did he stay with you?

A. Oh, I think he stayed over night probably.

Q. Talked with you that night about this case?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Told you what he was trying to do?

A. No, he told me he had a lease on this place.

Q. Told you about Nancy having a boy named Tommy?

A. Well, I already knew that, knew she had a boy; he told me he had a lease on the Tommy Atkins place.

Q. He told you it was important for him to prove that it was her boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that his name was Tommy? A. Well, yes.

Q. And he also told you some folks said she had a child that was born dead? A. Well, I don't know.

Q. He didn't tell you about that? A. No, sir.

Q. When did he talk with you again about it?

A. Well, I saw him at different times.

Q. How many different times since that first time?

A. Well. I have saw him several times.

Q. Did he come over there to see you any more?

A. He was over there two or three weeks ago.

Q. And talked with you again about it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he refresh your memory as to anything else at that time? A. No, sir.

Q. Tell the Court where Nancy Atkins worked in Wagoner? A. Where did she work in Wagoner?

Q. Yes?

A. I never saw her any place only around old Betsy's.

Q. Where was Dick's store?

A. Across the road from Davis and Jones.

Q. Did you know Nancy well?

A. No, just when I saw her around Wagoner, Coweta and around here.

Q. Talked with her frequently? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't know of any place that she worked besides in Dick Birney's restaurant? A. No, sir.

Q. When did he quit running that restaurant?

A. Don't know that.

Q. When did you first know him to run it?

A. Well, about 1886.

Q. How long did he run it about?

A. I couldn't tell you that.

Q. About how long? A. He was running it in 1897.

Q. Well, Dick wasn't living with Betsy at that time?

A. Couldn't tell you that. The boys used to eat there. They were both in town.

Q. Did you know about Nancy working at the Barnard Hotel, you didn't? A. No, sir.

Q. And at Brown's Hotel? A. No, sir.

Q. And at McAnalley's Restaurant a good deal?

A. No, sir.

Q. And for some white families?

A. I couldn't tell you about that.

Q. When was the last time you ever saw Nancy in Wagoner? A. Well, I think about 1889.

Q. You mean 1899? A. '99, yes, sir.

Q. When did you leave Wagoner?

A. I left there in March, '91, I think.

Q. March, 1901, you mean? A. Yes, sir, 1901.

Q. And the last time you saw her was probably in '99?

A. About ninety-nine.

Q. What was the color of this boy's hair?

A. I think it was tolerable light.

Q. What was the color of his eyes?

A. I couldn't tell you that exactly, I never paid much attention.

Q. How old was he the last time you saw him?

A. Seven or eight years old.

Q. Seven or eight years old in 1899, is that right?
A. Something like that, yes, sir.
Q. Do you know of any other children that ever—— Did this child run around with Nancy?
A. Well, I saw him there on the street with Nancy.
Q. And what other children did you see with her?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did you ever see this Joe Birney with her?
A. Yes, I have seen Dick with her.
Q. Seen all of these boys with her?
A. Yes, I have seen two or three with her, yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You didn't know Nancy but very slightly? A. No, sir.
Q. Just knew her when you saw her?
A. Yes, sir, talked to her. Never had no long talk with her.
Q. Never had a long talk with her? A. No, sir.
Q. And the only place you ever saw her work was at Birney's? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You paid no attention to her except when you saw her?
A. That is all.
Q. How much did you give in 1890 about this baby that Nancy had?
A. I don't remember just what I did give, but they taken up a collection.
Q. You didn't know whether it was to bury Nancy's baby or not?
A. Well, they said she gave birth to a baby back of the store and was in bad condition.
Q. She had given birth to a child and the child was dead and that she was in a destitute condition, that is the way that occurred?
A. I couldn't say whether the child was dead or not.
Q. But it was reported that she was in a destitute condition? A. Yes, sir.
Q. And that was in 1890? A. About that year.
Q. About that year? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You don't know who took up that collection?
A. It was one of the Childers.
Q. One of the Childers took up that collection?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. And you never saw Nancy staying at any place or around any place of abode except the Birney's?
A. No, sir, I don't believe I ever did.
Q. And your recollection with reference to that child is very hazy? A. Well, that collection——

Q. I am talking about the child. Your recollection about the appearance of that child is very hazy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You couldn't for the life of you tell what that child looked like now, could you? A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. You say these men that worked for you stayed at Betsy Birney's?

A. They taken their meals there when they was in town.

Q. And you used to go down to her house to get them to take them in the country? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Betsy Birney lived there with her children at that time in 1896, 1897, and 1898? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you have no recollection of this boy prior to the time you saw him there at Betsy Birney's? A. No, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Do you know Dave Marshall? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was a clerk for Davis and Jones at the time of this collection?

A. Well, I couldn't say. He worked there a good deal.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. Mr. McElroy, I meant to ask you about the appearance of this child. About his color and what nationality did he appear to be?

A. He always appeared to me to be an Indian and white child. Had tolerable light hair.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. I thought you told me the last thing that for the life of you you couldn't tell how that child looked?

A. How is that?

Q. I thought you told me that for the life of you, you couldn't tell how that child looked?

A. Well, I understood you to mean what that child looked like now.

Q. Have you seen the child lately?

A. No, sir, I haven't seen it lately.

Mr. Stuart: Well, all right.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Now, the first time you ever noticed the child was in 1896, '7, and '8, along there when those boys were at the house of the Birney's? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. How old was the boy then?

A. I took him to be seven or eight years old.

Q. Was he tall and thin or kind of dumpy?

A. Tolerable slender.

Q. Bright looking boy? A. Tolerable bright, yes, sir.

Q. Healthy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Ruddy cheeks? A. Tolerable well looking boy.

Q. I say rudddy cheeks, showed color in his cheeks?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Kind of a sharp nose?

A. Well, I can't tell you that, he didn't have a fat nose like a nigger.

Q. Had a good nose? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And good hair? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many boys were around Birney's that you can describe?

A. Well, I don't know that I can describe any particular—most of them——

Q. Dick was a nigger, wasn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Any trouble describing Dick? A. No, sir.

Q. Because you know how a nigger looks?

A. I had seen Dick, too.

Q. What was that?

A. I saw Dick here the other day.

Q. So you can describe Dick? A. Yes.

Q. If you can told about any child that is half Indian and half white you can describe him, too, can't you? A. Sure.

Q. You know how a half Indain and half white looks?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. So, that child was seven or eight years old in 1896?

A. Something like that.

Q. Well, a while ago you said seven or eight years old in 1899. Is he seven or eight years old every time you saw him?

A. Well, the last time I saw him he was seven or eight years old then.

Q. Then, he wasn't seven or eight years old in 1896, was he? A. No.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, J. M. PRESTON, introduced as a witness on behalf of Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. J. M. Preston.

Q. What is your age, Mr. Preston? A. I am 54.

Q. Where do you live? A. Wagoner, Oklahoma.

Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?

A. Twenty-three or four years.

Q. Do you remember what year you went there?

A. I went there in 1903, I think, three or four.

Q. 1903, or 1893? A. 1893 or four—that is right.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is your business?

A. Why I am a building contractor; contracting building.

Q. What were you doing along in 1893 or four when you went there?

A. Well, I was working at a lumber yard then, work was scarce then and I had to get work at anything that I could get.

Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins at that time?

A. Yes, not when I went there but afterwards.

Q. How soon after you went there did you get acquainted with her?

A. Well, it was '94, or '95 when I first knew Nancy Atkins.

Q. You know whether or not she had a child?

A. She did.

Q. What kind of a looking child was it?

A. Well, it was a sort of—looked like a medium healthy—

The Court: How was that?

A. Medium healthy; he looked to me like he might be some where from five to seven years old and light complected and he had a—he wasn't white headed, he wasn't red headed; he had what I would call a molasses hair and little bit wavy.

Q. Where did you see the child?

A. I saw him in the Davis and Jones camp yard back of their store.

Q. What was the child called?

A. Tommy, that is what they called him; what his mother called him.

Q. Did you ever talk with Nancy about the child?

A. Yes, some.

Q. What did she say about it as to whose child it was, if anything?

A. Well, she said that he was her child. I told her that wasn't what I asked her, who was his daddy, and she said well, you might know, or something to that effect that he was a white man's child.

Q. Well, now, how often did you see it around there?

A. About a week?

Q. About a week?

A. Yes, I got my wages and quit work there.

Q. When did you leave there?

A. Well, sometime in the winter of '94 or '95.

Q. Now, how old did the child appear to be at that time?

A. Well, I would have taken the child to have been somewhere about—anywhere from five to six years old; might have been seven. It seemed that he was a kind of dwarf—wasn't a healthy child and might have been small for his age.

Q. Now, after you left the lumber yard, did you see the child any more?

A. No, sir, not that I remember. They passed out of my mind. I was making a living and never mixed up with that class of people.

Q. Did you ever see the child anywhere than in Davis and Jones' store?

A. I never saw him in there that I remember.

Q. Where was it that you——

A. In Davis and Jones' camp yard and we were using it, the camp yard, as a lumber yard at that time.

Q. They had a camp yard back of the store? A. Yes.

Q. And you used the camp ground at that time?

A. Yes, sir, they used it as a kind of a accomodation for farmers and let this man move his lumber yard in there, and she lived back there somewhere, and she came in through a little gate—hatch, in the fence when I saw her and noticed her.

Q. Do you know what become of the child?

A. I don't; only by what I heard.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. How long have you lived in Wagoner?

A. Since about '93 or '94—1893 and four.

Q. Right there in town?

A. Right in the town except months that I moved away about 12 years ago and went to Texas; I went back and bought my old home again.

Q. The first time you ever saw this boy that you are talking about was in the lumber yard? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And where was that lumber yard?

A. It was in the rear of Davis and Jones' Mercantile business.

Q. How long did you work in that lumber yard?

A. About a week, I think; five days probably.

Q. And where else did you see him? A. Never saw him.

Q. Never saw him? A. Not that I remember.

Q. In your life? A. No, sir.

Q. That you recollect? A. No, sir.

Q. Except in that lumber yard? A. No.

Q. During that week, how often did you see him during that week? A. Oh, I saw him every day, I think.

Q. Every day during that week?

A. He was there in my way several times, running around there; a little dirty thing.

Q. How many different times did you ever work in that lumber yard? A. That was the only time.

Q. Now, what year was that? A. 1894 or '95.

Q. How do you fix that year?

A. Well, just by the time that I went there.

Q. When did you go there?

A. I went there in '93 or '94.

Q. Don't you know what year you went to Wagoner?

A. No, I don't; it has been so long.

Q. Well, where did you go from to Wagoner?

A. Which?

Q. Where did you go from to Wagoner?

A. Muskogee, below Muskogee here.

Q. What were you doing before you went to Wagoner—what was your business?

A. I bought a lease and farmed one year.

Q. And farmed? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you farm more than one year?

A. I farmed partly two years and the first year I came here——

Q. How old were you when you went to Wagoner?

A. About 38—about 28.

Q. Had you ever done any carpenter work before you farmed that year that you speak of?

A. Not here, I had done some stone work.

Q. How long had you been in the farming business?

A. I farmed two years, that is, and worked out together with my trade.

Q. Do you mean to tell the Court that your removal to Wagoner when you entered into the contracting business, the date of your removal theer didn't make any impression on your mind so that you can tell what year it was?

A. Not at all, not at all.

Q. Well, you entered on a new life, new profession, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you don't remember what year it was?

A. Not exactly.

Q. How long after you went to Wagoner, was it, that you [] in this lumber yard? A. About two years.

Q. About two years? A. Something like that.

Q. If you went to Wagoner in '94, you were in the lumber yard in '96? A. '95 or '96.

Q. I say, if you went to Wagoner in '94, you were in the lumber yard in '96? A. '95 or '96.

Q. This child was with Nancy there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The child that you have described? A. Yes.

Q. Did it have on dresses?

A. No, it didn't have on anything much; might been in pants.

Q. Didn't she call it Harvey or Charlie?

A. Not to me; she might have but not to me.

Q. Not to you? A. No.

Q. Didn't she speak of her sister Minnie?

A. Never heard of Minnie.

Q. You never heard of her? A. No.

Q. You knew Nancy, though, from the time you went to Wagoner until she left there? A. No.

Q. You didn't see Nancy? A. No.

Q. Around town? A. Not that I remember of.

Q. Weren't you around town quite a lot?

A. Not a great deal; the town was small then and I stayed on my work and never mixed up with such people.

Q. Wasn't Nancy quite a character, the talk of the town?

A. I didn't know it at that time.

Q. When did you find it out?

A. Just since I have been here in this case.

Q. Since you have been in this case?

A. Yes, sir; then I knew in my own knowledge that she—

Q. Who was the first person that you talked with about this case? A. I don't remember who I talked with.

Q. Well, do you know Jim White? A. I know Jim White.

Q. Did you talk with him? A. No, not to——

Q. You haven't talked with Jim?

A. The first talk I had with Jim was when he had a subpoena for me.

Q. Well, how did you find out that you knew anything?

A. I don't know just by my being an old timer there, I suppose.

Q. Well, who subpoenaed you? A. Mr. White.

Q. Mr. White. He talked to you then, didn't he about this matter?

A. No, I don't think he—he was in a hurry, I don't reckon he said a dozen words.

Q. Since you were subpoenaed, who has talked with you about what you are going to testify?

A. I don't know, no one in particular except the lawyer asked me as lawyers what they expected to prove of me and so on.

Q. Well, wasn't the color of that child's hair between the color of butter and color of molasses?

A. That child's hair was between the color of white and red. Now, you can make any color out of it you want to, I am not much of a painter.

Q. You could make black out of that couldn't you?

A. No.

Q. Is that sort of molasses, is that the common expression with you? When is the first time that you ever heard that?

A. Common expression? I have knowed of molasses color all my life.

Q. Did you ever hear of anybody else saying molasses hair color? A. I don't remember.

Q. You don't recollect it?

A. No, I don't recollect it.

Q. Now, think just a little bit. Did you ever hear any body else [] that hair was molasses colored in your life?

A. I may have, yes.

Q. Who? A. I don't know; I can't say.

Q. Well—— A. General expression.

Q. General expression?

A. Between a white and a red, little lighter than Mr. Allen's hair would be molasses hair.

Q. Why, didn't somebody talk to you about this in 1914?

A. 1914? No, sir.

Q. Are you sure of that? Didn't you make an affidavit March 20th, 1914?

A. March 1914? Yes, I made an affidavit once upon a time.

Mr. Maxey: Talk out a little louder.

A. I made an affidavit.

Q. Well, then, you are mistaken, aren't you, about when somebody talked to you about it? Who did you talk with before you made that affidavit?

A. I talked with—I don't know who he was. I believe it was Harrison Cunningham; I don't know the man.

Q. Well, have you read that affidavit over? A. No, sir.

Q. In the last two or three days? A. No, I haven't.

Q. Sure of that?

A. Well, let's see. Yes, I saw that affidavit, I think.

Q. When? A. I aint sure; probably yesterday.

Q. Probably yesterday? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you say that boy was from five to seven years old? A. Somewhere from five to seven I judge.

Q. Well, you didn't refresh your memory good from the affidavit, did you?

A. I don't know; I was going on my knowledge.

Q. Now, when you was there, when you saw this boy it was either in '95 or '96? A. Yes.

Q. And didn't you say in that affidavit that the boy was four or five years old? A. I think I did.

Q. Yes, sir. Well, now, why do you change it now?

A. Well, I don't change it, I still say——

Q. Still say it was four or five years old? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Were you pretty well acquainted around Wagoner at that time? A. Tolerably, yes, sir.

Q. You knew that darkies lived there pretty well?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know Jim Williams?

A. I know Nora Williams.

Q. Never heard of Jim Williams? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear of Jim Williams restaurant?

A. I have heard of it.

Q. Well, didn't you ever see Jim Williams' restaurant when you was in Wagoner? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Wasn't that a notorius restaurant there—that old Jim Williams ran? A. I can't say.

Q. Can't say? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear of Elnora Williams? A. No.

Q. Did you ever hear of Eliza Sterling? A. No.

Q. Ever hear of Angelina Moody? A. I heard of Moody.

Q. Do you know her? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear of Patsy Overton? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know her? A. Knew the name.

Q. Did you ever hear of Betsy Birney?

A. Heard of her.

Q. Did you know her? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear of Henry Kidd? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did Henry do? A. He ran a blacksmith shop.

Q. The truth about the matter is that you never did know anything about the colored people over there, did you?

A. No, I never mixed much with them.

Q. You never mixed with them and didn't know anything about them but Nancy did mix with them, didn't she?

A. I don't know.

Q. Didn't Nancy associate with the colored people?

A. I couldn't say; I saw her right there in the lumber yard.

Q. You just saw that woman—just glanced at her as an Indian woman, didn't you? A. No.

Q. Paid no attention to her?

A. No, she came out to where I was.

Q. What did she come out to you for?

A. I don't know.

Q. Did she hunt you up?

A. I don't know; the boy was out there.

Q. She didn't—I didn't ask anything about the boy. Nancy came out there to hunt you up? A. No.

Q. What was she doing there? A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know what month she was there? A. No.

Q. What was she doing there? A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know what year she was there?

A. I can't say for sure.

Q. You saw her once at the lumber yard?

A. I saw her several times.

Q. What did she come out to the lumber yard for?

A. Passing through there—going into the store.

Q. Did she stop at your lumber yard? A. Once or twice.

Q. For a talk with you? A. Not particular.

Q. Not particular. Did you have a general talk with her?

A. No, didn't have a general talk.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Do you remember when the Creeks got their payment in '95? A. '95?

Q. Don't you remember the Creek Indian payment?

A. I remember a payment at Fort Gibson.

Q. Do you remember a payment at Okmulgee?

A. I have heard of it probably.

Q. You don't remember when that was?

A. No, I was making my own living and attending to my own business.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, D. W. BEST, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendants, Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. D. W. Best.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Best? A. Wagoner, Oklahoma.

Q. How old are you?

A. I will be 66 next birthday, the 30th day of November coming.

Q. How long have you lived in the town of Wagoner?

A. Since '95.

Q. 1895? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know a woman by the name of Nancy Atkins when you lived in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How soon after you went there did you get acquainted with——

A. Oh, a short time, I can't say exactly what length of time it might be; a short length of time, anyway. Probably during '95—1895.

Q. Do you know whether or not she had a child?

A. Yes, sir, she had a child I supposed to be hers; I was told it was supposed to be hers.

Q. What kind of looking child was it?

A. Well, he was a little swarthy fellow; Oh, I don't know whether you'd call him mulatto, nigger, part Indian or what he was. Anyway, he was not a white child.

Q. About how old was he when you first saw her?

A. I judge him to be between four and five years old; possibly older than that, I can't tell exactly.

Q. Where did you see him the first time?

A. The first time I seen him was on Cherokee street in front of a blacksmith shop known as John Easton's.

Q. Who was with him?

A. The mother, the first time I seen him to know who he was, or her either.

Q. Did you talk with her at that time? A. I did not.

Q. How often did you see him there after that?

A. Oh, frequently; I couldn't say how often, different times though, first and last.

Q. About how long did you continue to see him?

A. Up until—sometimes, I think, in 1908.

Q. Until 1908?

A. 1898, maybe up to 1900, I am not sure. It was something I paid no attention to.

Q. Do you know what became of him?

A. I am told he died, sir.

Mr. German: We move to strike that.

The Court: That will not be considered; never mind about what you heard.

Q. Do you remember about the time that you heard that he died? A. Yes, sir.

Q. As to what year it was?

A. Well, to the best of my recollection, that it was in 1909—1899, I should say.

Mr. German: Your Honor, that is incompetent.

The Court: Yes, that is incompetent as to what he heard.

Mr. Maxey: I was trying to get the date, that is all.

Q. About how old was he the last time you saw him?

A. If I remember right, he was something like nine years old, between nine and eleven—something along there. I can't judge his age, Judge, because I am not familiar with him enough to know.

Q. Was there a general reputation in the town of Wagoner at that time among the people who lived there as to who this boy's mother was?

The Court: Now, yes or no.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. According to that general reputation, whose child was it? A. Nancy Atkins.

Mr. German: Objected to.

The Court: Objection sustained.

Mr. German: I move to strike the answer.

The Court: Answer stricken.

Mr. Maxey: Now, we offer to prove by this witness that there was a general reputation in the town of Wagoner at the time among the people who lived there at that time as to who was the mother of this child and that according to that reputation Nancy Atkins was its mother.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. When did you go to Wagoner? A. 1895.

Q. '95? How do you fix that date?

A. I moved there in that year.

Q. And you know when you moved there?

A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. What time of the year?

A. I think February, sometime about February first.

Q. How long after you moved there was it that you first saw this boy?

A. Well, sir, I can't fix the date exactly but I think as well as I remember it was during the forepart of the year, possibly as late as April. May not [] that late.

Q. Did you know Nancy before that?

A. I had not, sir.

Q. Hadn't seen her before you moved to Wagoner?

A. No, sir.

Q. Had you seen her before you saw this boy?

A. No, sir, never did.

Q. You never did? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, to meet that boy was a great event in your life, wasn't it—to see that boy?

A. Really it might—I might say it was an accident, if you will allow me to express it; if the Court will allow me to tell what happened.

Q. Well, it was an accident; you nearly ran over it?

A. No, sir, no, sir; if you will allow me to explain.

The Court: Tell what the circumstances were.

A. I was at this blacksmith shop, John Easton's blacksmith shop having a pair of mules shod at that time, and this woman came walking right down the middle of the street leading a little child. The blacksmith said there comes Nancy Atkins and Tom, and he said, Nancy you better look out, this is a wild mule, and she said I don't care nothing about no mule.

Q. That attracted your attention? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You was at the blacksmith shop? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many times did you have your mules shod while you were at Wagoner?

A. That is another question I can't answer.

Q. What did you use your mules for?

A. I at that time had them hired to a man hauling. I just came down with them.

Q. How long did you own that team of mules?

A. I can't answer that either.

Q. About how long?

A. I can't say. I brought them there when I came to that country.

Q. You can't tell? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, let's see; this is a matter which concerns you, a matter of your own?

A. Yes, sir, but I hardly paid any attention to when because I was keeping the date when I had the mules.

Q. You finally got rid of those mules?

A. One of them died, sir.

Q. And you bought another?

A. I didn't; I wasn't able to buy another.

Q. When did that mule die? A. I can't tell you that.

Q. How long had you been in Wagoner when that mule died? A. Probably some six or seven years I suppose.

Q. What became of the other one?

A. I sold it, rather give it away.

Q. That one died? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was a great loss to you when the mule died?

A. It was a loss of the mule.

Q. Tell the Court when the mule died?

A. I can't do it.

Q. How many times did you have that team of mules shod at that shop?

A. That is another question; I had them shod off and on one time and another.

Q. Every year, didn't you?

A. Well, so long as I kept them and used them, I did. Wasn't in use all the time, though.

Q. This incident happened the first time you ever had the mules shod there, didn't it?

A. That was my first visit I suppose to that particular place.

Q. You are not sure about it?

A. I am pretty sure of that, too; I don't think I had ever been at that shop before, and wouldn't have been there, then, if I could have gotten them shod at another shop.

Q. You never had them shod after that there, did you?

A. Yes, at this time I didn't know this blacksmith, I knew another one and the other one was busy.

Q. You were not acquainted with him but you kept having the mules shod there? A. Well, maybe I did.

Q. This was a molasses colored haired boy, wasn't it?

A. Well, I can't say; I could say he was mulatto colored.

Q. What was the color of his hair? A. Light hair.

Q. Light hair? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you say he was four or five years old the first time you ever saw him?

A. I judged him to be four or five years old.

Q. Judged him to be four or five years old?

A. Yes, sir, that would be my judgment, to the best of my judgment, what I would judge him to be.

Q. Did you ever see him in Wagoner again?

A. I saw him time and again.

Q. Who did he live with?

A. I don't know; I suppose he lived with his mother.

Q. Don't you know where that boy lived? A. I do not.

Q. Did you ever tell anybody where he lived?

A. I never told anybody because I didn't know.

Q. Did you know Elnora Williams? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live around there?

A. I can't tell you.

Q. Did you know Mandy Barnett? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she live around there? A. I can't tell you.

Q. Where did Nancy live? A. I don't know.

Q. Never did know? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever talk to anybody about this case before?

A. I have talked with the attorneys I suppose.

Q. You suppose you have, you know.

A. Haven't talked with anybody else.

Q. Nobody else? A. Not that I know of.

Q. When did you talk with the attorneys?

A. I talked with Mr. Maxey last night.

Q. That the first time you ever talked to anybody?

A. Well, no; I talked to Mr. Gresham, I believe.

Q. That is the only——

A. Oh, I don't know—two or three years ago, I suppose—

Q. You read over the affidavit that you made in 1914, last night, didn't you? A. No, sir, I didn't read it.

Q. Was it read to you? A. No, sir.

Q. Was it talked about?

A. Yes, sir, I—it may have been.

Q. Did you make an affidavit in 1914?

A. I suppose I did.

Q. Tell the Court whether or not in that affidavit you said this, I know Nancy Atkins a Creek Indian woman and have known her practically all the time since I came to Wagoner and know she had a child by the name of Thomas Atkins and that she and the said child lived part of the time with a negro woman named Betsy Birney? A. I heard that.

Q. Now, why didn't you remember that before I read this?

A. I said I have heard it. You asked me if I knew it but I don't know it.

Q. You distinguish between things that you heard and know?

A. The Judge told me a while ago that hearsay wasn't good; I can hear lots of things.

Q. You don't know whether that was Nancy's boy or not?

A. Well, I don't know only what people say; of course it is impossible for me to know.

Q. And you don't know what his name was only from what people say, do you?

A. Certainly I don't; no other way to know.

Mr. German: I move to strike the testimony on the ground that it is hearsay.

The Court: Overruled.

Mr. German: Exceptions.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Where was that blacksmith shop that you speak of located in the town?

A. On the west side of Main street, north side of Cherokee street.

Q. Who was running that blacksmith shop?

A. A man by the name of John Easton.

Q. John Easton? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You went in there to have your mules shod, did you?

A. I drove up there to have my mules shod, yes, sir.

Q. And at that time you had never heard of Nancy Atkins had you? A. I had not; didn't know of such a person.

Q. Didn't know of Thomas Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard of any Atkins family? A. I had not.

Q. Where did you say that you came from to that country?

A. I came from Fort Smith, that is the vicinity of Fort Smith.

Q. Came from near Fort Smith, Arkansas? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you go straight to Wagoner?

A. No, sir, I left Fort Smith in 1892.

Q. Where did you go to?

A. Went to Claremore, Oklahoma, Claremore, Indian Territory.

Q. How long did you stay there? A. About one year.

Q. Where did you go then? A. Vian, Oklahoma.

Q. How long did you stay there? A. One year.

Q. Then, where did you go to? A. Then I came here.

Q. Muskogee, Oklahoma? A. Wagoner, Oklahoma.

Q. Wagoner, Oklahoma. What did you do all that time? What was your business? A. I farmed up to '95.

Q. Well, how did you farm and live in Vian?

A. I farmed and lived on a rented place.

Q. Out from Vian? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you farm and live at this other place? Had a farm out? A. Which place, if Your Honor please?

Q. Did you sleep in town? A. I didn't get your question.

Q. You say that you lived in Vian, didn't you?

A. I did, one year.

Q. Year? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Your farm was out of town?

A. That is, we call it Vian when we say that is our postoffice.

Q. Well, now, did you live in Vian or did you live in the country nearby?

A. In the country; Vian was the postoffice.

Q. How far from Vian?

A. Well, I think they call it seven miles, the best I can—

Q. When you went in there to have your mules shod, you had never heard of Nancy and had never heard of Tommy?

A. No, sir.

Q. And as she passed by, this blacksmith said, there goes Nancy and Tommy Atkins, didn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Tommy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is what he said? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Had you heard that there was anything celebrated about Tommy Atkins at that time? A. I had not.

Q. Anything celebrated about Nancy? A. No, sir.

Q. But you remember distinctly now that he said there goes Nancy and Tommy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir, he was very talkative old man.

Q. He was a very talkative man?

A. Yes, sir, he was a talkative man that day, seemed to be like he always was, jolly kind of fellow.

Q. Was that a cloudy day or fair day?

A. Fair day. Yes, sir.

Q. Perfectly fair? A. Sun was shining.

Q. Very bright all that day; was the grass pretty green?

A. Well, I couldn't say as to that.

Q. What time of the year was that?

A. I think possibly the first of June.

Q. It had rained the day before, hadn't it?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. But it was shining that day?

A. I couldn't say what it done the day before.

Q. But it was a bright day that day; Now, how do you remember it was a bright sunshiny day about twenty-five years ago?

A. Well, I don't remember any more than if it had been a cloudy or wet day I wouldn't have been there.

Q. You never shoe your mules on any day but a bright day? A. Well, I couldn't say as to that.

Q. How wide was the street in front of the blacksmith shop? A. I judge about sixty feet.

Q. And she was in the middle of the street?

A. About the middle; there were lots of teams crowded up around in front of the shop.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hill: If the Court please, when Mr. Newberry was on the stand, you reserved a ruling as to Dr. Bryant's statement, and asked if we expected to connect it. I had that impression from Mr. Newberry. Later I spoke to Nancy and she said he did not wait on her.

The Court: I will go over this various testimony at the end and determine.

Mr. Hill: Well, I just wanted the Court to understand I couldn't sustain it on the ground I asked.

The Court: It will not develop this doctor attended her?

Mr. Hill: No, Nancy said he did not. Now, in the testimony at Sapulpa I am not certain whether all the parties to it—I have asked the lawyers and Nancy was a party and Bartlett, and I am told all the other parties who were defendants there who are defendants in this case have disclaimed. Now, here is the testimony of Henry Birney that was given. I do not believe there is such an identity of parties that we could introduce it, because from my information the parties are not the same in this record. But it seems to me on the ground of a deposition it might be introduced for that purpose and we offer it.

The Court: Will there be objection to this?

Mr. German: Yes, your Honor.

The Court: Will it be admitted that this witness is dead?

Mr. German: Yes, he is dead. Here is the objection: That the complainant here was not a party and some of the defendants were not parties.

The Court: Have you any authority to sustain you?

Mr. Hill: No, sir, I was under the impression that there was some of the parties here that were parties there. I want to offer it now to preserve the record, and if your Honor will reserve ruling on it——

The Court: I will reserve ruling on it until afternoon.

Mr. Hill: It is page 39 in this record.

Mr. German: I believe you have a different page number. We offer the direct examination of Henry Birney by Mr. Gresham and the cross examination by the different attorneys who cross examined beginning at page 125 of the official transcript.

Mr. German: We object to the introduction.

The Court: The objection will be noted. I will rule on it at two o'clock.

And thereupon, Court recesses until two oclock P. M.

And thereafter, Court reconvened at two o'clock P. M., pursuant to adjournment, and the following proceedings were had:

The Court: A day or two ago when the witness, J. E. Newberry, was on the stand he was interrogated with regard to a statement made to him by one Dr. Bryant in regard to Nancy Atkins giving birth to a child. At that time objection was made by the Government, complainant, and by the Page interest to the receiving of this testimony. Counsel for Nancy Atkins at that time stated that it was his belief that the evidence later in the case would show that this doctor had waited on Nancy Atkins. It now develops that the evidence will not be produced and that it will not appear that this doctor had any connection whatever with that child's birth, so that it stands merely as the statement of the doctor as an individual which was related by the witness. The witness was asked to state what the conversation was, and in his answer he says: "I met Doctor Bryant at a gate and went into the yard of the hotel; and he says 'You ought to go and see your kid.' Says I, what kid? He says, 'Old Nancy's.' I says, thunder has she got a kid? And he says, 'She sure has'." The witness concludes that that was the only conversation. In view of the present state of the record, the motion to strike it from the record will be sustained and exception of Nancy Atkins noted.

There is now offered transcript of the evidence given by one Henry Birney at a certain trial at Sapulpa, involving some of the questions involved here, but in a case which it is conceded involved parties different, entirely different in most part from the parties in this case. Objection is interposed to the receiving of this testimony in evidence in this case. I have in mind no rule, nor is any rule of law suggested which would make this testimony competent in this case. And the objection will be sustained and your exceptions noted. You may proceed.

And thereupon, T. J. WAY was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. T. J. Way.
Q. Where do you live?
A. I live at Haskell, Muskogee County.

Q. How long have you lived at Haskell?

A. Ever since it was a town.

Q. What is your business, Mr. Way?

A. Postmaster at Haskell.

Q. What has been your business for several years?

A. Well, I was first in the cow business, in the country there, and farming.

Q. Cattle business and farming? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you lived in the Indian Territory or what was Indian Territory? A. Thirty-six years.

Q. Thirty-six years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you locate at Haskell?

A. Well, in the neighborhood of Haskell about twenty one years ago.

Q. What business were you in there?

A. Stock business, cattle business.

Q. Did you know Tom Holden and Katie Holden, his wife? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did they live with reference to Haskell or where you lived at that time?

A. They lived about three quarters of a mile from my place, about two and three quarters miles north of where Haskell is.

Q. Were you at their place frequently? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember of them having any children there other than their own? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What children did they have there?

A. Charlie and Harvey Atkins and Tommy Atkins.

Q. Now, were they all three of them there all the time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Who were there first? A. Charlie and Harvey.

Q. Did you have any talk with Mr. Holden and his wife as to whose children they were? A. Yes, I asked him——

Mr. German: Wait a minute.

The Court: He has answered yes, he is not asked to state the conversation.

Q. What relation was Mrs. Holden to Minnie and Nancy Atkins? A. Sister she told me.

Mr. Maxey: Now, we submit, your Honor——

The Court: Well, now, do you conceive you have established a relation between Mrs. Holden——

Mr. Hill: The record has established she was a half sister.

The Court: There is no question about the relation?

Mr. Maxey: No, sir.

The Court: First, who made this statement, without stating what the statement was, who made any statement to you about these children?

A. Thomas Holden and Katie Holden.

Q. Are they living or dead? A. Dead, both of them.

The Court: Tom Holden was the husband of Katie Holden?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Were they together when this statement was made by one or the other to you?

A. Yes, sir, at the house.

The Court: I am inclined to think that it is competent.

Mr. German: We save an exception.

Q. Now, whose children did they say that Charlie and Harvey were?

A. Well, they were Minnie Atkins children.

Q. Now, you say they were there before you saw Tom there?

A. Oh, yes, they had been there—oh, eight or ten months before longer—I don't recollect just how long.

Q. Now, who did you see there at the time that you saw Tommy, other than the other members of the family?

A. Well, if I could be allowed to tell that just as I saw it I could get at it a little better.

The Court: You try to answer his question. He has asked you who you saw there at the time you saw Tommy, besides Tom.

A. Well, I saw Nancy Atkins there at one time, well, I expect at different times.

Q. Did you have any conversation with Nancy and Tom Holden and Katie Holden with reference to whose child Tommy was? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Whose child did they say it was?

A. Said it was Nancy Atkins.

Mr. German: Your Honor, we object to that.

The Court: Let the witness state what was said and who said it.

Q. Just state what occurred there; what was said and who said it.

A. They said Tommy was the child of Nancy Atkins.

By the Court.

Q. Who said that? A. Well, both said it.

Q. Both of whom? A. Tom Holden and Kate Holden.

Q. Just state how the matter came up, now. You was there, now; what was said that brought this about?

A. Well, alright, I just was over to the house pretty near every day——

Q. Let me understand first again, when was that?

A. Well, it would be a pretty hard matter for me to get the time.

Q. About what year? A. Well, say, it was in '99 or 1900.

Q. '99 or 1900? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you were at the house. Now, tell me how that matter came up. What was said that caused this matter to be stated.

Q. Well, I was over there and saw this boy and asked Tom whose boy it was. He said that was Nancy Atkins boy, Katie's sister's son; now before this he came over and borrowed my buggy and said he wanted to go over to Wagoner to get little Tommy and I asked him who it was and he said it was Nancy Atkins child and he understood she wasn't taking any care of him and I let him have my buggy and he went over there and brought the boy home. And I was over there in a few days and he told me all about it. He and Katie both. I expect I talked with them at different times about it——

Q. Now, did you talk to Nancy about it?

A. When she came—Tommy the boy had been there quite a little while, I can't tell just how long when she came over. And I was over at the house and Tom Holden told me who she was; that it was Tommy's mother, introduced me in Indian way to Nancy Atkins; and I deviled with her and told her that I wanted to buy the boy—I wanted an Indian boy. My oldest child was then about a year old. His name was Tom, and I deviled her about my boy being named Tom, and that I would like to buy him from her and joked that way. She stayed there for a few days and then went away, and Katie—I was over there—well, I was by the house pretty near every day, and Kate Holden told me that Nancy had come over there to take the boy away from them and they wanted to keep it there—that she wouldn't take care of it, and shortly after that—I can't tell how long, possibly a month or possibly two weeks, she came back and taken the boy away, Tommy.

By Mr. Maxey.

Q. Now, let's get those dates right. When were you married, Mr. Way? A. The 7th day of July '87.

Q. And at the time of this you had a child about how old?

A. Well, he as I said—it was either in 1889 or——

Q. When was he born? A. Oh, 1890.

Q. When was the first child born?

A. The 5th of July 1908.

Q. 1898? A. Yes, sir, 1898.

Q. And I believe you stated he was about a year old—something like that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you saw Nancy there and talked with her?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. So that would make it somewhere in 1899 or '90?

A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Cruce: Or 1900.

Q. Now, did you ever see them any more? A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mr. Way, your given name is Tom, too?

The Court: Is your name W-a-y?

A. W-a-y; Thomas J. Way.

Q. How long had you lived close to the Holden family at the time of the occurrence you are now relating?

A. Well, I had been living there close to them for—oh, five or six years. I had land leased from Tom Holden, pasture land.

Q. How close did you live to him?

A. Oh, near three quarters of a mile.

Q. You were over frequently at their home, weren't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they visited in your home a lot, didn't they?

A. Some, yes, sir.

Q. Your baby was born in July 1898? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Might it not have been that these occurred in '98 after your child was born, or in '99?

A. Well, I don't think so.

Q. You rather think it was in '99? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You wouldn't attempt to say what part of the year?

A. Well, it was in the summer time.

Q. Well, now, Mr. Way, when was the first time you ever saw either one of the boys that you are talking about?

A. When they brought them there to Tom Holden's. But the day, now, and the month,—I can't give it.

Q. They just brought them there one at a time, didn't they?

A. No, they brought two of them; first they brought Charlie and Harvey, and afterwards brought Tommy.

Q. Don't you know that Charlie and Harvey were there in '95 before your child was born? A. Tommy?

Q. Yes? A. Tom Holden?

Q. Yes? A. They were not.

Q. Don't you remember Minnie being out to Tom's?

A. No, sir.

Q. You don't recall that? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew Minnie, didn't you about that time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Well, don't you recollect about Tom Holden going over or Kate Holden, one of the other, going over to Wagoner and getting Harvey?

A. I rather think they got them down this way somewhere in below here, I think.

Q. Down towards Eufaula? A. I think so.

Q. The first? A. Yes.

Q. But weren't these boys at Kate Holden's off and on sometimes there and sometimes not there?

A. No, they were there, Charlie and Harvey were there all—continuously, all the time, 'til Tom Holden died.

Q. When did he die?

A. I think it must have been in the fall of '90.

Q. Fall of '90? A. 1890, yes, sir.

Q. You mean 1900? A. 1900, yes, sir.

By the Court.

Q. Now, you say they had been there continuously; how long before that then?

A. Well, they had been there, I expect—I can't say positively.

Q. Several years? A. A couple or three years.

Q. Both the boys, Harvey and Charlie?

A. Harvey and Charlie, yes, sir.

Mr. Cruce: May I ask a question and see if I remember.

Q. Did you state a while ago eight or ten months before Tommy came?

A. Yes, possibly a year; that is guess work; they had been there quite a while.

By Mr. German.

Q. Now, Mr. Way wasn't it the fact that Nancy had taken care of Harvey, talked about there? A. Harvey?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. Was the fact that Nancy had taken care of either one of those boys aside from Tommy mentioned there at all?

A. No, sir.

Q. In other words, she so far as any conversation went on there, was concerned, she had never had to do with taking care of but one boy? A. As far as I know.

Q. And they talked about these boys quite a lot, didn't they? A. Which boys?

Q. All the boys that you injected into the——

A. Well, as I said a while ago, now, my idea is I don't know—I don't recollect where they got Harvey and Charlie. Charlie was the oldest and Harvey and the youngest of those two children but I am inclined to think they got them down about Eufaula.

Q. I am asking about Nancy?

A. When Tom Holden brought Tom over there, they had had the older boy quite awhile. You see Kate Holden and Tom Holden had no children and they had been to Tom's place quite a while—I can't say.

Q. Let's get down to what I am asking you about, Mr. Way. A. Yes, sir.

Q. They talked about these boys quite a lot, didn't they, and where they had been?

A. Who, Tom and Kate Holden?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they never mentioned the fact if it was a fact that Nancy had never kept any of these boys except Tommy?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. Well, you would have remembered it wouldn't you? You remember those things very well? A. I expect so.

Q. Now, if Nancy had taken care of Harvey at all, it was not mentioned in any of those conversations?

A. No, sir, so far as I know, it was not.

Q. Was not? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, now, if she had taken care of Charlie over there at Wagoner that was not mentioned in these conversations?

A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You gathered from the conversation that the only places Charlie and Harvey had ever been was down south toward Eufaula?

A. Well, that is my recollection of it, yes, sir.

Q. Well, did you know Sallie Atkins? A. Sallie Atkins?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you hear in that conversation of Nancy Atkins that was in the family of Richard Atkins?

A. Well, I don't know. I don't know whether this Nancy was in that family or not.

Q. Well, did you hear of any other Nancy besides the Nancy that was there? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you hear of Chaney Atkins or Chaney Trent in those conversations? A. I don't recollect it.

Q. Did you hear of Richard Atkins in those conversations? That lived over north of Wagoner?

A. I don't recollect that. I knew Lee Atkins.

Q. You knew Lee Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. A brother of Nancy?

A. I don't know whether he was or not.

Q. How long was Nancy at the Holden's at that time?

A. Five or six or eight or ten days.

Q. How long had that boy Tommy been there?

A. I guess two or three months.

Q. And Nancy came and stayed how long?

A. Well, two or three or four days, maybe eight or ten days.

Q. Did she take the boy back with her?

A. No. They insisted on keeping the boy.

Q. How did his age compare to Harvey?

A. Well, my best recollection they must have been pretty near the same age.

Q. How did his age compare with Charlie's?

A. Well, I think Charlie would be the older; this little boy Tommy—— When Tom Holden brought him over there he just had on a long shirt; and Tommy told me why he wanted to get the boy, he was over there and nobody was paying any attention to him.

Q. Now, Mr. Way, let's refresh your memory good?

A. All right, sir.

The Court: I see Mr. White has gone out of the Court Room, I presume he is not talking to the witnesses.

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir, we will observe the rule.

The Court: I don't want Mr. White to be going out and telling other witnesses.

Mr. Maxey: Well, he will not because I instructed him and he will observe it.

Q. Let's be real careful about this, Mr. Way. Isn't it a fact that the child that the Holden's brought there in rags was brought from Wagoner and that that was Charlie?

A. It was not.

Q. Well, wasn't it Harvey? A. It was not.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What kind of a looking boy was this Tommy that you saw? A. What is that?

Q. What kind of a looking Tommy was this that you saw?

A. He was an Indian boy.

Q. Dark eyes? A. Well, not so dark.

Q. Blue eyes?

A. I will tell you that has been quite a while ago, sir.

Q. That is the reason I am asking you. Were his eyes black or blue? A. Well, I wouldn't say so.

Q. Was his hair black, white, or molasses color?

A. Well, not so dark as an Indian.

Q. Well, what kind of hair did he have, anybody around here got hair like him?

A. Well, it was a little darker than Mr. German's I think.

Q. Do you call Mr. German's hair light?

A. Well, it isn't black.

Q. It was darker than Mr. German's hair, you are sure of that? A. Well, I think it was.

Q. You think it was darker than Mr. German's?

A. At that time it might not have been.

Q. Then, he had black hair, didn't he?

A. Well. I don't think he did.

Q. Mr. Way, if it was darker than Mr. German's his hair was black? A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Well. you are not color blind, don't you know a shade darker than Mr. German's hair would be black hair, look at it?

A. I have seen him quite often.

Q. Well, look at him again, don't you think a shade darker than his would be black hair? A. Well, I don't think so.

Q. It would be quite dark?

A. Yes, quite darker than his.

Q. Yes, and be quite dark hair, wouldn't it?

A. Well, now, I told you my best recollection about it.

Q. Well, I know you have, but you know he had darker hair than Mr. German's, you said he did. Now, what kind of hair? A. Well, my recollection his hair was not black.

Q. Well, we have you on that now. How were his eyes, blue or black? A. Well, sir, I wouldn't attempt to say.

Q. Well, think, remember back?

A. I didn't ever think I would be called upon to testify.

Q. I know, and you have to remember the best you can?

A. And I told you the best I recollected.

Q. You don't know whether his eyes were black or blue?

A. Well, I wouldn't say.

Q. You wouldn't state? A. No, sir.

Q. What color skin, black?

A. No, sir, he was not a fullblood Indian.

Q. Was he a yellow boy?

A. I would take him to be about half breed Indian.

Q. Well, you would take it from his skin, his eyes, and his hair all combined to be a halfblood Indian?

A. Well, to the best of my recollection, yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Now, Mr. Way, what was the color of the hair of Charlie and Harvey, take Charlie?

A. Well, Charlie's hair wasn't as black as an Indian, a fullblood Indian. I don't think either of the boys were fullblood Indians.

Q. Charlie's hair was somewhat lighter than Tommy's wasn't it in color?

A. Well, I wouldn't attempt to say, Mr. German.

Q. Take Mr. Bruff, here, how did it compare with that?

A. It was darker than that.

Q. Well, take Mr. Pinson's hair here, how did it compare with that?

A. Well, Mr. German, Charlie's hair, to my recollection, was something like his and maybe darker.

Q. Mr. Pinson's hair, you would call that molasses color?

A. Well, I wouldn't use that term.

Q. Well, do you know what molasses color hair is?

> The Court: Do you know what that term means, did you ever hear it before?

A. No, sir, never did.

Q. Now, tell us, Mr. Way, some of the neighbors that you had about the time Harvey and Charlie were brought over there, and Tommy?

> The Court: Who were some of the people that lived close?

A. Billy Barnett, a Euchee Indian.

Q. Is Billy alive?

A. Yes, sir, and Tom Holden, and at that time old man Dressback, who is dead now; and Jackson Barnett, who is dead now; and Billy Brown, Judge Moore, they are both dead. There is an old man by the name of W. T. Davis lived pretty close there. I boarded with him before I was married, and boarded with Mr. Dressback before I was married. I don't know whether O. W. Davis was living close or not. There was not as many people in that country as there are now.

Q. Did you know Jim White, well, you know Jim White very well? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you know Jim?

A. I think I knew him first in the fall of 1891.

Q. You and he are pretty good friends? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have talked with him about this case, haven't you?

A. Well, yes.

Q. Quite a lot, haven't you?

A. No, sir, I will tell you what was said. They were talking about it and I told them the Government was making a mistake in trying to prove there was no Tommy Atkins.

Q. You knew there was? A. Yes, there was.

Q. And you knew that he lived in this community but you didn't know he wasn't enrolled? A. No.

Q. You didn't know about that? A. No.

Q. You have known Judge Maxey quite a long time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He has been your attorney in some suits? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Always represented you. You understand that he is attorney for the Nancy Atkins interest here, one of them?

A. I do now, I didn't before though.

Examination by the Court.

Q. You say the boy looked like a halfblood Indian. Were the Indians traits and features, did they appear pretty distinctly in his face? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was a boy that a man liked to, being familiar with the Indians, upon seeing immediately recognized the Indian features? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Pretty distinctly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, I am interested in knowing just as nearly as I can what he appeared to you to be. Now, what were those features as you remember them, those Indian features that you remember that he had?

A. Well, Judge Campbell, I judge him to be not more than a halfblood.

Q. But what about him as you remember?

A. Well, his features and the color of his skin and all—— It is pretty hard to tell you know; sometimes a halfblood Indian will show the Indian almost like a fullblood, and others in the same family will look like that they are not fullbloods.

Q. Well, now, this boy appeared to be at any rate a half blood Indian, that is what you judged from the features?

A. That is my best recollection.

Q. Now, how old would you say about he was at that time, just your judgment?

A. I expect he was up about here (indicating) must have been seven or eight years old, six or seven, some place along there.

Q. Appeared to be an intelligent boy? A. Well, yes.

Q. Did the three appear to you to look anything alike, did they resemble each other? A. No.

Q. Did Harvey and Charlie resemble each other?

A. Not as much as you would think brothers would.

Q. Harvey and Charlie were older than this boy?

A. Well, I guessed Harvey to be about the age of this boy.

Q. Charlie was older? A. Older.

Q. You say Nancy was there? A. Yes, she came over.

Q. Now, you know the Nancy that is a party in this case?

A. No, sir, only saw her at the time she was at Tom Holden's.

Q. Haven't seen her since? A. No, sir.

Q. Nancy is not here?

Mr. Maxey: No, sir, we will have her brought over.

The Court: Never mind now.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Will you describe Nancy Atkins?

A. Well, she was medium height and sort of lean lank kind of woman.

Q. Well, go ahead?

A. Well, that would describe her about all I could.

Q. Was there anything peculiar in her appearance?

A. Well, not in particular, sir. She wasn't a good looking Indian girl or woman. Sort of on the flabby order.

Q. Her eyes were straight? A. Well, I don't recollect.

Q. She had two good arms? A. Well, I think she did.

Q. She wasn't one-armed?

A. I don't think she was, no sir.

Q. Well, now, tell the Court if there is anything about her peculiar that marked her in any marked degree from any other woman who was medium height and slender and not good looking.

A. I think she was pigeon-toed and cross-eyed.

Q. Pigeon-toed and cross-eyed? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you know this Nancy Atkins who was a daughter of Dick Atkins? A. No, sir, not that I know of.

Q. You had been in Wagoner formerly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And had been in those days?

A. Yes, sir, but I had lived over in that country and had my trading there.

Q. Now, you were pretty well acquainted among the Creeks, weren't you? A. Yes, sir, pretty well acquainted.

Q. Didn't you know the Childers family over here?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the Atkins family north of Wagoner?

A. I don't think I knew the Atkins family there. If I did, I don't recollect it.

Q. Hadn't you heard something about them, Mr. Way?

A. If I did, I don't recall it.

Q. Don't you remember to have heard something about the children in their families?

A. Well, maybe I did but I don't recollect all those things. Tom Holden and Kate Holden both told me, probably, and probably gave me the family history but I don't recall.

Q. Now, you in those days, had heard something about this Atkins family out north of Wagoner?

A. Well, I don't recollect.

Q. Now, you don't recollect what you heard or whether you are confusing the information they gave you about them?

A. How is that?

Q. I say you don't know whether you are confusing the information they gave you about them with this?

A. I know I am not.

Q. You are satisfied you are not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You lived in Wagoner a while once, didn't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Lived near Wagoner?

A. Lived four miles north of Wagoner.

Q. Four miles north of Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you move away from there?

A. I moved away from up there—well I run a ranch up there for Winfield Scott '94, '95 and '96.

Q. You did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In '94-5-6? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Now, let me ask you. Kate Holden had been married to a man by the name of Wadsworth before she married Tom?

A. Well, that was my understanding.

Q. Well, you know that to be a fact. She was a Wadsworth, wasn't she? A. That was her name.

Q. She had a son named Mitchell, didn't she?

Q. You knew him well? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was at that house with the father and mother?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where was Mitchell? A. He was in the penitentiary.

Q. Didn't he come back and stay there at all?

A. Yes, Mitchell was there in a way, there in a way.

Q. When did you first see the two children there?

A. Well, I think about the first time—when they first brought them there.

Q. Well, what year was that? A. What is that?

Q. What year was it, Mr. Way?

A. Well, I think 1899 or 1900.

Q. 1899 or 1900? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You learned that Minnie Atkins had brought Charlie and Harvey there, didn't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, how did you learn that they got there?

A. Tom Holden brought them there.

Q. Tom Holden brought them there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that place out there called Stone Bluff?

A. No, sir, not at that time.

Q. Was it ever called Stone Bluff?

A. No, sir; well, there was a little post office after this that was started that was called Stone Bluff.

Q. That is it, and they lived right near that Post Office?

A. They lived about four miles.

Q. About four miles. But that was called Stone Bluff Post office? A. Yes.

Q. Now, this Charlie was light, and slender, and dark skinned, wasn't he? A. Little Charlie?

Q. Yes, sir, the oldest one?

A. He wasn't so slender then; he wasn't so stout as Harvey.

Q. Harvey was a stocky, fat chunk of a boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Charlie was slender? A. Yes, sir.

Q. A good deal slenderer than his brother? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Very light complexion? A. No, sir.

Q. Was he light or dark?

A. He wasn't as dark as Harvey.

Q. Harvey was the darker boy of the two; Charlie being the light one, is that right? A. I think so.

Q. Well, now as a matter of fact, do you know where Flat Rock is? A. Flat Rock, yes, sir, north of Wagoner?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know where Flat Rock is. They told you that one of these boys had been with some colored people out at Flat Rock, didn't they? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't hear that? A. No, sir.

Q. And don't you know that Charlie was left up there with those colored people at Flat Rock and that Holden went up there after him and found him in a very pitiable condition?

A. No, sir, I do not.

Q. They didn't tell you that? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't tell you that? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew that Nancy had been cooking in a restaurant there at Wagoner? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't know Nancy at all?

A. No, sir, until she came to Tom Holden's.

Q. You never saw her before?

A. If I did, I never knew it.

Q. You were right at Wagoner?

A. I did my trading there.

Q. You were four miles from Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did your trading there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You went in there a good deal? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And never heard of Nancy? A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard of her at all? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, didn't you hear the Holden's say that this boy had often been called Tommy, one of these boys—one of those Harrison boys? A. Charlie and Harvey?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't hear that one of those boys had been frequently called Tommy Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. And didn't Holden tell you that one of them was the very image of his grandfather? A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard that? A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard any conversation of that sort, Mr. Way? A. Not that I recollect of, no, sir.

Q. You might have heard it and forgotten it, might you not? A. I don't think I did.

Q. Don't think you did? A. No, sir.

Q. Was the boys ever taken away from there?

A. Well, I told you that Tommy had been taken away from there.

Q. Did they ever tell you where Charlie and Harvey were from about '96 to '99?

A. Well, they were at Tom Holden's part of the time. Where they were when they were away from there, I don't know.

Q. Well, now do you know—you were not there; you were at Wagoner, how do you know they were at Tom Holden's, Mr. Way? You weren't there, were you in '94, '95 and 96?

A. No, I was mistaken in the dates there. I said I was in Wagoner '94-5 and '6, didn't I?

Q. Yes? A. Well, it was '93-4 and '5.

Q. '93-4 and '5?

A. Yes, sir. Now, it is—it is pretty hard to get those dates just right.

Q. I know it is. Now, I want to know when you went down in the Holden neighborhood. Get your dates now, the year. When did you go there? A. '96.

Q. '96'? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you say that Charlie and Harvey were continuously there from '96 to '99? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Well, did they go away?

A. They were there to the best of my recollection continuously from the time that they were brought there until Holden died.

Q. When did Holden die?

A. I can't tell that. I had a notion this morning to go over to the cemetery to see if there was a head rock there. I think it was in 1900.

Q. 1900? A. Yes, sir, I think it was.

Q. Now, you say that Harvey and Charlie were continuously at Holden's from the time they were brought there until the time that Holden died in 1900, do you know that to be a fact?

A. Well, now, I am inclined to think—I don't [] to be positive—that Harvey did go away a while. Not Harvey but Charlie, but I am not positive now.

Q. Well, where did he go? A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Well, as a matter of fact, both of them might have been away and you not known it, mightn't they?

A. No, I don't think they were.

Q. Well, you now think that one of them did go away?

A. Well, I am not positive as I told you, might have and might not have.

By the Court.

Q. I wish you would turn around and see if you recognize Nancy Atkins in the courtroom now.

A. Well, that woman there with the black hat on, looks like her to me. It has been quite a while ago, Judge.

Q. Let that woman with the black hat on stand up. Is that the woman? A. Yes, sir, looks to me.

Q. Looks to you as if she was the woman? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You lived north of Wagoner there in '93-4 and '5, did you know uncle Pole Childers? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew him intimately, didn't you?

A. No, sir, not so intimately.

Q. He was a very highly respected Creek citizen, wasn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then, not so far away, didn't you know Dick Atkins?

A. No, I didn't. You see Pole Childers lived about 12 or 14 miles from the ranch. When I was there I was kept busy pretty near all the time. I never [] Pole Childers—knew of him before I went over there. Pole—knew Pole Childers for 13 years; Saus Childers and all those Childers. I knew them from Okmulgee.

Q. Well, you—while you were over there you knew pretty much about the Indian people over in there?

A. Yes, well, I knew Pole Childers, of course; anyone going in that direction would be directed, if they wanted to cross the Virdigris, they would be directed to Pole Childers ferry.

Q. You learned about the names of Indian children over there? A. Not particularily.

Q. Well, you learned some, didn't you?

A. Well, only some of the most prominent ones is all.

Q. When you were asked to point out Nancy in the courtroom a while ago, state whether or not you saw any Indian woman in the courtroom except the one you pointed out?

A. Well, I don't know that there is.

Q. That is the only Indian woman in the courtroom, isn't she? A. Well, there are not as much Indian as she is.

Q. If there are any other Indian women in there they are not as much; they are some white women and some colored women, is that right?

A. Well, I don't see any colored women in here.

Q. Well, there are just three ladies in the courtroom; two white ladies and then Nancy, is that right?

A. Well, that is what I would take them to be now.

The Court: The Court will assume and take judicial notice of the fact that there are Nancy and two white ladies.

Mr. German: Well, I was simply making the record, Your Honor.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, W. C. SMITH, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. W. C. Smith.

Q. Commonly known as Bill Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old are you Bill?

A. 59 years old; will be in July, born in '58.

Q. Where do you live? A. I live here at present.

Q. Where did you live—did you ever live at Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir, 19 years.

Q. When did you go to Wagoner to live?

A. I went to Wagoner in the latter part of '98.

Q. 1898? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you get acquainted with her?

A. Well, I was in the drug business there and she kept coming around the store and I asked Henry Anderson one day and he told me it was Nancy Atkins.

Q. Did she have anyone with her?

A. There was a kid, a little yellow headed kid, running around with her—probably three or four or five years old.

Q. Now, who was it told you who she was?

A. Henry Anderson, the porter there at the drug store. I asked him who that—I believe I said, old bat; I believe I said old bat—she didn't have no clothes on, she was nearly naked, and he said it was old Nancy Atkins and her kid. She associated with the darkies and I supposed she was a colored person.

Q. Is that the Henry Anderson who was a witness here some days ago?

A. Yes, I think so; he was a witness down here.

Q. A colored man? A. Yes, sir, a yellow fellow.

Q. How often did you see them around there?

A. I don't know, probably two or three years off and on at different places; on the streets generally piking around.

Q. Was she in your store frequently? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she ever have this boy with her more than once?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know what became of the boy? A. I do not.

Q. Now, about how many times would you say that you saw him around there with her?

A. I can't tell. Now, I seen him with an old darky by the name of Snow; we called him around there a coke fiend. Lived back of the store, wasn't more than the length of the street, just a little siding up there to unload cars and he lived at the back end.

Q. It was the last time you saw him with her, was it?

A. I don't know, it might have been, it was probably in 1901, '2, or '3.

Q. 1901?

A. Yes, sir, 1901, '2 and '3, I don't remember just when I did see him.

Q. What year did you say you went in business there?

A. 1898, the latter part of 1898; 1899 I went into business there.

Q. Then, you saw him then up to 1901 or '2?

A. Yes, or three I don't remember.

Q. What became of him then?

A. I don't know, I heard he died.

Mr. German: We move to exclude that.

The Court: That will not be considered.

Q. You didn't see him any more after two or three years after you first saw him? A. No, sir.

Mr. Maxey: I believe that is all—I will ask one question.

Q. What kind of a looking child was he? A. I don't know, his hair was kind of yellow, kind of curly; it wasn't kinky it was kind of curly.

Q. And what was his complexion?

A. Well, it was sallow complexion.

Mr. Maxey: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You say in 1898 or 1899 he was three or four or five years old?

A. I said he was about that the last time I seen him.

Q. About the last time you saw him he was probably three, four or five years old? A. He probably was.

Q. Have you got any children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know a boy that is three or four or five years old when you see him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How big a boy was that?

A. He was just a small kid.

Q. He might not have been two years old?

A. Well, I don't know, he might have been. He was over a year old, because he was walking by himself.

Q. Might not he been seven years?

A. Oh, no, unless he was a dwarf; I never asked anything about his age.

Q. Three, four, or five years old? A. When I seen him.

Q. When was the last time you saw Nancy in Wagoner?

A. Along the first part of 1900 somewhere.

Q. How many times have you been in jail? A. Me?

Q. Yes? A. Once.

Q. What for? A. Selling whiskey.

Q. There at Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many times have you been arrested?

A. Probably twice I think.

Q. For selling whiskey?

A. Yes, sir, both times and I have been arrested for fighting.

Q. You have had quite an interesting career there at Wagoner? A. Well, no, not very.

Q. Where was your drug store?

A. Right on the corner right by the hotel, Brown Palace Hotel; then up from the corner in the Himes Building, and across the street on the other side.

Q. When was the first time when you heard of this case in recent years? A. Three or four years ago I guess.

Q. Been talking about it quite a little? A. No, sir.

Q. Who first talked to you about it?

A. I think I said something to Jim about it the other day. Me and Jim were raised together in Arkansas.

Q. You are friends? A. We are friends.

Q. You spoke to him?

A. I thought it was Minnie Atkins' case, I just said I knowed old Nancy Atkins. And he said I want you for a witness. I didn't know that it was the kid.

Q. You don't know now?

A. No, sir, I don't know whether his name was Tommy.

Q. He was three or four or five years old the last time you saw him? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Was that Ellis Snow—— A. Ellis Snow?

Q. Did you say you saw a man named Snow?

A. Just old Snow, he was a coke fiend.

Q. Nancy was too, wasn't she?

A. Well, I always thought she was.

Q. Isn't that what she came to your drug store for?

A. I don't think I ever sold her any coke.

Q. Didn't you know Ellis Snow kept these boys for a period for Nancy?

A. I did not know it until yesterday. They said he used to live there with them.

Q. Used to come down town with Snow?

A. Wasn't no town about it.

Q. But you used to see Snow with them? A. Yes.

Q. And used to see Nancy going to Snow's to see the boys?

A. Well, you might say she was just a street walker in those days.

Q. Did you ever hear the name of either of those boys?

A. Didn't know he had but the one, didn't know he had any.

Q. You knew Nancy had some?

A. Just the one that followed her.

Q. Never saw two of them? A. If I did I didn't notice it.

Q. Did you ever hear his name? A. Never did.

Q. Did you ever—— A. No, I know Lee Harrison.

Q. You know that boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that was the boy she had right there?

A. I don't know, I don't know, I always heard it was an Atkins. But Charlie Bailey raised him.

Q. But isn't that the boy you saw right there?

A. No, sir, Lee was a great big boy.

Q. You didn't know Harvey?

A. Well, there was another, I didn't remember him very well.

Q. But you did know that there was another?

A. Well, I think so.

Q. That Nancy had around there?

A. I understood that was Lee's boy.

Q. But you knew Nancy had it around there?

A. I don't know, I don't know who did have him.

Q. So, you do know that two of Nancy's boys were around there? A. I knew that Charlie Bailey had one.

Q. One was Lee? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the other was Harvey?

A. I don't know about him.

Q. You don't know about Harvey? A. No.

Q. But you know this boy did stay there with Ellis Snow a part of the time?

A. I don't remember whether Lee did or not.

Q. But you know this boy of Nancy's?

A. This boy of Nancy's I seen with old Snow.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Your drug store went out of business by the injunction route up there? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't the court put you out of business? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you have some injunction served against you?

A. No, sir, not in that drug store. I sold it.

Q. What drug store was it?

A. I don't know, I worked in a drug store there.

Q. Were you put out of business by the court?

A. No, sir, not me.

Q. Well, the place where you were working?

A. Well, I think probably it was, I disremember.

Q. Don't you know the court put the drug store out of business because you were selling liquor, you know that to be a fact? A. I couldn't know; the drug store was there.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, BOB DELOZIER was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. Bob DeLozier.

Q. How old are you Bob? A. Fifty-five.

Q. Where do you live? A. I live in Nowata.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long ago?

A. It has been about twenty years now since I lived there.

Q. Did you ever know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you know her? A. In Wagoner.

Q. How long did you know her in Wagoner?

A. I knowed her there about ten years.

Q. What years were you living there, Bob?

A. I don't remember the date of the years.

Q. What time did you go there with reference to when the Iron Mountain railroad came into Wagoner?

A. Well, it had been built from Fort Smith and I went there when it was building out of there.

Q. When it was building out to Coffeyville?

A. Yes, sir, about two years before they started.

Q. When did you get acquainted with Nancy Atkins?

A. Well, I got acquainted with her the second year that I was there.

Q. Do you remember whether or not she ever had a child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was she living at the time the child was born?

A. She was living out on the west side of town in a tent back of Betsy Birney's house.

Q. Did you see the child about the time it was born?

A. No, I didn't see it until the next morning; I was sent down to the house to carry something to eat.

Q. Where were you living then?

A. I was living with the Childers.

Q. Which Childers?

A. Old man Bob Childers was living there at that time and I was living with his family.

Q. Who sent you down there? A. His wife.

Q. What did she send you down there for?

A. To take some grub down there.

Q. For whom? A. For Nancy.

Q. Where was she when you got down there?

A. She was in a tent right back of the house.

Q. Did you go in the tent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see her child there?

A. Yes, sir, seen a child laying there in bed.

Q. Did you talk with Nancy about it?

A. I didn't talk with her about the child; I told her there was some grub Mrs. Childers sent down to her.

Q. Had you seen her for a few months before this child was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she in a pregnant condition?

A. That is what they said.

Q. Well, could you tell from looking at her? A. Yes.

Q. How often did you see the child after that?

A. I seen it there for about nine years after it was born, at different times around there.

Q. Did you ever see it with Nancy Atkins after that?

A. Yes.

Q. How often?

A. Oh, several different times, I couldn't call just from memory how many times.

Q. Do you know what became of that child?

A. What became of it?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir, it died.

Q. About how old was it when it died?

A. Between nine and ten years old, the nearest I can judge.

Q. Where was it buried?

A. Buried out northeast of Wagoner out where the grave yard is now.

Q. What did you have to do with burying it if anything?

A. I went out there and helped dig the grave. The man that was living with Betsy come and got me to go out and help dig the grave.

Q. Who was this fellow that come after you?

A. Fellow by the name of Steeples.

Q. Was he living with Betsy Birney at the time?

A. Yes, sir. We all went out there and dug the grave.

Q. Well, was you there when they buried the child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else was there?

A. Well, there was several men out there. I couldn't call their names, they were railroad boys.

Q. Well, did they have any funeral services at the grave?

A. Yes, there was an old darkey by the name of Mundy Barnett that preached across the river, he was the one that went out there and conducted the ceremony.

Q. Was there any other preacher there?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. To refresh your recollection, do you remember seeing Sam McHenry there?

A. Well, now, he could have been, I wouldn't say for sure.

Q. And there wasn't very many people there?

A. Very few colored people living in Wagoner at that time, in fact there wasn't many of any kind there.

Q. Most of them were colored?

A. No, the most of them were cattle men.

Q. I say at the grave?

A. Well, there was nobody out at the grave outside the men that hauled the corpse out there, that was the drayman there in town.

Q. Do you remember whether or not Nancy was there?

A. No, I don't remember.

Q. Don't recall? A. No.

Q. Now, what year was that, Bob, that this child was buried as near as you can remember?

A. Well, I couldn't call the remembrance of the year because I haven't any education.

Q. Now, you say that she was living there in a tent at the time the child was born. Did you go there more than once? A. Yes, sir, I was down there several different times.

Q. Go down there to take her something to eat?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. From Mrs. Childers?

A. Yes, sir, Mrs. Childers lived about two hundred yards from there and she sent something down there.

Q. Well, now, did she remain in the tent?

A. No, sir, she was taken out of the tent. The first morning I was down there I helped to move her out of the tent into Betsy Birney's house.

Q. And how long until Nancy got well?

A. She was in bed I guess two weeks.

Q. Now, do you remember the fact of Nancy being arrested and taken down to Fort Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that before or after that?

A. That was after the child was born.

Q. About how long afterwards?

A. Well, I would judge the child was about three months old probably, might have been older than that.

Q. Then, did you see that child around from that time up until the time it died? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did it stay?

A. Well, Betsy taken care of it while she was away. Then, it just lived first one place and another around with the colored people.

Q. Did you ever see it on the street with Nancy?

A. Yes. sir, when she worked at the McAnally Hotel; she worked in the laundry.

Q. You were speaking of McAnally's Hotel, McAnally was a white man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was there a hotel or restaurant there run by a colored man named Williams?

A. Yes, sir, Williams had a shack where he fed and slept the railroad men.

Q. What other hotels were there there?

A. The Barnard Hotel was there, what was called the Hailey House, Mr. Hailey owned it.

Q. Did you ever learn what this boy's name was?

A. They called him Tommy, Tommy Atkins.

Mr. Maxey: I believe that is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Bob, you knew this boy from the date on which he was born clear through his life to the grave?

A. Well, I would see him around town there.

Q. You knew him all that time. Will you say yes or no?

A. Yes, I will say yes.

Q. What year was it he died in?

A. I couldn't tell you because I have no recollection of the years at all, because I haven't any education.

Q. Wasn't it 1902?

A. I wouldn't say because I don't remember.

Q. Did you get an allotment in the Creek Nation?

A. No, sir.

Q. How old are you? A. Fifty-five.

Q. You were present at his death, weren't you?

A. No, I wasn't present at his death; I was called to help dig the grave after he died.

Q. Well, you were present during his last illness, weren't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you go get some medicine for him, Bob?

A. No, never did.

Q. What doctor waited on him?

A. I couldn't tell you that even.

Q. Who went after you to get you to help dig the grave?

A. Man by the name of Steeples.

Q. Steeples? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you did help dig it, and what kind of a coffin was he buried in?

A. A coffin that was made there in town at the lumber yard.

Q. What kind of clothes did he have on?

A. I didn't pay that much attention to his clothes to tell you.

Q. You didn't inspect the clothes? A. No, sir.

Q. How long after he died was it until you buried him?

A. Sir?

Q. How long after he died was it until you buried him?

A. Well, it was along in the morning, I don't know what time he died; Steeples came and asked me if I would help dig the grave for Creek Nancy's boy, and I told him yes I would. I was working down at the stock yards then but there was no stock to unload that day.

Q. Can't you fix that time by something?

A. I don't know, might.

Q. What were you doing in 1902?

A. 1902, I couldn't say.

Q. What were you doing in 1901?

A. I really couldn't tell you because I don't remember.

Q. You don't recollect? A. No.

Q. You knew this boy in 1890 when he was born?

A. Well, I don't know what year it was.

Q. Well, whatever year it was, you knew him?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Let's suppose, for the sake of argument it was 1890, will you? Then, you knew him in 1891 around town there?

A. Well, I couldn't say what year it was. I knew him from the time he was born up until the death of him.

Q. How frequently did you see him, Bob?

A. Very often because he was right there in town.

Q. Well, did you see him every year from the time he was born until he died?

A. Well, I am satisfied I did, because he was there in town all the time.

Q. You were in Wagoner all the time? A. Yes.

Q. You didn't live in Muskogee or anywhere else?

A. Not at that time I didn't.

Q. From the time this child was born until it died you lived in Wagoner? A. Right around Wagoner there.

Q. All the time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew him intimately and played with him?

A. No, I never played with him.

Q. Well, you talked with him and talked about him?

A. Yes, saw him around town there.

Q. Don't you know it was 1902 he died?

A. No, sir, I don't because I don't know.

Q. How old was he?

A. I judge between nine and ten years old when he died.

Q. You testified over at Sapulpa, didn't you, in this case?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. And you read that testimony over yesterday or last night, didn't you? A. No.

Q. Somebody read it to you? A. No.

Q. Well, who has talked to you about this case?

A. Well, not anyone in particular.

Q. Well, you know some one has, Bob?

A. No there hasn't.

Q. Tell the Court?

A. There hasn't been anyone more than the folks around town wanted to know what I was down here for from Nowata.

Q. How did you come to be down here?

A. I was subpoenaed.

Q. Who talked to you at Nowata? A. Nobody.

Examination by the Court.

Q. It is all right if anybody has talked to you. The Court wants to know who did talk to you?

A. Nobody, Judge, only them that lived here five or six years ago, and I told them I was down here attending Court.

Q. Just tell me?

A. I told them I was down here on the Tommy Atkins case.

Q. Tell me what you talked about this case before you went on the witness stand. You talked to somebody. Tell who it was.

A. No, I didn't talk to nobody about what my testimony was going to be.

Q. Did you testify at Sapulpa? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You talked over what you knew about it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you talked to anyone since that time about what you said over there? A. No, I haven't.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Well, who talked with you before they put you on the witness stand over there?

A. Why, there was nobody talked to me about the case over there.

Q. Didn't Jim White talk to you? A. No, he didn't.

Q. Nobody at all. Well, how many penitentiary sentence-have you served out Bob? A. About three.

Q. About three? A. Yes.

Q. Where? A. I served one in this state.

Q. In Oklahoma at McAlester? A. Yes.

Q. What for? A. Forgery.

Q. When? A. Well, I don't know what year it was in.

Q. Well, when did you get out?

A. I have been out eight or nine years.

Q. How long were you in the Pen at that time?

A. Two years, right at two years and got a pardon.

Q. Where was the time, Bob, before that that you served?

A. In Ohio.

Q. What did you serve that time for? A. For forgery.

Q. How long were you in there? A. A year and a day.

Q. Where were you sent up from?

A. I was sent from here, from Muskogee.

Q. What judge sent you? A. Judge Thomas.

Q. Now, where was the other time that you served?

A. I was in Detroit.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. Stayed a year and a day.

Q. Now, Bob, don't you know you were in Ohio in the penitentiary from November 5, 1900, up to June 25, 1904?

A. I don't know when it was, don't know what year it was.

Q. What time, don't you know that?

A. I say I don't know what year.

Q. You were there four years?

A. No, I wasn't there no four years, I know.

Q. How much did it lack of being four years?

A. I don't know, I couldn't say.

Q. You were in the United States jail at Fort Smith for about four months weren't you? A. I think it was.

Q. What were you in the Ohio penitentiary for?

A. Went there for forgery.

Q. Well, where did you go for larceny?

A. I was in Detroit.

Q. Now, wasn't you in Detroit during the nineties?

A. During which?

Q. During the nineties while Nancy was living up there at Wagoner?

A. Well, I don't know. I may have been, I don't know what years I was there.

Q. You have been in the penitentiary off and on nearly all your life, haven't you, Bob? A. No, I haven't.

Q. Now, who first told you that Nancy had a child up there at Wagoner? A. Old lady Childers.

Q. Old lady Childers? A. Yes.

Q. And you went down there to her house, to that tent, and you found Nancy in there all by herself, didn't you?

A. The old lady sent me down there.

Q. But I say you went down there? A. I was sent.

Q. Well, you went? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That baby was about two hours old?

A. I don't know how old it was.

Q. Well, how old do you say it was?

A. I don't know. I was in there.

Q. You testified at Sapulpa that it was about two or three hours old, didn't you?

A. Well, I was supposed—I suppose it was, that is what I said.

Q. There—not a soul in that tent but Nancy and the baby, was there? A. That was all that I seen in there.

Q. And Nancy was awful sick?

A. That was all I seen in there.

Q. They talked a good deal about how seriously sick Nancy was about that birth, didn't they?

A. They didn't that morning—nobody was there to talk about it.

Q. Nancy, when you got in there was cheerful and happy?

A. I don't know how cheerful and happy she was.

Q. Did you talk very much?

A. I didn't talk very much, just said I had something for her to eat.

Q. What was it you had for her to eat?

A. I don't know; the old lady fixed it up.

Q. A nice steak?

A. No, I know it wasn't no steak; there wasn't no steak around Wagoner at that time.

Q. What kind of victuals was it?

A. I don't know; I know it wasn't no steak.

Q. Well, was it meat?

A. No, it wasn't no meat; it was soup of some kind, I don't know what it was.

Q. You know that women can't eat solid food that soon after child birth?

A. No, I never have been one and I don't know what they take after the child birth.

Q. What was it you gave her the next time? The next day?

A. I don't know; I don't think I carried her anything the next day.

Q. How long after the child was born until she moved into the house? A. The next morning.

Q. The next morning after the child was born?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she get up and walk in?

A. No, sir, she didn't.

Q. How did they get in there?

A. They carried her in on the cot she was laying on.

Q. Bob, don't you know that a woman with a child six or eight hours old, that they don't dare to move her around?

A. I don't know what they dare to do, I know what we did do.

Q. You did that very thing? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was the baby crying or not? A. I don't know.

Q. Was it nursing her breast when you went in there?

A. I don't know.

Q. That was a bottle baby, wasn't it?

A. It was when she went to Fort Smith.

Q. How was it fed the first time you saw it fed?

A. Fed with a bottle the first time I ever seen it attempt to eat anything.

Q. Well, how old was it when you first saw it attempt to eat anything?

A. I don't know how old it was, I don't know.

Q. What other children were around there?

A. Betsy had some children around there.

Q. Well, name them.

A. I don't call to memory only two of the children, the biggest boy.

Q. Call their names. A. Henry Birney and Dick.

Q. You didn't know Joe then?

A. No, I didn't know Joe.

Q. What did they do with Nancy after they got her in the house? A. Placed her on the bed.

Q. In what room?

A. There wasn't but two rooms to the house; they got her in the west room.

Q. Who was playing seven up that morning?

A. Wasn't anybody playing that morning. Had several card games after that.

Q. Didn't have craps either?

A. Didn't that morning; did after that.

Q. How long after that? A. Possibly a week afterwards.

Q. Didn't have any crap games there the night before that birth? A. No.

Q. Or the night of the same day that she was brought there?

A. Well, I don't know but we played out there because it was at a place that we could pay and keep from being arrested.

Q. Now, who was arresting anybody? A. What?

Q. Who would arrest anybody there?

A. Well, they had a little city law around there.

Q. Well, who was the officer?

A. Well, I can't call to memory who the officers were. There were several Creek officers, what they called the Creek Light Horse at that time stayed around town a good deal.

Q. Do you know Henry Anderson?

A. Yes, I know Henry.

Q. He was there, wasn't he?

A. I don't know whether Henry was there at that time or not.

Q. Now, whose house were you living in at that time?

A. Living up at Mrs. Childers.

Q. What was her name? A. Rachel.

Q. And what was her husband's name? A. Bob.

Q. How long before Nancy got out of bed?

A. Well, I can't exactly say; I judge it was a couple of weeks though, before she got to walking around any place.

Q. That is a short time for a woman to get up, isn't it, after child birth?

A. Well, I have known them to stay in longer than that and known them to stay in as much as two months.

Q. Have you ever known one to get up as soon as two weeks?

A. Yes, sir, I have known them to get up the next morning.

Q. The next morning? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Nancy, didn't though? A. No, she didn't.

Q. Did Nancy go to work after that?

A. Yes, she went back to the hotel where she had been working down to the laundry.

Q. What hotel? A. McAnally's.

Q. McAnally's? A. Yes.

Q. How long after this child was born?

A. Well, I don't know, I never kept any particular count of time between time when she was done and after she was up but I know she went back and worked after she got up.

Q. Who kept the child for her?

A. It stayed at Mrs. Birney's.

Q. Kept on living there clear up until it died?

A. It was living around there with first one and then another—who would take care of it.

Q. Name them.

A. Wasn't but a few there. It stayed at Williams, and down at Betsy's and out at Mrs. Barnett's.

Q. Mandy Barnett's? A. Mandy Barnett's.

Q. Yes. And where else?

A. Only place I know it stayed.

Q. It died in Betsy Birney's house, didn't it?

A. No, I don't know where he died at.

Q. You knew him intimately right up until his death?

A. But I don't know where he died at.

Q. Where was he living the last time you know about it?

A. It was living with Nancy the last time she was around down there, I don't know what house he died in.

Q. It was living around town somewhere the last time?

A. Yes, with his mother.

Q. Where did she work?

A. I just told you, down at McAnally's.

Q. Was she working at McAnally's all the time?

A. No, not all the time; sometimes she didn't work at all.

Q. She worked at McAnally's the only place that you knew of her working? A. No.

Q. Where else did she work?

A. Williams and also at the Haley house.

Q. Where was she working the last time you saw this boy?

A. Where was she working?

Q. Yes. A. Down there at that laundry.

Q. McAnally's? A. Yes.

Q. And where was the boy?

A. He was at Betsy's when she was down there.

Q. Was he out at Betsy's when he died?

A. I can't say because I don't know just what house he died in.

Q. Was he living at Betsy's place the last time you know of him living?

A. Yes, that is where I seen him with Betsy's children.

Q. How long was that before he died?

A. I don't know just how long.

Q. About how long, Bob?

A. I wouldn't like to say because——

Q. Was it three months?

A. Well, it might have been three months and it might have been three weeks; I can't say.

Q. It wasn't long, though, was it? A. No, it wasn't.

Q. Now, you know when Betsy moved away from there out on the Virdigris, don't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Don't you know that was in 1897?

A. I don't know, I can't remember the year.

Q. If Betsy moved away from there in 1897, this boy died and was buried not later than 1897, wasn't he?

A. Well, I can't really say. I don't know what year Betsy moved out there and what year the child died in.

Q. How long did Betsy live there after the boy was born?

A. Why, she lived around there quite a while.

Q. Now, Bob, don't you know that Betsy was living out on the river when this boy died?

A. I know she had been living out there.

Q. She had? A. Yes.

Q. Well, had she moved back to town?

A. No, I don't think she had.

Q. Well, then, you want to change your testimony, don't you? Then this boy was not living at Betsy's anywhere from three weeks to two months before the boy died?

A. Wasn't doing what?

Q. Wasn't living at Betsy's.

A. Yes, it was living at Betsy's; lived with Betsy out in the country.

Q. Oh, lived out in the country? A. Yes.

Q. How long had she lived in the country?

A. Well, I don't know how long Betsy kept him out there with her.

Q. How long had Betsy been living in the country before the boy died?

A. I never kept up with the dates; I know she lived in the country.

Q. And the boy went with her?

A. I guess so. She carried him, I don't think he got up and went.

Q. And stayed out there until he died?

A. I don't think he did, I know that he didn't die in the country.

Q. You are confident that he was living with her from two weeks to two or three months before he died?

A. I wouldn't say exactly that long but I know he lived out in the country with her a while.

Q. Bob, you say this boy was nine or ten years old when it died? A. Yes, I judged that it was.

Q. Now, you know, Bob, when it was born, don't you?

A. I know the next morning I seen him after he was born.

Q. And you know that he must be from ten or eleven years old when he died, don't you?

A. No, I don't say that; I say that he was nine or ten.

Q. Well, you were in the penitentiary along about that time, weren't you? From April, 1900, to—from November, 1900, to June, 1904, you were in the penitentiary, don't you know that?

A. I know I was there when the child died; I don't know where I was but I know I was in Wagoner when the child died.

Q. So how long after he was buried until you went to the penitentiary?

A. Well, I never kept up with it to say how long it was.

Q. Well, how long? Six months—two months?

A. Well, I can't say.

By the Court.

Q. Now, here, Bob; you know whether it was right soon after that boy died that you went to the penitentiary?

A. Well, I was sent up to the penitentiary some time after the death of the child, Judge.

Q. Well, how long, then? A. I can't say.

Q. A year?

A. It may have been a year and it may not have been so long.

Q. More than a year or two years?

A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Think, think.

A. No use to remember, I know I was there when he died and helped to bury him; might not have been more than six weeks and might have been longer.

By Mr. German.

Q. You testified at Sapulpa that this child was ten or eleven years old when it died, didn't you?

A. I don't remember that I did. I don't know.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You knew a man at Wagoner about the time you were living there by the name of Tom Atkins, didn't you?

A. Old Tom Atkins?

Q. Yes. You knew a man who used to come there and drink a good deal—Tom Atkins?

A. I knowed Atkins around there, yes.

Q. Tell me, you knew a man Tom Atkins, who used to come there in town and drink a good deal on the streets—you knew him? A. I have seen him.

Q. You knew him when you saw him? A. Yes.

Q. Lived out on the Virdigris—lived out in the country?

A. Yes, Tom Atkins lived out of town.

A. And Nancy told you that he was her cousin didn't she? A. I think she did.

Q. And told you that Tommy was named after him, that he was her cousin—that was what Nancy told you?

A. Probably did.

Q. Well, you know that she did, don't you?

A. Well, I can't say.

Q. Well, you swore to it, didn't you, at Sapulpa?

A. I don't have the memory right at the time.

Q. You swore to that at Sapulpa, didn't you?

A. Probably I did.

Q. Well, do you swear to it now?

A. Well, if I swore to it then I swear to it now.

Q. Now, it is a fact that you knew an old man named Thomas Atkins who used to come in there and get full and Nancy said that was her cousin and the boy was named after him? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you know that fact? That occurred, didn't it?

A. Well, if I said it, why I say so.

Q. Well, tell me, did it occur?

A. Well, if that is my statement.

Q. I ask you now did it occur—was it a fact?

A. Well, if I stated it over there.

Q. Well, you tell me now, whether that occurred or not? Was it a fact? Was it a fact?

A. Well, if I said so, it is a fact.

Q. Do you know now whether it was a fact or not, you know right now whether it was a fact or not? Don't you know now as well as at Sapulpa whether it is true or not?

A. Well, if I said so at Sapulpa, I say so yet.

Q. Have you any recollection of it outside of what you said at Sapulpa? A. Of what?

Q. Of having seen this man Atkins there? A. Why, yes.

Q. Then, you do remember hearing—seeing him there in town? A. Yes.

Q. And you do know that Nancy told you that he was her cousin, don't you?

A. Well, I don't exactly call to memory whether she did or not.

Q. Well, what is your best recollection about that?

Mr. Stuart: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Bob, you were confined in the United States penitentiary at Fort Worth on the charge of larceny from December 20th, 1893, until April 18th, 1894, wasn't you?

A. I don't know what years.

The Court: It is not going to be much use to get this witness to testify in regard to dates.

Mr. Hanford: I wanted to cover this period from this time on, Your Honor. He knew this boy from the year he states——

The Court: When you ask him as to years——

Mr. Hanford: I just asked in order to predicate an offer.

The Court: Documentary evidence is the best. It will save time by that.

Mr. Allen: Mr. Hanford, I suggest in as much as the penitentiary records are voluminous, probably counsel will agree as to the time he entered the penitentiary.

The Court: I am going to take a brief recess and it may be that you can agree as to those dates.

* * * * * * * *

Mr. German: Your Honor, counsel suggested that they would agree as to whatever these present records show.

Mr. Maxey: After we examine them—we don't know what they show, but we are not going to dispute what it is; we want to look them over.

The Court: Then I will tell you what you do. Get the data in shape to read readily in the record tomorrow morning as a part of this cross examination and hand counsel for the Nancy Atkins interest a copy of the statement, and by tomorrow morning at 9:30 you can have that.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, SAMUEL McHENRY, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Samuel McHenry.
Q. How old are you? A. I am 78 years old, sir.
Q. Where were you born? A. Born in Tennessee.
Q. How long did you live in Tennessee?
A. I have forgotten that—how long I did live there.
Q. Well, when did you leave Tennessee?
A. Oh, I left Tennessee in the time of the war.
Q. And where did you go after the war was over?
A. I went to Arkansas.
Q. What part of Arkansas did you live in?
A. Lee County.
Q. And how long did you live in Arkansas?
A. Well, I don't know, about fifteen or sixteen years I guess.
Q. Then, where did you go?
A. I come to the Indian Territory.
Q. What place? A. Wagoner.
Q. What year did you come to Wagoner?
A. Well, sir, I think I came to Wagoner in '98 as well as I can remember.
Q. Now, have you lived at Wagoner since that time?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. What is your business? A. Preacher.
Q. What denomination? A. Missionery Baptist.
Q. Now, have you been preaching since you came to the Indian Territory?
A. Yes, sir, I was ordained in the Territory.
Q. Where have you been located, in Wagoner all the time?
A. In Wagoner and around out through the country.
Q. Now, were you in Wagoner from the time you came there in 1898 up for four or five years?

A. Yes, sir, I was in Wagoner all the time up to that time.

Q. Do you remember being called on to attend a funeral sometime after you came there?

A. Yes, sir, I remember in tending the funeral. I didn't call the burying a funeral.

Q. Well, all right, what year was that?

A. Well, now, sir, that is hazy on my mind right now, but I think it was in 1901, between 1901 and '2, I couldn't say what date it was.

Q. What funeral was it, burial you were asked to attend?

A. Well, the boy that they said was Nancy Atkins' boy.

Q. Now, who invited you to the funeral?

A. Mundy Barnett, that was my pastor at that time.

Q. Where was that funeral held?

A. Well, in the house, I don't know what house it was. I met them at the graveyard. I was working at that time at the depot.

Q. Did you attend the funeral out at the grave-yard?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, who was there?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell you to save my life.

Q. Who was there?

A. Well, myself and Mundy Barnett, and I think Bob DeLozier and E. G. White, we always called him Dog White. DeLozier I think dug the grave.

Q.. Do you remember whether or not Nancy Atkins was there?

A. It is kind*ly* faintly on my mind right now, but I rather think that she was there.

Q. They were mostly colored people that were at the grave?

A. Around town there was a good many of them there. It didn't interest them to keep them on my mind until now.

Q. How do you fix it as 1901, anything you can fix that date by?

A. No, sir, I couldn't, couldn't fix the date to save my life.

Q. I say, is there anything, anyway you can fix that year?

A. No, I couldn't do that. I know it was between 1901 and 1902 in the spring I think.

Q. Now, were you preaching when you came to Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir, quite a while before.

Q. Well, now, how long had you been there preaching around before you attended this burial? A. Oh, I don't know.

Q. Two or three years? A. Two or three years maybe.

Mr. Maxey: I believe that is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You say this was in 1901 or 1902 that you preached this funeral? A. I didn't preach no funeral.

Q. Oh, you were just there as one of the spectators?

The Court: I think he distinguished between the preaching of the funeral and the ceremony at the grave.

Q. Did you officiate at the grave? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you are a preacher? A. Sir?

Q. You say you are a Baptist preacher? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can you read and write?

A. Yes, sir, I can read, and I can write it out, write my name, but I can read.

Q. Can't read very well, can you?

A. Yes, sir, what I call well.

Q. How many funerals have you officiated at, Uncle?

A. How many?

Q. Yes, since you have been in Wagoner?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell you, sir.

Q. A great many though? A. Yes, sir.

Q. During those days, you were about the only colored preacher around there? A. No, sir.

Q. Who else was there?

A. Mundy Barnett was there, he was my pastor.

Q. You were not preaching in those days? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You started preaching after that, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I was a preacher before I came to this country.

Q. Did you have any churches at that time?

A. No, sir.

Q. You were a preacher but you were not following your profession then?

A. Yes, sir, I was a licensed preacher.

Q. Where were you preaching then?

A. I was preaching at Wagoner out through the country.

Q. You are sure that Bob DeLozier dug this grave?

A. I think so, sir, I think so.

Q. And you say this was a child or cousin of Nancy's?

A. No, sir, I didn't say that, they said it was Nancy's boy at the time.

Q. You don't remember whether Nancy was there or not?

A. Well, I don't know exactly whether she was there or not.

Q. Well, to refresh your recollection, she was at the funeral, wasn't she?

A. I don't know, didn't know anything about her being there.

Q. You don't remember of seeing any pigeon toed, cross-eyed, Indian girl there do you, you didn't see anybody there that answers Nancy's description? A. At the cemetery?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, I don't know, sir, if I did or not, it has been so far back I can't remember.

Q. You know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir, I know her.

Q. You don't remember of seeing her there?

A. I wouldn't say that.

Q. So, she never told you that it was her child did she?

A. No, sir, Mundy Barnett told me it was her child.

Q. But you didn't have any conversation with Nancy about it? A. No, sir.

Q. If Nancy had any child you didn't know anything about it at that time? A. No.

Q. That is the first time and last time you ever heard of Nancy having a child? A. No, I have heard it since that.

Q. Since this case came up?

A. I don't know when the case came up.

Q. During the last few years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Uncle, you know Mr. White here, don't you?

A. Yes, sir, I know him when I see him.

Q. You have known him ever since you came to Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you feel very friendly to Mr. White?

A. I feel friendly to any man that hasn't mistreated me, yes, sir.

Q. Mr. White came to you and talked to you about this?

A. He only asked me to come down and be his witness.

Q. He asked you about this conversation you had with Mundy Barnett, didn't he? A. I don't know that he did.

Q. How did he find out you had a conversation?

A. I don't know whether he knowed it or not.

Q. When he came, did he subpoena you and you came to this court house, you had never told anybody about that conversation had you? Now, tell me, who did you first tell about ever having a conversation with Mundy Barnett?

A. The first one I told was my wife.

Q. Is your wife living?

A. Yes, sir, the one I have now is living.

Q. The one you had then is living? A. No, sir.

Q. You told the wife you had then or the wife you have got now? A. The wife I have got now.

Q. How long have you been married this time?

A. Two years.

Q. So, she might have told Mr. White or some of these people and let this secret out?

A. I don't know, there wasn't no secret to me.

Q. I know, but you never told anybody in the world except your wife, did you?

A. I might have told Mr. White when he was at my house.

Q. He knew about this conversation and asked you about it, did he, Uncle? A. I don't know, I just don't know.

Q. Didn't he ask you if Mundy Barnett told you that that was Nancy's child? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't he ask you if Mundy Barnett, now think——

Mr. Maxey: If the Court please, I object to telling the witness now to think, I don't think that is proper cross examination.

The Court: The witness is able to take care of himself. Now, just listen to the questions and you answer them so far as you can.

Q. Where did Mr. White have this conversation with you?

A. Well, when he summoned me he come to my house.

Q. He summonsed you?

A. Yes, sir, at least he came there.

Q. He came there with a summons for you, did he?

A. No, he didn't have no summons, he just came there himself, he didn't read no summons.

Q. Didn't he give you a piece of paper? A. No, sir.

Q. How did you happen to come to court?

A. He told me to come as a witness.

Q. And that is the first time you had ever talked to anybody about what you knew?

A. No, I had told my wife about it before this.

Q. I know, but your wife hasn't been telling these people has she? A. I don't know, sir.

Q. Well, outside of your wife that you married two years ago, you had never told a living human soul about the conversation you had with Mundy Barnett at the grave of this party, had you; didn't you talk to Mr. White about it?

A. I wouldn't say that, for I don't know.

Q. You don't remember ever telling anybody else except your wife? A. I don't know if I do.

Q. And then Mr. White must have found out about it some way and got you to come to court. What did he say to you? A. He told me he wanted me to attend court.

Q. He wanted you to attend court? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then did he ask you what you were going to tell when you attended court? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't ask you what you knew about it? A. No, sir.

Q. You are sure of that? A. I am sure of that.

Q. You are sure he didn't ask you what you knew about this case when he came there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you didn't tell him?

A. No, sir, I didn't tell anybody at all.

Q. And you didn't tell anybody but your wife?

A. Yes, sir, that is all.

Q. How many burials did you attend in 1901 and 1902?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell, Judge, I taken a memorandum at times and when this thing came up me moving two or three times, I got my papers lost, I don't know how many.

Q. But you don't remember this funeral by any memorandum that you ever had, if you ever had a memorandum you have lost it, about attending this funeral? A. No, sir.

Q. You attended so many funerals those days, you kept a memorandum of them, keep account of them?

A. That is our rules.

Q. That is the rules of your church? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You attended a great many [] those times?

A. Well, I don't know.

Q. You and Mundy Barnett were the only colored preachers in that section of the country? A. No, sir.

Q. You were the only ones at Wagoner, weren't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. You know Chaney Trent don't you?

A. I don't know her name, I know her by the name of Mrs. Trent.

Q. She is a sister to this Atkins boy, isn't she?

A. I don't know.

Q. You were present at the funeral of her brother, weren't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Sure of that? A. I am sure of that.

Q. Now, isn't that the burial you are talking about now?

A. No, sir, I wasn't there.

Q. You don't know whether you were there or not?

A. No, sir, I wasn't there, I don't know anything about it.

Q. Wasn't you at the funeral of Dick Atkins' boy?

A. No, sir.

Q. Sure? A. I am sure.

Q. Near Wagoner in 1900 or 1901? A. I wasn't there.

Q. You knew Dick Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew the whole family, didn't you? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew his son Tommy died in 1900 or 1899?

A. No, sir, I didn't know that.

Q. Sure of that? A. I am sure of that.

Q. When did you say you went to Wagoner?

A. Oh, I think I went to Wagoner in 1891, I think it was.

Q. 1901? A. 1889.

Q. '89? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You mean '99, don't you? How long before you were at this funeral was it you went to Wagoner?

A. Well, I couldn't say that. I was working and preaching, too, at the depot, rustling freight.

Q. Wasn't this funeral you went to in 1903 instead of 1902? A. The funeral I speak of?

Q. Yes? A. At our cemetery there?

Q. Yes A. No, sir.

Q. What time was it now?

A. I don't think so, it was sometime in the spring, I couldn't tell you the hour or the day or the month.

Q. I want you to tell me what year it was?

A. Sometime in the spring.

Q. What year?

A. As I said it was sometime in '91 or '92.

Q. Ninety-one or ninety-two? A. 1902 or '1.

Q. It wasn't in 1900? A. No.

Q. It wasn't in 1903? A. No.

Q. You are sure it was in 1901 or 1902? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it in the winter time between those two years?

A. No, sir, in the spring.

Q. Well, was it in the spring of 1901 or in the spring of 1902 now, Uncle?

A. I think it was in the spring of 1901.

Q. It wasn't in the spring of 1900 then was it?

A. Yes, it was in the spring of 1900 but spring of 1901 or '2.

Q. It wasn't 1900, it was in 1901, you are sure about that are you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can't be mistaken. How do you fix the time?

A. Well, I might be. I think that. That is what I think, I don't exactly know.

Q. It was either 1901 or 1902, you are sure about that?

A. Yes, sir, between 1901 and 1902.

Q. Who told you that it was necessary for this child to die as late as 1901 or 1902.

A. I don't think there was a man on earth told me so. No one could have told me so but God you know.

Q. Didn't Mr. White tell you that they were trying to prove Nancy had a child? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't he tell you that they were trying to prove that that child died after 1889? A. No, sir.

Q. How do you happen to be so positive about 1901 or 1902, what fixes that date in your mind, Uncle?

A. Well, because I was working as a freight rustler at the time at the depot, it was a union depot at that time.

Q. When did you commence working there at that time?

A. Oh, I don't know now.

Q. What year? A. 1900 I think.

Q. Then when was it you attended this funeral, after you quit working there?

A. I hadn't quit, I was working there at that time.

Q. How long did you work there?

A. Oh, I worked there about two years, I think.

Q. How long had you been working there when you attended this funeral?

A. Oh, probably a year, six months or a year.

Q. So it must have been at least in 1901 or 1902?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Bob DeLozier dug that grave, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir, at least he were there when I went to the cemetery.

Q. But you said a while ago that he dug the grave?

A. That is what I mean, he was there.

Q. Is there anything in the rules of your church that requires you to go out and see the grave dug? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you see this grave being dug, now, Uncle?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you see this party that was buried in this grave?

A. No, sir, I didn't see him only the box.

Q. You don't know whether it was a boy or girl or who it was? A. Don't know only what the people told me.

Q. You say you have a hazy recollection about that?

A. I know no more than what they told me. I don't know whether it was a boy or gal or what.

Q. Your recollection is hazy about that?

A. No, all I know about it is what Mundy Barnett told me about it.

Q. Your recollection is hazy about what Mundy Barnett said? A. No, sir.

Q. What did he say?

A. He just told me he wanted me to assist him to bury this child. Nancy's boy, that is what he told me.

Q. Didn't he say Nancy's cousin? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't he say Dick Atkins' boy? A. No.

Q. You didn't know Nancy Atkins at that time?

A. At that time. yes, sir.

Q. Oh, you had known her a long time before that?

A. Right smart while.

Q. You never knew this boy at all?

A. No, I wouldn't say that.

Q. And you didn't talk about the matter after that until you talked to your wife about it within the last two years?

A. Yes, Mundy Barnett told me it was her boy.

Q. Was Bob DeLozier a member of your church?
A. No, sir.
Q. Did you hear about him going to the penitentiary?
A. Hear about who?
Q. Bob DeLozier? A. Yes, sir.
Q. That was some four or five years after this, wasn't it?
A. I don't know, never paid no attention.
Q. Well, you saw him around Wagoner for a long time after that, didn't you? A. Yes, sir, I saw him there recently.
Q. He lived there for several years after he dug that grave, didn't he? A. Well, I don't know that either.
Q. Well, now, what is your best recollection?

The Court: Well, I think now we are not getting much light.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. You were at the grave and saw the box when they brought it out there, were you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. And how did they get it out there, carried it didn't they? A. No, sir, put it in the wagon.
Q. Had it in the wagon? A. Yes, sir.
Q. It wasn't a regular coffin, it was just made out of boards. Do you know who made that coffin?
A. No, I don't know who.
Q. Don't you know Mundy Barnett made that?
A. No, sir.
Q. It wasn't a bought coffin, it wasn't a store coffin?
A. No, sir.
Q. It was made there in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.
Q. And they just had it on the wagon, there were no carriages or anything like that? A. Two horse wagon.
Q. Just three or four people that were at the grave and the box that they brought out from Wagoner?
A. There was several people there, we didn't have any funeral, we had the burying.
Q. You brought the boy out there to bury him. But they didn't have a parade as they have for other people?
A. Yes, there was several people went out.
Q. They didn't have a parade going up Main Street like you have a funeral?
A. There wasn't much Main Street, all the streets were Main then.

The Court: You say they had just one wagon?

A. Just one wagon.

The Court: Was there anybody walking along?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was walking along?

A. I couldn't tell you who was walking along.

Q. Were they men or women?

A. As I said I was working at the depot and they got there a little ahead of me.

Q. Do you know whose wagon that was? A. No, sir.

Q. Colored fellow? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mules hitched to the wagon? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Didn't have horses, had mules? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know the Davis-Jones store there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. They didn't have anything to do with that funeral, did they? A. I don't know, I don't know that either.

Q. You know that was the big mercantile store there?

A. Yes, sir, I know the store.

Q. And they just got up a box and put the boy in it and took him out there. How big was that box?

A. Oh, I don't know, looked like the box might have been about four feet long.

Q. About four feet long?

A. Yes, sir, three or four feet long.

Q. Isn't that pretty long, Uncle, are you sure it was three or four feet long?

A. No, I aint sure, but I said it looked like it.

Q. It showed that there was a baby in it?

A. No, it was too long for a baby.

Q. It wasn't for a little baby, it was for a child, there is a difference between a baby and a child is there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And this would be about the right size for a child?

A. Well, it would be about the right size I think that seems to me about be about eight or nine years of age.

Q. Then, it would be a pretty big box.

A. That is about the size of the box.

Q. Do you know anybody named Steeples?

A. What is his other name, Judge?

Q. I am just asking about the man Steeples?

A. I don't know him.

Q. Were you in Wagoner in '91, I am not asking about 1901, I am asking about ten years before that, were you in Wagoner in '91? A. Before what time do you mean?

Q. Before this burial? A. I was in Wagoner in 1889.

Q. 1889 you came there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, just going back, all of this talk about 1900 and 1902, has meant to you '91 and '92, hasn't it? A. No, sir.

Q. It hasn't. It was more than 10 years after you came to Wagoner, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are sure of that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It was when you were working up there at the depot? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Did you know Eliza Sterling? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She was a member of your church? A. No, sir.

Q. Was she a member of any church? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What church? A. The Fountain Church.

Q. Fountain Church. Do you know Angeline Moody? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she a member of the church? A. Yes, sir, she was.

Q. What church was she a member of? A. Member of the Baptist Church there.

Q. In another section of the town? A. Yes, sir; four Baptist churches there.

Q. She was a member of the Baptist church? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Angeline Moody? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know Elnora Williams? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She a member of a church—what church?

A. I don't know whether she was a member of the church or not.

Q. Did you know Betsy Overton? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She a member of the church? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What church?

A. She had been a member of the Baptist church, and a member of the Methodist church; I think she was a member of the Methodist church.

Q. Parson, you used to visit the colored neighborhood a good deal? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew those women that I asked you about? A. Yes.

Q. You knew them well. They were friends of yours, those people I have mentioned, those colored women?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you never heard them or anybody in that colored neighborhood mention Nancy Atkins having a boy named Tommy Atkins, did you, never in your life; you never heard of this boy until he was buried, did you?

A. Well, yes, sir, I heard of him; I hope to bury him, the reason I heard of him.

Q. You never heard of him until the time he was buried, did you? Speak out, can't you?

A. Well, give me a little time.

Q. Plenty of time; I thought you said so twice. You never heard of him until the time you buried him, did you?

A. Oh, I don't know whether I did or not.

Q. Didn't you testify that you never heard of the boy until about the time he was buried, haven't you said that twice on the stand, that you never knew of such a boy until the funeral came up?

A. I said I never knew it was Nancy's boy; never knew it until I was told.

Q. You never knew that until it was told you at the funeral? A. No, sir.

Q. That is right. During all the time you knew those colored people there and associated with then, you never knew of Nancy having a boy named Tommy, did you?

A. Well, I don't know. We knew lots of things amongst ourselves.

Q. Now, Parson, don't side-step the question: You said you never knew of Nancy having a boy until the time of the funeral? A. If I said it, I say it now.

Q. Then you never heard of Nancy having a boy by the name of Tommy until the time of the funeral? A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You never heard at that time what the name was, did you? I believe you testified that all you heard was it was a boy of Nancy's?

A. Tommy; yes, called him Tommy.

The Court: He has told all that. Stand aside; that is all.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: I would like to move, your honor, to strike the testimony of the last witness, on the ground that it is hearsay and incompetent.

The Court: Overruled.

Mr. German: Exception.

And thereupon ELLIS CHILDERS, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., was sworn, and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. Mr. Childers, state your name? A. Ellis Childers.

Q. Residence? A. Wagoner County.

Q. Age? A. 51.

Q. What blood are you, Mr. Childers?
A. Three-fourths Creek blood.

Q. What official connection have you had with the Creek Nation?

A. Well I have been a member of the Creek Council for years.

Q. Of both houses at different times? A. Just one house.

Q. What house? A. The lower house of Warriors.

Q. Have you been Speaker of the House of Warriors?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. How often? A. I have been Speaker three times.

Q. What other positions have you held in the Creek Nation?

A. I served as treasurer one term; District Attorney there during the Creek courts there.

Q. Where were you educated, Mr. Childers?
A. Carlysle, Pennsylvania.

Q. Indian School there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you go to school with Minnie Atkins?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you known Nancy Atkins and Minnie Atkins?

A. I don't know exactly, somewhere between 30 and 40 years.

Q. Since your childhood? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Of what blood are they?

A. I can't be certain; they are about half-breeds, though, I think.

Q. Creek? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What tribe of the Creeks?
A. They belong to the Euchee Town.

Q. What are the Euchees, Mr. Childers?
A. What are they?

Q. Yes, what distinguishment is there between the Euchee and Creek?

A. Member of the Creek Tribe, but a band; they spoke a different language.

Q. But they are considered a part of the Creek tribe?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. A sub-division, you might call it, of the Creek Nation, Muskogee Nation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Under the usages of the Creek Nation, what side does the child follow, the father or the mother? A. The mother.

Q. Did you know the father and mother of Minnie and Nancy Atkins?

A. I knew their mother, but I can't say that I knew their father; he died when I was young. I probably had seen him; he was quite a noted man. I knew of him.

Q. What was his name? A. Thomas Atkins.

Q. A Light Horse man, wasn't he?

A. Captain of the Light Horsemen several years.

Q. Did he occupy any position of any prominence in the Creek Nation, or was he a well known citizen of it?

A. He was quite a prominent man; I don't know that he occupied any other position, that I know of, but he was a noted man; a man widely known.

Q. What blood was he among the Creeks?

A. I can't say myself what blood he was, only as I understood, he was a halfblood.

Q. What parentage? A. He belonged to Coweta Town.

Q. Coweta Town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was his wife; what blood was she?

A. She belonged to Euchee.

Q. And according to Creek usages, the children of that marriage followed the mother, because she was a Euchee and the father was not; he was a Coweta, is that correct?

A. Yes, sir, that is correct.

Q. What years were you at school at Carlysle?

A. I was there from January, 1880, to June, 1884.

Q. Where have you resided since June '84, since you returned from school?

A. In what is now Wagoner County.

Q. Spent your life in what was then the Creek Nation, except the years which you have been away at school?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you known Nancy, I believe you said since you were a little child; fix it as definitely as you can.

A. Since a little child. I was quite a young boy, she was a girl when I knew her.

Q. Do you know about how old Nancy is?

A. I can't say; she must be something like about 41 or two years old.

Q. How old did you say you were? A. 51.

Q. How much difference do you think there is between your age and Nancy's?

A. There must be four or five years difference.

Q. That would make her a little older than that, wouldn't it? A. Probably so.

Q. How old is Minnie, you know?

A. Minnie, I think, is older than I am. I take her to be 57. She was quite a good size girl when we went to school; good deal larger than I was a boy.

Q. Are your families connected in any way, Childers and Atkins family?

A. No, sir; some of the Childers married Atkins.

Q. No blood connection, as I understand it, but some intermarriage between the Atkins relations and Childers relation, is that correct? A. Yes, sir.

Q. So you have known this family intimately practically all your life, have you not?

A. Yes, I have known them quite a while.

Q. Did you know Nancy Atkins in Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know of her giving birth to a child in Wagoner? A. I don't know, only what I had heard.

Q. Well, state what the circumstances are that you know in regard to that, Mr. Childers.

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay, your Honor.

Mr. Hill: I don't think his will be hearsay.

The Court: Anything anyone told him, the court will not consider. He may proceed now to state the circumstances.

A. My first hearing of it—there was quite a gathering there of Creek citizens that lived in the vicinity of what is now Coweta and Wagoner, known as the pasture payment; we had quite a considerable pastures from which we received the money and paid it out among the people that lived within or near the pasture, and during that payment it was in the fall, I think in the 1st day of October, 1890. While we were there Saus Childers came to me and said that Nancy Atkins was very sick; she had had a baby, and she was living in a tent there and if she was not taken care of, she was going to die, and finally Saus Childers and his wife, Mary, came and said the same thing. Well, I suggested that I didn't know of anything that we could do except that we are getting money here, getting paid, why not get up a subscription and help her; get somebody to take care of her. Saus immediately asked me to write out a subscription paper and I did. I was at the table, helping make this payment, and I took a paper and wrote it. I don't know the words but it was short, asking for donations, and right then I gave Saus five dollars, my father, he was sitting there, and he gave him five dollars.

Q. Whose father?

A. My father; M. B. Childers, and I gave him the money and the paper, before we got through with this payment he came back with quite a lot of money; as near as I can recollect it was seventy-odd dollars, and brought it back to me, and I told Saus and Mary, both, I said we haven't got time; I said get some of these old women and go and see after her. So my mother and some other of the Indian women that was there went and was there all the afternoon, and finally they came back and reported that they had taken care of her; that they got parties to look after her, and got clothes and cleaned her up and paid Betsy Birney to take care of her, and moved her into her house.

Q. Who was Betsy Birney?

A. Betsy Birney was an old colored woman who lived there in Wagoner.

Q. Now, did you see that child shortly after that?

Mr. German: We object, your Honor, on the ground that it is assuming——

The Court: Well, an assumption, and the court realizes it is an assumption; something this witness has not sworn to; if he would say he saw a child before, I would take that as testimony that it was her child.

Mr. Hill: Certainly.

Q. Did you see a child with Nancy any time soon after this event you have—— A. I did.

Q. Now, state all facts about that to the court.

A. A short time afterwards I don't know whether it was a week or more; I don't recollect, but shortly after that time Betsy Birney who owned a place within our pasture, and we had to pay her; we had agreed to pay her. In fact we had to get her consent and the only way that was done was to pay them and get their consent, and I went to settle with Betsy Birney, and while I was there I seen Nancy and this child.

Q. Now, fix as near as you can how soon this was after the date, the time, that you have told about the contribution being raised.

A. I don't think it was over ten days. I had other parties to settle with, and I went out in the country once or twice and back, and I think it was within at least ten or fifteen days after this occurred.

Q. Now, let me interrupt you a little about that, to go back to this Childers. You say that Saus Childers was the one came to you and told you of Nancy having the baby and her destitute condition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was Saus Childers related to Nancy?

A. Saus Childers' wife was a first cousin of Nancy.

Q. That is the Childers family connected with the Atkins family that you referred to? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have any talk with Nancy at the time you were in the house settling with Betsy Birney?

A. After I got through I sat and talked with her a while.

Q. Did you have any discussion with her about the child?

A. I talked to her about it; I don't know that we had any discussion about it.

Q. Well, do you learn whether it was a boy or girl?

A. I don't recollect; I don't recollect asking her; I don't think I asked her.

Q. When did you next see that child, if you saw it?

A. If I saw the child after that, why I didn't know at the time that I was seeing it. I saw a boy they claimed it was afterward, but at the time I seen it, I didn't know it was the same child.

Q. Well, did after that time you see any boy around with Nancy? A. Yes.

Q. When was it that you saw a child around with Nancy after this event you are referring to?

A. I can't tell; it was sometime after, though; a year or such a matter.

Q. Year or such a matter? A. Yes.

Q. Did you have any talk with Nancy then as to whose child it was? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Did you know whose child it was?

A. I thought it was—I just thought it was hers. I never asked anything much.

Q. Do you know what name it went by?

A. Not at that time.

Q. Did you later learn?

A. I have heard that it was Tommy Atkins.

Q. When did you learn it was Tommy Atkins?

A. Sometime after that.

Q. Some time after that? A. Yes.

Q. In other words, when it was quite small you didn't have any recollection of its name? A. No, I don't.

Q. How long do you recall that boy?

A. Well, I can't say; I never paid very much attention to it.

Q. How big was it the last time you recall seeing it?

A. Well the last time I seen the child, they said was Tommy Atkins, it was probably a good sized kid, running around.

Q. Talking?

A. Well, I didn't talk to it; I don't know.

Q. Well, was it big enough to talk?

A. Yes, big enough to talk.

Q. Well, make an estimate, Mr. Childers, the last time you saw that boy as to how old it was.

A. It might have been a year or better, or between a year and a half or two years old.

Q. Well, you remember seeing him when he was along about that age? A. Yes.

Q. Did you see him with Nancy?

A. I seen him with Nancy and the others that lived there with him.

Q. Well, where was that? A. Right there at Wagoner.

Q. Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, what place at Wagoner?

A. I think if I seen him at all, I seen him there at Davis & Jones store, or near there. That is about the only place I recollect seeing him.

Q. Did you see him at Betsy Birney's any?

A. I don't think I ever was at Betsy Birney's but once after that, and that was several years after.

Q. How often did you see this boy around Davis & Jones store after that time?

A. I can't tell. I paid very little attention to it. I have seen them there, but how often I don't know.

Q. Well, as he grew up, what is your recollection, now, of the size of the boy when you last saw him?

A. That is about the time I am speaking of, is about the last time I saw him.

Q. The last time you saw him? A. Yes.

Q. About two or three years old, something like that?

A. Yes.

Q. Give a description of the boy to the court, as you remember him, Mr. Childers?

A. I never paid that close attention to him; I don't know that I can describe him.

Q. Well, describe him as best you can. If you have any recollection at all of him, why give the court that recollection if you have not any recollection, why that is the end of it.

A. The child that I seen, I can't say describe him; I never noticed him particularly. I just seen the child.

Q. Don't think you could give a description of him?

A. I don't think I can give it correctly.

Q. Well, what about his blood; could you tell whether he was Indian, white, or what? What is your recollection of that?

A. Well, my supposition probably might have led me to think that he favored an Indian, knowing that she was an Indian, but to say distinct what blood it was, I don't——

Q. Have no distinct recollection on that subject?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, Mr. Childers, you have given those circumstances about the time the child was born; can you fix that year and if so state what circumstance fixes it in your mind?

A. Year it was born?

Q. Yes?

A. Why the nearest that I could fix it was on the building of these pastures, the year I spoke of. We first—the law authorizing the building of those pastures was passed in '89; the spring of '90 we started building the pasture. We rented the pasture to Winfield Scott; the first payment on that, which would have been the April payment, we used that in building the pasture, and it was the first payment that we had at Wagoner, so when this occurrence happened and by that I think it must have been in the first day of October; our payment was the first of April and 1st of October of each year.

Q. Well now which year? A. 1890.

Q. I believe you testified before in this case did you not? A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember whether you testified it was 1889?

A. I did say it was 1889 but I was judging that the building of these pastures was in 1899, but since then it was in 1890, we had one pasture before. But the enactment of this law and we built this pasture after the passage of that law.

Q. Now from the circumstances which you relate you think this was about the first of October, 1890?

A. It was on the first day of October whether it was 1889 or 1890; I think it was in 1890.

Q. Did you see Nancy before that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see her in a pregnant condition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long before this event you tell about?

A. I saw her at different times.

Q. Did you see her pregnant more than once?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I say did you see her pregnant more than once?

A. I said I seen her more than once.

Q. I asked if you saw her more than once in the condition.

A. No, I never did.

Q. The time you refer to was it in 1890? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You saw her several times during that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember Nancy being sent to the penitentiary for violation of the postal laws? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was the birth of this child before or after that?

A. It was before.

Q. Do you know about how long before that?

A. I don't know but it was after that though I am satisfied. I recollect the cause of her opening the letter in which she was charged; it was a Birney letter that she had opened, letter addressed to Neosho Birney.

Q. And taken by Betsy Birney?

A. I think the circumstance was a letter from Neosho Birney to Dick Birney.

Q. And she got it for the wrong Birney?

Mr. German: We object to the details.

The Court: That probably could throw no light. He remembers the circumstance.

Q. From these circumstances then you are certain that the conviction for this violation of the postal laws was after the birth of the child? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Hill: Mr. German that judgment shows the conviction for violation of the postal laws?

Mr. German: I think so.

Mr. Hill: I asked that it be put in in full to show that charge.

The Court: What was the date of that judgment?

Mr. Hill: It was December 1890. Now your Honor I want to take up another subject with him but it will take quite a little time.

Mr. German: Your Honor we would like to cross examine this witness before court adjourns.

Mr. Hill: I am not through the witness.

The Court: Well, your cross examination of course will not proceed until you are through. You may go on, Judge.

Q. Mr. Childers were you connected in any way with making the Creek roll in 1895?

A. I were as a member of the Council in authenticating the Creek rolls.

Q. I wish you would explain what the Creek roll of 1895 was and for what purpose it was made?

A. The roll was made for the purpose of a per capita payment.

Q. What per capita payment?

A. There was an appropriation of Creek funds of $200,000.00 to be paid out per capita and these rolls were made for the purpose of distributing the per capita money.

Q. Among the Creek people? A. Among the Creek people.

Q. How was that roll made up?

A. Each town made their own rolls. There was no law but it was a custom that has always been that each town makes up its own rolls. Those rolls are submitted to the Creek Council and a committee appointed to investigate each separate roll and report on it, and it was authenticated by resolution of the Creek Council.

Q. Are those rolls or tentative rolls submitted to the people themselves before they are submitted to the council, do you have any mass meetings in your towns?

A. Each town officers have their own method of making up the rolls, some do and some do not. In our town we did and I know other towns that do that, in other towns they do not.

Q. Do you know how it was made in Euchee Town?

A. No, sir.

Q. You don't belong to Euchee Town? A. No, sir.

Q. Was there any other 1895 roll?

A. There were forty-seven towns and forty-seven rolls.

Q. Was there any other roll of the Creek Nation other than the 1895? A. There is the roll of 1890.

Q. What was that?

A. That was made for a per capita payment.

Q. Was it made up in a similar way to the 1895 roll?

A. It was.

Q. And the same conditions and usages governed as with regard to the 1895 roll? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now the 1895 roll was the last roll made by the Creek Nation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it supposed to be a complete and perfect roll of Creeks by blood? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time in 1895 was that roll made up?

A. In May, in the month of May, 1895, it was an extra session of council.

Q. When was the work—you say the council met in May 1895, do you mean that was the time it was adopted?

A. The regular session of the Creek Council is in October; but the Chief called the extra session of council for this purpose and it held in May.

Q. Now as I understand the council was called to consider the rolls that were in process of being made up? A. Yes, sir.

Q. By the various down officers? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the council came together in May 1895?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What position did you hold?

A. I was the speaker of the house.

Q. What was the procedure then had?

A. There was a resolution appointing a committee of eighteen, twelve from the house of warriors and I think six from the house of Kings to take these various rolls under consideration and pass upon them, and this committee was appointed by the presiding officer of each house.

Q. You appointed the committee from the house?

A. I appointed the committee from the house.

Q. What did this committee do?

A. They called upon the town officials, the king generally, and in a great many instances the town king, probably a full-blood, they couldn't write or read, and maybe a member from the house of warriors made up the roll; any way they called the town king in to verify these rolls, and any other way that the committee may see fit to verify these rolls to see that they were members of the Creek Tribe and that they were entitled to participate in the tribal payment.

Q. Now did these committees go outside the town kings or town warriors and get any information from the relatives?

A. If they didn't get satisfactory proof of evidence from the town king if there was anybody else that lived in the vicinity that knew of them they called them. For instance I belong to Cheyoi Town and there are members of the town that live down on Canadian River, way down in the south part of the Creek Nation. I may not be able to verify these but I know of somebody a member of the Creek Council that lived there in the neighborhood and knew them. They would call them in to find out if the parties were living and if they were entitled to the per capita payment.

Q. And acted upon such information that they deemed reliable obtained in that way? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now at the time this session was being held in May, 1895, did you know of the existence of this boy Tommy Atkins of Nancy's at that time?

A. I knew Nancy had a child but I couldn't say at this time that at that time I knew the child's name as being Tommy Atkins.

Q. But you knew she had a child? A. Yes.

Q. Did you know whether it was a boy or girl at that time?

A. The boy.

Q. I am getting at what your information was in 1895.

A. Yes.

Q. You can't recall now whether you knew his name was Tommy? A. No, sir.

Q. What information in 1895 did you have of Minnie's children? A. She had two boys.

Q. Did you know what their names were?

A. I don't think I did at that time.

Q. Did you know of her having any other children?

A. I never did.

Q. Mr. Childers did you talk with—did you know of the reputation among the Atkins family as to what children Minnie had in the year 1895?

The Court: You may answer that yes or no.

A. Yes.

Q. Now, what was the understanding in the Atkins family as to what children Minnie had in 1895?

Mr. Cruce: We object to that because it is incompetent testimony.

Mr. Hanford: Same objection your Honor.

The Court: Overruled.

Mr. Cruce: Exception.

A. She had two boys.

Q. That was the reputation in the Atkins family as to Minnie's family at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Eddie Skrimpsher? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he related to the Atkins?

A. He was a first cousin.

Q. Did you know Lee Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he living in 1895?

A. 1895, no I don't think he was.

Q. He is a brother of Minnie?

A. Full brother of Minnie and Nancy.

Q. Did you know Kate Holden? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What relation was she?

A. She was a half sister on the father's side.

Q. Her mother was not a Davis? A. No.

Q. She was not a Euchee? A. No.

Q. Now were you called upon in 1895 to go before the committee in making out the rolls in regard to the Atkins family? A. I was called yes.

Q. Now state to the court what took place before the committee.

A. Sam Brown called me out of the house and asked me to come in the committee room, that he needed me to help him verify three families of Euchees that lived in our section of the country; and I done so.

Q. Well what three families was it?

A. Why I had an uncle by the name of Jim Childers, he had married a Euchee. And William Childers' family was Euchee and this very Atkins family was the other family.

Q. Now I would like to have the—before I go to that. I asked you a few minutes ago about the names in the Atkins family to state what family Minnie had; you have answered that. I overlooked asking you if you know what the names in the Atkins family were as to what children if any Nancy had in 1895.

The Court: You may answer that yes or no.

A. I think I do.

Q. All right what was it?

A. I think that she had one boy.

Q. And that was the reputation in the Atkins family that she had one boy in 1895? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Hanford: I would like to move to strike the answer and save an exception.

The Court: Unless there is something more than that application circumstance that shows the court that he had that from which he may know what that was it will not be considered very weighty in this case. A man says I know what the reputation of a family was, the court takes that together with all the circumstances in the case.

I think we will not take further time now. It is going to take considerable time to complete this witness.

And thereupon court recessed until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

And thereafter, and at 9:30 o'clock A. M., May 16, 1917, court convened pursuant to adjournment and further proceedings herein were had as follows:

ELLIS CHILDERS, a witness heretofore produced on behalf of Nancy Atkins, et al., defendants, being recalled further testified as follows:

On Direct Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. Mr. Childers, I want to call your attention to a list of names that appear on page 8 of defendant's exhibit B-1, which I understand was the book of Mr. Sam Brown. I am just going to read you this list of names and ask you if you can identify them: Ed Schemscher; do you know him? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. German: That is spelled here Schemscher.

Q. Is that the correct spelling of it? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Minnie Harris—Minnie Atkins?
A. She was sometimes called Minnie Harris.
Q. Do you know Minnie Atkins? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Charlie Atkins?
A. That was intended for Charlie Harrison I suppose.

Mr. Cruce: I would like to suggest if the Court please, that it looks to me like it would necessarily be a conclusion, perhaps an unwarranted conclusion, for this witness to testify as to what Mr. Brown meant by this book:

The Court: He is asked now whether he knows the individuals of the names called.

Q. Susan Atkins?
A. I don't know anybody by that name.
Q. Thomas Atkins?
A. Unless it was intended for this Thomas Atkins that we are talking about; that is the only one I know.
Q. You are referring to Nancy Atkins the——
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Mary Atkins?
A. I don't know anybody by that name.

Mr. Hill: I think this is Mary; I would be glad for the Court to look at it; I am not right certain—Mary or Mamie.

The Court: Well, I should call that Mary.

Q. You didn't know a Mary Atkins? A. I do not.
Q. Nancy Atkins? A. I know her.
Q. That is the Nancy now in the court room—is that the one you are referring to? A. Yes, sir.
Q. I want to call your attention to Government's exhibit A-32, page 76, which seems to be a memorandum book which I understand was introduced by Mr. Sam Brown; opposite these names is written the list, giving—given by John Davis; now, I want to read you what appears there and ask you if you identify these names: 1895, Muskogee, C. N.; March; Ed Schrimsher; do you know him?
A. I know him, yes, sir.
Q. Minnie Atkins? A. I know her.
Q. Charlie Atkins?
A. Well, I don't know him as Atkins; Charlie—Charlie Harrison we called him; the only one that I know.
Q. The one you have in mind is Minnie's son Charlie?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. That goes under the name of Harrison? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Susan Atkins? A. I don't know anybody by that name.
Q. Thomas Atkins? A. Yes.
Q. Who do you identify as Thomas Atkins?
A. Nancy's child.

Mr. Stuart: I didn't hear that.

The Court: He says that he identifies Thomas Atkins as Nancy's child. Of course I appreciate that this witness is only testifying now that he knows the individuals of the names called. It is no evidence to the mind of the Court that the individuals which he has in mind are the individuals that the maker of that book had in mind.

Mr. Hill: I understand; the point I am trying to develop is what was in the mind of Mr. Childers when he went before this committee.

The Court: It hasn't appeared yet that he had this data before him.

Mr. Hill: I will follow that up.

The Court: You only intend now to show that he knew the individuals that are represented by the names?

Mr. Hill: Yes, sir.

Q. The next name is Mary Atkins.
A. I didn't know a Mary Atkins, not in that family.
Q. The next name is Nancy Atkins?
A. I know Nancy Atkins.
Q. Who do you identify as Nancy Atkins?
A. The party that is in the court room.

Q. I suppose you understand, Mr. Childers, I asked you that yesterday, that these questions are relating to your knowledge of this in 1895 when you were before the Creek Council? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Childers, will you give us the number of the enrolled Thomas Atkins in addition to the one in controversy here; do you know the other; the other Thomas Atkins besides the one in controversy?

A. I know two others. I don't know their roll number, but I did know of two others. There is one I always thought was enrolled, but I found out later he wasn't enrolled for allotment but he was enrolled on the 1895 payment.

Q. Mr. Childers did you recognize this document which I hand you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is it? A. It is the payment roll of 1890.

Q. Of what year? A. 1890—1895.

Q. Mr. Childers, I hand you a photographic copy of what purports to be a photographic copy of this, marked Government's Exhibit A-2. Look at that and see if that is a correct photographic copy of the roll you hold in your hand?

The Court: Is that understood by counsel to be a copy?

Mr. German: Yes, sir.

The Court: The record may show that that is admitted to be a correct photographic copy of the original roll which the witness holds in his hand.

Mr. Allen: The roll which the witness holds in his hand is the same roll to which we have referred in this case.

Mr. Hill: It is admitted that the roll which Mr. Childers holds in his hand is the 1895 roll referred to in this trial?

A. It is a correct copy.

The Court: Well, it will be unnecessary now for him to answer that. You may proceed to examine.

Q. Now, Mr. Childers on this page to which your attention is called——

Mr. Stuart: I would like to ask one preliminary question, your Honor, please.

Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. The rolls out there were made up from the reports of the Town Kings, weren't they, the town men? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He made up his roll and brought it to the Council? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then each roll of each Town King was acted upon by the Council? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you had a separate independent roll outside of this that you acted on, this is a copy?

A. This is a copy, yes, sir.

Q. But the thing that you acted upon was the report of each Town King?

A. Yes, sir, that is what the Committee acted upon.

Q. And when they passed it up the Assembly acted on it? A. Acted on the Committee's Report.

Q. That wasn't before you?

A. This is the very roll, this pay roll is made up by this committee from the rolls that were submitted by the Town Kings.

Q. And each roll of the Town Kings was redrafted and endorsed by the committee, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. An approval or endorsement put on the roll furnished by each Town King. That endorsement was put on each Town King's report, wasn't it? Don't you remember that?

A. I don't remember that. My best recollection of it is that when they got through with the report—that is the report that the Town King submitted—that was copied and forwarded to the Council as their report, and the Council passed on it as the authentic roll.

Q. That is, each Town King brought in his report from the Town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That report was passed up to the committee, the committee examined that and if they approved it they endorsed it and passed it up to the Council?

Mr. German: The officers or somebody copied from that which the Council acted upon to this document?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Let's see if I understand you. Then, the Council didn't act upon this copy, but they acted upon the several rolls from the several Towns which had been approved by the Committee and submitted to them?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Then, after the Council had acted upon those several committee reports and had approved those severally, then they were incorporated into this roll by some person who wrote the roll from those approved?

A. That is true.

The Court: I understand the situation.

Mr. German: I would like for the record to show that when the words "This roll" has been referred to in this examination the so called original 1895 pay roll held in the witness' hand is referred to.

The Court: I will state what the Court understands to be the situation. That the 1895 roll, which is an exhibit in evidence here and which the witness holds in his hands, and which is referred to as the original 1895 roll, is a roll which was made up by some person from the several committee reports to the Council; each of which reports referred to one of the various Town rolls, and approved that Town roll to the Council; that the Council then took those several rolls incorporating the several Town rolls, passed upon the committee reports as to them and approved them, and when they were all approved, then the several reports were taken by some one and incorporated into what is now in the hands of the witness as the original 1895 roll.

Mr. Maxey: Pay roll.

The Court: Pay roll. But what the Council considered and had before them was not this 1895 roll which the witness holds in his hand, but was the several rolls from the various Towns, submitted by the Committee, and that that was what the Council approved rather than this roll of 1895, this being written up after the Council had acted.

Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. That is the correct statement that the Court has made is it, Mr. Childers?

A. Yes, sir, that is the correct statement.

Q. Take this roll and explain how it is that the names written seem to be paragraphed and numbered separately, what does that mean? A. It showed families.

Q. That paragraphing and separate numbering means separate families for each paragraph or separate set of numbers, is that it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, the first one there?

A. You will have to get Mr. Brown to read that, it is a Euchee name.

Q. Number 205? A. Narhee Mingo.

Q. That is the first of that particular family and contains four names in that family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, commence with the paragraph which is headed by Nine under the words last number, present Number one, and first name Ed Schrimpsher. Do you recognize that as a family group? A. Down to Seven that is a family group.

Q. Then next to that is another family commencing with one again? A. That is just one in the family.

Q. Then following that is another family group commencing with one again and running down to seven?

A. Yes, sir, seven in the family.

Q. Now, returning to the second family group which is headed Ed Schrimsher, you recognize that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know that family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that the Atkins family that is in controversy?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what is the second, two hundred and ten, present number Number two, what do you find there?

A. It shows Mamie Atkins in original writing; then there is the writing on top of the Mamie in red ink changing it to Minnie.

Q. You think that is Mamie originally, do you?

A. It looks as though it is Mamie; it is M-a-m-i-e.

Q. And the red ink begins after the letter M?

A. "M", yes, sir.

Q. Now, 211, the last number; what do you find there?

A. Charlie Atkins.

Q. Then next, under 212, and four?

A. Fourth in the family, it is originally wrote Susan Atkins, and the word Alice has been written over it in red ink.

Mr. German: Over what?

A. Over the word Susie—Susan—S-u-s-a-n—Susan.

Q. Now, number 213, the last number and present number 5, what do you find? A. Thomas Atkins.

Q. Now, following those last two names, do you find any notations?

A. There is a parenthesis in red ink besides the words "Error of 1", is written in red ink.

Q. How many names does that parenthesis cover and what names?

A. Two; covers Susan Atkins and Thomas Atkins.

Q. Now, Alice Atkins where is was originally Susan?

A. Yes, written over the word Susan, the word Alice in red ink.

By Mr. Allen.

Q. Isn't the word "Error" written opposite both the names of Thomas and Alice, and then isn't the word "of 1" written over the word "Error" opposite the name Atkins?

A. It shows a parenthesis in red ink around the word Susan Atkins, with the word Alice written over the word Susan and Thomas Atkins, and the word "Error of 1" written opposite those two names.

Q. Isn't there a word error——

A. The word "error" is written over the words of 1.

Q. Isn't it written under "of 1", too?

A. I don't see it under the words "of 1."

The Court: The original about which the witness has been interrogated, shows very plainly following the parenthesis, which immediately follows the name Susan, laterly Alice Atkins, the word "Error" written on the same line in red ink. Immediately following the name Thomas Atkins on the next line after the parenthesis—on the line after the parenthesis, appears to have been written the words "of 1". There also seems to be written on the same line and occupying practically the same space as the words "of 1," the word "error." That is as much as it conveys to me. But, as to whether the word "error" which appears in the same space as the words "of 1," was written before or after the writing of the words "of 1," I am unable to determine.

Mr. Hill.

Q. Following number 213, the last number, present number 5, the name Thomas Atkins which you have read, I will ask you what names appear next?

A. It was originally wrote Mary Atkins and the word Harvey written in red ink over the word Mary.

Q. Then opposite the last number, 215, present number 7, what do you find? A. Nancy Atkins.

Q. Now, does that contain all of the Atkins group?

A. Of that family?

Q. Of that family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Childers, during the compilation of this roll, were you called before this committee? I think you explained yesterday it was working upon it; if so, state the circumstances and tell the Court all about it.

The Court: He stated yesterday that he was called before the committee as to three different names, as I remember it, among which was the Atkins family. He has gotten that far.

Mr. Hill: Now, I want him to take it up there.

Q. Explain who called you and what took place.

A. Mr. Brown called me.

Q. Mr. Sam W. Brown? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What position did he occupy to the Euchees?

A. He was Town King of the Euchees.

Q. Alright. Now, state what took place.

Q. He asked me to come in before the committee and help him to identify this three families, and in this three families, among them, this Atkins family was one of them.

Q. Well, did you go in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you recall who was present?

A. The member of the committee was present and the clerks; I don't recollect that there was anybody else in there.

Q. Who was the clerk?

A. I don't remember; they had several clerks but they had one, John Phillips, is the only one I recollect.

Q. You think he was present at that time? A. Yes.

Q. Well, what took place when you went in the committee room?

A. The chairman of the committee had their roll and asked me if I knew this family, which I told him I did, and he called off the names and explained as to who they were intended for and at that time of course I remembered the family, knew the family and did verify that roll. That is the members of that roll there.

Q. Now, was the last roll, or the last list that was made up, that went into this authenticated roll that you hold in your hand—— A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did that contain the names read by you, as just read here, beginning with Ed Skrimpsher, and running through to Nancy Atkins?

A. I can't say—pardon me, let me get that question again.

The Court: Read the question, Mr. Penick.

A. It must have been.

Q. You recognize this as the final roll that was acted upon by the Creek Nation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, when they read to you the name of Ed Skrimpsher, who did you identify as Ed Skrimpsher?

A. Newt Skrimpsher's son.

Q. When they read you the name of Minnie Atkins, who did you identify as Minnie Atkins?

A. I knew her, she was Thomas Atkins son; I knew her for quite a while.

Q. Daughter you mean to say?

A. Daughter, I should have said daughter.

Q. Minnie Atkins, who you went to school with?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. When they read you the name of Charlie Atkins, who did you identify?

A. Those children—I didn't know the names of the children; I knew that they had children and at that time I don't recollect—I don't think I knew the names of the children, and asked them who they meant, and if they explained to me the names of whom they meant, I knew that they had children and I identified them as such. At that time I don't think I knew the names of those children.

Q. Charlie and Harvey? A. Charlie and Harvey.

Q. Was it explained to you whose child that was supposed to be? A. It was.

Q. And you approved this Charlie on that roll as Charlie Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You cannot now recollect whether you remembered Minnie's child was named Charlie but the person that you identify here, you were identifying as Minnie's son?

A. I didn't know the names of either one of the children at that time.

Q. Now, the next name here is Alice Atkins written in red ink as you have heretofore explained. Who did you identify as Alice Atkins?

A. I don't remember that name at all.

Q. You don't remember that? A. No, sir.

Q. That next name is Thomas Atkins. Who did you identify as that?

A. Thomas Atkins, I am under the impression now, yet, that it was explained to me as Nancy's child, and I had that on my mind at the time.

Q. The next name is Mary Atkins, originally written over

Harvey in red ink, as you explained. Who did you identify as that? A. Harvey was a son of Minnie Atkins.

Q. Was that explained that this was Minnie's son as Charlie, as you heretofore stated? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The last name was Nancy Atkins, who did you identify as that? A. I knew her, the daughter of Thomas Atkins.

Q. A sister of Minnie? A. A sister of Minnie.

Q. What were the other two families that you identified at that time?

A. That was uncle Jim's wife and children.

Q. Uncle Jim Childers?

A. Uncle Jim Childers' wife and children, and William Childers had one of the girls.

Q. You have identified them in the same manner as you have testified you identified the Atkins family? A. I did.

Q. Do you know the handwriting which appears upon this roll which you have examined? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Whose handwriting is it?

A. The handwriting on the roll is Jim Lynch's handwriting.

Q. Who was Jim Lynch?

A. Jim Lynch was a Creek Indian and used as secretary for quite a long while around on the councils; sometimes he was a clerk on the various committees and worked for the Chief sometimes.

Q. Where is he now?

A. I have heard that he is dead, I don't know.

Q. You haven't seen him for years?

A. I haven't seen him for years.

Q. Can you recognize any of that handwriting in red ink?

A. I think I do.

Q. Whose do you think that is?

A. I think that is Mrs. Moore's handwriting.

Q. Who is Mrs. Moore?

A. She is Judge Moore's wife, a sister of Miss Alice Robertson.

Q. What position if any did she occupy with the Creek council?

A. She didn't hold any position with the Creek council, that I know of.

Q. Did she do any clerical work for the——

A. She assisted Judge Moore when the payment was going on.

Q. In a clerical capacity? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, while we have this roll here—I will ask you if you were present when those payments were made. I called your attention to the notations following those names.

A. I was present nearly the whole payment; sometimes probably I wasn't but I was present nearly the whole payment as it was made there.

Q. What was the custom of paying in these family groups how was the payment made in regard to family?

A. The head of families drew the money for the family.

A. I notice there, Mr. Childers, that each one of those family groups seems to have been footed up and changed over; have you noticed that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that footing had before the payment was made or when was it made, do you know?

A. The footing was made during the payment and showed who drew each amount of money.

Q. Well, isn't there a change of the footing here in several instances that you can look down that page in this family and other family groups? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Do you see the footing in regard to this Atkins family group there as originally made before split up?

A. I see the footing in red ink showed——

Q. Well, I am speaking of the original before the changes were made, Mr. Childers; can you read it there? It is pretty dim. A. Is it on the same line?

Q. Can you read under there? A. I can't read it.

Q. You can see dimly on that that there has been some footing made before the red ink footing, can't you?

Q. I do, that is very dim; I can't tell what it is, though.

Q. Well, pass that and turn to——

The Court: Let me study that a little bit while we are on that point.

The Court: I ask this merely as a matter of information, I don't remember that it has been brought out in the evidence yet, as to when the blue pencil figures were made upon this roll. The roll to my mind indicates that what figures were placed upon the roll at the time the payment was actually made are probably the red ink figures in the "amount paid" column.

Mr. German: That is correct.

The Court: And the blue pencil figures would appear to have been placed upon the roll at some subsequent time.

Mr. German: I think the evidence shows that it was by the Dawes Commission in the course of their work. If it isn't we can prove it.

The Court: In regard to the words "Dead", where the Commission had evidence that a certain enrollee was dead, now I find the word "dead" here in blue pencil as well as the figures in the per capita column.

Mr. German: Your Honor, as I remember it, Mr. Shannefelt identified names on census cards as being on this roll by those blue pencil figures. If he didn't we can introduce evidence showing that the Dawes Commission did put them on there. Mr. Beall here, one of Mr. Page's attorneys, has personal knowledge.

The Court: In my judgment the blue pencil figures have no relation to the payment and has reference to something subsequent.

Q. Do you know anything about those blue pencil figures?

A. I don't recollect; the only thing I know is these red ink figures.

Mr. Hill: Well, that has already been introduced I believe and the amount.

Q. I will just ask you to state if you were present when that payment was made, at the time this payment was made that has already been introduced. It appearing that Minnie drew fifty-seven dollars sixty cents, covering four names, herself and Charlie and Alive and Thomas and Harvey; and Ed Schrimpsher fourteen dollars and forty cents was receipted for by Mr. Brown; Nancy Atkins fourteen dollars and forty cents was receipted for by Mr. Brown. That is already in evidence I understand; I want to ask him if that was correct.

Mr. German: There are five names included in the lines running to fifty seven dollars sixty cents, Minnie's being one of the five, but clearly there was only four drawn for.

Mr. Hill: The amount shows that it was four but it covers the roll of five names.

The Court: Yes, I have noticed that before. Now, the question is, Mr. Childers, were you present when that payment was made to Minnie and Mr. Brown as the roll shows it was made? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Relate the circumstances?

A. Minnie came up to draw for this family, the entire family. Mr. Moore, the gentleman who was making the payment, objected to Minnie drawing for the other parties, the whole family.

Q. On what ground do you know?

A. He just said he didn't was to be responsible to paying it to Minnie, and Mr. Brown and him had a little controversy; and finally Mr. Moore said to Mr. Brown: "I will pay it to you and you can be responsible if you care." So finally they come to that agreement and Minnie went up and signed for some and the others Mr. Brown signed up for. Signed the receipt on that. Then the money was paid over and when the money was paid over, my recollection is that Minnie got all of the money.

Q. Sam Brown turned over to her all the money he had signed for? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know at that time which ones Minnie signed for and which ones Sam Brown signed for? A. No, sir.

A. No, sir.

Q. You just knew Sam Brown was signing for some and Minnie was signing for some?

A. Yes, sir. When the money was removed if I remember Minnie got that money.

Q. Did you see the way that was signed up in these photographic copies? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I say, did you see it until then? A. No, sir.

Q. You never knew who signed for this one or for that one? A. No, sir.

The Court: Nancy wasn't there then?

A. She wasn't there.

Q. Ed Schrimpsher there? A. No, sir.

Q. Did Charlie and Harvey and Tommy or any of the others come there?

A. There wasn't any of the family there excepting Minnie.

Q. I believe I asked you yesterday the relationship of Ed Schrimpsher to Minnie? A. He is a first cousin.

Q. I believe I asked you that?

A. They are two sisters children.

Q. Now, Mr. Childers——

The Court: I want to ask him a question there. Did you know a man by the name of Davis in that family?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: What was his relation to Minnie and Nancy?

A. He was an Uncle.

Q. Yesterday you stated that you had learned from talking with members of the family what the general reputation in the family was as to Tommy being Nancy's child, and Charlie and Harvey being Minnie's. I will ask you what members you have talked to; I am referring now to prior to 1895.

The Court: Now, Mr. Childers, before you answer that; note particularly his last suggestion; what conversations you had had with members of the family in regard to these relationships prior to 1895. What did you know in 1895 as coming from the several members of the family, that is what members have you talked to?

A. Did I talk with any members of that family in reference to the children?

The Court: Yes, that is the question.

A. Outside of themselves and Sauce Childers and his wife.

Q. Then Sauce Childers and his wife are the only ones that you recall in the family, outside of Minnie and Nancy, that you talked to prior to that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you talk to Mr. Davis and his wife any prior to that time?

A. I certainly did, for I was with Davis a great deal.

Q. I thought you said you didn't recall any except Sauce?

A. I don't remember it, but I couldn't have helped it, because I was with Davis a great deal at the time.

Q. What kind was Mr. Robinson?

A. Col. Robinson's wife was an aunt of Minnie and Nancy.

Q. Were you on terms with them all? A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall any specific talk with them on this subject?

A. I don't remember any specific talk but I have been with the family a good deal, stayed over night with them.

Q. Do you remember whether Minnie and Nancy were discussed in any of those family talks?

A. I don't remember just now.

Q. But you remember that you were constantly thrown with the family? A. Yes.

Q. I asked you what other Thomas Atkins there were in the Creek Nation on the 1895 roll?

A. There was a Thomas Atkins, a son of Billy Atkins that lives in Coweta, that belongs to Coweta Town.

Q. I hand you census card 174.

Mr. Stuart: Mr. Hill, let me ask you if it is your purpose to show that the Tommy we represent was not one of those Tommys? We are Minnie's Tommy if we are any.

The Court: And if you are any Tommy at all it is the Tommy on the 1895 roll appearing in the same family with Minnie, and about which the witness has just been interrogated?

Mr. Stuart: Yes, sir.

Mr. Hill: I presume that would relieve us from proving this up?

The Court: I have understood that to be the admission all along.

Mr. Hill: I thought by the rule of exclusion we had to put in this other testimony.

The Court: That will save it now.

Mr. Hill: Well there is just one more question.

Q. Do you know where the allotments of these other Thomas Atkins are located?

A. This Thomas Atkins I have just spoke of is allotted east of Wagoner probably six or seven miles.

Q. And the other Thomas Atkins, do you know where his is?

A. I learned later that he didn't file. He died.—— That finally was rejected at first and we appealed it. They belonged to my Town and we appealed it to the Secretary the third time before I ever got that family on the roll.

Q. Your town is Cheyarha? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many of the Thomas Atkins that were on the roll belonged to Euchee Town?

The Court: It seems to me the roll will identify that it is a final enrollment of the Thomas Atkins about which this controversy revolves in this case as No. 213 of the 1895 roll. That is this number.

Q. One other question. I asked him if any of the other Thomas Atkins belonged to Euchee Town? A. No, sir.

Mr. Hill: No further questions.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Ellis, I believe you gave the other day, on yesterday, the chronological order of the different positions of trust that you have held in the Creek Nation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What were you in 1890? A. 1890?

Q. Yes? A. I was a member of the Council.

Q. How long did you serve in that capacity at that time?

A. I had served eight years, two terms.

Q. In 1894 what were you doing?

A. That is as representative?

Q. Yes? A. I was still a member of Council.

Q. In 1895? A. Member of Council.

Q. You were at that time speaker of the house of Warriors, were you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Before testifying on yesterday you went out to Mr. Brison's and obtained that information?

A. No. I wanted to get the names of the Committee.

Q. You wanted to be sure that you were at that time Speaker of the House of Warriors, didn't you?

A. No, I was sure of that.

Q. Didn't you ask Mrs. Brison to let you see the record, you wanted to be sure before testifying here that you at that time were Speaker of the House of Warriors? A. I did not.

Q. Isn't it a fact that even on yesterday you didn't have any independent recollection as to whether you were even at that time the Speaker of the House of Warriors?

A. I knew the time that I was Speaker of the House of Warriors, yes, sir.

Q. Didn't she go over with you the minutes of the Council for the year 1895, and that when you found a minute there showing that the Council convened with you as the presiding officer, that you were then satisfied with the information and looked no further?

A. She didn't go over with me, I seen it. It doesn't show it convened with me as Speaker.

Q. It shows though that you were speaker at that time, the minutes for 1895?

A. The beginning of the session doesn't show I was Speaker.

Q. Mrs. Brison was at that time the Secretary of the Council for the House of Warriors? A. No, sir.

Q. A. P. McKellop was? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She is the widow of A. P. McKellop? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And has those records? A. She has now.

Q. In 1896 what position did you hold, Mr. Childers?

A. I was treasurer.

Q. In 1897 were you here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember when you were indicted?

A. In '98.

Q. And how long did you serve?

A. About eight months.

Q. And how long were you away from here before you went to the penitentiary? A. Away from the Creek Nation?

Q. Yes? A. I wasn't away no time.

Q. Judge Stewart, I believe, defended you at that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, you didn't see Nancy in '98 did you?

A. In '98, I don't recollect seeing her, I don't think I did.

Q. When were you re-elected Speaker of the House of Warriors?

A. I was re-elected—— You mean this last time?

Q. Yes? A. I was re-elected after Davis' death.

Q. You was speaker of the House of Warriors in 1915, 1914, 1915 and continuously up until the present time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are now the Speaker of the House of Warrior's?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Ellis, you testified as a witness in this case at the trial of the case at Sapulpa, didn't you? A. I did.

Q. After the trial of that case you had a conversation with me in Muskogee, didn't you? A. I did.

Q. You stated then that you believed this allotment ought to be returned to the Creek Nation, didn't you?

Mr. Maxey: We object to that, your Honor, I can't see what that would have to do with it.

Q. I will change the question. You expressed belief at that time, did you not, that Thomas Atkins was not—that this enrolled Tommy Atkins was not the child of either Nancy or Minnie?

Mr. Maxey: We object to that.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, we object to that too. We don't want any opinion of his about our client.

The Court: Well, now, you needn't to worry, gentlemen, about the Court's taking this man's opinion or any man's opinion as to the ultimate facts, only so far as the cross examination touches the statement which he has made upon the stand is it competent at all. And only to that extent will it be considered by the court.

Q. Is that right?

A. Yes, sir, you asked me what I believed and I told you.

Q. You expressed that belief to me, didn't you?

A. Well, not in the way you have asked the question.

Mr. Maxey: Let him tell what he said.

The Court: You may explain now if you want to.

A. I told him this Tommy Atkins, I actually don't believe he lived when the land office opened, and if so it ought to go back to the Creek Nation.

Q. You say that the only two children you ever knew of Minnie having was Charlie and Harvey? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that the only Tommy you ever knew in the Atkins family was the son of Richard Atkins, didn't you?

A. I couldn't have said that for I knew other Thomas Atkins'.

Q. In the family of Minnie, Nancy, Richard and Lee?

A. I told you Nancy had a boy but I didn't know at that time what his name was.

Q. Ellis, I hand you—— You said if Nancy ever had a boy named Thomas you knew nothing about it?

A. I didn't know whether it was Thomas, Peter, or what the name was.

Q. I hand you paper marked Government's exhibit A-106, and call your attention to the names appearing there; what is that paper, first?

A. That is the matter of the application of Mary E. Atkins, Margaret Atkins, John H. Atkins, Geneva Atkins, Nancy Atkins, James A. Atkins, Nathaniel Atkins, Aninias A. Atkins, Naomi Atkins, Naoli Atkins and Bertha Atkins for enrollment as citizens of the Muskogee Nation.

Q. Is that not also the application of Thomas and Susan?

> The Court: Now, that is all in the record. When it is identified by the party, it is unnecessary for this witness to read it because I will get that from the record. Get to the question that you want to answer.
>
> Mr. Allen: This is not in the record, yet, Your Honor.
>
> The Court: I beg your pardon, I thought it was.

Q. Doesn't also the names of Susan and Thomas Atkins appear in that application for enrollment? A. Yes, it does.

Q. I again call your attention to Government's exhibit A-2, the original payroll of 1895, I believe you testified that the changes in these names were made when the payment was made after the list had been approved by the council of which you were at that time a presiding officer; is that right?

A. Let me get your——

> The Court: Read the question, Mr. Penick.

Q. The list was first approved by the council, wasn't it?

A. Yes, sir.

> The Court: Well, now, let's not go all over that with this witness, because we have it clearly—this payment was made after this roll, now called the original roll, was made up, which is a copy of the several rolls approved by the council after being submitted.
>
> Mr. Allen: Your Honor, here is the point I am trying to get at, trying to show that this witness did not give information which he said he did in 1895, by showing that these names they appear upon that pay roll are not names that did appear upon the payroll that he approved.
>
> The Court: We have this, however, that the '95 payroll was made up from those several payrolls. I just wanted to avoid going over a lot of matter which takes up time and doesn't throw any light.
>
> Mr. German: Your Honor, may I make a little suggestion on this as to what Judge Allen desires. The point is, this witness shows the roll was approved by the council and from those approved rolls, copy was made onto the roll that we use as Government's exhibit A-2. Now, it is clear that the names as they now stand on Exhibit A-2 were not the names that the council approved and which prior to the approval, this witness went before the committee to tell about. That is the point Judge Allen is after.

The Court: Yes, I have that clearly.

Mr. German: That is the changes were made after the council acted, is that clear? These—this change Susan to Alice?

The Court: It must have been made after the '95 roll, which is a copy of which the council acted upon; that is clear in my mind. Now, in order to say what those names were originally, unless it may be assumed that the red ink covers there, it will be necessary to go back to the original copies.

Q. Ellis, you were instrumental, were you not, in getting the names of this Richard Atkins family upon the roll, and represented that family in all of its contests before the Department?

A. I never had nothing to do with getting Richard Atkins name on the roll until they belonged to our town. They were transferred over to our town from another during Anderson Childers time.

Q. What year was that?

A. It was in '90—right after the '95 payment roll—1890 rolls but I don't know what year it was, exactly.

Q. Then, you knew that family and knew them well in 1895, didn't you?

A. Oh, yes, they lived in our neighborhood.

Q. On the approved roll, the Creek payroll that you have just been examining appears the name Mamie, Charty, Susan, Thomas, Mary and Nancy? A. It is on that roll, yes, sir.

Q. There was a Susan, Thomas, and Mary, and a Nancy in the Richard Atkins family, wasn't there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That Thomas was a boy and stayed around Wagoner, didn't he?

A. He stayed at home, they never lived at Wagoner.

Q. I know but he recently went to Wagoner with his people, didn't he? A. Likely he did.

Q. He was a cousin of Nancy's? A. Supposed to be, yes.

Q. And frequently visited Nancy, didn't he?

A. I don't know; he may have; I can't say that he did.

Q. Do you know Fred S. Cook? A. Fred S. Cook?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Frank W. Walkup? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Frank H. Walkup; did you make a statement to Mr. Cook concerning your knowledge of this Thomas Atkins on February 26th, 1916, and swear to the statement before Mr. Walkup as notary public?

Mr. German: 1916.

A. I don't recollect making the statement before him, I made a statement before you.

The Court: Just examine the statement there and just see whether or not that is your signature and the statement that you made.

A. This is my signature and the statement that I made prepared by Mr. Allen, here.

Q. Mr. Fred S. Cook, the Special United States Indian Agent at that time, first administered an oath to you to tell the truth, didn't he, and then he himself asked you these questions, did he not? A. You asked the questions.

Q. Well, anyway the questions were asked?

A. Yes, sir, you asked the questions though.

Q. At that time did you make the following answers to the following questions: "Q. Did you ever at any time know an Indian woman by the name of Nancy? A. I did. Q. To what Indian town did she belong? A. She belonged to Euchee town. Q. And that is located where? A. In the Creek Nation; it is in the vicinity of what is now Sapulpa and Bristow." Those answers were made by you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you say? A. Yes.

Q. And then, did you make the following answers to the following questions: "Q. Have you heretofore testified in court or made a deposition regarding the birth of a child alleged to belong to Nancy Atkins? A. I did. Q. What was the substance of your testimony and where did you testify? A. I testified at Sapulpa court—District Court. Q. What was the substance of your testimony? A. The question was asked me whether Nancy ever had a child; I told them she did and I told them the circumstances. Q. What was the circumstance? A. I don't recollect the date but on the 1st of October, 1890, we had what was known as a Pasture payment; we had several large Pasture payments and I made contracts with the cattlemen for the rent of the different pastures. The cattlemen paid me rent the 1st of October, and April each year during that time. All of the neighbors who were interested in this pasture money would come and get their part of the money. During that payment Saus Childers whose wife was a first cousin of Nancy, came to me and related that Nancy was very sick and that if something was not done for her that she would die; that she had had a child and was in a tent close to the store and needed attention. Saus' wife stated she would like to take Nancy home but she was too sick and wanted to know what to do; I said to her I didn't know, but we are getting some money here and we should get somebody to take care of her; Saus asked me, then, if I wouldn't write a subscription paper and I did. I don't recollect the wording but it was asking for aid and I gave five dollars, and my father was sitting at the table and he also gave five dollars and in two or three hours he came back with seventy odd dollars and I said don't give it [] me but give [] some of the women to take care of it. My mother was there and Mary, a cousin of Nancy's. I asked my mother to look after her, my mother and the woman, and with Betsy Birney who lived near the store to take care of her, and paid her twenty dollars of this money, and they came to the store and bought some things; I don't know what they were buying but they took care of her, and Nancy lay there until she got well." Those answers were made to those questions weren't they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, were not the following questions asked you and the answers returned: "Q. What was the matter with Nancy at the time she was sick? A. She had given birth to a child. Q. Did you know whether that child was a boy or a girl? A. No, sir, I do not know. Q. Did you ever see it? A. I don't know that I could say that I saw it; I saw the bulk of it in the bed. I went to Betsy Birney's—she had an interest in that pasture. I saw Nancy in the bed. They claimed that it was a child; I never did open it up and see it. Q. When did you next see this child? A. If I ever saw it, I do not know it. Q. How long did that child live if you know? A. I don't know. Q. Did you ever hear what it was named? A. No, sir, I never did before until this thing came up. Q. Do you know of any other children Nancy had? A. No, sir, if she ever had any other child I never heard of it." Were those answers made to those questions? A. Yes, sir; yes, sir.

Q. Then, were not the following questions asked you and answers returned: "Q. Did you see her after her sickness? A. Yes, sir, every day or so; I didn't live in town but had business and was in town frequently. Q. You saw her often? A. Yes. Q. Did you ever see any child with her? A. She had Harvey, Minnie's child with her. Q. You say she had Harvey? Harvey who? A. Harvey Harrison; that is the way he is enrolled. Charlie and Harvey Harrison were with Minnie's children she brought back with her when she came to this country. Q. How long was it you saw Harvey there after Nancy was sick? A. I don't know how long it was; it was not very long. Minnie brought these children over there and they stayed there a while." Did you make those answers to those questions? A. I did.

Q. Were not the following questions asked you and answers returned: "Q. Did Nancy have more than one child staying with her? A. There was two boys, Harvey and Charlie Harrison. Q. Did they both stay with Nancy? A. Yes, with Nancy. Q. How old was Harvey and Charlie at that time? A. They couldn't have been more than six or eight years old; they came back here in 1894 when Minnie brought them back and from that time until finally Charlie Bailey taken Charlie Harrison and my brother Jim took Harvey Harrison, and they lived around Wagoner one place and another. Q. Were those two children known as Harvey and Charlie Harrison? A. Yes, sir. Q. Were they recognized as Minnie's children or as Nancy's? A. I don't know who they were recognized as but I know they were Minnie's." Did you make those answers? A. Yes, sir.

Q. "How long was this after the birth of Nancy's child that you saw these two children of Minnie's in Nancy's home? A. Nancy didn't have any house but it must have been four or five years after that. Q. During the time dating back from her sickness until the time you saw these two children, did you ever see any other child around Nancy or with her? A. Not except those colored children of Betsy Birney's." Did you make those answers to those questions? A. I must have.

Q. "Q. Did you ever know or hear of Nancy ever having any child or claiming any child by the name of Thomas Atkins? A. I never heard of her having a child by that name or any other name; I knew she had one child but my understanding was that they never had named the child. It never had a name until this matter came up. I guess I was the man who told those people—those people who were hunting Thomas Atkins who he was likely to be. Ellis Hammett first approached me and asked me who Thomas Atkins was. I told him I couldn't tell but if he would furnish me the roll card, I could tell who he was. Some time afterward, he brought me a copy of the roll card. I seen what town it belonged to, and family it belonged to and that this Thomas Atkins was enrolled under the roll of the fourteen dollar payment roll, the 1895 payment, and I told Ellis Hammett that there was only one child that I knew of born in this family and that I didn't believe that this child was entitled to be upon the roll but that if it was anybody's child that was Nancy's child. Now, as Minnie had two children and that there was but one child that was born to either one of these two girls that was not named before that we knew of. I don't know that it ever had a name." Did you make that answer to that question?

A. I must have, yes.

Q. Then were not the following questions asked you and answers returned: "Q. How long did Nancy's child live? A. I really don't know but my understanding is that the child died very shortly after it was born. Q. What year did you think it was born in? A. Along in the month of September, 1899, or 1898—or 1898 or 1899." Evidently intended '88 or '89—"It was the first day of October when we were at the payment I spoke of. Q. Who was the mayor of Wagoner at the time? A. I can't tell; Jackson was the first mayor. It might have been Hall; it is likely it was U. W. Hall. Q. The facts that you have stated here are all that you know concerning the birth, life and death of the child born to Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, sir, that is right. Q. Did you ever at any time know any Creek child born to Minnie or Nancy Atkins by the name of Thomas Atkins? A. I never did." Were those questions asked you and answers returned? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Ellis, after that you went with Mr. McMillian to Wagoner to introduce some witnesses, didn't you?

A. I went with Mr. McMillian to show them; he wanted to see these parties. Mr. Allen sent me with him.

Q. You told Mr. McMillian you could take him to the people that knew about the birth of Nancy's child, didn't you?

A. I did not; I said I could take him to the people living at that time and likely to know.

Q. People who were living at that time? A. Yes.

Q. And would likely know about the birth of Nancy's child and about its death? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You took him, then, to R. B. Davis, didn't you?

A. We met him, I didn't take him to him; we met him in the street, I didn't take him to him.

Q. But you pointed him out to Mr. McMillian? A. Yes.

Q. As one of the men who knew Nancy? A. Yes.

Q. And by whom it could probably be shown that Nancy's child was born dead?

A. No, I didn't—not to show it was born dead; that he was likely to know something about it.

Q. Then, you took Mr. McMillian to see Henry Anderson who has testified in this case, didn't you?

A. You sent us particularly to go and see Henry Anderson.

Q. But you told us about his name, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And McMillian took a statement from Henry Anderson at that time, didn't he?

A. I don't think he did at that time. He got it but he wouldn't give it to us at first.

Q. He is the witness who testified here?

A. Likely he did, I don't know.

Q. Then you went with McMillian to see Betsy Overton, didn't you?

A. If he got a statement, I guess we did; I don't recollect.

Q. You took a statement from Betsy Overton, didn't he?

A. He must have if you have it.

Q. Then, you took him to see Lula Smith, didn't you?

A. Yes, I took him there.

Q. That was Parsons, wasn't it?

A. No, sir, she was living at Wagoner.

Q. Wagoner at that time? And he took a statement from Lula Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You took him to see Martha Hardridge who testified in this case? A. She was at Lula Smith's at that time.

Q. But you were with Mr. McMillian when you took her statement? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, you took him to see Lula Smith, didn't you?

A. Lula Smith?

Q. The witness who testified here?

A. Lula Smith was the one I was speaking of—lives at Parsons now.

Q. That is the other Smith woman—the wife of the negro porter up there. That is the one you are talking about?

A. The one I am talking about is the wife of the train porter; she is now living at Parsons.

Q. Yes, that is Dora Smith.

A. No, it isn't. Dora Smith is another party.

Q. You took him to see two Smith women?

A. No, sir, one of them.

Q. Are you sure of the other?

A. Sure of the other because the other did live at Porter.

Q. Then you took him to see Martha Hardridge, didn't you?

A. That is the one that I said she was at Lula Smith's and she interrupted and taken her statement.

Q. And A. M. Hardridge?

A. That must be Adam, I don't recollect.

Q. Adam Hardridge? A. Yes.

Q. You took him to see him?

A. Adam Hardridge was Martha's husband—the whole bunch was there.

Q. Then you went with him to see Eliza Sterling who has testified in this case? A. You sent us to see her.

A. I sent you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you told me about her name and what she would testify?

A. I gave you the name of quite a number of those people. We met her in Wagoner, we didn't go out to her place.

Q. You went with him to see Dora Smith, didn't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where did you see Dora Smith?

A. I never seen Dora Smith; he got that.

Q. You told him about her?

A. I may have because she lives at Porter; I wasn't with him when he got that.

Q. But you went with him to see Sarah Coats who has testified? A. Yes.

Q. You at that time occupied the office of Speaker of the House of Warriors? A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. You knew that the Creek Nation was claiming that this party was a mythical person and that Nancy Atkins claimed it was her son? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you accepted pay from the Creek Nation to go out with Mr. McMillian to show him and to interview the people who knew about this child, didn't you?

A. I was paid as an interpreter and I was supposed to be an interpreter and was there but you sent me up there and of course I went along.

Q. But you went—you gave us the names of these people who would know about the birth of Nancy's child, didn't you?

A. I did.

Q. Did you give us the name of a single person who required the services of an interpreter?

A. I did not, not without this party——

Q. You didn't go with Mr. McMillian in the capacity of an interpreter, did you?

A. I could not but then I say I was employed as an interpreter in the Department.

Q. You knew these people, didn't you? A. I did.

Q. You knew what they would testify to, didn't you?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. Well, you knew that they were present when the child was born and died, didn't you? A. I did not.

Q. You believed that, didn't you?

A. Certainly I believe- that; that is, they were in the city and probably would know.

Q. And those people whose names I have read are all the people whose names you gave to me or to Mr. McMillian, who you claim were present at the birth of this child?

A. I never did claim at there was anybody present at the birth of the child.

Q. I mean who lived right around the child and would know about his birth and death?

A. Who lived in Wagoner and the vicinity of Wagoner.

Q. Now, Ellis, Minnie had two children there didn't she part of the time, one child there part of the time, both of whom lived with Nancy? A. Not at that time, sir.

Q. Betsy Birney had a boy named Joe Birney who followed Nancy around a great deal, didn't she?

A. She had a boy there?

Q. Joe Birney, a little boy? A. Yes.

Q. Thomas Atkins lived just out in the country, the son of Richard Atkins?

A. Lived about eight miles from there.

Q. He was a little boy then wasn't he?

A. He was a good sized boy.

Q. When did he die?

A. He died about the time the land office opened.

Q. At what age?

A. I really don't know, he was a good sized boy. He must have been about twelve years, must have been.

Q. Nancy Atkins and Minnie Atkins didn't belong to your town did they? A. No, sir.

Q. As an officer you had no interest in them did you?

A. No.

Q. The Richard Atkins family did belong to your town didn't they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They were cousins of Nancy and Minnie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. There was a Susan, a Tommy, a Nancy and a Mary in that family? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You afterwards represented them in an effort to get them on the roll didn't you? A. I did.

Q. You were a member of the House of Warriors when that Richard Atkins was admitted to citizenship, wasn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you get him admitted? A. I did not.

Q. You introduced a resolution, didn't you, Ellis?

A. He was admitted on the report of the Committee.

Q. You testified, Ellis, didn't you before the Commission in regard to the enrollment of this family?

A. I guess I did, I don't know, I don't recollect.

Q. You gave your testimony did you not there, on the 23rd of July, 1903?

A. It is likely I did, I don't recollect when it was.

Q. Were not the following questions asked and the following answers returned——

Mr. Maxey: What family is that, Mr. Allen?

Mr. Allen: Dick Atkins family.

Q. "Q. Was Richard Atkins admitted to citizenship in the Creek Nation? A. He was a recognized citizen. Q. Was that by and act of Council? A. Yes, sir. Q. When was that? A. It was in 1890, I think if I am not mistaken. Q. Was you a member of Council at that time? A. I was. Q. Do you remember whether or not he made a written application for citizenship? A. Yes, sir, I introduced the application on request."

A. That is the only way he could have had a hearing.

Q. Then, you did introduce the resolution?

A. I must have.

Q. Then, as I now understand you, Ellis, your first attention was called to this name appearing on the Creek Roll by Ellis Hammett, one of the original lessees of Nancy Atkins, is that right?

A. Not my first attention. My first attention was called —oh, this guardian—by some fellow by the name of Harjo, but I never paid very much attention to it, in fact I didn't give a satisfactory answer.

Q. You didn't know then and don't know now any more about it than you stated to me in my office, do you?

A. That is about the summons of what I know.

Q. You have known J. B. White a long time?

A. Yes, I have known him quite a while.

Q. You talked to him at some length before you went to Sapulpa? A. He came to me and asked me what about it.

Q. He promised you an interest in this land if you could help him establish this party's right to enrollment?

A. No, sir.

Q. What did he offer you?

A. He didn't offer me anything.

Q. Didn't he offer you any money in the event that they won this law suit? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you say to me in the presence of Fred Cook that they hadn't done what they had agreed to do with you?

A. No, sir, I don't remember, I don't think so.

Q. Ellis, how much did they pay you to do the work that you did do? A. I didn't do any work.

Q. Isn't it a fact that Nancy Atkins was taken by Jim White to your house and that you kept her there for several months to keep anybody from making a statement to her?

A. Jim White brought her there and she stayed there three weeks.

Q. Three weeks? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You kept her away from anybody else to keep her from making a statement to anybody else?

A. Jim asked me to keep her, yes, sir, but I don't know what for, I thought it was to make a home for her. She went off.

Q. Then, didn't they come and get her and take her to Nowata? A. No, sir.

Q. Where did they take her?

A. I sent her to Inola, she wanted to go to Nowata. She went from home over to Inola.

Q. You took her? A. She wanted to go herself.

Q. You told Mr. White she wanted to go and he said all right let her go to Nowata?

A. It may have been, but I know I took her over there, Wesley and I took her over there.

Q. Then you told me, didn't you, that you believed that if you could get Nancy away from that crowd that she would tell the truth about this boy, is that a fact.

A. I may have, I don't recollect.

Q. Didn't you go to Nowata and try to get her?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And didn't you come back and say that that big nigger guardian of hers drove me away?

A. Yes, sir, I went over there, you sent me over there.

Q. But you thought if you could get Nancy away from that influence that she would tell you the truth about this child being dead?

A. I came in your office and you asked me——

Q. Answer that question.

The Court: It is immaterial as to what he thought. The question is what he told you.

Q. Didn't you say if you could get her away from that crowd you could get her to tell the truth?

A. You said it and I sanctioned it. You asked if I didn't think so, and I said yes.

Q. I asked you if you believed she would tell the truth about this child if she was away from this influence and you said you believed she would tell the truth?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. Ellis, you have a brother named James E. Childers, haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Jim has never been in any trouble in his life has he?

A. I don't know.

Q. You told me that Jim Childers kept one of Minnie's children part of the time; that he worked at Davis and Jones store about the time this child was born, or a little afterwards; that he stayed around Wagoner a great deal and would know more about this matter than anybody, didn't you?

A. I couldn't have stated what you have stated to me because part of it is not so.

Q. What do you say about that?

A. If I said anything at all I would tell you that he kept Harvey a while; but Jimmy did not work at Jones about this time.

Q. He worked there shortly after?

A. Sometimes afterwards, he was a little fellow then and wasn't able to work at Jones' store.

Q. He is your full brother, isn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You went and hunted him up and brought him to my office to tell me what he knew about this case?

A. I did not. I met him down there.

Q. You met him down there and brought him to my office to tell me what he knew about this child? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Ellis, you understood and believed that the child which Nancy is alleged to have had in 1890 died shortly after its birth?

A. I couldn't say whether it died right away, I don't know.

Q. Died very shortly after its birth? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you say so in this statement? A. I must have.

Q. Well, did you tell the truth when you said it?

A. I never did know when the child died. No, I couldn't say shortly or longly.

Q. Did you tell the truth when you made this statement?

A. I never did know when the child died.

Q. You answer my question; did you tell the truth when you made this or not? A. Well, I did of course try to.

Q. And you said in this statement that your understanding always was that her child died shortly, very shortly after its birth? A. I heard that, I understood it.

Q. And that was a general understanding there wasn't it?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. How did you understand it, where did you get your understanding? A. I really don't know where I got it from.

Q. But that was your conviction? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That it died very shortly after its birth, that was the conviction you had about it?

A. Well, I guess so; I don't know when the child died.

Q. Now, you say that very shortly after that child died, or sometime afterwards, the only boys you saw with Nancy was Charlie and Harvey Harrison, and this Betsy Birney child?

A. It was a good while afterwards, several years.

Q. And until you saw them with Nancy you never saw any other child with Nancy did you? That is what you stated, isn't it? A. I don't know.

Q. That is what you said a few minutes ago to the Court, that you never saw her carrying any other child around?

A. I never saw her carrying any.

Q. Or going around the town except some colored children and Harvey and Charlie? A. The only time——

Q. Can't you answer that question? You will have to do it, Ellis. Make up your mind.

A. That is what I am trying to tell you now.

Q. Just answer yes or no, and then you can explain. Didn't you state a few minutes ago that after Nancy's child was alleged to have been born and died that you never saw her with any other children at Wagoner, going about the town with her, except Charlie and Harvey Harrison and some colored children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that is a fact, isn't it? A. Yes.

Q. Then, Ellis, at that time you believed that Nancy's child had died shortly after its birth?

A. I never thought about it at that time.

Q. That was your understanding at that time?

A. I gave no thought of it at that time; I thought of it since.

Q. Why did you say you understood it died shortly after its birth? A. That was my conclusion.

Q. But you did state to Judge Allen and Mr. Cook that your understanding was that it died shortly after its birth?

A. I say that they got that out of me.

Q. But it was the truth wasn't it? A. They prepared it and I signed it.

Q. It was the truth?

A. I guess I will have to stay with it.

Q. Now, then, Ellis, will you tell this court with those facts in your mind how you ever had an idea in 1895 that this Tommy on this roll was Nancy's Tommy; just explain that to the Court?

A. The only explanation I can make I didn't know of any children except those two children of Minnie's and this Tommy, if it was Tommy, another child. And I knew Nancy had a child and I don't think I gave much consideration about it. I just verified it, I don't think I went into the particulars.

Q. Didn't you go into any details at all? A. No, sir.

Q. The fact is, you didn't know anything about it?

A. I couldn't say that I didn't know anything about it.

Q. You didn't know about these names. Minnie Atkins had been away from here for years? A. Oh, yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know whether she was alive or dead, did you? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Prior to that time you saw her and didn't know it?

A. What is that?

Q. Where she come from to the payment?

A. Oh, she had come back from Colorado where she was.

Q. She had been away though? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Up to that time you didn't know where she was?

A. Only what I heard.

Q. You didn't know a thing about it. You didn't know what children she had?

A. No one here knew until she brought them here.

Q. None of her family knew her history after she left this country and went to Leavenworth and Colorado, did they?

A. No, none of them here, she didn't go from here.

Q. Now, as a matter of fact, when you went before that Committee you knew that Sam Brown had made up this Euchee Town roll? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew Sam Brown was a Euchee King?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you knew that you were not a member of the Euchee Town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know anything about the members of the Euchee Town except those in your vicinity?

A. Didn't pretend to.

Q. So, when you came in there and they put the matter to you, you simply said I don't know any Tommy Atkins, didn't you? A. I don't think I said it.

Q. Didn't even say that much?

A. I don't know whether I said that much.

Q. Ellis, did you testify at all before that committee?

A. I just made a statement.

Q. What statement?

A. I asked what families they have got and they explained and I just simply said yes.

Q. That is all they asked? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you do know that the Sam Brown [] of Euchee Town, as prepared by Sam Brown, was adopted by the Council, don't you?

A. I couldn't say that. I knew the Sam Brown roll as approved by the committee was adopted by the Council.

Q. But you know if the Sam Brown roll was endorsed by the Committee then the Sam Brown roll was adopted by the Council? A. Why, certainly.

Q. There is no doubt about that? A. No doubt.

Q. Now, when that payment came up, Minnie came to the payment? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was there with her, Sam Brown?

A. At the payment?

Q. Yes, 1895 payment.

A. She was in the room, Sam Brown was there present.

Q. Who else was there that you knew at that time and that Minnie knew?

A. There was quite a number of people.

Q. Tell some of them that Minnie knew and you knew and Sam Brown knew when she drew that money?

A. In the room?

Q. Yes, in the room? A. Cornelius Carr.

Q. All right, who else? A. Mrs. Moore.

Q. All right, who else?

A. This police that they have here, Sam McCurtain, he was the caller. Timmy Fife and I were sitting there talking.

Q. That is all?

A. If I keep on I might remember some more.

Q. Now, you said Sam Brown and Minnie come up to the paymaster? A. Sam Brown was already in there.

Q. Did they have a paymaster there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he behind a table? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was his name? A. Napoleon Moore.

Q. Napoleon B.? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now when Napoleon walked up to the table did the girl Minnie walk up with him?

A. Let me get your question?

Q. When Napoleon walked up to the paymaster's table did anybody walk up with him?

A. Napoleon was already there, he was paymaster.

Q. And when Sam Brown walked up to the table did Minnie walk up with him?

A. They did not come together because Mr. Brown was already there and Minnie came in afterwards.

Q. Did Brown and Minnie stand in front of Mr. Moore's table? A. They virtually did.

Q. You were right close up?

A. I was just to the left in the corner.

Q. And you heard every word that passed?

A. I certainly did, I was right there.

Q. Now, when they asked about the child Alice, when that was brought up, the one that is on the roll——

A. If they did I don't recollect it.

Q. Didn't Minnie say to the paymaster, "I can't draw for that one, because she is dead," do you remember that?

A. No, I don't remember.

Q. What was said there about a child being dead?

A. If there was anything said about a child being dead I don't recollect it.

Q. Minnie drew for how many?

A. Minnie drew part of it, got all the money, but she signed for part of them.

Q. Got all the money but she signed for part of them?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Brown signed for the others? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Brown signed for Nancy?

A. He certainly did, I see from the records. He signed for somebody.

Q. And Ed Schrimpsher? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Minnie signed for her own? A. I see she did.

Q. And what she claimed to be her children?

A. Must have.

Q. Now, how many did Minnie get?

A. I don't know only what I see from the records.

Q. Well, look at the roll, how many did Minnie get?

A. This red line to the mark shows there were five names but the amount of money that she drew only represents four.

Q. Four time- fourteen dollars and forty cents?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she got fifty-seven dollars and fifty cents?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then she must have drawn for herself and three others? A. Must have.

Q. Now, let's see, here is that roll now, and there is Minnie, Charlie, Susan marked Alice over it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was done by the paymaster, wasn't it?

A. The writing shows it was Mrs. Moore's handwriting.

Q. But those changes were made at the payment?

A. Must have been, might have.

Q. So, before the paymaster paid it he identified Mamie for Minnie; there is the red marks, you know that was made after the roll was made? A. The supposition is.

Q. Susan is changed to Alice? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And there is Thomas and Mary is charged to Harvey?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they have the same numbers 1659 and 1659?

A. That doesn't belong up there.

Q. I want to ask you if the books show 1659 standing opposite those names? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Showing that they were brothers?

A. They have the same mother.

Q. Now, Susan is changed to Alice; Charlie, Alice, Tommy and Harvey, those four? A. Four.

Q. This Alice is Alice Atkins. You see that word "error" there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That means that there was error in that name?

A. There is a parenthesis, I don't know whether that means both or one.

Q. The "error" is opposite Alice's name? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, I will ask you if that "error" wasn't entered there by the paymaster when Minnie told him that Alice was dead? A. I couldn't say that it was because I don't know.

The Court: I want to clear up something.

Examination by the Court.

Q. Was Mrs. Moore right there at the time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were they using red ink in making changes?

A. They had red ink there.

Q. Were those amounts of the payments in red ink placed upon the roll at the time the payments were made?

A. Those amounts in red ink were paid by the clerks at the time the payment was made.

Q. That word "error" that follows Alice is in whose handwriting?

A. It appears to me to be in Mrs. Moore's handwriting, and I believe it is.

Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Now, then, Minnie collected for three children and herself? A. It shows it there, yes, sir.

Q. And Sam Brown drew for Schrimpsher and Nancy, that is a fact isn't it; you knew John Davis? A. Yes, sir.

Q. John Davis was well acquainted with that Atkins family? A. He was their uncle.

Q. He knew more about it than you did, he was a Euchee or Coweta? A. He was Euchee.

Q. Lived in Euchee Town? A. He lived with us.

Q. But he was a Euchee? A. He was a Euchee, yes.

Q. Now, Ellis, how many people have you worked for getting evidence in this case? A. I worked for Mr. Allen.

Q. Your first employment was by Mr. White, wasn't it?

A. He employed me.

Q. He employed you first?

A. That is, he never did employ me either. I went over to Wagoner with him, he asked me to go with him. That is the only time.

Q. You helped him get up his evidence?

A. Only just speak to people.

Q. How long did you assist Mr. White?

A. I never did assist him.

Q. Did you give him any names?

A. I might have done that.

Q. And did you tell him what you testified here on direct examination?

A. I told him a whole lot he asked me about it, I don't know whether I gave him all of it.

Q. You told him all you knew? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you told him where the witnesses were that you thought would prove it?

A. Where they were that would likely know about the case.

Q. And then how long after that was it before you went to the Government, Judge Allen?

A. Judge Allen sent for me and employed me as interpreter.

Q. But as soon as you were sworn in as interpreter, you went to hunting evidence? A. He sent me.

Q. And you did hunt evidence for Judge Allen?

A. That is on that trip he is talking about I did.

Q. And you now conclude don't you that the statements you made to Judge Allen and Mr. Cook is the true statement of facts in this case; ain't it, Ellis?

A. The statement I made as well as I knew at that time.

Q. Well, the statement you made today?

A. I don't see a vast difference in what I said to him and now.

Q. But the point is the statement you made on direct examination as modified by the written statement you made to Judge Allen is the truth in this case?

A. He has a statement that I made out there to prove that the child was dead at a certain time. I never did know when that child died.

Q. You never heard him ask you that question?

A. He asked me that question and I corrected it.

Q. I think you misunderstood him. He asked you simply if you didn't understand that the child was dead within a short time and you said yes, and you still say yes. That is a fact, that is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Ellis, when you went before that committee you knew Ed Schrimpsher, Minnie Atkins, and Susan Atkins, Thomas Atkins, and Nancy Atkins, you knew persons of that name?

A. In some other family.

Q. In Dick Atkins family there was Susan, Thomas, and Mary? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they lived west of Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then the old deceased Thomas Atkins family there was Minnie, Charlie, and Nancy; then you knew a Nancy in the Richard Atkins family?

A. Yes, there was a Nancy in that family.

Q. There were persons living in the Creek Nation at that time by those names? A. Yes.

Q. That Thomas Atkins, that child in that Dick Atkins family, who was his mother, Sallie wasn't it?

A. It was his last wife, but I have forgotten her name.

Q. It was Sallie, wasn't it?

A. I have forgot, it was Dick Atkins' last wife.

Q. Dick was a half brother of Nancy here?

A. Supposed to be.

Q. This Nancy that is in the Court House?

A. Supposed to be.

Q. And that child was a son of that Dick? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he tried to get on the roll and they wouldn't let him be enrolled because he died too soon?

A. I see from the records.

Q. Now, let me ask you to look at this 1895 pay roll right close. I want you to look at the words "of one" and look at it carefully and see if you don't see written under those words the word "error" in the same handwriting exactly as the word "error" appearing opposite the name Alice Atkins?

A. I see just three little marks very dimly.

Q. Well, the words "of one"?

A. I see "of one" plainly.

Q. They follow the line. Don't you see here; there was the e and the r and there is the other r and the o and the r, see them just as plain, Ellis?

A. I can't see well enough to say.

Q. Well, will you say you don't? A. I see something.

Q. Now, let me ask you this: You say they had red ink there at that payment? A. Yes.

Q. And evidently the word Alice was written on top of the word Susan at that payment? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Evidently it stood this way, opposite the name Susan was the word "error" and opposite the name Thomas was the word "error," isn't that right? A. I couldn't say that.

Q. Well, it looks like it, and then about that time they wrote on top the word Susan the word Alice, didn't they, and then the words "of one" over the bottom "error" with the same pen and ink that wrote Alice, leaving Alice as the one not in error, and Thomas as the one in error?

Mr. Cruce: We object to that.

The Court: The Court understands this situation to be about this: That from what the witness has said, from his opportunity to figure out what this roll shows, he is in about the attitude that the Court would be in now in looking at the roll. So, it is a question for me to determine in the light of what you gentlemen construe it to be.

Mr. German: I thought possibly the witness would claim some knowledge on the subject.

The Court: No, I think not. I would be very glad if he was in a position to do so, because it is rather a nice proposition. I think probably he would be putting himself in my position and I won't allow that.

And thereafter, and at 1:30 o'clock P. M., court convened pursuant to adjournment and further proceedings herein were had as follows:

ELLIS CHILDERS being recalled, further testified as follows:

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. Mr. Childers, you testified this morning about going out to see a lady, I don't remember her name, now, to look over the rolls that had the minutes of the council—what was her name? A. Mrs. Brison.

Q. What was her previous name?

A. She was a Mrs. McKellop.

Q. Her husband was the clerk of the Council, was he?

A. Clerk of the House of Warriors.

Q. And she had possession of the rolls?

A. It was the minutes of the proceedings of the council.

Q. They were kept by her husband or by her?

A. They were kept by her husband and since he has died, she has got the minutes.

Q. For what purpose did you examine those minutes?

A. The date of the making up of those rolls were not settled in my mind; if it was made at the regular session of the Creek council, it must have been made in October, 1894, and this was known as an 1895 roll; and if it was an 1895 roll, it must have been an extra session of the council, and I was not certain about it and I could find out from the minutes whether it was a regular session of council or an extra session.

Q. Did you also look at the committees appointed?

A. In them minutes it was.

Q. That was the purpose for your investigation? To refresh your memory on that subject, was it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Allen presented to you a statement which you had made to him, dated the 26th of February, 1915; by whom were you employed at that time? A. Mr. Allen.

Q. In what capacity? A. As interpretor.

Q. How long had you been employed as an interpretor?

A. I can't say just how long; probably a month before this.

Q. How long were you employed after this?

A. Not over a month. I don't think it was—I don't think I was employed over three months.

Q. Not over three months?

A. In fact maybe not two months—I think it was three months.

Q. What were your duties as interpretor?

A. To interpret any evidence or conversations he may have with some Creek Indians that couldn't talk English, that was all.

Q. Did you serve in that capacity? A. I did sometime.

Q. What were your duties principally when you were employed by Mr. Allen? A. That was my duties.

Q. Well, what did you actually do?

A. Why, he sent me on errands at different times and most of the time I was not doing anything much. I interpreted for these Indians visiting the Indian Department. I interpreted for them most of the time.

Q. That was in a different department from Mr. Allen's department? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you sent out to investigate the evidence in this Nancy Atkins case?

A. He sent me over to Wagoner. I was over there. I couldn't bring those witnesses without furnishing the money for them to come. Finally I came back and sometime shortly after that, why he sent the gentleman—I have forgotten his name; McMillian, I think it is now.

Mr. Hill: Is that the correct name, Mr. Allen?

Mr. Allen: A. H. McMillian.

A. He went with me; I went over there again with him.

Q. Did you interview these witnesses with Mr. McMillian?

A. I was present when he interviewed them.

Q. When he interviewed them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who were they?

A. It was the parties mentioned by Mr. Allen, Anderson——

Q. Was that Henry Anderson who testified here, a negro? A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Judge Allen went over that entire list this morning and he says it was the parties, and probably it would not be necessary——

A. It was those parties.

Q. These parties mentioned this morning? A. Yes, sir.

Q. All of them are witnesses in this case, were they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they make statements to Mr. McMillian at that time that this child was born dead or died shortly afterward?

A. Some died, and some claimed he died shortly afterwards.

A. I notice in this statement that was read to you this morning in this question and answer: "Q. How long did Nancy's child live? A. I really don't know but my understanding was the child died very shortly after it was born." Was that a correct statement or how did you understand that statement?

A. Why, I had just had that information at the time I made the statement.

Q. Was that the information that you had gotten from these witnesses that you are referring to? A. Principally.

Q. Is that what you were referring to in this statement that you made to Mr. Allen? A. I certainly did.

Q. What was your information prior to that as to the existence of this boy some years after his birth?

A. There was not very much said about that other than the payment was were speaking of. I don't recollect anything said about it.

Q. Well, at the time of the payment, what was said about it?

A. Why, it was asked and the—the occasion must have been—my understanding was he was illegible to participation in this payment.

Q. And I see in this statement here, question and answer: "Q. Did you ever hear or know of Nancy ever having or claiming any child by the name of Thomas Atkins? [A.] I never heard of her having a child by that name or any other name; I knew she had one child but my understanding was they never had named the child; it never had a name until this matter came up. I guess I was the man who told these people who were hunting Thomas Atkins who he would likely to be. Ellis Hammett first approached me and asked me who Thomas Atkins was and I told him I couldn't tell; if he would furnish me with the roll card I could tell who he was and sometime afterward he brought me a copy of the roll card. I had seen what town it belonged to and what family it belonged to and that this Thomas Atkins was enrolled under the roll of the fourteen dollar payment, 1895 payment, and I told Ellis Hammett there was only one child born in this family, that I didn't [] it was entitled to be on the roll, but if it was anybody's at all it was Nancy's child, as Minnie had two children and that there was not but one child born to either of those girls that was not named before." What roll were you referring to in this statement that he was not entitled to be upon the roll?

A. The allotment roll, the Dawes Commission roll.

Q. Why did you think he was not entitled to be on that?

A. Why, I think—this litigation started—from what I could find out I had my doubts as to whether he was living, my own conclusion, though, whether he was living when the land office opened.

Q. What date was that? A. First day of April, 1899.

Q. If they were not living on the first day of April, 1899, they were not entitled to be on the Dawes Commission roll, is that correct? A. That is correct.

Q. Is that what you were referring to here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you made statements to that effect to other parties? A. I have.

Q. What statement did you make about it being entitled to be on the 1895 roll?

A. He was undoubtedly entitled to be or he wouldn't have been there.

Q. I see this further question and answer: "How long was it you saw Harvey there after Nancy was sick? A. I don't know how long it was. It was not very long." Now, on the next page I find this statement: "How long was this after the birth of Nancy's child, that you saw the two children of Minnie at Nancy's house? A. Nancy didn't have any house but it must have been four or five years after that." Which of those statements is correct; one you say a short time after and the other you say four or five years?

A. Four or five years is correct, it must have been that long.

Q. When you saw Minnie and those two children in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know how long they stayed there?

A. They didn't stay with Nancy very long.

Q. Was Minnie there with them? A. No, sir.

Q. I see this statement: "What year do you think it was born in? A. Along in the month of September, 1898, or 1899 it was the first day of October when we were at the payment

I spoke of." Is that correct, September, 1898, or September, 1899, or either?

A. No, sir, it is not correct. I either made the mistake or somebody that wrote it made the mistake.

Mr. Hill: I suppose that was intended to be 1888 or 1889?

Mr. Allen: It is conceded that is a typographical error; it was 1888 or 1889.

Q. I believe you testified at Sapulpa you thought the child was born in 1889? A. I did.

Q. And fixed that from the pasture particular?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you stated yesterday you were satisfied it was 1890 instead of 1889 after reflection? A. That is true.

Q. Here is another statement I want to call your attention to: "During the time, dating from her sickness until the time you saw these two children, did you ever see any other children around Nancy or with her? A. Not except those colored children of Betsy Birney's." Is that a correct statement?

A. It is not a correct statement. Of course I am bound to have seen her with other children. I must have stated it, but I couldn't say that I never did see her with any other children.

Q. As a matter of fact, did you see this child with Nancy after the time you saw it after its birth?

Mr. Allen: We object to that as a conclusion of the witness, leading and suggestive.

The Court: The question is: As a matter of fact, did you see this child with Nancy after its birth?

Mr. Hill: He has testified to seeing it shortly afterwards.

The Court: He may answer.

(Question read.)

Q. After the time you state you saw it after its birth?

A. I stated I seen a child that they said was the same one, but I never saw that child grow up.

Q. I want to read you from your Sapulpa testimony on page 73: "Who took care of this child during the last seven or eight years of its existence, who provided for it? A. I don't think anybody in particular outside of the time she stayed at Betsy Birney's, whatever he had to eat he had it there. Q. What was its color, black, white, or brown? A. Fair, kind of light. Q. Did it have any particular marks by which you remember? A. No, I didn't pay particular attention to it. [Q.] Do you know how long"——

Mr. Allen: May it please the Court, we object to this line of examination of this witness. He is now referring to the testimony that this witness gave at Sapulpa.

The Court: Is that evidence in any shape in this case?

Mr. Allen: No, sir.

The Court: What relevancy does that have, Judge, in your judgment?

Mr. Hill: It is this: Where a witness has made contradictory statements, the party introducing him may call the prior statement for the purpose of refreshing his memory.

The Court: I don't know about that. This is not before the Court at all. I will not consider what he said there at all. Now, he has made certain statements on the stand here. Now, I don't think I quite follow you.

Mr. Hill: I am going to ask him if he remembers this testimony and does it refresh his memory as to those facts.

The Court: As to facts there?

Mr. Hill: That I am now reading.

The Court: Is that different from testimony that he has already given?

Mr. Hill: Not entirely. He said he didn't remember about the child when I asked him this morning.

Mr. Allen: It is inconsistent with his statements on cross examination and this is his own witness and was his witness at Sapulpa, and he is putting him on now in redirect examination.

The Court: Is there very much of that line of examination?

Mr. Hill: That is all.

The Court: Well, you may ask him.

Q. There is just one other question: "Do you know how often Nancy Atkins visited that house at that time? [A.] Visited what house? At Betsy Birney's. No, I don't know, she made it her home when she went back." Do you recall that testimony, Mr. Childers? A. Yes, I do.

Q. Does it refresh your memory?

A. Yes, it does. I was speaking of the boy. To say it was the same child that grew up, as I was distinctly saying I don't know, but it was a boy I saw that they claimed was the same child.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Ellis, you talked to Mr. White before you took the witness stand on yesterday, didn't you; you have talked to him about this case since you came to town?

A. I don't think I talked with him on yesterday. Yes, he has talked to me some.

Q. You have talked to him some about this case since you came to town? A. Not in details.

Q. You went over the testimony you gave at Sapulpa?

A. Not with Mr. White.

Q. Who did you go over that with?

A. I spoke to the attorneys there, they asked me about it.

Q. And you read over that testimony didn't you?

A. I did.

Q. And then to be certain about it, you went out and saw Mrs. McKellop?

A. I wasn't going out there to see Mrs. McKellop in reference to any statement I made at all.

Q. Ellis, you say that you gathered your information that this child that Nancy had was born dead, or rather had died during infancy, from the statement that you and Mr. McMillian got from these various witnesses up there?

A. That I got before, and finally got them in writing.

Q. You didn't go, as a matter of fact, to work on this case until after you made this statement in the presence of Fred Cook in my office in Muskogee, did you?

A. I don't think I went with McMillian, I was up there at various times, I don't know when just exactly the date that I first was up there.

Q. You state in this statement that when Nancy had this child that you went to the house and saw the bulk of something in the bed; that you did not turn back the cover to see whether it was a baby or not. Is that right?

A. I think I did.

Q. Well, there is nothing about that bulk in the bed that caused you to recognize a child afterwards was it? A. No.

Q. And you never heard about Thomas Atkins you say in this statement until this case came up and as the son of Nancy, that is right, isn't it?

A. I said I didn't know it to be named Thomas; didn't know it to be named Thomas Atkins or what the name was. I never did know what its name was.

Q. If you heard that child child died in early in fancy in 1895, you must have had in mind this Thomas Atkins, the son of Richard Atkins, when they asked you about a Thomas Atkins in this family, didn't you? Now, isn't it a fact——

A. Now, I don't think it was—the name was not mentioned there and I knew the family distinctly and I don't think I would have made a mistake from one family to the other.

Q. Well, Susan Atkins was not a member of the Minnie—Nancy Atkins family? A. No, I don't——

Q. But she was a member of the family of their half-brother Richard Atkins, wasn't she?

A. Yes, there was a Susie Atkins in that family.

Q. Mary Atkins was not a member of Minnie and Nancy Atkins family but was a member of their half-brother's family, wasn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Those two names were in the same list that Thomas' name was in, wasn't it?

A. I didn't see the list, it was read to me.

Q. You didn't remember that until you saw it today, did you, Ellis?

A. If those Susie and them was on there, I didn't see the list—I didn't remember it.

Q. So, if you saw a list with Thomas and Mary, and Nancy, and Susie on it, you would have thought that it was the Richard Atkins family, wouldn't you?

A. Couldn't have helped it.

Q. Because that family had all those names in it, didn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This statement that you made to Fred Cook was on the 26th of February, wasn't it?

A. I think the date shows it was. Yes, the date shows it was.

Q. The testimony—the statement you obtained from the witnesses when you and McMillian interviewed them was on —was how long after that, Ellis?

A. It couldn't have been very long because you know I wasn't with you over three months all together.

Q. I was authorized to employ you for three months, wasn't I, and did employ you for three?

A. I don't know; you said so.

Q. You say you went up to Wagoner and talked to these witnesses? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then a few days after that Mr. McMillian went up there with you? A. Some time afterwards.

Q. How long afterwards?

A. I don't know how long; couldn't have been very long, though.

Q. Was it a week?

A. It might have been a week; I don't know.

Q. It wasn't over a week, was it?

A. It couldn't have been very long.

Q. It couldn't have been over a week, could it?

A. Not hardly.

Q. Then, you said that statement was made on the 26th of February, 1915? A. I think it shows it.

Q. These witnesses that you and McMillian examined and talked with, you talked to on beginning the 20th of March, didn't you? A. This one shows that the 20th of March.

Q. Then, you could not have formed your judgment that this child died immediately after it born by anything that these witnesses told you, could you, Ellis?

A. Well, under that statement, but it was after I had been up there sometimes afterwards I keep telling you. I don't know how long it was but it was after I came back from there.

Q. Now, Ellis, you never went out on this Nancy Atkins case; you never were talked to about this Nancy Atkins case until you went in the back room in my office with Fred Cook and made that statement to him. Now, isn't that a fact, and after that Mr. Cook and myself sent you to Wagoner to see these witnesses?

A. Well, you employed me on that case, I had been on it before.

Q. But these statements were made after—a month nearly after you made your statement, wasn't it?

A. Yes, that is it was taken down.

Q. Well, isn't that the date that you and McMillian took it down? A. It must have been, I don't recollect.

Q. Ellis, I believe that you testified a while ago that when you put this name Atkins on the '95 roll, or assisted in putthing it there, when they were considering that roll, when you were asked about it rather, but you had in mind this Thomas Atkins, the son of Nancy? A. I had in mind——

Q. Now, as a matter of fact, you had never heard of the name of that boy in your life, had you?

A. That is what I keep——

Q. You had merely heard that she had a little child that was born dead or died soon afterwards? A. No.

Q. You didn't know that Nancy had a boy by the name of Thomas Atkins then—answer.

A. By that name—I keep telling you that I didn't know what the child's name was.

Q. Then you couldn't have had the information at that time that Nancy Atkins was the mother of Thomas, could you?

A. I had in mind as I have told you, I think I stated that, when it was explained to me who it was meant for, I knew if it was named Tom or whatever its name had been, I didn't know the name at the time, it was meant for Nancy's child.

Q. Wouldn't you have said that it was meant for Richard Atkins' son if you had seen it in that family group I have called your attention to?

A. If it was in the Atkins family I would have, Dick Atkins' family.

Q. If it was in the same group with Susan and Nancy and with Mary, wouldn't you have said that it was a child of Richard's?

A. If it was in Richard's family, I certainly would have said it.

Q. If it was in the group with Susan and with Mary, you would have known it did not belong to Nancy or to Minnie, wouldn't you?

A. It had to be in the group with Dick Atkins' children.

Q. Those were Dick Atkins' children, weren't they? Susan and Mary? A. Why, certainly.

Q. Thomas and Nancy were Dick Atkins' children, too, weren't they? A. Yes.

Recross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Ellis, before noon, in answer to a question put by me, you said at least twice and maybe four times, that after you heard of the birth of Nancy's baby that you never thereafter saw Nancy with any child except the two Harrison boys and some colored children, didn't you? You told me that several times, didn't you, on the stand? A. Did I tell you that?

Q. Yes, you told me that. Now, that is true, isn't it?

A. Well, I am bound to have seen—I did see her with some other children.

Q. What is that?

A. I was bound to have seen her with other children.

Q. Well, hold on. Did you see her with any other children besides the two Harrison children and some colored children? Isn't that what you told me three or four times?

A. I seen her with them.

Q. Didn't you say that you didn't see her with any other children but them?

A. No, I can't say that and be candid about it.

Q. Ellis, how could you see her with any other children when you understood that this other child died immediately after its birth? How could you do it? A. Well——

Mr. Stuart: That is all.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. Just one question, Mr. Childers. I wish you would look at this Euchee roll again, under the larger glass here. Now, as I understand the answer to Mr. Allen's question, you have stated that in Dick Atkins family I believe it was Dick, wasn't it? A. Yes.

Q. That other Atkins. That there was a Susan and a Mary, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, those two names have been changed here with red ink, Susan and Mary, to make it Alice and Harvey, have they not? A. It looks so, yes.

Q. And this rool you now hold in your hand became the final roll that went before the Dawes Commission in its present condition, did it not?

Mr. Allen: If the Court please, I believe that was gone over this morning at great length.

The Court: The evidence this morning, this witness convinced me that those changes were made at the time of the payment and it went before the authorities making the payment in its unchanged condition, and that it then developed at the payment that these names should be as changed.

Mr. Hill: I understand that and I will follow it up that this changed word is the way it went before the Dawes Commission.

The Court: Well, I don't know whether he knows.

A. I can't tell you.

The Court: Do you know what roll was before the Dawes Commission?

A. No, sir, I don't.

The Court: Well, that will do.

Mr. Allen: If Your Honor please, one statement Your Honor made in the record this morning, that may make it necessary to introduce expert testimony. Your Honor said that looking at this name upon this roll, that an "error of 1," that you couldn't tell whether that "error of 1" was written before or after the word "error" occurring thereunder. I wish you would observe that through the magnifying glass and see if Your Honor is satisfied then that it was written before or after.

The Court: Now, for the benefit of counsel merely, and not determining the matter finally, since I have examined it through the glass, it gives me the impression that originally the person weilding the red ink pen had written the word "error," following each of those two names there, the name Thomas Atkins and the name above it; and that then either that person or some person subsequently, with a red ink pen, had written "of 1" over the "error," the second word, error.

Mr. Allen: I think that is perfectly apparent from that roll and I just wanted to satisfy Your Honor about it.

The Court: The impression that I would get would be for some reason the person using the red pen at that payment at first, inadverdently or through mistake, had written "error" after the two names and then had reached the conclusion that there was only error as to one name and had added "of 1" over the error.

Mr. Allen: Well, of course it is argumentative but Mr. German summed our contention this morning, in that the fact that they wrote with red ink and corrected the roll, Susan to Alice showed that they intended that the one error——

The Court: Well, that is an impression, conclusion that I will not attempt to reach yet. If there is any expert testimony or any testimony of persons familiar with these circumstances that will shed any addition- light on that, I would be glad to have it but that is the way it impresses me now, and very clearly the evidence now shows that Minnie was there. I don't suppose that will be disputed. Very clearly, Minnie, according to that roll, collected for five persons; for four persons, herself and three others. And the question will then arise as to whether it was Thomas or Alice that was included in the four that she collected for because there are five that are included within the line and she only collected for four.

Mr. Allen: We merely call Your Honor's attention to it in connection with this original roll that you might give it consideration.

The Court: Well.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: If the Court please, before the next witness is called, I offered the prison record of Bob DeLozier as exhibit in connection with the cross examination. I submitted them to counsel for Nancy Atkins and from those records they have prepared a memorandum which I understand they agree as showing his prison record and which may be read into the record instead of putting in the record themselves.

The Court: Well, then, let it be read in right now as part of the cross examination of the witness Bob DeLozier.

Mr. Hanford: These exhibits show that Bob DeLozier was confined in the Muskogee jail at Muskogee, Oklahoma, from June 12th, 1898, to December 24, 1898, for the crime of introducing and selling liquor.

That he was confined in the United States Penitentiary at Brooklyn, New York, under a three-year term and remained there from April 20, 1894, to July 29, 1896.

That he was confined in the Fort Smith jail from December 20th, 1893, to April 18, 1894, for the crime of larceny.

That he was in the United States Penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, from November 5th, 1900, to November 25th, 1904.

That he was in Muskogee jail at Muskogee, Oklahoma, from May 7, 1900, to November 4th, 1900, for the crime of larceny.

In the prison record of the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, the prison records gives the past record, and shows that he served eight years in Mexico prison.

Mr. Hill: We object to that. I think that is not in the testimony.

The Court: I don't care for that service unless it has some date. Because so far as this man's prison record is concerned, so far as it has any legitimate bearing on this case, there is enough in the United States.

Mr. Hanford: The witness was asked whether or not he had spent most of his life in jail and he said that he had not. It might be relevant in connection with that.

The Court: Well, he is rather an elderly man now. Proceed.

And thereupon, NANCY ATKINS was called and sworn as a witness in her own behalf and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. Nancy Atkins.

Q. How old are you, Nancy?

A. I was forty-five years old yesterday.

Q. Are you a Creek citizen? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were you born?

A. I was born down near the place they call Elks Creek.

Q. Have you lived in the Creek Nation all of your life?

A. Oh, all of my life.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you go to Wagoner to live?

A. I don't remember the year, I went there, the date of the year.

Q. What did you do after you went to Wagoner?

A. I got me a job laundrying.

Q. At what place?

A. Now, I am not sure whether it was at the McAnally's or the Bernard, but I think it was the Bernard Hotel was the first place that I worked.

Q. How long did you work there?

A. Oh, I worked there from the time that I went there until I was sick.

Q. What condition were you in at the time you went there? A. In a delicate state.

Q. You mean by that that you were pregnant?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where had you lived just before going there?

A. Here in Muskogee.

Q. With whom?

A. With Cherokee Robinson, my aunt that raised me.

Q. What was the occasion of your leaving her home and going to Wagoner?

A. Well, after I fell into this mistake I just left home, I didn't want to bring no disgrace on the family.

Q. Now, how long after you went to Wagoner was it before this child was born? A. That fall I think.

Q. Do you remember what month it was born in?

A. I think it was September.

Q. Where was it born, where were you living at the time it was born?

A. Why, I wasn't to just say living, I was working at the Bernard Hotel.

Q. Yes, I know, but whereabouts in the town was the child born, what house or what place?

A. Elnora Williams' house.

Q. What kind of a child was that, boy or girl?

A. My child was a boy.

Q. How long did the child live?

A. Well, I don't know how old he was when he died, he was about—— Now, as I don't know the year I went there, but as near as my recollection, I can get at it, he died in the spring of '90.

Q. Ninety or nineteen hundred? A. 1900, I guess.

Q. Where did he live during that time?

A. Well, I never did keep the child right with me when I was working; I always had somebody to care for him while I worked, but I would always go where he was evenings, every evening when I got off or else have him brought down to the laundry; there was a room there for me.

Q. Now, did you work at the Brown Hotel any time you were there?

A. Yes, I worked for Mrs. J. R. Brown directly after the hotel was finished.

Q. Do you remember seeing Frank Engles around there?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, did you ever have a child down there at the Brown Hotel where you worked?

A. Yes, sir, he would come down there.

Mr. German: Your Honor, we object to counsel leading the witness.

The Court: Well, she is asked if she ever had the child down around the hotel where she worked. I think that is all right.

Q. Now, when you went around town did you ever take him with you?

A. Oh, I would take him along with me and take him on back to Betsy's. I would usually always—I would send him out to Betsy's of a morning.

Q. Now, you say Betsy, who was that? A. Betsy Birney.

Q. Did you ever give birth to any other child?

A. That is the only one.

Q. Were you at the burial when he was buried, Nancy?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else did you see there?

A. Well, old man MacHenry was there and that darkey they called E. J. White.

Q. There was several people there was there?

A. Yes, sir, it was hard to get anything around there, do anything like that, dig a grave, you just had to get who you could.

Q. Now, were you ever sent to prison? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that before or after the child was born?

A. That was after he was here I got into that little scrape

Q. About how long after he was born?

A. Oh, he was about three or four months old when I got into this.

Q. Where were you taken to, Fort Smith? A. Yes, sir

Q. And where were you sent from there?

A. Detroit, Michigan.

Q. How long were you sent for?

A. Sent for eight months and served six and a half.

Q. Now, when did you get back to Wagoner from Detroit?

A. I left Detroit the second day of July; it seems to me that was on a Monday, and I landed in——

Q. Do you remember what year it was?

A. No, I don't, and landed in Wagoner on a Wednesday morning.

Q. How soon after that did you see—— I will ask you first, did you see the child after you got back there?

A. After I went from the train I went to old man Williams restaurant and it had rained and the streets were muddy and I made it over there and Mrs. Williams come and met me half way; I got there and talked quite a while and said well I will go on out to Betsy's.

Q. Well, did you find the child there?

A. Yes, sir, he was there.

Q. You are the same Nancy that was the plaintiff in a suit up at Sapulpa against H. U. Bartlett and the Gypsy Oil Company? A. The same Nancy Atkins.

Q. You testified in that case up there, did you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, prior to the trial of that case, did you make any statement in regard to this child? A. At Sapulpa?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was in MacDougal & Lytle's office, wasn't it?

A. Over when Bartlett sent for me?

Q. Well, now, I wish you would tell the Court how you come to go there and how you come to make that statement?

A. Well, I hardly know how to commence on it, it is such a mixed up thing. But I will say I will commence from this: I was out to Coody's Bluff; I wasn't in Nowata at the time. And so, one day a big automobile runned up out there—it was in February I think was the month. So, in the car was Betty Mann, Bartlett's son, I think the one they call Elward, I think that was the name, and a colored man there by the name of Vass Grisson and his bull dog. This is what the car was loaded with. So, Vass wanted to know was I there at this house, and they said yes. There was a little store there Charlie Armstrong run. Mr. Newland said she may be over at home or up stairs with my wife. Well, Vass, he run up stairs and come in and he told me, now, Nancy, Bartlett—Mrs. Newland went to the door, so Vass says Bettie Mann is down here, wants to see you, says there is big money in this if you tell the truth about it. Says he is offering two thousand dollars; that would have been my part of it to get out of it. That was supposed I guess, but they meant, I don't know now, my interest. So, pretty soon Betty come up. Well, I never paid no attention to Betty Mann, I heard of her record and all. I had an idea what she was after. And she talked along there. I says I haven't got sufficient clothes to go down there. Oh, you will get clothes, says, I will give you all the clothes you want, all you will have to do is go down there. H. U. Bartlett wants to see you.

The Court: Now, Nancy, talk a little plainer and a little louder.

A. So, I said all right and I gets in this car and goes with them. In going along the road, Betty says, your nephew is over here; I says which one; she said Harvey; I says that is Minnie's child; says yes; so they drove up to the Terry Hotel and when we got there—I don't know whether Mr. Whitehead is H. U. Bartlett's brother-in-law or how, but anyhow something in that family. And we met Mrs. Allbright right in the door, and she opened the door and I says here is Harvey. Then, Mrs. Allright say, Nancy what are you doing here? Betty Mann says we want our dinner, says Nancy don't want to go in the dining room; says Nancy—Mrs Allbright says Nancy has worked for me and she knows she can go in the dining room. And so I told them I didn't want no dinner. So,. Betty took me to the room, and when I got in the room, Charlie Rogers was in there. So he commenced on me about Minnie Atkins. I told him if Minnie is living I don't know it now. I just tell you what I have heard, because this question has been asked me before and I have been under the impression that Minnie is dead. Oh, well that would be all right enough. So, I went on down there to Sapulpa.

Q. After you got to Sapulpa where did you go?

A. Went to Betty Mann's house.

Q. What time did you get there?

A. Got to Sapulpa that night about 8 o'clock.

Q. Where did you go the next day?

A. Well, let's see. I think it was Thursday night—Thursday night when he got there, and Friday we didn't go anywhere and Saturday didn't go anywhere. Didn't go to the office until Monday, I think that is the way of it.

Q. Now, had you seen Mr. Bartlett from the time that you got there up until Monday?

A. He came in Friday morning after I got to Betty Mann's.

Q. Now, state what conversation you had with him about giving your testimony or making a statement.

Q. Well, he said that he wanted to see me and I said, well, I am here, what you want to see me about? And he didn't ask no questions of me there in the house, and he asked me did I need me money and I told him no, and he give me five dollars; he said here is five dollars for spending money.

Q. Well, was that all the conversation you had with him then? A. That was all there.

Q. Well, where did they take you, then?

A. Well, Monday Betty's brother went up there to this office, I suppose—I can't never call that—red-headed lawyer—that tall one.

Q. Lytle? A. Lytle.

Q. Well, did you go up there? A. Go to office?

Q. Yes. A. Yes, sir, I went up with Betty's brother.

Q. Well, who talked to you up there? A. Lytle.

Q. And who else? A. I don't remember of any——

Q. Was Bartlett up there?

A. No, sir—oh, Bartlett's son was in there when I got to the office.

Q. Now, what conversation did you have with Mr. Lytle and Bartlett's son?

A. Well, they commenced about this child and Bartlett said—told me—that is—I don't remember; Bartlett wasn't up there, either. It was just Lytle and that boy.

Q. Well, go on; tell what was said.

A. He asked me was I Nancy Atkins and I told him, yes, sir, and he went to work, and I don't remember how he asked me now.

Mr. Cruce: Who asked you?

A. Lytle. I don't remember how it come up—what is the first question he asked me.

Q. Well, was he talking about this boy?

A. Yes, sir, he was talking about——

Q. What did they want you to say about it?

A. What they wanted me to do was to say that the child was a girl because they had it framed up by me claiming—saying it was a boy, my child was a boy, why I was fixing to get in the penitentiary, and the best thing I could do was to claim that this child was a girl. That is the start of it I think; that is the way it come.

Q. How long did they talk with you there?

A. Oh, they talked with me a few minutes and then—I then got to go back and that boy give me four dollars more, four dollars in silver.

Q. Well, now, did you see Mr. Bartlett after that?

A. Well, now, let's see; I don't know whether Bartlett come to the house, I never seen him anymore until I was up in the office; was to go back to the office at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Q. Now, who was to give you this two thousand dollars?

A. H. U. Bartlett they said. That is what Betty Mann said.

Q. Now, what was that two thousand for?

A. That was for me to deny the child.

Q. Well, did they say anything about your going to the penitentiary?

A. Well, Betty and all of them down to the house said that was what I was framed up for if I didn't.

Q. Well, did they say that you would go to the penitentiary if you didn't deny that it was your child?

A. If I said it was a boy which they claimed it that child was Minnie's.

Q. Well, what did they say about it?

A. They said that they could prove that Minnie was a girl and the best thing that I could do was to admit that it was a girl, if I didn't want to go to the penitentiary.

Q. Well, did you ever get the two thousand dollars?

A. I haven't got it this morning.

Q. Well, did you ever get it? A. No, sir.

Q. After you made this statement there in Lytle's office, do you remember who was present when your statement was taken down? A. When we went up at 2 o'clock?

Q. I don't know what time it was.

A. Why, I didn't know them—nobody but—Bartlett and the two sons and Betty Mann. I don't think Betty was in the office, though.

Q. She was out in the room adjoining the office, wasn't she?

A. Yes, I think that is where she was, because she was the first lady I seen when I come out.

Q. Now, Mr. Lytle was there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember my being there? A. Yes, you and——

Q. Mr. Gresham?

A. Mr. Gresham was there, that is right.

Q. They asked you questions there and you answered them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, why did you answer those questions as you did there?

A. Well, I was just taking them at their word. It was just like this; I wouldn't rather have got anything that way than go to the penitentiary and I would rather do without it if I thought I was going to be put in the pen because I have been there once and I know what it is and I thought I would let them have it.

Q. Well, was what you stated there in Mr. Lytle's office that day true or false?

A. No, it was false because I knowed my child was a boy, sure enough, but I done that on their account.

Q. They said you would go to the penitentiary?

A. They finally told me that.

Q. And if you would make that statement that would get you two thousand dollars? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you testified after that in the court at Sapulpa, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you took back what you have said there in Lytle's office and testified that it was a boy and lived several years?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, which was the truth?

A. Well, what I testified in the presence of Judge Stanfield.

Q. That was true? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what you testified to over in Lytle's office was not true? A. Was not true.

Q. Now, has anybody else been up around Nowata since the trial of that case trying to get you away? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was it? A. Sadie James.

Q. Where did she want you to go?

A. She said she wanted to take me to where Minnie was to show me that that was Minnie, that was what she said.

Q. Well, where did she say she was?

A. I don't remember, I don't remember at all, but she said she could take me to her if I would go.

Q. Who else—who was with Sadie?

A. When she said this talk?

Q. Yes.

A. Well, she wasn't with anybody. I went to Mrs. Yarboro's; it was on a Friday morning and when I went in there—the reason I went up to Mrs. Yarboro's, Mrs. Yarboro was fixing a dress for me and when I went in there I told Mrs. Yarboro, if you have any urgent work in ahead of mine, I said you can take your own time because I don't need mine right away. She always had a lot of work on hand and Sadie was sitting there when I went in there, so I never did sit down. Mrs. Yarboro offered me a chair and I said no, I am going over farther east and as I started out Sadie James said to me, Nancy you don't know me, do you? And as I tell everybody I don't know, no, you got me bested, and she said don't you know Minnie? And I said yes, I would know Minnie but I thought Minnie was dead. She says no she ain't, she says

Minnie is living just as you is today and I said, well, that is good. Well, she asked me did I want to go with her and I said why, no, I don't want to go anywheres with you, and she said I can take you right to her; you ought to be ashamed of yourself you two sisters—only two girls; and I said my sister don't think enough of me to come to me and I think less of her, and I walked out and started where I was going to a colored woman's to get her to do me some washing because I was expecting to go to work. So, I came in the kitchen door—in the south door, in the kitchen door, and I left Sadie sitting over here to Mrs. Yarboro's and I just had got in and sat down to the table—and there was a chair there, and Sadie knocked at the front door. I went on around there and first and last she told her business to them there, that she was after me and offered some of them to persuade me to go with her.

The Court: What was that offer?

A. Offered Joe Byrd $50.00 and she told Joe that as she was a pretty good friend of mine couldn't she persuade me to go and Mrs. Byrd's sister was there and she offered her $25.00 to go as far as Kansas City. And she went as far as to tell Joe Byrd all I want to do is to get her out of Oklahoma into Kansas City and there won't be any more Nancy. That is what she told Joe Byrd and Mrs. Roach.

The Court: Did you hear her tell that?

A. No, sir, I didn't hear her tell it; that is what they told.

Q. Did she get you away?

A. No, sir, she came back then and talked to me on the same subject about going to see Minnie and she said she would take me there and she said you be ready Saturday and I will be here with a car. And I said alright, Sadie, I shall pack my suitcase and I will be here, but I was fixing to go east—go to Coody's Bluff, I was fixing to get away from her, was what I was after, so I wouldn't leave the house and I sent Joe Byrd to Ridgeways after my suit case and before Joe come back, Mrs. Yarboro sent her little girl Helen and she came to the door and I said what are you doing over here, Helen, and she said Mamma said for you to come over there at once, and I said when she bring the suit case to take care of them, and I said tell your mamma to wait, I will be there; and I told her what I was going to do, and Mrs. Yarboro said had—she made a big distress about getting me out of town; and Mrs. Yarboro said, Nancy, you are not going to leave here because they are certainly up to make away with you, and I said surely not, I haven't done anything—I haven't done anything to anybody to be going around trying to take my life, I said; and she said I done told you, you stay right in here and she said ain't there anybody to come to your rescue and I said I don't know but one person that could help me, and she said who is that, and I said ring Coweta, ring J. B. White, and tell him they was after me and to come up here and get me out of the way, if you please, so she done so.

Q. Well, did someone come after you?

A. To take me away?

Q. Yes. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who came? A. Mr. White.

Q. Where did you go then?

A. Well, he was there—he came Saturday evening and we left Nowata Sunday morning. I went out to Ellis Childers'.

Q. And how long did you stay at Ellis'?

A. Oh, I stayed at Ellis' until December.

Q. Now, what time was this that Sadie James came out there?

A. It was in September I would—I think it was about—along, now, I ain't sure now of those dates: those dates now, I ain't positive of those dates, but it was either the 26th—it was on a Friday, it was in September; I think that I left Nowata the 28th. That was a Sunday morning.

Q. Now, was Sadie James ever there more than once after you? A. If she is, I don't know it.

Q. Now, who was with Sadie that time?

A. That first time?

Q. Yes. A. I didn't see nobody but her.

Q. Mrs. Yarboro got you over to her house?

A. And I stayed right there until Sunday night.

Q. Locked you up? A. Yes, sir, locked me up.

Q. Until Mr. White came? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you went over there to Ellis Childers?

A. Yes, sir, to Coweta, out to Ellis Childers, that was what I was doing out to Ellis Childers.

Q. Now, you had a guardian before your present guardian, didn't you? Old Mark T. Harjo? A. Yes.

Q. Well, did he ever try to get you away?

A. Who? Mike?

Q. Yes.

A. Yes, that was tried in Coffeyville, too. There was money offered up there for him to take me out of Oklahoma.

Q. Now, who was up to Coffeyville with you at that time?

A. Why, I was with Mike and his wife and his baby; we were supposed to be on our way to Portland, Oregon.

Q. What were you going to Portland for?

A. His mother-in-law moved out there and his wife was going and he wanted me to go too, so I was just going along.

Q. Well, now while you were at Coffeyville did you meet any of the lawyers in the case up there and make a statement?

A. I don't know where he was a lawyer or not, he was a notry—Bartlett came.

Q. Do you remember Mr. McGraw being up there?

A. Yes, sir, I guess that was the man.

Q. He was one of the lawyers in the trial at Sapulpa?

A. Yes.

Q. You made a statement up there about the child, didn't you? A. The same thing, just like I did at Sapulpa.

Q. Well, now has anybody else been around there since you went back from Ellis Childers trying to get you to go away? A. If they have, I haven't heard of it.

Q. This statement that you made up at Coffeyville was before the deposition you gave down at Sapulpa, wasn't it?

A. Yes, sir, yes, sir, it was before that.

Q. That was [] time Harjo had started with you to Portland, Oregon?

A. Yes, sir, that was the time he was to take me.

Q. How come that?

A. Well, that is another long rigamarole.

Q. Well, be as short about it as you can.

A. Well, how come me to come back—Bartlett come up there. Harjo seen him up town somewheres, he never brought him to the house right along with him—he come down there and said, Nancy, I can get hold of five hundred dollars if you will just do what I want you to do, and I said what is that? And he said, well Bartlett is here and he offers me five hundred dollars if I will get you to deny that child; he said we won't have nothing to do with it—we will get clean out of it; it will be better for you and better for me.

Q. That was your guardian talking to you?

A. Yes, that was Micco T. Harjo. I set around there for a while and I said, look here, that wouldn't be right and he said, Nancy, I will tell you this is going to get into a big law suit and there will be more lies swore about this and you will be liable to get into the penitentiary about this very thing and the best thing for you to do is to take my advice, he said, and I will go get Bartlett. Bartlett is here, and you can use your own desires about it; and I said it is just like this, that is one place I don't want to go if I can keep out of it; and sure enough he went and got him and he come there and he talked to me and I said just like this—oh, well, it is immaterial to me if you all can make it that way I will turn it over to you and I will get clean out of it because I haven't any money to spend on it. So, he went to work and wanted to know if Harjo would meet him in Tulsa. He give Harjo ten dollars for our expenses and we were to meet him in Tulsa Monday; so when Monday come, Harjo come up and got ready to meet him there and I refused to go. So, he come back that same evening—no, it was Claremore he was to meet him, it was in Claremore. So he come on back up there, then, and he brought this man—whatever you call him what does the writing.

Q. Mr. McGraw?

A. Yes, so he questioned me and I answered all his questions.

Q. Now, did Bartlett pay you the five hundred dollars at that time?

A. He never did pay it to me, I never did see any of it.

Q. Do you know whether he paid it to Harjo or not?

A. I can't swear to that.

Q. Now, after you gave this deposition up at Sapulpa, in Mr. Lytle's office, where did you go from there?

A. In Sapulpa?

Q. Yes.

A. Well, they wanted witnesses then to prove this, to prove that it was a girl. I said, alright; I said I will pick out the witnesses; go over to Wagoner; I said the first woman I want to see is Eliza Barnett when you get to Wagoner; that woman that you all had on the stand the other day—Sterling—Eliza Sterling or something. So we come up there.

Q. Who went with you?

A. Harvey Harrison and Barlett's boy, well Bartlett's boy and Harvey, my nephew, and H. U. Bartlett and Betty Mann. So, we didn't make Wagoner that night, we stayed all night in Coweta and next morning we made it on into Wagoner. And so first place we went to Eliza Barnett's.

Q. That is the same Eliza Sterling that was here?

A. Yes, sir, but she was a Ross at the time; and so we got out and went to the house. Eliza hadn't seen me for many years and when I come in she recognized me. She say, well, there is Nancy. I says yes, what is left of her. She offered us chairs and I says no, Eliza, we are in a hurry. I says, Eliza, I came down here to ask you one question to see if you know. I says you remember my baby and your mother waiting on me don't you; she says yes. I says, listen good what I ask you so you won't make no mistake if you ever have to testify in this case. Now, do you remember that this child was it a girl or boy. Was the very question I asked her. And she looked up and looked around and Mr. Bartlett was standing there and Betty was standing there. And she says Nancy, your child was a boy. Now, I says, are you right sure it was a boy; and before I could say anything else to Eliza, Betty Mann says you know good and well it was a girl. I says well now that is what they want you to swear it was a girl, I says, remember. So, Mr. Bartlett asked her then could we get any more witnesses. And

I says I think Aunt Angeline Moody. And I says I think old Henry Kidd; and we went on over there to Aunt Angeline. And I put the same questions to her, and in asking them these questions I says look out now, steady yourself and be sure your answer is correct. I says, do you remember when Aunt Mandy Barnett waited on me at my child whether it was a boy or girl. Aunt Angeline kind of stammered around over it and she says it did come to me, I believe it was a boy. And Betty Mann run into her and says wasn't it a girl, ain't you sure it was a girl. Well, I believe it was. As far as Kidd is concerned he didn't—— So, Mr. Bartlett gave then ten dollars, that was the expense money over there, and all. And we got in the car.

Q. Gave who ten dollars? A. Gave it to Eliza Barnett.

Q. What did you say about expense money?

A. I say Mr. Bartlett gave ten dollars for the expense money for them to be in Sapulpa, I believe it was three weeks from that to testify to this child. And so we come on back to Tulsa and put up at the Brady Hotel; and I says I am going on home because I think my time is out down here I had better get on. So, I am supposed to be clean out of this now. And so the next morning I caught that early train out and Mr. Bartlett and Betty Mann came to the train with me, and Betty came on to Claremore and to be sure I got on, and Mr. Bartlett gave me ten dollars that morning.

Q. Did he say anything about giving you any more?

A. He never did say what he would give me, it was Betty Mann brought the consideration about the two thousand dollars.

Q. Now, you came back to the trial?

A. Yes, but they didn't expect me back.

Q. Now, Nancy? A. What?

Q. Just tell the court what the truth is about that child?

A. Well, I will just tell the court.

The Court: Now, look at me and talk loud.

A. Judge, Your Honor, I can't look at you, can't tell when I am looking at you on account of the cataract on my eyes.

The Court: All right, look at me anyhow.

A. This child. Now, my child was a boy sure enough.

The Court: Yes, now look at me.

Q. I named it Tommy, but at the time I didn't know there was so many Tommys, so many boys in the Atkins family named Tommy I wouldn't never named him. I would much rather named him after my brother, but after Minnie had one named Lee, I just called mine Tommy, but the child really is a boy, honest. Of course I ain't talking.

Q. How long did it live?

The Court: Now, look at me and tell me how long it lived.

A. Now, like I stated a while ago, he died in the spring of 1900 I think as near as I can remember, I don't remember the date.

Q. About how old was he, Nancy, when he died?

A. He was either eight or he was crowding his nine. This is my boy I am talking about. I ain't talking about nobody's child but Nancy Atkins' child. I don't know anything about it.

Q. You think he was about nine years old when he died?

A. Yes, sir, he was past eight.

The Court: Where did he live while he lived?

A. He was there in Wagoner with me.

The Court: Well, now, let me ask you this. When you and Betty Mann went to ask those darkies about whether it was a boy or girl, you remember about that?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: And you say Betty Mann wanted them to say it was a girl; where did they live, these darkies?

A. They lived in Wagoner.

The Court: Did they live in Wagoner all the time, this boy you say was your boy it lived there?

A. I don't know whether Aunt Angeline Moody, it seems to me that she moved there after.

The Court: Well, the others?

A. Yes, sir, Eliza and them.

The Court: Lived right there with that boy that you say was your boy while he lived?

A. Yes, sir, right there in Wagoner.

Q. Nancy, was Minnie's children ever with you at Wagoner? A. Yes, sir, they was there.

Q. How long?

A. Oh, I didn't have them long, you know she went off and left the children with Kate Holden, our half-sister. And she was to be back. She went to Fort Logan, Colorado.

Q. Now, how long did they stay with you?

A. Oh, I never had the little fellows over two or three months I guess.

Q. And then where did they go?

A. Well, Charlie Bailey got one of them.

Q. Did they go back to Holden's?

A. No, Jimmy Childers got one and Charlie Bailey got the other.

Q. They were at Holden's a while?

A. She left them at Holden's.

Q. Now, how long did they stay at Holden's before you had them? A. I don't know how long they had been there.

Q. Do you remember of being out at the Holdens while they were there? A. I was out there once.

Q. Was your little boy ever out there, out to Holden's?

A. He was out there but I wasn't there in town when they took him out there.

Q. Well, who took him out there?

A. I think Tom sent after him. They said he was running around; that is when I went to Nowata.

Q. And did you hear that he was out to Holdens?

A. Yes, I heard that he was out there.

Q. And did you go out there?

Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, we object to leading the witness.

The Court: Yes, Judge, let her tell her story.

Q. Was you ever out to Holdens?

Mr. Cruce: We object, that is the same question.

The Court: She can answer that whether she was out at Holdens.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was there when you were there?

A. Tom Holden and Kate and Minnie's two boys and mine.

Q. And yours. Did you ever see Tom Way there when you were there? A. Where, at Kate's?

Q. Yes?

A. No, I never seen Tom Way right at the house but I believe we was coming to Coweta, I and Kate and we met him.

Q. How long did your boy stay out there?

A. I don't remember myself, I didn't stay out there myself and Kate said when she would bring him back she would leave him with Betsy, and I says all right I have got to go back, I have a woman in my place.

Q. Did you leave him there?

A. I left him right there to Kates'.

Q. How long after that was it before you saw him again?

A. Oh, I never seen him for I guess a year maybe.

Q. Where was he then?

A. He was with Betsy Birney when I come back.

Q. Do you know when he went back to Betsy Birney's?

A. No, I don't know when she took him back there.

Q. Nancy, I wish you would describe that child to the court?

A. Well, my child, he was just about my color, and of course when he was small he had light hair, but the older he got the darker his hair. He was supposed to be black headed, straight hair like mine.

Q. What was his size with reference to other children of the same age?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell you, he was puny.

Q. Was he small or larger than other children of his age?

A. Oh, he was small for his age.

Mr. Maxey: I believe that is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Nancy, you say some one tried to kidnap you in 1914?

A. I don't say, I absolutely know they done it.

Q. Sadie James at that time was representing who?

A. Representing, I don't know what his initials is, Page.

Q. Charles Page?

A. Yes, sir, I think that is who she was representing.

Q. Did she tell you at that time, about two months before that she had seen your sister Minnie?

A. She didn't say how long before that time, said she had seen her.

Q. Is that the time she had a conversation with you at Mrs. Yarbrough's house where you were? A. Yes, sir.

Q. With Frank Long at Tulsa?

A. Yes, sir, that must be the time.

Q. That was before the Government brought this suit, wasn't it? A. When Sadie?

Q. Yes, when Sadie saw you, that was when you were having a law suit over in Creek County?

A. Yes, sir, that was after the last trial at Sapulpa.

Q. Nancy, let me see if I understand you. You say that you were induced to make this false deposition because Betty Mann told you that you would go to the penitentiary if you didn't do it, is that right? A. That is what I said.

Q. Didn't you know that you would go to the penitentiary if you swore falsely either to having a boy or not having a boy?

A. Well, but you see I knowed if I swore false either way I would go.

Q. Isn't it a fact that you have been trying to keep off the witness stand, been trying to keep from testifying?

A. Oh, no.

Q. In this case, to the birth of this boy because you know he didn't live?

A. No, sir, I tried my best to keep out of the court house entirely, not to have anything to do with it when it was first started.

Q. Now, Nancy, you mean to say that that child that was born there at Elnora Williams wasn't born dead?

A. Why, sure, I say my child wasn't born dead.

Q. If Elnora Williams says that that child was born dead or died the day he was born, she is mistaken is she?

A. Yes, she would be mistaken.

Q. You say it was born at Elnora Williams' place?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You talked with Elnora Williams at Portland?

A. I never have been to Portland, Your Honor.

Q. You just got as far as Kansas City?

A. I got as far as Coffeyville here.

Q. Micco T. Harjo is the man that persuaded you over your protest to say that this child born to you was a boy, isn't that a fact? A. No.

Q. He told you that if you would say that this was a boy that he could get a lot of money out of White and his crowd?

A. No, he never, no, sir. No.

Q. Nancy, you testified at Sapulpa, did you, that your child born to you was a girl and born dead?

A. That was Bartlett.

Q. They told you they would pay you two thousand dollars for that testimony?

A. They never told me any such thing, and I never told that on the stand just now. I said that that was what Betty Mann brought up.

Q. Betty Mann told you if you would swear this child of yours was a girl born dead she would pay you two thousand dollars? A. She said that was my part of the interest.

Q. She said you would be paid that much money didn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you swear that it was a girl born dead?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. To get the two thousand dollars or keep from going to the penitentiary?

A. I didn't care whether I got the money or not.

Q. You didn't care whether you got any money or not, did you, Nancy? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you said a while ago that they told you at Coffeyville that you would get five hundred dollars?

A. That was what Mike said.

Q. Now, one time they were offering you two thousand dollars and later five hundred dollars for the same testimony, is that what you want the court to understand?

A. Yes, that is the way it was.

Q. Now, what did you think you were going to get, two thousand dollars or five hundred dollars?

A. I didn't know whether I would get any.

Q. Nancy, you made an affidavit in this case, didn't you, attached to your motion for a new trial, answer to the motion for a new trial at Sapulpa, in which you made your first reference to that five hundred dollars, didn't you? You remember making that affidavit don't you, Nancy?

A. Read it off.

Q. Don't know Mr. White had you make an affidavit over there and sign it in the District Court of Creek County? In that affidavit, didn't you say that "H. U. Bartlett desired to get a statement or affidavit from her"—— I will read a part of the affidavit to make sense: "That a few days prior to the 26th of July, 1913, one Micco T. Harjo came to her at Coffeyville, Kan., and informed her that one H. U. Bartlett desired to get a statement or affidavit from her to the effect that Minnie Atkins was the mother of Thomas Atkins, and that Nancy Atkins, affiant, was not the mother of said Thomas Atkins; that she was informed that by said Harjo that the said Bartlett was willing to give her five hundred dollars to make such statement or affidavit." Did you make that affidavit?

A. Is that the one that was made at Coffeyville?

Q. The one that was made at Sapulpa. Did you swear to an affidavit filed there that Micco T. Harjo told you that Bartlett would pay you five hundred dollars if you would swear that you gave birth to a girl baby?

A. Well, when Mike done that we was in Coffeyville.

Q. In Coffeyville, Kansas? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Nancy, in this affidavit you didn't refer to the two thousand dollars you now say Betty Mann offered you?

A. Oh, that was after I came back to Nowata.

Q. Nancy, Mr. Bartlett never offered you a cent?

A. I said that Mr. Bartlett didn't offer me none.

Q. And if Mr. Bartlett was going to pay you anything, you got that information from your own guardian, Micco Harjo, didn't you? A. He is the same man.

Q. And you don't know a thing about that except what Harjo told you? A. That is all that was said.

Q. He at that time was your legal guardian? A. Yes.

Q. Mr. White had him appointed your guardian? A. No.

Q. Who had him appointed your guardian?

A. I had him appointed guardian when I sold this forty acres, my homestead.

Q. Then they got him removed and Mr. White had somebody else appointed? A. No.

Q. Who had this other man appointed? A. I did.

Q. What is his name? A. Ridgway.

Q. Is he in the Court room?

A. No, sir, he is not in town.

Q. What race does he belong to?

Mr. Maxey: He is a negro.

A. Yes, he is a negro.

Q. You have never until today before you went upon this witness stand, intimated that Betty Mann ever offered you a penny to swear falsely at Sapulpa, have you?

A. Oh, I did, I testified right before Judge Stanfield at Sapulpa the same thing.

Q. Nancy? A. Well, I did.

Q. You went on the witness stand in that MacDougal & Lytle's office, didn't you, at Sapulpa? A. Yes.

Q. You swore positively there that you had never given birth to a boy and that the only child that you ever had was a girl born dead, didn't you say that?

A. Yes, I testified to that right up there.

Q. Your two lawyers were there, Mr. Gresham and Mr. Maxey, Judge Maxey here, were they not?

A. Yes, they were there.

Q. They cross examined you at length, didn't they?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you stuck to the story that the only child you ever had was a girl born dead, didn't you? Isn't that a fact?

A. Yes, I testified.

Q. Now, who told you to go back on the story and say that it was a boy; who persuaded you to go back on that story after you had testified in giving your deposition?

A. Why, I wasn't persuaded exactly, I was taken down there and Judge Stanfield had me brought in the Court House and I told him.

Q. No, but who came to you before you was taken down there; Nancy, you said a while ago that they were surprised when you came down there, they didn't want you to come. How come you to go to Sapulpa?

A. Ellis Childers came after me.

Q. Ellis Childers who just preceded you on that witness stand? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Representing Mr. White? A. I guess he must.

Q. You went over there with Childers and talked to Mr. White? A. I didn't see Mr. White until the next morning.

Q. You talked with him before you went on the witness stand? A. I didn't change it until I got in the Court House.

Q. You didn't change it much then, did you, Nancy?

A. I don't know anything about that.

Q. After you had changed your testimony and went on the witness stand, I will ask you if these questions were not asked you and the following answers returned: "Q. Have you ever been married? A. No, sir. Q. Ever given birth to a child? A. Yes, sir. Q. What kind of a child was it? The Court: Boy or girl? A. Supposed to be a boy I guess." That is the way you changed your testimony from a girl to a boy, wasn't it Nancy? Did you answer those questions in that way?

A. They got that wrong when they asked me was it a boy or girl and I said yes.

Q. You said supposed to be a boy I guess?

A. Judge Stanfield told me you want to testify right and if it was a boy say so and if it was a girl say so.

Q. Nancy, who told you Tom Way went upon the witness stand and testified that he ever saw you at Tom Holdens?

A. Nobody ever told me.

Q. You said a while ago when Mr. Maxey first asked you the question that you were in Nowata when they came over there and talked Tommy? A. Did I say that a while ago?

Q. Yes, is that true or false? A. I went back to Nowata.

Q. Nancy, you were in Nowata all the time this Charlie and Harvey were at Wagoner and Tom Holdens, is that a fact; you never were at Kate Holdens but one time in your life? A. Oh, I know better than that.

Q. When Charlie and Harvey was there and that is when you went to get them in 1898?

Mr. Stuart: I would like to have some of these questions answered.

The Court: Yes, Judge, give her a chance to answer. Were you ever at Tom and Kate Holdens more than once when Charlie and Harvey were there?

A. Yes, sir, I was over there once about two years after that I guess.

Q. You don't remember——

A. When Charlie and Harvey was there.

Q. Nancy, you first went over there and got Charlie and Harvey and brought them to Wagoner? A. No, indeed.

Q. Where did you get them?

A. Well, sir, I will tell you how come me with them children if you want the story on it. I was in Wagoner at the time and Kate Holden had come to me and told me that Minnie had left these little children with her and went away, and she says, Nancy, Tom don't want them and I can't take care of them, and she promised to send money for the children's support. And I says, Kate, I don't think she wants me to have them or she would have left them with me. Then she come back to me again. I think Mitchell was scouting or he was in trouble or something and she wanted money to go to Fort Smith to Mitch, I think he was in jail. And I let her have the money and she started speaking about the children. I thought if Minnie wanted me to have the children she would have brought them to me in the first place, and so one Saturday, I wasn't thinking about these children and they sent them over to me by [] Indian man, I don't know his name; if I heard somebody call the man I would know it; I didn't want the children.

Q. You were not then at Kate Holden's at all while Charlie and Harvey were there, your first meeting with them being when they were sent to you, is that right?

A. No, I seen the children over there before they were sent to me.

Q. When did you see them there?

A. Oh, it was after Minnie had left, I don't know how long after she had left.

Q. Who else was there besides the two boys at that time?

A. Oh, I don't remember; as I just now testified that mine was there.

Q. Yours was there? A. Yes.

Q. That was before you ever took the boys to raise, that was before Charlie and Harvey came to live with you?

A. Before they were in my possession.

Q. Then, the only time you were out there with your boy was before Charlie and Harvey were in your possession? Is that right? A. Yes.

Q. Nancy, you talked to Henry McGraw, in Coffeyville, Kansas, on July 26, 1913, didn't you?

A. I don't remember the date, it was in the summer.

Q. It was in the summer before you gave your deposition at Sapulpa, wasn't it? A. Yes, I think so.

Q. You told him in Coffeyville at that time that you had never given birth to but one child and it was a girl and born dead, didn't you?

A. Yes, the same like I gave at Sapulpa.

Q. Nancy, during that conversation, he talked to you at length about your child, didn't he? A. Done what?

Q. He talked to you at length about your child?

A. No, he didn't talk with me, he just asked me questions and I answered.

Q. You gave him the name of the people by whom he could establish the truth of your statement that your only child was a girl born dead? A. Yes, that is what I told him.

Q. It was not until the following year that you testified at the office of MacDougal & Lytle was it?

A. That was in July and that was in February, I think.

Q. The following February, you went on the witness stand at Sapulpa and told the same story? A. Same thing.

Q. Then, almost immediately, Ellis Childers came out to get you to change that story, didn't he?

A. No, Ellis didn't exactly tell me to change it.

Q. Were you afraid to go to the penitentiary because you were testifying differently when you testified one day that you gave birth to a girl baby born dead, and then a few days afterwards that your child was a boy?

A. Well, as I stated I didn't want to have nothing to do with it; I tried to keep out of this suit, that is what I stated a while ago.

Q. Did you ask anybody for five hundred dollars or two thousand dollars or any other sum after you gave your deposition? A. No, sir, I ain't asked nobody for any nickel.

Q. Where were you when Ellis Childers came to see you?

A. I was in Nowata.

Q. Who with?

A. I wasn't with exactly anybody; I was up town.

Q. What did he say to you when he found you?

A. Well, I was up town; I went up to get some stuff for breakfast.

Q. Tell me exactly what he said to you?

The Court: Well, she is getting to it now, Judge.

A. Well, if you will give me time, I will tell you.

The Court: Go on, tell what Ellis said, now; tell me.

A. Well, I went up town with this woman, girl, Joe Byrd, went up to market; it was cold that morning so we had stopped in at Harden's barber shop to warm a while, and while we were in there somebody said—I don't know who it was—said, there is Nancy, why there are looking for her. So I rushed out and went immediately up town and done our trading at the market and come back by Ridegway's and I forgot what I got there at Ridgeway's store and went on down and a woman who lived on the corner, name of Cora, and I told Joe Byrd, you go on home, I want to stop here and swap lies with Cora.

The Court: What about Childers?

A. Well, I am going to get to it.

The Court: Well, get to it.

A. So went in there and she didn't have no fire burning in the cook stove, so I sat down and drawed my chair up and the first man that come in right behind me was Harvey Boling, I think.

Q. Tell the Court what Childers said to you.

The Court: Where did you see Childers?

A. At this house. And the next man I looked around and seen was Ellis and Ellis said to me Nancy, you are due at Sapulpa, and I said what, on that same old case, and he said yes. Well, I said I got to go to the country and get my clothes; my clothes is in the country, so we got a buggy and horse and went out there and came back and caught that train and come on down to Sapulpa that night.

Q. Didn't he talk to you at all about the case?

A. No, he never said nothing at all until I got in the Court house down there and I found out what it was for. You see, Bartlett then——

Q. What did he tell you what it was for?

A. Well, I found out after I got in the court house.

Q. The courthouse. Well, who told you?

A. Judge Stanfield.

By the Court.

Q. Well, now tell me what Ellis told you they wanted you down there at Sapulpa for?

A. He said he wanted me down there on this case.

Q. What about?

A. Well, he said that Bartlett and them was representing there that the child was a girl.

Q. Yes? Well, what else?

A. And he said you want to go—and he said you want to go and fix that because you might get in trouble.

Q. Yes—what else? Fix it how?

A. He didn't say how.

Q. Well, go on now, and tell me what else Ellis said.

A. So Ellis didn't say any more about it and I went to the St. James hotel and the next day, Friday, I think it was, the thing came to a test and I went on the stand.

By Mr. Allen.

Q. St. James hotel—well who did you meet at the St. James hotel? Is that where you met Mr. White?

A. Mr. White was there that night; I seen him.

Q. Mr. White told you he had come there to keep you out of trouble? A. No, sir, he didn't tell me.

Q. Did he tell you that you would get in trouble if you didn't change this, didn't he? A. No.

Q. Didn't fix it?

A. It was Ellis talking about fixing it.

Q. Did Mr. White tell you he would help you fix it? Didn't he? A. No.

Q. Help you keep out of trouble? A. No.

Q. Didn't you discuss with them the affect of swearing one time that you had a girl born dead and in the next few days that he was a boy?

A. No, I don't remember having anything that way with them.

Q. Did he talk to you about the value of this land at that time? A. No, I don't know the value of it today.

Q. Nancy, you stuck to the story that this was a girl, born dead, from July 1913, until February 9th, 1914, didn't you?

A. About its being a girl?

Q. Being born dead? A. Yes, that is what I——

Q. You went around to see those witnesses, didn't you?

A. I had Bartlett to——

The Court: Well, Judge let's not go all over that; I have that now.

Mr. Allen: Your Honor, I would like to examine her as what she said about the various witnesses.

The Court: Well, get right to that point.

Q. Now, you have related what you said to Eliza Sterling. Nancy, tell us just exactly what you said to Angeline Moody when you reached her.

A. I said the same thing just like I said to Eliza Sterling.

Q. Well, tell us what it was.

A. When I first went in the house just like I said, Eliza said here is Nancy, I haven't seen her for years, and she was glad to see me which I am acquainted with Eliza——

Q. What did you say about the boy?

A. I am going to tell that. She offered me a chair, I said Eliza, I am here on business. I said now, do you remember anything about that child of mine whether it was a boy or girl, and she looked around and looked up and looked down and said well, Nancy, your child was a boy and Betty said no, it was a girl, wasn't it, just steady yourself; it was a girl born dead, wasn't it, asked Eliza, and Eliza said, yes, I believe it was. That was what she said and the same way with aunt Angeline. I went up there to see if aunt Angeline knowed the same story.

Q. What was said to aunt Angeline?

A. Just what I said to Eliza.

Q. Tell us what you did say?

A. Well, I went in there——

Q. Tell us the conversation with aunt Angeline.

A. Well, I went in there and asked aunt Angeline did she know anything about my child that I had there, whether it was a boy or girl and she said the same thing that that Sterling—

Q. What did she say? Did she hesitate a while?

A. She hesitated and said I believe, I don't exactly remember Nancy, but I believe it was a boy.

Q. She hesitated a long time before she said that?

A. No, she didn't hesitate no long time.

Q. But she hesitated, you said?

A. Just a little while.

Q. And said she didn't remember but she believed it was a boy. And what did Betty say to her?

A. She said what she said the other time and said wouldn't you swear that it was a girl, and she said yes.

Q. So you had that witness fixed. Then you went to see who? A. Henry Kidd.

Q. Tell exactly what you said to Henry Kidd.

A. I asked Mr. Kidd—he was crossing the street, we met him on the street—we were all in the car, and somebody said there goes old man Kidd now, and I said call him down and they did and I told him to come here—they motioned to him, and he came to the car and stood by the car, and I said Mr. Kidd, do you remember anything about my child; and he said Nancy, I don't but I know you had a child here. Betty asked him the same questions again.

Q. And what [ ] she say?

A. She asked him was it a boy or girl and he said he didn't exactly know, just as I heard him testify here on the stand the other day.

Q. But he said he thought it was a boy, didn't he?

A. You mean that day when I was talking to him?

Q. Yes?

A. Now, I would tell you but I don't remember whether Kidd said that.

Q. What did Betty say, then, that it was a girl born dead?

A. Yes, that is what she said.

Q. Well, he agreed that he would swear to that, too, didn't he? A. I think he did.

Q. So you were satisfied with that witness. Then, go ahead, who did you next see?

A. I never seen any more. Just them three witnesses.

Q. Now, all three of those witnesses that you took these people to to establish the fact that your child was a girl born dead, didn't you?

A. Yes, I wanted them to swear that because—just like I stated to the Court, I wanted to get out of the mess. I didn't want to have nothing to do with it.

Q. And everyone of them said that it was a boy after hesitating a while?

A. They sure done it now, that is all there is to that.

Q. They didn't remember much about it, did they, Nancy? The child was dead so long?

A. They must have remembered the way they talked.

Q. They lived right around you, didn't they?

A. I didn't live amongst them, I worked all the time.

Q. You lived a while you say at Elnora Williams—Elnora Mayshack's? A. I never did live with Elnora Williams.

Q. The child was born there, wasn't it?

A. Well, I didn't live there, just there during my sickness.

Q. Well, you stayed there when the child was born?

A. I was there during my sickness, I had to stay somewhere.

Q. You know Joe Birney?

A. Yes, I know all the Birney children; Charlie Birney, Dick Birney, Coleetha was the youngest of the girls and Joe was the youngest one of the boys.

Q. Joe was a little boy when your child——

A. Joe was a little boy about that high; pretty good sized boy.

Q. How big? A. Pretty good sized boy.

Q. Be sure about that Nancy. How big was Joe when you gave birth to this boy?

A. I know what I am talking about because I know the children.

Q. How big was he?

A. Well, I might say tall as you and you wouldn't believe it.

Q. He was a little child?

The Court: Well, see here, I want to know Nancy, how old do you think Joe was when your baby was born?

A. I think Joe Birney was—to get down to the truth of it Judge——

The Court: Yes, that is what we want.

A. I think little Joe Birney was about four years old, as near as I can get at it.

By the Court.

Q. When your baby was born?

A. As near as I can get it, absolutely telling you the truth as near as I can get at it as far as my knowledge goes.

By Mr. Allen.

Q. He was sort of a pet of yours, wasn't he, Nancy?

A. Well, not exactly; I never had no special pets around there with the children.

Q. You say you never carried this boy around with you when you were at work in the day time but came back to it at night? A. Yes.

Q. That was true of it when you were at the Barnard and McAnally hotel, wasn't it?

A. And also at the Brown hotel.

Q. And also at the Brown hotel. You only saw him at nights when you returned after your day's work was over?

A. I could see him any time if I would just walk out of the laundry and go away from my work but I wouldn't make it my business to go.

Q. You didn't carry him with you to your work around town?

A. I had him with me down at the Brown hotel; he was playing around down there.

Q. Not anywhere else?

A. No, they would bring him up to the laundry in the morning sometimes.

Q. Nancy, who was present the night this baby was born?

A. Nobody in the house there but aunt Mandy and Mrs. Williams and old man Williams—he was down stairs in the restaurant; they had a restaurant. This house was a story and a half house with a room on the east and a room on the west. Well, I was in the west room, upstairs, in the bed.

Q. Aunt Mandy dead? A. She is dead now.

Q. Old man Williams dead?

A. And uncle Munday is dead.

Q. All dead except Elnora Williams? A. Yes.

Q. She is now Elnora Mayshack and now lives in Portland? A. They say she is in Portland.

Q. Nancy, did you know a boy at the home of your uncle and your aunt, Kate Holden—— A. Kate Holden?

Q. When Charlie and Harvey were there, when you went over to get Charlie and Harvey, or when they were there, rather—— A. I never did go to get Charlie and Harvey.

Q. Well, when they were there and you went over to visit, did you see any boy there?

A. When I went to get him?

Q. No, you said a while ago that before these boys ever came to live with you that you went over to Kate and Tom Holden's. Now, when you was there that time, did you see any other boy there?

A. Oh, I stated to the Court a while ago that my boy was over to Kate's.

Q. I know you did, did you see any other boy there?

A. What boy are you talking about now?

Q. Did you see any other boy there?

A. I never seen any other boy but Harvey and Charlie and mine.

Q. Then you didn't see a boy there by the name of Beaver? A. Why, no; I didn't know it if I did.

Q. Bear—Edmond Bear?

A. No, I don't know him if he was there.

Q. As a matter of fact Harvey and Charlie and Edmond Bear were the three boys who were there, isn't that true, Nancy?

A. I don't know nothing about this boy you are speaking about, Edmond Bear.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

A. Nancy, when were you first talked to in reference to this case? A. Sir?

Q. When were you first talked to by anybody in regard to this case?

A. Well, I believe the first beginning of it why Mike told me about it; Harjo.

Q. You call Micco Mike, Mike Harjo? A. Yes.

Q. He was your guardian. Do you know who had him appointed your guardian? A. No, I do not.

Q. Do you know how he came to be appointed your guardian, Nancy?

A. Well, how come them [] wanted a guardian, I sold my homestead there, I think it was in 1912; it was sold through the court.

Q. Who did you sell it to?

A. Why a man I think he lives there at Coweta; somewhere near around Coweta there, C. C. Carter, I think that is the man's name.

Q. Now, he was appointed your guardian——

A. Well, what I started to tell you—you see the money was here in the Agent's hands.

Q. Well, I don't care anything about that?

A. Well, he was appointed on account of this money, in order that we could get the money out of the Indian Agent's hands.

Q. Alright. Now did Mike Harjo talk to you about what you knew about this case, before or after he was appointed your guardian? A. After.

Q. After he was appointed your guardian. What occurred between you and Mike Harjo about this case the first time you ever talked about it; what did he say to you and what did you say to him?

A. Oh, he said that he had seen the rolls and Tommy Atkins was enrolled on there, and he first asked me did I have any children, and I told him yes, I was the mother of a child, and he asked what was it, and I told him, and he said did you ever get his allotment, and I said I don't know, because Uncle enrolled him, and if he failed, some of my kinfolks filed him, because I didn't file only for myself; that is what I told him, and he said well he is down there, and it must be yours, and I said well you got it to prove, then, if it is mine.

The Court: You said what?

A. I told him, well if it is mine, you will have to prove it; I said I am the mother of a child, and his name was Tommy, but whether he was enrolled or not, I don't know it, because Uncle enrolled us, was to enroll us, and I filed for myself.

Q. What uncle was that who enrolled for you?

A. Colonel W. W. Robinson.

Q. You say you filed for yourself alone?

A. I filed my own.

Q. And you didn't file for your child? A. No.

Q. But you didn't tell Robinson to file for your child, did you? A. He just said he was going to enroll us.

Q. You didn't tell Robinson to file for this child, did you, Nancy? Answer my question.

A. Well, I told him to enroll us.

Q. Wait a minute: Nancy, did you tell Robinson to file for your child? A. No, I didn't tell him.

Q. You didn't tell him. You did file for yourself. Now this child you are talking about was living at that time, wasn't he? A. When my uncle was talking to me?

Q. But you didn't tell him to file for your child, did you?

A. No, I didn't tell him.

Q. You didn't tell him to file for your child. Now, Harjo came to you a little later than that and made some sort of a proposition to you about starting a law suit, didn't he?

A. No, he didn't make no proposition about starting any law suit. He came to me and said he could give a lease on it. He said Minnie is claiming it and said I believe it is yourn, he said, and he said you can make a lease as good as Minnie can, and so Ellis Hammett he came up there and he wanted a lease, and so he give me fifty dollars, and I signed a lease.

Q. You signed the lease?

A. Yes, to Ellis Hammett, now.

Q. Mike told you that he was satisfied that you owned this oil land, didn't he?

A. He didn't say what kind of land it was.

Q. Well, he was satisfied this land was yours?

A. Yes, he was satisfied I was entitled to it.

Q. That you were entitled to it, and he says, now I want you to make a lease. Who did he want you to make a lease to? A. Ellis Hammitt.

Q. To Ellis Hammitt; and Ellis Hammitt came around and gave you fifty dollars? A. And I signs the lease.

Q. Well, you answer me; he came and gave you fifty dollars? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you signed the lease? A. Yes, sir.

Q. To Ellis Hammitt? A. Yes.

Q. You signed the lease to this land. Now that is the first time that you and Harjo ever talked about this land being yours, wasn't it? A. Yes, the first time I remember.

Q. And Harjo was the man that suggested to you, for the first time, that this property was yours, wasn't he?

A. Maybe he was.

Q. Do you know where Mike is now? A. Mike Harjo?

Q. Yes? A. He is in Portland.

Q. Do you know what he left here for?

A. Yes, sir, I think I do.

Q. What was it?

A. Why he went around here and tied this case up some way and then left.

Q. Was afraid he was going to get caught, wasn't he?

A. Got scared of it, I guess.

Q. Afraid he was going to get lost, didn't he, Nancy, and he sloped out of here, got out between two suns, didn't he Nancy? A. Well he left.

Q. Left without letting anybody know anything about it, didn't he, Nancy? A. Yes.

Q. He has been gone ever since, never shown his face back here, has he?

A. If he has been back, I never knew it.

Q. After you made this lease to Hammitt, who was the next person talked to you about this case? A. I don't know.

Q. Well, think, as near as you can; do you remember anybody who talked to you sometime afterwards or shortly afterwards? A. Oh, there was so many different——

Q. I know there was, but state who, if you can. Who was the next person, as far as you remember, that talked to you about the case.

A. I don't remember any outside of Harjo and Bartlett.

Q. Bartlett was the next person, wasn't he?

A. Yes, Bartlett, I think was the next man.

Q. Now, who brought Bartlett to you, Nancy, Harjo?

A. Harjo went up town there at Coffeyville and brought him to me.

Q. Yes, Harjo went up town and brought Bartlett down to you and when Harjo brought Bartlett there, what was said to you? A. Oh, he came to me before he brought Bartlett down.

Q. Yes?

A. But he knew on a Saturday he knew that Bartlett was in town.

Q. And he told you he was going to bring Bartlett to you?

A. No, no; he came down there and told me what Bartlett wanted me to say.

Q. Yes; what did he say Bartlett wanted to you [] say?

A. Said he wanted me to say that it wasn't mine.

Q. That it wasn't yours; who wasn't yours?

A. That Tommy Atkins wasn't mine. That they claimed that mine was a girl.

Q. Yes, now Harjo told you that Bartlett wanted you to say—— A. That he had a ——

Q. Wait a minute; that the Tommy Atkins that had been enrolled was not your Tommy, and that the child you had was a girl? A. That is the way they had it framed up.

Q. That is the way they had it framed up. Now, did they bring Bartlett up there?

A. Yes, he went on and brought Bartlett to the house.

Q. Now what was the first thing Bartlett said to you when he came in, Nancy?

A. Well, he asked me would I be willing to deny the child.

Q. What did you say?

A. And I asked him how deny it, and he said well I want you to say that your child was a boy, because I have got a deed from Minnie Atkins to this Tommy Atkins land, and I said well how did you get it, and he said that was alright, he had the deed, that I was just up there, and if I thought best not, I could do so, to make the thing clear and come right up and say that my child was a girl, and that this Tommy Atkins belonged to Minnie Atkins.

Q. Now what did you say to that?

A. Well I just made him mad, I said well go ahead; I didn't care nothing about it; I didn't care to be in the suit about it or anything.

Q. You say you didn't want to make him mad?

A. I didn't want to make him mad, who, Bartlett?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, I didn't care whether he got mad about it or not.

Q. You said you were willing to go along with the frame-up? A. I said that is what they had framed-up.

Q. Well, you were willing to go along with the frame-up?

A. Yes, I was willing to get out of it. Now, understand me now: I said I was willing to get out of it.

Q. Yes, you were willing to adopt that frame-up that Micco—Mike, you call him, and Bartlett passed up to you; you were willing to do it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what was you to get for that?

A. Well, you see, listen, Bartlett never offered me—he never has offered me money; I just had Micco Harjo—

Q. What Mike said?

A. Mike said Bartlett would give him five hundred dollars, and be sure and take me out of the State of Oklahoma and the State of Kansas, and clean on out.

Q. Where were they going to take you to, Nancy?

A. I didn't know; maybe take me to Portland, or maybe he would have throwed me in the river before we got there; I didn't know.

Q. Did you get suspicious of them that time?

A. I just told him I didn't care how much money they got on it, I am going back to Oklahoma; I am not going, money or no money for my part of the business.

Q. You wouldn't leave Oklahoma, but you were going to take the money? A. Why, no, I hadn't got any of the money.

Q. You going to take it?

A. Mike was to get the money, Judge, your Honor; Harjo was to get the money.

Q. What was Mike going to do with it?

A. I don't know what; take his family and go to Portland.

Q. You and Mike were going to whack-up on that money?

A. I didn't get none of it.

Q. But you had an understanding with Harjo?

A. No, your Honor; Mike was to get it. He made away with lots of my money.

Q. I know you didn't; but Mike told you that you were going to get your part of it; you didn't believe him, but he told you so?

A. He showed me a place where I was to get part of it, yes, sir.

Q. He showed you that you were to get part of it?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, then, you agreed together then that you would put up this job to frame up together a statement?

A. Didn't make no statement until Monday.

Q. Now, where did you make the statement at Monday?

A. You mean while we was putting up at Renfroe's?

The Court: What town?

A. Coffeyville.

Q. All right, who was present when the statement was made?

A. Mrs. Renfroe was in there and Harjo's wife was in there, and myself and the man that done the Notary. That lawyer McGraw and Mrs. Renfroe's daughter.

Q. Anyone else? A. Nobody but him and Harjo.

Q. And Bartlett? A. No, Bartlett wasn't there.

Q. Was Bartlett's son there? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, who asked you about what you knew about the case, the Notary? A. Yes.

Q. The Notary asked you? A. Yes.

Q. He put the questions to you, did he? A. Yes.

Q. And you answered the questions? A. Yes.

Q. And did you there state whether your child was a boy or girl? A. Yes, that is what I told him.

Q. What did you say?

A. He asked me the questions and I just told him yes.

Q. Told him what? A. Told him it was a girl.

Q. And you told him it was born dead?

A. That is what he asked me.

Q. And you told him it was true?

A. He asked me was I telling him the truth and I kind of laughed and told him yes.

Q. And you did tell the truth about it as you understood it at that time? A. No.

A. No, I wasn't telling no truth.

Q. Nancy, were you telling a lie at the time?

A. I told him a lie, it wasn't in Court, he was just a Notary.

Q. Did he swear you?

A. No, I didn't hold up my hand like I did a while ago, he just come in and asked would I acknowledge to the questions that he asked me.

Q. Now, Nancy, you didn't care much what you said there? A. No, sir, I didn't because I was coming back.

Q. It was the money you were after?

A. I wasn't sure of the money, Judge.

Q. But you were after that money, wasn't you Nancy?

A. Harjo was after it as much so as I was.

Q. Now, you made this statement there, when was that, do you remember?

A. I don't remember now, it was in July, I think.

Q. Now, when did you make your next statement?

A. That was in February.

Q. Where did you make that statement? A. Sapulpa.

Q. Did you make it in the Court House or in somebody's office? A. In the lawyers office.

Q. Who was present when you made that statement now?

A. Judge Maxey and Mr. Gresham and Mr. Lytle, I don't know.

Q. Were your lawyers there, who were your lawyers?

A. Judge Maxey.

Q. He was your lawyer at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you make a statement there just like you made in July? A. The same statement.

Q. The same statement. Why did you tell your lawyer, Mr. Maxey, that you were going to make that statement?

A. No, I had never seen him.

Q. But you did make it? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Same statement and he cross examined you there?

A. And I still stuck to it.

Q. And you wouldn't take it back? A. No.

Q. And when you got through then after Mr. Maxey had cross examined you and led you up to the case and tried to make you explain it as best you could, you still maintained that you had a girl child and it was born dead, didn't you Nancy?

A. Yes.

Q. All right, when you got through with that statement where did you go? A. Went on back down to Betty Mann's.

Q. And did you come back home?

A. No, I went from there to Wagoner.

Q. Went from there to Wagoner. Now, up to that time you hadn't seen Ellis Childers, had you, about this case?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, where were you when you first met Ellis?

A. I was in Nowata.

Q. And Ellis, after you had made these two statements, came up to the Cora Lee House? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did he know you were at Cora Lee's house?

A. He must have seen me and followed me in, I didn't know he was in town?

Q. Ellis, says to you: "Nancy, we have got to fix up that statement that you told up yonder"?

A. No, he didn't say that.

Q. What did he say?

A. He said I was wanted at Sapulpa before Judge Stanfield.

Q. What else?

A. Ellis says that is all. I says I can't go right now, I have to go to the country and get my clothes.

Q. Didn't he tell you you had to fix that up?

A. Did I testify that?

Q. Yes, you did? A. No, I don't know whether I did.

Q. Yes, you testified that, didn't you say that?

A. I don't believe I testified that.

And thereupon, a portion of the witness' testimony was read by the stenographer.

Q. Now, Ellis did tell you before you went down there that you had better go back there and fix that or you would get in trouble didn't he?

A. I will study on that before I answer. He said he wanted me in Sapulpa.

Q. If you didn't fix it, didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. He told you you were going to be in some trouble?

A. Bartlett's side is the one that brought up about being in trouble.

Q. Didn't Ellis tell you you were going to get in trouble?

A. As I said, Ellis told me that that is my mistake.

Q. Didn't Ellis tell you you had better come down there and fix that up? A. He told me I was wanted in Sapulpa.

Q. For what?

A. And I said what about, that same old case? And he said yes.

Q. And didn't he say you have to fix that up or you will get into trouble? A. I don't remember.

Q. Nancy, when you got down to Sapulpa who put you on that stand in that Court, what lawyer?

A. I don't know what lawyer put me on the stand.

Q. Was it McGraw or Lytle? A. I don't know which one.

Q. Was it Lytle?

A. I come in the Court House and sat down back there and the Judge had me brought up to the witness.

Q. Was it Lytle?

A. I say I don't know which one of the lawyers had me put on.

Q. Who was it asked you this question, Nancy: "What kind of a child was it? The Court: Boy or girl? A. Supposed to be a boy I guess." Do you know who asked that?

A. Judge Stanfield.

Q. Who asked you the first question?

A. I believe it was lawyer Lytle.

Q. "How long did the child live? A. Lived to be ten years old." Then, didn't Mr. Lytle get up and say to the Court: "We desire at this time to state that we are entirely taken by surprise as the Court may see, and ask leave to cross examine"? Didn't Mr. Lytle say that?

A. I remember him walking up and down in front of me, said taken by surprise.

Q. Didn't he ask you this question, Nancy: "Did you appear in the office of MacDougal & Lytle on the 9th of February, 1914, to testify as a witness? A. I sure did." That is your answer? A. I don't know the date of the month.

Q. You answered "I sure did" didn't you; you said that? A. Yes.

Q. Now, I will ask you if you did not there testify that you gave birth to a girl child?

A. Yes, I did because we had a right to give testimony in that way at that time.

Q. You said that? A. Yes.

Q. Now, what did you say that for?

A. Well, I had a right to, I told you Harjo had framed up they were going to get the money.

Q. And you had a right to stand in in the frame up?

A. I didn't get any of the money, I guess he got it, I didn't.

Q. Now, Nancy, why didn't you tell that man before he put you on the stand that you were going to change your testimony? A. What man?

Q. Mr. Lytle?

A. Why, because they had got up and represented to the Court that I was not in the State of Oklahoma; I was out of the State of Oklahoma and couldn't be presented there before the Court, and Judge Stanfield called for Nancy Atkins and they presented me.

Q. And Ellis had carried you there?

A. No, sir, he didn't carry me there.

Q. He went with you there? A. From where?

Q. Down here? A. Muskogee?

Q. No, Nowata? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Now, when you got there did you tell your lawyers that you were going to change your testimony Nancy?

A. I never said a word to them until I got in the Court house.

Q. You never talked to your lawyers?

A. I never had any lawyers.

Q. So you took your lawyers just as much by surprise as you did the other lawyers? A. I suppose I did.

Q. And when you got up there and swore before Judge Stanfield that you supposed you had a boy, did you have any doubt about it?

A. I think that is wrong about that supposed, maybe I said it though.

Q. Well, if you did say it, why did you say it?

A. The reason I said it, they wanted this boy, this Tommy Atkins, they wanted him for Minnie; and I said before I will be tied in Court let it be Minnie's; but I know she didn't have no child by the name of Tommy Atkins.

Q. But you were willing for Minnie to have a child by the name of Tommy if you could get your money wasn't you?

A. Of course she could have had it.

Q. If you got your money?

A. I didn't frame up for no money. My guardian did the framing.

Q. And you followed the advice of your guardian, didn't you; you followed his advice; now, Nancy, let's get back to that child just for a moment. When you went to Wagoner you were pregnant, were you? A. Yes.

Q. You was heavy with child, wasn't you when you went to Wagoner? A. Why sure.

Q. You were with child. And when you got to Wagoner you had to beat about to have some place to have that child?

A. No, I didn't beat about, I worked right there.

Q. I understand, but you had made up your mind that you had to have your child. I meant that you were thinking about a place where you would have your child?

A. Oh, sure, I knowed I had to prepare for that.

Q. You knew Lenora Williams? A. Elnora Williams.

Q. You knew her, didn't you?

A. Yes, I was well acquainted with her.

Q. And you knew old Jim that ran the restaurant?

A. Little Jim?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, I knew him.

Q. Now, you knew Angeline Moody?

A. I knowed everybody in Wagoner.

Q. You knew every colored person in Wagoner?

A. Right now?

Q. You knew every colored person in Wagoner at that time, didn't you, Nancy? A. Yes, and white folks too.

Q. Yes, but you knew every colored person, didn't you, Nancy, at that time you knew every colored family in that town, didn't you?

The Court: Answer Nancy?

A. Yes, I will admit I knew them all.

Q. And you stayed and lived with the colored people?

A. No, sir, I stayed and lived where I worked at.

Q. Didn't you stay in the colored part of town nearly all the time?

A. No, only when I was off from my work. I just tell the natural facts about it, I just lived there at the restaurant because that was where the crowd was all the time.

Q. You naturally lived there at the restaurant with the colored people?

A. Of course it was colored, I didn't live there.

Q. I thought you said you naturally lived there?

A. Well, I was there whenever I got ready to go up there.

Q. When you came to have this child you went to Elnora Williams house to have it? A. I spoke for the room.

Q. You spoke for the room in her house and Elnora took you in didn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she was good to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She was kind to you and she tended to you when you had that sickness, didn't she? A. No, she didn't.

Q. But she was there? A. Oh, yes.

Q. She brought your meals to you?

A. Yes, sir, and saw that my washing was done.

Q. And took care of you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This same Elnora Williams. Now, who came to see you while you was confined there, what colored people, name them? A. I don't know anybody but Aunt Mandy.

Q. Did Eliza Sterling come?

A. No, Eliza never come to see me during my confinement.

Q. She wasn't there at all?

A. She just didn't, she might have been down stairs.

Q. Who was the mid-wife? A. Aunt Mandy.

Q. Whose child was Eliza Sterling?

A. Aunt Mandy's daughter.

Q. She was Aunt Mandy's child, wasn't she; Aunt Mandy was there wasn't she? A. Sure, was there.

Q. Was Angeline Moody? A. I don't remember.

Q. Was Henry Kidd? A. Oh, no, no man.

Q. Did Mitchell Wadsworth come to see you? A. No.

The Court: Dora Smith and Betsy Overton?

Q. Did they come to see you?

A. They sat in here and testified that they did; they was in the town, but that was two colored women that I hardly ever went around.

Q. Did they come to see you? A. No, sir.

Q. I want you to tell me exactly the women whom you remember of visiting you during your sickness, the colored women, tell me who they were?

A. I know Miss Williams was there all the time and Aunt Mandy would go home and come back.

Q. Didn't any of those Childers people come there to see you? A. Ellis come to see me.

Q. Did Ellis come to see you? A. Yes.

Q. Are you sure of that, I thought you said there wasn't any men came there? A. I thought you said colored.

Q. Where did Ellis come to see you, in the room?

A. Yes

Q. Did he sit down by your bedside? A. No, sir.

Q. Did he talk to you? A. Yes.

Q. Did he ask you about the baby? A. Yes.

Q. Did you show him your baby?

A. No, I didn't show him no baby.

Q. How old was your baby at the time, if you can remember? A. Going on three weeks old.

Q. Was your baby lying down there by you?

A. Yes, it was there in the bed.

Q. There in the bed. Nancy are you sure of that?

The Court: Nancy, look at me now.

A. Yes.

Q. Are you sure that baby was lying there in that bed when Ellis Childers came in there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you show him the baby? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you show the baby to Angeline Moody?

A. Aunt Angeline never saw it.

Q. Did you show the baby—— A. Aunt Mandy seen it.

Q. She is dead? A. Yes, she can't speak for herself.

Q. Where is Mrs. Williams?

A. She is in Portland, Oregon.

Q. She is not here to speak for herself?

A. Yes, but I guess she could be here.

Q. Now, listen, don't you know that that little child was born dead and it was taken out there and buried?

A. Oh, no. I aint going to testify to no—I aint going to brace those niggers lies up that way.

Q. You think all those niggers have lied?

A. They have absolutely lied on me because they swore my liberty away from me twice right there in Wagoner. That is the reason I say I will not brace their lies up.

Q. What niggers? A. Henry Anderson and all of them.

Q. Did Angeline Moody swear your liberty away?

A. I don't know whether she was on the case.

Q. Did Elnora Williams? A. No, she was for me.

Q. Did any other person besides Henry Anderson and some other niggers swear your liberty away?

A. All the niggers swore against me.

Q. Have you any reason to think why they should come here and swear a lie against you?

A. Well, I guess they have been offered money to swear a lie.

Q. You think they have been offered money by the Government? A. I honestly and truly believe it.

Q. And that they had lied on you for that purpose; that is the way you feel about it?

A. That is just exactly the way I feel about this case.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. Nancy, you spoke of your Uncle William Robinson filing for you. A. Enrolled us.

Q. Enrolled you? A. He came up there.

Q. Now, why was it that he was to look after enrolling you, getting you on the roll?

A. Well, the enrollment that I am speaking of was held at Coweta.

Q. Do you know whether he enrolled you or not?

A. Yes, sir, he did.

Q. Now, how did you find out—did you go to Coweta?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How come you to go there?

A. Well I thought maybe Uncle, he might leave me off, and I knowed I was entitled to my rights, and I just went over there. I believe it was on a Saturday.

Q. Now at the time you asked him to enroll you, who did you ask him to enroll?

A. Why he asked me, he came to me where I was working at the Barnard Hotel, and if I can remember, as near as I can get to this, I think Mrs. Haley was proprietor then, I was working for her, if I am not mistaken, and Uncle and his oldest son came up there, Ed; Ed Robinson, and I am his first cousin; so Uncle came to where I was and was talking there with me, and I said to Uncle—he said Nancy I came up here to see you on some business; I want to know, do you want me to look after your business about enrolling you, being enrolled, or do you want to attend to it yourself; and I said, well I don't understand it, Uncle, I would rather for you to attend to it for me, and he said well, alright, all you got to do is tell me, and I said well, here is me; and he said is that all; and I hesitated a while and he said to me, pretty soon, where is that boy you had down there with you to Aunt's, and I laughed, and I said well he is around here somewhere. He said didn't you tell us that was Minnie's boy, and I said yes, but I was just joking with you, that is mine; that is what I told him.

Q. Then what did he say about enrolling you?

A. Well, he said I will get you all on the roll; he said you all. Now, whether Uncle enrolled him, I know he must have enrolled me.

Q. Now about the allotment; was he to select your allotments for you, too? A. Well he was supposed to look after it.

Q. Did you tell him where you wanted your allotment?

A. I told him what I wanted to file was between Ellen Springs—between Choteau and Wagoner, when I filed, if it was not filed, that was the piece of land I wanted.

Q. Did you get that piece?

A. No, Josephine Barber filed it.

Q. Well, where did you get your allotment?

A. I got my allotment over close to Coweta.

Q. Do you know what time you got your allotment?

A. I filed mine in 1901, June 6th.

Q. 1901? A. Yes, sir, I think the records shows it.

Q. Was your boy dead at that time or alive?

A. When I filed?

Q. Yes?

A. Yes, he died in nineteen—in the spring of 1900.

Q. He was dead, then, when you selected your allotment?

A. When I selected my allotment.

Q. Well, did you understand then whether you could select for him, or whether his being dead he didn't get any allotment; did you understand about that? A. No, sir.

Q. You spoke of selling your homestead and the money being in the court here, in the Agency?

A. Yes, sir, sold it through the court.

Q. Sold it through the Agency.

A. Yes, my land was restricted.

Q. Well, you had to have a guardian appointed, you say, before you could get the money?

A. Yes, that is how come Harjo was appointed.

Q. Well, now, did you ever get any of that money that Harjo got? A. Off my land?

Q. Yes? A. $75.00 of it.

Q. How much did he get?

A. Well, what was sent from Muskogee was up there to that bank, was $333, I think and 20c.

Q. And how much of it did you get?

A. I only got $75 of it.

Q. What became of the other?

A. He used it on his family, dressed them and himself with it.

Q. That is what he left here for, wasn't it?

A. Yes, sir; I guess that is what he left for; he has done so many crooked things.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Nancy, you say your brother named your boy Lee?

A. I said if I had knew there was so many Tommy Atkins, I wouldn't named mine that.

Q. But you didn't name him Lee because——

A. Her oldest boy was named Lee, Charley Lee.

Q. So you didn't name him Lee?

A. No, I didn't name him.

Q. When was your boy born?

A. I just stated, didn't you hear me, that I didn't know the year.

Q. Born when you first went to Wagoner?

A. No, not when I first went; born in the fall.

Q. You were carrying him when you left?

A. Yes, exactly what I stated; that is what I left home for, you understand me?

Q. When did you name him?

A. When I got ready; two or three weeks old.

Q. Named him when he was two or three weeks old?

A. Yes.

Q. How did you know Minnie had a boy named Lee?

A. How did I know it? Minnie was supposed to be my sister and she corresponded with me, wrote to me when she was in Fort Logan and in Denver, both.

Q. Charley was the boy named Lee?

A. Middle name was Lee.

Q. But he wasn't born then? A. When would she tell me.

Q. So she wrote you that she had a boy?

A. Yes, sir; she told me so.

Q. A long time before your boy was born, wasn't it?

A. Long time before I ever thought of a child, I guess; I was just a girl, going to school.

Q. Several years. Nancy, what was that boy that used to be up there with Della Snow?

A. Della Snow's little old boy?

Q. Yes?

A. Some Muskogee woman had died and give her the boy, and she was raising it.

Q. Did you have Harvey up there?

A. Well, I done stated that; Kate sent the children over there to me.

Q. And you had Harvey there for a while, didn't you?

A. I aint never had Harvey until Kate sent them over there, and that is when Charley Bailey and Mitchell took them.

Q. You don't understand me: When you had Harvey over there at Wagoner, he stayed at Della Snow's?

A. Oh, no; Harvey never did stay at Della Snow's.

Q. Where did they stay; at the hotel?

A. I never had them at all.

The Court: Where did you have them when they did come?

A. I worked at the hotel and I kept them in town a while, and then——

The Court: Where in town?

A. Lizzie Woodward's.

Q. Did you ever have either one at the hotel?

A. Well they could come there when they wanted to.

Q. When you were laundress at the McAnally hotel, did you ever have either one of them there?

A. I don't think that I laundered for McAnally; I think I dish-washed.

Q. Did you ever live in a little room back of McAnally's hotel? A. Never did in my life.

Q. When did you live out there?

A. I never lived in no little room there; J. R. Brown had a little wash room back there, but to live in the little house, I never done it.

Q. Well did you live at the McAnally hotel? A. No.

Q. You didn't stay there? A. No.

Q. Did you stay at the Brown Hotel? A. No.

Q. Did you stay at the Barnard Hotel?

A. I had a room; there was a room joined on the laundry part of the Barnard.

Q. And you lived there?

A. I didn't live there; I stayed there.

Q. Well, did you stay there; how long?

A. Long as I worked.

Q. Harvey was with you at that time?

A. I hadn't had Harvey during that time.

Q. How long did you have them there at Wagoner?

A. I don't know how long I had the children.

Q. A week? A. I don't know.

Q. Tell me, Nancy, as near as you can; week or a year?

A. I told a straight tale about Minnie Atkins' children; I don't know.

Q. You haven't told me how long you had them.

A. I don't know how long I had them there.

Q. You know whether it was a week or a year.

A. Well, if I said a hundred years, you wouldn't believe me.

The Court.

Q. Nancy, you tell it for my benefit and not his.

A. Well, Judge, you ask it.

Q. Well, Nancy, tell me this: How long, as near as you remember, did Minnie's boys stay there with you?

A. Well, I expect I had them about two months, as near as I can get at it.

Mr. Hanford.

Q. Well, Charley Bailey took Charley away first, didn't he, that is Lee?

A. Well, none of them wanted him until they found out he could get an allotment, and they all wanted him, that is how come them to take him.

The Court.

Q. Well, now, Nancy, who took this boy away; that is the question. Did Charley Bailey take him?

Q. No, Mitch, he came and got him, after he got out of jail.

Q. Well, did Mitch take him? A. Yes, Mitch took him.

Mr. Hanford.

Q. And Charley Bailey got him afterward?

A. Well, he let him take him I reckon.

Q. Didn't you have Charley a little longer than you had Harvey?

A. I testified about the children, that they were brought to me together.

Q. Were they taken away together?

A. No, I let Jim Childers have Harvey, and I had Charley yet out in the country, but I was speaking of Charley Bailey taking him, to raise him, because I couldn't raise him.

Q. Nancy, did you ever live in a tent back of Davis and Jones store?

A. No, that was Molly Vann; that is Eliza Sterling, you call her, her sistar.

Q. You never lived in a tent?

A. No, sir, I haven't lived in no tent.

Q. And your baby was not born in a tent?

A. I done testified to my baby all I know.

Q. Born in Williams' house?

A. That is all I know about it.

Q. Now, no man came to see you at all?

A. I testified all I know.

Q. Know Bob Delozer? A. Yes, I know Bob.

Q. He is a colored fellow? A. I guess so.

Q. Great, big colored fellow; he came to see you?

A. No, Bob, didn't come to see me.

Q. Didn't he bring you your meals? A. No.

Q. Who did? A. Elnora Williams.

Q. Elnora Williams brought you your meals. Did you ever live at Betsy Birney's?

A. Never lived there; I was there.

Q. There a good deal?

A. Yes, out, backwards and forwards.

Q. Nancy, where were you living the first time that you went to the penitentiary; you only went to the penitentiary once; or twice?

A. Well, as I stated about this living business, if I could get straight on that; get off that: I wasn't really living with anybody; I was working all the time. Betsy Birney kept my child. I stated to the Court here. I told all I know about it, unless you are compelled to get a lie.

Q. But they took you into Betsy Birney's house the day the baby was born? A. Oh, no.

Q. Didn't they have a big lot of colored people up there shooting craps? A. I don't know a thing about it.

Q. Where did they take you?

A. Right there in Williams' house, and I was there right where I was until I got well.

The Court.

Q. Let me see if I understand you, Nancy: When I am asking you these questions, I just want the truth; I am not trying to worry you at all. I understand, then, that you had your baby at this Mrs. Williams' house, in one of those rooms.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that you stayed there with your baby until you got well and got up.

A. Yes, sir, got able to go to work again.

Q. Well, tell the court about how long that was.

A. Well, I was in bed, well I was down you might as well say three weeks before I got up; about a month before I got to stirring around.

Q. And during all that time you were at Mrs. Williams' house? A. Yes, sir, right where I was confined at.

Mr. Hanford.

Q. Now Nancy, do you remember the next time you were in Sapulpa?

The Court: Let me ask you: Will anything be accomplished by bringing out all this?

Mr. Hanford: Just for a special purpose here, your Honor.

Q. Do you remember the next time you were down at Sapulpa in court when Minnie was there? Don't you remember when Minnie came up and said "Hello Nancy," and you said I don't know you?

A. I guess I ought to remember; I was there, wasn't I?

Q. Yes, you were there.

A. Well, why did you ask me whether I was there.

Q. What did you tell her you didn't know her for?

A. Well, I didn't know Minnie; I hadn't seen Minnie until seven years, until I seen her, at my brother's burial, and she went and I never seen her any more until Charley Page got her out at Seattle; I had a right to say I didn't know her, and of course if that is my sister, I am glad to see it, proud of it.

Q. Didn't you see her at Wagoner?

A. She wasn't at Wagoner. She was at my brother's funeral, where he was killed, right where he was buried, and is there today.

Q. That the last time you saw her?

A. I told the facts about it; I told.

Q. Remember when your father died, Nancy?

A. No, he might died before I was born; I don't know.

Q. You were a little kid, weren't you?

A. I done told you all I knowed about it.

The Court.

Q. Well, Nancy——

A. Well, Judge, your Honor, I told all I know.

Q. I understand; then you don't remember your father's death?

A. No, I was small; I was the youngest one of the children.

Mr. Hanford.

Q. Don't you remember when Lee and Minnie took you by the hand and you ran down to see your father before he died, and they pulled you along in your bare feet, don't you remember that? You can't recall that, Nancy? Ran across the prairie. Where was that, down to Ell Creek?

A. You aint going to get me to lie, because I done told all I know.

Q. You don't remember that? A. I was the youngest one.

Q. Yes, you were the youngest of the three; but you did correspond with Minnie, didn't you, afterwards?

A. I done testified to that, but I was with my aunt.

Q. You remember when she was at school away up there in Carlysle, don't you? You remember that?

The Court.

Q. Do you remember of Minnie being at Carylsle, Nancy?

A. Yes, I remember when they sent them off.

Q. You were a little girl? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Hanford.

Q. Did you hear from her then, while she was at school?

A. Yes, I corresponded with her.

Q. She wrote to you. Then do you remember where she went after she got out of school? A. No.

Q. You don't remember? A. No.

The Court: Do you remember about her being in Leavenworth, Nancy?

A. I think the first I heard of her after she came back from school I think though it was Leavenworth.

Q. That is where she came to after she got out of school?

Mr. Cruce: She testified that she heard from her sister at Fort Logan and from other places.

The Court: Yes, she testified to that.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Nancy you say that your child was dead before you filed and that is the reason you didn't file for him?

A. I suppose that is the reason; I filed for myself in 1901.

Q. You didn't know that you could file for a dead person?

A. No, sir.

Q. You thought they wouldn't be entitled to an allotment?

A. Well when I filed for myself down at the Dawes Commission I asked about brother's, and he said he was dead too long; claimed he died before the enrollment.

Examination by the Court.

Q. That was about what brother? A. Brother Lee.

Q. You asked about brother Lee did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they said he died before enrollment?

A. Been dead too long.

Q. Your boy died after enrollment didn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you knew he had died after enrollment?

A. But brother died before enrollment.

Q. You asked about brother and they told you he died before enrollment and couldn't be enrolled? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you say anything to them about your boy?

A. No, Uncle John was in there and I called on Uncle John to see if he could find out whether I could file for brother or not and he was mad at me and wouldn't say anything in my favor at all.

And thereupon court recessed until nine-thirty A. M. tomorrow morning.

And thereafter, and on May 17, 1917, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., court convened pursuant to adjournment, and further proceedings herein were had as follows:

Mrs. BLANCHE YARBORO, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendants Nancy Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name. A. Mrs. Blanch Yarboro.

Q. Where do you live, Mrs. Yarboro? A. Nowata.

Q. How long have you lived at Nowata?

A. 10 years the 15th of this month.

Q. Do you know Nancy Atkins? A. Yes, I know Nancy.

Q. Do you remember of someone coming to Nowata after Nancy Atkins a year or two ago?

A. Yes, I remember someone coming; not that I know of coming, but after her.

Q. Well, who was it, who came there?

A. Sadie James, that is who she told me she was.

Q. A colored woman, was she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she at your house while she was there? A. Yes.

Q. Did she talk to you about what she was there for?

A. Yes, she was there to ee the guardian for Nancy Atkins; she said there was money to be paid to her and wanted the guardian for her.

Q. Did you see Nancy at that time?

A. Why, that day I saw her. While Sadie was there, Nancy came in.

Q. Now, while Sadie was there, did she have a conversation with anyone else?

A. No, for there was no one else there in the house but myself.

Q. Did she do any telephoning? A. Yes she telephoned.

Q. Do you know who she telephoned to?

A. She telephoned to Charles Page's office in Tulsa.

Q. Did you hear the conversation between her and Page, or hear her end of the conversation?

A. I hear- her end of the conversation.

Q. What were they talking about?

A. Well, I don't just know what they were talking about, only she said for Charles Page to meet her that night; that she would come down on the six o'clock train and I suppose he said he said he would meet her for she said alright.

Q. Did she said anything in that conversation about Nancy? A. She said the party.

Q. The party? A. Would be ready to go.

Q. Where did Nancy go? A. Go with her?

Q. Yes.

A. Nancy didn't go any place with her that I know of but I hear afterwards that Nancy was——

The Court: Don't state what you heard.

Q. Did she go anywhere that day? A. Sadie James?

A. No, Nancy. A. Yes, she went around.

Q. Well, did she leave town?

A. No, she didn't leave town.

Q. Why didn't she leave town?

A. Because I put her away so that no one could take her away.

Q. Well, then, what did you do after you got her to your house and put her away? A. Well, she told me——

Mr. Cruce: We object to that.

The Court: Sustained.

Q. Well, did you telephone to Mr. White is what I want to know?

A. I telephoned to Mr. White; I asked Nancy who was her protection and she said Mr. White at Coweta and I stepped to the 'phone and in only a few minutes I had him on the 'phone.

Q. Did he come to Nowata that night?

A. He came to Nowata that night.

Q. And took her away? A. In the morning.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You say that she put in a telephone call for Charlie Page at Tulsa? A. Yes.

Q. Have you any way of fixing the time when that conversation occurred? A. Why, by the telephone bill.

Q. Have you it with you? A. Yes.

Q. Let me see it, please.

Mr. Allen: Please mark that Government's Exhibit No. A-107.

Q. I hand you Government's Exhibit Number A-107 and ask you if that is the telephone charge for that call that you referred to in your testimony? A. How is that?

Q. Is that the bill for that conversation?

A. Yes, that is the bill; that is the date. When I got the bill I——

Q. Was that bill rendered to you by the telephone company? A. Yes.

Q. And you paid for it? A. I paid for it.

Q. What is the date, now, refreshing your memory from that telephone bill that Sadie James had that conversation with Charles Page?

A. Just this date of the 'phone bill——

Q. Is that September 25th, 1914?

A. I can't see without my glasses.

Q. Do you have any independent recollection of the date of this call? A. Oh, yes, I know it was a nice, bright, sunshiny day.

Q. I know, but what day of the month?

A. Well, now I wouldn't say, only just the 'phone bill, there wasn't any other thing that was——

Q. Was there any other call for—was Charles Page called at any other time from your 'phone? A. Never was.

Q. What month and what year was this?

A. Why, it was in '14—1914, and I know it was in September but for the date, I don't know.

Q. This call seems to have been put in by Whitaker?

A. Yes. And I asked her why she done that and she said she didn't want anybody——

Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, we object to the hearsay statement as to what somebody else said.

The Court: Sustained.

Q. Do you know Sadie James?

A. I know her when I see her.

Q. Did she put in that call under the name of Whitaker?

A. Yes.

Q. You heard her do that? A. I heard her.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Who put Nancy Atkins in your charge?

A. No one put her in my charge.

Q. How did you come to put her in your house and lock her up?

A. She told me she thought there was someone going to do violence to her.

Q. You hadn't seen Mr. White?

A. I never knew who Mr. White was until I asked her who would protect her.

Q. She came to you and asked you to lock her up?

A. No, she came to me and told me somebody was going to do violence to her, going to get away with her, that is what she told me.

Q. And asked you to lock her up?

A. No, sir, and I asked Nancy who would protect her.

Q. It is a mistake about you locking her up, you didn't lock her up? A. I just put her in the bedroom.

Q. You didn't lock her up?

A. No, I didn't lock her up.

Q. The first thing Nancy said was to call Mr. White, he is my protector?

A. She just said Mr. White would protect her.

Q. And you called up Mr. White and Mr. White come and got her. A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Stuart: That is all.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, J. B. WHITE was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. State your name? A. J. B. White.

Q. Residence? A. Coweta, Oklahoma.

Q. Your age? A. Fifty-six.

Q. How long have you lived at Coweta? A. Since 1901.

Q. What business are you engaged in?

A. I am deputy clerk of the County Court there at the present.

Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner?

A. Yes, sir, I lived in Wagoner for ten years; I lived in Wagoner ten years.

Q. What years?

A. I moved there in the spring of 1895.

Q. And lived there ten years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you live there?

A. Ten or eleven years, I left there in 1890 or 1891—1901.

Q. That wouldn't be ten years, Mr. White, if you have your years right?

A. I moved there in the spring of 1895, it was later than 1901 that I went over there; I went over there in connection with the Western Investment when it was first opened up.

Q. Well, about what time was that?

A. I declare I don't remember. Probably Mr. Allen could tell you. I declare I don't remember it.

Mr. Hill: Do you remember the date Mr. Allen?

Mr. Allen: About the spring of 1902.

Q. Were you there before 1902?

A. I don't think that I moved there before 1902, while I was there most every week or two during the five years that I was collecting for Mr. Davis, that was one of the places I held out at.

Q. When you lived at Wagoner what did you do?

A. I was collecting for Mr. Davis of the firm of Davis and Jones.

Q. From 1895 until you left there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You moved there I believe you said in 1895?

A. 1895 in the spring.

Q. Did you get acquainted with Nancy Atkins there?

A. I did.

Q. Knew her pretty well?

A. Yes, sir, I knew her before I moved there; I traded there a couple of years before I moved there.

Q. You see her frequently?

A. I saw her very frequently after 1895.

Q. Where was she living?

A. Why, she seemed to be living promiscuous over the town, stayed a good deal of time at old Aunt Betty Birney's.

Q. You know the Birneys? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know the Birney children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see a little boy around there in 1895?

A. I don't remember of seeing the boy until after I commenced working for Davis in 1896.

Q. Don't recall seeing him until about 1896?

A. No, sir.

Q. Who did you see him with?

A. I saw him with Nancy and saw him playing around the streets there, he and two of the Birneys boys very often got in my buggy.

Q. Did you learn who it was?

A. Nancy told me it was her boy. I was kind of scolding the boy for getting in my buggy and Nancy told Tommy to get out of there and go away. I asked her whose boy it was and she said that was hers.

Q. What kind of a looking boy was it?

A. Oh, a boy something like five or six years old, dirty, ragged boy.

Q. What blood did he show?

A. Well, he was generally so dirty it was hard to tell, but he looked to have Indian blood in him and white blood also.

Q. Do you recall the color of his hair?

A. His hair was light but as he got older it got darker.

Q. How long did you see that boy there?

A. I saw the boy up until 1900.

Q. How long did you see Nancy around?

A. I saw Nancy ever since 1892 or three—1893.

Q. When was the last time you saw her around Wagoner, in and around Wagoner?

A. I really don't remember; I knew I missed her along in 1898 or 1899 somewhere along there.

Q. Did you know about Betty Birney moving out in the country? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About when was that, do you know?

A. No, sir, I can't tell just when it was, I could relate a circumstance.

Q. Did she stay out in the country?

A. She moved out in the country in the spring, on the Verdigris; it was a very wet spring and she moved out of there to Coweta and stayed there until along towards fall and moved back to Wagoner.

Q. Was gone from the spring to the fall, is that right?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it longer than that?

A. No, I don't think it was.

Q. You moved to Coweta about 1900 or later?

A. Yes, sir, it was a little later.

Q. Did you see Nancy any more?

A. I don't remember seeing Nancy any more after I moved to Wagoner—from Wagoner, I don't remember of seeing her for a year or so, maybe longer.

Q. When was the first you heard anything about this Tommy Atkins matter?

A. I reckon it was in '13, I won't be positive about dates.

Q. 1913? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, fix it this way, was it before or after the oil development began out in the section where the Tommy Atkins allotment is?

A. When I commenced looking after Tommy Atkins why the oil—it was getting up towards the place I suppose when they first started, it was eight or ten miles from there, and they kept drilling north, and every time I would get away from home some one was asking me on account I had lived here so many years, if I knew who Tommy Atkins was.

Q. As near as you can remember the oil development was eight or ten miles south of where this allotment is?

A. When I first interested myself in it.

Q. When you first had these inquiries made of you about Tommy Atkins, how far was the oil development away from what you have since learned—where his allotment was?

A. Well, it must have been three or four miles. This well was not drilled on the place when I commenced looking after it but again I got the lease——

Q. I am not talking about when you got the lease; we will get to that later. The question is when you first got inquiries before you became interested in the matter, how far was the oil development then from this allotment?

A. It must have been five, six or seven miles.

Q. Do you recall who made inquiry of you if you know anything about Tommy Atkins about that time?

A. Well, yes, some of them.

Q. Well, mention any that you recall.

A. Mr. George McElroy, of Jennings.

Q. Was he in the oil business? A. Somewhat, yes, sir.

Q. Who else? [A.] And there was a party asked—Mr. P. R. Brown, president of the First National Bank of Beggs; there one day we were at the courthouse at Okmulgee, this gentleman stepped up and asked Mr. Brown in my presence, who I didn't know who he was.

Q. Well, anybody else? A. I don't recollect?

Q. Bartlett ever make any——

A. Bartlett, Bartlett at Tulsa one day asked me and some men in my presence—a bunch of us together, three or four of us standing there; he was trying to find out if we knew Tommy Atkins or his heir.

Q. Well, do you recall anybody else who that you had an inquiry from?

A. I don't believe that I recall anybody else.

Q. You do think that you had more inquiries than you have mentioned? A. How is that?

Q. Did you have more inquiries than these you have mentioned? A. Yes, sir; yes, sir.

Q. But you didn't recollect them?

A. No, sir, I don't recollect them; it was a common occurrence.

Q. After having these inquiries made of you, what if anything did you do?

A. I went to looking after it for myself.

Q. Well, what was the first thing you did?

A. Well, I had written a letter to Mr. Jones at Wagoner who used to stay in the store when I worked with them so long; I didn't get a reply from them right away and I got on the train and went to Tulsa and went to see Mr. Bailey who used to work in the Jones and Davis Mercantile Store.

Q. Mr. Bailey who testified here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was your object in visiting Mr. Bailey?

A. To see if I was right about the Tommy Atkins.

Q. Did you ever make any inquiry of Mr. Bailey as to what became of him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the next thing that you did?

A. He told me that he died.

Q. Never mind I would like to have the conversation but I don't think the Court will permit it.

The Court: No.

Q. You made inquiries of Mr. Bailey? A. I did.

Q. What else did you do?

A. I went straight and got Nancy located; I didn't know where she was but he told me where she was, and I went straight to Nowata and found her guardian.

Q. Who was he? A. Harjo.

Q. Micco Harjo? A. Micco T. Harjo, I believe it was.

Q. How long had he been guardian at that time if you know? A. Something like two years.

Q. Well, what did you see Mr. Harjo about?

A. I asked him—went and told him what I knew or understood about it and asked him for the lease. He told me that he would give me a lease on it but he said I have already signed up a lease, a Departmental lease, and he says I have understood that it was commercial and not Departmental, and he said as soon as that lease returns, I will give you a lease on it.

Q. Who was that lease to?

A. I declare I don't know who he said it was to.

The Court: Is that the Hammett lease?

Mr. Hill: Hammett lease, I suppose.

Q. Was that the Hammett lease?

A. No, sir, this here Hammett lease was on a commercial lease form from Nancy herself.

Mr. Hill: Mr. German, have you any recollection of the name, that is all I want at this time.

Mr. German: Here are all of them, Judge.

Q. Would you know the name if you would see it, Mr. White?

A. No, I wouldn't; I don't remember. I never did see the lease.

Mr. Hill: I will not take the time to look up it.

Q. It is what you call a departmental lease? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he couldn't act until it was determined whether that would be approved or not, is that the idea?

Q. He said that lease, he had heard it was not a departmental lease and it would be sent back. When it was sent back to the District Agent at Nowata, Harjo notified me and I went to Nowata and he said he would give me a lease provided the County Court would approve it; and we went up, then, to his lawyer, and then before the County Court and had the lease approved, or it was ten days from that date set for sale and the lease was sold and I bought it and the County Court approved my lease on it.

Q. Before you did this, did you see Nancy and have any talk with her?

A. Oh, yes, I saw Nancy all the time I was there?

Q. The first time you were to see her guardian?

A. Yes, sir. And the rest of the time; I was there three times, I think, when I had my lease approved.

Q. Did you talk over the fact with Nancy when you saw her?

A. Yes, sir; talked with her in the presence of her guardian.

Q. Fully? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Hill: I would be glad to introduce that conversation, Your Honor.

The Court: As to what Nancy said at that time?

Mr. Hill: Yes, sir.

The Court: I think not because then the controversy had arisen.

Mr. Hill: If the controversy had arisen, why I think clearly it would not be admissible; but this was before it had arisen, I believe.

The Court: No, I don't think that would be admissile because there were inquiries about Nancy, or rather about Tommy, and it had become known that this land would likely be valuable oil land and it is a very serious question whether this was free from any taint of the controversy, that it would be admissible. You have had Nancy here on the stand.

Mr. Hill: Yes, sir, I appreciate Your Honor's ruling entirely and I think it is absolutely sound, that statements prior to the controversy are admissible, and after the controversy had arisen are not, but it seems to me that this was the beginning of the matter.

The Court: Yes, but of course—I will not interpose the objection myself.

Mr. German: Well, we are objecting, now ourselves, Your Honor.

The Court: Well, we [ ] not take it.

Mr. Hill: I know what Your Honor's ruling is and I will not transgress it. Alright, sir; I understand that there is no objection and that the Court rules—that Mr. White stated he had a full discussion with Nancy before he took this lease?

The Court: He stated—that is in the record, yes.

Q. I don't know whether I asked you—was that before you took this lease that you had the discussion with Nancy?

A. It was the first trip up there to see the guardian and her in regard to it.

Q. You saw then together?

A. Well, I didn't see them together but Ridgeway had taken me down to the house to talk to Nancy.

Q. Ridgeway was her guardian then?

A. Not Ridgeway, I mean Harjo.

Q. Harjo? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you take any parties in the lease with you?

A. I did.

Q. Who were they?

A. Myself, a man name of Fowler, Dr. Carter and Bert Selzer.

Q. Carter and Selzer and who was the other one?

A. Fowler.

Q. Fowler was a relative of yours?

A. Yes, sir, by marriage.

Q. And later did you sell out your interest and re-arrange the lease interest in it?

A. Well, I will have to explain that a little if the Court will allow me.

Q. I don't care about the details, Mr. White; these original parties went out and Mr. Ferguson became interested?

A. Why, we traded the lease and——

Mr. Allen: We object to the details.

The Court: Let's not go into the details. You suggested to him that the original parties went out and Mr. Ferguson came in?

Mr. Hill: Yes, sir, and he is in.

The Court: That shows.

A. Well, it was really a man name of Rutherford that we traded——

Q. And Mr. Rutherford is a relative of Mr. Ferguson?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: So, the present interest is Mr. Ferguson and Mr. White?

Mr. Hill: And Mr. White, and Mr. Rutherford.

The Court: And Mr. White and Rutherford.

Q. Now, Mr. White, going back to the lease. After you obtained the lease, what was the first step you took in the matter?

A. We filed suit against the—Bartlett and The Gypsy Oil Company.

Q. Why did you do that?

A. Well, the Gypsy Oil Company had possession of it and put a well down.

Q. What about the Bartlett interest?

A. The Gypsy Oil Company was operating under a lease from Mr. Bartlett.

Q. Well, did you find out the kind of leases they held?

A. They held a lease from Mr. Bartlett under a forged deed.

Q. Did you investigate that deed and prove it to be a forgery?

A. I did. The deed was taken in Lawrence, Kansas, and I had taken the abstract and went to Lawrence, Kansas, and found the notary who had taken the acknowledgment of it, and he were cashier in the Watkins National Bank, and I left him——

Mr. German: We object to that as hearsay, Your Honor; the mere fact that he found it to be a forgery is sufficient, I think.

The Court: Yes, the details of it would not throw any light on it and it is admitted that it was a forgery now.

Mr. Hill: That is now admitted that it was a forgery and I want to prove that Mr. White discovered that fact.

The Court: That is in the record, various stages of the record show that the deed was a forgery and Mr. White now says that he discovered it.

Q. Can you fix about the time, Mr. White, that you brought that suit?

Mr. Hill: Is that in the record?

Mr. Allen: That is in the record—no, I believe that portion is not in the record.

The Court: If you have the petition you might find that while Mr. Hill goes on with the examination and agree on that.

Mr. Maxey: Sometime in August, 1913.

Mr. Hill: We will assume that is correct until we verify it

Q. You say that suit was brought in August 1913, does that conform to your recollection?

A. It was along in the summer but I declare I can't tell whether it was 1913 or 1914 from memory.

Mr. Hill: Well, we will assume that.

The Court: Don't put in the record all this colloquy until we get the date.

Mr. Maxey: July 23, 1913, is when the original was filed.

Q. Does that correspond to your memory of it?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. After that suit was filed, which I find from the record here was brought by Nancy Atkins, an incompetent, by Micco T. Harjo, her legal guardian and next friend, v. H. U. Bartlett, and others, after that suit was filed what was the next step in your dealings or relations with Nancy?

A. Well, after that, they notified us they were going to take Nancy's deposition in Lytle's——

The Court: MacDougal & Lytle's office?

A. MacDougal & Lytle's office.

Q. Between those times had you seen and talked to Nancy? A. Well, I saw her at divers times.

Q. I mean between the time that suit was filed and the notice to take depositions was given? A. No, sir.

Q. You had not seen her in that interim?
A. Not that I recollect of.

Q. It seems to be from the testimony in the case that that deposition was taken on the 9th of February, 1914, does that conform to your recollection?

A. I know it was not a great while before we had the trial.

Q. And the trial seems to have been February 26th, 1914?
A. 26th.

Q. You say from the time you brought the suit and the time that deposition was taken you did not talk to her?

A. I never saw Nancy from the time she gave her deposition there in MacDougal & Lytle's office, I never saw Nancy from that time until she came to Tulsa——

Mr. Maxey: Sapulpa.

A. Sapulpa, about three days before the 26th of February.

Q. Well, that wasn't my question. In the meantime you had had no dealings with her between the time you brought the suit and the time she appeared at MacDougal & Lytle's office? A. I never saw her.

Q. Do you remember what became of her after she testified?

A. She got in a car and started out of town after the deposition.

The Court: Were you present at the taking of depositions in MacDougal & Lytle's office?

A. I was, Judge.

The Court: When before that had you last seen Nancy?

A. It was not since the day the lease was approved.

The Court: And that was before the filing of this suit? A. Yes, sir.

The Court: When and where was the first you saw Nancy on the day the depositions were taken?

A. I saw her in Lytle & MacDougal's office the first time I saw her.

Q. And after she left Sapulpa after giving that deposition, did you make any effort to bring her to the trial? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you do? A. I sent Ellis Childers after her.

Q. Did you have any talk with her?

A. Never spoke to her until after the trial was over with.

Q. Had no conversation with her at all until after the trial was over with? A. Not the least in the world.

Q. Where was she living then?

A. Nowata, or out east of Nowata on Verdigris, they called the post office Coody's Bluff.

Q. You had Ellis Childers bring her to Sapulpa to the trial? A. I sent Ellis Childers after her.

Q. After the trial what became of Nancy?

A. Went back to Stone Bluff—Coody's Bluff.

Q. Well, how long did she stay there?

A. At Coody's Bluff?

Q. Yes?

A. I don't know, she put in all of her time since I first met her, that is in regard to this lease, put in all the time at Nowata, Coody's Bluff, with the exception of a short time she stayed in Coffeyville.

Q. What was the next dealings you had with her?

A. Well, I have saw her since.

Q. I am talking about this trial at Sapulpa?

A. I have saw her divers times since that; I was phoned to come there.

Q. Was that the next time after the trial?

A. I can't say for certain but I might have seen her between the times that I was 'phoned for.

Q. Tell about being 'phoned for?

A. Well, I got a 'phone. I couldn't understand Mrs. Yarbrough's name, but it was her; and she 'phoned me the best thing I could do was to come to Nowata; that there was some parties there trying to get a party away that I was interested in; and told me her name but I didn't understand. And I got a car and went to Wagoner and went to Nowata. I inquired for Nancy and her guardian didn't know where she was. And I went up on what they call the Coal Oil Johnny train, got there before the nine o'clock train did——

Q. You finally found her?

A. I finally found her by Mrs. Yarbrough sending a man to the hotel looking for me.

Q. What did you find?

A. When I got to Mrs. Yarbrough's Nancy was back in one of the back rooms and Mrs. Yarbrough seemed to be excited. And I knocked and this gentleman that came after me I don't recall his name; but Mrs. Yarbrough wanted to know if it was me and I told her it was and she called Nancy and Nancy came in and we sat there and talked.

Q. And what did Nancy want with you?

A. Nancy said they was trying to get her in a car.

Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, we object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Yes.

A. She asked me to take her away.

Q. And you did so? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you take her then?

A. We came on the train to Wagoner and I got a car and sent her to Coweta and sent that car back and got another car and sent her to Ellis Childers.

Q. How long did she stay at Ellis Childers?

A. I don't remember, but she came back to Nowata in December.

Q. Didn't stay there any great length of time?

A. Didn't stay any great length of time, but I don't remember.

Q. Mr. White, there has been an exhibit introduced this morning from Mrs. Yarbrough that this telephone call was on the 25th of February, 1914. Does that conform to your recollection about the date? A. Yes, sir, I think it was.

Q. And you took her to Ellis Childers house right after. How long did she stay there?

A. I really can't recall. I never saw her while she was there at Ellis Childers.

Q. Well, did you have occasion to bring Nancy to Muskogee at any time after that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the occasion of that?

A. Well, I brought her on two different occasions. I——

Mr. German: Now, your Honor, we object to this as hearsay and incompetent and irrelevant.

The Court: He is asked if he had occasion to bring her here to Muskogee. That is a circumstance. You are not asking for any conversation yet. All right.

Q. To eliminate any immaterial matters, did you bring her to Mr. Allen's office?

A. Yes, sir. I didn't go after her.

Q. Well, how did that come about?

Mr. German: Now, if you know.

A. I know what Nancy and Mr. Allen told me is all.

The Court: We don't care for that.

Q. Do you know whether Mr. Allen sent for her by Ellis Childers, do you know that of your own knowledge?

A. Nothing except what Mr. Allen and Nancy told me and Ellis Childers told me; I wasn't here.

Mr. Hill: I think that would be competent as a connecting link.

The Court: Well, there are witnesses who know first hand.

Q. Do you know about the date of that, that she was brought here to Mr. Allen's office?

The Court: That would be a part of the hearsay. If he knows the facts of her being at Mr. Allen's office as a matter of his own knowledge, he may state when that was.

A. Yes, I know when she came I saw her.

Q. Can you give the date Nancy was at this office?

Mr. Maxey: Judge Rosser and I were there.

Q. Mr. White, did you go to Wagoner and look up witnesses after you took this lease? A. I did.

Q. Did you get anyone to assist you? A. I did.

Q. Who did you get? A. Ellis Childers.

Q. Who did you go see?

Mr. German: Your Honor, we object to this as incompetent. I don't see what theory counsel is introducing it.

Mr. Hill: I am endeavoring to connect up a conversation with Mr. Anderson that testified on the stand.

The Court: Was Anderson asked about that conversation?

Mr. Hill: He was not asked about this particular conversation, but he brought this in his testimony that certain offers had been made to him. I think he mentioned Mr. White's name.

The Court: I don't remember that. You had better be sure of that before you go into it.

Q. Did you have a conversation with Henry Anderson?
A. I did.

Mr. Hill: Then, I will look at the record.

The Court: You can put him back on the stand. This Anderson testimony is transcribed.

Mr. Hill: That is all, at the present with Mr. White.

Cross Examination by Mr. Pinson.

Q. Mr. White, you say you moved to Wagoner in 1895?
A. I did.

Q. Did you live right in the town of Wagoner?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long after you moved there did you first see Nancy? A. I had saw Nancy before I moved to Wagoner.

Q. Where? A. On the streets of Wagoner.

Q. When you were visiting there?
A. When I was trading there.

Q. At that time, did you know the Birney children?
A. I got acquainted with them—yes, I knowed old Dick Birney and his wife and children.

Q. What were those children's names?
A. Well, one was Dick and Henry, and then an old one, I don't remember what his name was.

Q. Didn't know Joe, did you?
A. It appears to me there was one by that name; I know there was.

Q. Did you ever see Joe with Nancy?
A. Why, I probably have, I don't call to mind that I have.

Q. Did you ever see Richard with Nancy?
A. I saw Nancy and her little chap and those Birneys all in a crowd together.

Q. Did Nancy ever have a white child with her?
A. I don't know whether you would call this a white child or not.

Q. I am not talking about an Indian, did she ever have a white child with her? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Who were the two boys in your buggy with Nancy's boy? A. Dick and Henry Birney.

Q. How old was Henry?
A. Well, he was probably seven, eight, or nine years old.

Q. And Richard? A. He was right next to him.

Q. You would say six or seven years old?

A. Yes, probably might have been nine or ten, the oldest one.

Q. And the third boy was about two years younger than Richard? A. Yes, he seemed to be.

Q. What color were the Birney boys?

A. They were what you would call light, mulattos.

Q. Kinkey headed? A. Well, yes.

Q. Was this boy that Nancy referred to as hers a light mulatto?

A. Well, he was light color, I don't know, I couldn't tell by looking at him that he had negro blood in him. I don't really think that he did.

Q. Did you at that time know what race of people Nancy belonged to? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you know?

A. Well, from the general conversation and I was acquainted with the Atkins family.

Q. Which Atkins family?

A. Well, I was acquainted with Nancy and her brother, Lee, and I was acquainted with Billy Atkins' folks that lived by Coweta.

Q. Acquainted with Dick Atkins family? A. Yes.

Q. What kind of race were they?

A. Oh, Dick seemed to be about half nigger.

Q. That was a half brother to Nancy, wasn't it?

A. I really don't know.

Q. Did you know the children of that family? A. Yes.

Q. What was their names?

A. Well, now, I can't call the names.

Q. Do you remember Thomas?

A. Yes, then there was a girl that married Jim Trent.

Q. How often did you see Thomas in Wagoner?

A. Oh, I saw him occasionally. I would be at Davis and Jones store and maybe I would see him once a month.

Q. Did he go to see his aunt?

A. Not that ever I knew of.

Q. You never saw her with this Thomas that lived out in the country? A. I never did.

Q. What kind of a looking boy was he?

A. Why, he showed white and nigger.

Q. Was it a mulatto boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. All of this observation you made, you made while you were trading in Wagoner?

A. Well, I traded there and I lived there.

Q. Yes, but before you went there you knew all about Nancy and her—— A. I knew all about Nancy.

Q. And the Birneys?

A. Yes, I would call the Birneys.

Q. And knew the boys. Now, how old was the oldest Birney boy the first time you saw him?

A. Well, I can't call how old he was; probably eight or nine, seven or eight, or nine or ten.

Q. Now, Mr. White, this boy that you saw in the buggy there that day—where did you next see him again?

A. Well, I saw him, that is, off and on all the time.

Q. Who was he with most of the time that you saw him?

Q. Most of the time when I saw him he was with Nancy or around the streets there by himself or in the store, off and on with those Birney boys.

Q. In the store? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was working there at that time?

A. Well, there was Charlie Bailey, Dave Marshal and Johnnie Harbison, and Miss Flowers, I believe her name was.

Q. Did you ever call the attention of any of them to this child who you mention as being Nancy's child?

A. No, sir, I didn't; he was commonly called amongst them there——

Q. Commonly called what?

A. Nancy's child and they had to watch him there.

Q. Didn't they call him Tommy? A. They did.

Q. Called him Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long did you stay there?

A. I never worked around the store, I was out on the road collecting all the time; there in Wagoner some two or three or four weeks and sometimes there would be weeks I wouldn't be in there from Monday morning to Saturday night.

Q. Whenever you were in there you saw this boy?

A. I saw the boy; he lived not a hundred feet from the back of the store.

Q. Did you ever hear Charlie Bailey call him Tommy?

A. Never did.

Q. Never did hear anybody call him that?

A. Oh, yes; Charlie Foster.

Q. Did he work in there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is he here now? A. No, sir.

Q. Where is he? A. I think he lives in Texas.

Q. Who else did you ever hear call him Tommy?

A. I heard Howard Morton—no, I didn't hear Howard Morton.

Q. You are certain you didn't hear Howard Morton, aren't you? A. No, I don't think I did.

Q. Who else?

A. A man in the store there, it was a common occurrence, said there goes Tommy Atkins, or said there goes Tommy—see where he is going.

Q. Tommy Atkins, gave his full name?

A. Yes, sometimes.

Q. Do you know why they would ever call him Tommy Atkins? A. No, I don't.

Q. Did you ever hear of her being married?

A. No, I never heard of her being married.

Q. Never knew anything about the family history and the only members of the family that you know about was Lee and Nancy, was that true? A. Yes.

Q. You was there in Wagoner when Minnie was there?

A. I was there in Wagoner but I don't recollect ever seeing Minnie but about twice.

Q. Did she have any boys with her? A. Had two.

Q. What was she doing with them?

A. Why, personally, I can't say.

Q. Well, did you ever see them in Wagoner again?

A. Why, yes.

Q. When? A. I saw them off and on since then.

Q. Who were they with?

A. One of them stayed with Charlie Bailey, and first one place and another and it was my understanding that Jim Childers——

Q. Not your understanding, now. Who were they with, Mr. White? A. Oh, down town.

Q. Weren't they living with Nancy?

A. I never seen them living with Nancy; they could have lived with Nancy and I not know it. I didn't see them.

Q. But you never saw these two boys with Nancy?

A. If I did, I don't recollect.

Q. You knew both of them?

A. I did when I see them; I know them now.

Q. Describe Charlie.

A. Well, I don't know which one is the oldest.

Q. Well, describe the oldest.

A. He was rather light, he showed Indian, though; rather light complected, both of the boys.

Q. Showed the Indian, what do you mean by that? What characteristics in them showed Indian?

Q. You have saw people——

Q. Don't argue with me, Mr. White, please; tell me what characteristics showed Indian.

A. Well, their color.

Q. What else?

A. Their color and probably their cheek bones; a little high—higher than most average white man's.

Q. The hair? A. The hair was dark and——

Q. Charlie's hair was black and straight?

A. As well as I remember; I never paid any particular attention to them.

Q. How about the younger one?

A. Well, the youngest was pretty light complected; about the same.

Q. Pretty much the same complexion? A. Yes.

Q. Which one was the thinner? A. Oh, I don't know.

Q. Did either one of them have light hair?

A. I don't know, I think not.

Q. Both had straight black hair?

A. Well, as well as I remember they did.

Q. What was the color of the hair of this Tommy that you are talking about? A. Light headed——

Q. How light—regular tow-head?

A. Oh, no, reddish white.

Q. Well, was he red head? A. I don't think so.

Q. You have heard the description of these other witnesses given on the stand? A. Certainly I have.

Q. Ranging from molasses to butter?

A. Well, I don't know what color molasses is——

Q. Well, you think his hair was white with a reddish tinge to it?

A. Well, about that way; might have been different if it were washed.

Q. Did you ever see Tommy with Harvey or Charlie, these two boys? A. If I have, I don't recollect it.

Q. How long did these boys stay around Wagoner?

A. I can't tell you that; I never paid any attention to them.

Q. Did you ever hear anybody say yonder goes Minnie's boys Harvey and Charlie?

A. No, I asked in the store whose boys those were and they said Minnie Atkins' boys.

Q. You never heard anybody say yonder there goes Harvey and Charlie Atkins, Minnie's boys, did you?

A. No, I don't think I ever did.

Q. Now, Mr. White when you first conceived the idea of looking for Tommy Atkins, this property over there looked like it was very valuable for oil purposes, didn't it?

A. Well, it was looking better all the time; oil production was getting closer to it.

Q. That was in the Cushing field, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And at that time production was moving in that direction? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You found out that it probably would be very valuable? Now, who was the first person that mentioned to you the finding of Tommy Atkins?

A. I don't know—who was the first fellow that mentioned that?

Q. Mentioned that to you?

A. Asked for information as to where he was?

Q. Yes, or suggested to you that you look for Tommy Atkins?

A. I don't remember, sir, whether it was George McElroy, or whether it was Bartlett. If I am not mistaken, this man that asked P. R. Brown in my presence at Okmulgee was the first one that I remember of hearing anything.

Q. That was the first one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, is that what put the idea in your mind of looking for Tommy? A. Well, yes, sir.

Q. There was a discussion then about the richness of this property? A. Well, he wanted to know——

Q. Now, did you tell these people that he was Nancy Atkins' boy? A. No, sir, I did not.

Q. What did you tell them?

A. I didn't tell them anything.

Q. Did you tell them that you knew? A. I did not.

Q. Tell them that you didn't know?

A. I didn't do that.

Q. Didn't tell them anything at all—these people that inquired of you?

A. I told George McElroy; I said I can't tell you——

Q. Now, you had in mind that time, clear and distinct, the knowledge that Nancy had had a boy named Tommy, didn't you?

A. Well, I knew that, I didn't know whether that was the one or not; I didn't know whether he died before allotment.

Q. But you knew that was one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew that Nancy had a boy named Tommy?

A. I did.

Q. And you started out to find whether that was the one?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What first did you do towards finding out?

A. The first I did; I had written the letter to Mr. Jones.

Q. Who was Mr. Jones?

A. Court clerk in Wagoner county, at Wagoner at present.

Q. Did you go to the records to find out about Tommy?

A. I came here and got a card.

Q. Now, you started out with card. What was the first thing you noticed about that card that helped you to find Tommy?

A. Well, in getting the family card, I got the name of Nancy, Minnie, Charlie and Harvey Harrison.

Q. Now, that card shows the relationship, doesn't it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you knew when you got that card that that was not Tommy you were looking for, did you?

A. No, sir, I didn't or I wouldn't have went to get it.

Q. How is that?

A. Of course I didn't or I wouldn't have gotten it.

Q. Didn't the card say Tommy Atkins was enrolled there as the son of Minnie Atkins? A. I understood that.

Q. Then, you knew that was not the Tommy you were looking for, didn't you?

A. No, sir. I taken that card, then, and went to Mr. Bailey, at Tulsa——

Q. Never mind about the details but let me ask you this. Didn't you immediately surmise that that was one of the boys that Nancy had with her at Wagoner? Of Minnie's?

A. No, sir.

Q. You know Mitchell Wadsworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You asked him who that Tommy was, didn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. What did he tell you?

A. He said he didn't know. He said Minnie had two children named Harvey and Charlie.

Q. Richard Wadsworth was a member of Minnie's family, related to Minnie and Nancy?

A. He was related to Minnie's half sister.

Q. What is that half sister's name? A. Kate Holden.

Q. Half sister of Minnie and Mitchell's mother, isn't that true? A. That is my understanding.

Q. Didn't Mitchell tell you at that time, Mr. White, if you wanted that land that the best way to get it would be to frame up that that was Nancy's kid and you could get that land?

A. No, sir, he didn't make that suggestion to me.

Q. You and he were not very friendly at that time, were you?

A. Why, we were—I never associated around with Mitchell; I saw Mitchell at the time they arrested him and started to Fort Smith with him.

Q. That was back in 1890, or the '90's somewhere?

A. Somewhere back there, I can't call the time.

Q. Now, Mr. White, you have been associated with the Nancy case from the very beginning then, haven't you?

Q. Spent lots of money? A. Spent some money.

Q. In connection with this case, haven't you?

A. Spent some money.

Q. You and your associates have furnished the money with which this case has been carried on, haven't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have been active in going from place to place and seeking evidence and have been pretty continually on that job, haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And active? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the case where the deposition was taken over at Lytle's office, did you hear Nancy testify then?

A. I did.

Q. You were present, too? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how did you happen to send Ellis Childers back for Nancy after at Sapulpa she had said that she didn't have any boy baby?

A. Well, sir, if you had been there and heard her telling and refused to answer questions for Judge Maxey, you would have been like I was, confident that she was telling a falsehood.

Q. You were confident she was telling a falsehood?

A. I was.

Q. So, you sent Ellis down to get her back and straighten it up? A. I sent Ellis to get her down there for the trial.

Q. Now, Mr. White, when you sent Ellis down there, what assurance did you have that she would not tell a falsehood again? A. Well, I didn't know.

Q. You did go to her at the hotel just before she went on the stand, like she said, and stated to her——

A. Now, Mr. Pinson, I didn't say that I went to her and talked to her at the hotel.

Q. No, I said like Nancy said; you misunderstood me.

A. How is that?

Q. You went to her and talked to her like she said?

A. I talked to her after the trial, the 26th of February.

Q. Then, you didn't talk to her before she went on the stand? A. I did not, sir.

Q. You had no idea what Nancy was going to say?

A. No, I had taken a shot on it.

Q. Mr. McDougal and Lytle were representing you at that time? A. Judge Maxey and Judge Rosser.

Q. Judge Rosser in it then?

A. No, sir, Judge Maxey and Mr. Gresham, who is now dead, at Wagoner.

Q. They were both there, weren't they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Representing you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You told them that Nancy was coming? A. Yes.

Q. You knew then, that she was going to tell the other story? A. I didn't tell them any such thing.

Q. Who put her on the stand? You did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Without having any idea what she was going to say?

A. How is that?

Q. Your lawyers talked to her about what she was going to say?

A. Mr. Gresham did: Mr. Maxey didn't according to my understanding.

Q. Were you present when Mr. Gresham talked to her?

A. I was not.

Q. Was Ellis Childers present then? A. I don't know.

Q. You put the matter in his hands and got Nancy and bring her there?

A. I told Ellis to get Nancy and bring her to the trial.

Q. Did you talk with Ellis about what she was going to say? Before she went on the stand?

A. No, sir, I didn't do it.

Q. Did you see Ellis before she went on the stand?

A. I saw Ellis, yes.

Q. And didn't talk to him about what she was going to testify? A. I did not.

Q. Did you give him any instructions to what to say to her when he went down there? A. I did not.

Q. You didn't see her at all from the time she made the affidavit in this office for the several days which elapsed, or weeks, when she went on the stand?

A. I was sitting in the lobby when her and Ellis come in and Ellis taken her to a room upstairs and I never saw Nancy until I went back to get when Judge Maxey and—until Judge Maxey and Bartlett's lawyer got into quite a squabble and they were going to introduce the deposition Nancy had give and Judge Maxey objected to it, that they hadn't shown any reason why they hadn't Nancy there and Mr. Bartlett went on the witness stand and swore that they had used all the energy they had to get Nancy; that she was out of the county and wouldn't come——

The Court: Then, what did you do? You went over and got her?

A. Yes—she was already there, Judge.

By the Court.

Q. She was in town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But was not in the courtroom? A. No, sir.

Q. Who brought her to the courtroom?

A. Judge Maxey got up and told the Court that Judge

Bartlett was mistaken, that Nancy was not out of the county, that she was at present in Creek County, Sapulpa, and Judge Stanfield asked if he could produce her and he said that we could.

Q. And you went and got her? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Pinson.

Q. Did you keep her concealed her there the days that she was present? A. We did.

Q. You were going to spring her as a surprise on opposing counsel? A. I suppose they were.

Q. Yet you didn't have any idea what she was going to say? A. I didn't know for I never spoke to her.

Q. Now, in the taking of the depositions at Sapulpa, on February 9th, 1914, you were present, weren't you?

A. I was.

Q. You knew that Nancy ran around the streets of Wagoner; with the little boy you understood was hers, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You understood that at the trial at Sapulpa, February 26th, 1914, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir—I beg your pardon I didn't understand that.

Q. Well, after the deposition were taken at the trial there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Ten or twelve days or three weeks latter?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You understood that then? A. I understood that.

Q. You had known that ever since 1895 or '96?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was true when you filed an answer, or your attorneys filed an answer to a motion for a new trial which was filed by the defendants in that case?

A. My attorneys didn't file no motion for a new trial.

Q. I said an answer to the motion for a new trial. Don't you remember going down and getting 25 or 26 affidavits attached to that answer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew that when the receivership trial was had here at Muskogee, didn't you? A. Yes, sir, I was here.

Q. Now, Mr. White, have you testified before in this action?

A. Never have, with the exception that the Government put me on the stand when they was asking for a Receiver; the Government put me on the stand here in the Federal Court and asked me if I heard Minnie Atkins' testimony.

Mr. German: As to what Minnie had testified to at Sapulpa.

Q. Now, that is the only thing that you ever testified to until this morning? A. It is.

Q. About Minnie's testimony at Sapulpa?

A. Yes, sir, it is, yes.

Q. You never had testified before that you knew anything about Nancy and her child? A. Never have.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Mr. White, what is your connection with this case? What part do you claim? A. I own 17 and a half per cent.

Q. Seventy and a half? A. Seventeen and a half.

Q. Who are your associates—who own- it with you?

A. Mr. Ferguson, J. A. Ferguson, and Mr. Rutherford, and I suppose——

Q. What Rutherford?

A. Bob Rutherford that was murdered down at Pine Bluff.

Q. And who else?

A. And I understood but it is not on record where Mr. Ferguson, Mr. A. L. Ferguson's wife owned an interest and A. L., but then I have never noticed that on record.

Q. Where did you get your interest from?

A. What is that?

Q. Where did you buy your interest?

A. After we traded it off?

Q. Yes, this seventeenth?

A. I got it from Mr. Rutherford.

Q. And where did your associates get their interest originally—who from?

A. Got it from myself, Dr. Selser and E. W. Fowler.

Q. And where did that crowd get it from?

A. Got it from Micco T. Harjo, guardian of Nancy Atkins.

Q. Micco T. Harjo, guardian of Nancy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Your title, then, comes from Nancy Atkins' guardian Micco? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you were over at Sapulpa, where was Nancy kept before she went on the stand?

A. I beg your pardon; I didn't understand you, Judge.

Q. Where was Nancy kept before she went on the stand?

A. She was kept in the St. James hotel.

Q. St. James hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was with her while she was there?

A. Well, she had a room up on the third floor and no one looked after her that I know with the exception of Ellis Childers. Mr. Gresham was up there once or twice, I just heard he was, and the porter carried her meals up to her.

Q. People representing you kept her there secretly, didn't they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't let anybody know she was there?

A. No, sir.

Q. Mr. Gresham did talk to her before this trial?

A. I understood he did, I didn't see him.

Q. He was your lawyer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He told you before she took the stand that she was alright? A. He did not.

Q. Didn't you ask him whether she was going to take that testimony back or not?

A. I never asked him whether she was going to take it back or not; he said we would rather have her testimony whatever it was than to have the deposition.

Q. I know, but didn't your lawyer tell you that she was going to take that deposition back? A. No, sir, did not.

Q. You were an interested party there and you didn't know whether she was going to renig what was in that deposition or not? A. I did not, no, sir.

Q. Yet you understood your lawyer had talked to her about the case?

A. I understood Mr. Gresham had talked to her.

Q. About the case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who put her on the stand there?

A. The Bartlett interests were introducing her deposition——

The Court: I think, Judge, he covered that, stated on the stand before we put her on.

Mr. Stuart: He is mistaken about that.

Q. The other side put her on the stand, didn't they?

A. The other side didn't have anything to do with putting her on—didn't know she was there.

Q. Then you put her on the stand originally, didn't you? A. At the trial at Sapulpa?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The record here is headed direct examination. Who was Mr. Lytle? Was he your lawyer?

A. No, sir, he was not.

Q. I will ask you if Mr. Lytle didn't ask her the very first question that was asked in that case?

A. I can't answer that; I don't know. I don't remember.

Q. Well, now the record shows this; direct examination by Mr. Lytle: "What is your name? My name is Nancy Atkins. Where do you live? My home is in Nowata, Oklahoma.

Did you ever live in Wagoner,'' and so forth. That continued for several pages. Don't you know as a matter of fact, Mr. White, Mr. Lytle put that witness on the stand?

A. No, I can't say that he did, Judge, all that I remember about it was that when Judge Stanfield asked Judge Maxey if we could produce her Judge Maxey said we can, and he said produce her, and I got my hat and went after her and brought her up there.

Q. Who asked her the first question?

A. I couldn't tell you to save my life.

Q. Then, why did you say the other side didn't know about her being there? A. They didn't know she was there.

Q. But who asked her the first question?

A. I don't know, I couldn't say.

Q. Then, you don't know whether Nancy was put on the stand in the first place as a witness for Mr. Lytle's people or not? A. I don't know.

Q. Don't you know Mr. Lytle put her on, and didn't Mr. Lytle say "Your Honor, I am surprised at this woman's testimony? '' A. He might have done it.

Q. Didn't he do it? A. I told you I didn't remember.

Q. Don't you know he claimed surprise there?

A. Well, yes.

Q. What was he surprised at?

A. That she was there for one thing.

The Court: Were you a witness in that case?

A. I was not.

The Court: You didn't go on the stand over there?

A. I did not.

The Court: You were one of the plaintiffs?

A. I was.

Mr. Cruce: Is Mr. Gresham dead or alive?

A. He is dead so I understand? I didn't see him.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. White you testified that Nancy Atkins, at the time she gave her deposition, her answers were so hesitant that you could tell that she lied? A. How was that?

Q. You say when Nancy gave her deposition in Mr. Lytle's office that you could tell by the way she gave her testimony that she was not telling the truth?

A. In her cross questioning you could.

Q. Was she positive when she testified in Court sometime later? A. How is that?

Q. Was she positive in her statement that she had a boy child that lived when she testified in Court a few days later?

A. Why, she did.

Q. Did she ever state in that trial there as a fact that she was the mother of a boy? A. She did.

Q. Didn't she simply say "Supposed to be a boy, I guess"? A. I think that was probaby the first question asked.

Q. I will ask you if these questions were not asked her?

The Court: Is that at the trial or the deposition?

Mr. Hanford: This is at the trial.

Q. "By Mr. McGraw: Q. Nancy, are you telling the Court the truth when you say this was your boy? By Mr. McDougal: We object to that as an improper question. By the Court: The objection sustained. By Mr. Lytle: I don't understand whether this Burnett woman was present. Was Mandy present when the boy was born; didn't she act as a mid-wife? A. I don't want to have nothing to do with it." Wasn't that her statement? A. I think so.

Q. Then, didn't the Court say as follows: "All the Court wants you to do is to tell the truth and the Court will protect you? A. If I lie you will? By the Court: I want the absolute truth now. A. Well, I done said that Tommy Atkins was mine. Q. Was he? A. Yes, sir." Isn't that the only time she answered a direct question to that effect and in that manner?

A. I don't think it was; it possibly could have been but I don't think so.

Q. The only other time she answered the question was when she said, "Supposed to be a boy I guess"?

A. I don't remember.

The Court: Is Nancy Atkins testimony in the record?

Mr. Hanford: It hasn't been offered.

Mr. Allen: The deposition is, but the testimony we just simply offered excerpts from it.

Mr. German: Pardon me, Judge Allen, the only use that has been made of her testimony as distinguished from her deposition has been in cross examination.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hill.

Q. You say you knew these boys, the Birney boys, how many of them?

A. Judge, if I am not mistaken, I remember four of them.

Q. What were their names?

A. The first one's name I can't remember, Dick, Henry and Joe.

Q. Which one was nearest to Tommy's age? A. Joe.

Q. Which was next?

A. Now, I can't tell which was oldest, Dick or Henry.

Q. Which ones were playing with Tommy around the buggy?

A. That was Dick and Henry and Tommy. They was continually getting in my buggy and I had a very fractious team and I would get after them and throw them out.

Q. Sometimes they were together and sometimes single?

A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Hill: That is all with him.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hill: I think this entire testimony, given at Sapulpa before Judge Stanfield, should be introduced.

The Court: You mean with reference to Nancy's testimony. Is there any objection to introducing the entire testimony given by Nancy Atkins at the trial at Sapulpa?

Mr. German: Yes, your Honor, we object to it. Really there has been none of it introduced.

The Court: I will say frankly I am interested in having before me in this case everything which Nancy said—I understand I will have before me the deposition which she made before the trial. I am interested in having before me everything which she said at that trial in relation to the existence of this boy and her relationship to it.

Mr. German: Well, that is all right. Our reason for objecting is simply that it appears that she testified there that she was the mother of a boy named Thomas, etc. But we made use of that merely in connection with circumstances under which she gave it, and we concede that it constitutes a self-serving declaration and is not admissible in support of her present testimony, because it was given at a time, not at a time rather, when she would have had occasion to tell the truth.

The Court: I am disposed to admit it over your objection. Not as any direct testimony on her part, but merely to throw light on this complex question now, having the entire history of what she has done and the conflicting things she has done. The circumstance under which this was given. I want all that testimony before me. Your exceptions will be noted.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, you have my idea exactly. I want everything in this record that these women have said.

Mr. Hill: I am offering the entire testimony direct examination and cross examination.

The Court: Every item of Nancy Atkins testimony direct or cross or redirect at the trial at Sapulpa will be admitted and exceptions on the part of the Government will be noted.

Mr. Allen: Your Honor, we only offered a part of the cross examination in the deposition; it would be well to let it go in.

The Court: Well, the entire deposition, direct and cross, may also be admitted so far as Nancy is concerned.

Mr. Hill: We have no objections to it.

Mr. Allen: The deposition begins on page 287 and runs to 303.

Mr. Hill: The entire deposition is now offered by the Government?

Mr. Allen: We had offered all that we cared to; your Honor wanted it all.

The Court: I would rather have it all.

Mr. Allen: The testimony commences at page 332 and runs to 348.

NANCY ATKINS, being called as a witness, on behalf of the defendants, and being first duly sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, testified as follows, to-wit:

Mr. Gresham: I believe it would be proper for one party to offer evidence at one time and then permit the other party to offer evidence.

By the Court: I think that is proper, sustained.

To which ruling of the Court the defendant Gypsy Oil Company excepts.

Mr. Gresham—I ask that the testimony proceed in that manner.

Direct Examination by Mr. Lytle.

Q. What is your name? A. My name is Nancy Atkins.
Q. Where do you live?
A. My home is Nowata, Oklahoma.
Q. Did you ever live in Wagoner?
A. I used to live in Wagoner.
Q. Where did you come from to Wagoner?
A. To Wagoner from Muskogee.
Q. Have you ever been married? A. No, sir.
Q. Ever gave birth to a child? A. Yes, sir.
Q. What kind of a child was it?

By the Court: Boy or girl?

A. Supposed to be a boy I guess.

By Mr. Lytle.

Q. How long did the child live?

A. Lived to be ten years old.

Mr. Lytle: We wish to announce at this time that we are entirely taken by surprise by this evidence, as the Court may see by the evidence heretofore given in this Court by the same witness, and ask leave to cross examine her.

By the Court: Proceed.

Q. Did you appear in the office of McDougal & Lytle on the 9th day of February 1914, to testify as a witness?
A. I sure did.
Q. I will ask you if you didn't there testify that you gave birth to a girl child?
A. Yes, I did in this way; I had a right to give testimony in that way at that time.
Q. You did? A. Yes, sir, legal right.
Q. I will ask you if you didn't testify at that time that this girl child was born at——
A. Yes I done that; I admit that.
Q. I will ask you if you didn't further testify that you had never given birth to any other child?
A. No, I never told that.
Q. You didn't? A. No.
Q. I will ask you if you did not in answer to this question make the following answer: Q. "Have you ever had more than one child born to you?" A. "No, sir."
A. Oh, yes, I might have answered all of those questions.
Q. "Q. How long did the child that was born to you live?" A. "It was born dead." Was that your answer to that question?

A. Yes, at that time I answered all of those questions.

Q. Were they true or false at that time?

A. They must have been false in a way I guess.

Q. Well, were they true or false?

A. Well, they were not true.

Q. I will ask you if the next day or the day after that you didn't go to Wagoner and have a conversation with Eliza Sterling and ask her if she didn't remember that you just had one child and that it was a girl born dead?

A. I don't know Eliza Sterling.

Q. You never saw her? A. I knew Eliza Barnett.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't also see Angeline Moody on that occasion?

A. Yes, I seen her; I asked her if she knew anything about it.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't ask Angeline Moody if she remembered about these circumstances?

A. Yes, I asked her but she didn't.

Q. Where was this child that was born to you, born?

A. My child was born in Wagoner at Neosha Burney's when she was living in town on the northeast side of the track,

Q. I will ask you if you didn't testify at the office of McDougal & Lytle on the 9th day of February, that this child was born at Williams' rooming house?

A. Yes, I did testify to that, but——

Q. But that wasn't true? A. No.

Q. Since the 9th day of February, 1914, who have you talked to with reference to this case?

A. Not anybody as I know of.

Q. Never talked with anybody at all; do you mean to tell this Court that you came down to Sapulpa to the office of McDougal & Lytle and there deliberately testified to the untruth in reference to these things?

A. Yes, I done it because I was told by them there was big money in it for me and the other people too—just like they all doing on that same piece of land, and I thought I ought to get some of it.

Q. Was that what Micco Harjo told you when he was appointed your guardian? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that what Mr. White told you when he took a contract from Harjo—to prosecute this law suit?

A. I wasn't with them when they took the contract.

Q. Don't know anything about that?

A. No, I wasn't with them at all.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't sometime in October or November 1913, see Mr. H. U. Bartlett at Nowata and there tell him that you never had had but one child born to you, and that child was a girl?

A. Yes, I told him that for this reason, Harjo got me to tell Bartlett and for me to deny the child, and that it belonged to Minnie Atkins, and that is the reason I done it; Harjo was the cause of it all.

Q. Harjo was the cause of it all?

A. Yes, I suppose Bartlett paid him; that is what he was after, the money.

Q. Did you see Bartlett pay him anything?

A. No, sir, only what Bartlett told me.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't tell Henry McGraw in the presence of Mr. Bartlett, this gentleman, here, that you had never had but one child born to you and it was a girl and died at birth? A. When was that?

Q. 1913?

A. I never saw Mr. McGraw at Nowata; I seen him at Coffeyville.

Q. Did you tell him that at Coffeyville?

A. He took the same kind of affidavit as you have there but I didn't put my signature there.

Q. You did tell him that? A. Yes, I told him that.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't on or about the 9th or 10th of February put your signature to this deposition?

(Here counsel exhibit to witness defendant's exhibit "A" being written deposition of witness).

A. Yes, I did that.

Q. You signed and swore to it before a notary public?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Yet, at the same time you knew it was not true?

A. Well, I was paid to do it; I was promised pay but I never got any yet.

Q. Never got any yet? A. No.

By Mr. McGraw.

Q. You met Mr. McGraw at Coffeyville, Kansas, on or about the 10th day of August, 1913, did you not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. One Henry McGraw is that correct?

A. I don't know his first name; he was introduced to me as Mr. McGraw, Mr. Bartlett's attorney he said.

Q. There was present at that time, a young lady who was acting as a stenographer and notary public? A. Yes.

Q. And Micco T. Harjo was also present? A. Yes.

Q. At that time did I not ask you this question, "How many children have you ever had" and you replied "one"?

A. Yes.

Q. And did I not ask you the sex of that child and you replied "female and——"

A. Yes, on the same ground as that other is.

Q. Did I not ask you "how long did that child live" and you replied, "it was born dead"? A. You sure did.

Q. I asked you "where was that child born" and did you not reply "at Wagoner"? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did I offer you any reward for your testimony at that time? A. No, the reward was given to Harjo.

Q. Did you ask me for any money for your testimony?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. Did I promise to give you any money?

A. No, you did not.

Q. Did I not then ask you "if you ever had a child who was a boy" and did you not reply "no"?

A. No, I think you asked me if it wasn't my sister's child, the boy.

By Mr. Lytle: There are one or two other questions I would like to ask.

Q. I will ask you in answer to a question by Mr. Maxey at the office of McDougal & Lytle on the 9th day of February, if in answer to this question you didn't make the following reply: "didn't you tell Mr. White when he was down there that Thomas Atkins was your child and lived until he was ten or twelve years old and that you wanted Harjo to lease the land to him"? A. "No, I didn't tell him that."

A. Yes, I answered that in that office but I answered different to White when he was up there; that is the answer I gave you up there, that is true enough.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't make the following reply to the following question: "You gave a lease on this land didn't you?" "A. Yes, I gave Ellis Hammet a lease on it."

A. Yes.

Q. You represented yourself as the mother of Thomas Atkins and leased this to Ellis Hammett? "A. Yes, they kept running up there and wanted the lease and I signed the lease for them"; did you make those answers to those questions?

A. Yes, because I done it.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't make the following answer to the following question: "Q. Didn't you tell Ellis Hammett at the time you executed that lease that Thomas Atkins was your child?" "A. No, I didn't tell Ellis that in a way and I told him I didn't see how he could prove it." Did you make that answer to that question? A. How is that?

Q. I will ask you if you at the office of McDougal & Lytle on the 9th day of February, 1914, if you didn't make the following answer to the following question: "Q. Didn't you tell Ellis Hammett at the time you executed that lease that Thomas Atkins was your child," A. "No, I didn't tell Ellis that—in a way and I told him I didn't see how he could prove it."

A. Yes, I think I did.

Q. How? A. Yes, I think I did.

Q. How, you never did? A. I think I did.

Q. Nancy, who is paying the expenses of this litigation? A. For who?

Q. Of this law suit? Who is paying the expenses of this law suit? A. I don't know.

Q. Are you paying them? A. I never entered suit.

Q. You never had any suit?

A. No, I aint got any suit.

Q. Where is Micco Harjo? A. In Portland, Oregon.

Q. How long has he been out there?

A. Ever since he left Coffeyville along about the middle of August, I think.

Q. Do you know whether your estate has any money at this time?

A. I don't know if it has; I guess all the rest of the kin folks has got it; I haven't got any of it.

Mr. Lytle: At this time the defendants Bartlett and Hammett offer in evidence the deposition; we offer in evidence defendants exhibit "A" the deposition of Nancy Atkins, the witness now on the stand, for the purpose of impeachment.

Mr. Maxey: We object to the offer.

By the Court: The objection is sustained.

To which ruling of the Court the defendants except.

By Mr. McGraw.

Q. Nancy, at Coffeyville, Kansas, did I not ask you this question: "Who, if you remember were present and knows of the birth and death (meaning the female child) and did you not reply, "A. Manda Barnett." Manda Barnett was midwife and Mondy Barnett buried the child, Eleanor Williams brought me my meals from the restaurant; I worked for her —" Did you make that reply to that question?

A. Yes, I answered all of those questions; he was getting money. He got me to deny the child.

Q. Did I not ask you this question? "Q. And who was the father of this child," "A. I couldn't tell; I don't care to tell that?"

A. No, I told you that was something you would never find out, was my answer, I think, up there.

Q. Did I not ask you this question: "Q. Nancy do you know a Thomas Atkins enrolled opposite roll No. 7913 upon the Creek roll?" "A. No, I don't." Did that occur?

A. If you got it on there it must be.

Q. Did I not ask you this question: "Q. He is not your child as I understand it?" and did you not make this reply, "No, sir;" is that correct? did I ask you that question and did you make that answer? A. I don't remember.

Q. Will you say you didn't answer that question that way? A. I think I did tho.

Q. You say you did or did not?

A. I don't remember.

By Mr. Lytle.

Q. Has anybody threatened you with any punishment if you didn't come down here and change your testimony today?

A. Yes, they all seemed to think I will get in the penitentiary over it.

Q. Did anybody tell you that you would get in the penitentiary if you didn't come and change your testimony?

A. No, they didn't tell me that today.

Q. How? A. No.

Q. They didn't do it today, but when they do it?

A. Before I came down here.

Q. Before you came down here; they told you if you didn't testify that Thomas Atkins was your son you would get in the penitentiary? A. No, they didn't tell me that.

Q. What? A. No, they didn't tell me that.

Q. What did they tell you?

A. None of these people around here told me that.

By the Court: Who told you that?

A. Several of them up home, up at Nowata; after Harjo got this money they said if I didn't deny it I would get in the penitentiary.

By Mr. McGraw.

Q. Nancy, parties have gone to you and told you that you would get in the penitentiary if you didn't come into court and testify that Thomas Atkins was your son, haven't they?

A. No, nobody down here.

Q. But somebody over at Nowata or Wagoner has frightened you with that story, has he not?

A. No, didn't any of them talk that way, and I know I didn't want to go to the penitentiary.

Q. You were afraid you might get into trouble if you didn't change your testimony?

A. No, I ain't scared of that; all of my kinfolks has got money from that and lied and lied, and I have to go to the penitentiary.

Q. You don't want to go to the penitentiary?

A. No, I aint going.

Q. And you are not going? You came and changed your story to keep from going?

A. No, I didn't want to come to the court house.

Q. Who invited you down here this time? Why did you come?

A. Because I wanted to; Mr. Bartlett said for me to be back down here and he didn't send for me and I come myself; that is all I come for.

Q. Who bought your railroad ticket to come here?

A. I bought it myself; I have got money.

Q. Where are you staying here in town now?

A. I am putting up at the St. James hotel.

Q. At the St. James hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who took you to the St. James hotel?

A. Ellis Childers.

Q. Ellis Childers; did Ellis Childers come down here with you? A. He sure did.

Q. He surely did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did Ellis Childers tell you how to change your story?

A. No, he aint told me anything like that.

Q. Have you talked to Mr. White? A. No.

Q. Has Mr. White talked to you about this case?

A. No, he hasn't talked to me.

Q. Has any of his associates talked to you?

A. I don't know them.

Q. Do you know his attorneys?

A. None except Mr. Maxey.

Q. You know Mr. Maxey?

A. I seen him up here when I was with you all.

Q. When did you last talk with Mr. Maxey?

A. I never had any talk with him except there that day.

Q. Tell the Court who told you that you would go to the penitentiary if you didn't testify that Thomas Atkins was your son? A. Colored folks up to Nowata.

Q. Who are they; what is their names; can you give the names of some one?

Mr. Gresham: We object if the Court please.

By the Court: The objection is sustained.

To which ruling of the Court the defendants except.

Q. Some colored folks told you this?

Mr. Gresham: We object.

By the Court: The objection is sustained.

To which ruling of the Court of defendants except.

By Mr. Gresham

Q. You testified that Harjo had gone west, didn't you?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Do you know how he happened to go west?
A. Yes, because he got money on this same proposition, on this land, and he got that administration from Minnie Brown's child, and he had to go, they was after him.
Q. Do you know who paid his expenses to go away?
A. Why, he left his wife and child and I was in Muskogee; they come and got me and brought me back; he had about $3.00 and his wife got a check after he was gone.

Mr. McGraw: We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

By the Court: The objection is sustained.

To which ruling of the Court the plaintiffs except.

Q. You have testified you were offered money to testify before, when you gave your deposition? A. Yes.
Q. Who told you would get money?
A. Betty Mann came up there, and she came out there to Nowata and said she wanted me, and I said what for, and she said there was big money in this thing for her and me and for me to come on down; I didn't know it was going to be like this tho; but now understand me, Mr. Bartlett never has offered me a dollar in regard to that.
Q. Now, did Betty tell you [] would have to deny this child?
A. Would have to give the child to Minnie, so the deed would stand up they said.
Q. So the deed would stand up? A. Yes.

Mr. McGraw: I move to strike out the testimony of the witness relative to Betty Mann for the reason that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

By the Court: The objection is overruled.

To which ruling of the Court the defendants except.

Q. You gave your testimony on these representations of Betty Mann?
A. On that ground, they wanted the deed to stand up for Minnie Atkins, and they got it, I guess.
Q. Do you now in Court want to tell the facts in the case?
(No reply)

By the Court: Do you want to tell the truth; the Court wants the truth.

A. I will tell you, I would rather not have anything to do with it.

By the Court: You tell the absolute truth about it.

(To the attorneys—Ask her material questions in this case, otherwise dismiss the witness).

By Mr. Gresham.

Q. Was Thomas Atkins your son?
A. He is supposed to be.

By the Court: Was he or was he not; answer the question.

A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Gresham.

Q. Are you an Indian or white, or what blood are you?
A. I am an Indian; I am enrolled as a fullblood.
Q. Of what tribe?
A. Father is a fullblood and my mother is mixed, Creek and Euchee.
Q. What are you enrolled as? A. Nancy Atkins.
Q. Of what Nation? A. Creek Nation.
Q. Fullblood Creek? A. As a fullblood, yes, sir.
Q. Did you get an allotment? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Over there close to Coweta somewhere? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. McGraw.

Q. Nancy, you answered a little while ago, when asked if Thomas Atkins was your son, "he is supposed to be"; was he your son or was he not your son?
A. He was my son, my child; it was a boy, it must have been my son.
Q. Who else knows that he was your son?
A. I don't know; Bob Delozier.
Q. He is a negro and lives at Wagoner?
A. He is colored.
Q. Can you give the name of any living man that knows—
A. That Thomas Atkins—that he was my son?
Q. Yes? A. Henry Burney.
Q. Who was present when he was born?
A. A lot of them.
Q. Was Mondy Burney there?
A. Mondy wasn't but Mandy——

By the Court: Was Manda there when the child was born?

(No answer).

Mr. McGraw.

Q. Nancy, are you telling the Court the truth when you say this was your boy?

Mr. Gresham: We object to that as improper question.

By the Court: The objection is sustained.

To which ruling of the Court the defendants except.

By Mr. Lytle.

Q. I don't understand whether this Burnett woman was present—was Manda present when this boy was born; didn't she act as mid-wife, Nancy?

By the Court: When the boy was born?

A. I don't want to have nothing to do with it.

By the Court: All the Court wants you to do is to tell the truth and the Court will protect you.

A. If I lie you will——

Q. I want the absolute truth now.

Q. Well, I done said that Thomas Atkins was mine.

Q. Was he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was present; was Manda Burnett present when he was born; just answer it yes or no.

A. Yes, Manda Burnett was there, but——

By Mr. Lytle.

Q. Was Angeline Moody there? A. No, no.

Q. She wasn't there? (No answer.)

By Mr. McGraw.

Q. Did you have that boy enrolled?

A. I think my aunt enrolled him and I think she must have enrolled the child; that is how come him in there.

(Witness dismissed)

NANCY ATKINS and E. C. BARTLETT, of lawful age being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

A. One brother and one sister.

Q. What are their names?

A. The girl's name is Minnie Atkins and the boy's name if Lee Atkins.

Q. When did you last see your sister Minnie?

A. The last time I remember, it was about the year 1895.

Cross Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. Where were you living when the child was born?

A. Living at Wagoner.

Q. Who was you living with?

A. I wasn't exactly living with anyone. I was working at the Barnard Hotel; of course I was working there until I got so I couldn't work.

Q. Where did you go after you got so you couldn't work?

A. Out to Mrs. William's, she was running a rooming house.

Q. Where was you when your child was born?

A. At Mrs. William's.

Q. When was that?

A. I don't exactly remember, I can't remember the year, it has been so long.

Q. Where did you live after the child was born?

A. I lived right at Wagoner until I got ready to go to Nowata.

Q. Did you say this child was born dead? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, whose child was that you had with you when you was living at Wagoner?

A. I never had no child with me.

Q. You worked at Mr. McNally's restaurant?

A. I never worked at McNally's restaurant, I knew him though.

Q. You are sure you never worked at his restaurant any while you lived there?

A. I am not only sure, I am satisfied I didn't.

Q. And you didn't have any child around there with you during the time you lived at Wagoner? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Thomas Atkins?

A. I don't know anything about him.

Q. Where do you live now, Nancy? A. Nowata.

Q. Live in town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you come to Sapulpa?

A. Came to Sapulpa last Tuesday night.

Q. Who came with you?

Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Mr. Bartlett's son and Betty Mann and my nephew here.

Q. What did you come to Sapulpa for?

Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Why, I suppose I come down here to do what I am doing.

Q. Anybody tell you that they wanted you to come down here to give testimony? A. No.

Q. Didn't talk to you about that? A. No.

Q. When did you first find out that they wanted you to take your testimony today?

A. I don't like to be questioned so much; I won't answer them, that's all there is.

Q. Have you talked to anybody about what your testimony would be? A. No, sir.

Q. Never talked to Mr. Bartlett about it nor anyone else? A. No.

Q. Who paid your expenses down here?

A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know? A. No.

Q. I believe you stated you had been here since last Tuesday? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where have you been stopping since you came here?

A. Out to Betty Mann's.

Q. Are you and Betty Mann related?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. How came Betty to go to Nowata after you and bring you down here?

A. I don't know whether she went especially after me, I couldn't swear to that.

Q. She went up there and asked you to come here, didn't she? A. Yes.

Q. Did you talk to Betty about what your testimony would be? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. You was not in Nowata when she went up there, were you?

A. No, I was out to Coody's Bluff, six miles east of Nowata.

Q. Did Betty Mann go out there after you?

A. She came out there, I don't know whether she came after me; wanted me to go home with her.

Q. Who was with her when she came out to Coody's Bluff?

Q. Edward Bartlett, herself, and the negro they call Glass Grissin.

Q. What day was it that they came out to Coody's Bluff?

A. I answered that question once; it was on last Tuesday, it will be a week tomorrow.

Q. When did you first make up your mind to testify that your child was a girl?

A. I made my mind up in Nowata last July.

Q. Who did you tell about it at that time?

A. I told Micco Harjo, also Ellis Hammett and Bill Robinson.

Q. How come you to tell them it was a girl at that time?

A. Why, simply because they wanted me to swear that my child was a boy; this Thomas Atkins that they are bringing up, and I knew that was none of mine.

Q. Was that the first time that you had ever heard of Thomas Atkins? A. It was to my knowledge.

Q. Have you been promised any money to come down here and give testimony?

A. No, sir, nobody has promised me any money.

Q. Haven't you told since you were here in town that you had to swear that your child was a girl in order to get some money that had been promised you?

A. No, sir, I have not.

Q. And isn't it a fact that your child was a boy, and that he lived until he was about ten or twelve years old?

A. No, sir, he didn't, and I didn't swear no such stuff, because I know.

Q. You knew Betty Burney at Wagoner, didn't you?

A. Yes, I knew Betty.

Q. You lived with her a good while, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I did not.

Q. Didn't you and your child live with Betty Burney for a long while?

A. I won't answer any more questions, that settles that.

Q. Didn't your child die there at Wagoner when it was ten or twelve years old?

A. How could it die when it was born dead?

Q. But I am asking you? A. No.

Q. Now, you mean to say that you never had a child that lived with you there at Wagoner a good part of the time at Betty Burney's that was a boy named Thomas Atkins, and that he died when he was ten or twelve years old, and was buried there at Wagoner?

Objected as repetition having already been answered two or three times.

A. Why, I said "no" the last two or three times.

Q. You said a while ago that you knew Thomas Atkins?

We object for the reason that the question puts evidence into the mouth of the witness, which the witness has not testified, the witness having testified that she did not know Thomas Atkins.

A. I know one Thomas Atkins. He was Billy Atkins child and he lived at Coweta.

Q. How old is he?

A. I don't know how old he is, he is a married man, I don't know his age.

Q. That the only Thomas Atkins that you ever knew?

A. The only one I ever knew.

Q. Do you know anything about Thomas Atkins that they are talking about in this lawsuit? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know who enrolled Thomas Atkins?

A. No, I don't.

Q. What kin were you to Mrs. Robinson, Muskogee, or Colonel Robinson's wife? A. I am her neice.

Q. You were living at her home before you went to Wagoner? A. Why, sure, she raised me.

Q. Did you ever go back there after you went to Wagoner? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know who enrolled you? A. She enrolled me.

Q. How do you know that?

A. Well, it was told me that she enrolled me.

Q. She is not living now, is she?

A. No, she is not living now.

Q. How long after you left her house and went to Wagoner before your child was born? A. I don't know.

Q. Wasn't that the reason you left there?

A. No, I didn't leave home on account of that.

Q. Who was the father of your child?

A. That is one thing you will never find out. I won't tell that.

Examination by Judson J. Hughes, Attorney for Norris, Walton and Hammett.

Q. How long have you known Micco T. Harjo?

A. I don't know, I got acquainted with Micco T. Harjo in 1910, I think it was.

Q. Did you know Micco T. Harjo at the time that you were living in Wagoner?

A. No, I didn't know nothing about him.

Q. Do you remember the time when Micco T. Harjo filed a petition in the county court in Nowata county, asking to be appointed guardian over you and your estate on the grounds of your being an incompetent. Do you remember that instance?

A. I ought to remember it, I had it done. You understand I didn't have it done because I was crazy; I know what that word "incompetent" means.

Q. You have gone to school, haven't you, Nancy?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can read and write? A. Yes.

Q. What do you understand the word "incompetent" to mean? A. That's all right what it is.

Q. You refuse to state what the meaning of incompetent is, though you state you know what it means, is that right, Nancy?

> We object as irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial in response to the question of the attorney and also in response of Notary before whom depositions are being taken. Attorney demands an answer which witness refuses to give C. B. Rockwood, the Notary Public now tells the witness to answer the questions when she knows, and when she don't know, to tell them she don't know.

Q. You don't know what an incompetent is? A. No.

Q. Why did you state that you knew?

> We object as incompetent to any issue in this case what the meaning of incompetency is.

A. I don't know.

Q. Did you tell Micco Harjo at the time when being appointed your guardian, that you wanted him to be appointed guardian for the purpose only of securing about $400.00 that was due you from the Department of Interior?

A. No, it wasn't that much.

Q. The appointment was for the purpose of getting your money out of the Department of Interior?

A. Getting it from Kelsey.

Q. Were you at the County Court at Nowata on the 27th day of May, 1913, when George B. Schwabe, attorney on behalf of Micco T. Harjo, filed a petition to lease the lands allotted to Thomas Atkins in Creek County, of which this hearing is about? Were you present on that date?

A. No, sir, I wasn't.

Q. Did you know that Micco Harjo, as your guardian, was executing a lease to the allotment of Thomas Atkins, deceased to anybody?

We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. I knew that he was giving a lease to some of them.

Q. Who told you about it? A. He told me.

Q. Did you tell him to go ahead?

A. I told him I did not have anything to do with it because the child wasn't mine.

Q. You didn't tell him the child was yours and to put in his petition that it was your child?

A. No, that's some of his and Schwabe's work, his lawyer.

Q. You say that you were a sister of Minnie Atkins?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know how many children Minnie Atkins had?

A. Yes, sir, two.

Q. What are their names? A. Harvey and Charlie.

Q. Were the names, Harvey Harris and Charlie Harris?

A. No, that isn't the name I was learned for the children, their fathers name was Peterkin.

Q. Isn't the English of that name Harris?

A. I don't know a thing about it.

Q. Do you know whether or not Minnie had any other children other than the two named? A. No, I don't know.

Q. How far did you live from Minnie from the year 1890 to 1900?

A. I was at Wagoner and she was at Muskogee, most of the time.

Q. You visited her a good deal?

A. No, she visited me.

Q. If she had of had any other children than the two named, you would have known it?

Objections as calling for the conclusion of the witness as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Why, yes, I would have known.

Q. And she didn't have but the two?

Objected as calling for a conclusion of the witness and as a repetition of the former question.

Q. You knew that Micco Harjo as your guardian, was bringing suit to clear the title to the Thomas Atkins land here in Creek County, didn't you Nancy? A. Yes.

Q. Do you know Henry Burney? A. Yes.

Q. Did you know him when you lived at Wagoner? A. Yes.

Q. What relation to Henry Burney is Betty Burney, if you know? A. Betty was Henry's mother.

Q. After the birth of Thomas Atkins, isn't it a fact that Betty Burney took care of him a greater part of the time in her home?

A. I don't know a thing about that at all, I can't answer that.

Q. Did you leave any child for Betty Burney to take care of? A. No.

Q. Did not? A. No.

Q. Where were you living in the year 1900? A. I don't remember.

Q. Don't remember whether you was in Wagoner or not? A. No.

Q. Do you know Ben Hammons of Wagoner? A. No.

Q. Say you don't? A. No.

Q. Do you know John Phillips of Wagoner? A. No.

Q. Do you know Richard Burney? A. Yes.

Q. Is he any relation of Betty Burney? A. Betty's son.

Q. Did Richard live with his mother when you were living there? A. Why, he was with his mother.

Q. You lived at the home of Betty Burney at the time your child was born? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Whose home were you living in?

A. I worked at the Barnard Hotel clean up until I couldn't work, then I got a room at William's restaurant.

Q. Do you know William's given name?

A. Yes, Henry Williams, H. W. Williams.

Q. Does he live at Wagoner yet? A. No, he is dead.

Q. Were they colored folks or white people? A. Colored.

Q. Do you know Ben DeLozier?

A. Yes, I know Ben DeLozier.

Q. Were you acquainted with him at the time you were living at Wagoner?

A. I was not personally acquainted with him, I have seen him around there.

Q. Isn't it a fact that he was one of the men who dug the grave for your son, Thomas Atkins?

A. No, sir, indeed he didn't I didn't have any son Thomas Atkins.

Q. Where is your guardian Micco T. Harjo?

A. He is in Portland, Oregon.

Q. Have you had him discharged? A. Not yet.

Q. Do you know how he came to be out there?

A. Not exactly.

Further Examination by Mr. Macey.

Q. Nancy, you remember Mr. White being down at the house of Micco Harjo's with you and him about the time that Micco Harjo was appointed your guardian?

A. Yes, sir, I know White.

Q. He was down there at that time? A. Yes.

Q. You and Micco and him talked the matter of having him appointed your guardian over?

A. No, it wasn't nothing about no guardian.

Q. He had done been appointed? A. Yes.

Q. Well, then it was about the time that the lease was executed to Mr. White, was it? A. I didn't execute no lease.

Q. I know you didn't.

Q. You don't know when that was executed?

A. I know that White was going to do that, but I didn't have anything to do with it.

Q. Didn't you tell Mr. White when he was down there that Thomas Atkins was your child, and lived until he was ten or twelve years old, and that you wanted Harjo to lease the land to him? A. No, I didn't tell him that.

Q. You were present at the time Micco Harjo was appointed your guardian, wasn't you? A. Yes.

Q. You was in the courtroom at the time of the hearing, wasn't you, you didn't make any objections to it, did you?

Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Why, no, I had him appointed on purpose.

Q. You knew that he was executing a lease to Mr. White for Thomas Atkins land, didn't you?

We object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Yes, sir, I knew that he was. He tried to get me to sign it and I didn't.

Q. You gave a lease on this land yourself, didn't you?

A. Yes, I gave Ellis Hammett a lease on it.

Q. You represented yourself as the mother of Thomas Atkins, and leased Thomas Atkins' land to Ellis Hammett?

A. Yes, they kept running up there and wanted a lease from me, so I signed the lease for them.

Q. You just signed anything that they brought to you, if they paid you some money? A. No, I wasn't that big a fool.

Q. Well, they did pay you some money, didn't they?

A. Yes, Ellis gave me $50.00.

Q. Didn't you tell Ellis Hammett at the time you executed that lease that Thomas Atkins was your child?

A. No, I didn't tell Ellis that in a way, he kept on and I told him I didn't see how he could prove it.

Q. What else did you tell him at the time?

Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, I didn't have much talk with him about it.

Q. That $50.00 looked good to you?

A. No, sir. I had more money than that at times.

Q. But you took it, didn't you? A. Why sure.

Q. After you executed the lease to Ellis Hammett and Wilbur Norris and W. W. Walton, didn't you appear on the 19th day of April, 1913, before J. S. Dickey, Judge of the county court of Wagoner county, and petition the court to approve this lease to Hammett and others?

A. You say, didn't I appear before the court?

Q. Yes?

A. No, I have never been before the court about that.

Q. Didn't you sign a petition to the court, asking the court to approve this lease to Hammett and others?

A. I don't know, I guess I did, I don't remember.

(Signed) Nancy Atkins.

And thereupon, R. C. ALLEN was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of Nancy Atkins and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Maxey.

Q. State your name? A. R. C. Allen.

Q. Judge, do you remember the time that you had Ellis Childers in your employ as National Attorney for the Creek Nation?

A. I have no independent recollection of it, I think I have with me though——

The Court: Well, you remember the fact, Judge, I take it, that he was in your employ?

A. Yes.

Q. I am not particular about the date. During the time he was in your employ, did you send him after Nancy Atkins to bring her to your office?

A. Yes, sir, I think I sent him. Mr. Cook, at that time, was conducting the investigation.

Q. It was either you or Mr. Cook that sent him. Did she come? A. She did not at that time.

Q. Then, you came to Judge Rosser and I and told us what you wanted and we told you we would have her come, didn't we?

Mr. Pinson: Objected to as leading.

Mr. Maxey: I was just trying to shorten it.

The Court: Does that comport with your recollection?

A. Substantially. The fact is that you telephoned me and said that you understood that I had sent for Nancy and that you would be glad to produce her if I wanted to talk to her, and that you would want to be present when the conversation occurred. Later you and Judge Rosser and Nancy Atkins, and yourself I think, came to my office.

Q. Now, you interrogated her and had the questions and answers written down, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir, it has been a long time. I didn't know, I had forgotten that they were transcribed. Mr. German says he has a copy.

Q. You had it transcribed and furnished us a copy. Now, have you the original?

A. Probably have. Mr. German says it was in his files.

Mr. German: I had that two or three days ago in the office and it is among my papers. I can't put my fingers on it now. It can be found among our papers.

Q. Now, after she had testified or after you got through interrogating her and taking her answers down, you asked that she be allowed to go in another room with Ellis Childers and let him talk to her alone, didn't you? A. I believe so.

Q. And after he had been in there with her for sometime and came out, you said you didn't care to interrogate her any further? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was about all that occurred there, isn't it, Judge?

A. I think so

Mr. Maxey: Now, we want to introduce that statement.

The Court: That is what statement?

Mr. Maxey: Her statement which she made to Judge Allen at that time.

Mr. Stuart: Is it in writing?

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir, taken in short-hand and transcribed.

The Court: Have you got it here? Mr. German says he knows he has the original.

Mr. Maxey: We haven't the copy here. Judge Rosser has it and I just 'phoned a while ago and they look for him in on the Flyer. Mr. German, you think you can find it?

The Court: Now, then, are there any objections to this going into the record?

Mr. Stuart: We object to it, your Honor, I can't see of any theory of law upon which this would be admissible. Nancy Atkins went and had a talk with them and they say she made a statement.

The Court: If there is any serious objections to this, it will not be admitted, because in my judgment it is clearly incompetent. I am interested in statements she made in Court as compared with her deposition before the trial.

Cross Exaination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Judge, at the time you employed Ellis Childers, you knew he was employed by Mr. White, didn't you?

A. I knew that he had been.

Q. And you knew that he had been getting up testimony for Mr. White, didn't you? A. He told me so.

Q. What did you pay him?

A. A hundred a month and expenses.

Q. Now, did you get authority to employ him?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was your general authority for employing people? A. My contract.

Q. Does that authorize you to employ anybody you want to?

A. No, I have to get specific authority from the Secretary of the Interior to employ any assistance.

Q. You got specific authority to employ him?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was paid out of the Creek funds? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And all the men you employ are paid out of the Creek funds? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. German: Judge, is there any statement you would like to make? A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Maxey: Now, it is understood we can offer that statement in evidence when we get it?

Mr. German: I will try to find it at noon for you.

Mr. Hill: If the Court please, we are ready to close with the exception of one witness. There is one witness we have sent for, I don't know whether we will use him or not. We would like to reserve the right.

The Court: What is his name?

Mr. Hill: McClaren. If he comes in, we would like to reserve the right to put him on the stand. Otherwise, the Nancy Atkins interest rests.

The Court: The next testimony will be in regard to Minnie and the Page interests.

Mr. Hanford: If your Honor please, at this time I wish to make some record. On behalf of the defendants Folk and Hanford, I want to interpose a demurrer to the evidence of the Government, on the ground that it does not show first that there was no evidence before the Dawes Commission as to the right of Thomas Atkins to enrollment; and on the ground that it fails to show any fraud practiced upon the Dawes Commission in making that enrollment; and fails to show that Thomas Atkins never had any existence.

I also wish to interpose a demurrer to the evidence on behalf of the defendant Nancy Atkins, so far as it goes to sustain their so called cross bill against the defendants Folk and Hanford, on the ground that it fails to show that Nancy Atkins ever had a son by the name of Thomas Atkins; fails to show that Minnie Atkins was not the mother of Thomas Atkins enrolled opposite Number 7913; and in so far as it goes to affect the entire cross action.

The Court: Is that all the record you desire to make?

Mr. Stuart: We make the same motion in demurrer on behalf of Mr. Page.

The Court: The record may show these demurrers to this evidence. In so far as they are proper in this character of case at this time the Court will reserve ruling, and I will determine that later. That is, they will be practically overruled for the present and exceptions noted.

Mr. Hanford: That includes the overruling of a motion for judgment for dismissal based upon the demurrers?

The Court: Well, if that is what you are seeking; if you desire to stand now on this evidence—— Let the record show your demurs to the evidence, the several demurrers read into the record and the Court will overrule them and give you your exception. You may proceed.

And thereupon, EMILY RIPLEY, was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins, et al., and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. Emily Ripley.
Q. Now, Mrs. Ripley, where do you live now?
A. Norfolk, Va.
Q. Who do you live with there? A. My son.
Q. How many sons have you now? A. Two.
Q. Where is your other son? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.
Q. Mrs. Ripley, did you ever live at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas? A. Oh, yes.
Q. When did you first go to Fort Leavenworth, as near as you can remember? A. I think in 1878.
Q. With whom did you go to Fort Leavenworth?
A. With my husband.
Q. With your husband. What was your husband with reference to the Fort, and what did he do?
A. He was a civilian employee.
Q. A civilian employee, working in what capacity?
A. He was chief clerk of the military prison.
Q. Did you know a Mrs. Grodevant there? A. Yes.
Q. What was her first name? A. Lettie.
Q. You may state to the Court whether you were friendly or intimate with Mrs. Grodevant? A. I was quite intimate.
Q. Where did Mrs. Grodevant live at the Fort?
A. She lived north of the prison wall.
Q. North of the prison wall? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where did you live?
A. On the east side of Riverside.
Q. How far was that from the Grodevants?

A. It was quite a little distance. It would be called quite a distance in a city, but not so very far in a military post; but we were across the prison and down the hill towards the depot; I can't tell.

Q. You may state whether you ever visited Mrs. Grodevant? A. Frequently.

Q. And you may state whether she ever visited at your house? A. Oh, very often.

Q. Did you ever at any time see an Indian woman at Mrs. Grodevant's? A. Yes.

Q. You know what they called her? A. Indian Minnie.

Q. Indian Minnie. Was there anything that attracted your attention to her, I mean in her general appearance first?

A. Yes, her physical development and her unusual coloring and her hair.

Q. Did you see her at Mrs. Grodevant's? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Now, I will ask you whether or not when you were at Mrs. Grodevant's you noticed anything peculiar about her physical condition? A. Yes.

Q. What did you notice, state to the Court?

A. She appeared to be about to become a mother. I saw her through a window one day, Mrs. Grodevant and I were in a room and we just discussed her appearance.

Q. And did she appear to be very far gone or little gone in pregnancy? A. Well, rather it seems to me advanced.

Q. Did you speak to Mrs. Grodevant about it?

A. Yes, I did, I just said Minnie looks as if she was pregnant; and Mrs. Grodevant said I believe she is.

Q. Now, when was it, Mrs. Ripley? A. It was in '85.

Q. How do you know it was in '85?

A. '85 was a memorable year for me.

Q. Well, just compose yourself?

A. I gave birth to a child and I lost a child in that year.

Q. In what portion of that year? A. In January, 1885.

Q. And one of your children died the same year?

A. In August.

Q. In August, 1885, and do you know whether that was before or after your child died? A. That I saw Minnie?

Q. Yes? A. It was before.

Q. Mrs. Ripley, did you see Minnie after that?

A. Oh, yes. Not after my child died.

Q. After you saw her in the yard when you say she was pregnant? A. Yes.

Q. How did she appear then?

A. Her condition was normal.

Q. Did you speak to Mrs. Grodevant about that?

A. Yes, Mrs. Grodevant said yes, Minnie has had a baby. That is just what she said.

Mr. German: I move, your Honor, to strike the conversation the witness had with Mrs. Grodevant as hearsay.

The Witness: I didn't catch your question, I beg your pardon?

The Court: It was without objection. No objection was made. The motion will be sustained and the Court will not consider that evidence. Your exceptions will be noted.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mrs. Ripley, when did you first live at Fort Leavenworth?

A. 1878 or '79, I am not sure about that, but I am quite sure then, it was earlier than the eighties.

Q. When were you married? A. I was married in '76.

Q. Where were you living at the time?

A. When I was married?

Q. Yes? A. In Leavenworth City.

Q. Did you continue to live in Leavenworth City until you moved to the Fort?

A. Just a year or two until quarters were built for my husband.

Q. When were you married? A. 1876.

Q. Then, it was a year or two until you moved to the Fort? A. Yes.

Q. When was your first child born? A. '77.

Q. Where? A. In Leavenworth.

Q. In Leavenworth? A. Yes.

Q. How old was your first child when you moved to the Fort?

A. I think my first child was, I think he must have been about two years old, between a year and a half or two.

Q. Can't you fix the time with more definiteness than that?

A. Well, I think he was a little over two years, for the reason we moved there in the spring and my first child was born in February.

Q. Your first child was born in February and the following spring following that you moved up to the Fort?

A. Yes, following his first birthday.

Q. You think it was the spring following his first birthday? A. Yes.

Q. Then he would be about a year and a quarter old?

A. Well, about that time as near as I can remember.

Q. So, it wouldn't be then when he was about two years old? A. Well, I guess not.

Q. Now, let's see. You are not certain what year it was you moved to the Fort?

A. No, I am not. I think it was in '79.

Q. It was either '78 or '79? A. Yes, I am quite sure.

Q. You may be mistaken—you may be about a year off there, is that right? A. I might be.

Q. In point of time? A. I might be.

Q. Where was your husband working before you moved up to the Fort?

A. In Nashville, Tennessee; he came to the Fort Leavenworth, he was a Government employee when he came to Fort Leavenworth.

Q. So, he had been working at the Fort while you were living down in the City? A. Yes.

Q. What was the name of the quarters you moved into out at the fort?

A. Well, they had no name and they were not designated by number, but it was on the east side of Riverside.

Q. Where with reference to the Officers quarters?

A. Just below on the same line.

Q. Which way is just below?

A. South towards the depot.

Q. What depot?

A. I think it was the Missouri Pacific depot that is on the reservation.

Q. Then how far in City blocks was it from where you lived that the Grodevant's lived approximately?

A. Well, about six or eight.

Q. Six or eight? A. Yes.

Q. You lived on the south side of the Military Prison?

A. Southeast side, east side rather.

Q. How far from the prison?

A. Well, just below the hill, that would be about three or four blocks.

Q. About three or four blocks? A. Yes.

Q. And the Grodevants lived north of the prison?

A. Yes.

Q. In what is known as Bluntville? A. Bluntville.

Q. That was outside the reservation? A. No.

Q. Was that in the reservation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It seemed to you so at least?

A. Well, I think I know so.

Q. Now, when did you first know Mr. Grodevant?

A. Well, I can't tell; I knew him when he first came there.

Q. What year was that? A. I don't know.

Q. Can you tell the Court approximately what year that was? A. Maybe in the early '80's.

Q. Yes, but you don't know whether it was '81, '82 or '83? A. I do not.

Q. When did you first know Mrs. Grodevant?

A. I knew her before I knew Mr. Grodevant.

Q. You knew her before their marriage? A. Yes.

Q. Where did she live?

A. She lived right next door to where I lived with her father and her mother.

Q. Down town? A. Oh, no, Fort Leavenworth.

Q. At the Fort? A. Fort Leavenworth.

Q. What were her parent's name?

A. West, Andrew West was her father.

Q. Then when did they marry?

A. I don't know; I don't remember.

Q. Can't you tell us the year? She was a pretty good friend of yours, wasn't she?

A. Yes, she was a particular friend of mine.

Q. You were at the wedding, weren't you?

A. She had no wedding.

Q. Well, you remember the occasion very well?

A. I remember the occasion.

Q. Can't you tell us when it occurred?

A. I cannot.

Q. Well, about when did it occur?

A. Well, it seems to me that Mr. Grodevant had not been there but a year or so when they were married.

Q. You can come within a year or two of the time, can't you? A. Yes.

Q. Now, where did they first live after their marriage?

A. With her parents.

Q. On the reservation? A. Yes.

Q. Next to where you were living?

A. Next door to where I was living.

Q. Then you were living in the quarters that had been provided for your husband? A. Yes.

Q. And the Wests lived next door? A. Yes.

Q. How long did they live with her parents?

A. Well, I think a year or two; maybe three years.

Q. Maybe three years? A. Yes.

Q. Well, you can come to within a year or two of it now, anyway, can't you? A. Yes.

Q. You don't know whether it was one, two or three years? A. I don't think it was as long as three years.

Q. Where did they go to, then, from there?

A. They moved to the house where they lived, in north of the prison wall, in Bluntville; that is the house that was built for Mr. Grodevant.

Q. When did they move in that house? What year?

A. I don't know.

Q. What time in that year?

A. I think it was in the fall.

Q. Was it in the fall of the same year in the '80's, wasn't it? A. Yes.

Q. Can you give us within a year or two of that year?

A. No.

Q. You cannot. Did they have any children?

A. Oh, not a while—she had a child the first year of her marriage while she was living next door to me but it was still born.

Q. Still born? A. Yes.

Q. You took an interest in her and noticed her, during her pregnancy with that child, didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. When was that child born?

A. That child was born the first year of their marriage but I don't know what year that was.

Q. Don't you remember what year that child was born to her and she suffered so?

A. I don't remember; I remember she had a very serious time, though.

Q. You know from an observation that a still born child is an extremely matter with a mother? A. Yes.

Q. In a case of still birth? A. Yes.

Q. And you was there and had an interest on that occasion, didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. Was it in the spring, fall, summer or winter?

A. I believe it was in the spring.

Q. You think it was in the spring? A. I am not sure.

Q. But you don't know what year? A. No, I don't.

Q. How long after that was it, that they moved into the house that was built for Mr. Grodevant?

A. It might have been a year, I don't remember exactly.

Q. Mrs. Ripley, about how many years did you observe Minnie Atkins, Indian Minnie I mean, around Fort Leavenworth? A. How many years?

Q. Yes, about how many years? A. No years.

Q. What? A. There was no years.

Q. Well, how long did you observe her around there?

A. Only while she was living with Mrs. Grodevant.

Q. That was the only time? A. The only time.

Q. Where did the officers live—where were the officers quarters in Leavenworth?

A. Around on the Main Parade and in the West End.

Q. How far from where you lived?

A. Well, it is hard to measure distances in that way when there were no blocks in the Government Reservation but they lived just south of the prison and west of the prison. Some of the quarters faced south, and some east, and some west.

Q. How far in city blocks was that from where you lived?

A. That the officers quarters were from where I lived?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, somewhere about—the same distance that Mrs. Grodevant's house was from mine when hers was north of the prison wall; some were farther.

Q. Now, in going to the station——

A. Oh, if you speak of the officers on duty at the prison? They lived all on one line; that is the officers quarters you are speaking of?

Q. Yes, that is right?

A. Oh, well, they were north and a little west of me.

Q. Now, going to the station, did you pass the officers quarters? A. Yes.

Q. Would you go right down the street or road-way that was between the different officers quarters or building put up as used by the officers quarters?

A. Did we go by?

Q. Yes? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Do you know where that Military school was, that officers school, where it was located in the '80's?

A. I think it was over in the west part.

Q. Some six or eight blocks from where you lived?

A. Yes, all of that.

Q. Did you know Lieutenant Stafford? A. No.

Q. You didn't know him? Did you know Lieutenant— who was in charge of the Fort at that time?

A. I don't remember; my acquaintance with the officers families was confined to the officers on duty at the Military Prison where my husband was employed.

Q. Well, you went around the Fort lots and lots of times, didn't you? Over the Fort grounds and reservation, didn't you? A. I used to ride over there.

Q. How? Horesback or—— A. No, buggy.

Q. Buggy, you would ride over the Fort grounds how frequently?

A. Sometimes I would go in the evening to Dress Parade and sometimes in the morning to see Guard Mounting, with my children.

Q. Would you go riding every day?

A. Yes, not always around the garrison.

Q. But you would ride around the garrison, now and then? A. Yes.

A. I never did, I haven't any recollection that I did.

Q. Of having done so.

A. I never walk.

Q. How would you go down to Mrs. Grodevant's residence? A. I used to walk, sometimes I rode.

Q. Then, you did walk some?

A. I thought you spoke of the garrison—the main garrison.

Q. Somewhere on the reservation? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Some days, didn't you and your husband take a walk over the reservation ground and go down sometimes past the officers quarters and all around?

A. Pass the prison officers quarters?

Q. Yes? And pass other officers quarters? A. No.

Q. Sure of that? A. No, my husband never cared to walk.

Q. Didn't care to walk?

A. My husband was a victim of locomotor ataxia and didn't walk.

Q. Oh, never walked? A. No.

Q. Didn't you take your children walking occasionally?

A. No.

Q. What other Indian girl worked at the Fort?

A. None that I knew of.

Q. What became of Minnie Atkins after she left the Grodevants? A. I don't know.

Q. You didn't see her? A. No, I didn't see her.

Q. Now, didn't you know Mrs. Ripley that she worked for Lieutenant Stafford right after leaving the Grodevant's?

A. I did not.

Q. You didn't know that. Worked for them nine or ten months following her services at the Grodevants?

A. I didn't know it.

Q. And that he was a young married officer there, you didn't know that? A. Was he on duty at the prison?

Q. He was teacher—he was one of the teachers at the officers school.

A. Well, I wouldn't be like to know him.

Q. One of the instructors who lived on the reservation there in quarters provided for him—you didn't know him?

A. Didn't know him.

Q. So, the reason, now, that you are fixing the time that you saw this pregnancy of Minnie as being while she was at the Grodevant's is because that is the only time that you ever knew Minnie at the Fort according to your best recollection at this time? A. That is the only time.

Q. So, if she was at the Fort at other times and stayed around there and walked around over the grounds with the soldiers, you don't remember it? A. No.

Q. Whose house were you sitting in at the time you and Mrs. Grodevant looked out the window and saw Minnie?

A. In Mrs. Grodevant's house.

Q. Where was Minnie? A. She was out in the yard.

Q. Grodevant's yard? A. Grodevant's yard.

Q. How long before that was it that you had seen her?

A. Well, I had seen her a few months before, I think, or a month before, I don't remember.

Q. How long after that was it until you saw her again?

A. Well, I really can't tell because I used to see her from time to time and I never paid any attention to the time, or the length of time that elapsed from seeing her one time to another.

Q. Now, Mrs. Grodevant was over to your house some?

A. Oh, yes.

Q. And it was over there that you saw Minnie when this condition of pregnancy was gone?

A. I beg your pardon?

Q. When Mrs. Grodevant was over to your house and you saw Minnie, this condition of pregnancy was gone?

A. No, it was at Mrs. Grodevant's.

Q. You never noticed this pregnant condition of Minnie's but once as I understand you?

A. Just once, that once that I was impressed with the fact that she was pregnant.

Q. On other occasions when you saw her you did not notice that? A. No.

Q. Minnie was at Mrs. Grodevant's from the 15th day of October, 1884 until the 15th day of September, 1885, wasn't she, Mrs. Ripley? A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know?

A. I don't know how long she was there.

Q. What year was it you saw Minnie there? A. In 1885.

Q. How do you fix it?

A. I fix it—that was the year in which I gave birth to a child and in which I buried one.

Q. Now, it was in August that you buried a child?

A. Yes.

Q. Was that the child that was born in January?

A. Oh, no.

Q. That was another child? A. Another child.

Q. That child was born when the one that you buried——

A. The child that I buried was born when?

Q. Yes? A. Born in November.

Q. In what year? A. Of '83.

Q. '83? A. '82.

Q. Of '82? A. '82.

Q. Wasn't that '83? Let's see; that child—how old was that child when it died?

A. That child was three years old.

Q. Three years old. Then that is the way that you figure up that it was '82? A. Yes.

Q. What is the birthday of your first child?

A. February 28th, '77.

Q. '77? February 28th, '77; is that child living? A. Yes.

Q. It is the same age that I am to a day.

A. Indeed? February 28th, 1877.

Q. Yes, Ma'am. Now, this child of yours that was born in January, '85, that of course was born at the quarters that was provided for your husband? A. Yes.

Q. How long before that child was born, was it that you seen Minnie? A. I hadn't seen her.

Q. You hadn't seen her? A. No.

Q. Hadn't seen her at all before that child was born?

A. No, because my child was born in January and I had not seen Minnie until the following summer.

Q. What was the first time that you saw Minnie that summer? A. I think it was in the spring.

Q. Spring, what time?

A. What do you want me to say, the month or the——

Q. Yes, approximately, Mr. Ripley. Just as near as you can get to it now?

A. Well, I can't tell but it seems to me that the spring was rather well advanced.

Q. What season—what month is it that you regard the spring as well as then?

A. Well, about June, the latter part of May or June.

Q. You would say the 31st day of May or the 1st day of June? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you have not seen Minnie before that at all?

A. No.

Q. You had been to the Grodevant's home during your carrying this child that was born to you in January—I mean prior to its birth?

A. I had gone there, you mean?

Q. Yes, to Mrs. Grodevant's? A. Yes.

Q. Frequently? A. Yes.

Q. And this girl was not working for Mrs. Grodevant at that time, I understand? A. No.

Q. And after this child was born, and that is in January '85, you went to Mrs. Grodevant's after you could get up and move around—walk around—you visited Mrs. Grodevant frequently? A. Yes.

Q. How often do you suppose it was that you visited Mrs. Grodevant between the time of the birth of this child in January '85 and the time that you saw Minnie for the first time?

A. Oh, I think it was a number of months.

Q. A number of months? A. Yes.

Q. Now, approximately how many? A. Three or four.

Q. Now, at Mrs. Grodevant's—did you eat meals with her sometimes? Dine with her? A. Not very often.

Q. You would sometimes?

A. In the evening. Mrs. Grodevant's meals—she didn't have them at the hours that we had ours.

Q. No? What hour did she have her meals?

A. She had her meals quite early; her husband was olibged to be in the shops, I think, at about half past seven or eight.

Q. In the morning? A. Yes.

Q. And in the evening, what time?

A. She had dinner about 12 o'clock and she had supper about six.

Q. About six; and you would eat with her sometimes?

A. I don't remember taking a meal at Mrs. Grodevant's in the daytime in my life, as well as I knew her. I had a husband and children——

Q. You did at night sometimes?

A. In the evening—just had lunch.

Q. What would be your occasion for visiting her so frequently?

A. I don't know; we used to play cards in the evening.

Q. Play cards? A. Play cards in the evening.

Q. Whist or what? A. Euchre and whist.

Q. Your husband would go over, too? A. Oh, yes.

Q. And Mr. Grodevant played? A. Oh, yes.

Q. You remember the brother Frank Grodevant?

A. Very well.

Q. He lived there, too? A. Yes, made it his home.

Q. Now, you would go over there about once or twice a week to play whist, wouldn't you? A. Yes.

Q. Would you go oftener or that or not so often as that?

A. Sometimes oftener and sometimes not so often.

Q. What would you do with this little child of yours born in January '85—during the spring of '85 when you would go over there, how did you handle it? A. I had a nurse.

Q. And the nurse would stay at home with that child?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, why is it, Mrs. Ripley, tell the Court how you remember so distinctly the first time you ever saw Minnie was the last of May or the first of June, '85?

A. How I remember so distinctly?

Q. Yes; that that must have been the time.

A. Well, because she was different; because she had Indian blood in her and she was unusual in her personal appearance.

Q. Very attractive? A. Very.

Q. And she was large or not?

A. Large, she was voluptous looking.

Q. She was larger than the average woman, wasn't she?

A. She—I think she was.

Q. And how did she wear her hair? A. In two braids.

Q. Two braids down her back?

A. Hanging down her back.

Q. Now, she attracted your attention the first time you saw her? A. Yes.

Q. And was she in a family way at that time?

A. Well, it was not apparent if she was.

Q. Now, when was that that you first saw her?

A. That I first saw her?

Q. That you first saw her.

A. I think it was in June.

Q. Of '85? A. Yes.

Q. And she was not in a family way as far as you could tell?

A. Oh, yes, that is when I discovered a difference, I thought, in her figure than when I first saw her.

Q. Oh, well, then, I haven't understood you, Mrs. Ripley, how long before that was it that you first ever saw Minnie?

A. I don't think it was but a month or so.

Q. A month or so? A. Yes.

Q. Where was it that you first saw her?

A. Mrs. Grodevant's.

Q. Now, you remember that occasion distinctly, the fact that it was about a month or so that you first saw her in a family condition from the time that you first saw her in your life? A. Yes, it was about a month or so that I——

Q. How do you fix the fact that you first saw Minnie, that you first saw Minnie ever in your life as being about a month before you first saw her in this family condition?

A. How do I fix what?

Q. How do you fix the time?

A. I have no way of fixing it, only the time just seems to me that that was about the time; that about a month or so had elapsed when I saw her again and that I noticed that there was something about her figure that I [ ] not noticed the first time I saw her.

Q. Then you saw her once before you saw this impregnated condition, and you saw the impregnated condition about the late spring of '85? A. Yes.

Q. Did you visit Mrs. Grodevant in the day time?

A. Sometimes.

Q. About how often?

A. I can't tell you; sometimes there was a week I didn't go up there, sometimes I went up there two or three times a week.

Q. How long was it after you saw her in this impregnated condition until you saw her again?

A. About two months it seems to me.

Q. About two months; where? A. At Mrs. Grodevant's.

Q. Where was she when you saw her that time?

A. I think she was in the kitchen.

Q. In the kitchen? A. I think so.

Mr. Stuart: Will you speak so I can hear you, please?

A. She was in the kitchen.

Q. And you were in the kitchen?

A. No, I was in the dinning room, next to the kitchen.

Q. Taking a meal there? A. No, I was not taking a meal.

Q. What was you doing in the dinning—having lunch?

A. No, Mrs. Grodevant was doing work around in there and I was sitting there talking to her.

Q. And you saw Minnie in the kitchen?

A. In the kitchen, yes.

Q. And she was not in a family way? A. No.

Q. It had disappeared? A. Yes.

Q. Tell the Court how she was dressed on that occasion.

A. Oh, I cannot.

Q. Well, did she have on a corset?

A. I think she did. I think she was always corseted; she looked that way, at any rate. I think she was always corseted.

Q. What was the color of her dress that day?

A. I don't remember; I only remember that she had on a kitchen apron.

Q. Kitchen apron; what was its color?

A. I can't tell you; I don't remember.

Q. Was she moving around in the kitchen or standing still? A. Yes, she was moving around.

Q. Working? A. Working.

Q. And so you saw her from all view-points? A. Yes.

Q. Now, when you saw her, looking out of the window that time, where was Minnie? A. Out in the yard.

Q. Mrs. Grodevant's yard? A. Yes.

Q. Was that a rainy day, or a cloudy day, or was it a sun-shiny day? A. It was a pretty, sun-shiny day.

Q. The grass was green? A. Yes.

Q. Now, how soon before that had it rained if you remember? A. I have no recollection.

Q. Well, which way was she—was she standing [] the yard or was she moving around?

A. She was moving around, I believe she was stretching a clothes line.

Q. Stretching a clothes line or hanging up clothes?

A. She was stretching a clothes line.

Q. On poles or what?

A. Well, they were close there in the yard.

Q. Close? A. Yes.

Q. Well, what did she have on? A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know? A. No.

Q. Did she have on a corset that day?

A. I think she did.

Q. Well, was it drawn tight? A. It appeared to be.

Q. It appeared to be drawn tight? A. Yes.

Q. And you say you saw her—now, did you see her from the back or from the front or from the side?

A. I think all sides.

Q. All sides? A. Yes.

Q. Was her condition prominent enough to make you sure or were you somewhat in doubt as to whether she was in a family way?

A. I was not very much in doubt because her figure was considerably exaggerated from the last time I had seen her.

Q. About a month before?

A. About a month before, yes; I can't remember just when.

Q. She was a portly woman then, wasn't she; rather stout built?

A. Yes, rather stout built; wouldn't call her portly.

Q. Rather stoutly built; she had large breasts, didn't she? A. Yes.

Q. Always did have? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And was rather tall; above the average height?

A. Yes.

Q. And she had rather a large frame, didn't she?

A. Yes.

Q. And she had on an apron that day out in the yard, didn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It was hanging loose? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you just formed the conclusion that she was in a family way? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you had seen Minnie, then, three times in your life before you came to Muskogee, hadn't you?

A. Oh, I had seen her oftener than that but I don't remember each time I saw her; I would catch a glimpse of her.

Q. Where? A. At Mrs. Grodevant's.

Q. When?

A. When she was living there in '85; when I was up there during the day.

Q. From the time that you first saw her in '85? A. Yes.

Q. How often?

A. I can't tell; it seems to me that I saw her almost each day when I was up there when she was there.

Q. Let's see. The only reason on earth that you fix this as being '85, is because you just think that is the year, isn't that the fact?

A. Oh, no, I don't just simply think, I am almost sure that is the year.

Q. Almost sure? A. Yes.

Q. And you just remember to be the year? A. Yes.

Q. And you played cards—played whist with the Grodevant's for several years? A. Yes.

Q. And you visited with Mrs. Grodevant at her home for several years? A. Yes.

Q. And you just feel sure this was '85 that you saw Minnie in a family way? A. Yes.

Q. You saw Minnie around sometimes in the streets of the Fort?

A. I don't remember ever to have seen her in the streets of the Fort.

Q. She didn't run around much, did she?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. She stayed at home nightly?

A. Oh, no, I don't think she did because she was not there all the time.

Q. How do you know?

A. Well, I know that she worked at Mrs. Grodevant's intermitently.

Q. Intermitently?

A. Yes, she would be there sometimes and then she would disappear and then she would come again.

Q. Well, where did you get that idea?

A. Where did you get that idea?

Q. Yes, ma'am.

A. Because I knew she had not been there.

Q. How do you know it?

A. By not finding her there, not seeing her there when I went up a few times.

Q. Then you know this, don't you, Mrs. Ripley, that she was not in the Grodevant home until prior to the first day of May, 1885? A. I don't know that she was not there.

Q. Well, why? You know when she was there. You just said you knew she worked there, intermitently. Now, let's see how you know.

A. Well, I don't know that she was not there before May.

Q. Why?

A. Well, because it was only after that that I saw her during the month of May or the latter part of May or the beginning of June.

Q. That you first saw her?

A. Yes, but I don't remember where she was there or not.

Q. Do you know when Minnie was there?

A. No, I don't.

Q. You just told the Court that you know.

A. Told the Court?

Q. Yes. A. I told the Court when I first saw her there.

Q. When now?

A. Some time the latter part of May or June.

Q. And if she was there before that you might have known that?

A. I might have known of her being there without seeing her.

Q. Did you know of her being there before that without seeing her?

A. I remember Mrs. Grodevant said she was going to have a new girl, that she was an Indian.

Q. When did Mrs. Grodevant tell you that?

A. I don't remember.

Q. What time, after the child was born or was it before?

A. Oh, it was after.

Q. You know it was after, don't you? A. Yes.

Q. You fix it by the child's birth?

A. Well, my child was born some months before that.

Mr. German: Your Honor, it is twelve o'clock. There is another matter we want to question this witness about.

Thereupon Court recessed until one-thirty P. M.

And thereupon, Court reconvened at one-thirty P. M., pursuant to adjournment, and the following proceedings were had:

And thereupon, EMILY RIPLEY was recalled for further cross examination and testified as follows:

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mrs. Ripley, what stage of pregnancy was Minnie when you first saw her that day through the window in that pregnant condition? A. I would say in the latter state.

Q. The enlargement was low? A. Yes.

Q. Down low. It wasn't high? A. No.

Q. You understand that in the latter stages the enlargement is down low? A. Yes.

Q. And that up to about the last month or two before birth the enlargement is high? A. Yes.

Q. You say the evidence of pregnancy then was pronounced? A. Yes.

Q. Very pronounced?

A. Well, as pronounced as can be with a woman who seemed to be wearing corsets, ordinarily women do not.

Q. Well, was it so pronounced as to be very marked, could you tell it distinctly?

A. Yes, I would have said distinctly that the woman was advanced in pregnancy.

Q. Now, you say it was about two weeks after that that you saw her in the kitchen and she was freed from that condition? A. I didn't say it was two weeks.

Q. How long was it?

A. I don't remember how long it was.

Q. About two months?

A. Yes, it seems to me maybe not quite two months. I am not sure.

Q. How came you to be here as a witness? A. I was called.

Q. Who called you? A. Mr. Bond.

Q. Lee Bond? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you known him?

A. A good many years.

Q. When did you first know him?

A. I can't recall just when, but I have known Mr. Bond ever since he was a boy.

Q. You were living in the City of Leavenworth when he was born, were you? A. When he was born?

Q. Yes? A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember the fact of his birth?

A. No, I didn't know his people at that time.

Q. You were not acquainted with them? A. No.

Q. Well, who was the first person ever talked to you about this? A. Why, Mr. Bond.

Q. Where? A. Leavenworth.

Q. When? A. It will be two years this summer sometime.

Q. Then, it was sometime in the summer of 1915?

A. Yes, I think it was. I think it was near the fall; it was not long before I went back to Cincinnati.

Q. How did you happen to be in Leavenworth?

A. I was visiting there.

Q. Who? A. I was visiting at my son's house.

Q. At that time you had a conversation with Mr. Bond about this? A. Mr. Bond had Mr. Long with him.

Q. Oh, Mr. Long saw you? A. Yes.

Q. Who did you have the conversation with, Mr. Long or Mr. Bond? A. With Mr. Long.

Q. Now, you didn't remember it very well at the that time did you at first? A. This?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, it seems to me that I remembered the principal things about as well as I do now.

Q. What are the principal things about it?

A. Well, the principal things are the dates at which, the time I remember making the discovery that Minnie was about to become a mother and after that when she returned to Mrs. Grodevant after the birth of her child.

Q. You remembered those two things then? A. Yes.

Q. Now, when did you come to Muskogee?

A. Wednesday morning, yesterday morning.

Q. Where from? A. From Norfolk, Va.

Q. Alone? A. Alone.

Q. All the way? A. All the way.

Q. Didn't some one come with you part of the way?

A. Not at all.

Q. Where did you first meet Mrs. Bond in the last two weeks? A. I beg your pardon?

Q. Where did you first meet Mrs. Bond in the last two weeks, where and when? A. I haven't been here but a week.

Q. You say a week Wednesday morning? A. Yes.

Q. Where, here in Muskogee?

A. Oh, no, I have been a week in Leavenworth, but in Muskogee I came yesterday morning.

Q. You were in Leavenworth a week before you came on here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, did Mrs. Bond meet you somewhere between Norfolk, Va., and Leavenworth? A. No, sir.

Q. You came with her from Leavenworth to Muskogee? A. Yes.

Q. Who did you talk with about this matter after the early fall of 1915 and prior to the time you came to Leavenworth last week? A. Who did I talk to?

Q. Yes? A. Well, Mr. Long.

Q. Where did he see you?

A. He saw me at the Planters Apartments.

Q. Where? A. In Leavenworth.

Q. When?

A. That was in the early fall I think it was, in August.

Q. 1915? A. 1915, yes, sir.

Q. After that who has been to Norfolk to see you?

A. No one has been to Norfolk.

Q. No one at all? A. No. No, a man came to Cincinnati.

Q. And talked to you? A. Yes.

Q. When? A. I believe it was in the month of July.

Q. What year? A. Last year.

Q. Last year? A. I am not sure whether it was July.

Q. Wasn't it in May?

A. I don't think it was so early as that.

Q. Now, anyhow it was sometime last year?

A. Last summer, yes.

Q. Now, who was that man?

A. I can't remember his name now, he was a lawyer from Cincinnati, who called me up on the telephone before coming to my house; and he asked when he could see me, he wanted to see me on business—I didn't know any one there and I asked what business he wanted to see me on, and he said he wanted to see me about the Indian Minnie case. And he asked what car he should take to come to my apartment and within an hour he was there.

Q. You talked to him?

A. Why I answered the few questions he asked.

Q. You told him you didn't remember about Minnie?

A. Oh, I couldn't have said that.

Q. Now, didn't you tell him that?

A. I don't think so, because I did remember.

Q. Well, didn't you tell him if she was ever in a family way you didn't know? A. No, sir.

Q. You say you did not say that? A. I did not say that.

Q. Who was that man?

A. I don't know and I can't even remember his name.

Q. Now, when did you talk with somebody else about it after that? A. No one.

Q. Until lately? A. Until lately, yes.

Q. Who have you talked with lately about it?

A. I talked to Mr. Bond and Judge Stuart.

Q. Now, let's see, do you know Dave Atchison, Mr. Bond's father-in-law? A. Yes.

Q. Have you talked with him? A. No.

Q. Where are you staying, over at the Severs Hotel? A. Yes.

Q. Mr. Atchison is there? A. Yes.

Q. And Mrs. Bond? A. Yes.

Q. You and they are around there together? A. Yes.

Q. And you say you don't talk about this matter any? A. Why, no.

Q. Are you sure of that?

A. We might say a little something in discussing it in some way. I think he told me he had been examined, but we haven't discussed it.

Q. Who told you Mr. Grodevant had an itemized expense account that showed payments to Minnie but that there were two weeks in June, 1885, missing, who told you that?

A. I don't remember that anyone told me that.

Q. You heard of that, didn't you?

A. I don't believe I did.

Q. You don't remember it? A. No.

Q. Are you quite sure of that Mrs. Ripley? A. I am.

Q. Quite sure. Did somebody not show you a copy of those entries in that little book? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew that Mrs. Grodevant kept an itemized account expense book?

A. I did not; I knew that Mr. Grodevant was very methodical and systematic about everything he did but so far as household expenses were concerned, I didn't think he went into such detail.

Q. Now, on the occasion that you and Mrs. Grodevant looked out the window and saw Minnie in the family way—you say that you and she talked about it? A. Yes.

Q. And she expressed surprise about her being in that condition?

A. Not exactly surprise. She had her back to the window and I was facing it and I saw Minnie out there and I remarked on this condition and I said Minnie looks to me like she is in a family way and Mrs. Grodevant said I am afraid she is.

Q. Afraid she is? A. Yes.

Q. But Mrs. Grodevant was not sure about it, was she?

A. Well, I think she was about as sure of it as I was at the time.

Q. But she didn't say she is in a family way, she said I am afraid she is?

A. She said I am afraid she is. She said isn't it too bad.

Q. Did she say I am afraid she is? Did she say that, now, Mrs. Ripley?

A. I am not sure now whether she said I am afraid she is or I think she is, I am not sure about that, but Mrs. Grodevant had a favorite expression—would say I am afraid she is—that is, or I think she is, that is a characteristic expression of Mrs. Grodevant's.

Q. Afraid she is or I think she is? Did Mrs. Grodevant then turn around and look at Minnie?

A. I don't think she did; I don't remember but I don't think she did. At that time I think we had some cook peaches on our lot.

Q. You were not afraid about whether Minnie was in a family way? A. No, I felt rather positive.

Q. You knew it, and you didn't just have a think on that subject did you? A. No.

Q. Because you know when a woman is in a family way?
A. Yes.

Q. You can tell it? A. Yes.

Q. Mrs. Ripley, isn't it a fact that you can tell when a woman is in a family way for at least four months before she gives birth to a child, isn't that a fact?

A. Oh, yes, you can tell it.

Q. There is no doubt about it. Is your husband living?

A. Beg pardon?

Q. Is your husband living? A. No.

Q. How long has he been dead? A. Three years.

Q. Have you been married more than once? A. No.

Q. What is your adress in Norfolk, Virginia?

A. 429 Olney Road.

Q. How do you spell that? A. O-l-n-e-y Road.

Q. How long have you been living there?

A. Since the first of April.

Q. 1917? A. '17.

Q. You lived in Cincinnati before that? A. Yes.

Q. How long? A. About three years, I think.

Q. What was your address in Cincinnati?

A. Just Westminster Building, an apartment house.

Q. Westminster building, where was it located?

A. Gilbert Avenue, on Walnut Heights.

Q. Where had you lived before that?

A. Leavenworth.

Q. Did you leave Leavenworth about four years ago?

A. I left Leavenworth three years ago.

Q. Three years ago and went to Cincinnati?

A. Went to Cincinnati.

Q. What was your address in Leavenworth, your last address?

A. My last address was the Planters Apartments, Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. Where are they located?

A. On Shawnee and the Esplanade.

Q. Shawnee and the Esplanade. Shawnee is the street running east and west immediately south of Seneca, isn't it?

A. Yes.

Q. And Esplanade is the street just east of First street, isn't it? A. Yes.

Q. On—just off of Main street?

A. Main street, that is the Esplanade, northern extension of Main street.

Q. Of Main street? A. Yes.

Q. Well, let's see, isn't Main street——

> The Court: Now, will there be any light thrown on the case by these details? You have the address.

> Mr. German: Yes, only one question in reference to that.

Q. Where is that in reference to the business part of the town?

A. Well, it is rather off; the business part of the town is more west.

Q. West of that and that is near the river?

A. Right on the river bank.

Q. Right near the depot?

A. Yes, just above the Union Depot.

Q. Did you talk with anybody during the noon hour about your testimony this morning?

A. Just talked about my testimony, how scared to death I was, and I didn't think I would live through it.

Q. Who did you talk with? A. Mr. Bond.

Q. Over to the hotel? A. Beg pardon?

Q. Over to the Severs hotel? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you say that the last time that you saw—I mean the first time that you ever saw Minnie was about a month before you saw her during—through the window, in this impregnated condition.

A. Well, maybe it was a couple of months before I saw her in this impregnated condition. I had a young baby at that time and I didn't go out very much.

Q. You hadn't a baby?

A. Yes, I had a little baby; baby was born in January of '85.

Q. Well, you didn't go over to Mrs. Grodevant's at that time? A. No, not at that time.

Q. Not twice a week, or maybe oftener?

A. No, not so often as I did prior to the coming of this child.

Q. Well, prior to the coming of the child in January, you had been there extremely frequently?

A. I was over that winter because——

Q. How?

A. Over that winter because I was pregnant and went out but little.

Q. After this child came, you had a nurse to take care of it? A. I did.

Q. And you went over there quite often? A. Yes.

Q. Quite often. You say it might have been two months before she was in this pregnant [] that you first saw her?

A. Yes.

Q. This morning you said one month; why do you now change that?

A. Well, because I am thinking about it now a little more clearly and it seems to me that it was a little longer than that.

Q. Little longer? A. Yes.

Q. You said this morning that you only saw her that one time, the first time you ever saw her and that the next time you saw her was through the window, in this impregnanted condition. Now, let's see; had your memory been refreshed any on that? A. Why, no.

> Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, I don't know whether it is proper to interrupt, she didn't state—she said she remembered those things.
>
> Mr. German: Well, she says her memory has not been refreshed.
>
> The Court: I don't remember the testimony as counsel incorporated it in the question, anyhow; of course the record we will rely on.

Q. Now, you say that Mrs. Grodevant told you that she was going to have an Indian to work for her? A. Yes.

Q. How long was it after your child was born that she told you that?

A. Oh, this was before my child was born that she told me this.

Q. You know it was? A. Yes.

Q. Well, didn't you say this morning that it was afterwards?

A. I don't think I did; I think I said it was before my child came that she told me she was going to have an Indian girl to work for her.

Q. Well, you say you talked with Mr. Bond during the noon hour?

A. Yes, just a little, just what I said, just discussed my—

Q. Over there in the southeast corner of the lobby of the Severs? A. I don't know the points of the compass.

Q. Well, it was in the corner of the lobby?

A. One corner, yes, sir.

Q. Then, how long after Mrs. Grodevant told you that was it until you saw Minnie?

A. Well, it must have been two months or so.

Q. Two months or more? A. Yes.

Q. How old was your child when you first saw Minnie?

A. Well, she was born in January?

Q. Yes?

A. And this must have been—I saw Minnie after that I think it was maybe July or August, I can't remember which. Remember I was mother myself and had a great deal to attend to, my husband, myself and my family.

Q. I say, not let's misunderstand. I ask you how long after the birth of your child until you saw Minnie?

Mr. Stuart: These ladies had better go out.——

The Court: While those witnesses are coming, the record may show in view of the cross examination of this witness, that the ruling of the Court this morning excluding the conversation between this witness and Mrs. Grodevant at the time the witness testified she noticed the pregnant condition of Minnie Atkins, will be set aside and that conversation will be permitted to remain a part of the record.

Mr. German: We except, your Honor. Will you read her the question, please? (Question read).

A. I think maybe three or four months; maybe four months.

Q. Maybe four months? A. Yes, I am not quite sure.

Q. And where was it you saw her?

A. I saw her out in the yard.

Q. Out in the yard? A. Yes.

Q. What was she doing?

A. I believe she was stretching the clothes line.

Q. That was the first time you had ever seen her?

A. No, I had seen her in the house. This was the first time I saw her that I thought she was pregnant

Q. Did she—— The very first time you ever saw her, how long was that after the birth of your child?

A. Two or three months.

Q. Your child was born in January? A. Yes.

Q. What time? A. The 8th.

Q. Then it would have been in March or April that you first saw her? A. Yes, March or April.

Q. Then, in the last of May or first of June you saw her in this condition? A. Yes.

Q. When was it you said your child died?

A. My child died in August.

Q. What time, what day? A. The 25th of August.

Q. How long was it before that that you saw Minnie for the last time before that?

A. The last time before that I think it was in July.

Q. July? A. Yes.

Q. How long had your child been ill? A. About a week.

Q. So, you think it was in July then you saw her the last time before your child's death, and was that the only time you saw her after you had seen her in the yard in this impregnated condition?

A. I believe it is, I believe that is the only time I saw Minnie after that. I went into mourning.

Mr. German: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cruce.

Q. Mrs. Ripley, what relation are you to Mr. Bond, if any?

A. I am no relation to Mr. Bond, I never considered myself a relative; Mr. Bond and my son married sisters.

Q. Now, did you tell Mr. German, have you since the noon hour, the gentleman who was just questioning you, that you had spoken to Mr. Bond during the recess of Court during the noon hour? A. Yes.

Q. Did you tell Mr. German that before you came to the witness stand after dinner?

A. Did I tell him that? I don't think I spoke to him until after I came up here.

Q. Do you know how he knew that you had had a conversation with Mr. Bond during the noon hour?

A. Well, I don't know, I can't imagine, this is all a great mystery to me.

Q. Do you know how the Government knew that you were living in Cincinnati? A. No.

Q. You don't reemmber the name of the man who came to see you in Cincinnati? A. I do not.

Q. He claimed to be a lawyer? A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember whether you have seen him here or not? A. Whether I have ever seen him again?

Q. I say, do you remember whether you have seen that Cincinnati lawyer here?

A. No, I wouldn't know him if I would see him.

Q. He told you he had been sent to see you by a Muskogee lawyer? A. Yes.

Q. Did he give you the name of the Muskogee lawyer?

A. He did not.

Q. Did you answer him truthfully as you remembered at that time?

Mr. German: We object to that as incompetent.

The Court: Overruled.

A. Yes, I think I answered his questions as nearly as I could remember and truthfully.

Q. Have you seen him since? A. Never.

Q. Has he or the Muskogee lawyer ever requested you to appear here as a witness? A. Never.

Q. Who were you living with in Cincinnati?

A. I was living with my son, keeping house.

Q. With your son?

A. I was living in an apartment house.

Q. With your son? A. Yes.

Q. Who are you living with now?

A. I am living with my son.

Q. In Norfolk, Va.? A. In Norfolk, Va.

Q. Is he a married man? A. No, sir.

Q. What is his business?

A. He travels for Proctor & Gamble.

Q. Now, Mrs. Ripley, you remember that your child was born in January, '85? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember that the time you saw Minnie in this condition was after the birth of that son and before the death of your other son?

A. After the birth of that girl, it was a girl, yes, sir.

Q. Can you be mistaken about that?

Mr. German: We object to that as argumentative.

The Court: I would like to ask Mrs. Ripley just this: What is it that causes you to associate your seeing Minnie with the death of your child and causes you to know you saw her in this condition before the death of your child. Is there anything you have in mind that causes you to know that one was before the other?

A. That one came before the other.

The Court: Yes?

A. Yes, I remember when my child was born and that was the year that was memorable to me, that Mrs. Grodevant and I had been very warm friends; and that at the death of my child in August, Mr. Grodevant and I had had a difference and I missed her very much and she didn't come to my house. That is how I remember.

Q. You remember the year of the death of your child?

A. Oh, yes.

Q. Did you answer this morning that yo unever to your recollection had seen Minnie anywhere except at Grodevant's?

A. Did I say that this morning?

Q. Is that the fact? A. That is the fact.

Q. Do you think you can be mistaken about her being in that condition? A. I could not be mistaken.

Q. Was your husband regarded as an officer or civilian?

A. No, sir, my husband was a civilian employee of the Government.

Q. What direction from the Fort did you live, you and your husband? A. East.

Q. And what direction from the Fort where the officers' quarters? A. West and northwest.

Q. Well, were they under the same commander or different commander?

A. Absolutely different. The Commandant of the prison had no authority over the military reservation and the commandant of the Fort had no jurisdiction over the prison. Those were as separate and distinct as though they were miles apart.

Q. Now, what was the custom as to whether the famlies of civilians associated generally with the famliies of the officer? A. There was no mixing.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. But there wasn't any prohibition against your walking around among the houses? A. Absolutely no, absolutely.

Q. And you did do that? A. I had occasion to, yes.

Q. And you did see the officers now and then on the streets didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. And their families? A. Yes.

Q. They would see you and those of your family?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you and Mrs. Grodevant patch up your difference?

A. Just prior to their going away when they left Fort Leavenworth, and I don't remember when that was.

Q. About when did they leave Fort Leavenworth?

A. I believe it was in the fall, I am not sure.

Q. Of what year?

A. In the very latter part of the eighties, maybe as late as the latter part of '89 or '90, but I am not sure.

Q. Now, what was that difference?

Mr. Stuart: Now, your Honor, we object.

The Court: Well, she stated that they had a particular difference. I asked her what it was. I desired to know what it was that associated those two things together in that relation, the one before the other. She stated that she had a difference—— I am rather averse to going into that difference. I assume that you want to hear from Mrs. Grodevant or some other source about this difference?

Mr. German: Yes, Mrs. Grodevant isn't living. I will leave it off, your Honor.

Q. Now, was that difference pretty serious?

A. Well, it was.

Q. Rather serious? How long after the death of your child was it until you and she had this difference?

A. It was before, the difference.

Q. How long before? A. Well, just a very short time.

Q. How long after the birth of your child in January was it that you and she had that difference?

A. Oh, it was sometime, because it was just prior to the death of the child in August that we had this difference.

Q. Did it relate to Minnie?

A. No, no, not at all. I can tell you what it was. It was a foolish disagreement over a card game, card club; a very foolish thing but at the time we thought it quite serious.

Q. I thought you testified this morning that after the death of your child that you continued to play cards frequently with Mrs. Grodevant?

A. No, sir, after the death of my child, I don't see how you could have understood me that way.

Q. Where did you play cards?

A. That was prior to the death of my child.

Q. Well, when you did begin playing cards again with whom did you play?

A. I may have played with the Grodevants again.

Q. You knew the Collins' who lived there?

A. Oh, yes, but there was as much difference in a social way between those people as there was between me and the officers.

Q. Mrs. Grodevant was a very highly refined lady, was she not? A. Yes, a very charming woman.

Q. And so was her husband a charming man? A. Yes.

Q. Elegant people. Who was there that lived in Bluntville—— They lived in what you called Bluntville? A. Yes.

Q. You didn't? A. No.

Q. Who was there in Bluntsville that you played cards with?

A. I played cards with Mr. and Mrs. McGowan.

Q. Where did they live with reference to the Grodevants?

A. They lived away down on a place that was called the Government Lane, way north of that.

Q. I am speaking of Bluntville?

A. Yes, way north in Bluntville.

Q. About how many blocks? A. Oh, I can't tell.

Q. One or two? A. It was more than that.

Q. Did you play with the McGowans after the death of your child? A. I may have done so, I don't remember

Q. Well, did you play with anybody after the death of your child?

A. Not immediately after; if I played it was a good many months afterward.

Q. But you did play cards with some one?

A. Yes, I think I did; I don't remember, because it would have been the most natural thing for me to do.

Q. Now who? Tell us who? A. Who?

Q. Yes? A. Well, the Grodevants.

Q. After the Grodevants, I am speaking of after the death of your child? A. With the McGowans, the Aikens.

Q. Where did the Aikens live?

A. West of Mrs. Grodevant, where she lived.

Q. West how far?

A. West, well that would be about a city block. The back part of their house came almost on the street to which Mrs. Grodevant fronted.

Q. You would pass by the Grodevants in going to the McGowans and going to the Aikens?

A. I didn't have to pass but went all the way to the prison, went around south and west of the prison.

Q. Instead of going east of the prison?

A. Yes, east and west.

Q. In going to the Grodevants, you would go right east of the prison to the Grodevants' home, wouldn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. You didn't go down that way any more?

A. Not for a long time.

Q. When did you go to the Grodevant house after the death of your child? A. I don't remember.

Q. Did you go there?

A. I think I must have, but I don't remember. I have no recollection.

Q. You resumed your visits with Mrs. Grodevant after the death of your child? A. Yes.

Q. And played some cards in her house again?

A. Yes, I think I did.

Q. You think you did, and she would come to your house and play cards? A. Yes.

Q. Did you go to Mrs. Grodevant's very often to play cards after the death of your child?

A. No, we were not so friendly, after the break, we were not so friendly.

Q. So you did then, play cards at Mrs. Grodevant's after the death of your child? A. Yes.

Q. What cemetery was your child buried in?

A. I beg your pardon?

Q. Mount Muncie?

Q. At Leavenworth? A. Leavenworth.

Q. What was its name? A. John Prosper.

Q. John Prosper? A. John Prosper Ripley.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: If the Court please, at this time I wish to offer in evidence taken before Mr. Giles A. Penick, Special Examiner, of Mrs. Cornelia Hyde Collins, beginning at page 542.

Mr. German: I thought she was here?

Mr. Hanford: She is not here, never has been.

The Court: Well, it may be offered. If she should appear, then the deposition will not be used and she will be allowed to testify.

And thereupon CORNELIA HYDE COLLINS, being called on behalf of the defendants Page, Josey and Hanford, and being first duly sworn, under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Will you please state your name, Mrs. Collins?

A. Cornelia Hyde Collins, commonly known in Leavenworth as Nellie.

Q. Mrs. Collins, you are the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Hyde? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Formerly of Leavenworth, Kansas? A. Yes.

Q. And you have lived with them there while they were in Leavenworth? A. Yes.

Q. About what year did you leave Leavenworth?

A. I left Leavenworth to go off to school in '88; left Leavenworth to go to Honolula and I haven't been back, in 1897.

Q. You have lived in Pittsfield, Mass., this place a number of years? A. Since 1903, yes.

Q. That was since your marriage?

A. That was since I was married, yes.

Q. Did you live in Leavenworth during the years 1884 and 1885, Mrs. Collins? A. Yes, I did.

Q. About how old was you at that time?

A. I was born in 1870; I was 14 years old in 1884.

Q. Did you know an Indian girl named Minnie Atkins?

A. I did.

Q. State whether or not she worked for your family.

A. She worked for us for a few months; I can't tell how many months—as general housework girl.

Q. Do you remember the occasion of her leaving your employ?

A. Yes; quite suddenly and unexplained at the time.

Q. Do you know of any companions that she had, or attentions of men while she worked for you?

A. I remember seeing this soldier two or three times possibly around our back door. I shouldn't know his face but I remember seeing a man in soldier's uniform.

Q. Did he come there to see Minnie?

A. We thought that was why he came.

Mr. Allen: We object to that and ask that it be stricken as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and a conclusion of the witness.

Q. Well, the appearances were that he came——

A. Yes.

Mr. Allen: We object to that as leading, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and calling for a conclusion.

Q. Did you ever see Minnie after she left your employ?

A. I saw Minnie once after she left us, on Choctaw street.

Q. That was in the city of Leavenworth?

A. In the city of Leavenworth.

Q. What was the occasion of your seeing her at that time?

A. I was driving back from town—I had been on an errand—and was driving up with our horse and buggy, and I saw Minnie on the left hand side of the street. Do you know Leavenworth?

Q. The left hand side of Choctaw street?

A. Of Choctaw street, without a hat, apparently as if she were staying about there.

> Mr. Allen: We object to that answer and ask that it be stricken because it is not responsive to the question; incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and stating the conclusion of the witness—announcing a conclusion of the witness.

Q. Can you state between what cross-streets that would be?

A. Yes, I was on Fourth street, so she would have been between Third and Fourth, walking.

Q. I will ask you, Mrs. Collins, if you can—if you will describe the nature of the place that you saw her in front of, in your own words.

A. Choctaw street was a disreputable part of town—a good many rough kind of people lived down there.

Q. I will ask you if the place that you saw her standing in front of was one of those disreputable places? A. Yes.

Q. Did you notice Minnie's physical condition at that time?

A. Yes, I noticed immediately, and was shocked, and realized that must have been why she left our house when she was pregnant.

Q. About how long was that after she left your house?

> Mr. Allen: We object to that last answer and ask that it be stricken for the reason that it is not responsive to the question; incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and states a conclusion of the witness.
>
> Mr. Hanford: Your objection is to the last part of the answer, Judge?
>
> Mr. Allen: Object to this question for the reason that is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and calling for the conclusion of the witness.

Q. Mrs. Collins, will you state how long it was after Minnie left your house, that you saw her?

A. I think that it must have been two months possibly: enough so that I realized that that was why she left our house

> Mr. Allen: We object for the reason that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and ask that it be stricken as stating—for the further reason, that a conclusion of the witness.

Q. I will ask you why, Mrs. Collins, you said you were shocked at Minnie's condition—why?

Mr. Allen: We object to the question for the reason that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial—leading and calls for a conclusion of the witness.

Q. Why do you state, Mrs. Collins, that you were shocked at Minnie's condition? A. Because——

Mr. Allen: We object to that question for the same reasons.

A. Because we didn't think that she was a bad girl.

Q. Is there anything that fixes in your mind the length of time after she left your house that you saw her in this condition—was there anything connected with your seeing her that makes you recall that it was only a short time?

A. Well, if it had been some length of time, I should not have thought that such a thing could have happened at our house, but it was near enough that I felt it must have happened while she was there.

Mr. Allen: We object to the question and ask to strike the answer for the reason that it is not responsive to the question, and states a conclusion.

Q. Did you ever see Minnie after that, Mrs. Collins?
A. Never.

Q. Did you ever know of her having given birth to any children? A. Well, I heard of one baby.

Mr. Allen: We object. Just what you know. Did you ask her if she—I move to strike the answer because it is not responsive to the question and is hearsay.

Q. Do you know when, or how long, after you saw Minnie in that condition that you heard of this one baby?
A. No, nothing definite.

Mr. Allen: We object to that for the reason that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and hearsay. Move to strike the answer for the reason stated.

Q. Mrs. Collins, when you saw Minnie on this occasion on Chostaw street, what was her condition?
A. She was evidently a pregnant woman.

Mr. Allen: We move to strike the answer for the reason that it states a conclusion of the witness, is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Can you state more definitely, Mrs. Collins, what her condition was?
A. I don't know that I can state it more definitely.

Q. I will ask you to state whether or not she was in a pregnant condition? A. She was in a pregnant condition.

Q. Did you observe anything to indicate that her condition was otherwise than normal?

Mr. Allen: Just answer that yes or no, Mrs. Collins, please, so that I can get in an objection to his next question.

Mr. Hanford: Instead of Judge Allen there, just put that Mr. Hanford.

Q. Just answer that yes or no, please, Mrs. Collins.
A. She was very large, yes.

Mr. Allen: We move to strike the answer for the reason that it is not responsive to the question, and states a conclusion of the witness.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mrs. Collins, what year did you say that you were born in? A. 1870.

Q. You were then 14 years old? A. 14 years old.

Q. When Minnie Atkins left the employ of your father?
A. Yes.

Q. At that time had you ever associated with—had you began to go with boys at all?
A. I went through high school?

Mr. Hanford: I object to the question as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and improper cross-examination.

Q. That has been 31 years ago? A. Yes.

Q. Nearly 32 years ago now? A. Yes.

Q. Minnie worked at your house and up until the time that she left there, you believed she was a good, virtuous girl, didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. Would it not have shocked you as much at your age to have seen her in that condition several years afterwards as it would have—— A. No.

Q. You frequently went to town and around through town, at that time, didn't you—almost daily? A. Almost daily.

Q. You never saw her in all of your trips around town?
A. Not after that.

Q. But that one time that you saw her on Choctaw street?
A. Yes.

Q. If she had been in and around the town of Leavenworth, don't you suppose you would have seen her?
A. Not necessarily.

Q. You didn't frequent the Fort at that time, did you?

A. We went occasionally to concerts or for a drive.

Q. Do you know Frank Long?

A. Mr. Long came to our house once.

Q. He explained to you in detail the evidence in the Atkins case, did he not? A. Well——

Q. He told you of the time Minnie worked for you, didn't he?

A. He brought my father's post card which made it positive what time. I could have told——

Q. He told you of this child being born at a negro's house, didn't he?

A. Yes, after I had told him what I had remembered.

Q. He told you of this child being born at a negro woman's home between the time that she worked for you and the time that she worked for Grodevant at the Fort, didn't he?

> Mr. Hanford: I object to the question as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial as to what Long told her and she told Mr. Long.

A. Yes, he did.

Q. You had told him that you were unable at that time to state definitely just how long it was after Minnie left your house until you saw her in the pregnant condition? A. Yes.

Q. And you wrote me to the same effect? A. Yes.

Q. This is the first time I have seen you, I believe?

A. Yes.

Q. Mrs. Collins, has anbody else talked to [] besides Mr. Long? A. No.

Q About the facts in the Atkins case? A. No.

Q. Did Mr. Long explain to you that this Minnie would win a big estate that he was able to prove the identity of this child?

A. He said that there was a—a valuable land at stake.

Q. That was dependent upon her proving that she had this child at this negro home?

A. Yes, that she had the child.

Q. Between the time that she worked for you and Grodevants? A. Yes.

Q. He told you of Minnie having left that child there, and of having paid no more attention to it after the child was a year, or such a matter old, didn't he?

> Mr. Hanford: I object to the question that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and I want my objections to go to all this line of interrogation regarding to what Mr. Long told the witness or the witness told Mr. Long.

Q. Is that true, Mrs. Collins? A. Yes, he told us.

Q. Now,——

Mr. Hanford: Is it agreed, Judge Allen, that my objection may stand?

Mr. Allen: Yes, sir, the same objection may go to each question.

Q. Up until the time that Long came here and talked to you, had you thought of Minnie Atkins in several years?

A. Yes, because——

Q. Who first called your attention to her?

A. Mrs. Elizabeth Booth, of Leavenworth, sent me some clippings about the case.

Q. That was some year and a half ago? A. Yes, I think so.

Q. Up until that time you hadn't thought of Minnie since you saw her on Choctaw street, had you?

A. Why, I think so, occasionally, because I have seen my aunt Mary since then and she would suggest Minnie, don't you know.

Q. Your aunt Mary is not living now?

A. She is not living.

Q. How long had she been dead?

A. She died in February 1910.

Q. About how many times have you seen her since 1884?

A. Let me see—I can't—she has visited at our house and I have visited at her's and I have seen her in Wichita, and visited in Ware, where she lived.

Q. About how many times had you discussed with her Minnie Atkins since 1884?

A. I can't say.

Q. Very few times? A. Yes, very few times.

Q. Mrs. Collins, in those times there was nothing to attract your attention to the time when you saw Minnie with reference to the time when she left your home, was there?

A. No, I think not.

Q. So, the first time that that had become an issue that caused you to think about the time that you saw her with reference to the time that she left your house, was about the time Long came here and told you of the importance of that, wasn't it?

A. Not at all, for I had remembered the definiteness of my feeling about Minnie's condition; it was one of the most shocking things in my life.

Q. You were young then and didn't realize just how they—— A. Just what things were, no.

Q. Would progress, did you? A. Yes, I knew it.

Q. You were not able to say then about how long before she would become a mother, were you?

A. Not definitely, but I knew of such things. I was the oldest in my mother's family.

Q. She was large woman, wasn't she?

A. Yes, above the medium; in fact, when she was with us——

Q. She wore a corset and went dressed up when she was with you, did she? A. Not at her work always.

Q. And looked neat? A. No.

Q. When you saw her on Choctaw street she had a wrapper on, didn't she? A. Yes.

Q. And was loose? You rode up in the buggy, didn't you? A. I turned around to look.

Q. You didn't stop and talk to her? A. No, I didn't stop.

Q. Was she going across the street or——

A. She was apparently crossing from one side of Choctaw street to another so that she was parallel with me.

Q. And you just glanced around at her, and your horse went on?

A. Yes, went on up the hill. I told my mother about it when I went home.

Q. You don't know, and you didn't inquire after that about her condition?

A. No one to inquire of—I didn't know about that.

Q. You are not able to say, now, just how long it was, are you? A. No, not positively.

Q. The thing that impresses upon your mind is the fact that you saw this mere girl, who had been a domestic girl in your home, and had been sent to your home by your father's sister——

A. My father's sister.

Q. In what appeared to you to be in a pregnant condition, on the street, as you were driving by?

A. Yes, but soon enough afterwards so that it was very evident——

Q. That is the way it impresses you now?

A. Impressed me then. There would have been no feeling of shame in my mind if I had thought it had happened some where else.

Q. You feel that way now? A. I felt that way then.

Q. The matter had not suggested itself to you in 31 years, had it, until Mr. Long came up to you?

A. I think so; it was the only time any such thing happened at our house.

Q. The only time that one of your former domestics——

A. Had ever gone wrong.

Q. Ever gone wrong. Anybody else ever work while Minnie was there?

A. I presume we had a laundress—we generally did.

Q. When did you leave Leavenworth?

A. August 1888 to Boston to go to school.

Q. Have you ever lived in Leavenworth since then?

A. I have visited my mother but never continuously; I have either taught or lived away since then.

Q. You are quite sure, Mrs. Collins, that you never saw Minnie at any time except the one time that you saw her on the street as you were driving casually by?

A. That is the only time that I remember of.

Q. And that then from her loose and large condition, and appearance you got the idea that she was in the family way?

A. Yes, there was no mistaking it.

Q. Haven't you seen lots of women in your life, even after you arrived at on older age, who were shapeless and who wore wrappers, and who were large, and you couldn't tell whether they were in a family way or not?

A. Not frequently, no.

Q. You say you were just driving by on the street when you saw her? A. Yes.

Q. She was a large woman, wasn't she?

A. She wasn't fat when she was with us; she was tall.

Q. And slender but not fat—there was no superfluous flesh.

Q. Where did she go after she left your home, Mrs. Collins? A. We didn't know.

Q. You are just—were you a large girl for your age at that time?

A. Yes, I was about grown; about as large as I am now. I don't mean as fat, but I was tall—didn't grow any after I was 14.

Q. What month were you born in? A. July.

Q. In July, 1870? A. '70.

Q. Mr. Long told you that if this proof could—if they were able to prove that this child was born after Minnie worked for you, before she work- for Grodevant, that Minnie would get this large estate?

Mr. Hanford: I object to the question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination.

A. He didn't say that she would get it, he said that it was at stake.

Q. You understood——

A. That she would get, I supposed, something for it.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mrs. Collins, have you any interest in this property or any concern in it at all? A. Not the slightest in the world.

Q. Would your testimony have been influenced by anything that Mr. Long may have told you as to what was at stake? A. Not in the least.

Q. I will ask you if your testimony had been in any way been influenced by the facts in the case?

A. Not in the slightest.

Q. Or what you heard from Mr. Long? A. Not at all.

Q. Mrs. Collins, you are a widow are you not? A. Yes.

Q. Your husband was a manufacturer, was he, in——

A. Here in Pittsfield.

Q. And a financier? A. Somewhat.

Q. He was a director in several banks?

A. No, a director in the Berkshire Fire Insurance Company; that was the only thing in which he was a director besides his mill.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. In your letter to me, Mrs. Collins, you stated that you were unable to say just how long it was after Minnie quit working for you that you saw her on Choctaw street in what you thought to be a pregnant condition, did you not?

A. Yes.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: And the deposition of Mrs. John B. Sheehan, taken at Washington, D. C., beginning at page 586.

MRS. JOHN D. SHEEHAN, being called on behalf of the defendants, Page, Hanford and Folk, and first duly sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Will you state your name, Mrs. Sheehan?

A. Mrs. John D. Sheehan.

Q. You are a resident of Washington, D. C.? A. Yes.

Q.. How long have you resided in Washington?

A. Continuously, do you mean?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, for the past three years continuously, previous to that I had been here several years, and then living in Virginia—a part of the time in Maryland.

Q. Your husband is employed in the General Land Office? A. Yes.

Q. What was your name before you were married, Mrs. Sheehan? A. Margaret Curry.

Q. What were you called—your first name?

A. Maggie Curry.

Q. Did you formerly live in Leavenworth, Mrs. Sheehan?

A. Yes.

Q. You lived there as a girl, did you not? A. Yes.

Q. A part of the time, did you live at Fort Leavenworth?

A. Yes.

Q. You lived with your mother there? A. Yes.

Q. Did you know Mrs. Herbert Grodevant? A. Yes.

Q. State whether or not she was a neighbor of your mother's? A. Yes, she lived next door to us.

Q. Was that in the part of Fort Leavenworth where the people who reside who are connected with the Military Prison? A. Yes, it was called Bluntville.

Q. Col. Blunt was the Commandant of the Prison?

A. Commandant at that time.

Q. Did you assist Mrs. Grodevant in connection with her household duties? A. Yes.

Q. How old were you at that time? That is, were you grown up or were you a young girl? A. I was about 16.

Q. State whether or not you assisted Mrs. Grodevant as a regular employment, or simply as a neighborhood matter, being called in to assist her.

A. Well, I think it must have been in the latter capacity, probably to help her out.

Q. Do you recall having any definite agreement with Mrs. Grodevant or Mr. Grodevant as to employment?

A. No, I do not.

Q. Did Mrs. Grodevant employ assistance regularly in her household affairs, or did she do her own work?

A. Well, as well as I can remember, she didn't employ help regularly, and she was assisted by a parole man a good deal of the time—a prisoner on parole.

Q. That would correspond with the trusty in other prisons?

A. Yes. Of course, he helped around the stable but he also did things in the house—I recall that.

Q. Do you know [] long you were at Mrs. Grodevant's before she began having regular employment?

A. I really have no idea.

Q. Do you remember the year that you assisted Mr. Grodevant?

A. Well, I don't remember exactly but I think it was in 1884.

Q. Might it not have been '85?

A. It might have been either of those two years.

Q. You recall what time of the year it was?

A. Well, I think it might have been in the summer—I can't be perfectly sure.

Q. Can you state positively what time of the year?

A. No.

Q. Is there in your recollection that would indicate the time of the year?

A. Well, I remember a dress that I had particularly at that time—it was a summer dress, and it might have been in the summer.

Q. Had you been going to school prior to this time?

A. Yes.

Q. And was school finished for the year?

> Mr. Allen: We object to the question as leading and suggesting; incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. Well, I don't remember.

Q. About how long did you assist Mrs. Grodevant at this time?

A. Well, I should suppose it was about three weeks.

Q. Was there anybody else at the home of Mrs. Grodevant while you were there assisting her in connection with her household duties?

A. No, I don't remember that there was, and I don't think there was anyone else but myself.

Q. Did you ever know a girl that worked for Mrs. Grodevant, named Minnie Atkins? A. No.

Q. Did you know a part Indian girl that worked for Mrs. Grodevant? A. No.

Q. Are you sure that there was no such person there during the time that you were there?

> Mr. Allen: We object to that as leading; incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. There was no one else unless it was the parole man I formerly spoke of; he may have been assisting there but I don't think he was—or was not.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What is your age? A. 47, on my last birthday.

Q. The matter about which you are testifying occurred 36, or 37 years ago, then?

A. Not that long—I should say 30 or 31.

Q. Thirty-one or two years ago; you were then a young girl? A. Yes.

Q. Did you work out as a common house servant at that time, or in what capacity did you work?

A. Well, I did go in service after that for a short time.

Q. Do you know what you did in the Grodevant home?

A. Yes, I assisted Mrs. Grodevant in the preparation of meals, and helped wait on table—she had a guest there.

Q. You don't even remember whether there was a trusty there at that time or not? A. I don't remember positively.

Q. You are not positive whether or not other girls were there in the capacity of maid servants?

A. I am sure there was not.

Q. You said a while ago that you didn't remember whether there was.

A. I don't remember whether there was a parole man there but I am sure there was no one else there.

Q. You remember how many weeks you worked there?

A. I am not positive how long—I think three weeks.

Q. Was that the only time that you ever worked for the Grodevants?

A. No, I was there at other times, and my memory is not perfectly good but I know I went in there and helped her.

Q. At other times you worked for a short time?

A. Yes; I remember only one other time. I do remember I went in there a short time.

Q. At other times, how long did you work?

A. Very short times—maybe a week.

Q. And maybe a day?

A. I don't know that I went in there for as short a time as that but it is possible.

Q. You don't remember, do you, the year even in which you worked three weeks at the Grodevants, Mrs. Sheehan?

A. No, I don't remember positively, I would have to look it up.

Q. Who has talked to you about this case?

A. Well, Mr. Hanford came up to find out whether or not I had worked for Mrs. Grodevant.

Q. He was the first one to talk to you?

A. No, sir, also another gentleman whose name I don't remember, from Oklahoma.

Q. Frank Long? A. No; his name was not Long.

Q. Mr. Page?

A. I really don't know who he represented, he said in the case——

Q. Mr. Josey? A. Possibly that was the man.

Q. That was the man?

A. I can't say positively that it was but I think so.

Q. He was a tall, rather slender man?

A. Well, he was tall.

Q. Middle aged? A. Yes.

Q. What did he tell you about the case, Mrs. Sheehan?

A. He came to find out whether I knew Minnie Atkinson.

Q. I would like to know what he told you about the case.

Mr. Hanford: I object on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. Well, this gentleman came to see me in August, I think, or some time during the summer, to find out if I knew an Indian girl.

Q. Not what he came to find out, but what he said to you.

A. Well, he said it was almost impossible for me not to have known this girl worked there because she was quite a pretty girl, and I probably would have noticed her. I don't remember her, and asked him what reason he had for wanting to know, and he said there was an Indian claim, or some property, in question and it was to find out who the lawful heirs were, and this testimony of mine was necessary, or would be a help if I could remember. Of course, I remembered once that I had worked at Mrs. Grodevant's—at one time—and I think it was along about that time.

Q. He told you that it was in '84 that——

A. No.

Q. Or '85, that you worked at the Grodevant's, didn't he?

A. No, he didn't tell me that.

Q. In the lapse of these thirty years, you have not even recurred to the time when you worked for the Grodevants, had you? A. No.

Q. That had passed almost out of your memory until he recalled the incident, hadn't it?

A. That is true but I remembered it—the time I had worked there.

Q. After it was called to your attention, you remembered it? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you are not sure during which of the many times it was that you worked at the Grodevants that you were in their home three weeks, are you? A. No, I am not sure.

Q. It might have been before or after 1884 or '05?

A. No, it wasn't after that.

Q. It might have been before, though?

A. It couldn't have been before—it was one of those two years.

Q. But during what period of those two years, you don't know, do you? A. I am not sure.

Q. And you worked during those two years at odd times for a day at a time, other than the time that you stayed there three weeks? A. No, I think——

Q. A day or week, as you said a while ago?

A. No, I think it was more probably within a certain number of months when I helped her at all.

Q. Now, you were not on intimate terms with the Grodevants, were you?

A. Yes, afterwards; the time I think I went in there to help her, we had lived in the neighborhood a very short time.

Q. But you never saw or heard of Minnie Atkins [] your life, did you? A. No, never.

Q. You never heard her name mentioned until Mr. Josey mentioned it to you, had you? A. No, no.

Q. You had never heard Indian Minnie, or an Indian girl referred to, until Josey referred to her there? A. No.

Q. So you were not there as a temporary employe to take the place of Minnie Atkins?

A. I don't know whether I was or not.

Mr. Hanford: I object; if the witness never knew Minnie Atkins, she didn't answer the question, and it is leading.

Q. It was not suggested by the Grodevants that you were there as a temporary employe to take the place of a present servant? A. No.

Q. Who was Col. Bunt?

A. He was Commandant at the Prison.

Q. Do you know where he is now?

A. He is dead; dead a great many years.

Q. Are any of his family who lived with him at Leavenworth, living?

A. I think not; he had one daughter—I don't know what became of her.

Q. Do you know who she married? A. No, I don't.

Q. You don't know who she married?

A. Nellie Blunt—I don't have any idea.

Q. How old was she when you last knew her?

A. Oh, I don't know—she was a young lady—I don't know how much older than I.

Q. You remember an Indian girl working just a few weeks for the Blunts? A. No.

Q. When did you move to Leavenworth?

A. Well, I didn't understand your question. After I left the Fort, you mean?

Q. Well, did your family move to the Fort, or Leavenworth? A. Well, I was born in Leavenworth.

Q. And when did you get acquainted with the Grodevants?

A. Well, I think it must have been in the years I gave you—either '84 or '85.

Q. Well, you had been living there before that time?

A. Yes

Q. And that is considerable guess-work about that answer, isn't it, Mrs. Sheehan; you don't remember—you can't remember that long back just what year it was?

A. Well, I have a pretty good reason for remembering the year that I moved near the Grodevants, and yet at the same time, I can't say positively whether it was April of '84 or April of '85, but I can find out.

Q. And what is there that caused you to remember that?

A. Well, my mother married my step-father and we moved into that house as a consequence. He was an employe of the Prison.

Q. What was your step-father's name?

A. Richard Kingsley.

Q. Where were they married?

A. They were married at the Fort.

Q. Fort Leavenworth? A. Yes.

Q. And they moved into this house the day they married?

A. Yes.

Q. And it was at times subsequent to that that you worked at Grodevant's? A. No.

Q. Before that? A. Yes, subsequent—I beg your pardon.

Q. Do you know whether this man Blunt had any relatives or not? A. No, I don't.

Q. Is there any one at Leavenworth that would probably know about the Blunts, with whom they were intimately associated?

> Mr. Hanford: I object as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

A. I don't know, I am sure.

Q. Do you know where he died?

A. No, not positively; I think he died at the Fort—of course, but I don't remember exactly.

Q. Fort Leavenworth? A. Yes.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Maxey: If your Honor please, I just can't recall just what all is in these depositions taken of the defendants' witnesses, but I do recall that there is a great deal of hearsay testimony which would come within the ruling which your Honor excluded when we offere*ing* our testimony; and we desire to interpose our objections to anything in those depositions that comes within that ruling.

The Court: Does that come appear in the depositions?

Mr. Maxey: Yes, sir.

The Court: Well, then you have your—I am not passing upon any of those objections now.

Mr. Maxey: I just want it understood that we are not waiving our right to object, your Honor.

The Court: That is understood; objections that were made will be considered by the Court; but you are not waiving anything by not making your objections now.

And thereupon, DAVID ATCHISON, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., being first duly sworn testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. David Atchison.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Atchison?

A. Leavenworth, Kansas, 700 South Broadway.

Q. How long have you lived in Leavenworth, Kansas?

A. 60 years this year.

Q. How old are you now?

A. 75 years, the 22nd day of February last.

Q. What business were you engaged in in the early '80's in Leavenworth?

A. Wood, coal, ice and feed business.

Q. I will ask you whether you did any work during the Civil war? A. Yes, sir.

Q. With reference to supplies?

A. I hauled in '63—began hauling in '62 for the Government from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Scott, and in the spring of '63, I hauled supplies for the Army from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Gibson, and then to Fort Smith in '63.

Q. Were you in the Civil war?

A. I was not an enlisted man, I was a militiaman in Missouri in '62, and in Kansas with Scott Price, of Kansas City. Missouri—Senator Price now.

Q. What business were you engaged in in 1880?

A. Wood, coal and ice business, and sprinkling the streets; I was street sprinkler from '75 to '82.

Q. Where was your coal yard located in Leavenworth, and the wood yard?

A. The Southwest corner of Fourth and Seneca street, and the post office was on the same street at Fourth and Shawnee.

Q. Do you know where Crilley's barn was? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far were you from Crilley's barn?

A. A block and a half or thereabouts west, a few feet one way or the other—about the middle of the block.

Q. Did you stay around your woodyard a good deal?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. During those years?

A. Only in the winter time, I put up ice in the winter time at Kiowa and Second street, and got it on the Missouri river and I stayed there most of the time.

Q. Now, Mr. Atchison, I will ask you whether or not if at any time during that period you knew a girl in Leavenworth by the name of Indian Minnie?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. Can you tell us when you first saw Indian Minnie?

A. Well, it was in 1885; she used to come there to order wood and coal from my place a little at a time. She was there pretty often when the weather got cold. When the weather got real cold she would come oftener.

Q. Did she have anybody with her?

A. Well, she had a baby with her, no man or woman.

Q. Well that is what I mean; she had a human being with her? A. Oh, yes, she had a baby.

Q. Had a baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time in '85 was that?

A. Well, when she came to order the wood and coal, as I recollect during the cold weather, it would be in the fall and winter.

Q. Do you know who she would order the coal and wood for? A. Yes.

Q. Who for?

A. Mrs. Letcher; some called her Granny Letcher; an old colored woman.

Q. Did you know Granny Letcher?

A. I knew her before her name was Letcher; Mayo, and she married a Letcher.

Q. Did you know where she lived during this time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live?

A. Part of the time she lived on Cherokee street between Second and Third, the middle of the block on the south side; I used to send wood and coal to her there before this girl was with her.

Q. Then, where did she live after that?

A. Moved from there up on Seneca street between Second and Third on the south side, in a frame building built by a German who kept a bakery there, named John Dotter, and the house was sold as I recollect——

Q. Never mind about that. Now, Mr. Atchison, you say that you saw this Indian Minnie and she had a child with her?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. State whether or not the people around your place had any name for the child? A. Yes, called it papoose.

Q. Papoose, [A.] yes, there comes the papoose, that is what the colored boy said that drove the delivery wagon.

Q. You remember that distinctly? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Mr. Atchison, how do you fix that as the fall of '85 that you saw her?

A. Well, I run the theatre beginning in the fall of 1880, and I run it up until the spring of 1883—Opera House—theatre business.

Q. Alright; go ahead.

A. Well, then, there was another man elected; it was a stock company, I was a stockholder, and I was let out that year for some cause; didn't make enough money for them, and after that a year or so, the boom came—real estate boom all over the country up that part of the country, came in 1886, and it was the year before the boom that they came to my place to buy wood and coal.

Q. Mr. Atchison, I will ask you whether or not when you saw this woman in Leavenworth years afterwards, you recognized her?

A. Oh, yes, they asked me if I knew Indian Minnie and I said I did. The attorneys asked would you know Indian Minnie if you would see her and I said yes, put her out here among a dozen other Indians and I will pick her out and if I can't pick her out I don't know her. That is what I said, so the attorney, whoever he was, throwed down a card with eight or ten Indian pictures on it, girls or women, and he said——

Mr. German: We object to that.

The Court: Sustained.

Q. You recognized her?

A. Oh, yes, I picked her out on the card in less than half a minute.

Mr. German: I move to strike that.

The Court: That will not be considered.

Q. Now, will you tell me some of the darkies that were working for you at the time that you saw Minnie in the fall? Give some of the names.

A. Yes, men that had charge of my team hauled wood from the country, Missouri, and out in the country.

Q. What was his name?

A. Alex Ford, and his son Will Ford drove one one-horse wagon to deliver wood and coal and there is others that I can name.

Q. Mr. Atchison, you were well acquainted with the colored people in the community at that time?

A. Yes, had to be, they all worked for me.

Q. How many did you work during that period?

A. Well, I worked in the winter time when I was putting up ice it varied from 125 down to 115; never at any time I didn't have a 100.

Q. Do you ever remember passing Granny Letcher's about that time?

A. Well, in going to the ice house, the ice house was on the northeast corner of Second and Kiowa street and my wood yard was on the corner of Fourth and Seneca, and I went from Fourth and Seneca to Second street and that went by Granny Letcher's house and I saw Minnie in the yard a few times, once or twice or three times, maybe more; of course I couldn't tell the number of times but I did see her there.

Q. You did see her in Granny Letcher's yard?

A. Granny Letcher's yard.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mr. Atchison, are you any relation to Lee Bond?

A. I am his father-in-law.

Q. His father-in-law? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know the witness Mrs. Ripley? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She any relation to you?

A. Well, her son married one of my daughters; we had six daughters and had six sons-in-law.

Q. Her son married one of your daughters?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was the first person that you ever talked to about this matter? A. About Indian Minnie?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, Lee Bond asked me if I knew Indian Minnie; I said, no, who is Indian Minnie, and he said well, you ought to know Indian Minnie—she lived in your neighborhood, and I said I don't know, I will study up though, and see if I do know her; and I began to think about this woman coming there to get coal with the baby in her arms wrapped up in a red blanket or red shawl, I don't know which.

Q. Indian like? A. Oh, yes.

Q. There was a good deal in the Leavenworth papers about this too—about that same time, too, wasn't there?

A. Sir?

Q. About the time Lee spoke to you about it?

A. Oh, I guess there was something about it; I didn't pay any attention to it; I didn't bother reading it. All this has been 30 odd years ago.

Q. I mean the time Lee spoke to you about this, when was the time Lee spoke to you about this?

A. Well, it was the year I give in my deposition two years ago I guess it was.

Q. Didn't you first testify about it about a year ago?

A. Yes, it was a year ago, that is right; later than this though.

Q. And it was a little before that that he spoke to you, though? A. It was late in the spring.

Q. Of last year? A. Of last year.

Q. Prior to that a great deal was in the Leavenworth newspapers about this Indian Minnie case?

A. Might have been but I didn't read it.

Q. Don't you remember several articles wherein it suggested that Minnie Atkins, known as Indian Minnie, lived around Leavenworth there, in the '80's, and had her son Tommy that was born down at Granny Letcher's?

A. I don't know where he was born.

Q. Didn't you read those articles?

A. Well, I read a little, read the headings and let them go, about as I read the war news now in France.

Q. There was just about as much as there is about the war now? A. Oh, no.

Q. There was an article every week or two?

A. Might have been, I don't remember. I didn't read them.

Q. Now, you know Indian Mary who lived in Leavenworth?

A. No, there was no Indian Mary lived near where I was. I never heard of her name until the attorneys in that law suit when I was giving my testimony, he said you said Indian Mary said so and so; I said I never said such a thing. He said who did. I said you did. I said I didn't know Indian Mary but I did know Indian Minnie, and the one I am speaking about is Indian Minnie.

Q. You hadn't thought about the Indian woman you used to see there until Lee Bond spoke to you about it?

A. Oh, I thought about it; I remembered the baby coming there in her arms.

Q. Well, your recollection about it is rather distinct?

A. Well, it was, I had nothing to recollect her for.

Q. You say Leavenworth had a boom about eighty six?

A. '86.

Q. Was that boom a long time coming?

A. I was in Kansas City then; there was no boom when I left Leavenworth to go to Kansas City, that morning and when I come back the boom was on.

Q. When did that boom explode?

A. Well, I say in eighty-six, the spring of '86, 1886.

Q. Then you fix this—— What is there connected with Minnie and this baby and that boom, what relationship do those bear?

A. Well, I couldn't tell, but the boom came the year after she was there buying the wood and coal for Mrs. Letcher; some called her Granny Letcher but I called her Mrs. Letcher.

Q. In other words, you fix the boom by the time you saw this Indian woman and baby?

A. Well, the boom was there the next year.

Q. What is there between Minnie and the boom?

A. Well, I run the theatre up there.

Q. Did she attend the theater? A. I don't know.

Q. You got through with the theater in eighty-three?

A. Got through.

Q. What relation has your quitting the theater and seeing this Indian woman? A. Why nothing.

Q. What relation? A. No, none at all.

Q. Then you don't fix the time you saw Minnie by the time you run the theater?

A. Yes, the theater and the boom I saw her the year before the boom, in '85, and the boom was in '86.

Q. Wasn't it in '86? A. The boom?

Q. What day?

A. Oh, I don't know, too long ago, I couldn't remember. If I had to be hung or answer that I would have to be hung.

Q. You couldn't tell? A. No, sir.

Q. How long did the boom last?

A. The boom lasted until sometime in the fall.

Q. Did it quit very suddenly?

A. Well, not quite as suddenly as it started. One of the men who helped start that boom in Leavenworth was buried last week, eighty-seven years old.

Q. What was his name? [A.] Charlie Kitchener.

Q. For how long a period of time did you see this Indian woman?

A. Well, from the time she begun buying wood there until during the winter eighty-five and eighty-six, part of '86.

Q. You say she begun buying wood from you in the fall of '85 and when did she quit?

A. I don't know when she quit.

Q. You saw her when she came for wood? A. Yes.

Q. When did you last see her?

A. I don't know, I never paid any more attention to her. I only knew Indian Minnie by her buying wood there.

Q. And she just bought wood there one winter?

A. I don't think she ever bought wood since that.

Q. You don't know whose baby that was she carried?

A. Well, it was hers.

Q. How do you know?

A. Well, they called it Indian Minnie's baby and papoose. The colored boys would say, here comes the papoose for more wood, and they would go and load it up. The man would say, this goes down to Mrs. Letcher's ordered by Indian Minnie. I didn't load the wood.

Q. Did she carry the baby on her back?

A. No, carried it in her arms.

Q. Every time she came?

A. I don't know, I never saw her.

Q. How many times did she come after wood?

A. I wasn't there all the time. My wife stayed there in yard and looked after money matters while I was up the river putting up ice.

Q. Who else got wood of you?

A. We would sell from a hundred to a hundred and fifty dollars' worth of wood and coal a day.

Q. Lots and lots of people?

A. Yes, most of them bought small amounts.

Q. How would she take this wood home?

A. We would haul it in a wagon.

Q. Who else came up there and ordered wood for Mrs. Letcher?

A. Mrs. Letcher came a few times herself. I don't remember whether it was the year Minnie was ordered or the year after or the year before. Jim Mayo was her son, her name was Mayo, and Jim Mayo would order wood for his mother.

Q. Where was the first time you saw Minnie, at Mrs. Letcher's? A. I only saw her in the yard.

Q. What house? A. Well, in the frame house.

Q. That Dotter had built? A. Yes.

Q. At 217 Seneca Street? A. No, it wasn't 217.

Q. What number was it? A. 215.

Q. Wasn't it 215 Cherokee?

A. She lived at 215 Cherokee too.

Q. And then moved to 215 Seneca?

A. And then 217 Seneca; she lived in a frame house that was built for a bakery and that was sold to Abernathy Furniture Factory and they moved from that into a stone house.

Q. The old Feth house?

A. Well, Feth may have owned it.

Q. There wasn't but one stone house?

A. There wasn't but one. My wife went to school in that house in '66.

Q. Went to school to whom?

A. A man that lived in Topeka.

Q. Studied the German language?

A. No, it wasn't a German teacher.

Q. There was the stone house and this frame house, they were the only two residences there facing the livery barn?

A. There was a brick house on the corner, but I think that was built after eighty-five.

Q. What sized house was this frame house?

A. Dotters?

Q. Yes?

A. Nearly two story house, and the Dotters lived up stairs and kept a bakery down stairs.

Q. Now, that is the house that Mrs. Letcher lived in after she moved off of Cherokee Street? A. Yes.

Q. First lived in that house? A. Yes.

Q. You remember that?

A. As I recollect it, oh might have been living in the stone house.

Q. You knew Lilly White?

A. I used to sell wood to her.

Q. And she lived in that house too that Dotter house?

A. Well she may have I sold wood to her.

Q. Do you know C. F. D. Dassler? A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember about him suing over that house in October, '85? A. No.

Q. While Lilly White was in it? A. No.

Q. Lilly never lived in it but once did she?

A. I don't know, might have for all I know.

Q. After Granny moved over there off of Cherokee Street, lived there for several years? A. At the Dotter house?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, she lived there until it was torn down and then moved into the stone house.

Q. When this woman would come up to buy wood, she would carry this baby in her arms in a red blanket?

A. When I saw her.

Q. And did you see the baby?

A. Well, I didn't look at it, it was wrapped up in this blanket.

Q. You didn't see its head even?

A. No, it was cold weather when she was there.

Q. You don't know whether it was Indian or nigger or white?

A. Oh, no, couldn't tell. After it got a little older they called it Tommy.

Q. They did? A. Yes.

Q. Who? A. Well, the negroes around my place.

Q. Called that same baby Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old was that child when you first saw it, do you know? A. I don't know.

Q. Was that the same child wrapped up in the blanket?

A. Supposed to be. When it was too little she didn't bring it up there, and when it got older she carried it up.

Q. After it got old enough to walk around, did she bring it up?

A. I didn't see it. That is, she never brought it.

Q. You lost track of her?

A. She went off and went to work I think. Went out to the Fort.

Q. Worked for a carpenter named Grodevant?

A. I don't know his name.

Q. Who did she go out there to work for?

A. Some house; Mrs. Ripley lived near the house. She was on the witness stand.

Q. You knew about that at the time? Mrs. Ripley's son has married your daughter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you knew about Mrs. Ripley and this neighbor of hers who had this Indian working for her?

A. Well, I knew about Mrs. Ripley, but I didn't know about the Indian woman.

Q. Did you know she was working there? A. Yes.

Q. And it was the same woman? A. Same woman, yes.

Q. It was after this she quit coming to your wood yard, you knew about her being out at the Fort?

A. It was after the child was weaned I guess.

Q. How old do you suppose this child was when this woman went out to the Fort?

Mr. Cruce: I don't think that is competent.

The Court: She may answer.

A. I don't know when this child was born.

The Court: How old, in your judgment, was the child when you remember Minnie went out to the Fort?

A. Oh, I should judge less than a year old.

Q. And she worked for this carpenter? A. Yes.

Q. And she worked for this carpenter? A. What?

Q. And she worked for this laborer, this neighbor of Mrs. Ripley's?

A. I don't know whether it was that time, it was along about that time.

Q. You have heard your son talk about this case a great deal? A. No, sir, he wouldn't do it.

Q. He just refused to talk about it?

A. No, he didn't refuse.

Q. You have been very much interested in his suit, in this case?

A. No, sir, I was on a lawsuit at Leavenworth and he was an attorney on one side and another attorney on the other side and when the attorney was challenging the jury this man —he wanted me to sit on the jury. I says I don't want to sit on the jury. Lee Bond won't let me sit on this jury, and he says I will.

The Court: Well, that is as far as you need to go on that.

Q. What was the size of this Indian woman?

A. In height?

Q. Yes? A. Just what we call medium size.

Q. Give us her height, describe that?

A. I never measured her and I couldn't say.

Q. You knew her good? A. Oh, I saw her often.

Q. You noticed her? A. No, I didn't notice her.

Q. You noticed the child in her arms?

A. That is what called my attention.

Q. You were looking at the child?

A. Well, I was looking at the blanket, that was the only one that carried a red blanket in Leavenworth at the time.

Q. Tell the Court about how tall she was?

A. I would judge about five feet tall, maybe not so tall.

Q. And how much did she weigh?

A. I never weighed her.

Q. Well, of course not, but you know how much she weighed about?

A. Say in the neighborhood of a hundred and twenty to twenty-five and maybe thirty pounds.

Q. And was about five feet tall?

A. About that. Not five feet tall, I don't say five feet tall.

Q. How old a woman was she?

A. Well, I would judge from eighteen to twenty-one years or maybe twenty-two.

Q. Maybe twenty-two? A. Possibly could be.

Q. She wore her hair in a way that attracted your attention, did she? A. Well, not necessarily, no.

Q. Tell the Court how she wore her hair?

A. I don't know, I couldn't tell you. Her hair was very black, I know that, and Mrs. Atchison said can that——

Q. Don't tell what Mrs. Atchison said. Don't you remember how she wore her hair?

A. Well, she wore it like the Indians wear it.

Q. You have known lots of Indians in your lifetime?

A. Oh, thousands of them.

Q. There used to be a great many in Leavenworth?

A. The Delawares were all there, and owned the ground where Leavenworth is. After you got eight miles below Leavenworth from there on to the ...... River, that was the reservation.

Q. About how many Indian women were living in the town of Leavenworth at the time? A. What time?

Q. Just after the Civil War?

The Court: He says he has known lots of Indians. Of course he has.

Q. You know how Indians wore their hair?

A. I knew how they wore it on the trains when I had to fight them back and forth for five years.

Q. This was a typical Indian woman?

A. Just the same as any others.

Q. And she wore her hair like other Indians. Tell the Court how that was.

Q. Well, they generally had it cut off in front.

Q. Bangs? A. What you call bangs.

Q. With their hair hanging down in front?

A. I don't recollect whether she had hers that way or not, but that is the way they wore it when I was on the trains fighting them.

Q. You first thought she was a negro?

A. We thought she was mixed; I says, no she looks more like an Indian.

Q. Do you remember whether she had her hair down?

A. No.

Q. Did she have her hair down her back?

A. No, she had it done up. I didn't notice her having it down her back, but I didn't notice it.

Q. What other woman came to your wood yard carrying a baby? A. Well, a colored woman?

Q. Do you remember a colored woman that lived right across the street north of your wood yard in 1885?

A. Well, there was a colored woman lived there, Travis Finlay and his wife and her sister.

Q. Now, let's see, Mr. Atchison, you learned from your son-in-law, Lee Bond, that this woman, Indian Minnie, was Minnie Atkins? A. No.

Q. You have heard that?

A. They called this baby Tommy, and then they got down to Tommy Atkins. I asked who is Tommy Atkins; says, "That Indian baby."

Q. So you knew the name Atkins all right?

A. Yes, Indian Minnie.

Q. Who lived right north of your wood yard among the colored people? A. Just colored people.

Q. Name the families? A. I named Findlay.

Q. Name another? A. I can't. There was none there.

Q. What was this man's name? A. Travis Findlay.

Q. Who lived diagonally across the street from your wood yard? A. That was the Washington house.

Q. Who lived in it?

A. This man Phillip Green that sawed the wood and split the wood.

Q. Colored man?

A. Yes, colored man, Phillip Green, his name was; worked for me twenty-six years.

Q. Your wood yard extended back to the alley, didn't it, between Fourth Street and Fifth? A. No.

Q. Between Shawnee and Seneca? A. Yes.

Q. They ran east and west?

A. The streets ran east and west.

Q. Seneca is north of Shawnee? A. Yes.

Q. You fronted on Fourth? A. No, on Seneca.

Q. Between Fifth and Fourth Street? A. Yes.

Q. And then Fifth was the next street west? A. Yes.

Q. And your wood yard occupied a quarter of the block?

A. Occupied four lots.

Q. Tell the Court who lived across the street in front or northwest corner of your wood yard? A. There was——

Q. Don't you remember Mollie Atkins?

A. There was no such person lived there.

Q. Where did she live? A. I didn't know her.

Q. Don't you know Mollie Atkins, the colored woman that lived there?

A. No, Travis Finlay lived there and he is the only one. And he died from an operation on his toe.

Q. Don't you know Mollie Atkins lived at 420 or 422, 4, 6 or 8 on Seneca Street? A. I never knew her by that name.

Q. That she was a negro there and had long black hair?

A. Travis Finlay lived there.

Q. When did you discontinue your wood yard?

A. I sold it to the Elks.

Q. How long ago?

A. About six years ago, seven maybe.

Q. And don't you recollect that right across the street from your wood yard, right in front of the northwest corner of your wood yard, that there was a colored woman there that kept some white girls in her house? A. No, sir.

Q. For improper purposes?

A. No, sir, there might have been. If there was anyone there they were in Travis Finlay's house.

Q. Don't you remember Flora Atkins, her daughter?

A. No.

Q. Did you know Ellis Shaw and Lou Shaw, colored folks lived across the street from your wood yard?

A. No, sir, they didn't live there.

Q. Don't you remember Robert Shaw, that little colored boy that was carried around there? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't recollect that?

A. No, sir, a colored man that worked for me come around there, Elex Ford, had two boys. One got large enough to drive a wagon. Willie Ford knew Tommy Atkins as well as I knew him and his mother and father knew Indian Minnie.

Q. You haven't seen Indian Minnie since 1885, have you?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. When? A. In Leavenworth.

Q. When? A. When?

Q. Yes? A. Last year sometime.

Q. Where? A. Well, she was in Lee Bond's office.

Q. You were told to come up there and identify her, weren't you? A. No.

Q. You went up there for that purpose?

A. No, I didn't. Who told you I did?

Q. I am asking you?

A. Well, I say no I didn't, I didn't know she was there. I am in the bill posting business, I have nineteen towns, nine in Missouri and ten in Kansas, and I have my letter writing done up in his office, and I went up there to have some of that done.

Q. She was sitting down?

A. She was in another room; wasn't in there at all.

Q. Sitting down in Lee Bond's—I guess they call it his private office.

Q. How tall are you Mr. Atchison?

A. I don't know—five—60 years ago.

Q. How tall are you? A. I don't know.

Q. How tall is your son-in-law Lee Bond?

A. I judge his height is about 6 foot one or two.

Q. How tall do you judge me to be?

A. You are about 5 feet, seven inches.

Q. You are a good guesser. A. Guessing at it.

Q. Now, Mr. Atchison, you didn't see this Indian woman that you saw in Lee's office standing up, did you?

A. Did I see her standing up? Yes. Not at that time; she was sitting down.

Q. Well, you have seen her standing up since you have seen her in Lee's office? A. Oh, yes.

Q. How tall a woman is she?

A. Well, I said at that time about five feet, maybe a little over.

Q. About five feet seven inches, isn't she?

A. Maybe she is, I paid no attention to her height. I am looking at you now, I can guess at your height pretty good.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. Mr. Atchison, you say you didn't look at this baby when Minnie brought it there to your wood yard?

A. No, I had no occasion to look at it; it was in a blanket and something was moving in there; I didn't see it.

Q. You afterwards saw what was purported to be this child?

A. After it got big enough to walk I saw it there at Mrs. Letcher's; there were one or two other children.

Q. There in the yard?

A. Yes, there in the yard, when the weather got warmer.

Q. What was the names of those other children that you saw there? A. I don't know; never was at my place.

Q. What was their color?

A. Well, as I recollect, white.

Q. White children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was this child with two or three other white children?

A. Yes. I think one or two colored children, too, as well as white. She was a woman that took in children to raise; took in—made her living that way—and washing, together.

Q. About how old was it when you saw it there?

A. Able to walk around.

Q. A year and a half or two years old?

A. Able to walk around; I can't tell.

Q. About how often did you see the child there?

A. I don't know.

Q. Very frequently?

A. Only when I would drive by and notice the children in the yard.

Q. Now, how long did this period in which you saw the child around Mrs. Letcher's place there, continue?

A. How long?

Q. Yes, how long was it there to your knowledge?

A. Oh, I don't know, it was there after it was able to walk around next spring.

Q. Well, now give your best judgment as to how long a period did you see the child there? A. I can't tell.

Q. One month, six months?

A. I can't tell; I paid no attention; after she quit buying wood there I lost track.

Q. You know whether it was five years or not, don't you? That long?

A. Well, I recollect I saw him when he was six or seven years old.

Q. He was still at Mrs. Letcher's?

A. Well, I wouldn't say. I think he was; I didn't keep track of him.

Q. You saw him after he got to be seven years old?

A. Yes.

Q. You saw him frequently around town there?

A. Yes, not often though, I can't tell how often.

Q. I say you saw him every now and then?

A. I don't know what you mean by now and the[illegible] That would last for a year or ten years.

Q. Well, how often did you see him?

A. I don't know.

Q. In your best judgment give it to the Court.

A. Well, I saw him the next spring.

Q. The next spring? A. Yes.

Q. How many times did you see him the next spring?

A. I don't know.

Q. More than once?

A. Maybe, maybe not.

Q. You are not sure you saw him more than once?

A. I might have.

Q. What is your best judgment about that?

A. It has been 32 years ago—a good while to recollect. I am not going to say because I don't recollect.

Q. What I want Mr. Atchison, is your best recollection.

A. Well, if you want me to tell the story I will tell it.

Q. I just want you to answer the question.

A. If you won't let me tell it, I can't tell it.

Q. Answer how many times you saw him the next spring.

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know whether you saw him more than once?

A. I don't know that; don't pretend to say.

Q. Well, did you see him later than next spring; at any time later?

A. I say I saw him—I want to explain to you, you won't hear it.

Q. You say you saw him later?

A. Well, I saw him later, yes. Will you let me answer the question?

The Court: Answer in your way when you saw him later.

A. Well, he and some colored boys when he got big enough to go away from home and live, went up to Iowa and thought they would get a job digging coal in the coal mine, and this Tommy Atkins went with them and came back and I saw this Will Ford that went up there with him and another boy, I forget his name and I said where have you been and he said up in Iowa.

Mr. Cobb: If the Court please, I object to that.

The Court: Well, you needn't to state that.

Q. When you next saw him in the spring in that year, he was ten or twelve years and was going to Iowa to dig coal?

A. No, he wasn't as old as that.

Q. How old was he then?

A. Oh, about seven years old, if I recollect.

Q. Those are the only two times that you saw him there during the period of his childhood that you remember of?

A. I didn't say that.

Q. Well, I am asking you if that is a fact?

A. Might be and might not.

Q. What is your recollection about the matter?

A. I want to tell you.

Q. I am asking you to find out?

A. Well, I told you I don't know.

Q. You don't know?

A. No, you won't let me tell it. I can't half tell it.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. This Iowa matter, you never told that before.

A. Had no chance to tell it; won't let me tell it now.

Q. That is something you learned in the last month or two, isn't it?

A. Oh, I knew that years ago when it happened.

Q. That boy was killed, wasn't he? A. Killed?

Q. Yes, sir? A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Well, he died?

A. Supposed to have died but I don't know; might have. May be living yet; might be. He came back from Iowa; I saw him after he came back. I saw the colored boys that went with him and I asked them how they got back—walk or steal a ride on the train—we done both.

Q. You have [] talking with Lee Bond some about that, too, haven't you? A. No, sir, never spoke to him.

Q. Haven't?

A. Oh, I might have said something about that in his hearing but to talk to him about it, I did not.

Q. Well, do you know how it happened that Judge Stuart didn't ask you about that?

A. Well, he didn't know about it; I don't think I spoke to Judge Stuart about it. I might have but I don't think I did. I didn't talk about this to anybody; didn't do it.

Q. Now, speaking of the time that you saw this Indian woman first I will ask you if you didn't testify here when you gave your testimony before Mr. Penick at Leavenworth last spring; "Q. When was it you saw Indian Minnie, this Indian woman that you talk about? A. When did I see her? Q. Yes. A. I said it was '85, might have been; might have seen her in '84; I wouldn't be positive just what year or date, but it was between '83 and '86." That is what you testified?

A. I said '85.

Q. Didn't you say what I am reading to you?

A. It was between '85 and '86.

Q. You can't say positively?

A. Yes, I did say positively. Well, if the stenographer didn't put it down right, it is his fault.

Q. Well, didn't you testify up there that you couldn't be positive just what year or date but between '83 and '86?

A. Between '83 and '86——

The Court: Did you make that answer up there, Mr. Atchison.

A. There was a squabble about the answer I made and ordered stricken out by the stenographer. The stenographer wouldn't let me tell; he said stop, he said; I said what for, and he said you are talking too fast; and he struck it out and didn't strike enough out, I reckon.

Q. Didn't you answer this question? "You first saw her about a year before the boom." And didn't you give this answer: "I think I might have seen her in '84 and I believe I did; I won't say positively as to the date."

A. Yes, sir, I did say that and I say it now, between '83 and '86.

Q. And wasn't this question asked you: "When you first saw her, how old was this papoose," and didn't you answer "Just carrying it in her arms, I don't know how old it was." A. I say so now.

Q. Now, you say it was in '84 that you first saw her?

A. I may have seen her in '84, that is what I said.

Q. And she had the papoose?

A. No, she didn't; no, she didn't have the papoose.

Q. Didn't have the papoose then? A. Not in '84, no, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Have you ever stated to me at any time about the boy going away—these boys going to Iowa?

A. Never said a word to you about it; never did.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: I offered in connection with the deposition—at this time I will offer the entries in the Grodevant book, which has been put in evidence heretofore, as to certain other entries in the year 1885, under date June 2nd, Minnie Atkins, one dollar; and under date of June 14th, the entry, Maggie, five dollars plus a dollar and a half, and carried out as five dollars. Under date of July 1st, an entry, Minnie Atkins in parenthesis five dollars on July, and carried out ten dollars. Those entries, the handwriting, of those entries were identified by Mr. Frank Grodevant.

The Court: Alright, they may be admitted.

And thereupon, L. B. BELL, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., being first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. What is your name? A. L. B. Bell.

Q. Where do you live? A. Kansas City, Missouri.

Q. What is your occupation?

A. Well, sir, I am car repairer.

Q. Did you ever live in Leavenworth, Kansas.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Just a minute—what is the name of the firm you are employed by? A. In Kansas City?

Q. Yes? A. Sheffield Car and Equipment Company.

Q. When did you live in Leavenworth?

A. I left Leavenworth four years ago—three years ago this fall.

Q. I wish you would talk louder.

A. Three years ago this fall.

Q. When did you go to Leavenworth?

A. I went to Leavenworth in '84 when I moved there.

Q. How do you fix that date?

A. I married in the fall of '83 and went to Leavenworth in the fall of '84 to go to work for the Transfer company.

Q. What did you do when you went to Leavenworth?

A. Driving team.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian woman in Leavenworth?

A. I knew of her, yes, sir.

Q. What was her name?

A. We called her Indian Minnie.

Q. Where did you know her?

A. She lived on Seneca street between Second and Third.

Q. Do you know whose house?

A. Granny Letcher's, we always called it Granny Letcher's house.

Q. The Granny Letcher house?

A. Yes, sir, I don't know the number of the house.

Q. Well, do you know what she was doing there?

A. I don't know what she was doing there.

Q. Did she live there or just stay there?

A. She lived there or stayed there, I don't know which.

Q. Do you know where she worked?

A. No, don't know where she worked.

Q. How did you happen to see her?

A. I was hackdriving and young and she drawed my attention, and I done some work——

Q. Did you haul her in your hack? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you haul her from?

A. From Third and Seneca up to Fort Leavenworth once.

Q. Where did you deliver her at the Fort?

A. Right north of the prison there, Military prison.

Q. North of the prison? A. North of the Military prison.

Q. What time in the day was that? [A.] I think along about four o'clock, to the best of my recollection.

Q. About four o'clock in the evening? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you haul her more than once?

A. It seems to me that I hauled her more than once—once or twice, I forget how many times.

Q. Did you ever deliver her at any other place except that one place? A. No.

Q. You took her to any place in particular or——

A. Took her up on the corner and she got out—I don't know where she went to.

Q. North of the Prison?

A. Back of the Prison—Leavenworth Military Prison.

Q. Did you ever know of her giving birth to any children in Leavenworth? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever know of any children at Granny Letcher's?

A. There was a little boy there that they said was Indian Minnie's little boy.

Mr. Maxey: We object to that your Honor.

The Court: That will be stricken, what was said about the little boy.

Q. You said there was an Indian boy at Granny Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Allen: We object to that.

The Court: He said little boy there.

Q. What kind of boy was that?

A. Looked to me to be about a quarter breed Indian to look at him.

Q. How old was he when you first saw him?

A. I don't know; probably two years old when I first saw him.

Q. Did you know Granny Letcher?

A. Yes, sir, that is I knew of her living there. I wasn't acquainted with her.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about the boy? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever talk to Minnie about the boy?

A. No, sir.

Q. What was that boy called?

A. We called him Commodore, mostly; that was his nickname. Tommy Atkins was what they called him.

Q. How long did you see him there?

A. Oh, I don't know exactly; he must have been, anyway, six or seven years old the last time I seen him.

Q. Did you ever see him any place else?

A. Yes, I seen him around town, on Broadway there; Broadway and Delaware.

Q. Broadway and Delaware? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old was he then?

A. Oh, he was a good big boy—running around.

Q. And that is the last place you saw him?

A. Yes, sir, that is the last place I recollect seeing him anyway.

Q. How long did you see Indian Minnie around there?

A. Well, I can't say how long.

Q. Did you ever see her with this boy?

A. Not with—no sir, no, sir, I never seen her with this boy.

Q. Was the last time you saw Minnie when you took her out to the Post, or did you see her after that?

A. I saw her after that; I never hauled her any place.

Q. You didn't know how long she stayed around there?

A. No ,sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What is your nationality?

A. I am Irish descent, sir.

Q. What? A. Irish descent.

Q. Lived in this country, born in this country?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were you raised?

A. I was born out in New Market, Missouri and raised in California until I was about 10 years old, and after that raised about over near Platte City, Missouri, and Leavenworth.

Q. Platte City, Missouri? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you [] Mrs. Mattie Cobb?

A. I know one Cobb up there; I don't know whether her name is Mattie or what it is.

Q. Mrs. Cobb, who is a witness for Mr. Page in this case?

A. Used to be Mrs. Edwards, yes, sir; not personally acquainted with her.

Q. You have talked with her, though?

A. Not in a good many years.

Q. Do you know George Crilley?

A. Know George Crilley, yes, sir.

Q. You have been talking to him recently, haven't you?

A. Talking to him a while ago, a few minutes ago.

Q. Everybody that ever referred to this boy, referred to him as Commodore Tommy Atkins, didn't they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, was his name Commodore Tommy Atkins, or Tommy Commodore Atkins?

A. His name was Tommy Atkins, way I understood. Commodore was a nickname Crilley give him.

Q. Called him the full name though?

A. Tommy Atkins we always called him.

Q. You always used the word Atkins when call*ed* this boy, didn't they?

A. I can't say that they always used that word in calling him; lots of times they called him Tommy.

Q. You never heard him called anything except Commodore or Tommy Atkins? A. That is all.

Q. Didn't they call him Pommodore, some of the people?

A. Not as I know of.

Q. P-o-m-m-o-d-o-r-e? A. Not as I know of.

Q. Didn't you always hear Mrs. Edwards call him Pommodore?

A. I never was around those people much; I never spoke to Mrs. Edwards in 40 years.

Q. Did Crilley ask you if you knew this Tommy Atkins they called Commodore?

A. No, sir, Crilley didn't ask me anything about it.

Q. How long did you live in Leavenworth?

A. Well, I moved there in '84 and left there in '13. Moved there in 1884 and left there in 1913.

Q. What year did you say—in 1894 that you first saw Minnie Atkins? A. I didn't say '94.

Q. What did you say?

A. I said I moved there in '84 and the winter of '84 I saw her and the spring of '85.

Q. The winter of '84 and the spring of '85 that you hauled her to the Fort? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old was Commodore then?

A. I don't know, sir, I never saw him at that time.

Q. Well, you said I believe, that the first time you saw him was at Granny Letcher's when he was about two years old? A. Playing around there, yes, sir.

Q. Wasn't that when you went there to get her to haul her to the Fort? A. It was after that.

Q. How long afterwards?

A. I don't know, probably two years, I don't know just how long. I never kept tab on it because I never expected to be called on it any more; never paid no attention to it.

Q. Did you ever see Minnie in your life after you hauled her to the Fort that time? A. No, not that I know of.

Q. But you saw that boy two years afterwards? You didn't see that boy when you went there for Minnie, did you?

A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't see him for two years after did you?

A. I didn't go there for Minnie; I got Minnie down on the corner.

Q. You never saw Minnie, then at Granny Letcher's, then, did you in your life? A. I can't say that I did.

Q. If she ever lived there, you don't know anything about it, do you?

A. She made that her home; that is all I know about it.

Q. Now, if you ever saw her there you have no recollection of it, have you?

A. No, I never saw her, I will say that.

Q. If she ever had a boy there, you didn't know anything of it?

A. I don't know anything of her having any boy; all I know that boy played around there and they called it Indian Minnie's boy.

Q. Now, I didn't ask you that. I asked you if you ever knew whether she had a boy or not. Can you answer yes or no? A. No, I don't. I didn't.

Q. Mr. Bell, who first talked to you about this case?

A. Mr. Graham—Pomp Graham was the first man that spoke to me.

Q. Pomp Graham is a hack driver in Leavenworth, isn't he?

A. Pomp Graham never drove a hack in his life that I know of.

Q. What does he do there?

A. He is a deputy sheriff—used to be.

Q. He became deputy sheriff after this case arose, didn't he? A. I can't tell you.

Q. He has been sort of a private detective in Leavenworth for Charles Page, hasn't he, since this case arose?

A. I don't know anything about it.

Q. You know that he has been working for Mr. Page?

A. I know nothing about this case until about a year ago.

Q. Don't you know he is employed there by Page?

A. I do not.

Q. And he spent the last two years following everybody that goes to Leavenworth around there to see what they are doing?

Mr. Stuart: If your Honor please——

The Court: If that is said for my benefit, if you don't know that this man knows, don't ask the question. Don't inject anything now in this case except the testimony.

Mr. Allen: I beg your Honor's pardon, I didn't say it for your Honor's benefit, I wanted to test the——

The Court: I am assuming, now, that you believe this man knows that to be a fact.

Mr. Allen: I think he does.

Q. Don't you know that Mr. Graham was working for Mr. Page there for the last two or three years? A. No, sir.

Q. Hasn't he told you so? A. No, sir.

Q. Where were you when he came to see you?

A. Kansas City, Missouri, at 17th and McGee.

Q. What did he say to you when he met you?

A. Why, he asked me in regard to this case.

Q. What did he ask you?

A. He asked me if I knew anything about the case; if I recollected it and I told him that it had been so many years ago that I had forgotten a great deal about it.

Q. Tell me exactly what he said to you.

A. He asked me did I recollect Indian Minnie who used to be around up there, was the question that he asked me.

Q. Did you tell him that it had been so many years that you had forgotten?

A. Forgotten until he spoke about it; when he spoke about it, I remembered.

Q. What did he ask you about the boy?

A. I don't think he asked anything about the boy.

Q. Didn't ask a thing about the boy?

A. I don't think he did.

Q. Do you say to this Court that he didn't ask you a thing about the boy at Granny Letcher's?

A. I don't think he asked me a thing about the boy.

Q. Who did you next talk to?

A. I didn't talk to anybody I guess. There was one man came down there but I was busy and didn't have no time to talk to him, so I went to work.

Q. Pomp Graham came back again with [] man to show him where you lived? A. Yes, Pomp came down there.

Q. Do you know who that was?

A. The last man who was up was Mr. Long.

Q. Mr. Frank Long, and you didn't talk to Mr. Long and Mr. Graham at all at that time?

A. No, sir, all they done was to tell me they wanted me to come down here and get me excused from my place of business to come down here, that is all the talk there was to it.

Q. They didn't ask you a word about Tommy, then?

A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't they so know that you ever heard of this baby at Granny Letcher's until you took this witness stand? Did you never talk to anybody about it, is that what you want the Court to understand?

A. Exactly what I want the Court to understand, I haven't talked to anybody about this.

Q. All you know about this case is that upon one occasion you drove Minnie Atkins from somewhere in Leavenworth up to the Fort? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You don't know in what year that was, do you?

A. That was in '85.

Q. What time in '85? A. Spring of '85.

Q. Didn't you say a while ago that it was either in the fall of '84 or spring of '85?

A. No, I said '84 or '85, I moved to Leavenworth in '84 and went to driving for the Transfer Company and mashed my foot and wasn't able to drive my team with team work, and went to driving a hack along about February.

Q. Do you know Walter Banks? A. Who?

Q. Walter Banks? A. No.

Q. Do you know Sam Nash? A. Yes, I know him.

Q. Who is Sam Nash?

A. The Sam Nash I have reference to is a colored fellow, one-armed fellow.

Q. Where did you first see him?

A. Oh, around there in Leavenworth; I don't know where is the first time I did see him.

Q. Do you know where he lived?

A. I don't know where he lived, no.

Q. Do you know Jim Mayo, did you know him?

A. Not by name; he might have some nickname.

Q. You never heard of Walter Banks in your life, did you?

A. Not by that name; if he has some nickname I might know him by that.

Q. Did you know George Dale? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did he live?

A. Now, I can't tell you that, where he did live.

Q. Did you know Emma Gatewood? A. Sir?

Q. Did you know Emma Gatewood? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't know where she lived? A. No, sir.

Q. Charlie Hutton, did you know him?

A. I don't know him.

Q. Frank Long, you say, and Pomp Graham came to you to get you to come down here, and then who else talked to you? A. No one, I never saw any one.

Q. Didn't you come with them? A. No, sir.

Q. Who did you come with down here?

A. With [] man name of Tisher and I came together—Phillip Tisher.

Q. Is he a witness in this case?

A. Yes, sir, he is out there.

Q. Was Minnie in a family way when you saw her out there? A. I don't know, sir, whether she was or not.

Q. You didn't observe it when you drove her up to the Fort? A. I paid no attention to it, no, sir.

Q. Were you ever around Granny Letcher's much?

A. No, sir.

Q. Never visited there at all?

A. No, sir, never visited there in my life.

Q. Did you know where she lived?

A. I know where she lived at that time, yes, sir.

Q. Where?

A. Right up on Seneca between Second and Third.

Q. Do you know what house she was in there?

A. The house is torn down now, I don't know what the number of it was.

Q. What time was she living there?

A. She was living there in '85, I know.

Q. Didn't she live there in '84 when you went to Leavenworth?

A. Yes, I think she did; I don't know how much longer before she had lived there.

Q. She was living there when you went to Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know any of the people who lived there at Granny's house, did you? A. No.

By the Court.

Q. Did you say you picked Minnie up on the street when you took her from Leavenworth to the Fort that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you happen to do that? Who got you to go there?

A. Judge, it is nothing for a hack driver to be picked up on the street.

Q. Oh, she hailed you on the street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, where did you say that was? What corner?

A. That I got her?

Q. Yes? A. Third and Seneca.

Q. Where was that with reference to where Granny Letcher then lived? A. About a half a block.

Q. You say that was in what year? A. '85, Judge.

Q. What time in '85? A. I think along in the spring.

Q. And was that the first time you had ever seen Indian Minnie?

A. Oh, no, I had seen her several times before that.

Q. Where had you seen her?

A. Down on the streets there in Leavenworth.

Q. How long—for a period of how long before that had you—do you now remember to have seen her around on the streets there?

A. Well, I didn't pay no attention to her until I went to driving the hack and that was along, I think, in January.

Q. You don't remember to have seen her until you went to hack driving?

A. That was the first I paid any attention to her, when I went to hack driving.

Q. Did you ever drive her in your hack at any time before this trip to Fort Leavenworth? A. No, sir.

By Mr. Allen.

Q. What time in the spring was it that you drove her to Leavenworth? A. I went to driving in January '85.

Q. Do you know what time in the spring it was that you drove Minnie up there?

A. I can't say just what time it was; shortly after I went to driving my hack.

Q. Was the grass green?

A. Well, it was getting along warm weather.

Q. Getting warm weather? Do you know what month it was, April, May or June? A. I can't tell.

Q. Late as July?

A. I don't think it was that late but I don't recollect what month it was.

Q. Later than April, though, wasn't it?

A. Well, it was getting warm weather, yes, sir.

By the Court.

Q. Do you remember whether she had any baggage with her? Was she carrying anything?

A. I don't think she was; I don't recollect about that—I don't think she was.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. This hack that you were running there was a public hack for hire, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you weren't engaged in transferring people, you kept it in some public place on the street, didn't you?

A. We had a hack stand.

Q. And it didn't take you long, Mr. Bell, to get acquainted with practically everybody around town there, did it? A. Sir?

Q. You weren't long, after you started running this hack, getting acquainted practically with everybody in town, were you?

A. I got acquainted with a good many people, yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long did you run this public hack there?

A. I drove it at that time about a year.

Q. About a year?

A. To the best that I recollect, I think it was about a year at that time.

Q. Then, what business were you engaged in there?

A. I think I went from there to the Bus Company—Leavenworth Bus Company.

Q. You were still running a public conveyance there in Leavenworth at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long were you altogether in running public conveyances there?

A. Well, I was at that about three different times.

Q. Well, I mean continuously from January '85——

A. About three years.

Q. About three years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, during the time, how far was the Granny Letcher place from the place where you usually kept your hack when you were not at work?

A. I guess about six or seven blocks.

Q. Now, in your hack business there, you made frequent trips to Granny Letcher's place, it was a kind of resort wasn't it? A. I never went up there with a hack.

Q. Now, you say you saw this boy there in Leavenworth, where did you see him, where did you first see him?

A. Well, I first saw him in front of Granny Letcher's place.

Q. In front of Granny Letcher's place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old was he at the time?

A. He was probably two years old then.

Q. Probably two years old?

A. Maybe not quite so old.

Q. After you first saw him, you saw him frequently playing around there? A. Yes, in passing by.

Q. This kid had been pointed out to you as being Tommy Atkins, Commodore?

A. I will explain that a little bit. Mr. Crilley ran a livery stable and on Sundays and at idle times we would lounge around there.

Q. And this boy played around Crilley's livery barn, and Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you say you lounged around Crilley's every Sunday? A. Quite a good bit.

Q. And you saw this boy around there during that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you continued to see him until he got to be five or six years old?

A. I think the last time I saw him he looked to be about six years?

Q. You judged from his size and appearance that he was about six years old, or do you know? A. I don't know.

Q. And then he disappeared? A. Yes.

Q. And you haven't seen him since, that you know of?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, Mr. Bell, I wish you would describe the physical appearance of that boy to the Court. Give his color, the color of his eyes, the color of his hair?

A. Well, sir, I don't believe I could tell you the color of his eyes.

Q. Well, what was his complexion?

A. He was dark complected.

Q. Kind of a swarthy yellow Indian color? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was his hair black? A. Black.

Q. Straight?

A. Yes, sir, supposed to be straight, I never saw it straight.

Q. You have seen Indians very frequently, Mr. Bell?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Judging from his complexion and the contour of his face and his hair and so forth, did he have the appearance of being an Indian or part Indian?

A. Well, to look at the child and to the best of my judgment I would take the child to be about one quarter breed Indian.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Bell, can you tell me when it was you first talked to Mr. Graham about this case?

A. Well, I couldn't tell you the exact date.

Q. How long ago? A. About a year.

Q. It wasn't two years? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you talked to Mrs. Cobb? A. No, sir.

Q. Or Mrs. Edwards? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you talked to George Crilley?

A. Not over this subject.

Q. Never talked to anybody about this boy?

A. No, sir.

Q. You saw the boy only there in front of Granny Letcher's once?

A. Oh, I saw him there several times playing around.

Q. Did you see other boys there?

A. Mr. Crilley has some boys.

Q. Did you see other boys playing around there?

A. None only Mr. Crilley's boys.

Q. You never saw Walter Banks there? A. No, sir.

Q. You never saw Sam Nash? A. No, sir.

Q. Mary Lower? A. No, sir.

Q. This Tommy is the only boy that you can tell me you ever saw? A. All that I paid any attention to.

Q. Around Granny Letcher's? A. That is all.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, MRS. LUCINDA R. RILEY was called as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins, and having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Will you state your name please?

A. Mrs. Lucinda R. Riley.

Q. Where do you live, Mrs. Riley?

A. I live in Denver, Colorado.

Q. What was your name before you were married?

A. Lucinda A. Schiller.

Q. Your mother's name was Schiller? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You formerly lived in Leavenworth, Kansas?

A. I was born and raised there.

Q. How long since you have lived in Leavenworth?

A. I think it was 1903 that I left there.

Q. Did your mother own the property at 326 Choctaw?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you live there with her?

A. I was born and raised in that house.

Q. When did you move out of that house?

A. We moved out in the spring of 1885.

Q. Where did you move to?

A. On Olive Street near Grand Avenue, second house from Grand Avenue.

Q. Who moved into that house after you moved out?

A. A lady by the name of Lilly White.

Q. Did she lease that property from your mother?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember about what month it was that she moved in there? A. I think it was in April, I am not sure.

Q. April, 1885? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you are sure that it was in the spring of 1885?

A. Yes, sir, I am very sure of that.

Q. Will you state to the Court how you fix that date?

A. Well, I have a neice that was born the 8th of August and we were out there a few months before she was born.

Q. On Olive Street?

A. In 1885, yes, sir, on the corner of Grand Avenue and Olive.

Q. And did you live at the house when she was born?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know you were there several months before she was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, do you remember whether she moved into the house directly after you moved out?

A. She was moving in before we moved out, some of her things were there before we moved out; she was in a great hurry to get in.

Q. How do you remember she was in a great hurry to move in otherwise than that she was moving in before you got out?

A. Well, the house we were building was hardly finished when we got out of there. We had to get out there before it was finished.

Q. You mean she was in such a hurry to get the place?

A. Yes, sir, it seemed like they had orders from the City to get down on that street and they wanted the house very soon?

Q. What kind of orders? A. Oh, I don't know.

Q. You mean a City Ordinance?

A. Yes, City Ordinance.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. This Lilly White, what kind of a woman was she?

A. I don't know how you mean.

Q. Well, was she married, I will ask you that?

A. Well, I don't know that, I don't think she was.

Q. Was she a woman of good reputation? A. No, sir.

Q. Where did she come from to your mother's place?

A. Well, I think it was some where on Seneca Street.

Q. 217, don't you think it was 217 Seneca Street?

A. Well, I wouldn't know the number.

Q How long did Lilly White live in that house?

A. She lived there for a year.

Q. And how long did she live there?

A. Well, I don't know whether I could state that. Whether she lived there a year or lived there a little longer.

Q. But she did live there though during that year?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. For the year and possibly longer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And where did Lilly go to from there?

A. I didn't keep track of it.

Q. Did you visit her any? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't visit her any?

A. No, sir, she used to come down to the house and pay the rent.

Q. She came out and paid the rent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How is it you fix this time as being in April, 1885?

A. On account of my niece being born in 1885 August 8th.

Q. What is your niece's name? A. Myrtle Anderson.

Q. Where was she born?

A. On the corner of Grand Avenue and Olive.

Q. What was her mother's name?

A. Emma Anderson, my sister.

Q. Was Emma living with your mother? A. No, sir.

Q. Where was she living?

A. On the corner of Grand Avenue and Olive and mother and I lived next door to her.

Q. How long had your sister been living there?

A. Oh, she had been living there quite a few years.

Q. Then you and your mother didn't move up there until after your sister had lived there several years?

A. That is right.

Q. Then you and your mother continued to reside by your sister for several years after that?

A. We lived there until 1888.

Q. Where did you move to then?

A. Well, in the spring of '88 mother had been sick for two years. She took sick right after we moved out there and she used all her surplus money, and then our house was vacant down on Choctaw Street for about three months, and so in the spring of 1888 mother and I moved back there.

Q. On Choctaw Street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did Lilly move out so you could move in?

A. Well, the house had been vacant for three months.

Q. Lilly had moved out for three months before?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. So it was the spring of 1888 you moved back there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. So, Lilly moved out about January, 1888?

A. I couldn't say when she moved out.

Q. Well, the house had been vacant for three months?

A. Three months that I know of.

Q. You say the spring of '88, that covers three months, which one of those months was it you moved there, you and your mother moved back? A. Mother died July 3rd.

Q. In 1888? A. In 1888.

Q. And how long did you live in that house before she died? A. We hadn't been there more than two months.

Q. In July? A. July 3rd.

Q. Then you came there in May probably in 1888?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the house had been vacant three months, it having been vacated by Lilly White moving out?

A. Well, I think there was another party lived there after Lilly White moved out.

Q. She came up to your home to pay the rent, didn't she?

A. Yes.

Q. How long had she lived there?

A. Well, I don't know how long she lived there.

Q. About, can't you give some idea; you remember about Lilly so well? Can you answer?

A. I was thinking. I think as far as I can remember Lilly White turned it over to some one else.

Q. Yes, but how long did that some one else stay there, that is what I am getting at, give us some idea about it?

A. Well, she must have stayed until May, because we were there just about three months.

Q. You were in the house about three months?

A. No, the house was vacant about three months.

Q. Then when was it this other party was in the house?

The Court: I suppose the point is when Lilly White left that house?

Mr. Allen: That is the idea.

The Court: If you know, just tell him that as near as you can. You say Lilly White moved in as you were moving out?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: She lived there a while?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: Do you remember the fact that she moved out and someone else moved in?

A. Well, I don't remember them moving, it was turned over to some one else and Lilly White kept on paying the rent. She always brought the rent to us but she didn't live in the house.

The Court: The point is, about how long after Lilly White moved in the house until Lilly White turned the house over to some one else?

A. Well, it was after her lease expired.

The Court: And that was at the end of the year?

A. Yes, sir.

The Court: About how long after, have you a judgment on that?

A. Well, no, I haven't.

Q. Wasn't it this way, that that other person lived in the house before Lilly White? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, you spoke of Lilly rushing in, crowding you out, and she moved in because she was in a hurry on account of some City official acts?

A. Yes, and then they wanted to remodel the house some.

Q. What house? A. Our house.

Q. You mean you wanted to remodel it before she moved in?

A. No, she wanted to do that, she wanted to put in a hall.

Q. What was the matter, that you understood made Lilly in a hurry to get down there? A. A City Ordinance.

Q. Well, hadn't the City taken some action about it?

A. I suppose they had, at least we heard they had.

Q. You heard about a petition being circulated to move Lilly White out of Seneca Street? A. Yes.

Q. And the Council taking some action on that? A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever see that petition? A. No, sir.

Q. Would it refresh your memory any if I would call your attention to the date of that petition?

A. No, I don't think it would.

Q. You heard of it, what it was, you heard about that petition?

Mr. Cruce: We object if the Court please as hearsay testimony.

The Court: He is testing her memory on it.

Examination by the Court.

Q. Have you heard of that petition recently?

A. No, sir, I haven't.

Q. When was the last time that you heard of it?

A. I don't know.

Q. A year ago? A. Oh, no.

Q. Two years ago. Has anyone talked to you about that petition?

A. No, sir, I just remember that from the time she moved there.

Q. You remember the fact of the petition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has anyone ever mentioned the fact of the petition to you since that time? A. No, sir, not a word.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. What was it you heard about that petition at that time back in 1885?

Mr. Cruce: We object, if the Court please.

The Court: Overruled.

Mr. Cruce: Exception.

The Court: Answer if you can.

A. We just heard that they were ordered down from that street.

Q. That is what you heard? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say they moved down on to your street. What character of houses were operated on the street where you and your mother lived at the time Lilly White came down there? A. Well, just people living down there.

The Court: Were there any sporting houses down there near your house at the time?

A. I don't think there was.

Q. Lilly was the first to start there?

A. I think it was the first one started.

Q. Now, you say your mother was ill about two years before she died? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you moved up on Olive and Grand on account of your mother's health?

A. No, she wasn't ill when we moved out there.

Q. She became ill after she moved out there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long after you moved to Olive and Grand was it until your mother became ill—— That is all.

Mr. Cruce: I would like to have her answer that question.

The Court: You may answer that if you remember, Mrs. Riley. You say you moved from the house that Lilly moved into, and after that your mother became ill and subsequently died. How long after you moved out until your mother became ill?

A. I think it was in the fall of 1885 that mother started with her illness.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. When were you married? A. I was married in 1890.

Q. And is your husband living? A. No, sir.

Q. You are a widow? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You speak of moving back to Lilly White's before your mother died. You said she had exhausted her resources during her illness; did that have anything to do with her moving back there? A. No, sir.

Q. I mean did she go back there, did she have to?

A. Yes, sir, in order to get some one to rent the other house.

Q. That was your only income? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And there was just you and your mother?

A. That is all, just myself. The other girls were all married.

Q. You had no connection with any of these places or anything like that? A. No, sir.

Q. How old were you about at that time?

A. I was about twenty-three or twenty-four years old.

Q. At that time that you moved back there were there any other of these houses on that block there?

A. Yes, sir, there were.

Q. They still remained there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have never had any trouble or any difficulty of any kind? A. No, sir.

Q. Your mother at that time was a widow woman?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mrs. Riley, do you know what was meant by petition?

The Court: Let's not go into that.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. How long after you moved out to Olive and Grand was it until your mother became ill?

A. I just answered that question.

Q. What was your answer? A. In the fall of 1885.

Q. She became ill then about four or five or six months?

The Court: The summer would have come between of course.

Q. Then, she was ill two years?

A. She was ill two years, but at first she was able to get around.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, MRS. JOHN WELCH was called as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins and having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Will you please state your name?

A. Mrs. John Welch.

Q. Mrs. Welch, do you live in Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you lived there?

A. Ever since I was quite a small child.

Q. You are married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You live with your husband? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you any children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where do you live at present? A. 219 Osage.

Q. 219 Osage? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever know a woman in Leavenworth named Indian Minnie?

A. Well, I heard of her when this child, I heard of her through Mrs. Letcher when this child was there.

Mr. Pinson: Objected to as hearsay.

The Court: I will sustain the objection at this time.

Mr. Cruce: Exception.

Q. Your father worked one time at Crilley's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did you ever go down there?

A. Yes, we were quite friendly with them.

Q. And what did you go down there for?

A. Carried my father's meals, sometimes I went twice a day, every evening I carried his supper.

Q. Did you see any children around there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see any Indian boys? A. Yes.

Mr. Maxey: If the Court please, I think he should not lead the witness.

The Court: Let the witness do the testifying.

Q. State who you saw there?

A. Well, I saw the Banks boy with one arm off, two other fellows a little darker, one was larger than the other, and then this little Tommy Atkins.

Q. They called him Tommy Atkins, did they?

A. Yes, we lived right next door.

Q. How big a boy was he at that time?

A. Well, he was a child, I couldn't tell about his age, but he was a little fellow.

Q. Just give your best judgment of his age?

A. Well, I couldn't say, I was small myself.

Q. Can you describe how he looked?

A. Well, he had dark skin, dark hair, and dark eyes; he looked very much like an Indian.

Q. You judged him from his appearance to be an Indian?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you say he was a fullblood?

A. Well, no, I couldn't say that, but he looked very much like an Indian.

Q. And did you ever see him after that?

A. Yes, then when we moved into the Feth house he was there then.

Q. When did you move into her house?

A. Well, I couldn't say the year.

Q. You were much older then, were you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what part of the Feth house did you live in?

A. We lived in the frame part. There was a stairway going up between the stone part and the frame part. There was a landing here and Mrs. Feth lived in the stone part.

Q. When were you married? A. 1894.

Q. Were you living at that place at that time?

A. No, we had moved out on Fifth and Olive.

Q. Was Granny Letcher living near you, you say?

A. Yes.

Q. How long had she been living there?

A. Quite a while I couldn't say how many years she moved there. She had moved away and she moved in shortly after we moved there again.

Q. She had moved out and then moved back? A. Yes.

Q. And she moved back while you were in the Feth house?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you see this boy around there then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what did you notice about him then?

A. That he was a much larger child, he wasn't so large either; I couldn't say his age.

Q. Could you judge about?

A. Well, he might have been seven or eight, might have been that, I couldn't say.

Q. Did you know any other children at her house?

A. Well, this two older fellows, this Banks boy and two other darker boys.

Q. What was the one armed boy's name? A. Banks.

Q. To refresh your memory, was it not Sam Nash?

A. Yes, that is it. The other fellow, darker fellow, was Banks.

Q. Which was the oldest?

A. I couldn't say. I noticed them being there. I never spoke to any of those boys in my life.

Q. Do you remember any occurrence between these boys?

A. Well, these darker boys was quarreling with this little Tommy and my mother and I went out and stopped it, and mother and I told them they were too big boys to fight a little fellow.

Q. What kind of people lived in this frame house, I mean white or colored? A. Well, Mrs. Letcher lived there.

Q. She was colored?

A. Yes, but there were a good many different ones.

Q. Did you have anything to do with them? A. No, sir.

Q. And you say that you knew of him there from the time Granny Letcher moved back until you moved away on Olive Street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that was just before you married in 1894?

A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, we don't know what might happen and we would like to read into the record what we expect to prove by this witness; make the offer.

The Court: Well, of course it is clear to me now what your offer will probably be. I am going to let you interrogate this witness on that point subject to a motion to strike. You may ask her that.

Mr. Cruce: I don't know how to ask it. Mr. Hanford will have to ask it.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Did Granny Letcher ever tell you whose child that was? A. Yes, I asked her.

Q. What did she tell you? A. She told me Tommy Atkins.

Q. Did she say whose baby it was?

A. Yes, she told me Indian Minnie.

Q. Did you ever know Indian Minnie? A. No, sir.

Mr. German: Now, we move to strike that testimony on the ground that it is hearsay.

The Court: I will reserve the ruling upon that. During the interim between now and tomorrow I want to examine the Banks and other depositions.

Mr. German: I assume that your Honor will have in mind the fact that when we introduced those depositions we didn't vouch for their truthfulness.

The Court: I have in mind the statement which you made with regard to the purpose for which you offered them.

Mr. Cruce: We don't think we can introduce this lady and say her testimony after it is in cannot be treated except for one purpose.

The Court: Well, I may give you gentlemen a little time upon this in the morning. I want to consider those depositions first.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What was your maiden name? A. Laura Alexander.

Q. What was the date of your birth?

A. 18th of August.

Q. What year? A. I will be forty one this August.

Q. Forty-one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This coming August? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Sure about that? A. Yes, sir, I am.

Q. When were you first married?

A. I have only been married once, I was married the 26th of September.

Q. What year? A. 1894.

Q. Where were you living in 1886?

A. Well, I don't remember the years, but I can tell you right where I have lived.

Q. Where have you lived?

A. When we first came to Leavenworth?

Q. When was that? A. Well, I was quite a small child.

Q. Do you know what year?

A. No, I don't know. Mr. Crilley and his family lived in the old Seneca House and we stayed there until we got a house. The first place we got was on Olive. This building was built for a stable and they never used it for a stable and they partitioned it off and we lived in the down stairs part; and from there we moved down on the corner, and then from there we moved out on Fifth Avenue, on Prospect between Fifth and Fourth, and that was our home.

Q. How old were you when you went to Leavenworth?

A. Well, I couldn't say.

Q. Well, were you fifteen or twenty years old?

A. No, I was young.

Q. Five years old?

A. I guess I was older than that. We lived there before.

Q. You went to Crilley's house long before his wife and he separated though, didn't you?

A. I couldn't say they ever separated.

Q. Were they ever separated?

A. No, I never knew they were separated, because they came to our house often and we went to their house.

Q. They were living together at that time then?

A. Yes, I know she went away on a visit and Mr. Crilley brought her out to the house and bid us good bye.

Q. She went away on a visit. And you never saw her after that, did you? A. No.

Q. You learned later she died, was dead? A. Yes.

Q. How long did you live in that house with Crilley?

A. We were not in that house but maybe a week. Mamma wouldn't stay any longer than she could help.

Q. It was during that week you saw Thomas Atkins?

A. Oh, no.

Q. You saw him then didn't you?

A. Yes, but not that week.

Q. You saw him that week, didn't you? A. No.

Q. When was it you saw him after that?

A. When I carried meals to my father.

Q. What year was that? A. I couldn't say.

Q. Did you stop at Crilley's?

A. I played there. I went down there and played, spent the day many a day.

Q. Crilly was very friendly to you?

A. Yes, they were, all of them.

Q. And when you would go there and visit Mrs. Crilley, you would see this boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old was he then? A. Well, I couldn't say.

Q. Seven or eight years old?

A. No, that was when we lived next door.

Q. He was six or seven wasn't he when you first learned his name? A. No, he was a very small child.

Q. How old was he? A. I couldn't say.

Q. He wasn't more than a year old?

A. How could you expect me to tell his age?

The Court: Don't argue with the lawyer. Just answer the question if you can; if you can't just say so.

Q. Just tell me if you can how old he was?

A. He might have been two, I don't know, I couldn't say. He was a small child.

Q. How long would you stay there with Mrs. Crilley?

A. Sometimes I would start down about four o'clock.

Q. You didn't play with these negro boys?

A. Oh, no, I played with Crilley's children.

Q. This was a little mulatto?

A. He looked like an Indian generally.

Q. He didn't show any signs of negro blood?

A. I don't think he did.

Q. Do you know Henry Carter, have you been asked to identify him lately? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't this boy later go out in the country from Leavenworth, and didn't you learn that he was raised out in the country? A. No, sir.

Q. Granny told you that this was a child of Indian Minnie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was Mrs. Crilley there when she told you that?

A. Yes, Mrs. Crilley was there.

Q. How long would you stay there with Mrs. Crilley when you would see this boy?

A. Sometimes I would stay until nine o'clock and go home on the car.

Q. Nine o'clock in the evening?

A. Yes, sometimes my mother would come down and spend the evening.

Q. How long did you continue to go down there and play?

A. It was quite a long while.

Q. Did you continue to go down there as long as two years after you saw this boy?

A. Well, now, I couldn't say how long.

Q. It was more than a year?

A. I couldn't say it was; long while.

Q. This boy would sometimes join with you children in playing? A. No, sir, he played on his side of the street.

Q. Then, you were never thrown in contact or associated with him, were you? A. No, sir.

Q. He was living there with negroes and you didn't associate with them, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. You continued to go there and play with these other children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. As long as Crilley's lived there?

A. Yes, and they came to our house.

Q. Then, Mrs. Crilley finally went away? A. Yes.

Q. Then when did you next see this boy?

A. After that we moved into the Feth house.

Q. After Mrs. Crilley went away you next saw the boy after you moved into the Feth house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did Mrs. Crilley come back on a visit after she had gone away and then again leave?

A. I don't remember that part, of anything like that.

Q. When you moved into the Feth house about how old was this boy?

A. Well, I don't know, might have been eight or nine, I couldn't say, seven or eight, eight or nine.

Q. You think——

The Court: You think he must have been as much as seven years old?

A. Well, he might have been, you know I can't always judge children.

The Court: What I want to get at is, some age you know he wasn't under.

A. Well, I guess he was about eight or nine.

Q. That is when you moved back to the Feth house?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he was then living with Granny Letcher?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw him anywhere else? A. No, I never.

Q. You never played with him in your life? A. No, sir.

Q. You never spoke to him in your life?

A. Just spoke to him the time these boys were quarreling with him.

Q. Just the one time? A. My mother and I both.

Q. Did you say Sam Nash, you quit? A. No.

Q. Jim Mayo, you quit? A. No, sir.

Q. And Tommy Atkins you quit? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't know their names?

A. No, my mother said, you boys must not fight Tommy, he is too small.

Q. Then, you heard his name was Tommy?

A. I heard it.

Q. They nicknamed him Commodore?

A. Yes, I have heard them call him that.

Q. You always heard Mr. Crilley refer to him as Commodore? A. Yes.

Q. When did Mr. Crilley first talk to you about this boy?

A. I guess about a couple or three years ago he brought Mr. Long up there and that is all I spoke to Mr. Crilley about it.

Q. He brought Frank Long to your place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did he say to you then?

A. He asked me if I knew of this Tommy Atkins.

Q. Tell us just exactly as near as you can what he first said to you about it; you remember his language, don't you?

Mr. Cruce: We insist that she be allowed to answer, she is reflecting.

The Court: He has asked you to tell as nearly as you can what he said to you when he came up there with Mr. Long?

A. He asked me if I knew Tommy Atkins.

Q. Just use his language as near as you can?

A. And wanted to know if I knew Mrs. Letcher and if I remembered where she lived and if this child was with her at that time, and I told him yes.

Q. Well, when he first came to you he asked you if you knew that boy Tommy Atkins that played around Granny Letcher's, didn't he? A. He asked me just as I told you.

Q. Well, now, what did he say to you?

A. He asked me if I knew Tommy Atkins.

Q. You remember very distinctly now that Mrs. Letcher—that Granny Letcher, way back yonder in the eighties, told you, said to you that child, Tommy Atkins, is the son of Indian Minnie, don't you? A. I asked her——

Q. Now, can't you tell me the conversation that Crilley had with you three years ago?

A. Mr. Crilley didn't have any with me.

Q. Can't you tell me the question he asked you?

A. Mr. Crilley didn't talk with me.

Q. Who did talk to you? A. Mr. Long.

Q. What did Mr. Long say, now? A. I just told you.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor that is three times he has asked that.

The Court: Let it be answer- again.

A. Mr. Long asked me if I knew Tommy Atkins and I said yes, sir, I knew Tommy Atkins, and if I knew where Mrs. Letcher lived, and I told him.

Q. Everything he said to you was do you know Thomas Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That used to live at Granny Letcher's, and you told him you did, and that was the language of the conversation?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He didn't ask you anything about who his mother was, did he?

A. He asked me if I had heard, and I said Mrs. Letcher told me Indian Minnie.

Q. He didn't ask you if you knew, did he?

A. Why, no. He couldn't hardly ask me that——

Q. You never saw Indian Minnie there in your life, did you? A. Not that I remember of.

Q. You never saw her at all, did you? A. Yes, I——

Q. In that community?

A. No, not then, but I think I saw her some where.

Q. In the last four years?

A. Saw her, but I never could say that I saw her there; never.

Q. Now, Walter Banks you say was not the one-armed boy? A. No, sir.

Q. Walter was a black boy, wasn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Sam Nash was the—— A. Yellow——

Q. The yellow, one-armed boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Sam was a great big strapping fellow, wasn't he?

A. Yes, sir, he wasn't so large, then; he was a good size boy.

Q. Walter was a little runty boy?

A. Well, he was thin.

Q. He is a very small boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was deformed, wasn't he?

A. No, sir, just an arm was off.

Q. Well that was Sam Nash; what about Walter? Was there any deformity about Walter?

A. Not that I ever noticed.

Q. What did they call Walter then?

A. Well, I don't remember their name, only these two, but I know there was two others besides that, but I didn't know their names.

Q. Frank Long asked you if you remembered Walter Banks and Sam Nash? A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Did Mr. Crilley ask you that?

A. No, sir; Mr. Crilley didn't ask me anything.

Q. Hasn't Mr. Crilley ever talked to you about this case?

A. Mr. Crilley has not. I told you I haven't saw Mr. Crilley to talk to him from the time Mr. Long was there until last August, when my sister came from Ohio, and I 'phoned him to meet her at the depot, in case I couldn't go to the depot. I had a very sick child; and I told him what depot she would come in, and then we didn't talk only just through Mrs. Hoofman and my sister and myself——

Q. About this case? A. No, sir.

Q. Never said a word about this case? A. No, sir.

Q. Haven't you ever talked to him up to now about this case? A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. How did you happen to know that Crilley called him Commodore?

A. Why I heard him there around the barn call him that.

Q. Did anybody ask you out at the house if the boy didn't have a nickname, Commodore?

A. No, sir, Crilley never asked me nothing.

Q. Can you tell me aproximately how long it was before Mrs. Crilley left? A. No, I can't.

Q. Before you last saw Mrs. Crilley?

A. I know she spent the day at our house, the day before she went away, and had dinner with us.

Q. About how long before that was it that you first saw the boy?

A. I was carrying meals to my father, I can't say.

Q. Two years, three years?

A. I can't say how long it was.

Q. As much as two years? A. I can't say.

Q. As much as a month?

A. I can't say that I know; it was a long while.

Q. Long while? A. Yes, sir; long while.

Q. When you first saw him, I believe you say he was some—how old was he when you first saw him to know who he was?

A. Very small child, I can't say.

Q. Something about two years old?

A. He may have been; I can't say.

Q. Did you ever have many conversations with Granny Letcher? A. No, sir.

Q. She ran a house—a bawdy house, didn't she?

A. I know nothing about that affair.

Q. But she didn't run the sort of house that your people permitted you to go to ,did she?

A. My mother never allowed us to associate with very many people, because she thought she could manage the children better without association.

Q. And especially she didn't let you run around a place like Granny ran, did she?

A. I don't know what kind of place she ran.

Q. Can you tell me anything else you ever heard Granny say, except that Minnie is the mother of Tommy?

A. That is all.

Q. Do you remember any other utterances of hers in your life? A. No, because I never talked——

Q. Ever hear her say that more than the one time?

A. I heard her call him, time and time again.

Q. Would you be around Granny? A. Why I heard him-—

Q. You never heard her refer to his parentage but once, did you?

A. I have heard her talk about Indian Minnie.

Q. Did you ever hear her say but once that Tommy is the son of Indian Minnie?

A. She never told me, only when I asked her whose child it was.

Q. I thought you said a while ago that Mrs. Crilley—that she told Mrs. Crilley in your presence?

A. No, you know I didn't say that.

Q. She told you in the presence of Mrs. Crilley? A. Yes.

Q. You had known Tommy for a long time at that time, hadn't you?

A. Well, from the time we came—no, after my father went to work there——

Q. You had known him several years but didn't know whose child he was, is that right?

A. No, I asked when I first began carrying meals.

Q. That the time she told you his name was Tommy?

A. Tommy Atkins.

Q. Did she say Tommy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He didn't go by the name of Indian Tommy, then, did he? A. Once in a while the boys did.

Q. Indian Tommy, Tommy Atkins, and Commodore?

A. You know how boys nickname them.

Q. Which was he called most? A. Tommy.

Q. Nobody called him Commodore but Crilly, did they?

A. I never heard of anyone.

Q. Nobody called him Commodore but Mrs. Edwards, did they? A. I can't tell about that.

Q. How did you happen to ask Granny Letcher whose boy the child was? A. Because he was different color.

Q. Walter Banks was a different color, too, wasn't he?

A. Yes, sir; but this one was more like an Indian; he took your eye, you couldn't help but notice the difference and you know how children are.

Q. This was not a mulatto appearing boy?

A. He was a light, kinder——

Q. Sam Nash was a light complected appearing boy, too?

A. Yes, but he was darker yet than Tommy.

Q. He was darker than Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never asked whose Sam's father was?
A. No, I never spoke to these people.
Q. You asked whose Tommy's father was? A. Why, no.
Q. You were not particularly interested in the parents?
A. I just asked because he was so small.
Q. But Walter was the smallest yet? A. Different size.
Q. Walter was the smallest of the three, wasn't he?
A. No, sir.
Q. Sure about that?
A. Well, I can't say their names; I remember them when I see them there, that one was larger than the other.
Q. Sam was just a little larger yet than Tommy, wasn't he? A. He was larger than him.
Q. Sam was larger?
A. But those other boys wasn't there so much, you know; only just a little while at a time, and then they got to staying, my mother and I went out.
Q. Jim Mayo was a little fellow, too, wasn't he?
A. He wasn't so small.
Q. Jim wasn't small then? A. I don't think so.
Q. Jim wasn't over ten years old then was he?
A. Children you can't always come on their age, I will tell you; I had a daughter fourteen years old, and you wouldn't have thought she was five; so you can't go on their size, their age.
Q. Jim Mayo you knew well, didn't you?
A. I couldn't know him well.
Q. You knew Jim Mayo being there?
A. Yes, sir, I knew of their being there.
Q. Which was the older, Jim or Sam? A. How can I say?
The Court: If you can, just say; if you can not, answer that you can not.
Q. Jim, though, was a small boy, not in pants when you first saw him? Did he have on long trousers when you first saw him?
A. Well, they weren't really short, just below his knees.
Q. Did Tommy live at Granny's all the time until you married?
A. They were there when we moved away from there.
Q. Granny lived all the time there, did she?
A. No, she moved away and moved back.
Q. When she did move away, Tommy moved and when she moved back, Tommy moved back, did he?
A. He was with her then, yes.
Q. You were married in 1894? A. Yes.
Q. And Tommy was living right there at Granny's in 1894, wasn't he? A. At Granny Letcher's.

Q. He was a member of that family all of that time, is that right?

A. He was there. I suppose he was a member, if he was there.

Q. Walter Banks was a right jet black boy, wasn't he?

A. Several were dark.

Q. And Granny Letcher was a light complected woman wasn't she? A. Rather, yes.

Q. She was a very light colored woman, wasn't she?

A. No, not really light.

Q. You didn't ask her whose Walter's mother was, did you? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Did you ask her who Jim Mayo's mother was?

A. No, I didn't.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. Mrs. Welch, you know of any other Indian boy during this period at Granny Letcher's or being around Granny Letcher's? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you say this boy Tommy played around with Walter Banks? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Sam Nash, around Granny Letcher's and Crilly's livery barn? A. Yes.

Q. That is where you usually saw them?

A. Yes, there over on their side.

Q. How? A. In the barn and over there.

Q. That place and Crilly's barn were just across the street?

A. Yes, the barn was this way and about like that.

The Court.

Q. Your husband is living, Mrs. Welch?

A. My husband, yes, sir.

Q. What is his business now?

A. He works in the Great Western Machine Shops.

Q. Are you a relative to Mr. Crilly? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you any relatives here, in attendence upon court?

A. No, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Cruce.

Q. You could tell that Walter Banks was a negro boy?

A. Oh, yes.

Q. And Sam Nash? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Mayo? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And it didn't surprise you to see them in a negro family? A. No, it didn't.

Q. This other boy, Tommy, was an Indian? A. Yes, sir.

The Court.

Q. Mrs. Welch this boy that you speak of as an Indian boy, how long were you familiar with him around Granny Letcher's there, just about how many years, would you say?

A. Well, I was around there from the time I was about —from about six to—I can't say, exactly now how long; I know it was a long time.

Q. It began when you were about six years old?

A. Well, I guess about that age; I can't say exactly.

Q. And what year were you born in?

A. Well, this August I will be 41.

Q. That would make it '76; you were born, then, in '76. You think you were about 6 years old when you first saw that boy around there. Now, after you first saw him there, you were around there and familiar with that neighborhood and those children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. For about how many years, you say? I understood you to say that you saw them up until about '94, is that right?

A. Yes, they were around there then.

Q. And about how many years, just as near as you can tell me, was it that you were familiar with that neighborhood, there, and saw these boys? Just your best judgment on it; think about it, and give me your best judgment on it.

A. I might have been about 15 or 16.

Q. About 15 or 16 when you stopped going around there?

A. Yes, it was; I will take that back, because we lived there until I was married; pretty near until I was married. We moved out on Fifth and——

Q. Until you moved, I take it you were familiar with that neighborhood? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This Indian boy that you saw there, do you know that he lived at Granny Letcher's house and stayed there at nights?

A. I can't say about that; he was there at nights and there in the morning.

Q. With the other children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that continued all the time you lived in that neighborhood, up until about '94? A. Yes, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon PHILIP TUCHER, a witness produced on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins, et al., was sworn, and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. What is your name? A. Philip Tucher.

Q. Where do you live?

A. I live in Kansas City, Missouri.

Q. What do you do? A. I am a livery man.

Q. Did you ever live in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you live there?

A. Lived there about 30 years.

Q. How old were you when you came there?

A. About 12 years old, I think, as near as I remember.

Q. What did you do in Leavenworth?

A. Worked with my mother as long as I was small, and when I growed up I went to work in the livery barn.

Q. Who did you work——

A. Crilly and Cranston; Van Tyle, and George Waller.

Q. Worked for Crilly & Cranston, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you work for them?

A. During the fire, when they were burned out, and I worked for them afterwards.

Q. About how long before the fire did you work for them?

A. Oh, I guess I worked there three or four years.

Q. Who else did you work for in that block?

A. O. B. Lattin.

Q. Crilly & Cranston were on Seneca street, were they?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Whereabouts on Seneca?

A. Between 2nd and 3d on the north side of the street.

Q. Who else did you work for in that block—let me ask you this: Where was Van Tyle's?

A. He was on the corner of 3d and Seneca, brick stable.

Q. Where was Lattin's?

A. He was in there before Van Tyle's.

Q. Altogether how long were you around in that block?

A. About 18 years.

Q. About 18 years.

A. That is, not in one block, but different blocks; Seneca street runs clean from the river up to 4th street, and I worked for Mr. Ryan there.

Q. Did you ever know Granny Letcher? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live?

A. On Seneca between 2nd and 3d.

Q. She lived on Seneca street, where?

A. Between 2nd and 3rd, on the south side, about the middle of the block.

Q. Where was Granny's with respect to Crilly's barn?

A. Right across the street on the south side of the street.

Q. Now, who else did you work for besides those you have already named in there?

A. I worked for Doctor Brock after he built a stable there.

Q. He has a stable in that same block? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far was that from Crilly's?

A. I think there were two lots in between.

Q. Who else did you work for in that block?

A. That was all in that block.

Q. But, altogether you were in that block about 18 years?

A. Very near it, sir, on that street.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian girl there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was her name?

A. She went by the name of Indian Minnie.

Q. Did you ever know any other name?

A. No, sir; I don't think I did; never heard any.

Q. Just Indian Minnie? A. That is all.

Q. And where did she live?

A. She lived there with Mrs. Letcher.

Q. How long did you see her around there?

A. Well, I can't exactly say, I seen her there for a year or more.

Q. Little more than a year. Do you know of her giving birth to any children there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where?

A. I seen her around there at Mrs. Letcher's on the porch and in that yard.

Q. Did you ever see her when she was in a pregnant condition?

A. Seen her out there in the yard, yes, sir.

Q. I mean, did you ever see her when she showed she was going to have a baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And do you know whether she had a baby, or not?

A. I see her nursing it afterwards.

Q. Where did you see her nursing it? A. On the porch.

Q. What porch was that? A. Mrs. Letcher's house.

Q. Did you see her out in the yard? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see her doing anything else with the baby?

A. No, sir; I seen her carrying it around in her arms.

Q. Did you ever see that baby afterwards? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you see him?

A. Well, I seen him after he growed up and got to playing around in the yard and coming out on the sidewalk and in the street.

Q. What did you call him?

A. We called him Tommy, and some called him Commodore; had a nickname, called him Commodore, some of us did.

Q. What kind of looking boy was he?

A. Brown skinned, boy; black hair, chunky little fellow.

Q. What kind of boy was he?

A. Well, he was kind of a mischievous, always playing; had to chase him off the street and back in the yard, so he wouldn't be run over when carriages were coming in the barn.

Q. Did he come around the barn? A. No, sir.

Q. How old was he then?

A. I think he must have been about four or five and a half years old, somewheres along there; maybe five.

Q. Did you ever see him after that?

A. Seen him on Cherokee street.

Q. Cherokee street; how old was he then?

A. Well, that was about the same time.

Q. Well, after Crilly's fire, or before? A. After.

Q. After Crilly's fire. Do you remember the date of his fire?

A. 1890, I was there the night the barn burned, sleeping in the barn.

Q. Do you know what year it was that she had this boy at Letcher's? A. No, I don't; I can't say positive.

Q. Well, then he was along about four or five years old the last you saw of him? A. Around there, yes, sir.

Q. And the next time you saw him was down on Cherokee?

A. No, down on Third street and Cherokee with some other boys.

Q. Did you see him around there much?

A. No, that was the only time I seen him down that way.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You say you lived on Seneca street and worked there for about 18 years?

A. On that street, up and down that street, yes, sir.

Q. What 18 years?

A. Well, it was in—I started to work before the fire.

Q. What fire? A. Crilly & Cranston's, 1890.

Q. 1890? A. The barn burned down.

Q. How long before the fire?

A. Well, three or four years.

Q. Now you know how long—give us an idea whether it was three or four. A. Well, I will say four.

Q. Four. Alright, then you began there in 1886, didn't you? A. I never kept track when I commenced.

Q. Well, more than four years or less than four?

A. I judge about four.

Q. What time of year did Crilly & Cranston's barn burn?

A. 1890.

Q. What time in the year? A. In the summer time.

Q. In the summer time; then you came there in '86, commenced working in '86. You never saw Indian Minnie around that house before you commenced work there, did you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were you working?

A. Over there at Crilly & Cranston's.

Q. I say before you commenced work on that street you never saw Indian Minnie around there?

A. She was around there in the yard.

Q. I say, before you went to work on that street, you never saw her around there, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, where were you working?

A. Over there at Crilly & Cranston's.

Q. Well, they were on that street, weren't they? A. Sir?

Q. They were on Seneca street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you work before you worked on Seneca street? A. Mr. C. B. Lattin's.

Q. What street was that on? A. Seneca and Third.

Q. When you commence working on Seneca and Third, about four years before the barn burned?

A. Somewhere around that neighborhood.

Q. Then you commenced working there in '86, is that right?

A. I can't say exactly what year, but I judge it was about four years.

Q. Now, you say when you first saw Indian Minnie at the Letcher's that she was in a family way, is that what you say? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Very pronounced; was it prominent? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Very prominent, eh? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did she stay around Granny Letcher's before she got to looking that way?

A. I can't say how long.

Q. Tell the Court about how long.

A. Well, I see her nursing the child.

Q. Well, how long was it between the time you first saw her there in a family way and the time you saw her nursing the child, tell us that?

A. Well, I worked there right along all the time, and I see her out in the yard some days and sometimes I wouldn't see her again [ ] a few days, and I never kept no track.

Q. Well, six months from the time you first saw her there until she had the child?

A. I say it was—I stayed there and worked.

Q. Let's get down to something definite. I suggested six months. I want you to tell us the time, how much time would you say?

A. Well, I worked there right along for four or five years.

Q. Alright. You have stretched it one year now. Go ahead.

A. And I worked for Mr. Van Tyle.

Q. Alright let's get at that time; you worked first at the Van Tyle stable on that street, didn't you? A. No, sir, I——

Q. Who did you work first for?

A. I worked for Mr. Lattin, O. B. Lattin.

Q. Well, was he on that street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was his stable? A. In Van Tyle's stable.

Q. Then it was at the Van Tyle stable that you first worked? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then who did you next work for on that street?

A. Van Tyle.

Q. Van Tyle, had the same stable?

A. Mr. Lattin moved out.

Q. Van Tyle moved in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Took the same stable. Who did you next work for on that street? A. Crilley & Cranston.

Q. Right across the street?

A. Catacornered across the street.

Q. How long before the fire was it that you went to work for Crilley & Cranston?

A. Four years, maybe a little longer.

Q. How long did you work for Van Tyle before you went to work for Cranston? A. Not over six months.

Q. How long did you work for them? The other fellow before you went to Van Tyle?

A. About three months, and he moved out.

Q. Well, then, about five years before the fire that you worked on that street; is that right? Tell me this, when you first went to work on that street, was Granny Letcher living on it? A. No, sir.

Q. Where was she living?

A. I don't know where she was living then; living in another part of the city.

Q. Who was living in the house Granny Letcher later lived in? A. Old man Dotter.

Q. Who lived in that house after old man Dotter?

A. Well, several different families moved in and out.

Q. Now, you know who lived in that house after Mr. Dotter, don't you? A. No, sir; I don't believe I do.

Q. Alright. Granny Letcher never lived in there while the Dotters were living there, did she? A. No, sir.

Q. And she moved in later on after some other family had lived in there, besides the Dotters, didn't she?

A. I can't say exactly.

Q. She moved in and when she did move in, she stayed there for about four years, didn't she?

A. Well, I don't know exactly how many years she stayed there.

Q. Alright. Who was living in the house when you first went to work for Crilley & Cranston?

A. I think old man Dotter was.

Q. You ever been to the penitentiary? A. No, sir.

Q. You ever been in any trouble? A. No, sir.

Q. Where do you live right now? A. Kansas City, Mo.

Q. What street address?

A. I live on 16 West Missouri Ave.

Q. 16 West Missouri Avenue. What do you do?

A. I work in the livery business.

Q. Whose livery barn? A. Work for Mr. L. Hyman.

Q. At this time? A. No, sir.

Q. How long since you have? A. Five or six years.

Q. What have you been doing since then?

A. Worked for the Fargo Express Co.

Q. Who are you working for now?

A. Haven't been working the last week or so, been sick; the last month, had the grippe. Working for the Fargo then when I was taken sick.

Q. What were you doing for the Fargo?

A. Working in the stable business.

Q. Taking care of the horses? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Let's see: How long after Granny Letcher moved in that Seneca street house was it that you saw this Indian woman around there?

A. Well, I can't exactly say, because I didn't keep no track of it.

Q. Did you see the Indian woman before Granny Letcher moved into the house? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Granny Letcher before she moved into the Seneca street house?

A. Yes, sir, knowed her and her son Jim.

Q. How old was Jim when Granny moved into that house?

A. Grown up young man.

Q. Wasn't Jim about 30 years old then?

A. I don't know whether he was that old or not; I know he was grown up.

Q. Grown man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Sam Nash, you knew him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was one-armed, wasn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What age man was he when Granny moved in there?

A. Good deal younger than James.

Q. Well, how much younger was he when Granny moved into that house?

A. I should judge he was 18 or 19 years old maybe.

Q. About grown? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About a grown man at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else was living in that house?

A. Different parties in and out of there, who they were, I don't know.

Q. Any children?

A. Sometimes see some children playing around there, and sometimes not.

Q. Tell the Court the names of the children you would see playing around there?

A. Well I didn't get acquainted with them.

Q. Didn't know any of them, did you? A. No.

Q. Can you tell the Court the name of one child around there?

A. I know Indian Minnie's child, Tommy they called him, but outside of that, I never paid any attention to any the rest of them.

Q. Well, what was there about that child that made you pay attention to it?

A. Well, he was around there every day.

Q. Just because he was around there?

A. He would come out on the sidewalk and they would chase him in and such as that.

Q. Now, wasn't some other child around there?

A. Very seldom see any other around there.

Q. Any other child living in that house at that time?

A. No, sir, not that I know of.

Q. Refresh your memory are you sure of that?

A. Old Granny Letcher was the only lady around there and Indian Minnie, ever I seen.

Q. You mean Indian Minnie's boy?

A. Her and the baby is all I seen.

Q. How long did Indian Minnie stay with Granny Letcher? A. She stayed there until it growed up.

Q. How old was the boy when she quit staying there?

A. Well it got to be quite a run-about around there.

Q. What is your best judgment as to how old he was?

A. Must have been I guess three years.

Q. Do you have a good recollection of Indian Minnie?

A. Well it has been quite awhile since I saw her.

Q. Well just run your mind back. Do you now have a good recollection of the woman that you saw there at that house who stayed there that you are talking about?

A. Well she was a fair made woman, pretty fairly built; black hair.

Q. You remember her well don't you? Do you or not?

A. Pretty well, yes, sir.

Q. All right; now before the child was born and when she was in this pregnant condition you say she stayed at Granny Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. On Seneca street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you knew Granny well at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And tell the Court now whether she stayed there regularly or not up until the time that condition disappeared.

A. Well I seen her there very near every day in the yard and house.

Q. Where did she sleep, in the house?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. And how long before the child was born was it you saw her there nearly every day?

A. I couldn't say exactly how long a time it was. I know I seen her there.

Q. Well was it a month?

A. Might have been a month, might have been longer.

Q. Two months?

A. Might have been a month or in the neighborhod of two months.

Q. Had you seen the woman before she became pregnant?

A. Seen her when she first came around there; heard parties say who she was.

Q. All right, she wasn't pregnant then?

A. I guess she was I couldn't exactly say how much.

Q. She was pregnant when she first came around there, is that your best recollection?

A. Well I couldn't say positively.

Q. Then after the condition disappeared and she was carrying the child around you say she continued to stay there until the child was three or four years old?

A. I seen her around there; well she disappeared from there.

Q. Well, how old was the child when she disappeared from there? A. I should judge about three years old.

Q. Did you say two or three?

A. Two or three years old.

Q. Did she stay there all the time during all that time?

A. I couldn't say; I seen her nursing the child until it growed up.

Q. How did she nurse the child, you mean she was holding it to her breast?

A. Yes, sir, I would see her on the porch; the barn was on the other side of the street.

Q. How old was the baby the first time you saw her with the baby, the first time you saw the baby?

A. Well, little baby carrying it around, in her arms.

Q. Where was she the first time you saw the baby?

A. Outside on the porch.

Q. How close were you to her?

A. Across the street over to the barn; there was a small picket fence and of course you could see over it.

Q. Where was that porch?

A. It was on the west side of the house.

Q. There wasn't any porch in front? A. No, sir.

Q. Was Granny Letcher in that very same house that you have just mentioned at the time that Indian Minnie was around there in this pregnant condition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That very same two story house?

A. Story and a half.

Q. Well isn't that a picture right there?

A. There is the house right there (Indicating on plat).

Q. Has a tree by the side of it. Witness refers to Government's Exhibit A-91. Now you don't remember where it was Granny Letcher moved into that house from?

A. No, I couldn't say positively.

Q. What year was it you first saw Indian Minnie there?

A. Well I never kept track of the years; I have heard them say there is Indian Minnie over at Granny Letchers. I never paid attention what year it was.

Q. But you are positive that during the pregnancy of this woman Granny was living in that house you pointed out on that map? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now where did you work before you went to work for Lattin?

A. I worked for George Waller over on Main Street between Seneca and Shawnee.

Q. How long had you worked for him?

A. Oh, I guess I worked six or seven months.

Q. Several months; how old were you then?

A. I was a grown man.

Q. When did you go to Leavenworth, what year?

A. I went there when I was twelve years old.

Q. How old are you now? A. Sixty-three.

Q. And you have stayed in Leavenworth for thirty years?

A. About thirty years.

Q. Until you were about forty-two years old?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Something like that. You are now sixty-three?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Been about twenty years ago that you left there, something like that?

A. I have been back to Leavenworth since then but not to stay, back there some times on a visit.

Q. Then you left there about 1895, '6 or '7?

A. I didn't keep track exactly.

Q. About twenty years ago; did you work on Seneca street up to the time you left Leavenworth?

A. Well they moved down on Cherokee. They dissolved Crilley & Cranston and Cranston moved on Cherokee street and I went down there and worked for Cranston.

Q. And you didn't work on Seneca any more?

A. Yes, sir, I worked for Dennis Ryan between Fourth and Fifth.

Q. Was that on Seneca Street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did this woman wear her hair?

A. She had it braided down in a braid hanging down her back.

Q. One or two braids?

A. Generally one, that is the way it looked to me.

Q. And her hair was braided? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did she dress?

A. Well she dressed just like any ordinary woman would around the house.

Q. Did she dress in loud clothes or not?

A. Not very, no.

Q. Well was she known as a prostitute?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. How did she have the baby wrapped up?

A. Well she generally had a shawl around it.

Q. What color? A. I couldn't exactly say what color.

Q. Well was it red?

A. Well, it might have had some stripes in it.

Q. Was it a loud shawl; did it attract your attention much? A. No, sir.

Q. This boy, how old was he when you left Leavenworth?

A. I couldn't say; I never seen him any more after I left there on Seneca street.

Q. Well, you know how old he was don't you when you last saw him?

A. Well I should judge five years, something like that maybe little more.

Q. What year was that?

A. I don't know, I couldn't state.

Q. Where were you working the last time you ever saw the boy?

A. I was working down there on Cherokee street.

Q. For Cranston? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What number on Cherokee was that stable?

A. I don't know whether it is 322 or something like that. Between Third and Fourth.

Q. Is it where Cranston is now?

A. No, he is across the street.

Q. Who was the boy with?

A. He was playing with some other little boys and I didn't pay much attention; I was driving a hack coming from a funeral. He would some times come out in the street and we would chase him away.

Q. You didn't have any trouble with Walter Banks did you?

A. There was lots of children playing around that block; I don't know whose they were.

Q. Name the children that played in that block.

A. Well, there was different families, they were all down in the other block, I never found out their names.

Q. Can you give the Court the name of a single other boy that was in that block besides Tommy?

A. Jim Warren's boys played there.

Q. Give their names?

A. Arthur was one I think, and George I think was another one.

Q. All right name some more?

A. That is all I remember of them boys. The Italian children.

Q. What were their names?

A. One was Tony and I forget the other's name. They were Italians.

Q. Name some more. Did you know Tommy York?

A. Yes, sir. There was lots of children there but I never knowed all their names.

Q. Did you know Tommy Owen? A. Owens, yes, sir.

Q. Tommy Mozee? A. I don't know as I do.

Q. Tommodore?

A. I knowed Owen's children. Mike Owen's children. They called one Pie for a nickname.

Q. Then you knew Tommy Doyle didn't you?

A. There was lots of them there; I never knowed their names.

Q. Didn't you know Tommy Doyle? A. Some Doyle.

Q. They called them Tommy Owen and Tommy Doyle, these other boys, they called their names?

A. I couldn't say I knowed all those boy's names.

Q. You didn't tell them to get out of the way?

A. They was larger, they wasn't around where we drove in.

Q. Didn't they play down there with Walter Banks and those boys?

A. On Seneca street and some times on Third street and some times running in the alley.

Q. All around there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. A lot of colored kids?

A. White children, more white than colored.

Q. Did you know a fortune teller named Mary living in the old Seneca House? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did she live in that old Seneca House?

A. That was before I ever worked there; a man named Dock Keenan lived in that barn then and used to break horses and I used to go around there with him.

Q. And you knew that Indian Mary that was around with the fortune teller? A. Indian Mary?

Q. Yes?

A. I don't remember a person named Indian Mary.

Q. Who first called the name Indian Minnie to you?

A. I heard it mentioned over from across the street.

Q. Who has talked to you about this case before you came here to testify? A. Nobody.

Q. Well the Court knows somebody has talked to you about your testimony; now come through and tell us who it was? A. I don't understand what you mean.

The Court: Let me ask him.

Examination by the Court.

Q. Somebody in the first place talked to you, wanted to know what you knew about the case and it was all right for people to talk to you. Now who was it that first mentioned the case to you? A. Mr. Crilley.

Q. Where does he live? A. In Leavenworth.

Q. When was that, about when?

A. Well it was about winter before last I think.

Q. About winter before last? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was that, up in Leavenworth?

A. No, sir, Kansas City.

Q. He came down to see you there did he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was there anybody with Mr. Crilley? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was with Mr. Crilley?

A. That gentleman over there.

Q. A man from Leavenworth or Mr. Hanford?

A. Hanford.

Q. And that is the first time that you have been talked to about the case within recent years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who did the talking?

A. Well, Mr. Crilley and that gentleman over there.

Q. What did Mr. Crilley ask you?

A. He asked me if I knowed this Indian Minnie; and I told him yes. And when I had seen her, and if I knew when she had the child. And I told him I seen it when she was nursing it.

Q. Well then did they come back and talk to you later?

A. Never seen them any more until here awhile back.

Q. Were you down here at Muskogee as a witness?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Some time ago? A. No, sir, this is the first time.

The Court: Has this man's deposition been taken?

Mr. German: No, your Honor.

Q. Now, Graham, is that Pump Graham? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Lived there in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew him well, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Knew him when you were in Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long were Pump Graham and Mr. Hanford with you the first time they saw you about this?

A. Not more than a half hour.

Q. About half an hour. It took that long to tell them all you knew about it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew Lillie White there in Leavenworth, didn't you, a white woman that ran a house of ill repute?

A. Lillie White?

Q. Yes? A. Heard that name, but I can't remember her.

Q. Can't remember her? A. No, sir.

Q. She was a very beautiful woman that lived right across the street there from Crilley's barn in this house that Dotter had lived in, don't you remember her? A. No, sir.

Q. Can't remember her. Did Mr. Hanford or Pump Graham talk to you about Lillie White any? A. No, sir.

Q. Haven't they lately talked to you about that?

A. No, sir.

Q. That name hasn't been mentioned to you until I mentioned it here on the stand?

A. I don't remember that I heard it until I don't know when.

Q. Since when?

A. I can't say that I ever heard it, to be positive.

Q. Isn't it your recollection now, on reflection, that you have heard it back in the olden times?

A. Oh, I might have heard the name and might have heard lots other names; and I may not.

Q. You do remember Dotters, don't you?

A. Yes, sir, he was a baker.

Q. Old German? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you remember the Feths lived right by the Dotters there? A. Who?

Q. Feths, architect?

A. Lived in the stone house, I think; a lot or two between.

Q. You remember him? A. Well, I seen the young man.

Q. Well, don't you remember the old man and young man's mother? A. I remember the old lady.

Q. Very well, don't you?

A. I wasn't acquainted with them; I just seen them.

Q. But you knew who they were?

A. I knowed he tried to be an architect, or was one.

Q. The boy tried to be? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And became one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then you remember that after the Dotters lived in that house, that house where they ran a bakery, didn't you recollect that Lillie White lived there and had some pretty girls around? A. I can't say.

Q. Attractive girls, dressed up beautifully?

A. I don't remember that lady at all.

Q. Sometimes these girls would be in the back yard with those beautiful gowns on, don't you remember that? Attracted your attention across there?

A. I don't remember her at all.

And thereupon Court recessed until 9:30 o'clock A. M.

And thereafter, and at 9:30 o'clock A. M., on May 18, 1917, Court convened pursuant to adjournment, and further proceedings herein were had as follows:

Mr. Hanford: If the Court please, at this time I wish to offer the deposition——

Mr. Cobb: Just a moment; we desire to examine Mr. Tuscher again.

The Court: Let Mr. Tuscher be recalled.

Mr. Hanford: I will have to find him, your Honor. It was understood that he need not come back; will it be agreeable to you to examine him this afternoon?

Mr. Cobb: Yes, sir. We don't want to waive our cross examination.

The Court: Alright call him then.

Mr. Hanford: I wish to offer the deposition of Mrs. Ina Massie McCormick, given before the Special Examiner in this case, beginning at page 2552.

And thereupon INA MASSIE McCORMICK being called on behalf of the defendant, and being first duly affirmed, under affirmation testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Will you state your name, please?

A. My name is Ina Massie McCormick.

Q. You are the wife of Dr. McCormick?

A. John A. McCormick.

Q. Your husband was formerly a physician and surgeon in the City of Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Practiced here for a great many years?

A. Yes, from—I think Doctor came here in sixty-two, May of sixty-two.

Q. He was practicing here in the year 1865?

A. Yes, well he was practicing in a way, he had retired and was only practicing at odd times and in consultation and in things like that, he hadn't regularly practiced for about a year at that time.

Q. Mrs. McCormick, have you any recollection of Dr. McCormick's attending a child birth of a young Indian girl in that year in Leavenworth?

By Mr. German: I object unless the witness has personal knowledge, on the ground that it is hearsay, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. What do you mean by personal knowledge?

Q. Just answer my questions. He just states that into the record. Have you any recollection of the Doctor——

A. Only what he told me.

By Mr. German: The same objection.

A. That he had waited on an Indian girl at some colored woman's house.

By Mr. German: I move to strike the answer on the ground that it would be hearsay.

A. Well, sir, it was my husband sir, that told me.

Q. Don't pay any attention to him, he is stating that into the record.

Q. Did you know any other Indians in Leavenworth at that time?

A. At that time? Not living here at that time. They had lived here but they were not living here at that time. Old John Ross's niece.

Q. What was his name?

A. John Ross, he was Chief of the Cherokee Indians, and Doctor knew Mrs. Nash and were friends of the family.

Q. What was Mrs. Nash's name? A. Fannie Ross Nash.

Q. And you recollect—— And you recall why the doctor spoke to you of this Indian girl?

By Mr. German: The same objection that was made to the other question.

A. Because he was interested in Fannie Nash and had been her physician. That was the first Indian woman that he had ever had any knowledge of.

By Mr. German: I move to strike the answer on the ground that it is hearsay, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and not responsive to the question.

Q. Did Doctor McCormick attend Mrs. Nash when she gave birth to any children? A. Yes.

By Mr. German: Just a minute, I object to that on the ground that it is hearsay, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and that the witness is not qualified.

Q. Did you ever observe this Indian girl after that occasion?

A. I never saw her or knew anything of her excepting once, when she came to the office with some colored woman. Doctor had me in to see the woman.

Q. And you remember the name of that colored woman?

A. I can't remember that, although I have been told—I was told that——

By Mr. German: I object to what the witness has been told on the ground that it is hearsay.

Q. Did you learn at that time who this old colored woman was?

By Mr. German: The same objection.

A. Well, I don't know, I don't think I could say that I did.

Q. Who did you learn this old colored woman was?

By Mr. German I make the same objection.

A. Well, I can't tell you that, she was a woman who took care of girls that were in an unpleasant condition, and I don't know that she was considered anything but what was ordinarily called a mid-wife.

Q. What was her name?

By Mr. German: The same objection.

A. I think it was Fletcher or Flesher.

Q. To refresh your memory, was it Letcher?

A. Yes, and she has always lived here a great many years and she took care of girls and I think she was well paid for her work taking care of girls of that kind.

By Mr. German: I move to strike that question as not responsive to the question, and incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. At that time at the Doctor's office, did this woman have a child with her?

A. I don't remember that, I don't remember that.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cruce.

Q. Was that an Indian girl?

A. Was that an Indian girl?

Q. Yes? A. The girl that came there?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, of course she was an Indian girl, because Doctor had a large practice and he wouldn't have brought any girl in——

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. When did the doctor come to this town?

A. He came here in May of '62.

Q. And you say he practiced, he practiced generally for about a year? A. About a year.

Q. How long did you say?

A. Well, he practiced up until in the eighties.

Q. What time in the eighties? A. I don't know, sir.

Q. You don't remember?

A. No, I don't, because I don't think it is material here whether it is one month or another month, it was sometime in the eighties that he decided that he had gotten to the age that he wouldn't practice any more.

Q. That is the reason you wont tell, because it isn't material, is that right?

A. Well, I don't know exactly and I don't think that it is necessary for me to.

By Mr. Cruce: Well, Mrs.—— If you can remember, of course counsel thinks it is material, and if you can remember.

A. Well, I don't exactly. Doctor had a very bad fall and was ill for a long time, and he felt after that that he had rather not practice. It was in the first part of the eighties sometimes.

By Mr. German: I object to counsel's remark to the witness.

Q. Some early part of the eighties?

A. Eighty three or four, along in there, but he had a great many families that he cared for and was their physician right along after that, but he didn't do general practice.

Q. It was in the early part of the eighties you say that he quit the general practice? A. Yes.

Q. When did the Doctor die?

A. The Doctor died in July.

Q. What year?

A. It will be two years ago last July.

Q. At what age? A. He was eighty-seven, sir.

Q. Where did this Nash woman live?

A. You mean Mrs. Nash?

Q. Yes?

A. She lived up on—— What street is that Mr. Bond, back of Fifth Avenue?

By Mr. Bond: I can't help you.

A. Is it West Seventh? The street just back of Fifth Avenue.

Q. Somewhere right back of Fifth Avenue?

A. No, sir, it is not Fifth Avenue.

Q. Somewhere back of Fifth Avenue?

A. Yes, sir, a short street that runs in from Spruce.

Q. Did she have some children?

A. She had, sir, and Dr. McCormick was her physician.

Q. Had some girls, did she?

A. I don't know whether it was girls or boys.

Q. Was she an Indian?

A. Rather, when it was John Ross's niece. Her father was John Ross's brother. Her mother was a lady from Ohio.

Q. She showed her Indian blood quite distinctly?

A. Quite, so, yes, sir.

Q. And you don't know whether she had any daughters or not? A. No, I haven't seen Mrs. Nash for forty years.

Q. You happened to be in the Doctor's office one day when this colored woman came in there?

A. No, I didn't happen to be in the office at all, sir.

Q. Where were you?

A. Because we had a suite of rooms and Doctor's private office was back of the suite of rooms.

Q. Then, you were in the office?

A. He came and asked me if I wanted to see the Indian girl and I simply went in and looked at her.

Q. Now, when did the Doctor discontinue maintaining an office? A. What?

Q. When did the Doctor discontinue maintaining his office?

A. Well, he had discontinued his public office at that time, he only had this private office or sort of a laboratory that his friends came to him.

Q. You say there was a suite of rooms? A. Yes, I did.

Q. And that you lived there?

A. I did, sir, and my mother with me.

Q. When did you discontinue living in the suite of rooms there?

A. Well, I don't know, let me see. We left there in ninety-four.

Q. Ninety-four? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you begin to live there, how long before that? A. We bought that place in '81.

Q. And did you commence to live there as soon as you bought the place? A. As soon as we got it in order, sir.

Q. And then you moved out of there in '94 you think? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, where was that located?

A. It was located on Delaware Street between Sixth and Seventh, north side, 616 Delaware, if you want to know exactly.

Q. Now, at the time that the Doctor purchased that suite of rooms—— A. He purchased the building.

Q. He purchased the building? A. Yes.

Q. That was the time that he discontinued the general practice? A. No, sir.

Q. He kept it up a while after that?

A. Until after his injury, I don't remember exactly what year that was but it was in the eighties.

Q. There was an Indian girl came up with this colored woman, and you don't know when that was, do you except that it was sometime during the time that you and the Doctor occupied the suite of rooms in that building?

A. Oh, no, not a bit of it. Oh, no, not so long as that, not at all.

Q. It was sometime during that time, I say?

A. Yes, it was in the first part of it, because the Doctor had stopped the general practice. He wouldn't go out to see any one after a few years, and he only had a very few cases at that time, and old friends that he was attending, but when there was any charity business, or anything like that, and he could do a kindness, he did it.

Q. Well, describe the colored woman?

A. I will not because one colored woman, as a rule looks a good deal like another, and I was quite young then and I didn't think I cared what she looked like.

Q. Now, was her name Fletcher or Letcher?

A. I don't know.

Q. Don't know what her name was?

A. No, I don't know, I don't know positively.

Q. You are not sure that it was Letcher or that it was Fletcher?

A. Only that she was a woman that did that kind of work.

Q. She was a mid-wife? A. Yes.

Q. Did she have any family? A. I don't know sir.

Q. Did she come from——

A. I wasn't in the business, so I didn't know.

Q. I see you are stating, Mrs. McCormick, that you understood—

A. That doesn't matter, I am not telling what I don't know.

Q. You didn't know that she was a mid-wife, did you?

A. Yes, I did, everybody in Leavenworth knew it, that was her reputation.

Q. Did she also have a reputation of going to different places where there was occasion for work of that character to be done?

A. I don't know about that. I think she would do that kind of work. She took care of women who were poor, because she took care of a good many colored women.

Q. About what age woman was she?

A. I don't know a thing about that, I think that is irrelevant.

Q. Let's see. Was she an elderly woman?

A. I just told you, sir, you are not going to get me to prevaricate, because I don't know.

Q. You haven't even an idea of how old she was, have you?

A. I am not in the habit of asking people their age.

Q. Was she a large black woman, or was she a mulatto, or was she a light fullblood negro?

A. I know nothing about it.

Q. You don't have any idea?

A. No, and I was used to colored people.

Q. She wasn't a white woman, was she?

A. Most assuredly not.

Q. Now, the Indian girl that you spoke of, can you describe her?

A. No, I can't describe her, she was an Indian girl and I had seen a great many Indian girls, she was just an ordinary Indian girl to me.

Q. About what age? A. I don't know.

Q. Was she fourteen? What is your best judgment as to how old she was?

A. I haven't any judgment about it. It was just as immaterial to me who she was as any person in this room.

Q. You went into the room where she was?

A. I came in to see the Indian girl, because I had lived on a ranch where I saw a great many, and I hadn't seen any for a great many years, and I saw her that day.

Q. And didn't pay enough attention to her to form an opinion now as to whether she was—whether——

A. Whether she was fifty years old, I didn't care. She was not fifty years old, she wouldn't have had the baby.

Q. Was she the mother of the baby?

A. She certainly was, the woman that had the baby.

Q. You were so told?

A. My husband wasn't in the habit of telling what was not true.

Q. You are not swearing or affirming who had that Indian baby except as you were told?

A. My husband told me, and he was the physician attending her, wasn't that quite enough?

Q. For you? A. Well, I suppose not for you.

By Mr. Hanford: Mrs. McCormick, just answer the question.

A. Well, I don't care, I think it is rude.

Q. Now, Mrs. McCormick I don't want to offend you?

A. Well, you do.

Q. I just want to get at anything which you may know, which is competent evidence, that is all that I am doing. Tell me how that Indian girl looked?

A. Why, I can't tell you how she looked, it has been thirty odd years ago.

Q. What size was she?

A. I don't know anything at all about that, I just saw her in the office, in Doctor's chair, one of his chairs in the office, with the colored woman with her who brought her up there to see Doctor; and she came in there, and he said to me, do you want to come in and see the Indian girl, and I went out and saw her and I went back into the other room. That is all I thought about it since.

Q. Was the girl standing up when you saw her?

A. I just told you, sir, she was sitting in the chair.

Q. Did he tell you at that time, that she was the mother of the baby?

A. Is it necessary for me to reiterate. I have just told you that he took me in to see the girl who had the baby. Isn't that quite enough?

Q. What did he say to you when he asked you to go?

A. I just told you he asked me if I didn't—— Don't you want to come in and see the Indian girl who has had the baby? That is all he said to me, and I went in to see the Indian woman who had the baby.

By Mr. Hanford: I object as repetition.

Q. How long before that was it that you had understood that an Indian girl had had a baby in town?

A. I don't know anything about it, I don't suppose it was very many days, or weeks, or more. I was a society woman and I didn't pretend to keep note of time or incidences of that kind.

Q. Did you learn what the baby was?

A. No, I may have known then, but I don't know now.

Q. Whether it was a boy or girl, you don't know whether that Indian girl was large or small in size?

A. I don't remember. Indian girls are generally about the same size, as far as I know.

Q. What is the general size of an Indian girl?

A. Well, they are a little larger than I am and they are stouter than I am.

Q. You have no recollection though as to what size this girl was? A. No, I haven't, positively, no.

Q. Who first talked to you about what you have been testifying here?

A. An attorney came to me and asked me what I knew and I just told him.

Q. What attorney came to you?

A. Is it necessary for me to say?

Q. Yes, ma'am? A. It was Mr. Hanford.

Q. When did he come to you?

A. Last spring, this spring a year ago.

Q. How long was he visiting you that time?

A. Well, I think he was there about five minutes.

Q. And then left? Did he come to see you any more?

A. I don't think so, because I have been in Mexico and Texas for a year, and knew nothing about it excepting what I got since I came home in the hotel; know nothing at all about it.

Q. Who have you seen since you came home, that is have you seen anybody—— Have you seen Mr. Hanford any more?

A. I have seen him once when he came up and asked me to come and give him my evidence.

Q. Have you seen any of these parties connected with the matter?

A. I have seen Mr. Long, he came with Mr. Hanford to ask me and I told him just about the same thing.

Q. So the two came together after Mr. Hanford had been there? A. Yes.

Q. Do you know Mr. Page?

A. No, I do not, I never have seen him.

Q. Has Mr. Lee Bond been to see you? A. No, sir.

Q. Who spoke of the name Letcher to you first?

A. Well, I saw it in the newspapers for one thing, the papers are full of it.

Q. Right lately? The last two years?

A. This last spring it was too.

Q. And you read the articles in the newspapers about this matter?

A. I have never read a single thing about it until I came back and read it yesterday morning and this morning.

Q. It was in the newspapers though about the time that Mr. Hanford came to see you, wasn't it?

A. Well, I don't think that I read it.

Q. Why do you say then that the name Letcher was in the newspapers?

A. Well, because I saw it in the papers before I came home.

Q. Mrs. McCormick, what age are you? A. What?

Q. What age are you? A. I am sixty-seven, sir.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: And the deposition of Alexander Ford beginning at page 1726.

And thereupon, ALEXANDER FORD, being called on behalf of the defendants Hanford and Folk, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. What is your name? A. Alexander Ford.

Q. How old are you?

A. I was born in 1842, May 15th, will be seventy-four, some odd years old,

Q. You are a colored man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you come to Leavenworth?

A. I came to Leavenworth from Valley Falls, Kansas, in the year of seventy-five or seventy-six; somewhere in the year of seventy-five or six, I don't know which.

Q. Along in the seventies?

A. It was in the seventies, yes, sir, when I reached Leavenworth.

Q. State whether or not you ever worked for Mr. Atchison?

A. Well, yes, sir, I worked for Mr. Dave Atchison about nine years, lacking about two months of being nine years, steady work without losing time for anybody.

Q. State whether or not you were working for Mr. Atchison in 1885?

A. Why, yes, sir, I were. Yes, sir, I was working for him then sure.

Q. In what capacity were you employed by him? What did you do?

A. Well, he hauled wood from Missouri at that time, with teams, six teams he hauled wood from Missouri, a load a day as nigh as we could make it.

Q. And you hauled wood for him?

A. Yes, sir, I had charge of it, a kind of foreman for him.

Q. Did you have anything to do with the wood yard?

A. Well, in days that I wouldn't go out—would be a bad day or something like that, I usually stayed around the yard, and split wood and attended to the horses and helped load wagons and sometimes delivered wood.

Q. You say you were his foreman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian or part Indian woman in Leavenworth? A. Well, yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian girl they called Indian Minnie?

By Mr. Allen: We object to that as leading and suggestive.

A. Well, yes, sir, I——

Q. Where did you see her?

A. Well, she was around the yard there of Dave Atchison's at times, some evenings; first ever I got to see her that I can remember now, she came there after chips and things in a basket from Mrs. Letcher's that lived down on Seneca or somewhere at that time; that is the first time I ever noticed her; had a papoose baby with her and the child looked like an Indian to me, it was an Indian I know.

Q. How many times did you see her?

A. Well, I disremember now, maybe several times, two or three times anyhow. I wasn't there only late in the evenings, sometime except when I wasn't going out with the teams now mostly in bad weather.

Q. And that was the only times that you saw her?

A. Yes, sir, I did see her once by the house. We used to go up her boy; we belonged to a lodge here called Benevolence.

Q. Whose boy? A. Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. What was his name? A. Jim Mayo, they called him.

Q. Did you ever see this girl with a baby? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. German: We object to that as leading, and if he answered before the objection was made, I move to strike the answer for that reason.

Q. Where did you see her with the baby?

A. I seen her there in Atchison's wood yard at times.

Q. Did she bring it when she came to the wood yard?

A. She came there with it, yes, sir, she came there with it the first notice of it I ever seed.

Q. Did you ever see the child?

A. Yes, sir, I looked at it with my own eyes, yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear the child referred to by any name or nick name? A. No, sir, never did.

Q. Did you ever learn the name of that child?

By Mr. Allen: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, leading and suggestive and calling for hearsay evidence.

A. Well, yes, sir, I learned the name that they called it, Tommy is my understanding.

Q. Did you ever talk to Minnie about this child?

A. Never did in my life, no, sir; I did ask her once if it was hers and she said it was, she never had very much to say to us colored people.

By Mr. German: I move to strike the answer all of it except the first clause or phrase, for the reason that it is not responsive to the question.

By Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike all but after the first part of the answer, commencing "where Minnie told me," as not responsive.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Uncle, where were you born?

A. LaFayette County, Mo.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. When did you first learn that the child's name was Tommy?

A. Why, it was Letcher's down at the house where she stayed.

Q. You learned it during the time that you saw and knew the child, did you?

A. That is the only time as I ever heard the name called as I remember it.

Q. Who called it down there?

A. Why, it was Mrs. Letcher, it was three or four months old, six months, older maybe; I don't know, said its name was Tommy there, I don't remember that I ever heard it mentioned any more that I know of.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Uncle, where were you born?

A. LaFayette County, Missouri.

Q. Did you live all of your life in Missouri until you came here in 1875?

A. No, sir, I left LaFayette County, Missouri, the year of sixty-nine and went to Valley Falls, Kansas.

Q. How long did you live at Valley Falls, Kansas?

A. I stayed at Valley Falls, I think it was six or seven years, I forget which, or eight maybe sometime along about that I presume——

Q. Then where did you go?

A. I went to Leavenworth.

Q. Been here ever since?

A. Yes, sir, except the last seven years I have been in Kansas City.

Q. Do you know Sadie James?

A. Sadie James, no, sir.

Q. Sadie Harris? A. No, sir.

Q. Did she work for Mr. Atchison any time while you were there?

A. I don't know the hired girls he had at the house, I will tell the truth.

Q. Had a number of them there didn't he?

A. Time after time yes, sir.

Q. Name some of them will you?

A. Well, I don't know of any but an Irish girl that used to live in Missouri; they called her Miss Oliver, I believe her name was, a heavy set Irish girl, only one ever I knew and I only knew her by helping to milk some nights when the cows came up late is all I remember.

Q. You say you worked for Atchison's for nine years?

A. Yes, sir, close to nine years.

Q. And during some of that time you saw an Indian woman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Come to the Atchison house a number of times and pick up chips around the house?

A. Oh, no, in the wood yard, lumber yard.

Q. How many times did you say she was there?

A. I disremember now, I can't say.

Q. Uncle, you saw her there a number of times?

A. No, I didn't see her there a number of times, I was only there sometimes when I wasn't going to Missouri and I would be late in the evening coming in, some nine or ten o'clock at night.

Q. You never saw her except around there picking up chips, did you?

A. Around the house where she stayed at.

Q. You say her name was what?

A. Minnie, called her Indian Minnie, as near as I can remember.

Q. Indian Minnie, or Mary? A. Minnie.

Q. Used to call her Indian Mary at that time, didn't they?

A. I never heard them speak of that.

Q. Molly? A. No, sir, never heard them speak of that.

Q. Where did you hear them speaking of her?

A. Right where she lived, Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. Was that 1885 or 1886, or when?

A. Sometime about eighty-five—eighty, sometime as that.

Q. You don't remember the year, do you?

A. Don't remember the year at all.

Q. They have been talking to you about this case, haven't they?

A. Yes, questioned me and I told them what I knew.

Q. They told you when and where this child was born, haven't they? A. No, sir.

Q. Nobody told you when and where it was born?

A. No, sir.

Q. Who first came to you and asked you about this Indian woman?

A. I was in Kansas City and I came over here to the office, Mr. Judge Bond's office, and I told them where I had seen her and heard about it.

Q. How came you to come over here?

A. They had me to come over here this morning.

Q. Who had you to come over here?

A. That young gentleman told me to come over here.

Q. Mr. Hanford? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever talk to Mr. Long about this case?

A. Who is Mr. Long, the Judge?

Q. This gentleman here with the glasses?

A. Yes, sir, spoken to him about it.

Q. A number of times, haven't you? A. No, sir.

Q. How many times has he been to see you? A. Once.

Q. You talked to George Crilley, haven't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. And talked to Mr. Bond's father-in-law, the old man, Mr. Atchison, haven't you?

A. Yes, sir, but not on this case.

Q. He told you about an Indian Minnie being around there, didn't he? A. No, just asked me did I remember it.

Q. Uncle, when they first mentioned it to you, you couldn't remember it, could you?

A. Law'd yes, I remembered it before they mentioned it.

Q. Why didn't you tell a while ago about this little boy this Indian woman had in her lap all the time around the Atchison home being named Tommy?

A. I don't know whether it was around the home or not.

Q. Do you know whether his name was Commodore Tommy, or what?

A. I just remember that once, it may have been two or three times but I remember just once.

Q. How old was he when you first saw him?

A. I guess maybe five or six months old, maybe older than that.

Q. When you first saw him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the lap of his mother?

A. She had him in her arms, yes, sir.

Q. Then, how old was he when you last saw him in the arms of his mother?

A. I don't know, I never seen him at all but once, I don't think.

Q. I thought you said a while ago that you saw her there two or three times picking up chips?

A. I say it may have been oftener than that, I don't know.

Q. Uncle, who did you ever talk to about this case?

A. That young gentleman and the other men in here.

Q. Did you ever talk to George Crilley about it?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever talk to George Crilley's son? A. No, sir.

Q. Ever talk to Dennis Jones about it? A. No, sir.

Q. You know Dennis Jones? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never talked to him about it? A. No, sir.

Q. Rube Smith? A. No, sir.

Q. Mr. Long and Mr. Hanford are the only men you ever talked to about it?

A. They are the only two that I ever spoke to, and Mr. Bond, he was present.

Q. Who came to your house when Mr. Hanford came to see you?

A. Wasn't anybody came to my house that I know of. Rube Smith came down there and asked me to come to Leavenworth.

Q. Did Rube Smith come to your house?

A. Yes, sir, and he never said a word to me about what they wanted, said come to Leavenworth, they wanted to see me, that is all he said to me.

Q. You and Rube came all the way to Leavenworth together? A. I came by myself from Kansas City.

Q. Who paid your way here? A. He paid my way.

Q. How much did he give you? A. A dollar.

Q. And you came to Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was that?

A. Last Monday, two weeks ago, I think Monday.

Q. And you have been staying here on their expense ever since, haven't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Where have you been? A. I came back home.

Q. They have been paying your way back and forth?

A. No, sir, I paid my own way.

Q. They have been paying you anything?

A. Yes, sir, they give me my time.

Q. How much?

A. Give me a couple of dollars one time and five dollars another.

Q. And a dollar another? A. No, sir.

Q. They gave you a dollar the first time they went to see you to come up here, didn't they?

A. Yes, sir, give me a dollar the first time.

Q. And gave you two dollars another time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And five dollars another time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And who is paying your board?

A. Paying it myself.

Q. Now then that eight dollars is all you were ever paid?

A. No, sir, that is not all I was paid.

Q. Is that all they have paid you?

A. No, I don't think it is.

Q. How much more have they paid you?

A. I think they have give me—yes, they have give me ten or twelve dollars I think, I forget now which it is.

Q. Besides the eight?

A. No, all together, the whole thing.

Q. And you have talked to Long and to Hanford and to Bond? A. Them three is all.

Q. How much are they going to give you when you get through? A. I don't know, they never said.

Q. They promised to take care of you though, didn't they?

A. No, sir, said they would pay my board, that is all.

Q. They would pay your board? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they are paying you time? A. Didn't say.

Q. Now, you have been—— How often did you see this Indian woman?

A. Oh, I can't just memorate the time, I never paid much attention to it hardly as I did.

Q. She lived right there in that house a year or two, didn't she? A. I can't say that.

Q. How long did you know that she lived there?

A. Oh, off and on I guess to my remembrance, passing back and forward there by the house, never did pay any attention to her, must have been two or three months.

Q. She was there over two months, wasn't she?

A. I guess she was, I can't say.

Q. You saw her as you passed the house, there in the yard picking up chips?

A. I can't say how many times it was or nothing.

Q. Always had this baby with her when you saw her, wouldn't she?

A. When she came to the yard after chips she would have it.

Q. Granny Letcher told you one time the baby was Tommy, and that is the only time you ever heard the name called until this case came up, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir, she told me.

By Mr. Blakeney: I want to object to counsel shaking his curly locks at the witness and raising his tone so unnaturally.

By Mr. Allen: I want to object and protest to that sort of objection from counsel, and that he ought to be at least to the Court respectful.

Q. Now, Uncle, how many times did you say did you see that baby there?

A. I can't say, I wouldn't say because I might say a dozen times and then it might not have been more than two or three.

Q. The last time you saw him he was about seven or eight months old? A. I guess he was, I judge he was.

Q. You stayed around the Granny home a good deal, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. You went in and out there? A. No, sir.

Q. You lived close by? A. No, sir.

Q. You went up there frequently, didn't you?

A. Well, some Monday nights I would be going to the Lodge and go by to get the young man and go to the Lodge with him.

Q. You and Jim belonged to the same lodge, did you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw or heard of that child in your life after he was a few months old, did you?

A. I disremember if I did. If I did, I didn't notice it.

Q. The only time you was there you heard Granny say his name was Tommy or something like that, and that is the only time you ever heard his name called?

A. Never heard his name called except that time, that I know of.

Q. This Indian Minnie never called her name to you, did she? A. Who?

Q. Whoever told you that it was Indian Minnie?

A. She called her name to me; she said my name was Minnie, never had much to say to us colored folks.

Q. You haven't seen or thought of her or either one of these parties since that time until this case came up, have you? A. I don't know as I have, I can't say that.

Q. The next time you ever thought of either one of them was when you talked to Mr. Hanford, Mr. Long, or Mr. Bond?

A. About the only time I ever brought them up to my membrance.

Q. You are a colored man?

A. Yes, sir, my mother was about half Indian too, that is the only thing I asked her.

Q. There were just lots of Indians around Leavenworth in the eighties, wasn't there?

A. I don't know, I can't say as to that.

Q. You saw a good many didn't you?

A. I was out on the plains in the year sixty-six, I seen lots of them.

Q. You say you are part Indian, a good many people here are part Indian, aren't they?

A. I don't know that, I can't say that.

Q. What kind of a looking woman was it you saw?

A. Well, she was a pretty fair girl, yellow skin Indian.

Q. A great large woman wasn't she?

A. No, sir, middled size young lady.

Q. About how large would you say?

A. Well, appeared to me at that time probably a hundred and twenty or twenty-five, maybe more, I can't say.

Q. A very low lady, wasn't she?

A. Not overly low, medium high.

Q. How high? A. Five feet or four and a half.

Q. Four and a half or five feet?

A. Yes, sir, maybe taller, I can't say.

Q. She was a slender woman in size wasn't she?

A. She was apparently a broad made lady but slender.

Q. You saw her before she was in a family way?

A. No, sir.

Q. You never saw her while she was in a family way?

A. No, sir.

Q. You never saw her in your life until you saw her picking up chips around the home of the man that you were working for? A. The only time that I paid any attention to her.

By Mr. Blakeney: Not the home.

Q. The wood yard of the man that you were working for?

A. Yes, sir, that is all.

Q. You have no way in the world of fixing the time or even approximating the date that you saw her, have you?

A. No, sir, I have not.

Q. You don't really know whether it was in seventy-five or ninety-five, do you?

A. No, I know it wasn't in seventy-five, I know it wasn't in ninety-five.

Q. But it could have been any year during the eighties, might it not?

A. No, it was along in the eighty and I lived here during that time and I was buying a lot of property and I know it was pretty high.

Q. All you know about it is that it was during the nine years, that you lived here and worked at the Atchison home, is that not the facts now?

A. It was in the nine years I remember that I was here.

Q. During those years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you see her?

A. I say it might have been a year or six months, or may have been less time than that to my notice.

Q. But you never saw her except during the time that she was living in and around here?

A. That is all I noticed.

Q. You had a big wood shed there didn't you?

A. Atchison's?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir, a big wood shed there

Q. Lots of neighbors were around there, would come there and pick up chips, didn't they?

A. A great many of them, yes, sir.

Q. With baskets? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was there anything particular about a woman picking up chips there that called your attention to this woman—was there?

A. Nothing particular of course, every man has their friends.

Q. Will you name another woman that picked up chips there during that time?

A. No, sir, I wouldn't dare to do that.

Q. Do you know who else lived at the Letcher home?

A. No, sir.

Q. Can you name a man or woman, Uncle, can you?

A. No, sir, I never paid no attention to them.

Q. With the exception of Jim Mayo, you don't know a man child, or boy that lived there?

A. Yes, she had another child, a one armed small boy.

Q. He didn't live there, did he?

A. Yes, sir, he stayed there.

Q. That is all isn't that? A. All that I remember.

Q. You never saw or heard of anybody else being there?

A. No, sir, I never inquired at all.

Q. But the one armed boy you say stayed there?

A. It was her son.

Q. Where did she live?

A. Across on Seneca between Second and Third.

Q. Where? A. The south side of the street.

Q. What kind of a house was it she lived in?

A. Lived in a frame house—and I think she moved into the old rock house, I am not sure.

Q. Was she in the rock house or frame when you saw her? A. I think she lived in the frame at that time.

Q. Sure of that?

A. No, sir, I am not sure but they were right together.

Q. How many rooms were in that house?

A. I can't say, I never went through the house in my life.

Q. Never went to the house, you say?

A. Never went through the house in my life.

Q. Were you ever inside of the house?

A. Only in the front part of it to get money for wood that I delivered for Atchison.

Q. You never went in the back part of it?

A. Where she washed in the basement?

Q. You never went up stairs, did you?

A. No, I never did.

Q. Was it a two story house?

A. I forget now whether it was or not, I know the rock was a two story building.

Q. Name some other babies around there?

A. I don't know.

Q. Can you name any other babies in Leavenworth?

A. Outside of mine?

Q. Outside of your own, you don't remember any others?

A. Rube Smith, and mine, I don't remember——

Q. Outside of Rube Smith and your babies, you don't remember another baby? A. Well, I don't remember.

Q. What was Rube Smith's baby named?

A. There were several there.

Q. Named Thomas, wasn't it? A. No, sir.

Q. Charlie? A. Wasn't named Charlie, no.

Q. What was its name?

A. He had one or two, named one Rube, Harry, and Ralph.

Q. Which boy was it that was a baby at this time?

A. Now, I can't say for my life and I wouldn't.

Q. You don't know which one was Rube's? A. No.

Q. You visited at Rube's didn't you?

A. I lived right there at him.

Q. He had a baby at that time?

A. I can't say, you asked me if I knew any babies at that time.

Q. Who was Rube's youngest child at the time that you saw this Indian woman? A. I can't say.

Q. You don't know that? A. No, sir.

Q. Yet you knew this boy?

A. Yes, sir, I knew the mother and boy, kinda a curiosity to me.

Q. You had never seen this woman but one time in your life? A. That is all.

Q. Was an Indian a curiosity to you?

A. At that time, yes, sir.

Q. You are part Indian yourself, aren't you?

A. Yes, part of me.

Q. There were no other Indian around Leavenworth, were there?

A. Not as I know of, I can't say that.

Q. What was the color of this boy?

A. About the color of his mother, pumpkin colored—yellow.

Q. Very yellow? A. An Indian girl I can say.

Q. Did he look like he might have had a white man or a colored man for his father?

A. Looked to me like an Indian man to me.

Q. Looked to you like a fullblood Indian, did he?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was wearing breeches when you saw him wasn't he?

A. I can't say that either.

Q. A good sized boy though when you saw him?

A. Six or seven months old.

Q. You wont say that you ever saw either he or his mother more than once in your life?

A. As far as I can remember, I may have seen him more than that, I never paid much attention to them; she never paid much attention to colored people anyway.

Q. How long did you continue to live in this community?

A. Eleven years or more.

Q. After that?

A. No, when I first came here all together.

Q. When did you leave here?

A. About eight years ago.

Q. Up until that time, you lived here continually?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did this Indian Minnie stay at Letcher's?

A. Leavenworth, I can't say that.

Q. At Letcher's, Granny Letcher's? A. I can't say.

Q. Two years? A. I can't say that to save my life.

Q. You only saw her there two or three months?

A. I would see her there about the length of time of that it might have been.

Q. Then you saw the boy on until he was fifteen or twenty years old, didn't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Never saw him after he was seven or eight months old? A. Never, if I did I never noticed him.

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. What did you say was Minnie's type as you recall it?

A. Well as nigh as I can get at it, it would be five foot maybe not so tall, five or something like that.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: Also the deposition of William D. Ford, beginning at page 1742.

Mr. German: Your Honor, our understanding was that William Ford was here.

Mr. Hanford: If any of these witnesses are here, we won't offer the depositions, Mr. German.

The Court: I am assuming, so far as you gentlemen are informed, that none of these witnesses are here. If it develops that any of these witnesses are here, call my attention to that and the deposition will be excluded, gentlemen, and the witness called.

Thereupon, WILLIAM D. FORD, being called on behalf of the defendants, sworn, and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. State your name, please?

A. I go by William Ford and I go by William D. Ford.

Q. Your full name is William D. Ford? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old are you? A. Fifty-one.

Q. You are the son of the man who just testified ahead of you here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is your business? A. Coal miner.

Q. And where do you live?

A. Well, I am making my home at Lockston, Missouri.

Q. Lockston, Missouri? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You work in the mines there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you live in Leavenworth in 1885? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Along in the eighties? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever work for Dave Atchison? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you work for him continuously or only at times?

A. Only at times.

Q. What time of the year would that be?

A. That would be in the spring and summer, vacation, after vacation of school when I was going to school.

Q. And after you quit going to school did you work in the mines up here?

A. No, sir, quit school and went to working in the mines.

Q. And worked in the mines? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then did you work for Dave Atchison at times.

A. In the summer time, yes, sir.

Q. At summer time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The mines are shut down in the summer, are they not?

A. Yes, sir. For the summer they shut down.

Q. And they remain that way until the cool weather comes again? A. Until the fall, yes, sir.

Q. Where did you work for Mr. Atchison?

A. On the corner of Seneca and Fourth.

Q. Around the wood yard?

A. Yes, sir, delivering wood.

Q. State whether or not you ever knew an Indian woman, or part Indian woman called Minnie—Indian Minnie, or Minnie Atkins?

A. Well, there used to be a lady came around there they called Indian Minnie.

Q. Indian Minnie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she ever bring anybody with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who would you see her with?

A. Well, she carried a little baby in her arms pretty near all the time, every time that she came around there that I seen her.

Q. How many times did you see her?

A. I would see her sometimes maybe once a day or maybe twice.

Q. Well, how many times all together would you see her?

A. Oh, I can't say, I can't remember.

Q. Did you ever hear—what the baby was called?

A. No, sir—— Yes, sir, I did hear what the baby was called.

By Mr. German: Now, we object unless—go ahead.

Q. What was it called?

A. Well, I heard the name of papoose.

Q. Papoose? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember what year that was?

A. No, sir, not exact, but I think it was after eighty-five, I don't know.

Q. About how old were you?

A. I was between twenty-one and twenty-two.

Q. Between twenty-one and twenty-two? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember it was along about that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is there anything that fixes your recollection of the year at that time?

A. I don't know, just don't slip my memory, I never give it any study at all.

Q. And when were you born? A. I was born in 1865.

Q. So it was sometime in the middle eighties?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever know this woman after that time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know the baby after that time?

A. Well, no more than what I was told.

Q. Did you ever—— Do you know where they lived?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where?

A. On Seneca street between Second and Third.

Q. At whose house? A. Mrs. Letcher.

Q. Did you ever go there to that house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see this girl there? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever see the baby there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old about was the baby then?

A. Well, it was a little bit of a thing crawling around the first time I seen it, and then I left here shortly afterwards.

Q. So, you didn't see either of them any more?

A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. You said the first time that you had seen the baby was—or had seen Minnie was when she came over to the yard?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. With the baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many times did you say you saw Minnie and her baby in the wood yard?

A. Sometimes she came there once a day to order wood, and sometimes she would come twice a day for ice.

Q. You mean come once a day for wood, or she came once a day for ice? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Would make twice a day sometimes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of day would she come, if you remember?

A. Well, I can't remember that.

Q. Was she carrying the baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How large was the baby?

A. Well, I can't tell that because I just knew that she had a baby in her arms.

Q. Was it summer time or winter time?

A. Summer time.

Q. And how long did you say it continued that she was coming there? A. I can't swear to it.

Q. Could you give us any judgment at all on it?

A. No, sir, I can't.

Q. Then, you say after that you visited Granny Letcher's house and would see the baby there?

A. Carry wood there, yes, sir.

Q. Did what?

A. Carry wood there, yes, sir, and coal.

Q. You delivered coal and wood at the house?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you would see the boy there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How big was he the last time you remember him?

A. Well, after I came back from Iowa, I seen him in ninety-five.

Q. When you came from Iowa you did what?

A. When I came back from Iowa in ninety-five.

Q. How big was he then?

A. I don't know, I judge him to be about ten or eleven years old.

Q. How did you know him to be the same boy?

A. Well, a friend of mine that I run with, my partner, he told me it was the same boy.

Q. That is all that you know, because of what somebody told you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know the boy so well so that you would recognize him at ten or eleven years of age? A. No, sir.

Q. You just saw him once there then? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. When did you leave Leavenworth after you worked for Mr. Atchinson? A. After I worked for Mr. Atchinson?

Q. Yes? A. In ninety-one.

Q. You left in ninety-one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you commence doing any work for Mr. Atchinson? A. Well, I was about sixteen years old.

Q. What year would that be?

A. I can't tell you, I can't remember.

Q. About eighty-one? A. I can't remember.

Q. Well, you were sixteen years old in eighty-one, wasn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You worked for him about ten years at different times?

A. Off and on, yes, sir.

Q. You say this woman would come with her papoose to the wood yard? And get wood and ice?

A. She came there and ordered wood and sometimes she would get ice.

Q. How many different summers did she do that?

A. I can't tell you that.

Q. Well, it was more than one summer, wasn't it?

A. Well, I wasn't here but one summer.

Q. You weren't here but one summer?

A. Not at the wood yard.

Q. How?

A. I say I wasn't at the wood yard but the one summer, the summer that I seen her.

Q. Just one summer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you commence to work at the wood yard that summer? A. I commenced in the spring.

Q. What time? A. Along in April.

Q. And then when did you quit working at the wood yard?

A. I quit in September.

Q. She came to the wood yard frequently that summer?

A. Off and on I would see her there when I came in off the wagon.

Q. You would make deliveries around the town?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you would spend some of the day in the wood yard, wouldn't you? A. No, sir, I would be going all the time.

Q. How soon after you begun working at the wood yard was it that you first saw Minnie?

A. The first time I ever saw her, I came back from Wellington, Missouri, down to see my folks, and I went to work for Mr. Atchinson in eighty-three I think it was.

Q. You saw her then?

A. No, sir, I didn't see her, don't know it.

Q. Go on then with your story?

A. I then went to working in the coal mine in the fall of 1885, I began to work for Mr. Atchinson in the summer, and that is when I knowed her.

Q. That was the summer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you worked for him a little in eighty-three?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the summer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long that summer? A. Up to September.

Q. So you worked for him two different summers?

A. Yes, sir, I worked for him off and on pretty near ever summer, except the times I would go away.

Q. Didn't you tell me a while ago that you never did work for him but one summer?

A. No, sir, I never told you that, I said one summer is all I worked for him before I went away.

Q. Before you went away where?

A. To Lockston, Missouri—Wellington, Missouri.

Q. Then, I understood you to say that you commenced working for him off and on in eighty-one? A. Eighty-three.

Q. Eighty-three? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you left here for good in ninety-one?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And came back again in ninety-five? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what do you mean when you say you didn't work [ ] him but one summer before you left?

A. One summer I worked for him and I left here in September.

Q. What year?

A. Well, that was in about—well, right after the big strike, I think it was in seventy-nine.

Q. Seventy-nine? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, you worked for him in one summer in seventy-nine? A. Yes, sir, after the big strike.

Q. Then, when did you next work for him?

A. In eighty-three.

Q. Eighty-three? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, when did you next work for him?

A. I never worked for him any more.

Q. Never did? A. No, sir.

Q. You say you didn't ever work at the wood yard after the summer of eighty-three?

A. No, sir, I would be around there, yes, sir, I worked in the winter.

Q. You worked at the wood yard in the winter?

A. Yes, sir, of eighty-five.

Q. Of eighty-five? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what time did you commence?

A. Well, I commenced along in August.

Q. And when did you quit? A. I quit along in December.

Q. Do you know what year that was?

A. In eighty-five. We had our fuss in eighty-five, Mr. Atchinson and I fell out.

Q. Fell out? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you never worked for him any more after that?

A. No, sir.

Q. Then, you left the city in ninety-one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long before you left the city in ninety-one and went to Iowa that you had worked for Mr. Atchinson?

A. How long?

Q. Yes? A. I can't say.

Q. You had worked for him the winter before that, hadn't you? A. Before I went to Iowa?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. You worked for him in 1881? A. No, sir.

Q. You worked for him in 1870 didn't you? A. No, sir.

Q. What year was it you said you worked for him?

A. My first time working for him?

Q. Yes, sir? A. After the strike in seventy-nine.

Q. And you worked for him a long time then didn't you?

A. I worked for him that summer.

Q. That summer, is that the only summer you ever worked for him? A. Well, not the only summer.

Q. Now, you say that you worked for him in the summer of 1880? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't work for him that summer? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, did you work for him in the summer of 1883?

A. Well, it was in August when I started to work for him.

Q. You started to work in August, 1883, when did you quit? A. When did I quit?

Q. Yes?

A. I quit along in the fall, along in December, went to the coal mines.

Q. Went to the coal mines? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that was the first time you ever saw Minnie?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw her after that? A. No, sir.

Q. And it was that winter that she had the baby with her.

A. It was that summer.

Q. That summer, what summer?

A. The summer of—it was in 1885.

Q. Eighty-five? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The summer of eighty-five. Now, you commenced to work for Mr. Atchison in August, 1885, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And worked for him until January, 1886, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir, somewhere along there.

Q. Somewhere along there, and that was the time that you were working for him that you saw Minnie, wasn't it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she had this papoose with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She come there for ice you say?

A. Ice and to order wood sometimes, and coal.

Q. Well, it was pretty cold weather then wasn't it?

A. Well, I don't know, it wasn't cold at that time.

Q. Well, it is pretty cold in January, isn't it?

A. Oh, yes, sir.

Q. She came all wrapped up in warm clothes, didn't she?

A. I never seen her in the winter at all, I seen her in the summer.

Q. Only in the summer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The summer of eighty-three? A. Eighty-five.

Q. Oh, eighty-five? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, who have you talked to about this case?

A. Nobody.

Q. Not a soul?

A. Not a soul. I know nothing about the case at all.

Q. You have not talked to anybody about what you knew in this case? A. What I knew in this case?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, I don't know anything in this case to talk about.

Q. Well, who did you talk about what you were going to swear here? A. Who did I talk?

Q. Yes.

A. Well, I told no one only that gentleman over there.

Q. Mr. Hanford? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Anybody else? A. No, sir.

By Mr. Blakeney: He pointed to me.

Q. You mean this man, Mr. Hanford, don't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Anybody else? A. Not yet.

Q. Not yet? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you talk to this man right here? A. No, sir.

Q. This red headed man? A. No, sir.

Q. You talked to the man who wears glasses? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you talk to—— Do you know Rube Smith?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Talked to him, didn't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Never did?

A. No, sir, he just asked me did I know the boy.

Q. Rube mentioned that to you? A. Rube?

Q. Yes? A. Never did in his life.

Q. Never did in his life? Who would come to the wood yard with Minnie? A. Who would come there?

Q. Yes? A. Well, if anybody come, I didn't see them.

Q. Didn't see them? A. No, sir.

Q. Before Minnie commenced coming there with this Papoose, she would come there in a pregnant condition wouldn't she—big with child?

A. Well, I wouldn't have known it if she had.

Q. You wouldn't have known it? A. No, sir.

Q. You are a married man now aren't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You could tell if she was large with child?

A. She wasn't then because she was carrying a child in her arms.

Q. And the child was how old the first time you ever saw it? A. Well, I can't swear it.

Q. What sized woman was this Indian Minnie?

A. Well, she may have been about my height or a little taller.

Q. How high are you? A. Five foot five.

Q. Five foot and five inches? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she was a very fleshy woman?

A. No, sir, she wasn't.

Q. She was a very slender woman?

A. Well, she was not quite so slender and she wasn't quite so fleshy.

Q. And the little papoose, you have seen it in Granny's house too, haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Minnie lived there at Granny's house all that summer, didn't she?

A. Well, I don't know whether she was living there or not all that summer.

Q. Where else was she living? A. I don't know.

Q. Where do you say you now live?

A. Lockston, Missouri.

Q. How far is that from here?

A. That is about sixty-two miles, I think, as near as I can get at it.

Q. When did you come over here?

A. I came over here Monday a week ago.

Q. Been here ever since? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How came you to come? A. Well, they came after me.

Q. Who came after you?

A. Why, Mr. Smith, he was asking me some questions.

Q. Rube Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He asked you some questions?

A. Asked me did I know the boy and I said yes, and he said will you come over to Leavenworth with me and I told him yes I would come.

Q. And he asked you if you remembered about the Indian woman coming to the wood yard with the papoose?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, he asked you if you knew she was named Indian Minnie? A. No, sir, he didn't ask me that.

Q. He asked you if you knew what the other name was?

A. No, sir, he didn't say any more to me, just asked me if I knew the boy.

Q. Did he ask you if the boy's name was Tommy?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you told him yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He paid your way over here?

A. I paid my own expenses over here.

Q. You are paying your own expenses? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much is he to give you? A. Who?

Q. Rube? A. Rube isn't to give me nothing.

Q. Has anybody given you anything? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much? A. How much?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, Mr. Bond give me ten dollars when I got here.

Q. Mr. Bond? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much did he give you? A. Ten dollars.

Q. Ten dollars? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did he give you that?

A. On the evening I got in, Monday evening a week ago.

Q. When you got here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much have you received since that?

A. Five dollars—six dollars.

Q. Who gave you that? A. Mr. Bond.

Q. You say it was six dollars?

A. Yes, sir, five at one time and one last night, night before last night he gave me a dollar, last night.

Q. That makes sixteen dollars in all? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now is that all? A. That is all he give me.

Q. Have you been promised any before you leave?

A. No, sir.

Q. You say Rube didn't pay your railroad fare over here?

A. No, sir.

Q. You say he didn't buy your ticket?

A. I am bearing my own expense.

Q. I asked you if he bought your ticket?

A. Bought my ticket?

Q. Yes? A No, I don't know, paying my own expenses.

Q. I asked you who bought your ticket to come over here on? A. Oh, Rube bought my ticket.

Q. Rube Smith bought it and paid for it, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where are you staying over here?

A. At Mr. Cohen's.

Q. They are going to pay your board? A. No, sir.

Q. Who is going to pay your board?

A. Mr. Bond is to pay my board, I bear my own expense.

Q. To pay your board and you bear your own expenses?

A. Yes, sir, while I was here waiting to go on the witness stand.

Q. Now, after you got here, did you see Dennis?

A. I seen him off at a distance, I haven't never talked to him.

Q. Haven't ever talked to him? A. No, sir.

Q. You have talked with Rube since you got here?

A. I spoke to him and passed him sometimes, a few times he would be in a crowd where I was at talking.

Q. You say you saw this boy at Granny Letcher's in 1895? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long were you here at that time?

A. Well, I wasn't here but about six months.

Q. Six months? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you go to Granny's very often then?

A. Not quite often, it would be very seldom that I would be down there.

Q. Who else did you see down there?

A. Well, the friend that I went to see was Mr. Nash.

Q. Who? A. Mr. Nash.

Q. What is his given name? A. Sam Nash.

Q. Anybody else there?

A. That is all I went to see, I didn't go in the house, stand around and wait for him.

Q. Did you see Granny?

A. Yes, sir, she always would come to the door.

Q. So, there was Sam and Granny and this boy?

A. That boy wasn't there, I seen him in the middle of the street, he wasn't in the yard.

Q. You didn't see him in her house?

A. Not at that time.

Q. Did you ever see him in her house after ninety-five?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where did you see him?

A. Seen him out there playing marbles with the other boys. I asked Sam who he was and he said Tommy.

By Mr. Blakeney: Now, I move to strike out all of the last of the statement, "I asked," and all that follows.

Q. Name somebody else that came around to the wood yard to get ice and coal?

A. That is something that I—— Well, there were lots of people came around there.

Q. Lots of people did? A. Yes.

Q. Children and grown ups too?

A. Frank Romena and the Shaws.

Q. Frank Promena? A. Frank Bermenia.

Q. What aged man was he?

A. I don't know, he was a good sized boy.

Q. Where did he live?

A. Just the other side of the baker shop on Fourth street.

Q. Anybody in his family?

A. Only just the two boys.

Q. What two boys? A. Frank and John.

Q. Any women folks there?

A. I guess his mother was there.

Q. Do you reckon? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she ever come down to the yard? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Never did? A. No, sir.

Q. Name somebody else now? A. Schotts.

Q. What year was it the Schotts would come down there?

A. Well, I don't know just exactly when, they came nearly every day, sometimes they would telephone for ice and sometimes they would come to the office and order ice.

Q. What year was that? A. That was in the summer.

Q. What year?

A. That was the first summer I worked for them.

Q. What year?

A. Well, I—— I can't think just exactly the year, but it was after the strike in '79, I guess it was in eighty.

Q. Well, that was in 1880 then, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what year was it that these Bermedia boys would come? A. Well, the same year I was working there.

Q. Was that the only year you worked there?

A. The only summer I worked there, yes, sir, that year.

Q. That year?

A. The only time I worked in that year, summer in that year.

Q. That was the only summer that you worked there, was it? A. The only summer that I worked there in that year.

Q. Oh, you never worked there any other summer in that year? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, did you work there any other summer in any other year?

A. Not to say any other summer, no, sir, part of it, about two months of the summer.

Q. What year was that? A. In eighty-five.

Q. In eighty-five? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They came there with wagons to get coal, wouldn't they? A. Who was that?

Q. People? A. No, sir.

Q. Never anybody?

A. Oh, I guess there were a lot of them came in there to get coal in wagons, as far as I know.

Q. Some people came in automobiles, didn't they?
A. No, sir.

Q. They didn't? A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, JOHN F. RODERICK, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., sworn and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. John F. Roderick.

Q. How old are you Mr. Roderick? A. My army age is 75.

Q. How old are you actually? A. Actually 78.

Q. When were you born? A. '39.

Q. Where do you live now?

A. I live in Baine City, about a half a mile south of the city of Leavenworth—the limits.

Q. In what place do you live? A. Baine City.

Q. I know but where do you work?

A. I work in the Soldiers Home.

Q. In the Soldiers Home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What work do you do at the Soldiers Home?

A. I have charge of the trash wagon; go around and empty cans, just like these that sets on your street here.

Q. Did you serve during the Civil War? A. I did, sir.

Q. How many years? A. Three years and one month.

Q. And you are now at Soldiers Home?

A. Now, at the Soldiers Home unfortunately.

Q. When did you first come to Leavenworth, Mr. Roderick?

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, he is a little deaf is the reason I speak so loud.

Q. When did you first go to Leavenworth?
A. I first came to Leavenworth in '77.

Q. When did you leave there? A. I left there in '86.

Q. How do you know that you left there in '86, Mr. Roderick?

A. Well, I have no records; there was a cyclone that blew the Sisters Academy down and killed seven or eight girls, and one of the girls, an intimate neighbor of ours, by the name of McMahan.

Q. When did you go to Kansas City as near as you can remember?

A. About the 1st—5th or 6th of July '86.

Q. Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You mean July that you went to Kansas City?

A. Yes, sir—May.

Q. May? How do you know it was May? A. What say?

Q. How do you know it was May?

A. Well, I have got that cyclone.

Q. What cyclone?

A. The cyclone that occurred on the last day of May.

Q. Were you in Kansas City at that time?

A. I was in Kansas City at that time.

Q. Was that very much of a cyclone?

A. Well, it blew down several houses; blew down and killed seven or eight employes, and blew down a school house and killed 15 or 16 children.

Q. Now, Mr. Roderick, what business were you in in Leavenworth after you went there in '77, what business did you go in?

A. Well, after my family came, prior to that I was employed in the woolen mills.

Q. Then, what did you do next Mr. Roderick, what did you do next?

A. Mr. Duffy closed the business down and that put me out of a job and I took a hack hauling soldiers from the Fort to the city. I see there was a business there and I organized a company of Roderick, Crilley & Cranston, and we collected what we called a Band Wagon, and then we got a contract and employed four wagons.

Q. And your contract was between the Fort and Leavenworth? A. Fort Leavenworth Depot.

Q. How long did that business continue?

A. That business continued sometime in '79 in the spring of '79 until '85—well, we were permanently until after the freight contract.

Q. When did your freight contract expire?

A. It expired on the first day of July, 1885.

Q. First day of July, 1885? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, what did you do between the time that your contract expired until you left for Kansas City in '86?

A. Our contract expired about the last of August, and went to Fort Riley in business for myself.

Q. Went to Fort Riley? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And when did you return from Fort Riley?

A. I returned about the middle of November.

Q. About the middle of November? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And went to Kansas City you say the next spring?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Mr. Roderick, did you know a girl in that country at that time called Indian Minnie?

A. I did prior to that time.

Q. Prior to that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you see Indian Minnie?

A. First time that I remember of seeing her was on the corner of Fifth and Shawnee waiting for a bus to the Fort.

Q. Do you remember whether you ever hauled her from the town to the Fort? A. Time and time again.

Q. You knew her well? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have any sons?

A. I did, I had two adopted sons and two sons of my own on the busses.

Q. Will you tell the Court whether or not you ever stopped her from riding on the busses?

A. No, I never stopped her.

Q. Did you try to do it? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you say anything to your sons about it?

Mr. German: We object to what he said to his sons as hearsay.

Mr. Stuart: I want to show your Honor his means of knowledge of this girl going back and forth and every circumstance connected with it.

Mr. Cruce: The object is not to prove the conversation but not to get any probative force out of the conversation except to emphasize the fact that his attention was directed to this woman.

The Court: If it will lead up to something that has value I will hear it.

Mr. Stuart: We will withdraw it to save time.

Q. Now, Mr. Roderick, you knew her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She rode back and forth on the bus? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know a woman there by the name of Mollie Peters? A. I did.

Q. Where did she live, Mr. Roderick?

A. She lived on Third and Seneca, three or four doors east on Third and Seneca, in what was known in early days as the Seneca Hotel.

Q. The Seneca Hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was she, who was she?

A. Well, she was a fortune teller was her total profession.

Q. Fortune teller?

A. Yes, sir. And also waiting on women.

Q. And also waiting on women? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know her well, Mr. Roderick?

A. Oh, I did indeed.

Q. Do you remember of ever going with her anywhere to see a baby? A. I do, sir.

Q. You may state to the Court just what occurred about that?

A. On or about the last of June or first—last of June or first of July, I was down at Crilley & Cranston's barn; I went in Aunt Mollie's. Aunt Mollie told me she just brought a baby to the world and for me to go over with her and see it. I went over there and I see a baby lying by the side of the woman called Indian Mary. Recognized her and we went back home, and in about three or four weeks afterwards I went down again and asked how the baby was getting along and she said it was getting along fine. Asked me to go over there and get the baby. I went over and got the baby, she was nursing at the time. I took the baby over to Aunt Mollie's.

Q. Now, you state Indian Mary, or Indian Minnie?

A. Indian Minnie.

Q. Why did you say Indian Mary?

A. It slipped my tongue.

Q. Did you know it was Indian Minnie?

A. Oh, yes, I knew it was Indian Minnie.

Q. Now, this child, the first time you saw it, was it in bed with its mother?

A. Oh, yes, lying by the side in front of its mother and Aunt Mollie turned the cover over and she showed me the baby.

Q. You say that you went back there in a month after that and carried the baby over to Aunt Mollie's? A. Yes, sir.

The Court: I didn't understand where he got the baby?

Q. Where was it you saw this baby—do you know where Crilley's barn is? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know where the old Seneca Hotel was?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was this house that the baby was in?
A. Right straight across from the Seneca House.
Q. Do you know who lived there—what kind of people lived there? A. Colored people.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mr. Roderick, how old are you?
A. Well, my army age that I can swear to——
Q. Yes?
A. Is 75. I made a mistake when I went in the army and give my sister's birthday in place of my own and I found out that I am—my people were just like myself, uneducated, and they had so many children I don't believe they knew the actual birth.
Q. What age were you when you went in the army?
A. What say?
Q. What age were you when you went in the army?
A. I think I was 22 past.
Q. But you gave your age as 19, is that right?
A. What say?
Q. You gave your age as 19, is that right?
A. I don't understand you?
Q. You were 22 when you went in the army?
A. Well, that is my judgment, yes.
Q. But what did you give your age as?
A. What did I give my age at? I gave my birthday in '42, to the recruiting officer.
Q. Yes? You mean in 1842 you gave your birthday in to the recruiting officer? A. 1842? Who said 1842?

The Court: Gave his birthday to the recruiting officer as born 1842.

Q. But what year were you born in?
A. My judgment is '49.
Q. What is your nationality?
A. My nationality is mixed. I am part Dutch, Spanish and Indian; my greatfather on my father's side was a full blooded Spaniard.
Q. Full blooded Spaniard?
A. Yes, sir; my mother was a half Indian.
Q. Now, Mr. Roderick, you say that you came to Leavenworth in 1877? A. 1877—yes.
Q. Yes? A. Yes, I said so, yes.
Q. Well, you didn't mean to say that though, did you?
A. '77?
Q. Yes, didn't you mean to say '57?

A. No, sir, no, sir; I wasn't in Leavenworth in '57—no ways near it.

Q. How long after the Civil War was it when you came to Leavenworth? A. How long after the Civil War?

Q. Yes? A. That I came permanently?

Q. Alright, permanently, yes?

A. I came permanently in '79—'77.

Q. '77? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And had you before '77?

A. Had I been there before '77?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, sure; I was raised 35 miles west of Leavenworth; 13 years old at the time we landed in Kansas and was in and out of Leavenworth from '52 on.

Q. Now, when was it you went to Fort Riley?

A. Went to Fort Riley?

Q. Yes?

A. What do you mean? Freighting or with my bus?

Q. Well, freighting?

A. Well, freighting, I freighted there when I was a boy.

Q. When was it you went there with your bus?

A. I went there in July—it was August; went down in the middle of August '86.

Q. '86? A. Yes, sir.

Q. '85? A. '85.

Q. '85? A. Yes, I got it right now; '85.

Q. Didn't you go there the 1st of July '85?

A. The 1st of July '85?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir, no, sir.

Q. Didn't you testify a while ago that you did?

A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you testify at Leavenworth that you did?

A. No, sir, never testified that.

Q. Where was it you first saw this Indian? A. Minnie?

Q. This Indian you are talking about?

A. I first saw Indian Minnie on the corner of Fifth and Shawnee waiting for the bus to go to Leavenworth.

Q. Fifth and Shawnee? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Fifth street is two blocks west of Third street, isn't it? A. Sure.

Q. And Shawnee is one block south of Seneca?

A. That is correct?

Q. Well, had you seen her before that?

A. No, sir, not that I remember of.

Q. You had not? A. I may have seen her.

Q. Yes? Well she was waiting for a bus, you say?

A. Yes

Q. How do you know she was waiting for the bus?

A. That was a stand for the bus; everybody came there to take the busses to the Fort.

Q. Whose bus was she waiting for?

A. Roderick, Crilley and Cranford.

Q. Who was driving the bus?

A. There were three boys, Tommy Boles——

Q. What is that name?

A. Tommy Boles and my two sons; Tommy Boles was not my son but adopted, you know.

Q. Did she take a bus that morning? A. What say?

Q. Did she take a bus that time?

A. Undoubtedly she did.

Q. Did you stay to find out?

A. Well, the one that went to Leavenworth, to the Fort, always had to stay there until the other one swung around and when the other one came in I would collect but probably I didn't see her get in the bus to go, but she was there waiting to go.

Q. Who else was there at that time? A. My driver.

Q. Name the driver. Who was there? A. What say?

Q. Name him?

A. Well, this—Roderick, and Edward Roderick, my two sons and Tommy Boles, but they were going and coming.

Q. All three of them there when you saw Minnie there?

A. No, we run our busses every——

Q. Was Minnie the only passenger on that occasion?

A. Oh, no.

Q. Tell us who else was there? A. Soldiers.

Q. Name them? A. Oh, how could I name them?

Q. You can't tell who else was there?

A. I told you my son.

Q. I mean, of people who wanted to ride? A. Oh, no.

Q. You don't remember anybody?

A. I don't remember their names, or seeing anyone I personally knew. How I knew this Indian Minnie; I recognized her; they told me afterwards who she was.

Q. Alright; but you hadn't seen her before?

A. I hadn't seen her before, no.

Q. Well, was she in a family way?

A. I didn't discover it that time, sir.

Q. If she was? A. No, but I did discover it.

Q. What was the next time you ever saw her?

A. Oh, three or four times a week, on an average.

Q. Three or four times a week? A. Yes.

Q. After the time you first saw her? A. Yes.

Q. What year was it that you saw her the first time?

A. '84.

Q. How do you know?

A. Well, in '85, I couldn't take care of both branches of the business and I turned the busses over sometime in January, I think '85.

Q. What has that got to do? How does that help fix the time you first saw this woman?

A. I had no other motive to present to you.

Q. Nothing else that helps you to figure that out?

A. No, sir.

Q. You had been running the bus out to the Fort for four years, hadn't you? A. Three or four years.

Q. Three or four years? A. Yes, sir, yes, sir.

Q. And you quit it in '85, did you say?

A. My judgment is in January '85.

Q. January '85? A. Yes.

Q. What time in '84, was it, that you say that you saw her there?

A. My judgment is the last of October or the first of November.

Q. Now, did you—was she ever hauled any more?

A. What say?

Q. Was she carried in your bus any more?

A. Carried in my bus any more?

Q. Yes? A. Why——

Q. Well, I am asking you whether she was? A. Well, yes.

Q. Well, why didn't you say so?

A. I didn't understand you, what you meant by your question.

Q. Did you drive those busses any?

A. At night, mostly; I never drove only at night, a little ways; when I wouldn't trust my boys with the gang drinking more or less.

Q. You wouldn't trust your boys to drive it?

A. No, and the boys were working—run every thirty minutes of the day along, a short drive.

Q. How did you know she rode in your busses any?

A. I seen her ride in my busses; rode in the bus I was driving, too.

Q. She did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did that woman dress? A. Dressed very neatly.

Q. Very neatly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you have been living in Leavenworth regularly since '77? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew an Indian woman around there named Indian Mary, didn't you? A. Never heard of her.

Q. Never heard of her? A. Never heard of her.

Q. Don't you know she lived there with that fortune teller Mollie Peters down on Second Street?

A. On Second Street?

Q. Yes, sir, between Shawnee and Cherokee?

A. I never knew of that fortune teller living on Second Street.

Q. You didn't? A. No, sir.

Q. Why, don't you remember the fortune teller lived on Second between Shawnee and Cherokee and Delaware?

A. No, sir.

Q. Right around the first street east of Third and down about two or three blocks?

A. Don't remember anything about it.

Q. You don't remember that? A. No, sir.

Q. And that Indian Mary was with her in the early eighties?

A. Never heard of Indian Mary. That Indian Mary business was a slip of my tongue.

Q. You gave that same slip up at Leavenworth?

A. I did, but I corrected it.

Q. Yes, you corrected it but you made it?

A. Yes, I corrected it.

Q. Now, when was the first time you ever saw this Indian woman at Mollie Peters that fortune tellers?

A. The first time?

Q. Yes?

A. I seen her I believe in 1882 in my judgment.

Q. This child that you saw in the bed when it was ten days old, you saw in a one story house, didn't you?

A. I got it out of a one story house.

Q. A one story house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was its mother in bed? A. Sure, seen her in it.

Q. You saw her in bed? A. I did, sir.

Q. Was the child covered up or not?

A. It was when we first went in; the first thing Aunt Mollie done was throw the cover back and show me the baby.

Q. Was the child asleep or awake?

A. It was asleep apparently.

Q. Had its eyes shut? A. Yes.

Q. You recollect that? A. I remember that.

Q. Was that the only baby you ever saw in your life that was ten days old lying in bed? A. No, sir.

Q. You have several children?

A. I have had three of my own and I have raised seven others; I have one today; taint mine.

Q. What was this child wrapped up in there in bed?

A. Wrapped up very neatly in regular baby clothes.

Q. Well, what was the color of the clothes it had on?
A. White.

Q. White? A. Yes, very neat too.

Q. Did it have the cover lying over it?

A. Oh, yes, had the cover over its head.

Q. The cover was over its head? A. Yes.

Q. How did you see its face?

A. Aunt Mollie turned the cover over and exposed its face to me.

Q. Did she uncover its whole body or just its head?

A. Well, now, that is something I couldn't answer correctly not knowing. Sufficient for me to see the baby and see the baby's features.

Q. You saw its features? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And it looked like an Indian baby?

A. It did, looked like an Indian baby; had the resemblance of its mother.

Q. You testified in Leavenworth that the house that child was in was a one story house, didn't you? A. I did.

Q. Was the baby lying in bed with the mother at the time?

A. To be sure.

Q. She was?

A. Lying in bed with the baby by her side.

Q. How old was the baby at that time?

A. My judgment is that it was about three days old or four.

Q. Oh, I thought you said ten or twelve?

A. I said when I went over and got it myself.

Q. Didn't you testify at Leavenworth that the first time you ever saw that child it was ten or twelve days old and that you saw it in bed? A. I think not.

Q. You think not? A. No.

Q. Who has talked to you about this case in the last two or three days? A. Last two or three days?

Q. Yes? A. The lawyers.

Q. Did you find out about that two weeks business at Grodevant's, did anybody tell you about that?

A. Two weeks what?

Q. Two weeks Grodevant item, an item in the Grodevant expense account? A. I don't understand your question.

Q. Did anybody tell you about there being two weeks missing in Grodevant's expense account?

A. Two weeks missing?

Q. Yes? A. What expense account?

Q. You never heard of that before. Did you testify there at Leavenworth that the child, the first time you ever saw it, was in bed and that it was from twelve to fifteen days old?

A. My judgment says no.

Q. Well, we will get back to that again directly.

Q. Now, when was it you say you went to Fort Riley, in August you think? A. Sometime in August, yes, sir.

Q. But you had occasion to go with Aunt Mollie to see this baby again, didn't you? A. The second time?

Q. Yes?

A. No, she was busy when I asked her about the baby, and she said it was getting along fine and for me to go over there and get it, said she wanted it.

Q. Tell me who else lived in the Seneca Hotel at that time?

A. Mr. Crilley.

Q. And who else?

A. Well, I knew the men by features but I never knew their names.

Q. Did you know Mr. Crilley's wife? A. Oh, yes.

Q. She was there? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Listen, didn't you testify this way at Leavenworth: "How old was the baby that you saw that day?" Didn't you answer: "I should judge the baby was ten days or fifteen days old, somewhere along there."

A. My judgment says it is a mistake.

Q. I am asking you if you didn't testify to that?

A. I think not.

Q. You think you didn't, now think?

A. I might have but I don't think so.

Q. You don't think so? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't remember it if you did?

A. Don't I say when I packed it over there it was ten or fifteen days old?

Q. No.

A. Well, the Notary may have written different. I have always said it, still say that the baby was three or four days old when I first saw the baby.

Q. Do you say you so testified when you gave your deposition there in the Court House there in the United States Court House? A. Do I what?

Q. Do you say you testified in the United States Court House in Leavenworth? A. I did.

Q. That it was three or four days old?

A. I did the first time I saw it. Three or four days old, yes, sir.

Q. Now, Mr. Roderick, you went to Fort Riley?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. But before you went you saw this child again, didn't you? A. Oh, yes.

Mr. Allen: May I suggest that we will save considerable time and confusion if they would be kind enough to give us a list of their witnesses.

Mr. Stuart: No. I am not going to do that. Mr Allen, you refused to give us a list of yours.

The Court: Never mind. You gentlemen have your differences on the outside, don't bring them into the Court Room.

Q. Well, you can't say who else lived in the old Seneca house with Molly? A. No, Aunt Molly——

Q. Besides Crilley and his wife? A. Not by name.

Q. How many people lived in [] besides Crilley and his wife? A. I can't say.

Q. Aunt Molly lived there? A. Aunt Molly lived there.

Q. Who lived with her? A. Nobody that I know of.

Q. Where did she live in that house?

A. Over Crilley's department.

Q. Crilley's department? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many departments did that house have—now Mr. Roderick, you say that you are the father of three children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you were at home when they were born, each one of them? A. To be sure.

Q. And was there and saw them from the day of their birth until they grew up? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you know about the changing colors in a child and the change in its speeches from the day of its birth until it becomes a year or two old, don't you?

A. I am not an expert.

Q. You are not an expert but you have seen your own children. Tell me if you didn't testify this way at Leavenworth, before Mr. Penick up there: "A baby at that age, whether white or black, would be rather red in complexion, wouldn't it?" A. I still say so.

Q. And you said: "Well some is and some isn't," didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. "How was this—that is how was this baby," and didn't you answer "I judge this baby was eight or ten days old, but you take a baby eight or ten days old and it is getting pretty near the natural color. Q. Clearing up at that time? A. Yes, sir. Q. How was this baby, do you recall that it had cleared up? A. I don't think that it had completely cleared up." Now, wasn't that your answer up there?

A. That was correct, yes, sir; I still say so.

Q. Now, you say you saw it again when it was about a month old?

A. I say the next time I saw that baby I was walking up Shawnee street and she was walking up toward's Lange's drug store.

Q. Who was? A. Minnie.

Q. Alright. A. With the baby in her arms.

Q. With the baby in her arms? A. Yes.

Q. Was that the time you went with Aunt Molly Peters and talked about it—the second time you saw Aunt Molly, about the baby?

A. No, when I took the baby across the street was prior to the time of her catching it.

Q. It was? A. Yes.

Q. Now, the time that you took the baby across the street, where did you get it?

A. I got it at this frame house; I can't say for sure whehter it was a frame house or not, but my judgment is, it was a frame house.

Q. Did you get it at——

A. Right square across the street from the——

Q. From the old Seneca House? A. Old Seneca Hotel.

Q. You got it in the house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it in a cradle or bed? A. No, Minnie's lap.

Q. In Minnie's lap, nursing? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of day was it?

A. About three o'clock in the afternoon.

Q. About three o'clock in the afternoon?

A. About that time.

Q. How old was the child then?

A. Ten or twelve days old.

Q. Oh, ten or twelve days old? A. Yes.

Q. She nursed the child at her breast?

A. She was nursing it, yes, sir.

Q. At her breast? A. Yes.

Q. Now, did you see Minnie between time that you had seen her in the bed with the baby and the time that you went over and got the baby that time? A. I hadn't seen her.

Q. Hadn't seen her?

A. No, sir, not between them two times.

Q. How long did she stay in bed during that sickness?

A. Well, it was eight or ten days my judgment is, after when I went to see the baby and get it and she was up.

Q. And she was up?

A. Yes, I believe she had been in bed twelve or thirteen days.

Q. That is your judgment? A. That is my judgment.

Q. From the looks of things around there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long had this woman been staying at that house before that baby came there? A. That woman?

Q. Yes. Name that woman.

A. Well, you are talking about an Indian; that is what you mean?

Q. Yes, sir.

The Court: Well, the woman that had the baby; you know who you are talking about.

A. Yes, sir. How long had she stayed in this house prior to the baby?

Q. Yes, sir? A. I can't say; I never knew of her resident.

Q. What say? A. I never knew of her resident.

Q. You never knew of her residence?

A. I never knew of the number of her house; never knew where she lived.

Q. Let's see; you never saw her down there, then, before you saw the baby in the bed, is that what you mean to say to this court?

A. No, that is what I mean; I never seen her in this building. My acquaintence with her was on the street; the most friendly acquainted that I got with her was through a gentleman by the name of Black.

Q. Black? He was a soldier, wasn't he?

A. He was a soldier; he often paid her fare.

Q. Paid her car fare? A. Paid her car fare.

Q. You knew Oliver, a soldier? A. What say?

Q. You knew Oliver, a soldier? A. Oliver?

Q. It wasn't him, was it?

A. I never knew a man name of Oliver that I knew of.

Q. You didn't ever see a soldier by the name of Oliver with this Indian woman you are talking about, did you?

A. Name of Oliver?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. And you never did see a soldier named Peterkin with this Indian woman you are talking about, did you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Never did? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you say the first time that you ever—well, let's see; let's pass on now. When was it you saw her on the streets, carrying the child in her arms?

A. When I first seen her on the streets?

Q. Yes? A. In her arms?

Q. Yes?

A. Sometime in July, in August; sometime in July.

Q. Sometime in July?

A. My judgment is about the 8th or 10th, or a few days after I wound up my freight contract with the Government.

Q. You are placing everything by your freight contract now? A. Yes.

Q. Who else did you see with a child about that time, of your freight contract, with a little child?

A. Who else did I see?

Q. Yes, with a child?

A. With a child; that child?

Q. With a child. Some other child.

A. I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember? A. No.

Q. Who else that you knew had a small baby at the time that you closed up your freight contract?

A. I don't know anything about it.

Q. How large was the city of Leavenworth at that time?

A. I can't tell.

Q. Don't you know it was something like 30,000—20,000? A. I can't say, sir.

Q. It was quite a city, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Lots of business and lots of people? A. Yes.

Q. Lots of women? A. Yes.

Q. And lots of children? A. Yes.

Q. And small children? A. Sure.

Q. And you knew a great many of them, didn't you?

A. Yes, by sight.

Q. By sight? A. Yes.

Q. Your own family was living there?

A. My own family was living there.

Q. Yes, sir, and you had neighbors? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, tell me some woman in the city of Leavenworth, other than this Indian woman—— A. Yes?

Q. Who was in a family way about the time that your contract closed. A. I don't know of a one.

Q. Don't know of any?

A. No, sir; I may have noticed a dozen of them.

Q. Yes, but you can't name a one? A. No.

Q. Who in Leavenworth was in a family way when you came there in 1877? A. Who was in a family way?

Q. Yes?

A. I wasn't hunting women that was in a family way—well, nobody.

Q. Nobody? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Quite a little city, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who had a small baby in Leavenworth at the time—the year that you went in with Crilley and Cranston? Name somebody.

Q. Now, if my judgment is right, Crilley had a small one.

Q. Crilley had a small baby? A. Yes.

Q. What was its name? A. I don't know.

Q. At the time you entered into your contract with him?

A. I can't say.

Q. Was it a tiny little infant, or three or four years old?

A. Toddling around.

Q. How old? A. When I first seen it?

Q. Tell us how old it was when you first saw it?

A. Well, I can't say that.

Q. Well, don't you know about it——

A. Well, I should judge from the size of the child probably eighteen months old.

Q. About eighteen months old? A. Yes.

Q. What is the date of your contract with Crilley?

A. I never had no contract with Crilley.

Q. Didn't you go in with Crilley and Cranston?

A. Yes, we organized a company.

Q. Yes, well what is the date of that?

A. That I haven't got.

Q. You don't remember the date?

A. No, sir, I got my books all wet and I destroyed them.

Q. Well, don't you remember the date without your book?

A. Well, it was '81, somewhere in that neighborhood when we first organized, seventy-nine, spring of '79 and summer of '79 I run a hack for a man by the name of Shaplin and Tugood; and I seen it was worthy of my own management, in place of giving them all the money I thought I ought to have some; and I organized a firm and between us we bought what we called the old Band Wagon.

Q. But you don't remember the date?

A. That was sometime in the spring of 1879.

Q. Was that the first time you was ever in business for yourself?

A. The first time I was ever in business for myself?

Q. Yes, sir?

A. I wasn't in business for myself, I was in business with Crilley and Cranston.

Q. Had you been running your own business before that?

A. No, I was working on the share.

Q. On the shares before that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then you became the head of the firm of Roderick, Crilley & Cranston? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you don't know the date? A. No.

Q. What time in the year '77 was it that you came to Leavenworth? A. Seventy-seven?

Q. Yes, sir, for good?
A. My family come there in October.
Q. When did you come there?
A. I was there about six months before.
Q. You say your family came there in October?
A. Yes, sir, we lived in Marshal County, Kansas.
Q. You represented in September a while ago, let's see about that? A. Either September or October.
Q. Well, wasn't it November? A. Well, say it is.
Q. Well, tell us which it was?
A. My judgment says it was in September.
Q. September? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You went over to Fort Riley, didn't you? A. I did.
Q. After you dissolved partnership with Crilley and Cranston? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How long did you stay at Fort Riley?
A. I stayed there a month and a half or two months.
Q. Don't you know just how long you stayed?
A. No, I couldn't give the exact dates.
Q. Where did you go from there?
A. I come back and went to running my busses to the Fort.
Q. And this Indian woman continued to ride on your busses? A. Run backward and forwards at night.
Q. Well, this Indian woman continued to ride with you?
A. I never seen that Indian woman after I came back from Fort Riley.
Q. What time did you come back from Fort Riley?
A. I come back in November sometime.
Q. What year? A. '85.
Q. Did you run your bus to the Fort and back?
A. I did at night.
Q. Beginning in November '85 like you had done before?
A. Yes, like I had done before.
Q. And how long did you continue to run that bus?
A. About four months.
Q. And you never saw that Indian woman any more?
A. No, never come across her.
Q. Well, after that, did you ever see her any more?
A. No.
Q. Never did? A. Oh, I see her around——
Q. Around where? A. Once in Leavenworth.
Q. Once in Leavenworth? When?
A. Pretty near two years.

Mr. Cruce: You mean pretty near two years ago?

Mr. German: Yes, that is what he is talking about when you all had her up there.

Q. Now, after that four months you never saw her again in Leavenworth? A. What four months?

Q. Well, you run the bus four months after you came back from Fort Riley? A. No, I have often heard of her.

Q. Now, did you ever see that child any more?

A. Never did.

Q. Never did? A. No, sir, never did.

Q. Did that Indian woman go around with Aunt Mollie much?

A. I seen her three or four times in company with Aunt Mollie.

Q. Aunt Mollie Peters, the fortune teller? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she would often go up there to Lange's store and get things?

A. She was on her way when I seen her with the baby in her arms.

Q. This man Black that you were talking about, is he living?

A. No, sir, my judgment is that he is dead; it is hearsay, I heard he got shot.

Q. At the time you took that baby in your arms across to your barn—— A. Not my barn.

Q. Where did you take it?

A. Across to the Seneca House.

Q. Did you take it to the barn? A. No, sir.

Q. I misunderstood you?

A. My barn was up in the northern part of town.

Q. Who all did you show that baby to?

A. I didn't show it to nobody.

Q. What did you do with it? A. I carried it back.

Q. How long did you keep it over there?

A. About an hour.

Q. You did. What were you doing with it?

A. Playing with it as I play with all babies.

Q. Now, let's see, that child's eyes had opened hadn't they? A. Oh, yes, its eyes were open.

Q. And it was talking? A. It was?

Q. I am asking you? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, did it play with you, throw up its hands and play with you? A. Not that I noticed, it wasn't able to.

Q. It wasn't able to, you remember. Well, then you were the only one who did any playing for an hour?

A. Well, Aunt Mollie dressed it.

Q. She dressed it while you were there?

A. That is changed its didy.

Q. What other children were around Aunt Mollie's house at that time? A. There were no children.

Q. Now, are you sure that there wasn't some other children around the house?

A. There was around the house but not in her room.

Q. Tell us what children were there?

A. Well, Crilley's.

Q. Any others? A. Not that I could identify.

Q. What children were around this house that you went across and got the child out of?

A. I remember seeing a couple of colored children in the yard.

Q. What were their names? A. I don't know.

Q. How long had that colored family been living there?

A. I could not tell you that.

Q. You and Crilley and Cranston were running the barn right across the street?

A. No, sir, Crilley and Cranston was, but not me.

Q. Hadn't you stayed at that barn, you were in partnership with them?

A. Yes, but Roderick, Crilley and Cranston, and Crilley and Cranston were two different firms.

Q. How did you know Aunt Mollie Peters?

A. I often had to go down to the barn.

Q. And you got acquainted with Crilley's family?

A. I was acquainted with Crilley's family, and I was acquainted with Aunt Mollie before Crilley & Cranston moved up in that barn. I knew Aunt Mollie when I was working in the woolen mills but I never knew where she lived.

Q. When was the first time that you now remember to have seen this Indian woman with Aunt Mollie?

A. Well, the first time that I seen her—I never seen her in company with Aunt Mollie that I remember only in the house. That is as near company as she and Aunt Mollie could come.

Q. What would be—— These two colored boys that you saw around there, what were their names?

A. I couldn't say whether they were girls or boys.

Q. You saw them across the street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You don't know whether they were boys or girls?

A. I couldn't say.

Q. Did you know George Dotter? A. George?

Q. Dotter or Gustavas? A. Not by name.

Q. You knew a man there, white man, a baker who lived in that neighborhood somewhere?

A. I might have knowed him by sight.

Q. Did you know Feth? A. No, sir, not by name.

Q. You didn't? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know of him?

A. No, sir, never heard of him.

Q. Did you know Lilly White? A. Lilly White?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. A white woman? A. No, sir.

Q. Who ran a house of ill repute? A. No.

Q. Did you know Stella Forest? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was her place? A. Third and Seneca.

Q. Right by the side of Crilley's barn?

A. Yes, sir, on the west side on the corner, two story house.

Q. But you didn't know Lilly White?

A. No, sir, not by name.

Q. Did you know her by sight?

A. I don't think I did.

Q. Did you know of any white folks living in that house that you saw those colored folks in, did you ever know of any white folks living in that house? A. Never did.

Q. So far as you know colored folks lived there all the time? A. So far as I know that is corrocet, sir.

Q. What did they call that baby? A. Tommy.

Q. Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Anything else? A. Atkins.

Q. Anything else? A. Not that I ever heard of.

Q. Now, let's see, they called it Papoose, didn't they?

A. Well, I called it Papoose.

Q. And that is all you ever heard it called in those days, was Papoose? A. Well, yes, that is about right.

Q. Yes, sir, that is about right?

A. Yes, sir, that is about right.

Q. Now, at Leavenworth, didn't you testify this way: "Did you ever go in after that?" that is into that house where the child was, "After the second time I was in there twice." "I am speaking of the times you saw this baby there the first time? A. I went in once. Q. How many times? A. I went in and got the baby and carried it across the street to Aunt Mollie's. Q. How old was the baby then? A. The baby was about a month and a half, in the neighborhood of that."

A. I might have said so.

Q. You might have said so. Is that the truth?

A. I can't tell.

Q. What is your judgment?

A. My judgment tells me the child wasn't over fifteen days old the next time I saw it.

Q. But you testified the way I read it at Leavenworth?

A. I don't think I did, I think it was a mistake or misunderstanding

Q. You think it was a mistake or misunderstanding, do you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Didn't you testify this way about that colored woman's house: "Q. That was the only child that lived there? A. She lived there with a colored lady. Q. That was the only child there was there? A. The only one I seen. Q. You didn't see any? A. No, sir." Didn't you testify that way at Leavenworth?

A. No, not in the room that she was in, I would say that.

Q. You testified like I read it, didn't you, at Leavenworth? A. I don't think I did that first.

Q. Well, that last I read? A. I testified——

Q. This last I read? A. I think I did.

Q. Now, who has talked to you since then?

A. Who has talked to me since?

Q. Yes, about this matter? A. About this case?

Q. Yes? A. Since I seen that baby?

Q. No, since you testified at Leavenworth?

A. Oh, been nobody.

Q. Nobody at all? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, where do you live?

A. I am a member of the soldiers' home.

Q. You are at the Soldiers' Home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Lee Bond? A. I do.

Q. Hasn't he talked to you since you testified at Leavenforth? A. Not a word, did he in his life.

Q. Never did? A. No, sir.

Q. You know Frank Long? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has he talked to you since you testified at Leavenworth?

A. No, sir, not since I made that affidavit in the courthouse at Leavenworth.

Q. Now, do you know Mr. Hanford? A. Hanford?

Q. Yes?

A. I formed an acquaintance with him since I have been here.

Q. Since you have been here? A. Yes.

Q. Now, let's see. You have [] with somebody about what you claim to know about this since you testified at Leavenworth——

The Court: He testified he talked with the lawyers.

Mr. German: With the lawyers.

Q. Are they the only ones you talked to?

A. Only ones that I talked to.

Q. Now, before you testified in Leavenworth, who came to see you and talked to you about this? A. Before?

Q. Yes? A. In 1914?

Q. Who came to see you first?

A. Crilley told me that there was——

Q. Crilley?

A. George Crilley told me there would be a man name of Long who wanted to know where I was, and he directed him to come. He made a couple of trips before he found me and he found me on what we call the Pike road and he approached the case to me, and I told him that I knew the girl.

Q. Well, I don't care what you said. He talked to you, didn't he? A. Yes.

Q. And then he told you that Frank Long would come to see you? A. You mean George?

Q. Yes, George told you?

> The Court: He has stated that Crilley told him that Frank Long would come to see him, and stated that Frank Long found him on the Pike road and talked.
>
> Mr. German: I misunderstood.

Q. Crilley told you before that Frank Long would come to see you?

A. Yes, he told me there was a case up in the court about Indian Minnie. Now, I said, Indian Minnie this time.

Q. Yes, Indian Minnie, this time.

A. That a case was up about Indian Minnie and somebody else, and that Mr. Long would come and see me in regard to the case, about what I knowed about it.

Q. Now, you said Indian Mary that time, didn't you?

A. Indian Mary? No, I said Indian Minnie.

Q. When you and George Crilley were talking about it, it was Indian Mary, wasn't it? A. No, sir, Indian Minnie.

Q. Now, had you thought about this thing for 30 years before George Crilley came to see you?

A. Had I thought about it?

Q. Yes, sir?

A. No, I didn't remember any conversation about Indian Minnie, I didn't—I didn't say Mary.

Q. No, I understand. A. For thirty-eight years.

Q. Thirty-eight years?

A. My judgment is that I never talked with anyone about it.

Q. Until you talked to George Crilley, and then after you talked to Crilley you talked to Long, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then you testified at Leavenworth, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, let's get one other thing clear, Mr. Roderick.

A. Alright.

Q. You say George Crilley's wife was living there in that old Seneca house at the time you took this baby across there? A. Yes, sir.

Q She hadn't left George then?

A. No, she hadn't left Georeg then, my judgment is she hadn't.

Q. Yes, she hadn't, and Aunt Molly handled this baby there, didn't she? A. No doubt she seen them.

Q. Yes, sir?

A. Passed right by her door to go up their stairway between the building.

Q. Was it a kind of double house? A. Yes.

Q. And Aunt Molly was up stairs?

A. Was up stairs, over George's apartment.

Q. Who else lived up there?

A. I don't know. I don't know their names.

Q. Wasn't but one stairway to go up there?

A. All that I know of.

Q. And you saw Mrs. Crilley that day, didn't you?

A. Mrs. Crilley?

Q. Yes? A. I think I did, yes.

Q. And talked with her?

A. I hardly ever went down there without talking to her.

Q. Well, you know because you went away to Fort Riley right off, didn't you talk to her that day?

A. Several days before I went to Fort Riley.

Q. Well, can you fix the time by the trip to Fort Riley and know that you did talk to her that day?

A. To Crilley's wife?

Q. Yes? A. No.

Q. Can't fix anything by the trip to Fort Riley?

A. I may have spoke to her and may not. I was no hand to talk to women, if you want to know it.

Q. Now, when you and Crilley talked, you say that you and he—you remember it, about this Indian woman—that you remembered about her when you and Crilley—tell that first conversation? A. Yes.

Q. And then Mr. Long came along and saw you and you remembered it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, listen: Didn't you testify this way at Leavenworth: "You couldn't remember anything about it when you talked to Frank Long that first time? A. Why didn't I? Q. I asked you if you didn't? A. No, sir, I didn't." Did you testify that way at Leavenworth? What do you say as to that?

A. Oh, I didn't.

Q. You never testified that way? A. No.

Q. Describe that man Black to us? A. Black?

Q. Yes? A. What do you want to know about him?

Q. I want his description. What kind of looking man was he?

A. He was a man about five, eight or nine—good looking man.

Q. What age? A. I should judge he was about 30.

Q. What was the color of his hair? A. Oh——

Q. Well, was he a blond or brunette? You know the difference between them? A. Oh, a common color.

Q. Well, which is it, mine, a common color, or Judge Cruce's, or Judge Allen's?

A. I would say yours is a common color.

Q. About my color? A. Yes.

Q. About my height? A. Yes.

Q. Younger than I am but about my build?

A. Yes, your build; a well developed soldier.

Q. A well developed soldier? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Thank you. What was Black's first name?

A. Now, I can't tell you that.

Q. Didn't you ever hear it?

A. Never did; Black is all I ever heard; man that rode up and down; gambler—way I got acquainted with him.

Q. Oh, a gambler? A gambler and a soldier?

A. What is that?

Q. A gambler and a soldier? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can you tell us the regiment that he belonged to?

A. Not positively, but my judgment is that he belonged to the 7th cavalry.

Q. Yes, belong to the 7th cavalry; you don't know what company? A. No, I don't.

Q. Do you know who his chief commander there was?

A. Chief commander?

Q. Yes? A. You mean of that department?

A. No, of that cavalry—the cavalry?

A. Captain Wink.

Q. W-i-n-k, Wink? A. Wint.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, A. L. JOHNSON, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. State your name, please? A. A. L. Johnson.

Q. What is your occupation?

A. Well, at the present time I am retired from business for some years.

Q. Well, what is your profession? A. Physician.

Q. Physician and surgeon? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where do you reside? A. St. Helena, California.

Q. What is your age, doctor? A. 72.

Q. Did you formerly live in Leavenworth, Kansas? A. I did.

Q. How long did you live there? A. About 18 years.

Q. Did you live there along in the '80's? A. In what?

Q. In the '80's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were living in Leavenworth at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you were a practicing physician at that time? A. I was.

Q. Did you ever know a woman named Mrs. Edwards? Mrs. Mattie Edwards? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever attend her in a professional way? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you attend her for? A. Confinement.

Q. You confined her at the birth of a child? A. I did.

Q. Do you remember when that was?

Mr. German: Your Honor, we object to that as immaterial—incompetent and immaterial.

The Court: Well, I assume counsel will make some connection of it. I presume so, of course I don't see it now.

Mr. Cruce: It will probably be a little later on; it is a question of fixing of dates.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, the depositions already taken in this case show——

Mr. German: I remember now; we may move to strike it when it comes in.

Mr. Hanford: I will state in the record at this time that Mrs. Edwards is now Mrs. Cobb, and her deposition was taken under her present name. This testimony relates to that.

The Court: Alright; you may go on.

Q. You remember when you attended her at the birth of a child?

A. It was in '85—April; I don't know the day of the month.

Q. April '85?

A. Yes, the latter part of April I should say.

Q. What kind of a baby was that? A. It was a girl.

Q. Girl? A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever know its name? A. No.

Q. Where did she live at that time?

A. She lived on Seneca street.

Q. Do you remember what house?

A. Well, she lived in—let's see; I think it was a hotel; there that they called the Washington House; she lived on Seneca street.

Q. Between what street? A. How?

Q. Do you remember what streets it was between?

A. Well, let's see; that was either between Second and Third or Third and Fourth; I wouldn't be positive which now.

Q. Where was it with reference with Crilley's livery barn? A. How?

Q. Where was it with reference with Crilley's livery barn, if you know?

A. Well, I think Crilley's livery barn was down on Cherokee street at that time.

Q. Is that the same house that was the Seneca house? Did yo uever hear it called that?

A. Yes, that was the house.

Q. The Seneca house? A. The Seneca house, yes.

Q. Was this between Second and Third on Seneca?

A. Well, now as I said before——

Q. Second and Third?

A. I don't know whether it was Second and Third or Third and Fourth, but it was in that house.

Q. At any rate, you attended her in that house? A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian girl there? A. No.

Q. Did you ever know a girl named Minnie Atkins?

A. No, not of my own knowledge.

Q. Or named Minnie? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever see any Indian girl there?

A. Well, now I don't know whether it was an Indian or colored people; there are so many colored people in Leavenworth of all shades.

Q. Well, state the circumstances. A. How?

Q. Go on and state who you did see?

A. Well, the second day after her confinement, Mrs. Edwards' confinement, I called to see her and while I was sitting there a woman came in and went out again and Mrs. Edwards, [] you may have a case there.

Mr. Linebaugh: We object to what Mrs. Edwards said.

The Court: Well, Mrs. Edwards said you may have a case there, so far that is alright. Go ahead.

Q. You didn't learn the name of that woman?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. Did you ever see that woman again? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you see her?

A. I saw her at my daughter's house at St. Helena.

Q. How did you happen to see her there?

A. Came there with Mr. Long.

Q. When was this? A. About two months ago.

Q. Tell what happened there?

A. Well, Mr. Long called to see me and I came down from upstairs and came into the room, and he introduced himself and then he introduced a woman—woman that sets right over there, as Mrs. Folk. I looked at her and said——

Mr. German: Your Honor, we object to this as self serving and incompetent in this case.

The Court: I think so; anything this man may have said at this time, it occurs to me now, after this controversy——

Q. Did you identify that woman? A. I did.

Q. From your own recollection or from——

A. No, from my own recollection.

Q. Without suggestion? A. Without any suggestion.

Q. But you didn't know her name?

A. I didn't know her name.

Mr. Cruce: Identified her as who?

Mr. Hanford: Just a minute.

Q. Was that the same woman you saw at Mrs. Edwards?

A. I told her——

The Court: Never mind what you told her, you were asked if that was the same woman you saw at Mrs. Edwards.

A. Yes, sir, yes, sir.

Q. The second day after the birth of the child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. At the time you saw her at Mrs. Edwards, did you notice her physical condition?

A. No, sir, just saw her come into the room and went out.

Q. Did you know an old colored woman named Granny Letcher? A. I did.

Q. Where did she live?

A. She lived on Seneca street, south side near Second.

Q. Near Second? A. Yes, I don't know the number.

Q. Were you ever called to her house in a professional way? A. I was.

Q. Who did you go to see? A. I went to see a baby.

Q. What kind of a baby was it?
A. Well, she said it was an Indian baby.
Q. Was it a boy? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did she tell you its name?
A. No. Well, she told me its mother's name.

Mr. Linebaugh: I object as incompetent, inadmissible and hearsay.

The Court: Just a moment, the objection is sustained as to her telling its name. I have about reached the conclusion that what Granny Letcher said there with regard to this matter of pedigree, is not competent on that general subject.

Mr. Linebaugh: Probably the objection is not clear and that we may make the record clear, we move to strike the witness' answer, as to what she said with regard to its race.

The Court: Well, I have sustained the objection.

Mr. Cruce: You better make offer to prove.

Mr. Hanford: Yes, will your Honor allow us an exception?

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hanford: And at this time we would like to make offer to prove.

The Court: What I said in regard to the ruling is that anything Granny Letcher may have said as to the relationship of this child to Minnie Atkins.

Mr. Hanford: At this time we offer to prove by this witness that at the time just testified to, that he attended to this baby, Granny Letcher who had called him in attendance, told him that a woman by the name of Minnie Atkins, who was an Indian woman, was the mother of this child, and that she left it in her charge.

The Court: Well, that is your offer to prove read into the record. The Court has sustained the objections to the question which would be offered to bring out that testimony. You have had your exceptions.

Q. Dr. Johnson, when was that you were called to attend this baby? A. Along in February, '86.
Q. About how old a baby was it?
A. I asked Granny Letcher, I says, how old is it?

Mr. Linebaugh: Wait a minute.

The Court: Don't state what she stated; just state if you know from what you saw?

A. My best impression it was about six months old.

Q. It was an infant? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of a looking baby was it?

A. Well, it was a dark complected and straight hair.

Q. What did it look like to you, what race?

A. Well, it didn't look like a nigger and I said to Mrs. Letcher——

The Court: Doctor, just listen a minute. Don't state any conversation, anything you said to Mrs. Letcher about the baby, or anything that Mrs. Letcher said to you. Mr. Hanford has asked you what the baby looked like to you with reference to what race it was?

A. Well, of course, as I saw the baby I didn't know. I couldn't form an opinion just from looks.

Q. State whether or not you were struck by the oddity of seeing this baby there? A. Well, I was, yes, sir.

The Court: That is probably a little leading. Avoid that, Mr. Hanford.

Mr. Hanford: Very well, your Honor.

Q. Dr. Johnson, did you ever attend that baby again?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long after this visit?

A. In June, sometime in June.

Q. The same year? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At the same place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And how old a baby did it appear to be then?

A. About a year old.

Q. About a year old? A. Yes, it run around.

Q. Did you learn the name of this baby?

A. Well, only what Mrs. Letcher said, its mother.

Q. You didn't learn what the baby was called itself?

A. No, I didn't, no, sir.

Mr. Hanford: That is all.

Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, we want to prove now at the first visit he made there that on looking at the baby he made the statement to Mrs. Letcher that this don't look like a nigger baby; Mrs. Letcher says no, it is not, its mother is an Indian.

The Court: That is a part of your offer which Mr. Hanford read into the record, you desire to add that to it?

Mr. Cruce: Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Doctor, where do you live now?

A. St. Helena, California.

Q. Where did you live in March, 1916?

A. I was living part of the time with my son in Oakland and part of the time with my daughter at St. Helena.

Q. Do you know a place called Ellen Hurst?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you live there in March, 1916?

A. Well, part of the time. I made my headquarters with my son.

Q. What part of Ellenhurst? A. 9240 Cherry street.

Q. Did you know a street called Ninety Sixth Avenue?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you live on that? A. I did, I had a room there.

Q. When did you leave Leavenworth, Kansas?

A. I left Leavenworth, I think it was 1895.

Q. When did you go there? A. 1883.

Q. During all that period of time, did you practice your profession of medicine and surgery? A. I did.

Q. Did you keep a record of your obstetric cases?

A. Not at first.

Q. When did you begin a record?

A. I think we were required by the Board to keep a record, I think about '89.

Q. 1889? A. Yes.

Q. Prior to that time, it was not your habit to keep a record? A. No.

Q. And you did not keep a record? A. No.

Q. How do you fix the time at which you attended this Edwards woman in child-birth?

A. I was living on a place called the Hastian Place south of Leavenworth, two miles from my office, just outside the City limits.

Q. Is that the way you fix the time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What other obstetric cases did you attend that year?

A. I couldn't tell you.

Q. Why can you remember this one and cannot remember the others?

A. Because I have been asked if I attended this case and jogged my memory in various ways to fix the time.

Q. Tell the court the various ways you refreshed your memory that enabled you to fix the time?

A. Well, if you will allow me to make the explanation, I will do so.

Q. Go ahead?

A. I first received a letter from Mr. Bond at Leavenworth asking me if I attended Mrs. Edwards April 26th, 1885, if I had a record to let him know. I wrote him that I had no record. Sometime after that there was a lawyer called at my son's. At that time I had a room where you stated there and taken my meals with my son. I wasn't there, they gave him my address. He wrote me and asked me to go to the Federal Building at San Francisco at a certain room. I did so, and they asked who I was and a young man come forward. Oh, yes, he says, that man has gone north.

Q. Never mind about the conversation. I just want you to state, Doctor, how you refresh your memory that enables you to remember?

A. That is just exactly what I am getting to; I have to state this in order to tell you. He asked me about the confinement of Mrs. Edwards. He asked me if I knew of an Indian woman. I says no, not that I know of. He says are you sure that it was eighty-five or eighty-four. I says I couldn't swear to it. Is there any way you can fix it? I says I do not know, I will ask my daughter if she remembers when we lived on the Hastian place. I says, what is it all about? "I don't know myself" he says. He asked me—I asked my daughter; she said I don't remember only you and mamma went to Chicago, and I remember when you come home of her telling about a big parade you saw in Chicago. I remembered that was the time Cleveland and Blaine were running for President.

Q. That was in the fall of the year? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that was in the fall after you attended this confinement?

A. No, sir, the fall before, '84. I went and looked it up. And I wrote to this man telling him I thought it was 1884.

Q. Didn't your daughter tell you you went to Chicago the fall year you lived out on this Hastain place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that is true? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you only lived there a year?

A. I didn't live there quite a year.

Q. Now, the time you went to Chicago you was living on the Hastain place? A. I was.

Q. And that was in the fall? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the time you attended this confinement case you were living on the Hastain place? A. I did.

Q. And that was in the spring? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Of the same year, is that right? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you say this man asked you to look this up and write him a letter.

Q. Did you do that? A. I did.

Q. Now, Doctor, is this the letter that you wrote him?

Listen while I read: "Dear Sir; I just returned"—this letter is dated March 22, 1916. "I just returned from Camp Meeker at nine-fifteen P. M., too late to telephone, therefore will write. I went through my papers very thoroughly while at Camp Meeker and failed to find any further record of the birth of the Edwards baby. There is no mistake in the year 1884 as I was in Chicago that fall, and it was the fall Cleveland was elected the first time as President and the month of the birth was April, but I have no way or knowledge whereby I can fix the day of the month. This is the best I can give in the case." Signed Doctor A. L. Johnson. Did you write that letter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You stated in that letter the facts as you then remembered? A. As I then remembered them, yes, sir.

Q. Was it after then that Mr. Long—— After your writing that letter that Mr. Long came to see you?

A. Mr. Long came to see me about two months ago.

Q. And he brought with him who? A. Mrs. Folk.

Q. Who else? A. Nobody.

Q. For what purpose did he bring Mrs. Folk, do you know? A. I do not know.

Q. Did he state to you? A. He did not.

Q. From where did he come?

A. Came out from Oakland to me.

Q. Do you know where he then lived? A. What is that?

Q. Do you know where he then lived?

A. Where he then lived? I did not.

Q. Do you know where she lived at that time?

A. I did not.

Q. When, was it then, the Edwards woman came to see you? A. I never have seen her.

Q. You never have seen her?

A. Not since her confinement.

Q. When you attended her in this confinement?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did she live? A. She lived on Seneca street.

Q. What place?

A. Well, she lived there in a hotel belonging to Mr. Crilly; as I said before, I don't know whether it was between third and fourth or between second and third on the north side of the street.

Q. What was the name of the hotel?

A. The Seneca house.

Q. The Seneca house?

A. Yes, I believe that was the name.

Q. Do you recall the room of the house she occupied?

A. Yes, she was on the ground floor, corner room.

Q. Do you recall the day of the week that the child was born? A. No, I don't.

Q. Do you recall the hour of the day?

A. In the morning, the child was born I think to the best of my recollection between ten and eleven in the forenoon.

Q. How long were you there before the child was born?

A. Oh, couple of hours.

Q. Who was with her?

A. Well, I don't know. Mr. Edwards and another doctor.

Q. What other doctor?

A. I don't know his name, a stranger to me.

Q. He was assisting you in confinement?

A. Well, Mrs. Edwards engaged me to attend her. She was taken sick in the night and Mr. Edwards wouldn't come out after me and got another doctor. And I got there and found the order on my plate and went right down. And when I got there I see this other doctor. I says, there is no need of two doctors. She says I think it is a shame a woman can't have the doctor she wants. Mr. Edwards spoke up and says you both can stay. I said to the other doctor, is that agreeable to you? And he said yes. He was a stranger to me. I never saw him before and haven't seen him since.

Q. Where was it Granny Letcher lived?

A. On Seneca Street.

Q. Across the street from this place?

A. Yes, nearly so.

Q. You are sure of that, are you?

A. Well, I know she lived across the street.

Q. You saw her over there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At the time you attended this Edwards confinement case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long had she been living there?

A. I don't know.

Q. Sir? A. I don't know.

Q. How long afterwards did she remain?

A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know? A. No, sir.

Q. How long after this Edwards confinement case was it that you were called in a professional way to Granny Letcher's? A. Well, somewhere like seven or eight months.

Q. Seven or eight months? A. Yes, sir.

Q. For what purpose were you called?

A. To see the baby.

Q. How old was the child?

A. Well, I should judge about six months old.

Q. What was its trouble? A. Some stomach trouble.

Q. Where was it? A. It was at Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. What part of the house?

A. Well, I think I went up stairs to see it.

Q. How was the child nourished?

A. Oh, well, I don't know how they were feeding it.

Q. Well, didn't you make inquiry if you were treating it for stomach trouble how it secured its nourishment, whether by breast or otherwise?

A. No, I did not. I don't remember making that inquiry.

Q. You did not? A. No.

Q. How did you diagnose its case?

A. I inquired of Granny Letcher something of its symptoms and she told me what it was doing, vomiting a little, something about the stool as I remember. Why, I says, it has stomach trouble. I prescribed for it.

Q. Who was there besides Granny Letcher at that time?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Were there any other children?

A. I think I saw some children around on the sidewalk as I went in.

Q. Any other children in the house?

A. I couldn't say as to that.

Q. You didn't see any? A. Don't remember.

Q. Was this child a boy or girl? A. Boy.

Q. Then, you were called to Granny Letcher's another time to prescribe in a professional way? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long afterwards?

A. Well, I should judge about six months afterwards, I think it was in June.

Q. For what purpose? A. To see this child.

Q. The same child?

A. Yes, she thought it was coming down with measles, it had a little cold.

Q. Was it the same child? A. Same child.

Q. Did you prescribe for it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was its trouble? A. She had a cough or cold.

Q. I believe you said she had a cough?

A. No, I said the child.

Q. You called twice? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was there when you called?

A. Well, I don't remember anybody, it seems there were other people in the room, I didn't pay attention, I don't remember anybody but old Granny Letcher.

Q. Saw no women other than Granny Letcher at that time? A. I wouldn't swear to that.

Q. You mean that you now remember?

A. No, not that I now remember.

Q. Did you see any other children at that time?

A. Yes, I saw some children around there.

Q. In the house?

A. Well, I saw some out on the street, and I think I saw one or two in the room.

Q. What sized children were they?

A. Oh, they were running around there.

Q. Where was that child that you treated, in bed?

A. No, when I went in Aunt Granny had him in her arms.

Q. You mean the second time you called?

A. Yes, the second time I was there.

Q. It was walking about?

A. No, it wasn't walking about; Granny Letcher says he is walking now.

Q. Where were you living then?

A. I was living on Seneca Street.

Q. You was living on Seneca Street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You, yourself?

A. No, I wasn't, not on Seneca Street. I was living on South Fifth Street. Excuse me.

Q. South Fifth Street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long after you moved from the Hastain farm was it that you were called to see the child the next time?

A. About a year.

Q. Did you know where Crilly's livery barn was located?

A. Well, now, Crilly, I won't be positive whether he was on Seneca or down on Cherokee; he had a livery barn down on Cherokee and it strikes me that he was down on Cherokee at that time; I don't think he was on Seneca.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian woman about Leavenworth? A. No.

Q. You never did? A. No, sir.

Q. Of any kind or description? A. No, sir.

Q. You never saw an Indian woman about Leavenworth?

A. Not that I knew that she was an Indian woman.

Q. Did you ever see any women about Leavenworth who had the appearance of being an Indian? A. Oh, yes.

Q. How many? A. I couldn't tell.

Q. There were a large number?

A. Quite a number of people around there you might judge were Indians from their color and looks.

Q. Their face? A. If you thought of it.

Q. Now, where was it you said you saw some woman where the suggestion was made that you might have occasion to be called to that place? A. Mrs. Edwards.

Q. When was that? A. Two days after her confinement.

Q. Two days after her confinement? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you notice anything about the woman to whom the suggestion was made concerning, which would indicate to your mind you might be called in an obstetrics case?

A. No, sir.

Q. If she was pregnant she didn't evidence that fact at that time? A. Well, I didn't notice it.

Q. That suggestion of proposed employment didn't attract your attention to the woman?

A. No, she came in and went out of the room. After she went out Mrs. Edwards made the remark.

Examination by the Court.

Q. How long was she in the room?

A. Oh, she came in there and was around about five minutes.

Q. What were you doing at the time?

A. Sitting there by the bed talking to Mrs. Edwards. It was two days after her confinement.

Q. This woman came in and was there about five minutes and walked out? A. Possibly that.

Q. Do you remember what she did in the room while she was in there? A. No, I don't.

Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. You paid no attention to her at all?

A. Not particularly. I looked up and saw her face and I have a very good memory of faces but not of names.

Q. Now, did you ever see that face afterwards?

A. That same woman?

Q. Yes? A. Yes.

Q. How long afterwards?

A. Well, nearly thirty-two years.

Q. And that is the only time you ever saw it for thirty-two years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. After the lapse of thirty-two years did you recall it?

A. I recognized a face as one I had seen before, yes.

Q. The face had very considerably changed?

A. Yes, not the face so much, but the body. I remembered her at that time, she was quite slim and I said to her the second time, you are much heavier.

Q. Yet you recognized her?

A. I think I know you. I have seen your face before.

Q. And you hadn't seen her for thirty-two years?

A. No, sir.

Q. What was it about the facial appearance that was peculiar to your memory and different from the facial appearance of other women whom you saw about that time?

A. Well, one thing was the shape of her mouth, I noticed that, and the chin at that time of this fact. We had so many colored people there in Leavenworth, and her shade of color varied, which they all do. I didn't know whether she was a colored woman or what she was. Then, I noticed her hair was straight at that time.

Q. How was her hair combed?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell you.

Q. You say you noticed it?

A. Some of it stuck out straight, it wasn't kinky, that is what made me think, brought my mind to the question whether she was a colored woman.

Q. You say that there were other women, a number of them about there who appeared to be Indian women?

A. In Leavenworth, you say?

Q. Yes? A. No, I didn't say so.

Q. Why, I misunderstood you then. Were there other women there who appeared to be of Indian extraction?

A. You mean at Mrs. Edwards'?

Q. In the town of Leavenworth?

A. You mean in Leavenworth?

Q. Yes.

A. No, I don't know; I didn't know of any Indian women there. I said women were there like Indian women, but I couldn't tell.

Q. Now, you observed, then, the physical appearance of this woman very particularly, did you?

A. Oh, I can't say so awfully particularly, but I observed it.

Q. Indellibly impressed upon your memory for a period of twenty-two years? A. Yes, I recognized it——

Q. But you didn't look down at her body? A. No, I——

Q. You can't tell us at that time whether she was pregnant or not? A. No.

Q. Doctor, will you tell us any peculiarity in facial appearance of any other woman, white, red, or black, who you —whose acquaintance you formed at that time?

A. Can I tell you any peculiarity of them?

Q. Yes. A. Well, I don't know that I could go in to——

Mr. Stuart: Talk out so we all can hear you.

A. I don't know that I could go to work and just call to mind some particular person and then tell you their features. If I should meet them, I would recognize them, as I have met people here I haven't seen for 16 years, recognize them when I see them, but can't call their names.

Q. You can't at this time tell us the peculiarities of any facial appearance of any other person whom you met in the whole city of Leavenworth at that time?

A. Oh, yes, I can tell you one person: I met a Mrs. Tarr at that time; a woman about 50 and had coarse black hair, and very regular features; very dark eyes, and some little peculiarity about her ears, that I remember.

Q. What was that peculiarity?

A. Well, the shape of one ear, a little deformed.

Q. That was a deformity? A. A little deformity, yes.

Q. Well, the shape of this woman's mouth and chin was no deformity, was it? A. No, no.

Q. Doctor, give the court a description of Granny Letcher. A. Granny Letcher, I should say——

Q. Her physical appearance.

A. Best of my recollection, now, was a woman, I should judge somewhere between 40 and 50 years of age. Colored people it is hard to tell their age from their looks, at that age. I should judge now she was a woman that would weigh about 135 or 40 pounds at that time, and she was not a real black person, nor was she a very light persons; kind of a brown——

Q. Kind of what? A. Brown.

Q. Kind of a blonde? A. As I remember, yes.

Q. What kind of hair had she? A. She had kinky hair.

Q. Tell us whether there was any peculiarity in her physical appearance. A. I don't remember any.

Q. Tell the court any peculiarity, if there existed any, in the physical appearance of this Edwards woman.

A. Of this what?

Q. Edwards woman.

A. Yes, this Edwards woman was not a stout woman, and I think she had light brown hair.

Q. Are you sure about that?

A. Well, I wouldn't swear to it, now.

Q. Why wouldn't you, Doctor? A. What?

Q. Why wouldn't you swear to it now?

A. Well, 32 years ago is a long time to remember just the color of the hair.

Q. That is the point; but you attended that woman in child birth, didn't you? A. I did, sir.

Q. You sat by her bedside? A. I did.

Q. Looked into her face, talked with her, and prescribed for her? A. Yes, sir, that is——

Q. Yet you wouldn't swear to the color of her hair, would you? A. Not positively, no, sir.

Q. This other woman, you merely glanced at her when she came into the room? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Cruce: Objected to as argumentative.

The Court: Cross-examination, I think it is proper.

Q. Yet you are willing to swear to the color of the woman's hair whom you just glanced at, is that true?

A. Well, I am willing to swear it was very dark hair.

Q. Well, now, was there anything peculiar in the facial appearance of Mrs. Edwards, contour of her face?

A. No, she had a long—rather longish face, narrow, and quite a pleasant face, but no deformity that I noticed.

Q. Now, Doctor, when did you move, how long after your last call to the Granny Letcher place to see this 12 months' old child you say, was it that you moved from the place you was then living? A. On South 5th street.

Q. Yes. A. How long after that?

Q. Yes. A. I don't remember.

Q. About how long?

A. Well, let's see: I think that was in June; I think it was four or five months after that.

Q. And you moved where? A. I moved over on the Olive street.

Q. How long did you live there?

A. That I don't remember.

The Court.

Q. Now, let me see if I understand: That was the move from two miles out in the country up to Olive street?

A. No, sir, I didn't move from the country to Olive street.

Q. I understood you lived two miles out in the country at the time this confinement case of Mrs. Edwards——

A. I did.

Q. And you lived in the country about a year?

A. Pretty near a year.

Q. Now, between what times, as well as you can remember, Doctor, was it that you lived in the country?

A. I lived in the country between—well, I moved out there I think in the latter part of July or first of August.

Q. What year? A. '84.

Q. '84?

A. After I had looked—studied the matter up considerably, I knew where I——

Q. Well, I am asking you as you now know.

A. And I stayed there until the following year, '85, somewhere the middle of the year.

Q. Somewhere in the middle of the year '85?

A. Yes, sir, about July.

Q. You moved up into the city? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long before you removed from the country up in the city was it, about, that you had this confinement case with Mr. Edwards?

A. Oh, it was something like four months.

Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Now, Doctor, where were you living when you was first called to Granny Letcher's to treat this child, who you believe at that time was about 6 months old?

A. I was living on Seneca street.

Q. On Seneca street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you moved from the country to 5th street?

A. No, I moved from the country to Seneca street, and then from Seneca street to——

Q. Alright. Now how long did you live at the Seneca street place?

A. Oh, I must have been there 6 or 7 months.

Q. You were a busy physician? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Called frequently in cases of illness; tell the court some other child about 6 months old that you waited on during that period of time.

A. Well, I had one child there, a Mrs. Sullivan's; and let's see; I know I attended her. And there was a pair of twins at the coal mine, I remember that.

Q. Whose twins were those?

A. I don't remember their name.

Q. Don't remember their name?

A. I think their name was Brown.

Q. Well, are you sure about that?

A. Yes, I am sure about it; now since I call it to mind. A colored miner out there by the name of Brown.

Q. Any other? A. Well, not that I know just this minute.

Q. Where did Mrs. Sullivan live?

A. In a house on the corner of 5th and Seneca, upstairs.

Q. What was the trouble with her child? A. Her child?

Q. Yes. A. It was still-born.

Q. Well, that was an obstetric case; some child you were called on to treat, not an obstetric case, that you were called to treat. A. I had a Mrs. Walters.

Q. At that time? A. That was confined.

Q. I am not talking about obstetrical cases. Were you called to treat some other child during the time you lived on Seneca street?

A. Oh, I thought you were talking about confinement; excuse me.

Q. No, sir. A. Oh, yes, I had a good many.

Q. Well, tell the court what child you attended and what the trouble was with the child.

A. Well, I was attending that time the Walters family; they had two or three children.

Q. Don't tell us the family; tell us the children.

A. During that time I attended Mrs. Walter's child; and, let me see——

Q. What was the name of that child you attended?

A. Given name?

Q. Yes. A. I don't remember.

Q. What was the trouble with it?

A. That child was ill-nourished, and finally died from starvation. Her nurse was not sufficient for it.

Q. Well, give me another one.

A. Let me call to mind, if I can.

Q. Well, Doctor, you moved, then over to 5th street, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And during that time you called to see a child at Granny Letcher's about 12 months old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. During that period of time, while you lived on 5th street, were you called to see any other child? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Well, tell us one.

A. Let me see: I had two or three cases out in Sterling's Addition; trying to think of their names.

The Court: Well, if you can't recollect the names just now——

Q. Can't recall the names just now?

A. No, not just this minute.

Q. Did the Walters child, the one you have named, did it live or die? A. It died.

Q. How long after, if you recollect? A. Oh, a few days.

Q. Where was it buried, do you know? A. How?

Q. Where was it buried, do you know? Know where it was buried?

A. No, I don't; they were Catholics, buried it in the Catholic cemetery, but I don't know where——

Q. What was the name of that child? A. I don't know.

Q. What was Mr. Walter's initials? A. Charley.

Q. Charley Walters? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Doctor, when was the first time that you were spoken to about—concerning what information you had with reference to the Edwards confinement case, or the Granny Letcher visits that you made?

A. Well, the first time I was spoken to anything about this Edwards case was when Mr. Bond wrote me a letter.

Q. Have you that letter? A. I haven't it with me.

Q. Have you got it at home? A. Yes, it is there.

Q. When was that? A. Oh, that was a year ago, anyhow.

Q. Was it more than a year ago? A. Might have been.

Q. Was it? A. I don't know; I don't remember that.

Q. You don't remember, do you remember the month that you got it? A. No.

Q. And that was only a year ago?

A. Well, something like a year ago.

Q. You don't know about how long it was ago?

A. No, I didn't pay much attention to it, to charge my mind with it.

Q. You don't know whether it was the first of the year 1916 or the last of the year 1915, is that right?

A. I don't remember that.

Q. And that just happened a little over a year ago?

A. Something like that, yes.

Q. Now, when was the next time you were spoken to about it?

A. When I was called over to the Federal Building in San Francisco, sometime after that, probably a month or six weeks after that.

Q. That was the man to whom you wrote the letter?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was the next time?

A. When Mr. Long called to see me.

Q. When was that? A. About two months ago.

Q. About two months ago? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are those the only persons you have talked to?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Mr. E. C. Hanford?

A. I don't know him, only what I have seen of him here.

Q. That gentleman over there? A. Yes, met him here.

Q. Was he out to your place about the 16th of January, 1916?

A. Not that I know of; if he was there, I didn't see him.

Q. You never talked to him? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you recollect when several parties were out there taking depositions in this case, don't you?

A. No, I never knew anything about any depositions being taken out there.

Q. You weren't there? A. How?

Q. You weren't there, where they were taking depositions?

A. Well, I didn't know anything about taking any depositions.

Q. Nobody talked to you at that time?

A. No, my deposition was not taken or asked for, and I didn't know they had anybody else there.

Q. No one talked to you at that time? A. No, sir.

Q. Doctor, I believe you said you didn't know the name of the physician who assisted you in the Edwards confinement case; will you describe him?

A. Well, he was a man about your build, as near as I can recollect; he was a stranger to me; hadn't been in Leavenworth but a short time; came down from St. Joe, and he didn't stay there but a short time, and I paid very little attention to him, because he didn't assist me; he sat there with his heels on the stove during the confinement, and he was about your build——

Q. What a moment; sat there with his heels on the stove?

A. Yes, sir; it was a box stove about that high——

Q. Pretty cold weather, wasn't it?

A. It was cold weather, and he sat there with his heels on that hearth during the entire confinement, as far as I was concerned.

Q. He kept up the fire?

A. No, he didn't keep up the fire.

Q. Who looked after the fire?

A. Mr. Edwards was looking after the fire.

Q. He would bring in wood and keep it up?

A. I don't know how much wood he brought in; I could hear him poking the fire and hear him going away from it and coming back. I sat with my back to it.

Q. What kind of hair did he have? A. Mr. Edwards?

Q. No, that doctor?

A. Well, I think he had dark brown hair.

Q. Do you know?

A. I wouldn't swear to it, but my impression is his hair was dark brown; I paid so little attention to him——

Q. Did he wear glasses or not?

A. I don't think he did.

Q. Don't think he wore nose glasses?

A. I don't think so; I don't remember seeing them on him.

Q. Was there anything peculiar about his facial appearance that you remember?

A. Well, I didn't take enough notice of him to say.

Q. Was he smooth shaven?

A. I think he was smooth shaved.

Q. Do you know? A. I wouldn't swear to it.

Q. Sir? A. I wouldn't swear to it.

Q. Was anything peculiar about that man's mouth, Doctor—that doctor's mouth?

A. When I went in that room my friend——

Q. Just answer my question, please.

A. He sat there by the stove; he didn't turn hardly, and I just saw him sideways. I took off my coat and moved the bed out, and sat there with my back to him most of the time.

Q. You didn't invite him to assist you?

A. No, I didn't need any assistance.

Q. That was rather an embarrassing situation for physicians to be placed in, wasn't it?

A. I would have considered it so if I had been placed there.

Q. You talked to the doctor, did you?

A. I asked him, when Mr. Edwards said you can both stay, I said is that agreeable to you, and he said yes.

Q. Were you introduced to the doctor? A. Yes.

Q. What name was called? A. I don't remember.

Q. You shook hands with him?

A. No, I didn't; he just sat there in the chair, and Mr. Edwards said this is doctor so-an-so.

Q. Did you ever see him before that?

A. No, I never did.

Q. Did you ever see him after that?

A. No, I don't believe I did.

Q. How did you know he came from St. Joe?

A. He said so; I said you haven't been here long, and he said no, I just came from St. Joe.

Q. How long did he stay there?

A. I don't know. I don't think he was there long.

Q. How do you know?

A. He told me where his office was, and I went to see him, and he was gone.

Q. Why did you go to see him?

A. I just called on him to see if Edwards paid him, and he wasn't there.

Q. How did you know who to call on, if you didn't know his name?

A. He told me where his office was, and I went to it.

Q. Where was it Doctor?

A. His office, I think, was on—let me see; I will have to think a minute about that; it has been so long ago. I believe he has his office—I won't be positive whether it was——

Q. You don't remember?

A. I think it was on Shawnee street.

Q. You think you can give the street right, but that is all you remember about it, is it?

A. Well, it was on Shawnee street; my memory now, as I think back about that; I had forgotten all about it; he was between 4th and 5th on Shawnee, upstairs.

Q. Now was there anything peculiar about that Doctor's mouth, Doctor?

A. Well, as I told you before I didn't notice him enough to say.

Q. You don't remember whether there was or not, do you? A. No, I don't.

Q. Was there anything peculiar about his chin?

A. No, I don't know that. As I said, I just saw a side glance of his face, and I sat during all the confinement with my back towards him, and never looked at him.

Q. Don't remember his face well enough to tell the Court whether there was anything peculiar about it or not?

A. No, I don't, because I didn't have a strong enough view of his face.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. Doctor, you attended this baby at Mrs. Letcher's when it was sick on two different occasions? A. Yes.

Q. Did you make a thorough examination of this baby at either time? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Did you examine its body? A. I did not.

Q. Did you observe any peculiarities about the baby in any way, in the way of marks? A. No.

Q. You did not? A. No.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Cruce.

Q. Doctor, I believe you said that you went out to this Hastings farm sometime in the summer of '84? A. Yes.

Q. And you stayed out there all through the winter of '84 and '85? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And came back to town in the summer of '85?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were you living at the time Mrs. Edwards was confined? A. At the farm, Hastings place, yes, sir.

Q. At the farm? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you kept an office in town during that time?

A. I did.

Q. Now, this letter, copy of which has been read to you by Mr. Linebaugh, reads: "There is no mistake in the year, 1894, as I was in Chicago that fall." A. Yes.

Q. And it was the fall Cleveland was elected the first time he was President." A. Yes, sir.

Q. "I have no way or knowledge whereby I can fix the date of the month." Now, are you mistaken about that? Were you living in town when that child was born?

A. I was not living in town and I was mistaken about the date. This man requested me to look that up. Am I allowed to make this little explanation?

The Court: Yes.

A. He wanted me to look that up, ask my daughter, and I did so, and when she spoke about Chicago, that flashed over me. I went to the library to find that out. That was when he was elected. Afterwards I was studying that over. I wrote that off, and then it all came to me, and I knew I had made a mistake. I removed to Leavenworth in '83, from Atchison; I had my office right there.

Q. Well?

A. And in the spring of '84 I rented this Hastings place for the benefit of my father-in-law and bought ten cows and set him up a dairy business there. Spring of '84; I remember it all distinctly now and did afterwards. And then I went to Chicago. I moved out there that summer, and I went to Chicago, just as I stated there, with my wife; and it was the following spring that I attended Mrs. Edwards, in '85, instead of '84.

Q. Now, do you remember, to refresh your recollection, anything about on either of these trips going to see Mrs. Edwards, about a snow storm? A. No.

Q. Now, this man came to see you in San Francisco said he was a lawyer?

A. Yes, sir, said he was a lawyer, I didn't see the first man. I didn't see any of the lawyers except the one I saw over at the Federal building.

Q. What kind of a looking man was he?

A. Dark complected something like a Spaniard.

Q. Did he give the name Rathburn?

A. He gave me his card but I don't remember his name.

Q. Did his card show he was a lawyer or detective?

A. The name and attorney.

Q. Didn't claim to be a detective? A. No, sir.

Q. How long was it after he was over there?

A. There was another man came over to my son's.

Q. I am talking about the man that you saw, was he the man that you wrote to? A. He was the man I wrote to.

Q. How long after you saw him was it before you wrote him? A. Oh, it was two or three weeks I should say.

Q. Did that man tell you he was representing the United States Government?

A. Well, he didn't say he was representing the Government, but his card indicated that he was.

Q. Well, what was on the card?

A. I know I read it and made the remark to my folks, this is a Government man. I handed the card to my son.

Q. And you don't remember his name?

A. Peculiar name. I am not a good memory of names.

Mr. Cruce: Have you another copy of this?

Mr. Linebaugh: I read it all.

Mr. Cruce: We want the whole thing in.

Mr. Linebaugh: We have no objection but I don't think it is competent.

The Court: Well, now, (referring to Defendant's Exhibit B-2) down to the Dear Sir seems to be a report from some one and the letter is copied but the addressee's name isn't given that appeared on the letter. Now, at the top I see "At San Francisco, California, received the following letter from Dr. A. L. Johnson, 96th Avenue Elmhurst, California." The entire paper may be admitted.

Mr. Linebaugh: We withdraw the objection.

Q. Did you ever get any pay for that child, or did you understand it was a charity patient?

Mr. Linebaugh: We object to that.

The Court: He may answer whether he ever got any pay?

A. No.

Q. At the time Mr. Long came to see you with Minnie Atkins—— A. Minnie Folk, please.

Q. Had you talked with Mr. Long before you saw Minnie Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. Anything said with reference to identifying a certain woman? A. No, sir, I talked to no one.

Q. Did you see Mr. Long at your office, or where did you see him? A. He came out to St. Helena, California.

Q. Well, I mean whereabouts in town?

A. Saw him at my daughter's.

Q. At your daughter's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This report seems to have been—— This letter of yours rather seems to have been written March 22nd. Have you ever been subpoenaed by the Government as a witness in this case?

A. Never have been subpoenaed at all by anybody.

Q. After you wrote that letter to that man who claimed to be a lawyer, has the United States ever suggested to you either by subpoena or letter that they desired you as a witness? A. No, sir.

Q. I believe you say you don't remember about Mr. Hanford coming to see you in January?

A. No, I never saw Mr. Hanford until I saw him here.

Q. If he came to your house—— A. I didn't see him.

Q. Did you hear of his being there? A. Did I what?

Q. You know nothing about it if he was at your place, about his being there?

A. No, they said there was some man there inquiring for me and that is all.

Q. Did they say there was some other man shadowing that man that was there inquiring for you?

Mr. Linebaugh: Wait a minute, we object to that as hearsay.

The Court: Well, objection sustained. Now, there has arisen again what arose yesterday. The Court is not only willing but desires and considers it important that in the cross examination by any counsel representing any interest in this case, he bring out from the witness under cross examination all the facts connected with that witness' testimony, and if there has been as he conceives and he conceives the witness to know, anybody representing any other antagonistic interest that was in any way connected with this witness' testimony or in getting it up and inducing him to so testify, that may be brought out on cross examination. I shall assume when counsel asks those questions they conceive that the witness has a knowledge about which they inquire.

Mr. Cruce: I am inclined to think that my question would not be permissible under that.

The Court: You can very readily see if the witness has no information it throws no light on the case.

Mr. Cruce: In the future examination of witnesses it will be our purpose to do that. It is our claim that the Government's case is a fabricated one and that it is working practically in harmony with the Bartlett interest, and we hope to be able to prove that they have——

The Court: I assume that to be the case so far as your cross examination is concerned, and your cross examination may extend, as to any witness, may extend as to any knowledge which he may have relating to those matters or the good faith of any antagonistic interest.

Mr. Linebaugh: Our objection was on the ground that it was hearsay and not cross examination, but redirect examination of his own witness.

The Court: Well, I permit re-direct examination.

Mr. Linebaugh: Yes, but I don't think it has the liberty of cross examination. That is the point.

The Court: No, sir.

Mr. Linebaugh: We have some additional questions to take up with this witness. Shall we adjourn now?

The Court: If you gentlemen will promise to make it short.

Mr. Linebaugh: It will be more than a few questions.

The Court: All right. We will take a recess until one-thirty.

And thereupon, Court recessed until one-thirty P. M.

And thereafter Court reconvened at one-thirty P. M., pursuant to adjournment, and the following proceedings were had:

And thereupon, A. L. JOHNSON was recalled for further examination and testified as follows:

Redirect Examination by Mr. Cruce.

Q. Doctor, I wish you would look at that and see whether that is the letter that you received from Mr. Bond? You say the first knowledge you had of this case was a letter from him? A. As far as my recollection that is.

Q. I wish you would examine Defendant's Exhibit B-4 and say whether that is in your hand-writing?

A. Yes, sir, that is the letter I wrote Mr. Bond in response to that letter.

Q. Examine Defendant's Exhibit B-5 and see whether or not that is a copy of the letter you received from Mr. Bond?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Examine Defendant's Exhibit B-6 and state whether or not that is your answer to that letter? Is that in your hand-writing?

A. Yes, sir, that is in my handwriting; that is correct.

Mr. Cruce: If the Court please, we would like to introduce these four letters.

Mr. Linebaugh: For what purpose?

The Court: Now, the copy of the letter which he has testified to as the one he got from Mr. Bond, does that materially differ in any way from what his statement in regard to it was?

Mr. Cruce: No, sir.

The Court: Then, there is no controversy here about this statement?

Mr. Cruce: Nothing, except that it appears from the examination that perhaps there was something improper in that letter. Perhaps the suggestion of the making of testimony in that letter.

The Court: Is there any objections?

Mr. Linebaugh: No.

The Court: It may be admitted. I am asking you with reference to all of these several exhibits, any of them objected to?

Mr. Linebaugh: I haven't looked over the letters, but the evidence we do not think is competent, and therefore I do not think they are competent. I object to their admission. I don't see upon what theory counsel considers that they are admissible on re-direct examination.

Mr. Cruce: Our view of it is this: The statement was made that so far as the defendant Page and Minnie Folk was concerned their defense was a manufactured one, a fabricated one. Now, here is a letter written by one of the attorneys for the defendant to a witness. That letter will throw some light at least upon what was in the mind of that attorney when he wrote it. The answer to that letter is clearly competent. I may say to the Court that the letter in answer to that states that he remembers very well the birth of the Edwards child.

The Court: Just hand them up to me.

The Court: Are these objected to?

Mr. Linebaugh: Yes, sir.

The Court: .They may go in.

Q. Doctor, have you ever since you wrote these two letters, have you ever seen them before yesterday? A. No.

Q. Have you ever been talked to by Mr. Long, or any of the attorneys in the case about what was in them?

A. No, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Doctor, the man to whom you wrote the letter, a copy of which appears in defendants' Exhibit B-2, called at your home at Elmhurst, California, did he?

A. The man that I wrote that to called at my home?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, I want to say to you that that is an exact copy of my letter but if you have got the original letter here I will identify and swear to it. It sounds very much like it but I wouldn't swear to it.

Q. You said this morning that was a copy of it, didn't you? A. Yes, I said that this morning but——

The Court: The question is, Doctor, in regard to the man to whom you wrote that letter.

A. No, he didn't call at my house, the man that called over there got my address. In fact my address was on 96 Avenue but I was taking my meals with my son and he called there and he requested me to come over to San Francisco to the Federal Building, to a certain room, and I went over there and stated who I was and, oh, yes, some fellow says, we are looking for you; and he said the man who requested you to come over, he has gone north, but he got out some papers and began asking some questions about the birth of the Edwards child, and I answered him and he wanted to know what year and I said I think it was in April '85. And he says, well now, are you sure of it, and I said no, I am not sure of it, I wouldn't swear to it, and he said is there any way that you can find out. And I said I don't know, we will see my daughter—we were living on the Hastings place at the time——

The Court: That is much farther than the question called for.

Q. You said this morning, Doctor, that the man to whom you wrote that letter gave you his card on which it appeared that he was a representative of the Department of Justice. Is that true?

A. Yes, his name was written down in the corner; I can't repeat how that was worded; it was either Federal Court or something.

Q. What was that man's name, Doctor?

A. I don't know, I don't remember, a little peculiar name. I remember he was a dark complected man; a small dark man about your size.

Q. Was his name Rathborn?

A. Well, I can't swear to it; it is entirely gone out of my memory.

Q. Did he at that time make any threat against you?

A. Not a thing.

A. Did he offer you any rewards? A. Not a thing.

Q. What did he say to you, Doctor?

A. Well, that is about our conversation. I simply asked him what is all this about, anyhow, and he said well, I don't think I hardly know myself. That was the answer.

Q. He just wanted certain information if you could give it to him as to when the Edwards child was born?

A. That was all.

Q. And at that time you couldn't give it to him?

A. Not positively, no.

Q. You told him you would go back home and try to get the correct information? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is what you did do, is it Doctor?

A. That is what I did.

Q. Now, when you did you do in your endeavor to get the correct information as to the birth of the Edwards child?

A. I interviewed my daughter. She was a little girl at that time. I said, daughter, do you remember——

Q. Don't tell what you said to her; you interviewed your daughter; anyone else? A. No.

Q. Did you talk to your wife?

A. No, my wife wasn't living.

Q. You wife was not living then?

A. No, my wife had been dead since '91.

Q. Now, did you make any other examination or get information from any other source except talking with your daughter? A. Yes.

Q. Where?

A. From the public library. Daughter made the remark, I heard you and mamma discussing after you got back from Chicago about the big parades there; and then I instantly remembered that the big parades were the presidential election of Cleveland and Blaine.

Q. This man that had asked you for that information, you believed a Government officer?

A. Yes, I thought he was some Government man.

Q. You wanted to give him the truth? A. I did.

Q. You went to pains to ascertain that truth as nearly as you could? A. I did.

Q. And when you reached what you believed to be a correct conclusion—— A. Yes.

Q. You wrote him a letter? A. I did.

Q. And your best judgment is that the letter I read to you is a copy of the letter you wrote to him? A. Yes.

Q. Now, you told counsel on re-direct examination that you had subsequently discovered a mistake in that letter?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, Doctor, when did you discover that mistake?

A. Oh, it was probably in the course of two or three weeks after I wrote that letter.

Q. How did you discover it?

A. Why, I got to thinking it over; got to talking to my daughter about certain things and figuring it over and I says —it occurred to me—well, what time did you rent that place, the Hastings place, and I then remembered that I rented it in the spring of '84; took my father-in-law out there in the dairy business, and that I moved out later in the season and went to Chicago just as I stated, and lived there until along—well, I think possibly in July I went back into town, and after to that, then I said to myself, well, here I made a mistake now, it was in '85 instead of '84, because it was in April and I was not living there in April '84, and I got the thing clear in my mind now. I know now it is positively the fact.

Q. You discovered this mistake in the letter you had written him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you write him another letter? A. I did not.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. I tell you why; another man went over to my son and wanted to see him. I was up at my daughter's at St. Helena. Left his card and my daughter-in-law sent it to me and says, here they are running after you for something. And his card and address was in Chicago, and there was something about the Federal Service. I threw it in the fire and told my daughter, I am not going to answer any more letters until I know what it is all about.

Q. Before you wrote the letter to the Federal Officer, you knew what it was about?

A. Nothing more than they wanted to try to find out about the birth of that child.

Q. You had a year before that received a letter from Lee Bond telling you what it was about? A. Yes.

Q. Well, then, you knew and had known for a year before the Government officer come to you what it was about, hadn't you? A. No, I didn't know at all.

Q. You knew there was a law suit involving this question?

A. I knew there was a law suit involving it, I didn't know what it was.

Q. Lee Bond told you what it was?

A. He didn't, only said there was a law suit.

Q. He said to you in a law suit which had come up the question of the exact date of the birth of this child had become material?

A. Well, I didn't know what the law suit was about.

Q. Oh, certainly not. But you knew this information you communicated to the Government Officer—— A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was a material question in a law suit?

A. Certainly.

Q. And you sought to get that information to give it to him accurately, didn't you? A. I did at the time.

Q. Now, why didn't you advise him when you discovered your mistake?

A. Just as I told you when I got that second letter, I says to my daughter I will not answer any more questions on this or write any more letters until I know what [] law suit is about.

Q. And you didn't? A. I didn't, no, sir.

Q. When you answered Mr. Bond's letter of November 24, 1915, what investigation did you make, if any, to ascertain whether the information you communicated to him in that letter was correct?

A. I went to Camp Meeker, he sent me a check for five dollars to pay my expenses, I went up there and looked over my old records.

Q. You didn't go to Camp Meeker before you wrote the first letter? A. No.

Q. What investigation did you make before you wrote him the first letter to ascertain whether the information you gave him in that letter was correct?

A. Well, he asked if I remembered. I did remember.

Q. Didn't he ask you if you remembered it, or did he tell you you did do it?

A. Well, he asked if I remember attending a Mrs. Edwards on April 26th, 1885.

The Court: Well, the letter speaks for itself now.

Q. Doctor, when you wrote him on November 27, 1915, that you remembered attending this woman in April, 1885, what investigation if any did you make to ascertain whether that date was true?

A. Well, I didn't. As I say, I didn't have my records and I just took it for granted from what he said.

Q. But when you did make an investigation, you reached the conclusion that the statement of 1885 was wrong and that it was in the year 1884?

A. Yes, sir, from those facts that I have stated.

Q. Now, Doctor, from where did you move to Leavenworth? A. From where?

Q. Yes? A. What do mean?

Q. Well, where did you move from to Leavenworth?

A. Oh, from Atchison.

Q. From Kansas? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you a physician and surgeon in Atchison?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What year did you move? A. In the fall.

Q. What month? A. Well, I couldn't tell you.

Q. To what house did you move there?

A. On the corner of Fifth up stairs; I had rooms up where I had my offices.

Q. Your family lived there?

A. Yes, sir, I moved my family out to the farm the next year.

Q. How long did your family live upstairs there where you had your offices?

A. Oh, I should judge it was eight or nine, maybe ten months.

Q. Well, which was it? A. Beg your pardon?

Q. Which was it?

A. Well, I can't tell you positive, but along about that time we lived there.

Q. Now, when you wrote this letter to Lee Bond of November 27, 1915, you had his letter before you, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you assumed the statement made in his letter to be true? A. I did.

Q. And that is why you say in your letter of April 27, 1915, that it was April 1885? A. Yes.

Q. And that is the only reason you said that, is that right?

A. Well, yes, I knew along about that time.

Q. Now, Doctor, you say you were not subpoenaed here by anybody? A. I haven't said so, but I wasn't.

Q. I misunderstood you, I thought you said you were not. No one has subpoenaed you to come to Muskogee? A. No.

Q. What did you come for?

A. I come at Mr. Long's request.

Q. When did he request you to come?

A. About two months ago.

Q. Where? A. St. Helena.

Q. What compensation, if any, were you to receive or have you received?

A. Mr. Long came to see me at St. Helena and commenced talking. I said, first, Mr. Long, I want to know what this is all about.

Q. That isn't my question?

A. Yes, but I am telling you, and he told me.

Q. Now, what did he tell you?

A. He told me it was a lawsuit by a woman named Minnie Atkins in regard to some oil lands, some lands that was allotted to her boy. And I told him just as I have testified here what I knew. He said, well are you willing to go to Muskogee and testify, tell what you know? Well, if you pay my expenses and pay me for my time. Well, all right, we will do that. Well, I says, I will go. And he says well if we want you, says, we can't subpoena you—— He didn't say that either, I will take that back—— He says we can't compel you to go—that is what he said. But he says if we want you we will send you a check to pay your expenses from St. Helena to Muskogee and back, all your expenses and then you will be paid a reasonable price for a witness fee. That is what he told me.

Q. Did you receive a check? A. I did.

Q. How much? A. Two hundred and fifty dollars.

Q. What per diem are you receiving? A. I don't know.

Q. Are you testifying as an expert witness?

A. I don't know that.

Q. You haven't inquired?

A. I just have their word that my fee would be decided here and I don't know what I am to receive or anything about it.

Q. From whom did you receive that check?

A. From Mr. Long.

Q. Frank Long? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you tell Mr. Long in that conversation that you had made a statement to this Government representative that this child was born in 1884?

A. I did, I told him about receiving that letter.

Q. Just tell what was said about that?

A. I said after receiving that letter, Mr. Long, I have been thinking this matter over and I know I was mistaken, and I told him why.

Q. What did he say about it?

A. Well, he says, that is rather material in the case, but that will all come out in your testimony.

Q. Did he tell you how it was material? A. No.

Q. Did you ask him? A. I did not.

Q. Sir? A. I did not.

Q. You used the date April 26th, a while ago, where did you get that date?

A. Well, I only used it as stating that was what Mr. Bond stated in his letter.

Q. You say that Mr. Bond stated in this letter that this child was supposed to have been born on April 26th?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are you mistaken about that? A. I don't think so.

Q. That is where you got the date April 26th?

A. Well, I never have testified that it was my positive knowledge; I knew it was the latter part of April, but I never testified that it was April 26th, because I didn't know.

Q. You say you knew it was the latter part of April?

A. I knew it was the latter part of April.

Q. You say in this letter you thought it was about the middle part of April?

A. I don't think so. I don't think you will find that in that letter.

Q. Didn't you use this expression: "I had been called to see Mrs. Edwards two or three times prior to her confinement and she wanted me to attend her when she was confined, which was in April, I think about the middle, I don't remember the exact day?"

A. Well, I might have made that statement, if it is there I made it sure.

Q. Well, is it true?

A. Well, I don't remember the exact date.

Q. You say now it was the latter part of April?

A. I think it was.

Q. You say then it was the middle of April? A. I did.

Q. Which was correct?

A. I wouldn't swear that was the correct time.

Q. Did you tell Mr.—— When was it you told Mr. Long about the letter to the Government officer before or after your employment by him?

A. When he was there at our house a couple of months ago at St. Helena, about two months ago. I never saw Mr. Long before that and never knew nothing about the case.

Q. Now, what time in the conversation was it, that you told him about writing a letter to the Government officer?

A. Well, after he had explained to me what the case was; I can't say what time in the conversation.

Q. How did it come up about your writing the letter to the Government?

A. Well, he was asking me about the birth of this child, Mrs. Edwards child and I told him that I had received letters so and so from Mr. Bond, I told him then I was interviewed by a man over at the Federal Building, and I wrote this man after looking it up and asking my daughter about it and she stated that all she could tell me about it was the conversation between myself and my mother, about while we were in Chicago about this parade, and then I remembered and went to the public library, and knew and found that Cleveland was elected——

Q. What is the railroad fare from Helena here?

A. Sir? St. Helena?

Q. St. Helena? A. $90.00 and $11.50 for sleeper.

Q. How long have you been here?

A. Well, I got in last Sunday night at 11:30.

Q. Have you been here in Muskogee all the time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ascertain before your coming that the Government was a party to this suit? A. Mr. Long told me.

Q. Before you came here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And all the time since you have been here, then, you have known the Government was a party? A. Yes.

Q. Did you look up any Government officer to tell them the mistake you had made in the information you had communicated? A. No, sir, I did not.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. And I expected everything would come out when I was put on the witness stand. I had been told not to talk anything about the case.

Q. Who told you not to talk anything about the case?
A. That gentleman sitting right there.
Q. Which one? A. That big one at the end of the table.
Q. Judge Stuart, this gentleman? A. Yes, sir.
Q. When did he tell you?
A. Well, he called me into a room and said, Doctor——
Q. No, not where, when was it?
A. I think that was Tuesday evening.
Q. Where was it? A. Over to the hotel.
Q. Told you not to talk to anybody? A. Yes.
Q. Tell you why?

A. He called me into a room and asked me my story and I told him and he said if they call you on the stand, go on the stand and tell the truth and don't tell anything more and don't talk about the case; that is what he told me.

Q. You say the railroad [ ] here from St. Helena is $90.00; is that the round trip?

A. No, it is more than that. It is a round trip from Oakland to Kansas City, and seven dollars and one cent down here one way, or fourteen dollars and two cents two ways; and from St. Helena, the round trip is three dollars from there to Oakland. That is what you have.

Q. Have the attorneys or any other persons talked to you about the testimony of any other witness? A. No.

Q. Have they told you wherein the date of the birth of this child was material in this case? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you inquire? A. No, sir.

Q. That didn't arouse your curiosity at all? A. No, sir.

Q. You made no inquiry as to why they wanted you as a witness? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't try to find out wherein this fact that you knew was a material fact in the case? A. No, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. I never told you not to talk to any of the lawyers in the case, did I?

A. No, you never told me not to talk with lawyers, you said don't discuss this case around the hotel with anybody.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, PHILLIP TUSCHER, being recalled for further cross examination further testified as follows:

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. You are the same Mr. Tuscher that was on the stand yesterday? A. Yes, sir.

Q. State your name again? A. Phillip Tuscher.

Q. I believe that you stated that when you were working at Mr. Crilley's barn that you saw this boy, Indian boy Tommy Atkins, playing around there frequently? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Almost daily with other boys there, including Mr. Crilley's boy, that is true, that is correct is it?

A. Several boys around there, several little boys and girls.

The Court: He stated all that; get to what you want.

Q. That was favorite play-ground, wasn't it?

A. The yard.

Q. Around the livery barn? A. And through the barn.

Q. Mr. Crilley was there most of the time, wasn't he, in charge of his business? A. Back and forwards there.

Q. He was in actual charge of the business?

A. Crilley and Cranston were in partnership.

Q. Both of them looked after this business? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you know a party by the name of Ella Abbott? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew where she lived?

A. Down on Delaware street and Seventh.

Q. Well, part of the time, didn't she live on Seneca street, corner of Third?

A. Not as I know of. She lived on Third and Cherokee over Abels drug store for a while.

Q. Over Abels drug store? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, this boy was down there at intervals, wasn't he?

A. Well, I have seen him there a few times.

Q. You saw him at Ella Abbott's a few times?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, at the time you first saw this boy playing around there, was he still in dresses or had he put on pants?

A. He had on little short skirts.

Q. Short skirts. Now, did you ever see him with his dress off, so that his body was bare? A. No, sir.

Q. Never did. Did you ever make any examination of his body? A. No, sir.

Q. Never did. Do you know whether he had any peculiar or distinguishing mark on his body? A. I do not.

Q. You don't know? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, Mr. Tuscher, do you remember of an incident of when he had a sore hand, or a sore wrist there?

A. No, sir, I don't.

Q. That was tied up for some time and it was reported that he had gotten burned with an iron down at Ella Abbott's? A. Didn't hear nothing about that.

Q. You have no recollection of any circumstance of that kind? A. Never heard nothing about that, no, sir.

Q. You knew this boy until he was about, you say about four years old?

A. About three and a half or four years old; somewhere in the neighborhood.

Q. That is your judgment? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then he—you never saw him any more, he disappeared as far as you know? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You continued to live in Leavenworth, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And worked around the livery stables there?

A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. How could you tell whether that was a boy or a girl?

A. Well, his features showed it to me. Just the same as any other child the same as I could judge.

Q. You knew Ella Abbott, what kind of a house did she run? A. She run a——

Q. House of ill repute? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Since thinking the matter over, have you any recollection now about Lillie White? A. No, sir.

Q. Still don't remember. Alright.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, MRS. JOHN WELCH, a witness heretofore offered on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins et al., being recalled further testified as follows:

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. You are the same Mrs. John Welch who testified yesterday are you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you a vivid recollection of this Tommy Atkins that you saw around Granny Letcher's that you testified about yesterday? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I wish you would describe the appearance of that boy to the Court.

A. Well, he had black hair and straight and he had black eyes, and he was dark and Indian colored.

Q. And Indian colored? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And his eyes were very dark? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The last time you saw him I believe you said he was eight or nine years old? A. I believe he was about that.

Mr. Cobb: I wish you would identify that as Henry Carter's Exhibit A-2.

Q. Mrs. Welch, I hand you photograph marked defendant H. Carter's exhibit A-2 and ask you if you see any resemblance between the boy you saw at Granny Letcher's there as Tommy Atkins, and the photograph that I hand you?
Q. You do not? A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, C. R. CARPENTER, was called as a witness for and on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., and having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. C. R. Carpenter.
Q. What is your business? A. Physician.
Q. Where do you live, Doctor?
A. I have been living for the last three or four years in San Diego, California.
Q. Where did you live prior to that time?
A. Leavenworth, Kansas.
Q. Did you ever practice medicine in Leavenworth, Kansas? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How long? A. Thirty years.
Q. How old are you now, Doctor? A. Sixty.
Q. Doctor, I will ask you to state to the Court whether or not you remember of being requested by a man by the name of Peterkin to attend a woman in confinement in Leavenworth?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. What year was that?
A. Why, I think it was '86, about '86.
Q. Who was this man Peterkin that came to you?
A. He was a soldier.
Q. A soldier. What did he say to you?
A. What did he say to me?
Q. Yes?
A. He said he wanted me to go with him to a woman that was having a child, wanted me to deliver a child.
Q. Where did you go?
A. Well, we went on a street car I think up as far as Kiowa Street and across to H, it was somewhere on North H Street.

Q. When you got there, did you find a woman in labor?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You may state, Doctor, whether or not a physician in an obstetrical case can by physical test determine whether a woman in labor has had a child prior to that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What physical tests and appearance are there from which you can determine that fact? State it to the Court in your own way?

A. There are two main changes that take place in a pregnant woman during her labor. The first is a change that takes place in the skin over the abdomen, in which scar tissue is formed and in the shape of more or less white lines, so that in anatomy they are known as lineae albicates. And the other change is one which almost invariably takes place and is the formation of notches in the edge of the neck of the womb as they are caused by the forcing of the head down through the neck of the womb as it comes out. The neck of the womb comes down in a conical form like that (indicating). The womb in the first place is pear shaped with the small end down. And this conical end fits down into the vagina a variable distance from an inch to probably an inch and a quarter in the first place. The first thing that appears is that that conical point begins to be softened down. When the time for the delivery of the child comes it has spread out more or less by the pressure of the head or the part above, usually the head, so that the point of this is spread out and when the labor commences there is nothing left of it but a rim. Usually about half an inch or a quarter and very soft; but as the labor proceeds the pains of labor are really produced by contraction of the womb which gradually thin out to the neck of the womb until it becomes very thin and broad as the head comes down from the top of it, and spreads out into a thin membrane; but it still remains closed; and as the second stage of this thinning out is what is called the first stage of labor. The second stage begins when the neck of the womb begins to open. It opens gradually under the influence of the pains, contractions of the womb and the force of the head down until finally it slips over the head; but in the vast majority of cases the head is forced down with such force that the membrane ruptures in one or more directions, sometimes two or three directions, and is nearly always ruptured clear back to the walls of the vagina. And after labor as the woman gets well, those tears heal up of course, but the edges never come together so that they are never approximate; so that they leave a notch or scar. And there may be one, two, or three of those.

Q. Well, now, will you state to the Court whether you made this examination of that woman at the time that she had this child to determine whether that was her first child or not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And after that examination what was your judgment and what is it now as to whether she had had a child prior to that? A. I found the evidences of previous labors.

Q. You found the evidences of previous labors? Doctor, I will ask you whether or not those notches are physical evidences of which you speak can be brought about either by abortion or miscarriage? A. No, sir.

Q. Must be a full birth?

A. Must be a birth, what we call term.

Q. Term birth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, I will ask you if you have any habits or customs in your practice with reference to the examination of a woman whom you first find in labor as to whether she had previously had a child?

A. Yes, sir, when I go to see a woman—— Of course, ordinarily, we see a woman two or three months before hand and know all about it, but frequently we are called to emergency cases, obstetric cases, and when called on an emergency case, my habit is to make an examination. And when I go into a house I look first to see if there are other children. Of course if I see them I know it is not her first birth, first child. If I do not see the children I immediately make an examination for two purposes——

The Court: He states that he has an independent recollection with reference to this case.

Mr. Stuart: I am just simply showing that it is his habit and custom to make these examinations to determine.

The Court: Well, he says that he did in this particular case.

Mr. Stuart: Well, I am satisfied. That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Pinson.

Q. Doctor, when did you move to Leavenworth?

A. My father moved there, I believe it was 1865. He was a surgeon in the army and was mustered out there and stayed there and I grew up there.

Q. You were City Physician for a time in Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was that, Doctor?

A. Well, I don't know whether I can tell the years. It was I think—— I left there in 1912, must have been in 1909, 10 or 11, or else eight, nine, and ten.

Q. That was just before you left Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir, shortly before.

Q. Doctor, where was it that you delivered this Peterkin child about which you have been questioned, what home or what house?

A. Well, I couldn't speak from personal knowledge on that. I really didn't know the names of the people. I understand of course that it was the Wood House.

Q. Well, I am getting at more the distance from your office or home; how far was it from your office or the place where Peterkin found you to the place where you delivered this child?

A. Well, we went up on the street car from my office to I think it was Kiowa street, and then across on Kiowa street—Kiowa street was I think the eighth block if I am not mistaken from the center of town. My office is down near the center of town; and then there was two blocks across from that; that would make it about ten blocks.

Q. It was about ten blocks from your office to where you delivered this woman? A. Something like that.

Q. Did you have street car service all the way?

A. No, sir, we had to walk a couple of blocks.

Q. The street car passed by your office? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long that night did you wait for the car, do you remember? A. No, I have no recollection of it at all.

Q. Peterkin came to you rather excited, of course, did he not?

A. Yes, he seemed to be rather excited; men under those circumstances generally are.

Q. Had he been running? A. No.

Q. What was the first thing he said to you, doctor, when he came in?

A. I wouldn't pretend to remember the conversation. I simply know he came. I can see him now as he stood there in his soldier clothes and asked me to go with him. Of course, he must have asked me to go to see this woman.

Q. Now, about how long did it take you to get to the house from the time he came there?

A. I couldn't tell you that, exactly.

Q. Thirty minutes? A. Possibly thirty minutes.

Q. Now, Doctor, in your direct examination, you stated Peterkin stated to you he wanted you to come with him to a woman that was in labor? A. Words to that effect.

Q. When you reached there, was there any other person present than yourself and Peterkin and the woman?

A. My recollection is that I found some women in the room but who they were and what they were I couldn't tell you; I just remember that there was someone there.

Q. Were you advised at that time of the woman's name that was delivering the child? A. No, sir.

Q. Or any or either of the other women in the room?

A. No, sir, I assumed it was Mrs. Peterkin.

Q. You assumed that from the fact that Peterkin came after you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of the year was this?

A. My recollection is it was in the summer.

Q. July, was it not? A. I think it was July.

Q. What time, in the evening?

A. Well, it must have been in the afternoon I think. I can recall the sun shining if I am correct, I think I am correct. But I couldn't tell you just what time of day it was, I think it was in the afternoon.

Q. To refresh your memory, Doctor, wasn't it very late at night that you delivered this child?

A. Well, it may have been born at night.

Q. Wasn't it about mid-night that you reached the house?

A. I couldn't tell you, but my recollection is it was in the day time.

Q. Your recollection is indistinct about those details?

A. Well, about that detail. My impression it was in the daytime when I went there. Of course it took several hours.

Q. In giving birth to a child it may take some time?

A. Usually does.

Q. Or it may not?

A. Oh, I know it took several hours.

Q. What was the first thing the woman said when you went in? A. I can't remember.

Q. She was in pain when you went in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She was suffering? A. They always do.

Q. Suffering? A. Why, she had the ordinary labor pains.

Q. She was having her labor pains when you went into the room? A. My recollection is that she was.

Q. Now, do you remember whether that was a difficult labor or an ordinary labor? A. It was a perfectly normal labor.

Q. Do you remember about the presentation?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. The method in which the child appeared? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it, Doctor?

A. It was a vertex presentation.

Q. Just what do you mean by that?

A. The head coming first.

Q. The back of the head or the front of the head coming first? A. The top, vertex.

Q. That is a perfectly normal presentation is it not?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, do you recall whether Peterkin said anything to you when he first came to your office about this woman suffering from labor pains then? A. No, sir.

Q. But you are sure she was having the ordinary labor pains when you went into the house?

A. She was in labor, labor had begun.

Q. Doctor, you speak of the presentation of the child; is that a matter of importance to a doctor in an obstetrical case?

A. Ordinarily, yes, it is.

Q. State why it is important to ascertain the method or presentation of the child?

A. Well, in order to guide one's self as to the probability of trouble more than anything else. In a vertex presentation there is usually comparatively little trouble unless there is some discrepancy in the size of the parts.

Q. Or something abnormal about the woman or the child?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. If the presentation is otherwise than head first and the back of the head or top of the head first, there is sure to be trouble?

A. Not always; it always furnishes the opportunity for trouble.

Q. Now, that matter then is an important thing to be determined when a doctor goes to attend a woman in labor, is it not?

A. Well, it is not a vital matter to determine just exactly the presentation, because the vast majority of cases go on normally, but we always do that.

Q. Doctor, you do determine that fact the first examination you make of the woman?

A. Oh, yes, that is one of the things we always determine upon our first examination.

Q. If you see the woman before the time of labor, of course you can examine that from an external examination partly can't you? A. Partly, yes.

Q. The external examination is made with the fingers is it not, pressure, and with the ear listening to the sound?

A. Partly, the ear and the eye are both used.

Q. Now, you spoke of the use of the eye, what method do you adopt?

A. Simply note the conformation of the abdomen and which way the womb is lying, whether to the right or left.

Q. Now, in making an internal examination, what means do you use in ascertaining the facts?

A. I simply use my finger, introduce one or two fingers into the vagina far enough to feel the neck of the womb.

Q. Now, that night, doctor, where was this woman when you went into the room? A. She was in bed.

Q. Do you recall what kind of light you had in the room?

A. Why, my recollection is the light—I can't be positive; my recollection is it was dim.

Q. Dim light? A. Kinder dim.

Q. Did you have a lamp there that night?

A. I can't tell you whether it was or not; I suppose it was; I can't tell you.

Q. You remember whether the child was born while it was still daylight or whether it was born during the night?

A. My recollection is it was born during the night.

Q. After dark some time?

A. That is my recollection of it; I can't say positively.

Q. Now as you went into the room, what was the first step you took toward examination of this woman, if any?

A. Well, as I said, I looked around for children and didn't see any, and then, immediately, I prepared to make my examination.

Q. Now, Doctor, when you look around for children, that is because that is one way of knowing whether a woman had other children before? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you naturally assume, when you see children running around, that they have had other children, is that right?

A. Yes, sir; naturally.

Q. Generally you ask the mother, don't you?

A. No. Yes, sometimes I do, is my recollection.

Q. Did you ask this woman?

A. I don't think I did. I think my recollection is on not seeing any children, I simply examined to see whether it was the first labor, and then I just proceeded to make my examination, and I discovered that it was not.

Q. Now, Doctor, when you made that examination, what was the primary purpose of the examination?

A. First, as I said, to find out the stage of labor and presentation, and, consequently, to find out whether there were any evidences of a previous labor.

Q. Why did you want to examine to see whether there had been evidences of a previous labor?

A. Well, as I say, it is important; I don't know that I did so there.

Q. You said it was important; why is it important?

A. The first labor is always the hardest for any woman.

Q. But, when it is normal, it does not make any difference, does it?

A. Yes, but you never know whether it is normal or not.

Q. You make the examination to see whether it is normal; explain to the Court why it is important to know whether it is the first labor or the second or third.

A. I started to tell you, the first labor of almost any woman, not always, is the longest and hardest, for both the woman and the physician; and it requires more care for that reason, and more careful consideration, and careful treatment; and it is more liable to be followed by trouble; that is, lacerations, and so on.

Q. There are always lacerations at child birth, are there not, Doctor?

A. No, sir. That is, there are always lacerations I think of the womb, as I was saying a while ago, but not always lacerations of the perineum.

Q. You referred to these notches and lascerations; were they lacerations of the perineum?

A. I don't recall that there was any lacerations of her perineum; I don't remember.

Q. Now, that is referring to the subsequent birth of this child or prior—— A. Subsequently.

Q. You did not see that before the child was born, did you? A. Certainly not.

Q. I am asking you with reference to the time before the child was born, were there any lacerations of the perineum?

A. No, sir; I think not. My reason is the perineum was perfectly normal.

Q. Now what is the perineum, Doctor?

A. The perineum is that portion of the vagina—it forms the floor of the vagina; it is that portion of the anatomy which you might call the lower part, or the fourehette; from there back to the sanus, that is called.

Q. It is an external portion of the body, is it not?

A. Yes, external, but forms also the floor of the vagina.

Q. A supporting base of the whole genital organs, is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. There was no laceration there?

A. No. Well, I wouldn't be sure about that; might have been some lacerations, but I wouldn't be sure. I know there were lacerations of the cervix, but the perineum is not always lacerated when the womb is.

Q. You can only make an examination with the fingers into the cervix, is that true? A. Yes.

Q. You could not reach into the uterus or womb with the fingers? A. No.

Q. Just the fingers. What is the substance, what is the nature of the substance there, in which these lacerations occur? A. The ones you——

Q. Have referred to as being present in this case?

A. Womb.

Q. What is the nature of the substance there?

A. Well, it is the tissue of the womb.

Q. Can you refer to some other tissue of the body that is similarly constructed, of any similar nature and substance?

A. Well, it is a muscular tissue, but rather dense in character.

Q. Mucus membrane there——

A. Lined with mucus membrane, but the tissue of the womb itself is muscular.

Q. Now these tears or fissures you speak of, are they tears into the muscular body of the womb itself? A. Always.

Q. What other causes may bring about a similar condition upon the cervix?

A. I don't know of any other condition that can of itself.

Q. There can be an erosion there, growing from any other cause which, from the fingers, would present the same feeling as former lacerations?

A. No, sir, because in case of an erosion you have more or less irregularity in its character, and more scooped; it is a cleft or notch; doesn't form a regular notch.

Q. Do you recollect now how many notches you found in this particular cervix?

A. No, sir, I can't be certain of that.

Q. Doctor, how many stages are there in the ordinary and normal labor? A. Three usually recognized.

Q. You refer to these——

A. First, second and third stages.

Q. What are those stages, what happens in each stage?

A. The first stage is that from the time of the first pain up to the point I spoke of a while ago, when the womb begins to dilate; from the time of the first pain up to the time the womb, the neck of the womb begins to dilate. During this first stage the neck of the womb is thinning out, so that it can dilate; of course when it is thick, it cannot dilate.

Q. Now, Doctor, let's go back a moment. The first pain you spoke of, what do you call those pains; any medical term you apply to those? A. Call those labor pains.

Q. Call them all labor pains after the pains begin, is that true? A. Yes, sir; that is true.

Q. How does a layman, a man not versed in the medicine, know when to go for a doctor?

A. The women tell them when to go.

Q. For what reason? A. The get the pains.

Q. And the pains come on and they send for the doctor, is that true? A. Yes, as a rule.

Q. The day before these pains begin there is no more reason for sending for the doctor than a week before, is there? Nothing to signify that the doctor is necessary?

A. Not as a rule.

Q. This woman had reached what stage of labor when you arrived at the house?

A. Well, I can't be positive about that, but I think she was in the first stage.

Q. In the first stage? A. Yes.

Q. Doctor, now tell us just when you say that first stage ends and the second stage begins; what has happened at the time that the first stage ends, about those parts?

A. Well, as I was saying, the first stage ends when the womb, neck of the womb, mouth of the womb, known as the uterus, begins to dilate; when that begins to dilate, the second stage begins.

Q. Doctor, doesn't the dilitation begin with the first stage of labor? A. No, sir.

Q. Isn't that what the premonitory or first stage means, that the first stage is reached? A. No, sir.

Q. Doctor, I believe you say it is not true that diseases or other causes, any other causes, could bring about the condition that you felt was in that cervix at that time?

A. That is my opinion.

Q. You say that you know since you found those that there had been a previous birth of a child to that woman?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Fully developed child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Term labor? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You state that as a practicing physician that that is absolutely a fact, do you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You can not be mistaken about that?

A. I don't think so. Of course a seven or eight months child will produce the same phenomena.

Q. But that is when a child is born naturally; an abortion would not produce that phenomena?

A. Oh, no; an abortion would not produce it, or early miscarriage.

Q. At the time you reached there, what stage of dilitation of the cirvex had progressed?

A. My impression is it had not begun, is my impression.

Q. What was the condition or stage of the woman in regard to coming down of the child, so that by tangible examination you were able to determine presentation?

A. Well, we never attempt to determine presentation until the mouth of the womb is open; the second stage.

Q. The second stage. Then, Doctor, you at the time you made your examination, when you first went into the house, you made it solely for the purpose of determining whether she had had a child prior to that time?

A. No, sir, I made it for the purpose of discovering, as I said before, first, the stage of labor she was in, and, second, the possibility of a previous child.

Q. The stage of labor that she was in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you find there, Doctor?

A. I believe I am correct in saying I found her in the first stage.

Q. What dilitation was present if any? A. None.

Q. None whatever? A. No.

Q. You found the walls of the external and internal os thinned out didn't you, I believe you suggested that?

A. Always thinned out more or less.

Q. When do they begin to thin?

A. They begin to thin during the latter part of labor or latter part of gestation, begin to thin out months before labor comes on; that is the upper, what might be called the base of the neck.

Q. Now, doctor, when does the cervix become soft; at what period in pregnancy does the cervix become soft?

A. Always the first thing that happens when a woman gets pregnant is the tip of the neck begins to soften. You can detect it; a person accustomed to it can detect as one of the first signs of pregnancy, softness of the tip of the uterus.

Q. Isn't it true Doctor that does not occur until about the sixth month of pregnancy?

A. No, sir, I don't think it is.

Q. How many cases of pregnancy and delivery of children have you delivered, Doctor?

A. Oh, I can hardly tell you; several hundred I suppose.

Q. You are familiar with the work of DeLee on Principles and Practice of Obstetrics are you?

A. No, sir, I am not familiar with that author.

Q. Do you know whether or not that is a recognized work on obstetrics?

A. I presume it is, it says so on the book, but I am not familiar with that author.

Q. Doctor, let me just for the purpose of having you explain, call your attention to picture appearing at page 119 of DeLee's Principles and Practice of Obstetrics, which appears to be a cross-section of the cervix at the beginning of labor?

A. Yes.

Q. That is a representation of the cross-section of the cervix at the beginning of labor isn't it?

A. At the beginning yes, sir.

Q. Now, Doctor, this is a thick wall here extending from what is pointed to here as the internal os, to the external os, thick wall to the lower portion of the womb, isn't that true?

A. Yes.

Q. Now when does the thinning process of that wall first begin?

A. Begins when at the—when the beginning of first stage of labor begins or first pain.

Q. With the first pain this begins to get thin, is that a fact?

A. As a matter of fact this is a little misleading, because this neck here begins to get shorter.

Q. In this way as appears in Figure 138 here?

A. Yes, a long time before labor begins.

Q. Now finally, Doctor, during the labor this entire thick wall is effaced and the mouth of the womb, referred to here as the external os, becomes flush with the walls of the vagina, isn't that true?

A. Not flush with the walls of the vagina, no, because the walls stop there; but the head come down here and this supports it; the head comes down and this thins out and forces the walls of the vagina farther and farther apart, and these two edges, instead of being thick like that, are almost as thin as pieces of paper.

Q. Here is what happens—that lower wall becomes thinner? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And finally when dilitation begins, there is no thickness of the lower wall of the womb, isn't that true?

A. Yes, that is dilated some there.

Q. Now then in the normal condition that opening of the womb is practically closed is it not? A. Closed, yes.

Q. Now how far had the dilitation proceeded when you reached this woman's bedside?

A. As I said before my recollection is it had not begun.

Q. But she was having regular labor pains when you reached there? A. Yes.

Q. And dilitation had just begun?

A. No the first stage of labor had just begun, dilitation does not begin until what we call the second stage of labor.

Q. Then when you made the first digital examination you did not find any dilitation at all of the os of the cervix?

A. I say that is my recollection of it.

Q. Found none whatever? A. Yes, I——

Q. Now, Doctor, you understand when Mr. Peterkin came to you, did you not, that this woman was already having her pains? A. Well I did not; he wanted me to go with him.

Q. Well he knew she was fixing to have a child didn't he?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he told you so? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And then it took you about thirty minutes to reach there? A. Yes, I think it did.

Q. And when you reached there, there was no dilitation of the os of the cervix at all? A. That is my recollection.

Q. Doctor, there is one other indication that you referred to as bearing upon the question of whether or not this woman had previously had a child, and that is certain scar tissues I believe you said. Now where do these appear?

A. On the abdomen; sometimes begin at the umbilicus clear down to the—not as low down as that either; down pretty low.

Q. Normally you find these marks on every pregnant woman isn't that true?

A. Not every pregnant woman, but every woman after pregnancy.

Q. Now, Doctor, isn't it a fact that these marks appear on not only the abdomen, but on the thighs and on the breasts at times? A. Occasionally yes, sir.

Q. Of a woman during her pregnancy?

A. Well, I have seen them on her breast during pregnancy, but I don't know whether I ever saw them on primopara either; a woman having her first child.

Q. You never saw this on a woman having her first child?

A. I don't think so.

Q. Any where? A. Always have them with——

Q. Always have them with the first child and every other child don't they? A. After labor but not before.

Q. After labor? A. Yes.

Q. Doctor, isn't it a fact that these marks appear on practically every woman during their pregnancy?

A. Not as a rule during their pregnancy.

Q. Isn't it a fact that you are unable to determine whether one of those marks is from present pregnancy or some preceeding pregnancy?

A. Where a person—that is true of course; it is nearly always from the first pregnancy.

Q. Now did you find any such marks upon this woman?

A. I didn't examine for that I don't think.

Q. Oh, you didn't make that examination in this case?

A. No, I was satisfied with the examination in the first case and there was no necessity for proceeding further.

Q. Did you ask Mr. Peterkin whether he had had another child or not?

A. No, sir, I did not according to my recollection.

Q. Your method of determining whether she had had another child was by making this examination rather than by inquiring?

A. Yes, sir, that is true, I do very little talking to my patients.

Q. Or their husbands? A. Yes.

Q. You had thirty minutes to get there? A. Yes.

Q. Did you talk to Mr. Peterkin during that time?

A. I haven't the slightest recollection of what I said on that occasion.

Q. Doctor, if either one of them said anything to you about whether this was the first child or that there had been a former child you would not make the examination?

A. How is that?

Q. You didn't make any examination where a husband or wife told you about a former child?

A. I invariably make examination.

Q. For that purpose?

A. Not for that purpose but to find out the stage of labor; I of course find out two things or three things at the same time.

Q. Doctor, where do these notches appear?

A. In the neck of the womb.

Q. In the cervix you have referred to?

A. That is the cervix.

Q. It is necessary in order to ascertain whether those notches are there or not to carefully examine around below the surface of the cervix, is that true?

A. Oh, yes, it don't require any special care; can't miss them if they are there.

Q. Just can't miss them? A. No.

Q. After labor has begun you stated that as your opinion as a professional man, and are ready to stand by that opinion, that after labor has begun, you are able by digital examination to determine positively whether a woman is prima para, or whether she has theretofore given birth to a child?

A. That is not what I said; I said this; if these notches are present, it settles the matter. Some times things occur where the notches do not occur——

Q. Doctor, will you answer my question yes or no and then make explanation; the question is, are you willing to state as an opinion as a professional man, that after labor has begun, you can by a digital examination of the genital organs ascertain positively whether or not a woman has theretofore given birth to a child? A. In a majority of cases.

Q. In the majority of cases; you won't say that is absolutely true in all cases?

A. I wouldn't say it is an invariable thing but it is almost invariable.

Q. And does not make much difference whether labor has begun or not? A. It depends upon how far it has gone.

Q. How far does it go before it is impossible to tell?

A. Well, I don't think it is impossible to tell at any stage.

Q. At any stage of labor? A. No.

Q. Doctor, it is afterwards possible to ascertain, whether the child's head is presented, it is then impossible to determine whether there are notches on the interior side of the cervix isn't it? A. Yes, would be difficult to tell.

Q. After the bag of water is presented?

A. You have got that a little bit wrong.

Q. All right make your explanation.

A. I was thinking of where the head would come through. It is possible to make diagnosis of presentation, of course while it is still time, and while there is still time to make also diagnosis of previous labor.

Q. Now, Doctor, after the head has become engaged in the cervix, is it possible to make such examination and to ascertain whether there has been a previous labor?

A. Well, I suppose you mean after it has passed through the cervix?

Q. No, sir, after it became engaged, after it passed into the cervix? A. That is the best time to make it.

Q. Best time to make it?

A. Not the best time—yes, a very good time because then the cervix is spread out over the head and you can pass your finger around and feel it without any trouble.

Q. That is insert your finger between the head and the wall of the vagina on the outside?

A. Oh, no not the wall of the vagina.

Q. Well where?

A. Simply pass it up as I was telling you; the head under those circumstances is still inside the cervix and the cervix is plastered around over the top of it, and it is very easy with your fingers in a second to pass around it and see.

Q. Outside of the head and outside of the cervix?

A. Outside of the cervix yes, sir.

Q. That is outside isn't it?

A. Inside of the vagina but outside of the womb of course.

Q. Now, Doctor, let's take a look at our pictures again; Now when the child's head is pressed down against this dilated cervix, or partially dilated os as we should say—isn't that true? A. Yes.

Q. When pressed down against there, where you make the examination is the external wall out here isn't it?

A. Simply put my finger against that os and see whether it is a circular os or notches in it. Wouldn't be any circular os it would be ragged.

Q. Doctor, you mean to feel around this edge here or part that I am referring to, which appears to extend over the whole vagina?

A. Feel over the whole thing and see whether there was a smooth circular opening there or whether it was ragged.

Q. Then you would make examinations of the external os of the cervix?

A. Yes, sir; couldn't reach the internal os.

Q. Inside of the opening or outside wall?

A. Oh, no, outside. You can't get inside; you can but the head is pressing right down against that like that (indicating).

Q. Now there is a little opening there now through which the head is attempting to protrude isn't that true?

A. Beginning to dilate. No such thing as protrusion; has to pull back out of the way; becomes a circular organ contracting over the head.

Q. As it retracts, Doctor, what becomes of the upper surface of the organ; go down with the head or retract over the base of the head? A. The upper surface?

Q. Yes, of the organ?

A. It goes back the same as the under surface, muscular tissue and simply contracts upon itself.

Q. The condition in which the cervix thins out and dilates is to the side and upward, isn't that true?

A. Well, it thins out in all directions nearly.

Q. Well, does it extend downward into the vagina further on? A. No, it has always a condition of retraction.

Q. Drawn backward?

A. Backward to the body of the womb.

Q. And becomes thicker all the time and draws backward, isn't that true? A. Yes, sir.

Q. So that, Doctor, when the head of the child is pressing upon the external os of the cervix, what was originally the cervix, it is drawn back around the child's head, isn't that true? A. Drawn back over the child's head.

Q. Now where did you find these notches in what part of the cervix?

A. Well as I said before my recollection is she was in her first stage of labor and there was no difficulty whatever—none of the difficulties you have presented in what you have been saying, because it was perfectly easy to pass my finger up there and feel of those notches in the remnants of the neck of the womb which is remaining there, as you see in that picture.

Mr. Pinson: Referring to Picture 138, page 120 in this Principles and Practice of Obstetrics.

Q. Now, Doctor, what was the thickness estimated by you of the wall of the cervix remaining there at the time you reached this woman's bedside?

A. Well I could hardly tell now, I simply know that I found the notches of sufficiently—there was sufficient amount of the neck remaining there so that I had no difficulty in feeling the notches.

Q. Did you estimate how long she had been in labor at that time?

A. No, I presume I did at the time but I can't recollect.

Q. Could you estimate how long thereafter dilitation became complete and the effacement of the cervix became complete?

A. No, sir, I can't; I really can't remember how long the labor was altogether; I don't know just how long it was.

Q. Doctor, your memory about these details about the birth of that child is very hazy at this time, isn't it?

A. Well, only the unnecessary details.

Q. What do you consider the most important thing that you ascertained from your examination of that woman that night?

A. Well, the only importants things that I tried to ascertain were estates of labor and whether she had had a previous child.

Q. Now, she didn't tell you that she had had a previous child, did she? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you talk with her? A. I didn't ask her.

Q. You didn't ask her?

A. No, I didn't ask her. I didn't talk very much with my patients.

Q. Did you tell Mr. Bruff one time in conversation that Mrs. Folk had told you at that time that she had had a child?

A. I don't remember that I ever told him anything of that kind.

Q. Well, will you say you never did make that statement, Doctor? A. Sir?

Q. Will you say you did not ever make that statement?

A. If I did, it was a mere conjecture.

Q. A mere conjecture; and you told him also that that child was dead at that time, didn't you?

A. I haven't any recollection of saying that but if I did——

Q. That was conjecture, too, if you said it?

A. Probably so.

Q. She did not tell you anything of that kind before?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. Peterkin didn't tell you that she had had a child before? A. Not that I remember.

Q. You and Peterkin and Mrs. Peterkin, or whatever her name was, this woman, didn't have any conversation about whether that was the first child or not?

A. No, Mr. Peterkin didn't come into the room as I remember.

Q. He stayed outside? A. That is my recollection.

Q. You didn't have any conversation about it going down there did you? A. No.

Q. Doctor, at the time you first heard of this case, who was it talked to you about this particular law suit?

A. Why, I never have been able to remember, in fact, I don't think I ever knew the first man's name.

Q. Ever know a man named Anderson? A. Yes.

Q. A young lawyer, or a lawyer? A. Yes.

Q. Where was he from?

A. I think he was from Los Angeles.

Q. Did you talk to him about this case?

A. I presume I did, yes.

Q. Wasn't he the first person that you talked to about it?

A. No, the first man that came to me about it, I presume it must have been a detective. I never did know who he was.

Q. Now, Doctor, you told that detective just like you did Mr. Anderson that you could not possibly tell whether a woman had given [ ] before, 30 years after you made the examination, didn't you?

A. I don't think I said anything of the kind, sir.

Q. Did you ever refer to your records in that conversation with Mr. Anderson? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you have any records of this birth?

A. No, I discovered that my records were lost after I went out west and my office was broken up; they were lost in some way, I don't know how.

Q. Now, Doctor, as a matter of fact, you told Mr. Anderson did you not, that you couldn't remember to save your life whether or not that was her first child or not, referring to this occasion, and that you would try to get your records and try to ascertain whether that was the first child or not?

A. Yes.

Q. If you kept such a record.

A. Very likely I told him that.

Q. That is true, isn't it?

A. I can't say it is true; I said very likely I said that. Of course at that time, I was very hazy on the matter and I had not made any attempt to recall the circumstances myself.

The only thing that I could remember was that Peterkin had asked me to come and see this woman.

Q. But you had made no attempt at that time to recall whether this was her first child or not? Is that true?

A. Yes, I was depending at that time on my records.

Q. Where were your records? A. In Leavenworth.

Q. In whose custody?

A. Well, I suppose they were in my wife's custody.

Q. Did you make an effort to find them?

A. Yes, sir, wrote for my records, to send them to me.

Q. That was on account of this conversation you had with Anderson, wasn't it?

A. I don't know whether I did at that time or whether it was when Mr. Allen came to me; I guess I did.

Q. Did Mr. Allen come to you? A. Sir?

Q. Did Mr. Allen come to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is this Allen in this case—R. C. Allen?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have a conversation with him about this matter? A. Yes.

Q. Didn't you tell him in that conversation that you thought that this was this woman's first child?

A. No, I will tell you, I think I said this——

Q. Well, you say you didn't tell him that? A. No.

Q. Well, go ahead and tell us what you did say.

A. He told me the circumstances in the case from his standpoint, or from the standpoint of the side that he was representing; said they had traced up this woman's history and found that she had this child in Leavenworth, and their contention was that the previous child was a myth and there had not been any such a child, and wanted to know if I did not think so, too, and I said possibly you are right—or something to that effect. I didn't speak in any authoritative manner or give it as my opinion.

Q. But you speak now in an authoritative manner?

A. Yes.

Q. And give it as your opinion, now, that it was the second or third, or four child, don't you?

A. Yes, sir, I afterwards recall when I got Mr. Allen's letter telling me—giving me the point at issue clearly, or rather giving me all the circumstances in relation to the case, and I found out that my records were gone and that I had to depend upon my memory for information, why then, I began to say to myself, what did I find during that first examination. I knew I made an examination, and I immediately asked myself what did I find at that time. When I got down to that point, I began to recollect the circumstances and I finally recollected the fact that during this examination I had found evidences of previous labor.

Q. You just kept recalling, and kept recalling circumstances until you finally decided the case, is that true?

A. Well, yes, gradually they came back to me.

Q. What was your first impression about it?

A. Well, my first impression was that it was all in a hazy—it was just so hazy I couldn't tell anything about it, of course.

Q. Wasn't it your first impression that it was her first child, Doctor? A. No, sir, it wasn't.

Q. Let me ask you this question. I am going to read certain questions and answers and I want you to tell me whether those questions were asked you and these answers given when your deposition was taken out there in California. Do you recollect that time, do you? A. Oh, yes.

Q. You recall that your deposition was taken?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Before Mr. Penick, examiner, in this case?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know Judge Allen was there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Hanford and Mr. German? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Now, were these questions asked and these answers given: "Q. Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook talked to you at some length about your recollection as to whether or not this was the first child, didn't they? A. Yes. Q. And your only statement to them at that time was that your best recollection was that it was the first child born to her, was it not?" And then after objection by counsel: "Q. I am speaking now, Doctor, of the statement made by you to Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen in your office in East San Diego during the latter part of March or in April, upon the occasion of Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook visiting your office? A. I was under the imprssion at that time that it was the first child, but my attention had not been directed sufficiently to the point at issue so that I was able to recall the circumstances surrounding the case." Were those questions asked you and those answers given? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, were these questions asked you and these answers given? "Q. Did you not state to Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen at that time and place that it would be impossible for you to testify with any degree of certainty as to whether or not it was her first child, by reason of the large number of childbirths occurring during your practice attended by you? A. Yes."? A. Oh, I didn't say that.

Q. That is not? A. Let me see, just read that over.

Q. Here is the question: "Q. Did you not state to Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen at that time and place that it would be impossible for you to testify with any degree of certainty as to whether or not it was her first child, by reason of the large number of childbirths occurring during your practice attended by you? A. Yes." A. I never said that in the world.

Q. All right. Was this question asked and this answer given? "Q. While at Leavenworth in the absence of your records?" and then after objections by counsel: "Q. After you had stated to Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen at that time and place that your best recollection was that this was her first child, and that your record would so show, did you not say to them that you had, that you would immediately request your wife to send you your records? A. Yes." A. Well?

Q. And then did you further answer: "I asked my wife to hunt up the records, yes." Is that true? Just answer yes or no?

A. You have two or three questions there and you have made me answer the last one and conclude that that answers them all.

The Court: Doctor, is that what transpired before Mr. Penick?

A. I presume it was.

The Court: You will be allowed to explain, but what we are first trying to find out is whether those questions were asked you and you made such answers?

A. My deposition was taken out there and I presume that is the way they got it.

Q. Well, did you give those answers to those questions?

A. I presume I did.

Q. Did you give those answers to those questions at the time your deposition was taken?

A. I couldn't say from memory all that happened, I suppose it did.

Q. Was this question asked you: "Q. You told Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen at that time and place that—that your best recollection was that this was the first child? A. That was my recollection at that time. Q. You told Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen, did you not at that time and place that your records would probably so show? A. I said I thought they would but that I didn't always note that point in my record." Did you give those answers to those questions?

A. I think I did.

Q. Now, Doctor, I believe you said you did write to your wife and ask her to send you this record? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you ever received any records from her?

A. No, sir.

Q. Have you ever had your memory refreshed by any record, statement, letter, or anything of any kind about this childbirth? A. No, sir.

Examination by the Court.

Q. Do you remember the time that your deposition was taken how long before that was the first time that anybody had called your attention to this inquiry about this childbirth? A. I don't know that I could tell.

Q. Was that when Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook were out there, was that the first?

A. You mean how long before the deposition that Mr. Allen was out there?

Q. Yes? A. I can't tell exactly.

Q. Some weeks or months?

A. Oh, it was probably six months I judge.

Q. That was the first time you had your attention called to the matter, when Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook were out there?

A. Well, there was a man there before that, Mr. Anderson, and before him there was a detective, but I didn't find out anything from him or he from me.

The Court: After Mr. Cook and Mr. Allen were there did anybody else talk to you sometime before your deposition was taken?

A. No, sir.

Q. As a matter of fact, somebody did talk to you just as you went to the place where the depositions were taken, didn't they? Let me refresh your memory just a moment. At the time you went over to have your deposition taken, you were subpoenaed by the Government, were you? A. Yes.

Q. On account of what you had said to Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook? A. Yes.

Q. You had never corrected that statement you made to them?

A. No, sir, I wrote them and told them I had recalled.

Q. Doctor, I am going to read you a letter and ask you if this is the letter you wrote Judge Allen, it is dated May 18, 1915. "Dear Sir: I have at last learned definitely that my records were destroyed after I left home. I have decided however that I will come on and testify if you desire it, and will send transportation both ways." Then, there is a postscript: "This is with the understanding that I be paid mileage," and then "P. P. S. I have reopened this letter to say that I have recalled enough of the circumstances to decide the case definitely. C. R. C." That is the letter you wrote? A. I wrote him that.

Q. Did you ever write him a letter in which you told him what you had decided definitely?

A. No, sir, because he told me it didn't make any difference to him, or the Government which way the case went provided they got the truth.

Q. And you were subpoenaed by the Government to testify in that case? A. Yes.

Q. And after you reached there you were talked to by some people? A. Why, Mr. Allen and Mr. German.

Q. Who else? A. Nobody.

Q. Who put you on the stand?

A. Well, Mr. Hanford was there and another gentleman, I went in with Mr. German and Mr. Allen and told them my testimony, what my testimony would be; they asked me about it and I told them, and what I had recalled before I went on the stand.

Q. That was after you had been brought in for the purpose of testifying?

> Mr. Cruce: Please let him finish.
>
> The Court: I understood that the witness had completed his answer. If he has anything to state he may state it.

A. When I went down there, Mr. Allen and Mr. German of course took me into a private room and talked over the matter with me and I told them as I recalled the circumstances they were not the same as we had gone over before; and I went on to tell them plainly that my recollection had been entirely at variance with our correspondence in the matter. I said, after I had begun to recall the circumstances as they had occurred that they presented themselves to me differently than what they had presented to me by Mr. German and Mr. Allen.

Q. Will you please repeat that last statement?

A. I say I told Mr. Allen and Mr. German that my recollection of the matter was different from the circumstances as they had been presented to me by Mr. Allen— Well, it was Mr. Cook that was there the first time—and that I had recalled that in my initial examination of this woman that I found evidences of a previous birth. I told them that before I went on the stand.

Q. Doctor, let me ask you if it isn't a fact that at the time you had the conversation with Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook, that you didn't know which one of those two facts they wanted to prove?

A. You mean the first time they were out there?

Q. Yes, sir?

A. Well, it is quite true, I was hazy in my mind as to what the object of the trial was.

Q. Then, it is not true, as you said a while ago, that Judge Allen said that they wanted to prove that she had had a child?

A. I say I was entirely confused as to the issues of the case.

Q. And as you became unconfused you settled in your mind just what you wanted to testify, is that right?

A. No, as I recalled the circumstances, that is as they occurred, then I found that they did not agree with the story that had been told me before.

Q. Now, as to your confusion about the issues in the case, didn't you confuse your mind as to whether there had been a previous child?

A. Well, it was not so much that I was confused—whether they wanted to prove that child was legitimate. It is quite true they had told me these things before but I got that impression.

Q. But they didn't tell you they wanted you to testify that this was her first child?

A. Well, they may have told me that.

Q. Well, did they or not?

A. I can't answer positively as to that, I presume they did.

Q. Let me ask you whether this question was asked you and this answer given: "Q. We told you that we just wanted you tell us what you recalled about it, and that we weren't interested in having you tell us anything that wasn't the truth, did we not?" and there was an objection made by Mr. Hanford, and then the answer: "You told me, as I remember it, that the Government had no interest in the matter whatever except to find out the truth."

A. Yes, that is the reason I didn't write to him and tell him of my change.

The Court: Now, let's get through with this first. Let the attorney complete reading the questions and answers, and then testify as to whether you made such answers.

Q. "Q. And from the beginning of that conversation to the end, you repeatedly said to us that you were quite certain that this was the first child born to Minnie Atkins, didn't you? A. I am not at all sure I said it that way, because I wasn't at all sure. In fact, I think the burden of what I told you was that I wasn't a bit sure, but that my best recollection that I recalled up to that time was that it was her first child." Did you answer in that way?

A. I presume I did if it is down there.

Q. Well, did you answer that way or not?

A. I can't recall at this time just whether I gave my answer that way, but it wouldn't be my impression I did.

Q. Isn't that true? A. I presume— How is that?

Q. That is exactly what you told Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook? A. I presume it is. They were coming at me from all sides.

Q. Isn't that what you told them out there, that you were not sure but your best impression it was her first child?

A. No, sir. I did answer it in that way at that time, but that is not what I said to them. They put the words in my mouth.

Q. "Q. The first recollection you had of this matter was that this was the first child born to Minnie, wasn't that it? A. Well, that was my first recollection, yes." Did you answer it in that way? A. I presume I did.

Q. Doctor, what is the purpose of the first change of labor, what does that accompliish?

A. Beginning of the thinning out of the neck.

Q. And during the first day the thinning out process is completed and what else?

A. Well, that is practically all.

Q. What is your technical term for the thinning out process? A. Well, I don't know of any technical names.

Q. Did you ever hear it called effacement? A. Yes.

Q. What about the dilation, when does that take place?

A. During the second stage.

Q. What else takes place during the second stage?

A. The head comes down through.

Q. And then what is the third stage?

A. The expulsion stage.

Q. Is there another stage?

A. Well, some people may call it that, but there are three stages to labor.

Q. You treat the first stage as the effacement?

The Court: Mr. Pinson, haven't you covered that fully?

Mr. Pinson: Yes, sir, the purpose, Your Honor, please, is to show that these various stages of labor, I wanted to fix it definitely as possible the exact period at this time for an obvious purpose.

The Court: Well, I thought you had covered that fully.

Mr. Pinson: Possibly I have covered that fully. One other question, Doctor, that I would like to ask you.

Q. In labor does it ever occur that the wall of the vagina becomes wrinkled so that it forms what is termed a false cervix a false fols there in the vagina?

A. No, I never saw any such condition.

Q. You never saw any such condition? A. No.

Q. Did you, at the time that you made this examination of this woman, examine her externally about the abdomen? A. I couldn't say positively, I presume I did.

Q. You didn't see then any of these scar tissues that you refer to? A. I don't think I examined for that.

Q. Well, if you examined the abdomen wouldn't you find those if they were present?

A. Oh, yes, I would; I don't think I did.

Q. Now, did you make an examination with the eye internal, did you use a spectulum? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't attempt to do that at all? A. No, sir.

Mr. Pinson: If the court please, it may be that we will want to recall the witness for further cross examination. Now, the question has come up about some correspondence; that is something I have not been familiar with.

The Court: What correspondence is that?

Mr. German: Between Judge Allen and Dr. Carpenter.

The Court: All right, go on.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Doctor, Judge Allen was out to see you, he and Fred Cook prior to April 20, 1915, at any rate this is true that you never wrote Judge Allen any letter until after he had been to see you, he and Mr. Cook? A. Yes, as far as I know.

Q. Then, as you stated a while ago, the matter of whether this was the woman's first child was discussed and you stated what you told them as to your recollection?

A. How is that?

Q. And you have told your recollection. Didn't you, on April 20, 1915, write the letter which I hand you, which is marked Government's Exhibit 4? A. Yes.

Q. You wrote him that letter? A. Yes.

Q. You have already stated I believe that when they were out there they told you that all they wanted was the truth, but that they believed that she had not had a child prior to the birth you attended? A. Yes.

Q. And you understood that that was their contention?

A. Yes, sir, and you asked me if I didn't think so too.

Q. Yes, but I wasn't there when Judge Allen and Mr. Cook were? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, in this letter you asked Judge Allen— You stated to him you believed you were on the track of your records, and then you wanted to know what the real meaning of the suit was and what difference it would make to the Government and what difference to Minnie and to the Creek Nation, and so forth? A. Yes, I was entirely confused as I say.

Q. All that you knew was what Judge Allen contended in the matter? A. Yes.

Q. Then, on April 26th, 1911, Judge Allen wrote you a letter, at least you received a letter from him dated April 26th, 1915, in answer to the letter which you wrote him on April 20, 1915, didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. And isn't that a correct copy of it which is marked Government's Exhibit 5, in which he explained to you the issues in answer to the question?

A. Yes, he wrote me a letter explaining the different interests and that was the first clear understanding I had.

Q. All right, then on May 18, 1915, you wrote Judge Allen another letter, did you not which is Government's Exhibit 6, that letter? A. This is the same one I had before.

Q. Yes, this is the one Mr. Pinson asked you about before? A. Yes.

Q. And in this letter you told Judge Allen that you now remembered and your testimony would settle the case, but you didn't tell him you had changed your mind?

A. I didn't tell him, no, and I didn't because he said it didn't make any difference.

Q. I understand. Now, on May 29th, you wrote Judge Allen another letter, didn't you, and isn't that it, which I hand you marked Government's Exhibit 9?

A. I wrote a letter.

Q. That is your handwriting? A. Certainly I wrote it.

Q. And in this you suggested that Judge Allen had stated to you that you would be paid your mileage and per diem, and said nothing about transportation, and then you winded up by saying: "I suppose this will be included." You still didn't tell him your mind had been changed or your memory was different from what it was in the conversation?

Mr. Cruce: I submit the letter will speak for itself.

The Court: The letter is the best evidence, but I presume he is examining with regard to this statement.

Q. On August 21, 1915, you wrote Judge Allen another letter and isn't this it, which is marked Government's Exhibit 7? A. I wrote that letter.

Q. Now, you formerly lived in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you have a daughter living in Leavenworth, haven't you?

A. She [] living right there now; that is her home, of course.

Q. Was was when you wrote these letters? And your wife is living there now, isn't she? And was at the time you wrote these letters?

The Court: I would like to get some answers in there.

By the Court.

Q. Was your daughter living in Leavenworth at the time you wrote these letters, Doctor?

A. I am not certain whether she was there or working in Kansas City.

Q. Was your wife in Leavenworth?

A. Yes, in Leavenworth.

By Mr. German.

Q. In those letters you spoke about coming to the territory and when it would take place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Judge Allen wrote this September 9th, 1915, a carbon copy, is it not, which is marked Government's Exhibit No. 8?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, you expected to take a trip to Muskogee to testify in this case, didn't you at the expense of the Government? A. Yes.

Q. And that letter told you that we are going to take depositions, doesn't it? A. Yes.

Q. Then, in January following that, we subpoenaed to appear before the court there and testify, rather before the Examiner at the United States Courthouse, didn't we?

A. Yes.

Q. And when you appeared in the room there to talk to Judge Allen and me, that was the first time you ever told us that you had changed your mind or told—— A. Yes.

Q. Or told any Government representative, wasn't it?

A. Yes, because Judge Allen told me it didn't make a bit of difference to him or the Government what the outcome of the trial was; all he wanted was the truth.

Q. That is true, but he told you in your first conversation that his contention was that there was no child born before that, didn't he? A. Yes, sir, he did.

Mr. Cruce: Do you want to introduce these?

Mr. German: Yes.

Mr. Cruce: We have no objections.

The Court: They may be admitted.

Mr. German: Exhibits 4 to 8 inclusive.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Doctor, now, see if you can listen to my questions so we can get through. You testified at San Diego, California, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who summoned you to that Federal Building?

A. Why, I presume it was Mr. Allen, and——

Mr. German, this gentleman here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This one? A. Yes, sir, it was a subpoena.

Q. It don't make any difference whether it was a subpoena or not. Did you go there at their instance? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they take you in a room and talk with you about this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When they got through with you did they tell you they didn't want you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you started away? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you whether or not Mr. Hanford ran after you and called you back? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And put you on the stand? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Doctor, at the time you took the stand at San Diego in this case, had you ever heard of Frank Long?

A. Never.

Q. Had you ever heard of Page? A. No, sir.

Q. Had any living man, including Mr. Hanford, ever talked to you about what you knew about this case? I mean outside of these men? A. No, no, sir.

Q. Had they? A. No.

Q. And when they put you on the stand, did they put you on the stand without talking with you? You didn't tell Mr. Hanford what you knoew before you got on the stand?

A. No. Mr. Hanford, he didn't talk to me.

Q. Not at all? A. No.

Q. And he called you back and put you on the stand?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And for the first time you told that story to Mr. Hanford on the stand, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Doctor, isn't it a fact that you were in that room where Judge Allen and I talked to you up to the time that Mr. Hanford or Mr. Blakeney went and asked you to come in and take the witness stand?

A. No, I think I had started out of the building.

Q. Out of the building? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where had you gotten to, sir?

A. I had gotten to the stairs, I think.

Q. Don't you know, Doctor, at the time you stepped out of that room, Mr. Hanford and I was out there and I said to Mr. Hanford, here he is? A. No, I don't.

Q. We can't use him, here he is?

A. I don't remember that occurring.

Q. You say that didn't occur?

A. I know that Mr. Hanford got me to come back, that is all I can tell you.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, E. C. HANFORD, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Mr. Hanford, do you remember at the time that Doctor—what's his name? A. Carpenter.

Q. Carpenter, testified at San Diego in this case?

A. I do.

Q. Were you there? A. I was.

Q. Representing Page and Minnie Folk?

A. No, representing the defendants Folk and Hanford.

Q. Who was representing Page? A. Nobody.

Q. Nobody. Had you at that time ever seen Doctor Carpenter? A. I had not.

Q. Did you know where he lived?

A. I did not. I knew he was in California some place but I had no idea the location.

Q. Had you ever heard what he would swear to in this case?

A. I had not but I had heard this. I had heard that he was a very old man and decrepit, and that his testimony would not be valuable, because he was in a stage of senility that precluded him being a witness.

Q. Well, who did you hear that from?

A. I don't know; that was the information that came in Leavenworth from somebody when we were looking up the case there.

Q. Well, that is utterly immaterial; had you ever heard of this man and what he would swear to with reference to this case? A. I did not.

Q. At the time he was placed on the stand in San Diego had you ever talked with him about this case? A. I had not.

Q. Did you learn whether Mr. Long had ever talked with him about it, of your own knowledge now?

A. I know that Mr. Long had not.

Q. Had not talked to him about it? A. Had not.

Q. Did you have any information as to what he would swear? A. I did not?

Q. Now, tell how come you to call him in that room.

A. We met pursuant to notice at the Federal Building and when we met there, Mr. Allen and Mr. German asked for time before taking—commencing taking depositions, because there was a witness that they had to talk to, and they stated that it was very important, and Mr. Penick told them to go ahead but to hurry up. They went out in the room adjoining the room where the depositions were taken and we had Mrs. Stafford and Major Stafford waiting in this room, waiting to have their depositions taken, and they were out there for a very long time and Mr. Penick went out two or three times and told them that they had to commence taking depositions; I believe that he told them finally that if they did not commence that he was going to adjourn—that we were there pursuant to notice and that he was going to hold them to it; and while they were out there Mr. Blakeney and I began to wonder why they were going to take so long and I don't know which one suggested it, maybe Mr. Blakeney or myself, that maybe the Doctor's testimony was against them, and so we determined to find out, in case they let Doctor Carpenter go; so Mr. Blakeney and I stood at the doorway of the room we were in and pretty soon the doorway to this little room opened and Doctor Carpenter and Mr. German—I don't know whether Mr. Allen, came out that door or not, but Mr. German and Doctor Carpenter did, and Mr. Blakeney and I went down the hall after him and I spoke to Mr. German and asked him if that was Doctor Carpenter and he said yes; and I called to Doctor Carpenter and I told him to wait a minute—he was part of the way down the hall, and I asked Mr. German if they were going to use him, and he said no, they couldn't use him; and so I went on down the hall, Mr. Blakeney went with me, and I said, Doctor, did they dismiss you; and he said, yes they told me I could go; they couldn't use me; and I said you come back here and I am going to put you on the stand, I am going to find out why. Mr. Blakeney told me that I ought to talk to him first because I—that I shouldn't put him on the stand without talking to him, and I told him no, I would take my chance. I put him on the stand and I led up to——

Mr. German: That is immaterial; we object.

The Court: The rest that occurred is in the record?

Mr. Hanford: Yes, Your Honor.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. You say that you had learned about Doctor and his mental condition, and had learned something about it before we got to San Diego?

A. Why, that was when the case first came up.

Q. I see.

A. And I went to Leavenworth one time and I might find the——

Q. Well, I don't care anything about the details; you say it is a fact that you had.

A. I had learned of his—Peterkin, I believe told me that Doctor Carpenter——

Q. Was the Doctor?

A. Was the one and when I got back to Leavenworth from that trip to Massachusetts——

Q. I am getting at the facts of your finding out that the Doctor was probably mentally—you had learned there was something the matter with him, hadn't you?

A. Yes, that he was not available as a witness.

Q. Yes? Yes, on account of his probable mental condition. Now, Mr. Hanford, you knew that Doctor Carpenter was going to testify for us that this was Minnie's first child and you learned that before we reached Fort Logan on our road? A. I did not.

Q. Don't you remember about us—let me ask you this; as we took that deposition taking trip, that first one, through Denver up to Seattle and down the western coast to San Diego where Doctor Carpenter lived, don't there you remember there at Fort Logan we took the depositions of the men who kept the records or who was the custodian of the records about births, showing births at Fort Logan, and among the records we introduced was the birth of Nancy Peterkin, and that that record showed a certificate of a Doctor there which showed that Nancy was Minnie's first child and that we commented on that as being rather peculiar that we knew that Minnie had had another child named Robert Lee?

A. I don't remember any comment upon it.

Q. And we commented about Doctor Carpenter at the time?

A. Well, if you want me to answer the question, Mr. German, I will give them to you. I don't remember any comments on them. I remember the testimony and incidents of taking the testimony but I have no recollection of commenting upon it. In fact, I don't believe I ever discussed the evidence with you in one particular on that trip.

Q. Didn't we mention Doctor Carpenter and laugh a little about it there? A. Not with me.

Q. Let me ask you this; as we were approaching San Diego on the train, didn't you tell Judge Allen and myself or Mr. Blakeney, or some of us, that Doctor Carpenter, you probably would be able to prove by several physicians that Doctor Carpenter was not very strong minded and that his testimony therefore would do us no good?

A. I have no recollection of telling you that. I may have because that was my impression at that time.

Q. You had been to see Mrs. Carpenter there in Leavenworth? A. I never had.

Q. Didn't you tell either Judge Allen or myself, or Mr. Blakeney, or when we were together, that when we put Doctor Carpenter on the witness stand that you would prove that he was insane? A. I did not.

Q. You did not? A. I did not.

Q. When we got to San Diego, and had Doctor Carpenter up there as a witness, you asked us the night before if we were going to subpoena him, or if we had subpoenaed him?

A. I think his name was on the list of witnesses, Mr. German.

Q. You had seen it in the list filed in court?

A. And I don't remember asking you about that; I remember asking you if you had found Major Stafford, and I think you told me that you had.

Q. Well, you don't remember about asking whether we had found Doctor Carpenter and subpoenaed him?

A. No, I don't.

Q. Alright. On the next morning when we went to the Federal Building there, isn't it true that I talked with Doctor Carpenter and Judge Allen talked to Doctor Carpenter at least we were all in the room?

A. We were all in there together.

Q. And while Mrs. Stafford, or Mr. Stafford was testifying that I, Judge Allen having examined them, that I came out and that you asked me some questions about Doctor Carpenter? A. No, I don't recall about that.

Q. Weren't you passing around there a little and asking me some questions about that Doctor Carpenter?

A. I don't remember your coming out of the room at all, Mr. German.

Q. Don't you remember you asked me what is the matter, is there something wrong with Doctor Carpenter?

A. No, I don't think anything like that occurred.

Q. You asked me something?

A. I don't remember you coming out of the room at all. I remember Mr. Penick going into the room.

Q. And you do remember you said has Doctor gone—don't let him go away until I can see him—don't you?

A. I may have.

Q. And afterwards, Doctor and I walked out of the little room and you and Mr. Blakeney were in the hall and you took him? A. Yes.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, MILTON WEBSTER was produced as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant, Minnie Atkins, et al., and having been first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. What is your name? A. Milton Webster.
Q. How old are you, Milton? A. Fifty-one.
Q. What is your business? A. Express business.
Q. Do you own your own teams? A. I do.
Q. How many? A. Two.
Q. Where do you operate? A. Ninth and State Line.
Q. Kansas City?
A. Kansas City, Kansas, Kansas City, Mo., right on the line.
Q. Did you ever live in Leavenworth? A. I did yes, sir.
Q. Did you live there in the eighties? A. Sir?
Q. Did you live there in the eighties?
A. In the eighties, yes, sir.
Q. Did you ever know an Indian girl there?
A. I did, yes, sir.
Q. What was her name? A. Called her Indian Minnie.
Q. Where did you know her?
A. At Mrs. Letcher's, at Granny Letcher's.
Q. Where was that?
A. On Seneca between Second and Third.
Q. When was that, what year?
A. Well, that is kind of hard to tell what year, but between '85 and '86; about eighty-five or eighty-six.
Q. Did you ever see her in a condition that was not normal? A. I have, yes, sir.
Q. How did she look?
A. Well, she looked like she was about ready to go to bed when I saw her last.
Q. You mean that she was in a family way? A. Yes, sir.
Q. What time of year was that?
A. I tell you the last time I seen her in that condition was on the 30th day of May, '85.
Q. How did she look, far gone? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you ever hear of her having any children?
A. I did, yes, sir.
Q. Did you ever see her with any children?

A. I seen the child after it was born.

Mr. German: Move to strike his answer that he had heard of her having children.

The Court: That will not be considered.

Q. Did you ever see her have any children?

A. Why, she had this baby boy there.

Q. How long after you had seen her in this pregnant condition?

A. Oh, I seen the boy, I guess he was about a year old, eleven or twelve months old the last time I saw the boy.

Q. The first time you saw her with this child how old was he? A. I guess he was about four or five weeks old.

Q. And about how long was that after you had seen her in this pregnant condition? A. It wasn't very long.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about this child?

A. I have, yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever ask her whose child it was?

A. I have, yes, sir.

Q. What did she tell you?

Mr. Linebaugh: That is objected to.

The Court: Overruled. Your exception will be noted.

A. Said it was hers.

Q. What did she tell you? A. Said it was hers.

Q. The last time you saw the child you say it was a year or so old?

A. Yes, eleven or twelve months, crawling around all over the floor.

Q. Did you go away from Leavenworth?

A. I did, yes, sir.

Q. When was that?

A. I went away from Leavenworth in '87.

Q. Did you ever see the child after that? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever see Indian Minnie after that?

A. No, sir.

Q. When did you come back?

A. I went away in the fall of '87 and come back in the spring, no it was June I went back to Leavenworth, but I came back to Kansas City in the spring.

Q. And did you go around Granny Letcher's any more after that? A. I don't think I did.

Q. Are you married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you marry with reference to the time you came back to Leavenworth?

A. I married in June, along in June in '88 when I married.

Q. You didn't go around Letcher's any more? A. No.

Q. What kind of a looking child was this?

A. Oh, it was a little red looking child, looked like it was kind of mixed.

Q. What name would you say it belonged to from its looks?

A. Well, it looked like it partly belonged to the Indian race, I don't think it was full blood.

Q. Did you ever hear any name given to the child?

A. I don't remember the name they would call the child now, it has been so long ago.

Mr. Hanford: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Your name is Newton, who?

A. My name is Milton Webster.

Q. And you left Leavenworth in 1887?

A. I did, yes, sir.

Q. The fall of the year? A. The fall of the year.

Q. What month, do you remember?

A. I think it was November.

Q. November? A. I think so.

Q. How long before you left Leavenworth had it been since you had seen this child?

A. Well, I don't really know, I don't remember now.

Q. About how long?

A. Oh, it might have been a couple of months, or a month, it has been so long I don't remember.

Q. It was in a month or two? A. Yes, sir, I think so.

Q. And that was the last time you saw the child?

A. The last time I seen it.

Q. And it was at that time eleven or twelve months old?

A. It was crawling.

Q. It was not walking? A. No, sir.

Q. That is your best judgment?

A. That is my best judgment, yes, sir.

Q. And the last time you saw the child was either in September or October, 1887?

A. Oh, it was along in the fall sometime, I don't remember what month, it was probably—— Yes, it was in '87.

Q. And you left in November?

A. I think so, I don't remember.

Q. What did you do when you lived at Leavenworth?

A. Hauled rocks, hauled coal, hauled sand.

Q. For whom did you work?

A. Billy Yoakum, Mike Stanton, Kelley.

Q. Where did you live?

A. I lived out on Franklin Avenue, in my young days with my folks.

Q. When you say you saw this woman with the child first where were you living?

A. I was living on Franklin Avenue.

Q. What place on Franklin Avenue?

A. My father's place. There was no number there, it was away out in the edge of town.

Q. Who were you living with?

A. Living with my father and mother.

Q. How old were you?

A. I was about eighteen I guess, or nineteen.

Q. When were you born? A. 1865.

Q. Where?

A. About four or five miles west of Leavenworth.

Q. Where was it you say you saw this woman with the child? A. On Seneca Street.

Q. What place on Seneca Street? A. Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. Granny Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The child was then how old?

A. Oh, I guess it was four or five weeks old when I first seen it.

Q. Was she in the house or out of the house?

A. She was in the house.

Q. Where in the house?

A. I think she was in the kitchen, that is where I went.

Q. Was she in the kitchen? A. I think she was.

Q. What was she doing? A. Sitting down.

Q. Where was the child? A. Mrs. Letcher had it.

Q. Then, the child wasn't with this woman?

A. Mrs. Letcher had the child nursing it from a bottle.

Q. The child nursed a bottle did it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was Granny Letcher with the child?

A. She was in the kitchen.

Q. Who else was in the kitchen?

A. Well, I don't remember now, I think there was a boy or two; I think probably Sammy or Walter, and I think another one.

Q. Sammy and Walter? A. Sammy Nash.

Q. How old was he?

A. I guess he was twelve or thirteen years.

Q. Walter, who do you mean?

A. One of the old lady's grandchildren, he was four or five years old, I guess.

Q. What was his name? A. Walter.

Q. Walter, who?

A. Now, I don't know what other name he went by.
Q. What time of day was it?
A. Well, it was in the afternoon then.
Q. What kind of a day was it, clear day or rainy?
A. Yes, I guess it was clear day.
Q. You remember that? A. I think so.
Q. What kind of a day was the day before?
A. Well, now, I don't remember, it is so far back.
Q. Why do you remember the conditions that day?
A. That was decoration day on that day.
Q. What day was that? A. Thirtieth of May.
Q. The thirtieth of May. What did you do that day?
A. I didn't do anything only walked around.
Q. Was this in the morning or afternoon? A. Afternoon.
Q. What had you been doing? A. That day?
Q. Yes?
A. Oh, I went up to the fort and out to the soldiers' homes.
Q. Who with?
A. Went by myself, I think, I most always went by myself.
Q. Well, did you go by yourself that day? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Ride or walk? A. I rode.
Q. How did you go? A. Horseback.
Q. Do you remember all those details?
A. I remember that part.
Q. What did you do the day after?
A. I hauled rocks, I don't know for sure.
Q. You don't know what you did the day after?
A. No, I don't.
Q. What did you do the day before?
A. I don't remember what I did the day after or the day before.
Q. What did you do on Decoration Day, '84? A. 1884?
Q. Yes? A. I most always went out——
Q. No, what did you do that day? A. I don't remember.
Q. What did you do on Decoration Day, 1886?
A. I don't remember whether I did anything or not.
Q. What kind of a day was it on Decoration Day, 1886?
A. That is too far back.
Q. What did you do on Decoration Day, 1887? A. 1887?
Q. Yes, what did you do the 30th day of May, 1887?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Was that a bright day or rainy day?
A. I don't remember that either.
Q. Now, Milton, did you ever see anybody else with a baby about that time? A. Anybody else?
Q. Yes, any other woman with a little baby?

A. Oh, I have seen other little babies, but not in around there.

Q. Where did you see them?

A. I see them often, see a woman with a little baby.

Q. All right, tell us about one that you saw about that time?

A. Oh, I don't remember any certain woman, but then there was lots of babies around at that time.

Q. A good big town? A. No, small place.

Q. How large was it then?

A. About twenty thousand I guess, twenty-two.

Q. And you have seen lots of women with babies about that time? A. Yes, sir, and before too.

Q. Can you tell us the circumstances under which you saw any one of them? A. Any one of the babies?

Q. Yes?

A. No. I see them carrying them on the street.

Q. Just tell us the particular circumstance of your having seen any one woman with a baby about four or five weeks old?

> The Court: Do you remember any circumstance of a woman with a baby about that time, except the one at Granny Letcher's; do you remember any other?

A. No, not around there.

Q. Why do you remember this was May 30th, 1885?

A. Why, because that was Decoration day and I know it happened that day.

Q. There was a Decoration Day happened in 1884?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And one in 1886?

A. Yes, but things didn't happen on that day.

Q. Now, what happened on this day to make you remember the year on which it occurred?

A. That was the day Broaddus shot Jobson, and I was just across the street when that was did.

Q. Why does that shooting scrape make you remember the year?

A. Well, because it does. I have heard it argued so much about the time it was did, and I was well acquainted with Broaddus at that time.

Q. Well, was there any shooting scrape happened in 1884?

A. Not as I know of.

Q. 1886? A. Maybe they did, I don't know.

Q. Leavenworth was a pretty lively town at that time?

A. Leavenworth was a good town, a good town at that time.

Q. A good many difficulties occurred?

A. Oh, once in a while.

Q. There were other men shot at other than this Broaddus, wasn't there, more shooting scrapes than one?

A. Yes, but I never knew anyone to get killed around there.

Q. Well, tell us one?

A. I don't remember anybody getting shot there.

Q. Were you a witness in this Broaddus case?

A. No, sir.

Q. Do you know Rube Smith? A. I do.

Q. Know him pretty well? A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. When did he get shot up there?

A. When he got shot at?

Q. Yes, anybody shot at him? A. I think they did.

Q. When was that? A. I don't remember.

Q. He was a pretty good friend of yours? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you can't remember the year?

A. I don't remember because it has slipped my mind.

Q. This baby, at that time, was how old in your judgment? A. At what time are you speaking about?

Q. When you first saw it?

A. Must have been four or five weeks old.

Q. When you next saw it it was eleven or twelve months?

A. Must have been, it was a good big baby crawling around the last time I saw it.

Q. How many times had you seen that woman that you saw in the kitchen there?

A. What woman are you speaking about?

Q. Well, what woman are you talking about?

A. I thought you were asking about Minnie, asked me how many times I had seen her.

Q. How many times had you seen that woman that you said gave birth to the baby?

A. Oh, God, I don't know, I have seen her lots of times.

Q. You knew her pretty well?

A. I knew her by sight pretty well.

Q. Well, how long had you been knowing her?

A. Now, I don't really know.

Q. About how long?

A. I knew her I expect a year and a half or two years.

Q. Year and a half or two years? A. Something like that.

Q. Where did you first get acquainted with her?

A. Well, the first time I ever seen her I wasn't acquainted with her.

Q. Well, where was she, where did you first see her?

A. I seen her down on Cherokee Street the first time I ever seen her.

Q. Where? A. Granny Letcher's.

Q. At Granny Letcher's on Cherokee Street? A. I did.

Q. And you would see her there continuously?

A. I seen her there once or twice, I think. I know I did.

Q. That was about a year and a half before you saw her with a baby, or two years? A. No, it wasn't that long.

Q. How long was it about?

A. Oh, it might have been nine or ten months, something like that.

Q. You said a while ago you had known her for a year and a half or two years before that. Is that true, Milton? That is what you said, about a year and a half, something like that?

A. About a year and a half, something like that, it has been so long; that has been over thirty years ago you know.

Q. What I want to get at is where you saw her the first time? A. At Granny Letcher's I told you.

Q. You say that was nine or ten months before you saw her with the child?

A. You see it wasn't long after that before Granny Letcher moved up on Seneca Street.

Q. Well, did you say you had first seen her a year and a half or two years before you saw her with the child?

A. No, sir, you asked a while ago how long I knew her and I said a year and a half or two years.

Q. Then, your acquaintance with her all together was a year and a half or two years? A. About that time, yes, sir.

Q. And how long then before you saw her with the child was it that you first saw her? A. I don't remember.

Q. Could you tell us approximately?

A. No, I could not. I wouldn't say because I don't remember. I don't like to say anything unless I know I am right you know.

Q. Did she live there at Granny's?

A. Now, that is another question I won't answer. Dest every time I went there she was there.

Q. How long before you saw her with the child was it that you first noticed her staying around at Granny Letcher's?

A. Why, she had the child I think at Granny Letcher's.

Q. How long before she had the child had you first noticed her staying around there?

A. How long before she had the child?

Q. Yes, was it that you first began to notice her staying around there?

A. Let me see: Well, she was— She was around on Cherokee Street, whether she stayed there or not I don't know.

Q. Well, how long was that before you saw her with the child?

A. I had seen her there in the fall of the year and she never had this child until away along next summer or spring.

Q. You saw her around Granny Letcher's in the fall before that?

A. Yes, that was in the fall and she had this child along about June I think when she had this child.

Q. Would you see her around Granny's in the daytime or at night? A. Daytime and night too.

Q. She stayed there apparently? A. I don't know.

Q. Did you ever go there that you didn't see her?

A. Yes, I have.

Q. How many times? A. I don't know.

Q. You would usually see her, is that right?

A. I would usually see her.

Q. Did that continue from the fall before you saw her with the child up until after you saw her with the child?

A. I wouldn't say whether every time, no I have seen her sometimes, and sometimes I would go there and wouldn't see her.

Q. How do you know she gave birth to this child?

A. Well, I couldn't swear she gave birth to it, nobody else but her.

Q. You know whose child that was, do you, Milton?

A. Well, now, I wouldn't swear.

Q. You didn't see the childbirth? A. No, sir.

Q. You never saw her nursing the child?

A. No, I didn't see that.

Q. You never saw her nursing any other child, did you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you told Mr. Hanford, I believe, that you saw her in a pregnant condition once? A. I did, yes.

Q. When was that?

A. Why, she was in a pregnant condition on the 30th of May when I seen her.

Q. I thought you said that day the baby was four or five weeks old? A. No, I did not.

Q. Was it on that day she was in a pregnant condition?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then, Granny Letcher didn't have the baby in her arms nursing it out of a bottle? A. No, sir.

Q. What day was that?

A. That was four or five weeks after that I went by the house.

Q. Who else was there?

A. Well, I don't remember who else was there; I know this woman Minnie was there, and I know Jim Mayo.

Q. Where were they?

The Court: He has testified on cross examination that they were in the kitchen.

Mr. Linebaugh: My understanding is he testified that they were in the kitchen on the 30th day of May.

The Court: I understood that the kitchen incident was when he saw this baby?

A. Yes, that is right, too.

Q. Well, what was it you saw on Decoration Day?

A. Why, I seen the woman there and I seen Mrs. Letcher there.

Q. Where was she that day?

A. Minnie, where was she at? She was at Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. Where about? A. In the kitchen.

Q. On Decoration Day?

A. On Decoration Day, Granny was in there, too.

Q. Granny was in there, too? A. Yes.

Q. Who else?

A. No, I don't remember who else was in there; me and her son Jim went there together and I think one or two of the boys were there, maybe one or two of them.

Q. What was Minnie doing that day?

A. Sitting down; wasn't able to do anything else.

Q. What was Granny doing? A. Who?

Q. Granny Letcher?

A. I don't really know wher she was doing; working around the kitchen doing something. I never paid much attention to what she was doing that day.

Q. What time of day was it that you saw her in a pregnant condition?

A. In the afternoon, I told you.

Q. What time of day was it you went there and saw her with the child?

A. I am most sure that it was in the evening; I hardly ever worked——

Q. What kind of day was it, a bright day or a rainy day when you saw her with the child?

A. I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember that? A. No.

Q. Milton, how long have you been living over at Kansas City? A. A little over ten years.

Q. Where did you live after you left Leavenworth?

A. After I left Leavenworth?

Q. Yes?

A. When I moved away from Leavenworth, I moved to Kansas City, Kansas.

Q. Well, how long did you live there?

A. Kansas City, Kansas?

Q. Yes? A. I am living there now.

Q. That is over ten years ago, isn't it?

A. Eleven years this fall.

Q. Eleven years this fall since '87 to 1917? You think it is eleven years?

A. Oh, 1887, I went to Tennessee and stayed four or five months after that, and then I came back to Kansas City, Kansas, and then back to Leavenworth and stayed—bought a place in Leavenworth since that.

Q. Well, where did you go when you left Leavenworth in November, 1887? A. Tennessee, Memphis.

Q. How long did you stay there? A. About 4 months.

Q. Then where did you go?

A. Back to Kansas City, Kansas.

Q. How long did you stay there? A. Three.

Q. Then where did you go? A. Leavenworth.

Q. How long did you stay? A. At Leavenworth?

Q. Yes? A. Oh, I stayed after that, I guess I stayed there ten years or something.

Q. Did you see Minnie when you went back? A. No, sir.

Q. Never saw her afterwards? Who did you first talk to about this, Milton? A. Who did I first tell?

Q. Yes? A. I don't know that I told anybody.

Q. Well, have you? A. What?

Q. Well, have you told anybody?

A. Not outside, I haven't, no.

Q. What? A. Not outside I haven't, no.

Q. What do you mean by outside?

A. Outside of the court.

Q. You never told anybody about what you know about this outside of the courtroom? A. Not all of it.

Q. This courtroom? A. Not all of it, no, sir.

Q. When you say outside of the courtroom, do you mean this courtroom? A. Yes, sir, I mean this courtroom.

Q. You never told anybody about what you knew about this case before you came in this courtroom?

A. Oh, I was asked several things; people knew I knew something about it.

Q. Alright, what were you asked first?

A. I didn't tell it all, no; I didn't tell all I knew about it. All I could think about it; I didn't want to have anything to do with it.

Q. Why?

A. Hardly best, running around such things as this.

Q. Why? A. My time is worth more at home.

Q. How much are you getting here? A. I don't know.

Q. Why then, do you say your time is worth more at home?

A. I know at home it is worth four and a half and five dollars a day and I don't know what I am getting here.

Q. How did you happen to come here?

A. They told me to come here, sent me here.

Q. Who sent you here?

A. Mr. Graham and Mr. Long sent me here.

Q. What Mr. Long?

A. Lawyer, I guess, Leavenworth; I don't know his name at all.

Q. A lawyer in Leavenworth, Mr. Frank Long?

A. Maybe that is his name. I don't know.

Q. What Mr. Graham? A. Who?

Q. What Mr. Graham? A. Pomp.

Q. Up there at Leavenworth? A. Yes.

Q. Well, when did they send you here?

A. I got here Tuesday morning; left Kansas City at 9:35 Monday night.

Q. Well, did you tell them what you knew?

A. Well, I didn't tell them all I knew, no.

Q. What did you tell them?

A. Several things they asked me if I knew, that really Pomp knew that I knew, and I told him yes I did know.

Q. Where was you when you were telling him that?

A. I was at my house 41 North First Street, Kansas City, Kansas.

A. When? A. Last fall.

Q. What time last fall?

A. I don't remember what time it was, it was on a Sunday but I don't remember what month or the day of the month. All I know, last fall; I never put it down or thought any more about it. I thought it was all over with and never thought any more about it.

Q. Can you tell us the months anything happened in a year ago?

A. I could if I paid any attention to it. I didn't pay any attention to it, I didn't think there was a thing to it—I think it was in October.

Q. What time of the month?

A. It was on a Sunday; I don't know what day of the month it was.

Q. Milton, what did you do last Decoration Day?

A. Last Decoration Day? Run my wagon, both of them.

Q. Do you remember it pretty well? A. I remember it.

Q. What kind of day was it, Milton, Decoration Day last year? A. Well, part of it I think was cloudy.

Q. What part of it?

A. I think the forenoon if I remember it right.

Q. Did Mr. Long and this man Graham come to your house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did they say to you first thing when they came in?

A. Asked if this is where I lived and I said this is where I live, and they said were looking for me all day at the stand where you stand at and I said at Ninth and State line, and they said they wanted to see me bad, and I went outside and talked to them.

Q. Go ahead. A. That is far enough, isn't it?

Q. No, I want you to tell all that was said.

A. Well, he asked me did I remember anything about Indian Minnie and I said yes I remember her alright, and he said do you remember her having a child and I said yes, I remember that; and they said you don't remember just what time and I said no, and I don't just remember what time but I knew her before she had the child and seen her afterwards.

Q. What else? A. That is about all I told them.

Q. That is all you told? A. I think so.

Q. What did they say to you?

A. Well, they said we may need you, we will let you know when we need you, and they waited so long I didn't think there was anything to it. I paid it no kind of mind at all.

Q. When did you next hear from anybody about this case? A. When did I next hear from them?

Q. Well. Q. Well, it was Monday evening about 6:30.

Q. This last Monday? A. Yes.

Q. What happened then?

A. Well, they were on my stand waiting for me when I drove in.

Q. Who was? A. Mr. Graham.

Q. Anybody else? A. I never seen nobody else.

Q. What did Mr. Graham say?

A. Said I want you to go to Oklahoma tonight.

Q. Is that all he said?

A. That is all he said to me. You meet me at the depot at 9 o'clock tonight, be sure and be there, he said, I have got to look after some more men; be sure to meet me there and I will send you down tonight.

Q. Down where?

A. Oklahoma. He hadn't told me what part of Oklahoma; he said Oklahoma, then.

Q. Go ahead.

A. He said you be sure [] be there tonight; and I said I can't be gone over a day or two and he said well, you won't be gone over three days at the longest.

Q. What else happened?

A. That is all I know happened. He went away and got tickets and give me and two other fellows.

Q. What other two fellows?

A. One fellow named Bell, Louis Bell, I believe, and other fellow named Phil something; I know both fellows.

Q. You all came down together?

A. All came down together.

Q. You all talk on the train? A. No, we didn't.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. Well, when I first got on the train, I didn't really know these fellows, I thought I knew them but I wasn't sure.

Q. They negroes also, were they? A. No, sir.

Q. They white men? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Alright, go ahead. Did you get acquainted with them on the train?

A. Come to find out I was acquainted with them before I got on the train, I knew them at Leavenworth.

Q. You all talk?

A. Well, we didn't talk so much; didn't have a chance to talk much.

Q. Why did you talk?

A. Time we got to talking, I had to change cars.

Q. Got down towards Oklahoma? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You got here Tuesday morning, did you?

A. Tuesday morning, yes, sir.

Q. Where did you go to?

A. Well; the first place I went to was down in front of this courthouse here.

Q. Who did you talk to?

A. I hadn't talked to anyone and didn't see anyone I knew and I went down on south Second street and went to a restaurant and got my breakfast and stayed down around there until about half past eleven o'clock that day.

Q. Who have you talked to since you have been here, Milton? A. Where? Here?

Q. Yes.

A. I don't know the people, I am not acquainted here; I am a stranger talking to a lot of people here.

Q. About this case, your testimony.

The Court: Go on Webster, and state who you have talked to about this case, as quick as you can.

A. Well, I talked to a lawyer about it; his name, I don't know.

The Court: Is he in the courtroom?

A. I think he is.

Q. Point him out. A. There he sets right over there.

A. Mr. Hanford. Anybody else? A. No, I haven't.

Q. Were you ever arrested? A. I was arrested, yes, sir.

Q. What for?

A. Oh, I have been arrested for family troubles.

Q. Did you ever serve a term in prison?

A. Never served no term, never served one day, never paid no fine, either.

Q. Never had a trial?

A. I have had trial but I never paid no fines, never had none to pay.

Q. Milton, on Decoration Day 1885, where was Granny Letcher living? A. 1885?

Q. Yes. A. Living on Seneca between Second and Third.

Q. How long had she been living there?

A. Well, she moved there early in the spring; now, I don't really know what month she moved there but I know she moved there early in the spring.

Q. Moved there to that place from Cherokee early in the spring of 1885, is that right? A. I think she did, yes.

Q. Do you know Lillie White? A. Lillie White?

Q. Yes?

A. No, I knew Lillie Evans, maybe that is the one; they called her Lillie White part of the time.

Q. Did you know a woman who ran a sporting house?

A. Yes, down on Choctaw, yes.

Q. Did she ever run a sporting house on Seneca street?

A. Who, Lillie White?

Q. Yes. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where?

A. On the corner, I think of Third and Seneca; either Third and Seneca or Fourth and Seneca.

Q. That woman's name was Stella Forrest, wasn't it?

A. Stella Forrest?

Q. Stella Forrest that used to run the sporting house on the corner—— A. Stella used to run one there too, yes.

Q. Now, where did Lillie White run her sporting house in the spring of 1885?

A. I really don't know now where she did run it; she had one there alright enough, but I don't remember where she had it now.

Q. She did live in Leavenworth at that time, didn't she?

A. I think she did.

Q. Now, Milton, who else was living in the house there at 217 Seneca street besides Granny Letcher, anybody?

A. Not as I know of, herself.

Q. That is the only person that you saw living there?

A. Her children and this woman she might have lived there as far as I know, but I seen her while she lived there.

Q. You saw her there frequently covering a period of how many months, Milton? Let's condense it, now and see?

The Court: Who was this? Minnie?

Mr. Linebaugh: Minnie, Indian Minnie.

Q. Covering a period of how many months?

The Court: He has stated; made it a year and a half or two years, stated that on cross examination, now, already, the entire period of seeing her there.

Q. Describe that house, Webster.

A. It was an old frame house.

Q. Faced there on Seneca stret?

A. Faced on Seneca street.

Q. Went right off of the side walk, right off of the street right into the house?

A. I don't remember now how it was, I can tell you what house was on the—I think there [] a barn or brick house on the corner and there was an old rock foundation or house right next to the corner. It was the third house from the corner where she lived.

Q. Two-story house? A. Story and a half.

Q. And right on the street line? A. Close to the street.

Q. Faced the street? A. Faced the street.

Cross Examination by Mr. Rosser.

Q. You were married in 1888, you stated? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are sure about that? It is June '88?

A. I guess it was '88; I think, yes, June '88.

Q. Well, you remember the circumstance of getting married; getting the license and all that don't you?

A. It was in June '88, I know.

Q. You know that? A. Yes.

Q. I believe you stated that you saw this child the previous fall didn't you; you left Leavenworth the fall before you got married, didn't you? A. I left Leavenworth in 1887.

Q. Well, in the fall before you married the next June, wasn't that what you stated? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is right, isn't it? And you saw the child about the time you left Leavenworth, or shortly before?

A. No, it was quite a while before I left Leavenworth before I seen the child, you know.

Q. White a while? A. Yes, probably a month or two.

Q. Month or two, probably a month or two or three months before you left there that you saw the child?

A. Saw the child.

Q. And at that time it was crawling?

A. Yes, it was crawling.

Q. And it was not walking?

A. Yes, they said it was not walking.

Q. You saw it crawling and it appeared to be a child eleven or twelve months at that time, that is right, isn't it?

A. Must be right.

Q. Did you ever see Minnie anywhere except at Granny Letcher's?

A. Saw her on the street several times; seen her in the opera house lots of times.

Q. You saw her at the opera house? A. I did, yes.

Q. Saw her with colored people at the opera house?

A. I did, yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know where she was staying at that time except that you saw her occasionally at Granny Letcher's?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. How many times did you see them feeding this baby?

A. Well, I didn't really live there, Mr. Rosser.

Q. I am asking you how many times you saw them feeding this baby? A. I don't know.

Q. At that time it was four or five weeks old?

A. Yes, sir, nursing the bottle then.

Q. They were feeding it with the bottle? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never saw Minnie in company of white men on the street, did you?

A. Seen her in the hack with white men.

Q. How often?

A. I don't know; I seen her once, I know; maybe more than once, I don't know.

Q. And you did see her with colored men at the threatre and other places? A. I have, yes, sir.

Q. How often?

A. Oh, I don't know, it has been so long. Seen her more than one time, though, I know that; I can't tell how many times I seen her because I might tell something that isn't so.

Q. Prior to the time and after the birth of this baby?

A. Before and after too.

Q. With colored men? A. Yes.

Q. At the theatre and other places?

A. Seen them on the street with her.

Q. Before and after the birth of this child, but you don't remember seeing her with white men but once or twice and that was in a hack?

A. I remember seeing her going to the Fort with a white man; the hack that went towards the Fort with a white man—I seen that.

Q. Wasn't Granny Letcher the negro house of prostitution and assignation house?

A. I wouldn't say nothing about that; the old lady worked all the time; done washing, you know.

Q. You wouldn't want to injure her character at this late day by testifying to that? A. No.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, court takes an adjournment until 10 o'clock A. M., Monday, May 21, 1917.

And thereafter, and on May 21, 1917, at 10 o'clock A. M., court convened pursuant to adjournment and further proceedings herein were had as follows:

ADOLF LANGE, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. Adolf Lange.
Q. Where do you live, Mr. Lange? A. Leavenworth.
Q. How long have you lived in Leavenworth, Kansas?
A. I came to Leavenworth in '66.
Q. '66? A. April.
Q. Where were you before you came to Leavenworth?
A. Army—United States Army.
Q. Where did you serve? Under whom?
A. I served in the 4th New York Cavalry.
Q. Under whom?
A. Under various commanders; Sherman, Smith and Custer.
Q. Sherman, Smith and Custer? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You served in the Shenandoah Valley command?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. When were you mustered out? A. May 26, '65.
Q. Did you go to Leavenworth then?
A. No, I found employment in the City of New York, traveled for a wholesale drug house.
Q. What has been your business since you came to Leavenworth?

A. When I came to Leavenworth, I found employment in the drug store there, which I own now.

Q. How long have you owned the drug business there?

A. I bought the store in 1880 but before that I was employed in the Commissary department at Fort Leavenworth as clerk and examining chemist.

Q. In the United States Office there?

A. Yes, in the chief commissary.

Q. Where did you live about 1884 and '85 in Leavenworth?

A. Over my store on the corner of Fourth and Shawnee.

Q. Where was your store located?

A. On the corner of Fourth and Shawnee.

Q. Fourth and Shawnee? A. Yes.

Q. Did you live there after you were married?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Lived there with you wife?

A. Yes; lived there with my wife and children.

Q. Do you remember when you moved in there with your wife over your store? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About when? A. In '81.

Q. '81. Mr. Lange, did you know an Indian woman in Leavenworth by the name of Indian Minnie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Had you seen her a good many times, or very seldom?

A. Oh, I saw her quite often.

Q. Did you know a woman there by the name of Mollie Peters? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was Mollie Peters, Mr. Lange?

A. She was an old woman who made an existence by telling fortunes and making charms.

Q. What kind of looking woman was she?

A. She was a fair woman, with narrow features, and dark eyes; in her younger days she must have been a very good looking woman. She was illiterate.

Q. Illiterate? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see a woman known as Indian Minnie with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they ever come into your store? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of purchases would this fortune teller made in your store?

A. Well, a decoction I prepared for her, a blackberry, blackberry root and blackberries and alcohol.

Q. What for? A. Oh, a small amount of alcohol.

Q. What did you give it to her for?

A. It was for bowel trouble; she was suffering from chronic diarrhoea and dysentery.

Q. Mr. Lange, did you have occasion to make a trip abroad at any time in '84, or '85?

A. I left Leavenworth for a trip to my old home in Saxony, in June '84.

Q. In June '84?

A. Yes. I can tell the date when we left. Here is all I could find of that—Mrs. Lange's little note book.

The Court: What is this man's age?

Q. What is your age, Mr. Lange? A. 73, going on 74.

Q. You think the date was in June, do you?

A. The date is in here (referring to memorandum book).

Q. What steamship did you go on? A. The Servia.

Q. And did you visit various places in Europe at the time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Name some of them?

A. London, Liverpool; stayed a couple of weeks in London; from there to Dover Town, and we crossed the channel over to Calias; from Calias to Cologne; from Cologne to Leipsic; from Leipsic to Dresden; then we took a trip up the Rhine to Switzerland.

Mr. Stuart: Now, Your Honor, I want the privilege, if I can find those exhibits, of introducing them. We had the receipted hotel bills from London, Dresden, and these places.

The Court: Well, if you find them, the matter can be disposed of.

Mr. Allen: The examiner was supposed to have them.

Mr. Stuart: Did you see them?

Mr. Allen: I saw them at the trial.

Mr. German: I don't think you offered them in evidence, did you, Judge.

Mr. Stuart: I don't know.

Mr. German: You didn't introduce them is my recollection, I don't know what became of them.

Q. Now, what time did you return from Europe, in 1884?

A. In September same year, latter part of September.

Q. Of the same year. Mr. Lange, I will ask you if any time after that you saw Indian Minnie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you if after that you saw her in a pregnant condition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, state to the court when it was?

A. That was in the year following, in '85.

Q. What time in '85? A. Well, it was warm weather.

Q. How do you know it was warm weather?

A. Because I waited on the woman myself. She was there with Aunt Mollie, and she was scantily dressed, thinly dressed and I could see that she was highly pregnant. The front doors were open, so it was warm weather.

Q. Is there anything that calls your attention particularly to that— I asked if you made any peculiar purchases when you were in New York?

A. I bought little samples for my store, among them was pocketbooks.

Q. Was there anything peculiar among the pocketbooks?

A. There was two or three peculiar shaped, to open them you pressed at both opposite ends and it would fly open leaving a square opening.

Q. Do you remember whether one of these pocketbooks was purchased by Minnie?

A. Minnie bought one of those pocketbooks.

Q. Did you have that pocketbook when we were at the trial up yonder? A. I had a duplicate.

Q. Where did the duplicate come from?

A. I had that duplicate in my store for sometime, and thinking it was a slow seller I took it out and used it to carry sinkers on my fishing trips.

Q. You used this book to carry your leads in?

A. Yes, cut shot.

Q. Did that pocketbook you say open on the side?

A. From both ends you pressed it from both ends and it would fly open.

Q. State to the court whether you remember selling that to Indian Minnie?

A. Yes, sir. Aunt Mollie was present and she saw it.

Q. Do you recall, Mr. Lange, anything about some change with reference to that pocketbook?

A. Yes, I remember she gave me a half dollar. The price of the pocketbook was thirty-five cents; I went to my cash drawer and got fifteen cents in change and Minnie opened the pocket book and I had the change in my hand and put it in there.

Mr. Stuart: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mr. Lange, you testified in Leavenworth?

A. Beg your pardon?

Q. You testified in this case at Leavenworth, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it you sold to Aunt Mollie Peters, the fortune teller? A. Blackberry juice, we called it.

Q. How long had you known her?

A. Oh, I couldn't say exactly, but been a customer to my store about two years until she died. I know she died there but I don't remember. I don't know whether she died from the effect of blackberry or not.

Q. Where did she live?

A. She then lived, I knew of her on Second Street near Delaware.

Q. In what house?

A. About the second house from the corner of Delaware south on the east side.

Q. How far south of Seneca is Delaware?

A. Two blocks. Before that I think she lived on Seneca Street.

Q. Yes, on Seneca, where?

A. That I don't know exactly, between Second and Third I suppose, in that neighborhood. I lived over my store and didn't get out much.

Q. Well, you know she lived between Second and Third on Seneca?

A. No, I couldn't describe the house, opposite Crilly's livery stable, in that neighborhood.

Q. Didn't you testify at Leavenworth she lived on Seneca with Mollie Peters? A. She may have, yes.

Q. Didn't you say she lived in that old Seneca house, the Seneca Hotel? A. I don't remember.

Q. Right east of Crilly's or in the same house?

A. Did I? I don't think I did. Don't know exactly where she did live at that time; she lived in that neighborhood.

Q. Across the street from Crilly's? A. I suppose so.

Q. You suppose so? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It was across the street from Crilly's that Mollie Letcher lived, a different woman?

A. Well, I know of Mollie Letcher by name.

Q. Oh, you didn't know Mollie Letcher by sight? A. No.

Q. But you knew Mollie Peters very well?

A. Yes, because she came to the store.

Q. What was her nationality?

A. Mollie Peters claimed to be part Mexican, part Indian, part most anything.

Q. Did she dress peculiarly or not?

A. No, she dressed poorly.

Q. She was about what aged woman?

A. Well, I imagine about sixty or seventy.

Q. Rather old woman?

A. She was a rather old woman, yes. Her features were rather furrowed.

Q. She was a fortune teller? A. Yes.

A. And she dressed rather loudly, didn't she? A. No.

Q. She didn't? A. Not when she came to the store.

A. She took dope, didn't she?

A. No, you can't call that dope.

Q. Wasn't exactly dope? A. No, it wasn't intoxicating.

Q. Well, you have seen her intoxicated, haven't you?

A. No, never seen her intoxicated.

Q. She lived on Seneca between——

A. Between Delaware and Cherokee.

Q. On Second Street between Delaware and Cherokee?

A. Yes. I knew she lived there; I have seen her sitting there when I went on hunting trips and passed by there on the way to the depot.

Q. Did you see Minnie there also?

A. No, I didn't see Minnie there.

Q. Well, Minnie was there with her, wherever she lived in the town?

A. Yes, that was the reputation; I don't know of my own knowledge.

Q. Your understanding as to Minnie was that she stayed with this Molly Peters, the fortune teller? A. Yes.

Q. Now, let's see, you say this Indian Minnie—You say you went to Europe—sailed for Europe in June?

A. June, '84.

Q. June, '84, June 12th was when you sailed out of New York wasn't it? A. I don't know exactly.

Q. See if you haven't something there——

A. Well, I have the passenger list; the Servia, but that got away from me. I left it there in Leavenworth in the courtroom. Let me see what my wife says. I looked for that passenger list, I couldn't find it and my wife says, June 18th, '84, on ship Servia.

Q. You were on the passenger ship June 18th?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is all I want; that is sufficient for my questions, Mr. Lange. You knew this Indian before you went to Europe, didn't you? A. Yes, I had seen her there.

Q. You saw her around Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You saw her before July 11th, 1884, because you sailed for Europe in June? A. In June, yes.

Q. She would come around your store with Molly Peters, before you went to Europe?

A. She came there before I think so, that is my best recollection. She wouldn't come with Molly Peters all the time, she would come with—on errands for Molly Peters.

Q. On errands for Molly Peters? A. Yes.

Q. How long before you left home on your trip to Europe was it that you first saw this Indian woman?

A. Well, I can't recall it exactly; people would pass in and out, you know.

Q. Can't you give some judgment on that? Wasn't five years was it? A. No, no, the same year.

Q. The same year? A. Yes.

Q. The year of '84? A. The year of '84, yes.

Q. That you first saw her? A. Yes.

Q. What is it that impresses it on your mind that you saw her before you went to Europe?

A. Oh, simply because she would come to get that blackberry decoction.

Q. For—— A. For Molly Peters.

Q. Molly had been coming to get blackberry before?

A. Yes, for Molly.

Q. About how frequently before the time you went to Europe was it that she came to get the blackberry for Molly?

A. Oh, once or twice a week.

Q. You knew her very well? A. Yes.

Q. How did you learn her name?

A. Well, I heard people call her that; say that was Indian Minnie. I never addressed her by her name.

Q. Now, what sized woman was that?

A. Oh, she was pretty near my height; appeared to me at that time about twenty years of age—in that neighborhood.

Q. Pretty near your height? A. Yes.

Q. How much did she lack of being your height?

A. Oh, pretty close to it.

Q. She was about five feet, two or three inches tall, wasn't she? A. Yes, something like that.

Q. Something like that? A. Yes.

Q. You are how tall, Mr. Lange?

A. Five foot, six.

Q. Five foot, six. You testified at Leavenworth that she was five foot, two or three inches tall at that time. Do you remember to have done so?

A. Well, she was a little shorter than I am because I stood along beside of her; I have that recollection.

Q. She was about twenty years old, you say?

A. I imagine about that.

Q. Now, after you returned from your trip to Europe, she would still come to your store? A. Yes.

Q. And come with Molly sometimes? And sometimes, come alone? A. Mostly alone.

Q. About what time did you get back from Europe?

A. Came in September, the latter part of September, '84.

Q. About how often did she come to your store after you got back from Europe?

A. Oh, as I said about once or twice a week; I didn't wait on her every time because I couldn't do it.

Q. A clerk would wait on her sometimes?

A. I had clerks wait on her sometimes.

Q. You owned the store at that time? A. Yes.

Q. How long did she keep that up?

A. Well, the last time I saw her was when she bought that pocketbook; after that I didn't get to see her anymore.

Q. When was it she bought that pocketbook? A. In '85.

Q. What time?

A. Well, in the latter part, the spring it must have been because we had the front doors upon.

Q. Prior to the time that she bought the pocketbook, she would come in once or twice a week to get that medicine?

Q. Yes.

Q. Did she buy anything for herself? A. No.

Q. Wasn't she a little strong on perfumery?

A. Well, she may have bought that when the clerk waited on her.

Q. Well, did she come with regularity, once or twice a week up to the time that she bought the pocketbook?

A. Yes, pretty fair.

Q. Pretty fair? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never noticed this pregnant condition of hers, though, did you until the time she bought the pocketbook?

A. Not until she bought the bocketbook because I was behind the counter and she was in front of it; at the time she bought the pocketbook, I had to come in front of the counter and wait on her; had a show case where I had pocketbooks in and I had to stand by the side of her.

Q. Your habit was to stay behind the counter unless somebody bought a pocketbook?

A. Yes, sir, unless we had to wait on a customer to get something from the showcases on the side or in front of the store. I had to come from behind the counter to wait on her.

Q. So, every time that she was in the store prior to the time that you sold her the pocketbook, you were behind the counter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember that distinctly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That time you sold her the pocketbook, you noticed her and she was very large with child? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had not ever seen her—observed that pregnancy prior to that? A. No, sir.

Q. And you never did see her after that? A. No, sir.

Q. In your life?

A. No, except in Leavenworth in the hotel when she was sick in bed, you know. I couldn't get any good look at her. This morning I saw her again.

Q. She has changed some?

A. Yes, sir, she has changed considerably; appears larger to me and she has grown from east to west.

Q. Yes, sir; and north to south? A. Some.

Q. She is about five or six inches taller, isn't she?

A. Oh——

Q. Don't be looking at Judge Stuart:

Mr. Cruce: Judge Stuart isn't in the courtroom.

Mr. German: Well, whoever it is; I have my back to them.

Q. She is five or six inches taller, now, isn't she?

A. I guess she wears high heels.

Q. Probably that accounts for it?

A. That may account for some.

Q. What kind of shoes did she have on the day she bought the pocketbook? A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know? A. No, I didn't look at her shoes.

Q. Well, had a little talk with her at the time she was in the hotel and she was in bed at Leavenworth about two years and a half ago?

A. No, I simply asked her whether she knew me and she shook her head—had no talk.

Q. Well, she shook her head? A. Yes.

Q. Didn't seem to recognize you?

A. No, didn't seem to recognize me then.

Q. Now, let's see Mr. Lange, did any other woman ever come in your store who was in a family way?

A. Oh, among all those customers, I guess some of those I guess have; I never paid any particular attention.

Q. You never noticed them? A. No.

Q. You don't notice people who come in there in a family way? A. No.

Q. Are you able to tell us any other person that ever did?

A. Well, I was about 40 years of age at that time, I ought to be able to.

Q. Yes, I know you are; who else ever came in there at that time in a family way?

A. I can't recall any particular person.

Q. Refresh your memory now; won't you remember some one if you can, who did? A. I can't; not able to——

Q. Name some one who did. A. Can't, can't name any one.

Q. Well, you were selling drugs a long time? A. Yes.

Q. And sold many outfits to families where there were to be births, haven't you? A. Sure.

Q. And you have been interested in births about to take place in the city because it meant business for you, haven't you? A. Yes.

Q. Now, isn't it true, now, since you think about it, that there have been prospective mothers in your store to buy things in anticipation of a birth?

A. Oh, well there have been but I never paid any attention to that. I would look them in the face and ask them what they wanted, you know, and they would answer.

Q. Well, you would realize their condition?

A. Well, I naturally—except as to the name——

Q. Tell us the name of somebody, now, who was in there in a family way and when it was.

Q. I can't recall any dates, you know. You see, I haven't been tending to customers lately for the part three or four years.

Q. Do you know how long it was that this Indian that you saw— Well, I will ask you this: Was that pregnancy of hers low down or high up? A. Well, it was the very commonest.

Q. You don't know whether it was low or high? A. No.

Q. You don't recall? A. No.

Q. She had on a loose dress?

A. Yes, kind of a mother-hubbard.

Q. And it stuck out big? A. Yes.

Q. What thought did you have, Mr. Lange, when you saw that she had been in your store the same week and the week before buying these things and you hadn't noticed it?

A. Well, I said to myself——

Q. Thought it happened pretty quick, didn't you?

A. Well, going to have a baby I thought, yes I guess so, and a few weeks after that she gave birth.

Mr. German: I didn't ask you about that. I move to strike that voluntary statement.

The Court: It may be stricken as not responsive.

Q. About this cash register that you got this money out of, what kind of a cash register was that? A. National.

Q. What color was it? A. Walnut.

Q. Walnut? A. I think walnut. I haven't got it any more. I sold it long ago and got a more modern one.

Q. Did they have cash registers in '85, don't you remember the first cash register was in 1890?

A. It was a register I bought from Jake Lau and it had his name on it.

Q. When did you buy that cash register from Jake Lau?

A. When he quit business.

Q. When did he quit business? A. I don't know.

Q. You don't know? A. I don't know.

Q. But you bought him out, bought a good many things?

A. No, he had that cash register for sometime.

Q. Where was his store?

A. Oh, he was in Kansas City then.

Q. Can't you tell us when it was that you bought it?

A. No, sir.

Q. You don't remember the year?

A. I don't remember the year. Before I had the cash register I had a cash drawer. It may have been——

Q. It might have been the cash drawer?

A. We had a cash drawer with bells on it.

Q. Yes, it might have been that?

A. Might have been that, I think it was the cash register.

Q. Tell us how it is that you fix this time that you saw this Indian woman in this pregnant condition as being in the late spring of '85?

A. Well, because the front doors were open?

Q. Oh? A. Yes, we had the doors open, warm weather.

Q. Is that the only thing that fixes it as being in the spring of 1885? A. It was warm weather.

Q. Warm weather and you fix it by the door being open?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you fix it as being in the spring of '85 by anything else? A. Well, it was in '85.

Q. That is what you fix it by? A. Yes.

Q. What is there about 1885 that makes you fix it as being in '85?

A. Because it was the season following my return from Germany.

Q. What relation is there between your trip to Germany and your seeing this woman?

A. Of course, the pocketbooks I bought in New York.

Q. How many, three? A. I had an assortment of them.

Q. But of this particular kind?

A. Of this particular kind a quarter dozen.

Q. Three? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had three of those pocketbooks and you fix the time you sold the first one as the spring of 1885. Who did you sell the second one to?

A. I don't know, some of the boys may have sold that.

Q. When?

A. At the time when she bought that pocketbook I only had two left. She bought one and I used the other one myself.

Q. What does that pocketbook and your buying it in New York got to do with your selling it in the spring of '85.

A. Well, I bought it there to sell.

Q. Yes?

A. Pocketbooks don't sell every day; one was sold perhaps by myself or one of the clerks.

Q. Tell us when you sold any other pocketbook that you brought from New York? A. Sold a good many of them.

Q. Who did you sell any of them to besides the woman we are talking about? A. Not to anybody that I remember.

Q. When did you sell any one of them?

A. Sold quite a number of pocketbooks, not that kind.

Q. How many pocketbooks did you send from New York?

A. About a gross.

Q. How many dozen would that be?

A. Twelve; but not that kind.

Q. How many of those pocketbooks did you have left in 1890? A. In 1890?

Q. Yes, five years afterwards?

A. Don't know, might not have been any.

Q. Might not have been? A. No, 1819.

Q. 1890, five years after you got back from New York?

A. Maybe some around there yet for all I know.

Q. Before you went to Europe on that trip, how long before you went to Europe was it that Mollie Peters was in there buying blackberry from you? A. Oh, several months.

Q. How long was it that this Indian woman was in there buying it from you?

A. She appeared all of a sudden and the boys told me that she wanted it for Mollie Peters.

Q. When you were in Europe, did you figure on bringing this Indian woman anything back as a souvenir? A. No.

Q. You thought of her though? A. No.

Q. When you saw some Indians over there? A. No.

Q. You didn't even think of her?

A. No, I didn't think of her.

Q. What was that Indian woman's business?

A. No business that I remember, except she wanted something for Mollie Peters; I thought she was a house servant, something of that kind.

Q. Wasn't she of ill repute?

A. No, Mollie Peters wasn't.

Q. What about that Indian?

A. That I never inquired into.

Q. She wasn't married at the time that you saw her pregnant that you know of?

A. Not that I know of. I was married.

Q. You say you bought that store in 1880? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long had you lived in Leavenworth then?

A. Since '67.

Q. You had been there how many years when you bought that store? A. Oh, about, well thirteen.

Q. About thirteen years? A. Yes.

Q. What time in 1880 did you buy it? A. In October.

Q. In October? A. Yes.

Q. Do you know this fellow Fritschie? A. Yes.

Q. He worked in your store?

A. Yes, he was an apprentice.

Q. Right from the beginning?

A. No, I took him in stock.

Q. You took him over in stock?

A. He was working in the store for my predecessor and he continued for me, finished his apprenticeship with me until he went to college.

Q. You were not sure of her name until in 1914 when you saw her in that hotel? A. Well, I had been knowing Indian Minnie.

Q. Well, I say you were not sure of her name until then?

A. Indian Minnie, old Mollie Peters girl.

Q. You never heard the name Atkins attached to her?

A. No.

Q. Now, let's see. What was the color of these clothes that Minnie had on when you saw her in that family condition?

A. I think it was reddish.

Q. Reddish? A. I think so, I am not positive.

Q. Was it a loud red? A. No.

Q. Dull red? A. Yes.

Q. What kind of clothes did she ordinarily wear?

A. Poor clothes, cotton I think.

Q. Cotton? A. Print, cotton.

Q. She was not a very neat looking woman? A. No.

Q. How did she wear her hair?

A. Well, I can't tell that exactly.

Q. Don't recall?

A. No, I don't recall that. It wasn't fluffy I know, slick.

Q. It was braided down her back?

A. No, I don't think so.

Q. Was it loose? A. No, sir, it was ordinary way.

Q. What is the ordinary way?

A. Well, it wasn't hanging down.

Q. Wasn't hanging down? A. No.

Q. You don't remember just how it was, do you?

A. Not exactly I paid so little attention to that.

Q. If you had met her on the street in 1914, you wouldn't have recognized her would you? A. No.

Q. Now, didn't you testify this way at Leavenworth: "Q. Well, just to be frank about it, you just merely remember that that was an Indian looking woman who would come there with Mollie, and come there with Aunt Mollie? A. Yes, yes." Didn't you say that?

A. I guess so. It is down in black and white.

Q. Sounds like it? A. Sounds like it.

Q. "That is the truth about it and you don't know what her name was? A. Well, they used to call her Minnie." You testified to that? A. Yes.

Q. "I thought you said you didn't know whether they called her Minnie, Mollie, or Janie, or Mary. Now, just which is correct? A. Well, I had always known her as Indian Minnie; that has come back to my memory now since this case has come up." You said that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. "Who suggested that to you? A. No one. Q. Who suggested to you that that used to be—— A. Well, I saw it in the newspapers here." Didn't you say that?

A. Don't understand that.

Q. "Who suggested to you that that used to be her name? A. Well, I saw it in the newspapers here." Didn't you answer that that way? A. Probably.

Q. "When? A. Well, about—— Q. About a year ago? A. Yes, about like that. Q. And that is when you remembered that that is her name? A. Yes, sir." You remember that?

A. Yes, yes, yes.

Q. And that is when you learned that that was her name?

A. Well, she was known as Minnie.

Q. You learned that that was true because you had read so much in the news papers?

A. Well, so much had come back to me in talking with my clerks and my son.

Q. And Mr. Bond, Frank Long, and Mr. Hanford?

A. My son waited more on her than probably I did.

Q. There was quite a lot in the newspaper in Leavenworth about two years ago?

A. Yes, I haven't paid much attention to that, it didn't interest me much.

Q. But you did read it? A. I read some of it.

Q. You remember how they told about Indian Minnie, how she used to be around there with her son Tommy?

A. Yes.

Q. And that they lived down at Granny Letcher's?

A. I know that name Granny Letcher's, but I don't know she lived there.

Q. Well, these stories told that?

A. Yes, they told that.

Q. About how many different newspaper stories did you read?

A. I can't recall that. I read the Leavenworth papers. But I never followed it up close because it didn't interest me.

Q. You saw those newspaper articles along in the late summer of 1914, didn't you, for the first time?

A. Yes. Local papers told about it, and saw it in the newspaper, but as I say I didn't follow it up, wasn't sufficiently interested.

Q. And then was when you remembered that her name was Minnie? A. Yes, that came back to me.

Q. Yes, came back to you, about her being in a family way in '85? A. Yes.

Q. The papers told about her being there in '85, didn't they, these newspaper stories; they did, didn't they?

A. Well, as I said, I never followed them up close.

Q. Yes, but weren't there some statements in those newspapers about Minnie being there in '85? A. '85?

Q. I don't mean '85 that the articles appeared; those articles appeared there two years ago or three; they mentioned about Minnie being there in '85?

A. I don't recollect it.

Mr. Hanford: That is objected to——

The Court: This witness is being cross-examined about what he saw in the papers. It is proper to examine him as to what he saw in the papers.

Q. Mr. Lange, how many different articles on this subject did you read in the newspapers? A. I can't recall.

Q. How many did you see? A. I can't recollect that.

Q. Were there several of them?

A. Oh, I read snatches in the newspapers, here and there, but how many and by whom, I don't know.

Q. The Leavenworth Times is a daily paper, isn't it?

A. Yes.

Q. And the Leavenworth Post a daily paper? A. Yes.

Q. The Times is a morning paper and the Post an evening paper? A. Yes.

Q. Which one of those papers did you notice most in about this?

A. I can't say which had the most; frequently when I saw anything about it, I would skip it.

Q. You got tired reading it?

A. Well, I didn't take sufficient interest in it.

Q. You did read the first few articles?

A. I read some of it, yes; but that didn't impress it on my memory.

The Court.

Q. I want to ask this question, just while it is in my mind: When those articles came out in the newspapers, prior to that time who, if anyone, had talked to you about what you remembered about it? Had anyone talked to you about it?

A. No.

Q. That was the first time?

A. No, no; the only thing I—the way my attention was called to it was this: One of your witnesses, Mr. Crilly, kept the livery stable——

Mr. German: Of of Mr. Page's witnesses.

A. Yes. Opposite Crilly's stable—Mr. Crilly came to my store and asked me if I had read the article about Minnie; I said no, I haven't, and then he related to me that this law suit was up, about his oil land; said she is here, or some lawyers are here, enquiring about it; don't you remember Indian Minnie, and I stated—and I said, yes, I remember that girl; that was all there was said, and that is the way my attention was called to it.

Q. After that you read the newspapers?

A. I read them occasionally, yes; I didn't pay sufficient attention.

Mr. German.

Q. Prior to that, had you read any the articles about that?

A. Not that I remember.

Q. Had you noticed anything in the papers about this Indian Minnie? A. No, not at that time.

Q. Mr. Crilly, what is his given name? A. George.

Q. George Crilly? A. Yes.

Q. When was it with reference to that time that you went up to the hotel to see some woman?

A. Well, that was about, a few days after Mr. Crilly had told me; then an attorney came around, I believe Mr. Long, and asked me what I knew, and asked me if I wouldn't come down to the hotel and see the woman there. I saw her; she was lying in bed, and she didn't talk.

The Court.

Q. How was that? A. She was lying in bed in the room.

Q. Did you go in where she was?

A. Yes, I went to the room where she was. Some attorneys were present; I don't know what was said; I don't remember that. I simply asked her if she remembered me, and she shook her head.

Mr. German.

Q. Now, before you went up to the hotel, you had been told it was the same woman, hadn't you?

A. Wanted to know whether I would recognize her.

Q. Yes, sir; and you were told that she was up in the hotel? A. Yes.

Q. You were told it was Mrs. Folk who was the Indian Minnie in the earlier days? A. Yes.

Q. And then you went up to see if it was? A. Yes.

Q. You didn't get a line on her height, though, that day, did you? A. Oh, no.

Q. Because she was in bed? A. She was in bed.

Q. And you have since seen her and seen how tall she now is? A. Yes.

Q. Who was it asked you to go up there and see her, Mr. Long wasn't it, just to refresh your memory? A. Who, Long?

Q. Mr. Long? A. Mr. Long, yes, I guess.

Q. Mr. Long; you so testified at Leavenworth.

A. Yes, I think it was Mr. Long.

Q. And did you see her at all there in Leavenworth in 1914, except in the bed? A. That is all.

Q. You went to the courthouse there then and testified for Mr. Long and Mr. Page? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In October, 1914? A. Yes.

The Court: What was his testimony then in regard to recognizing her?

Mr. German: He said that he did.

The Court: That is not in the record.

Q. She was about twice as heavy as she was in the 80's?

A. Yes, yes, apparently.

Q. What did she weigh in the 80's?

A. Oh, I judge about 135 or 40, something like that.

Q. About 135 or 40? A. Yes, yes.

Q. Let's see; you are coming up a little on that, aren't you, Mr. Lange, since your testimony at Leavenworth; didn't you say there about 120? Yes, you said about 130 or 35 there.

A. Well, I don't know what I said.

Q. She was a woman with a small frame? A. Yes.

The Court.

Q. Was she a woman then of a thin build, or——

A. Oh, medium build; she wasn't thin.

Mr. German.

Q. What do you mean by medium build? Let's get your idea as to what you conceive to be medium build.

A. Well, I would say——

Q. Five feet two or three inches tall?

A. Well, she was a little taller than that, I guess.

Q. Well, she was a small frame?

A. Well, medium; she wasn't exactly thin, nor was she heavy.

Q. You testified at Leavenworth that she was a woman of small frame, didn't you? A. At that time, possibly.

Q. Yes, sir, at that time. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Weighed 130 or 35 pounds?

A. That is my recollection.

Q. And that is your recollection?

A. Yes, simply guessing.

The Court.

Q. Now, at that time, as you remember her as a young woman, would you say that she, as a young woman, was inclined to be what you would call thin or plump?

A. No, she wasn't thin; rather plump; at the time that I saw her in the family way, she was heavier.

Q. Well, I am referring to the time you saw her in a normal condition.

A. Well, no; she was a comely girl; pleasant features, and nice to talk, in a way, you know.

Mr. German: Your Honor, I would like for Mr. Lange and Minnie to stand side by side.

The Court: That would be a matter of enlightenment to me probably.

Mr. German: Stand side by side; face, me, Mr. Lange.

The Court: That is alright.

Mrs. Folk: I have got on my new shoes.

Mr. Cruce: Like to suggest that Mr. Lange might do his hair up on top of his head, like Minnie's.

The Court: I will make certain mental notes as to her hair.

Mr. German.

Q. Now, Mr. Lange, one other matter: Some question was raised when you were on the stand, on the witness stand in Leavenworth, and we were all up there, Mr. Penick and the lawyers, about whether you left Leavenworth in June, '84, wasn't there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And at noon hour, you wanted to prove to us that you had and after the noon hour you brought papers back and showed us that you had left in June, '84, sailed at New York June 18th? A. At New York.

Q. And you testified there, as you did here, that Minnie was around your place before you went to New York, isn't that right? A. We sailed on June 18th.

The Court: I understood the witness to say here that Minnie was around his store before he left.

Mr. Cruce. Yes, sir.

A. We sailed on June 18th.

The Court: And his testimony is that Minnie—Indian Minnie, was around the store several times before he left for this European trip in '84, as I remember.

Cross Examination by Mr. Rosser.

Q. You described the way this woman was dressed when you saw her at the time she was pregnant; how was she usually dressed when she came to your store?

A. Oh, she had the same dress on; calico dress, I call it.

Q. Mother hubbard?

A. Yes, I think it was a mother hubbard.

Q. She was usually dressed in a mother hubbard when you saw her at your store? A. Yes, yes.

Q. What time of day did she come there usually?

A. Any old time.

Q. You saw her there at different times of day? A. Yes.

Q. She was at your store frequently the times you knew her, wasn't she? A. Yes, yes.

Q. And she came at different hours? A. Yes.

Q. How long, Mr. Lange, had you been—how do you pronounce your name? A. You pronounce it right.

Q. I thought so. How long have you been wearing your beard as you do now; ever since the war?

A. No, I used to wear simply a goatee, you know; I used to go on hunting trips in the northwest and down in Mexico, and it was inconvenient to shave, and I let it go.

Q. But around your store you have worn your beard always as you do now? A. Yes, pretty near.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Lange, you testified that it was your recollection that you saw this girl around your store before you sailed for Europe?

A. Yes. Well, that I wouldn't be so positive about, you know.

Q. When did you return from Europe?

A. In September following; the latter part.

Q. That would be about four months later? A. Yes.

Q. Now you do remember that you saw her around your store after you came back from Europe? A. Oh, yes; yes.

Q. Now, have you anything that fixes your recollection as to when you first began seeing her as to whether it was before or after you went to Europe?

A. Well, I am not positive, about that.

Q. That is simply your recollection?

A. Simply recollection, yes.

Q. You recollect that you saw her along about that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And there is nothing that fixes that sure?

A. No, nothing sure.

Mr. German, Recross Examination.

Q. In your testimony in October, 1914, and in your testimony a year ago, both at Leavenworth, you testified that you saw Minnie several times before you sailed for Europe, didn't you? A. Yes, possibly.

Q. Positively?

Mr. Cruce: He said possibly.

Q. You said possibly; I say positively.

A. Yes, people were coming in the store and going out, you know.

The Court: Mr. Lange, what he is trying to get at is whether you testified at the two times when you testified in Leavenworth that you did see her prior to the time you went to Europe; he asks whether that was your testimony at that time.

A. I think it was.

Mr. German: That is all.

The Court: Anything further with this witness?

Mr. German.

Q. Did she wear a corset when she would come around your store? A. I don't know.

Q. Did she have on one when she was in that pregnant condition? A. I don't think she did.

Q. Skimply dressed then? A. Skimply dressed then, yes.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. German: We may desire to ask Mr. Lange another question or so on cross-examination.

The Court: Well, you want him here at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

And thereupon Court recesses until 2 o'clock p. m.

And thereafter, and at 2 o'clock P. M., Court having convened pursuant to adjournment further proceedings herein were had as follows:

Mr. German: As to this last witness, Lange, among counsel on our side, we have a little difference of opinion as to just what the witness testified in one respect and we would like to wait, if it is agreeable to the Court, until morning so we can look over his testimony before we decide whether we want to examine him further.

The Court: Well, the witness will be in attendance; proceed, gentlemen.

And thereupon, A. W. HOPKINS, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et. al., sworn and under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. A. W. Hopkins.

Q. Where do [] live? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. How long have you lived in Leavenworth, Kansas?

A. A little over 40 years.

Q. A little over 40 years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know a secret order called the Knights and Ladies of Tabor; is that the name of it?

A. I know one named the Knights and Daughters of Tabor.

Q. Knights and Daughters of Tabor; what sort of order is that? A. Why, it is a beneficial.

Q. Is it confined to white people, colored people, Indian or what?

A. Well, there is all kinds of mixed breed in it—colored.

Q. It is a secret association, is it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever hold any office of trust in that association in Leavenworth, any office of responsibility?

A. Why, I am grand secretary now.

Q. Where you connected with it in any way in 1883?

A. Yes, sir, I was presiding of that number for Leavenworth.

Q. For 1883? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know whether that association met in grand lodge meeting in any place in the United States in 1884?

A. Met in Memphis, Tennessee.

Q. Met in Memphis, Tennessee? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was that called?

A. Grand Temple and Tabernacle.

Q. Is that where it was held? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you go there as a delegate? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you serve in any capacity while you were there as a delegate?

A. I was the outside sentinel, what we call the chief sentinel.

Q. What were your duties as outside sentinel?

A. Why, to recognize the people as they came in, as being member.

Q. Was there any inside sentinel?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it a man or woman?

A. Woman, we had as inside sentinel.

Q. What kind of a woman was she?

A. Why, she was an Indian kind of a woman, looked kind of like a mixed breed; big, tall, slender woman looked like.

Q. Did she serve there as inside sentinel during the period that you served as outside sentinel during that organization? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you get acquainted with her—talk with her?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you state to the Court whether she asked you about any person living in Leavenworth.

Mr. Linebaugh: Objected to as hearsay.

The Court: Overruled; I will hear it.

Mr. Stuart: I am going to prove that he hunted this person at her suggestion.

Q. Did she speak to you about any person living in Leavenworth; ask you about any person?

A. Why, she asked about a young woman by the name of Minnie Atkins.

Q. What did she ask you?

A. She asked me did I know of any young woman there by the name of Minnie Atkins.

Q. What did you tell her? A. I told her I did not.

Q. What did she say her name was? A. Jane Anderson.

Q. Jane Anderson. Now, when did you return from that grand lodge—about what time in the year?

A. Well, I took the trip——

Q. Never mind about when you took the trip; when did you get back to Leavenworth?

A. The latter part of September or October, I don't know exactly the date; but I was away a right smart little while.

Q. Now, did you make any inquiry when you got back there?

A. I didn't right away but I did in a week or two, or some time after.

Q. Did you find out where Minnie Atkins was at that time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Well, what was your condition after that? Sick a while?

A. Well, I had taken sick, I was sick some while after I had started to work and I wasn't working for quite a while after that.

Q. When did you get around again after you got home? About what time?

A. I was sick over Christmas; I wasn't able to be out even then; I was around but didn't work—hadn't gone to work yet.

Q. When was the next time you made inquiry about this woman and who from?

A. I don't know just how long but it was quite a while; then I asked someone that didn't know nothing about her.

Q. Yes? Well, did you find anybody that did know?

A. Well, not right away; I didn't ask.

Q. Well, when you did inquire, did you find anybody?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was his name? The man you asked about her?

A. Frank Minor was the man that told me he knew her.

Q. Did he indicate where she was to you?

Mr. German: We move to strike——

The Court: Anything this man said to him, the Court will not consider as substantive matter of evidence, only considered, if at all, as one circumstance leading up to this witness' discovery if he did discover.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, I think the rule is well settled if a person make inquiry about another person——

The Court: Well, I will let it in.

Q. Well, did you talk with him; did he indicate to you where Minnie was?

A. He told me she was at Granny Letcher's.

Q. Well, you may state whether you went down to Granny Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of the year do you think it was?

A. It was along in the spring before I seen Minnie.

Q. Did you go to Granny Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see a woman there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did you deliver this message? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see her after that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she sitting up or lying down or standing up or what when you saw her?

A. Both times I seen her in the house she was sitting down.

Q. Sitting down? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you see her after that with anybody?

A. Well, I never seen her after that until I seen her in the summer time.

Q. Who did you see her with? A. Granny Letcher.

Q. And about what place in town did you see her?

A. Well, it wasn't very far from where Granny Letcher lived, just on the corner from her house probably sixty or seventy feet.

Q. Who was with the girl when you saw her?

A. Granny Letcher.

Q. Now, I will ask you whether there was a baby there?

A. Why, this girl, Minnie, had a baby in her arms at the time I met the two.

Q. Did you have a conversation with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it?

A. After speaking to them I walked up to them and she had a baby in her arms and I asked whose baby was it and she said mine. She had a veil over its face and I just laid the veil back and looked at the baby and laid the veil back over its face, and I asked had she heard from her friend. And she said no, and I didn't have any more to say.

Q. Never saw her after that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. See her with this baby?

A. The next time I seen her was about Pawnee and Fourth, she had the baby by its hand; I don't know whether it could walk or not, but it was standing on the ground; she was talking to some woman, I never had any more talk with her.

Mr. Stuart: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. What do you say your name is? A. A. W. Hopkins.

Q. The Knights and Daughters of Tabor——

Mr. Stuart: Mr. Linebaugh, pardon me just a moment. How much membership did you have when you went to Memphis?

A. About a hundred and fifty thousand.

Mr. Stuart: What is the membership of that order now? A. Five hundred.

Mr. Stuart: Five hundred what?

A. Thousand.

Q. You say this order met at Memphis, Tennessee, in 1884? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you join the order? A. June 18, 1876.

Q. Was this the first Grand Meeting you had attended?

A. I had attended the one at home in 1883.

Q. Who was Inner Guard in 1883? A. I don't know.

Q. Was it a man or woman?

A. It was a woman of course.

Q. You know it was a woman because that is a place filled by women is it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was the outside guard or sentinel when it met at home in 1883?

A. I don't remember that, I don't know who was.

Q. Were you present at the Grand Temple and Tabernacle in 1883? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was Grand Secretary in 1884?

A. A man by the name of Ellis L. F. Payne.

Q. In 1884? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Sure of that? A. I am pretty sure he was then.

Q. What is the title of the Chief officer?

A. Chief Grand Mentor.

Q. Who was Chief Grand Mentor in 1883?

A. Otis Dickson.

Q. Who was in 1893? A. Ninety three?

Q. Yes? A. You mean in 1893?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, since that time our order has went into district, what we call jurisdictions.

Q. Well, who was the chief officer in your district in 1893? A. Frank Wilson.

Q. Where does he live? A. Topeka.

Q. What time of the year did you meet in 1884?

A. Well, it was along the latter part of August.

Q. The last of August 1884?

A. Sometime in the month, I forget just the date, but our meeting was called in August.

Q. Well, now, do you remember it was in August just because that was the time you usually hold your meetings?

A. Yes, we hold them in the months of August, that meeting.

Q. Have you an independent recollection of that meeting having been held in that month? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What place was it held? A. In Memphis.

Q. Where in Memphis? A. Tennessee.

Q. Where in the City?

A. Oh, I don't remember the name of the hall now.

Q. What hotel did you stay?

A. I stayed with a private family by the name of J. A. Phillips.

Q. Where did they live?

A. I couldn't say their number.

Q. How did you get from their place to the place where the meeting was held; just tell the Court if you walked or rode and if you rode how you rode and if you walked how you walked? A. I walked.

Q. All right, how far and which way?

A. Well, right here I couldn't tell. I don't know what direction it is there and I never counted the blocks.

Q. Can't you tell us approximately?

A. I haven't the directions of this city.

Q. I don't want you to have the directions of this city.

A. Well, I mean there.

Q. Well, which way did you go and how many blocks would you go? A. I don't know the directions.

Q. What was this inside sentinel's name?

A. She called herself Jane Anderson, that is what she told Minnie to write to her by.

Q. Where did she live? A. Chattanooga.

Q. Where, what street address?

A. She said just write her Chattanooga.

Q. Chattanooga, Tennessee? A. Tennessee.

Q. Didn't give you any street address? A. No, sir.

Q. You got pretty well acquainted with her?

A. No, sir, she was inside and I was outside.

Q. How long did your meeting continue? A. Ten days.

Q. What sort of a looking woman was she?

A. She was an Indian looking woman.

Q. Part negro and part Indian? A. I suppose so.

Q. Appeared that way? A. Appeared to me that way.

Q. Well, now, what was it she asked you?

A. If I knew a young woman in Leavenworth by the name of Minnie Atkins.

Q. Did she tell you when she knew her?

A. No, sir, she said she was a relative of hers.

Q. She tell you how long it had been since she had seen her? A. No, sir.

Q. Did she tell you where she knew her? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't know anything about that? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, where did you live in Leavenworth then?

A. 318 is the number I lived, just across the street—320, just across the street where I live now.

Q. 318 what? A. Dakota Street.

Q. You got back what month?

A. Sometime the latter part of September or October.

Q. 1884? A. 1884.

Q. You immediately made inquiry for Minnie Atkins?

A. No, I didn't right away.

Q. How long after?

A. Well, I didn't think about it until after I got up from being sick. I went to work in a week or two after I went to work I taken sick.

Q. What work were you doing? A. Coal mining.

Q. Where? A. Leavenworth.

Q. Coal mine there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you meet anybody else over at this Memphis meeting that was acquainted with anybody at Leavenworth?

Q. Why, they never asked; anybody never asked about them as I remember of now.

Q. Have you been attending the grand tabernacle or encampment regularly? A. Then?

Q. Have you then and since then?

A. Since then I have, mostly.

Q. You have met people at the grand encampment who were acquainted with people in Leavenworth, have you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That have told you to see about them and give them their regards for them?

A. That was the only time that I went out of my jurisdiction to the grand lodge, outside of St. Louis; I went there once.

Q. Well, at St. Louis; did you meet any folks acquainted with folks down at Leavenworth?

A. Yes, I know lots of people there. [Q.] well, tell the Court who it was who told you up at St. Louis that they knew somebody up at Leavenworth and asked you to see them when you got back home.

A. Old J. W. Wheeler for one; he was a prominent member of our organization there; the man that ran the paper of the organization of course.

Q. At St. Louis? A. Of course I knew him.

Q. He told you to see who? A. Oh, different people.

Q. Name one of them.

A. Head Speth; William Coleman, he is dead now.

Q. Told you to see them when you got back home?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you do that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Tell the circumstances of seeing William Coleman.

Q. Well, we were all in the organization, I would see them at the meeting.

Q. Anybody ever tell you to see anybody who wasn't a member of the organization? A. I don't remember that.

Q. Now, you wanted to increase the membership, did you, of your organization? A. Did I want to?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you got back to Leavenworth, you told Minnie Atkins when you saw her that you met her relative, a grand officer, did you?

A. I don't remember that I mentioned the grand officer; I told her this woman's name.

Q. Did you try to get her to join your order?

A. No, sir, no, sir.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. I didn't know anything about her.

Q. How how long after you got home was it that you saw Minnie Atkins?

A. Well, I didn't see her until after Christmas, in the spring time; kind of warm weather when I seen her; wasn't cold, at any rate.

Q. Well, was it in the spring time or was it about Christmas time?

A. No, I wasn't out hunting nobody Christmas; I was hardly able to make it about home.

Q. Now, from August to Christmas you didn't see her?

A. From when?

Q. From the time you returned in August until Christmas, you didn't see her? A. No, sir, I didn't see her.

Q. When was it you talked to this man Frank Minor?

Q. That was long after I seen her in a few days, after I seen him to ask him.

Q. Now, when was it you talked to him?

A. Along in the spring.

Q. What time in the spring? How long after Christmas?

A. I don't know but winter was getting over; it was getting kind of warm.

Q. Well, would you say it was as long as three months after Christmas?

A. It might have beer, sometime along in there.

Q. Two months?

A. No, more than that because we have cold weather, hard weather, for two months.

Q. Three months? A. Three months, or such a matter.

Q. And Frank Minor told you, then, that Minnie was over at Granny Letcher's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you went over at Granny Letcher's and saw her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, where was Granny Letcher living then?

A. She was living on Seneca street.

Q. 217 Seneca street, wasn't it?

A. I don't just know the number; I know the house though.

Q. Right across from Crilley's barn, though?

A. Right across from Crilley's barn.

Q. Kind of a two story house? A. I think it was.

Q. Facing right there on the street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Granny Letcher, this colored woman was living right there? A. She was there.

Q. And Minnie was living there with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About two months after Christmas?

A. Along in the spring time like.

Q. Your best judgment is that it was in the spring of 1885? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long had Granny Letcher been living there at that time? A. That I can't tell.

Q. Well, you had known of her living there before of that hadn't you?

A. Well, now, I didn't; I didn't know where Granny Letcher lived at the time until—that is I did know before I went down there that day, yes.

Q. Yes, you knew that?

A. Because you could see her from the house.

Q. You didn't ask Frank Minor where she lived?

A. No, sir.

Q. You knew that? A. Yes, sir, I knew.

Q. How long had she lived there before that?

A. Well, I don't know how long, of course.

Q. About how long?

A. A day or two before I seen Frank I seen her there.

Q. Well, about how long before you went down to her house was it, that you knew she lived at this particular place where you did go? A. Oh, probably a few weeks at any rate.

Q. Three weeks?

A. I said a few weeks at any rate; I don't know just how long.

Q. Well, how many weeks would you say—your best judgment?

A. I can't say that because I haven't it in mind as to any thing about it. I don't know nothing about the girl at all; he told me where to go and I knew she lived there then.

Q. And you went down there and saw her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of a looking woman was she at that time, Hawkins? A. Why, she was a young woman.

Q. What? A. She was a young woman.

Q. Well, describe her to the Court?

A. Well, she looked like an Indian to me.

Q. How old did she appear to be?

A. Oh, I didn't judge anything like that: I just seen she was a young woman.

Q. Your best judgment?

A. I can't tell nothing about her age; I never suspected anything about the age.

Q. How old did she appear to you to be—just your best judgment? A. I didn't pass on that.

Q. Now, how large a woman was she at that time?

A. Well, she was sitting in a chair; she looked to be quite a large woman at that time; she was in a chair. She didn't get up while I saw her.

Q. She looked to be a large woman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What in your judgment would she weight at that time?

A. Well, I didn't judge her weight either.

A. Was there anything about her appearance that was out of the ordinary?

A. Well, I don't know; she was a kind of large looking woman.

Q. Large looking woman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Large, broad shoulders? Full faced, is that right?

A. She was a large looking woman.

Q. She had her hat on at that time? A. No, sir.

Q. How was she dressed?

A. She was just sitting there; looked like she had a gown on or something. She was in a rocking chair.

Q. Was it in the day time or night time, or evening sometime?

A. It was in the daytime, evening; not night—afternoon.

Q. Was it after supper? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of gown did she have on?

A. Looked like a kind of red, or something.

Q. Dress was it?

A. She wasn't up, I couldn't tell; the neck of her dress looked like a gown.

Q. Who else was in the room?

A. She was alone when I first went in the room.

Q. Who introduced you?

A. Introduced ourselves. At least I introduced myself and told her.

Q. Who did you see when you first went to the house?

A. Minnie.

Q. She was in the front room, was she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Let you in did she?

A. She was in the room and told me to come in—didn't get up.

Q. And no other person was in the room at all?

A. At that time.

Q. And how long was this after you talked to Frank Minor?

A. Oh, a few days at any rate; I didn't go down there right then; a few days—I can't say just how long it was.

Q. Now, then, just a few days after you talked to Frank Minor, is that right?

A. Yes, sir. I don't know just how long.

Q. How long after that was it that you saw Minnie with the baby?

A. Oh, I was at the home again before I saw her with the baby.

Q. How long afterwards?

A. Oh, probably four or five or six weeks—something like that.

Q. You saw her with the baby in probably four or five or six weeks?

A. Not after that. I say I was at the house again before I seen her with the baby.

Q. Now, how long after you saw it the first time, was it that you saw her with the baby?

A. Oh, well it was something like three or four months then, before I seen her with the baby.

Q. Well, which time was it?

A. I was trying to tell you the second time I seen her.

Q. That wasn't the question I asked you; answer the question I asked you please.

A. Ask you.

Q. Alright; how long was it after you saw her the first time until you saw her with the baby?

A. Well, it must have been along in July or August.

Q. Now, no—don't give me the month; what period of time? Two months, three months, four months, five months?

A. Say four months.

Q. Well, is that right?

A. Something in there; I can't say exactly.

Q. And how little did the baby appear to be?

A. Well, it was a right young baby; looked like not old enough to take out; it was young.

Q. She was up, was she? A. Sir?

Q. She was up, was she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Not in bed?

A. She was on the street when I seen the baby.

Q. Where on the street? A. Just a piece from the house.

Q. Which way?

A. She had to come west from [] house to get to the street I saw her, and she had just come west when I met her on the corner.

Q. Was it daytime or night time? A. Day time.

Q. What time of day? A. I don't know.

Q. What kind of day?

A. I can't say that; it was not raining.

Q. Wasn't raining? A. No, sir.

Q. You remember that do you? A. No, it wasn't raining.

Q. How was the baby dressed?

A. I never noticed that; only just noticed something over its face.

Q. A veil over its face? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you pulled the veil off its face? A. I did.

Q. And what did she say?

A. I asked her whose baby was it and she said it was hers.

Q. What did you ask that for, Hawkins? If you saw a woman carrying a right young baby why would you ask her if it was her baby? A. Why would I?

Q. Yes? A. Why, I wanted to know.

Q. Why did you want to know?

A. Why, she had it and I didn't think there was any harm in asking her.

Q. I understand, but why did you want to know whose baby this was?

A. Why I seen her and I just asked her whose baby it was.

Q. I understand; you said a while ago that you wanted to know. I will ask you why you wanted to know.

A. Why, I generally do that when I see a woman with a baby.

Q. Tell us some other woman you asked if that baby was hers that you saw with a young baby about that time—1885.

A. Do what?

Q. Can you tell us any other young woman that had a baby in 1885?

A. Well, I don't know that I could center on any other case; I hadn't just happened to come in contact with them that way as I did her.

Q. Now, did she say anything else to you when you saw her with the baby there?

A. I asked had she heard of her friend and she said no, that was all that was said.

Q. What friend?

A. The woman that told me to ask her about her.

Q. Now, she was known as Minnie Atkins, was she at that time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is who you asked for?

A. That is who I asked for.

Q. And she was known about Leavenworth as Minnie Atkins, is that right, at that time?

A. That is the way I found her out.

Q. Hopkins, do you know Sadie James? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't? A. No, sir.

Q. Sadie Harris? A. No, sir.

Q. A colored woman by the name of Sadie Harris?

A. I just know of her but I don't know her.

Q. Or Sadie Hopkins maybe?

A. I don't know her by that.

Q. Nor Sadie Johnson? A. Well——

Q. You know the woman I am talking about?

A. I know the woman you are talking about and I have heard lots about her, but I don't know anything about her personally.

Q. Now, in April, 1914, on Third and Kiowa street, in Leavenworth, did you have a talk with Sadie James or Sadie Harris—this woman that you and I both know about—and did you tell her that you knew Granny Letcher, about her living in Leavenworth but you never knew Minnie or knew an Indian boy? A. Did I tell her what?

Q. During the month of April, 1914, in Leavenworth, Kansas, at about Third and Kiowa streets? A. No, sir.

Q. In that City when she was talking with you about this case? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you tell her in substance that? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you talk with her? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you ever talked with her at any other time?

A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you ever tell her at any other time what I have just—— The question I have just propounded. Do you know Dennis Jones? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Rube Smith? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you talked with them about this case?

A. Well, not directly.

Q. You haven't talked with them directly?

A. Not until we come over here.

Q. You have talked with them right down here in Muskogee on Second street?

A. We was all coming over on this case.

Q. How long have you been in Muskogee?

A. I got here Tuesday evening I believe.

Q. Where have you been since you have been here?

A. Mostly down where I stay.

Q. Who stays there with you? A. Well, Dennis Jones.

Q. Who else? A. Rube Smith.

Q. Who else? A. Frank Minor.

Q. Who else? A. Lizzie Casey.

Q. Name the others?

A. Nat Barnes, Harvey Taylor, Joe Lacy.

Q. Milton Webster?

A. He stayed across the street from us.

Q. Barney Clever? A. He didn't stay there either.

Q. You have been down there since Tuesday of last week?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And all of these parties that you have named have been there too? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have talked about this case have you?

The Court: Answer the question. If you talked about it, say so.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who did you talk with, Dennis Jones?

A. Dennis didn't have much to say about it.

Q. Who was it that did have much to say about it?

A. Well, one would express his ideas, wonder how long we would have to stay here.

Q. About your testimony?

A. No one has ever asked me about my testimony.

Q. No one at all? A. No, sir.

Q. The lawyers did?

A. Well, we met one night, but outside that night nobody here.

Q. Who was down there that night you met?

A. Mr. Bond, and the other lawyers were strangers to me.

Q. Hopkins, you were at Leavenworth in 1914, weren't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They were taking depositions up there at that time?

A. There was some men had me see them once.

Q. In 1914? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't testify at that time? A. No, sir.

Q. Why didn't you? A. I wasn't in the Court.

Q. You knew they were taking depositions, didn't you?

A. Where?

Q. In Leavenworth, in 1914, in the month of October?

A. Why, nobody come after me.

Q. You knew they were taking depositions there at that time, didn't you? A. Yes, this one——

Q. Rube Smith and Dennis Jones wanted you to agree to testify that you were the father of that child, didn't they at that time?

A. There was some lawyer that asked me if I understood or did Dennis Jones and Rube Smith understand that I was the father of Minnie's child and I told him I didn't know what they understood.

Q. Who was that, Hopkins?

A. I don't know, sir, some man I don't know who he was.

Q. What kind of a looking man was he?

A. Well, he was a low kind of man.

Q. Do you know his name?

A. No, I don't remember his name.

Q. Did he wear glasses? A. I don't know that.

Q. Do you know Frank Long?

A. Never met him personally that I know of.

Q. Can you tell the Court who that was came to you and said they understood Dennis and Rube said that you were the father of that boy? A. He didn't say it that way.

Q. What did he say?

A. He asked me was it true that Dennis Jones and Rube Smith understood that I was the father of Minnie's child; I told him I didn't know what they understood.

Q. That was while they were taking the depositions or just before they were taking the depositions in Leavenworth in October, 1914, wasn't it?

A. I don't know, it has been a year or two ago.

Q. You remember the incident of taking the depositions, don't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it before that?

A. It was since that that this man asked me that.

Q. Now, who talked to you about that?

A. I don't know their names.

Q. Well, what did they say?

A. Oh, I couldn't tell you.

Q. Tell us the best you remember?

The Court: Who were they, white men or colored men?

A. They were white men.

The Court: How many of them?

A. Well, there was two.

The Court: Have you ever seen them since?

A. Not that I remember.

The Court: What did they say to you, how did they open the conversation?

A. Why, they wanted to know if I had ever known this Minnie Atkins, and I told them how I knew her.

Q. Well, where were you when were talking to those white men? A. Up in the National Hotel, they sent for me.

Q. They didn't say Indian Minnie, did they? A. No.

Q. You didn't know this woman as Indian Minnie, did you? No, sir.

Q. You never knew of an Indian Minnie being in Leavenworth? A. I didn't know her, no, sir.

Q. You never heard of such a woman about Leavenworth in 1884 and 1885, did you? A. No, I didn't then.

Q. You didn't then? A. No, sir.

The Court: How far was the place you were then living from where Granny Letcher lived at that time?

A. It was about five or six blocks, about six blocks I guess it was, maybe seven.

Q. Now, Hopkins, you say you have been here since last Tuesday with all these other witnesses. These other witnesses you have named have been here since last Tuesday?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. During any of that time, have you and any of the other witnesses been up here in the witness room?

A. I was.

Q. When? A. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Q. Were these other witnesses here at that time?

A. Miss Casey, the woman that is out there; I don't think any of the rest of them, but her and me.

Q. Rube Smith and Nat?

A. Well, Rube and Nat were there.

Q. Where were you Friday night and Saturday night?

A. Friday night after I left here I went home and went to bed, I was kind of sick.

Q. Did you have a meeting up there in your room on south Second street? A. No, sir.

Q. Friday and Saturday night? A. No, sir.

Q. Did not? A. No, sir.

Q. How long had you known Jane Anderson when you talked with her over there at Memphis?

A. I had never seen her until then.

Q. Have you ever seen her since? A. No, sir.

Q. Ever heard of her since? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, I believe you say you went to Granny's and saw Minnie there on Seneca street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Living right across the street from Crilley's barn?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, do you know where she lived before she lived at that place?

A. No, sir, I don't know the number, but I——

Q. You never went to her house any other place except on Seneca across from Crilley's barn? A. No, sir.

Q. You haven't been under the rule, that is come into the Court Room and have the Court put you under the rule since you have been here as a witness? A. No, sir.

Q. You haven't been inside this Court Room? A. No, sir.

Q. Who is the present Chief Officer of your Knights and Daughters of Tabor? A. Frank Wilson.

Q. Who is the present Chief Officer of your Knights and Ladies of Tabor? A. In Leavenworth, you mean?

Q. No, the chief officer? A. Rev. Frank Wilson.

Q. Where does he live? A. Topeka.

Q. What is his street address?

A. You want the Chief of the Body that we met then?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, he is dead, but the man in his place lives in Little Rock.

Q. What is his name? A. S. A. Jordan.

Q. Where does he live?

A. I forget his street number.

Q. And who is the Grand Secretary?

A. Well, I am of my jurisdiction.

Q. Who is the Chief Grand Secretary? A. A. R. Chinn.

Q. Where does he live? A. Glascoe, Missouri.

Q. Do you know his street address?

A. No, sir, he would get it if you sent it to him.

Examination by The Court.

Q. Are you still a coal miner?

A. Yes, sir, have been a coal miner ever since this occurred.

Q. Working in the coal mines at Leavenworth now?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What company do you work for? A. Home Riverside.

Q. Are you a digger or do you have some other work in the mines? A. Well, I have other work and then I dig too.

Recross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. When you met Minnie with the baby you asked her if that was her baby? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ask her who her husband was?

A. No, sir, I didn't ask her.

Q. Why didn't you? A. I didn't.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. I don't know whether I didn't think about it or didn't want to; anyhow I didn't ask her that.

Q. Did you ask who the child's father was? A. No, sir.

Q. Why didn't you? A. I didn't.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. After you first got acquainted with Minnie, how long did you see her around Leavenworth?

A. The last time I remember of seeing her was when the baby had hold of her hand standing on the corner of Fourth Street holding it by the hand.

Q. How long was that after you first got acquainted with her? A. Oh, it must have been about a year, maybe more.

Q. Then, you didn't see her any more? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't know what became of her? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you see the baby after that?

A. Not after I seen her with it then.

Q. That was the last time you ever saw the baby?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was the baby sufficiently developed for you to describe it? A. No, sir.

Q. What is its complexion?

A. Bright kind of a looking child.

Q. What was the color of its eyes?

A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Don't remember that?

A. I don't know, it was a bright color.

Q. What was the color of its hair?

A. Well, I just didn't notice. I just looked at its face like.

Q. Well, was it dark hair or light hair?

A. Well, it was dark.

Q. Were the eyes light or dark?

A. I couldn't say that.

Q. You don't remember? A. No, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. I misunderstood you a while ago evidently. The last time you saw Minnie was not the time you saw her with the baby in her arms? A. No, sir.

Q. You saw her about year afterwards with the baby standing on the sidewalk holding its hand? A. Yes, sir.

Q. During that period then where did she live?

A. I don't know, sir.

Q. How frequently did you see her during that period of time? A. I couldn't tell that?

Q. Did you see her frequently?

A. I have seen her a time or two just passing, but I never stopped her after that.

Q. Well, how far from Granny Letcher's then was she when you last saw her? A. Oh, she was eight or nine blocks.

Q. Are you a brother of Sis Hopkins? A. No, sir.

Q. Not related? A. No, sir. Have no sisters.

Q. Now, you examined this little baby with a veil very carefully, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, you looked at it? A. I just looked at it.

Q. Interesting child was it?

A. Fair looking little fellow, yes, sir.

Q. Was it awake or asleep? A. Had its eyes shut.

Q. And what was its name? A. I don't know.

Q. Why didn't you ask its mother its name?

A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't, did you ask the mother how old the child was?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did the child have hair on its head? A. Yes.

Q. Did have hair? A. It had hair.

Q. What color? A. Black.

Q. You remember that do you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the color of its eyes?

A. I didn't look at the eyes, it had them shut.

Q. Now, when you saw her on the street corner she was holding the little child by the hand, that is the way you saw it?

A. About a year after that or such a matter, yes, sir.

Q. She was holding the child by her hand? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the child was walking then?

A. Standing there when I passed, it wasn't walking when I passed.

Q. But it was standing alone itself?

A. She had hold of its hand there.

Q. How was it dressed? A. I don't know that.

Q. How was she dressed? A. I never noticed that.

Q. How old did the child then appear to be?

A. Well, the child was at that time something like a year old.

Q. Well, was it the same one? A. I don't know that.

Q. You don't know whether it was or not? A. No, sir.

Q. And it appeared to you about a year old at that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Hopkins, did you notice her appearance then?

A. This woman's?

Q. You looked at her and talked to her? A. When?

Q. You saw her standing there with the boy a year old?

A. I just spoke to her, she was talking to a woman there.

Q. Nothing unusual about her appearance?

A. I just spoke to her.
Q. She wasn't pregnant at that time was she?
A. I don't think so.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. You have been asked about some lawyers that sent for you to come down to the National Hotel and asked you about what Rube and Dennis understood about the father of that child. I will ask if it wasn't Mr. Allen and Mr. German that you met at that time?

A. That is one of the names, now, German.

Q. Is that the man sitting right opposite you?

A. I don't know, but he called himself German that was up there.

Q. Do you remember Judge Allen, sitting right here, this second man in the Jury Box?

A. I couldn't place the man but I remember one name since you called it; it was German, there was some German in it.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: At this time, we offer the deposition of W. P. Gempel, commencing at page 2563 of the transcript of depositions taken before Giles Penick, Special Examiner.

And thereupon W. P. GEMPEL being called on behalf of the defendant, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Will you state your name please? A. W. P. Gempel.

Q. And what is your business?

A. I am the bookkeeper at the Leavenworth Water Company.

Q. You are the custodian of the books and records of the Water Company?

A. I have charge of the records of the company.

Q. You have with you one of the records of the Leavenworth Water Company? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is that record called?

A. Well, it is called Contract File.

Q. Turning to page 750, I call your attention to the Contract No. 750, appearing on that page, I will ask you what that shows?

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, and hearsay.

By Mr. Allen: The further ground that it is not properly identified, and we now insist that if it is going to be offered at all, that the entire book be offered in evidence.

Q. Have you a contract made with the Water Company—Made between the Water Company and Max Harris?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. For water installation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At what place?

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that the instrument is the best evidence, and that the instrument itself has not been properly identified or proven, and that the evidence is hearsay—— The objection is withdrawn.

By Mr. Cruce: Go ahead and read it. He says he has withdrawn the objection.

A. This shows first that the Water service was put in the place in question, at 215 Cherokee Street.

By Mr. German: I move to strike that answer, and renew the objection. State into the record that at the time the objection was withdrawn, it was because of an agreement which perhaps doesn't appear, but since then the agreement is withdrawn.

By Mr. Blakeney: I want to say specially there has been no agreement made with me.

By Mr. German: I will state further that we have no objection to the introduction of those documents about which the witness is talking, or copies thereof.

Q. What is the date of that contract?

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that the contract speaks for itself.

A. October 23rd, 1885.

By Mr. Blakeney: I want the record to show that this contract is a purely collateral matter, and the witness may examine the contract and testify regarding its contents. It is not necessary for the production of the original.

By Mr. German: I save an exception to the order of the Court.

Q. And what does that contract call for?

By Mr. German: I object to that as hearsay, and calling for a conclusion and opinion of the witness.

A. It says: Please furnish water to supply premises indicated by our register 750 for the premises, based upon use herein named, to-wit: Saloon. No hose connection; and upon which the price is fixed amounting to ten dollars for the next twelve months, satisfactory to me, and I hereby promise to pay the Leavenworth and Fort Leavenworth Water Company the sum of ten ($10.00) dollars during the ensuing year, for the purpose above stated and at such time as their rules provide, and hereby acknowledge that the penalties following the violation of rules whereby the supply should be stopped by them, will not relieve me from the obligation hereby voluntarily assumed to pay for the full time.

Q. Is that signed by Max Harris?

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that the witness is not qualified and it is hearsay.

Q. Is there a signature attached to that contract?

A. Yes, sir.

By German: I object on the ground that the document is the best evidence.

Q. What is that signature? A. Max Harris.

Q. And is that accepted by the Company?

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that that is incompetent, and is hearsay, and that the witness is not qualified.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Does the acceptance appear on the contract itself?

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that the contract is the best evidence, or the acceptance as the case may be.

A. Accepted by the Leavenworth City and Fort Leavenworth Water Company.

Q. Read it please? A. J. R. Jones, Superintendent.

Q. Is there a signature attached to that acceptance.

By Mr. German: I object on the ground that the document is the best evidence.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is that signature?

By Mr. German: The same objection.

A. J. I. Jones, Superintendent.

By Mr. German: I think we can save a great deal of time if you agree that we object to every bit of this, on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and hearsay, and calling for an opinion and conclusion of the witness; that he is not qualified to testify concerning them, and that the documents are the best evidence. Are you willing?

By Mr. Hanford: I agree to that.

Q. Is there anything in that record to show that this installation was made? A. The installation, yes.

Q. What is the date of that record?

A. The date of installation, October 22nd, 1885.

Q. And what is that called, that instrument called?

A. Called the Plumber's Return.

Q. Is there a signature attached to that Plumber's return? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is that signature?

A. G. S. Miller, plumber. He was the person that installed the service, having had a permit from the Water Company.

Q. Is the permit attached to that return?

A. Yes, sir, a part of this instrument.

Q. Read that Plumber's Return, so much as shows what installation was made?

A. Leavenworth, October 22nd, 1885, the following fixtures have been attached as authorized in the above permit: 3-8 inch Corporation cocks——

Q. Just read that.

A. Leavenworth, Kansas, October 22nd, 1885. The following fixtures have been attached as authorized in the above permit.

Q. And following that is a description of the fixtures that were installed? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Allen: We object to that as an opinion and conclusion of Mr. Hanford.

Q. And then read from there on?

A. And the water left off. All work done as required by the rules of the Company, reference being made to the Company's diagram; signed, G. S. Miller as plumber.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. What position with this company are you now occupying? A. I am book-keeper.

Q. Bookkeeper for the same company?

A. For the Company.

Q. What is that volume that you have here in the Court Room, that you have been reading from?

A. It is the file of permits and contracts.

Q. What has been the rules of the Company with reference to preserving those permits and contracts and so forth?

A. As soon as they are signed up why we preserve them in a file of this kind and have them all on file at the office.

Q. You have been reading from page 750 and you read the first entry, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Or the first contract made in reference to these premises? A. That was the first contract made.

Q. Since that time other contracts have been made?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they follow that contract?

A. They follow in their respective order.

Q. This last one seems to have been made on the 9th day of April, 1912? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The first is the one that you attempted to identify?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. The first is the one that you attempted to identify?

A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Blakeney: I ask that this contract that he has identified be offered in evidence, and I would like to ask that the witness be allowed to—or some counsel allowed to read it into the record. Any objections?

By Mr. German: Not to that one, no.

By Mr. Blakeney: I will read it myself. Contract for Water Supply. To the Leavenworth City and Fort Leavenworth Water Company. Please furnish water to supply premises indicated by your Register No. 750, the rate for the premises based upon the uses as hereinafter, named, to-wit: Saloon, no hose connection. And upon which a price is fixed, amounting to ten ($10.00) dollars for the next twelve months is satisfactory to me, and I hereby promise to pay the Leavenworth City and Fort Leavenworth Water Company the sum of ten ($10.00) dollars during the ensuing year for the purposes above stated, at such time as their rules provide, and hereby acknowledge that the penalties following the violation of the rules, whereby the supply should be stopped by them, will not relieve me from the obligation hereby voluntarily assumed to pay for the full time. Should changes be made in my plans necessitating a larger supply than herein provided for, I agree to report the same for adjustment of rates, and in all respects hereby promise to abide by the rules and regulations of the Company. Signed Max Harris. Accepted, Leavenworth City and Fort Leavenworth Water Company, by J. I. Jones, Superintendent, October 23rd, 1885.

Q. I call your attention now to this instrument I have referred to and ask you to state what it is? And the next instrument that you have referred to?

A. The next is a permit and Plumber's Return. Permit to the Plumber to install service and Return attached.

Q. And on the left hand of this document I notice that it is a plat? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Showing where the water mains are located in that street, and the point of distance from Second Street where the plat was made? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is that instrument, is it a part of the records and files of your office? A. It is.

Q. And this same book that you have identified?

A. Same, yes, sir.

Q. Can you tell what premises that refers to?

A. Refers to 215 Cherokee Street.

Q. 215 Cherokee Street? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Blakeney: I offer to give it in evidence and ask to read it into the record, as it is pasted into a large book, the City and Fort Leavenworth Water Company permit No. 750, Leavenworth, Kansas, October 22nd, 1885. Mr. M. Harris is hereby authorized to have service pipes connected with the mains to supply premises, situated at No. 215 Cherokee Street, between Second and Third Street, with water. J. I. Jones, I. H. Superintendent.

Q. What does that I. H., I just read, refer to?

A. I don't know what that I. H. means.

By Mr. Blakeney: Plumber's Return. Leavenworth, Kansas, October 22nd, 1885, the following fixtures have been attached as authorized in the above permit: 3-8 m Corporation Cocks; 36 in ft. of ½ m Iron pipe; 2 Stop Box and cock; 38 ft. 6½ in Iron Pipe to Stop & Waste Cock at front wall; 1-½ in. plain bibb, and the water left off. All work done as required by the rules of the company, reference being made to the Company diagram. G. F. Miller, Plumber—I have inspected the above described job of plumbing and find it as reported by the plumber, and have left the water on. Leavenworth, December, 14th, 1885, James H. Foley, Inspector. Index hand: Plumbers are required to give street number by premises and number, and make their return as clear and full as possible, taking care to state whether bibs and hydrants are plain or "Hose connections," and always to take out a permit for each stop box where more than one street number is supplied. Ketcheson & Hubble Printing & Engravers, Leavenworth.

Q. What is the custom about the inspector making inspections of premises?

A. Well, after a plumber makes his return, the inspector is given an instrument and he compares whether the installation is made according to his record, and whether it is made according to the rules of the Water Company.

Q. What is the custom or habit in reference to the time that he does it?

> By Mr. German: I object, unless witness shows that such was the custom at that time as well as now.

A. The date shown here is December 14th, 1885, the Inspection was made at that time.

Q. Well, do they still follow the same rule now that they did then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did they make inspection immediately after?

A. Well, that depends how soon the Plumbers make their return, sometimes the plumbers don't bring in their permits immediately, but as soon as practicable.

> By Mr. Allen: We object to that and ask that the answer be stricken unless the witness knows what the custom was at that time.

Q. When did you go to work for this company?

A. 1910.

Q. Is Miller, the plumber whose name is signed there, in business in Leavenworth at this time? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't know anything about where C. S. Miller is?

A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Mr. Gempel, you say a plumber didn't always make his return promptly? The plumbers don't always make their return promptly, do they after they have finished a job of plumbing?

A. Well, according to the rule of the Company, they are to make their returns, at least now we have the custom that they make their returns as soon as they have finished the work.

Q. But they don't always do that do they?

A. Sometimes they do.

Q. But you don't know what the custom was or the requirements in 1885? A. No, sir.

Q. The inspector makes an inspection of the property as soon as the plumbers return is handed in, doesn't he?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. The water is not turned on until the plumber hands in his return is it? A. No, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Where does the Inspector get the instrument that we have offered in evidence there?

A. Well, the Inspector gets it right at the office.

Q. From your office? A. From the office, yes, sir.

Q. He then gets it after the plumber has turned it in to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. As a rule they turn it over to the inspector immediately after you receive it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But he sometimes holds it for sometime before making inspection? A. Sometimes a few days elapse.

Q. Well, I see in that particular case it appears to be from October 23rd until December something?

A. December 14th, I see is the date he signed it, the Inspector.

Q. I notice it seems to be about the same length of time? Is that the custom now? A. Now, sir.

Q. They do it more promptly now? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Now, did they turn the water on before the Inspector examined the plumbing?

A. Well, sometimes now it is like this way: The consumer, of course, likes to have the water as soon as possible and no sooner has the plumber finished than they come down and want the water turned on. Of course we can't do that unless we have, either by 'phone or some other way, been instructed that the plumber is through and the job is ready, but to accommodate the customer, we very often turn on the water before we have the instrument returned.

Q. But that is not according to the rules?

A. That is not according to the rules.

Q. The rules are, are they not, that the water is turned on at the time of the inspection—— If the inspector finds that the plumbing and fittings are O. K.

A. The water is turned on more frequently, I should say, as soon as the contract is signed by the consumer. We turn the water on and then leave the inspection if it hasn't been done yet, until we can get to it. Those things sometimes pile up and inspection really may be delayed some days, but when a customer wants the water, we are not going to wait until the inspector gets a chance to inspect it. The plumber makes his return and the papers are ready and the consumer has signed his contract.

Q. But the only time that water is turned on before the inspection is made is when some unusual circumstances there is an urgency for it?

A. I would say that the water is turned on as soon as the contract is signed, that would be a general rule, when a person signs a contract he wants the water, and of course we give it to them.

Q. Don't they sometimes sign contracts before they have even plumbed the house for it?

A. Yes, very seldom, it is not the rule.

Q. What is the purpose of an inspection?

A. An inspection?

Q. By the City Water Inspector?

A. There might perhaps be a wrong impression. You know this is a private company and an inspector signs here as a Company officer, he is not a City Official.

Q. What is the purpose of his inspection?

A. His inspection is for the purpose of seeing whether the plumber has carried out the rules of the company, and whether the plumbing is according to the rules of the Company.

Q. Now, I notice that the plumbers report shows that the water was left off and the inspector's report shows that it was left on. Now, you don't know when the water was left on, do you, you have no knowledge of it? A. Not from this.

Q. Not from those documents nor from any other source you don't know when it was turned on?

A. That is the procedure, as soon as the contract——

Q. You are speaking of the procedure now, aren't you?

A. Yes, I wont say anything about what it was at that time.

Q. You don't know, you don't know who was occupying that house at all, do you?

A. Have no information upon that subject—occupying the house?

Q. Yes? A. No.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cruce.

Q. You don't know except what appears from that record? A. No, sir.

By Mr. German: I object to that as calling for a conclusion and opinion of the witness, and as hearsay. If answered before my objection, I move to strike the answer for that reason.

By Mr. Hanford: Mr. German, do you agree that copies of those record, just certified to by the Secretary of the Company, that they are true copies and may be produced in evidence?

By Mr. German: Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Gembel, will you have copies of those two records that you have testified to made and certified as true copies by the Secretary of the Company? A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Cruce: We have got them read in now.

(Witness dismissed).

And thereupon, A. W. HOPKINS was recalled for further cross examination, and testified as follows:

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. You don't remember the two men you talked to about two years ago? A. No, sir.

Q. You couldn't describe them to the Court? A. No, sir.

Q. You have heard that father story before you saw those two men? A. This German?

Q. Yes, hadn't you heard that story that possibly somebody was claiming that you was the father of Minnie's child before you saw these two men?

A. Well, the way I understood one of the men there was named German.

The Court: The question is, had anybody——

A. No, sir.

The Court: Suggested to you as to whether you were the father of this child before Mr. German and the other gentleman talked to you?

A. No, sir, nobody had.

Q. These men talked with you some little time there at the National Hotel, didn't they? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were in their room? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was just two years ago?

A. I don't remember the time.

Q. And you can't describe their appearance to the Court?

A. I don't think I can.

(Witness dismissed).

And thereupon, M. A. HARRIS, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., being first duly sworn, under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Your name is M. A. Harris? A. Max A. Harris.

Q. You live in Kansas City, Missouri? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is your business, Mr. Harris?

A. I am a whiskey salesman, traveling salesman for a wholesale whiskey house.

Q. Mr. Harris, you formerly lived in Leavenworth, did you not? A. Yes, that was a good many years ago.

Q. A good many years ago? A. Yes.

Q. State whether or not you ever occupied the premises at 215 Cherokee street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you have in there?

A. I had a saloon in there.

Q. And you had your residence up stairs? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember of having water installed there for saloon purposes and household purposes up stairs?

A. Yes, sir. When I leased that property, that property was in bad shape and so I had to remodel it and had waterworks put in, and electric lights, and so forth.

Q. You had it remodeled and fixed up? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had it remodeled, you say? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how much remodeling did you have done?

A. Well, I put in all the flooring up stairs and down stairs, front, and had it plastered inside and painted outside.

Q. Do you remember whether or not the water was installed before or after the repairing?

A. Well, it was I guess before.

Q. You had the repairing done first?

A. No, the water was, I believe; I don't know when they put the water in; I believe they put the water in before I put the flooring in.

Q. Do you know who occupied the premises before you?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where they vacant when you rented them?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know how long they had been vacant?

A. Oh, they may have been vacant a long time; it was all——

Mr. Pinson: Objected to as a conclusion.

The Court: Unless he knows, I will not consider that.

Q. What was the appearance as to whether it had been occupied a short time ago or——

Q. It was kind of wasted, like somebody was not occupying it a good while.

The Court: Is this place you are referring to some place that has been referred to before?

Mr. Hanford: Yes, your Honor, it is the place where Granny Letcher lived before she moved to Seneca street.

The Court: What was the number?

Mr. Hanford: 215 Cherokee, in connection with some record introduced with the deposition.

Q. Do you remember the date that you moved in there? Went in there? A. No, sir.

Q. You have no recollection of that? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Granny Letcher? A. No, sir.

Q. An old colored woman? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear of her there? A. No, sir.

Q. You simply found a place vacant and rented it and moved in there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know who you rented it from?

A. Mrs. Cranston.

Q. From Mrs. Cranston; you didn't see any colored people in there at the time that you moved in? A. No.

Q. Didn't see any tenant?

A. No, it was all upset; all out, the windows and doors; it was a good location for business is the reason I leased it. I leased it from Mrs. Cranston for three years and had it fixed up.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You don't know just when you went into that house, do you?

A. No, sir, it was 1885 but I can't tell you just exactly.

Q. It was after the water was turned in? A. Yes.

Q. The water was turned in on October 23, 1885; wasn't it? A. Yes.

Q. And it was after that sometime that you moved in?

A. Yes.

Q. But you don't know who had just occupied it or when they moved out with reference to the time you went in?

A. No, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Harris, you had water when you moved in, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, LIZZIE KAZEY, being a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., being first duly sworn, testified under oath as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Your name is Lizzie Kazey? A. Yes.
Q. You spell it K-a-z-e-y? A. Yes.
Q. How old are you, Lizzie? A. 57 years old.
Q. How long have you lived in Leavenworth? A. '72.

The Court: Talk this way; you have got to make me hear, and all these men all over here, hear you; tell me out loud now, what is your name.

Q. Lizzie Kazey.

The Court: Alright now, talk that loud all the way through.

Q. What is your business, Lizzie? A. Laundry.
Q. You are a laundress? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You work out by the day? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Lizzie, did you know Granny Letcher? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you ever visit her?
A. Why, I went to her house to see her.
Q. Went to her house occasionally?
A. To see her, yes, sir.
Q. Did you know her when she lived on Cherokee street?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. And where else did you know her?
A. When she lived on Cherokee street.
Q. And where else did you go to see her? What other street—did you go to see her on Seneca street? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where was that on Seneca street?
A. Where did she live on Seneca street?
Q. Yes?
A. She lived on Seneca street between Second and Third on the south——
Q. Yes—between Second and Third?
A. On the south side of the street.
Q. Did you ever know an Indian girl there; did you ever see any there at her house?
A. Well, I seen a woman there that they called an Indian—Minnie Atkins.

Mr. Linebaugh: Speak out loud; what did you say?

Q. I said yes, I seen one there.
Q. What was her name? A. Called her Minnie Atkins.
Q. Did you meet her there at the house?

A. I seen her there.

Q. You have seen her there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many times did you see her there? How many times did you see her, Lizzie? A. I seen her twice.

Q. Do you know what year that was?

A. Well, I didn't hardly date and tiem down the date I was there; I know I seen her there twice.

Q. Did she have any children did you know?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many? A. I never seen but one there.

Q. What kind of a child was that? How old?

A. Well, when I seen it it was two years old.

Mr. Linebaugh: How old?

A. Two years old.

Q. Do you know its exact age or are you telling just what you think? A. No, it was two years old.

Q. You think it was two years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know its name? A. Tommy.

Q. Know its last name?

A. Called it Tommy Atkins is all I know about it, is all I can tell you.

Q. Where did you see the boy?

A. Just when I was in there the last time.

Q. When you were there the last time?

A. Yes, been quite a while ago.

Q. And you were there twice? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far apart?

A. It was about a week difference between the time I was and seen the child.

Q. Saw her and the child there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you didn't visit Granny very often?

A. Not very frequently, no, sir.

Q. How did you come to be there?

A. I just knew her, an old lady and I went for advice from her.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. You went there twice, Lizzie? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And these visits were two weeks apart? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The first time you didn't see the child?

A. I seen the child both times I was there.

Q. Oh, both times you were there? A. Yes.

Q. And it was about two years old? A. Yes.

Q. What kind of looking child was it?

A. A very bright looking little boy; a very pretty little boy at that time.

Q. Did you see any other boys there?

A. No, I didn't look for any; that was the only one I seen in that room, where I was at.

Q. And it was about two years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when was that?

A. As I say, I don't know the day and date, but I know I seen it.

Q. What year was it?.

A. I don't know; I didn't put that down either.

Q. Do you know how old you are now? A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. How old are you? A. I am 57 years old.

Q. What is it? A. 57 years old.

Q. 57? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How old were you then?

A. I don't know; I don't never put that down, Judge.

Q. Well, about how old were you?

A. I don't know; never counted it up; been quite a while ago.

Q. How long did you live in Leavenworth?

A. I was an old citizen there.

Q. Now, you can talk louder than you are talking. You tell us so I can hear you.

A. I am talking as loud as I possibly can, as I usually talk.

Q. Now, where were you born?

A. Born in Jackson County, Missouri.

Q. How old were you when you moved to Leavenworth?

A. Well, I don't know exactly right at the time.

Q. About how old were you, Lizzie?

A. I was quite a little girl.

Q. Well, what do you mean by that?

A. I don't know exactly how old I was when I came from Missouri.

Q. When did you go to Leavenworth?

A. You mean since I been grown or since——

Q. When you moved to Leavenworth, when was that?

A. I said I was a little girl; don't know the time, at that time.

Q. You said awhile ago '72, didn't you?

A. I asked you if you mean citizen—'72, I'd been a citizen in Leavenworth.

Q. You moved to Leavenworth in 1872?

A. I guess it was.

Q. Your father and mother then living?

A. When I came to Leavenworth—no, sir.

Q. Who did you come to Leavenworth with?

A. A family of white folks.

Q. What were their names? A. Skinner.

Q. How long did you live with them?

A. Lived with them 11 years.

Q. Eleven years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, then when you left Skinner's where did you go?

A. I got married.

Q. You got married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, was it before you got married or after you got married that you made these two visits to Granny Letcher's?

A. After I got married.

Q. How long after you got married?

A. Now, I don't know that time, either.

Q. About how long?

A. You mean after I was married, you mean?

Q. I married May 11th, '82.

Q. May 11th, '82? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Alright; now about how long was it after you got married that you made this visit to Granny Letcher?

A. I don't know that; I don't think I—I never kept that in my memory.

Q. I know, but about how long?

A. I can't say; I wouldn't say because I want to tell the truth.

Q. Was it a year? A. Could have been two years.

Q. What?

A. Could have been two years; I could have been married two years, I judge by that time.

Q. Now, you went to Granny for advice, didn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. What kind of advice were you seeking?

A. I was seeking something for the benefit of myself; how to get along to live—that is what I was looking for.

Q. Were you expecting a baby or something like that?

A. No indeed, no indeed.

Q. You have given birth to children, have you? Have you any children? A. No, never had any children.

Q. When you got married what part of town did you go to live? A. Miami street.

Q. Miami street; how long did you live on Miami street?

A. I don't know.

Q. About how long? You remember about how long you lived at the first home of your own that you ever had don't you?

The Court: Were you living on Miami street when you were—went to see Granny Letcher?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where were you living? A. Living on Osage street.

Q. Osage street? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, how long had you been living on Osage street before you went to see Granny Letcher?

A. I don't think—I didn't put that down either; I never kept track of that. I know I was living there.

Q. Well, I am trying, Lizzie, to find out if I can about when it was that you went to see Granny Letcher and that is why I am asking you these questions about how long you lived on Miami street and how long you lived on Osage street.

A. You mean how long I lived on Osage street?

A. Yes.

A. I lived there five years after I moved there; lived there five years.

Q. If you can, tell us how long you lived there; can you tell us about how long you lived on Miami street?

A. I am just trying to think how long I did live on Miami; I think I lived on Miami, where I told you, I think I lived there about a year.

Q. About a year? A. Something along there, yes, sir.

Q. Then you lived over there on Osage Street?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And how long had you been living in the Osage Street house before you went over to see Granny?

A. I can't tell you that because I don't remember exactly how long I had been living at that time but I lived on Osage Street five years.

Q. I know, but you went over to see Granny for advice?

A. Yes.

Q. What was the occasion for you calling for advice?

A. Like any child that didn't have any mother.

Q. Did you ever go any other place for advice?

A. I had no other place to go at that time.

Q. Did you ever go any other place for advice?

A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Anything come up in your home that you wanted advice then for?

A. Nothing only just got married and I didn't know how to go about the house—naturally would want to ask somebody how to do.

Q. You had been married at that time a year hadn't you?

A. That is just what I have been trying to find out.

Q. Can you give us some idea how long you were living at the Osage house when you went to Granny's?

A. Well, it could have been during that year that I moved there but I don't remember exactly what day it is.

Q. I know but is that your best memory now?

Q. Yes, sir.

Q. Your best memory is that during the first year you moved on Osage Street, is that right? A. Yes, sir, I——

Q. Do you move to Miami Street as soon as you got married?

A. Yes, sir, that is where I lived when I got married.

Q. You got married in June, '82? A. I said May.

Q. In May, 1882, and when you went to Granny's this child was about two years old, is that right; is that your best judgment? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, let's see. Do you know a woman named Sadie James? A. Sadie James?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir, I seen her.

Q. A colored woman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Small woman? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have a talk with her along in December, 1914, about that time? A. She was at my house.

Q. She was at your house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what did you all talk about, Lizzie, when Sadie came out there to your house?

A. Well, Judge, I didn't have much of a talk for her because I didn't know what business——

Q. What?

A. I didn't have much talk with her at the time.

Q. Well, what little you did have, what was it about?

By the Court.

Q. Lizzie, look here at me; you will have to tell me about this. I have got to hear; what did Sadie say when she came out there.

A. I was just thinking what she did tell me.

Q. Alright now, think.

A. That is what I was trying to get together.

Q. You don't need to use her exact words, if you can't remember, but just what did she talk about when she came out?

A. She asked me if at that time did I know Mary Letcher, and I told her I did.

Q. Asked you if you knew Mary Letcher? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you told her you did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did she say anything else and what else did she ask you? A. Why, she asked me about some children she had.

Q. Now, what did she ask about that? Just as near as you can remember.

A. Asked me about—did I remember any boys that Aunt Mary had—that she raised around there and I told her I did, and she asked who it was and I told her.

Q. What did you tell her?

A. I told her that I remembered one that she had there named Walter.

Q. Anything else?

A. I remembered Sammy Nash that she had around there; I didn't know whether she raised him or not.

Q. Anything else about anybody else living there?

A. No, sir, I don't think I did.

By Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Lizzie, you told her that you knew Walter Banks, didn't you?

A. Yes, I seen him—lived on Cherokee Street when I seen him.

Q. Now, you knew that they were taking testimony up there at Leavenworth in 1914, in the month of December, didn't you Lizzie?

A. No, I didn't know what she was after me for when she was asking me. You all asked me for the truth—I don't know what she was after.

Q. About two months before you were talking to her, you knew they had taken testimony of some witnesses there, didn't you?

A. I didn't know what she was after. I am telling you just what I didn't know.

Q. Now, did you tell Sadie James, Lizzie, that they wanted you to swear that you knew Indian Minnie and Tommy and you had agreed to do it but when the time came God wouldn't let you swear that lie; that you were 51 years old and a Christian?

A. I never told her anyone was after me because I didn't know what she wanted with me at that time.

The Court: Now, did you tell her that other?

Q. Did you tell her this other, Lizzie?

A. No, sir, I never told her nothing like that. Some gentlemen was with her, I don't know who it was, but I never told her that, though. I didn't tell her somebody was trying to get me to swear because I didn't know what it was when she came to my house.

Q. Did you tell her anything about God wouldn't let you swear that lie?

A. If I did, Judge, I done forgotten it; I don't remember anything like that.

Q. Well, did they want you to swear to that?

A. No, sir, only someone come and got me a year ago I think it was this month when they had court down at Leavenworth—I don't know who that was either.

Q. What kind of looking person was he?

A. A man not quite as big as you are—I don't know who he was. Man read the subpoena to me and said they wanted me down to the courthouse and I went.

Q. Now, who all have you talked to about your trip to Granny Letcher's? A. I haven't talked to anyone.

Q. You have talked to someone, haven't you, Lizzie?

A. No, I didn't have anyone to talk to.

Q. Well, how come them to find out how you knew?

A. Only ones that came to my house.

Q. Who came to get you to come down here to Muskogee?

A. Mr. Graham.

Q. What Graham? A. Pomp Graham.

Q. Is he a hackdriver up there?

A. Pomp Graham? I don't know.

Q. Well, what did Pomp Graham say to you when he came?

A. Told me to be ready is all I know.

Q. When was that? A. 10th.

Q. 10th day of May? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you talked to Pomp Graham before then?

A. No, sir.

Q. Talked before that?

A. I hadn't seen him before to talk to about coming down here until that evening I was coming from my work.

Q. Well, now, Lizzie, before you talked to Pomp Graham, they served a subpoena on you to come down to the courthouse in Leavenworth, didn't they? A. Yes.

Q. Now, who served that subpoena?

A. I don't know the gentleman; I just told you I don't know who he was.

Q. Did you go down to the courthouse?

A. Certainly, I went down with him.

Q. Did you testify?

A. Testified just what I am telling here now.

Q. Did you testify?

A. Just what I am telling about here; they asked me did I know them.

Q. Did you hold up your hand? A. No, I didn't do that.

Q. Didn't swear? A. No.

Q. Who talked to you?

A. I am not acquainted with the lawyers there at home and I don't know who he was.

Q. That was in October, 1914, wasn't it, Lizzie?

A. No, fifteen, I think.

Q. 1915? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, is there anybody here in the room that you talked to at that time? When you were served with the subpoena?

A. I don't know any gentleman in here; I don't know any of my home folks, only one or two.

Q. What did Pomp Graham say? Tell all that he said to you when he came to find out if you would come down to Muskogee?

A. I can't tell you nothing he said only he told me to get ready to come down here and I told him I couldn't come down here and he told me I had to come.

Q. Why did you tell him you couldn't come?

A. Well, when he first asked me I didn't know what I had to come down here for; I wasn't thinking about the trial.

Q. He explained it to you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Tell what he said.

A. Told me to get ready to come down here for the trial is all.

Q. He explained to you about the case—what was that?

A. I mean about coming down here.

Q. What was it?

A. He told me the Government would send me down here.

Q. The Government would send you down here?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What else was that?

A. That is all he said and bid me the evening.

Q. Told you the Government wanted you down here?

A. That is all he told me.

Q. That the Government would send you down to Muskogee? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you thought that was true, did you?

A. I don't know; I told him I couldn't leave my work, and he told me I had to leave my work and come.

Q. And when you got down to the depot, did you see Pomp again? A. At Leavenworth?

Q. Yes. A. No, sir.

Q. Who got your ticket for you?

A. I never seen Mr. Graham.

Q. Answer my question.

The Court: Who got your ticket for you, Lizzie?

A. Mr. Jones.

Q. What Mr. Jones? A. Mr. Dennis Jones.

Q. Oh, yes. Who else was there, Lizzie? A. When?

Q. When you got your ticket there at the depot?

A. That was coming down here?

Q. Yes. A. Mrs. Brown.

Q. Who else? Name them all. A. And Mrs. Mitchell.

Q. Go ahead; name them all.

A. And Mr. Jones, himself; I believe that is all.

Q. Rube Smith? A. I had forgotten Rube Smith.

Q. Nat Burns? A. And Nat Burns, yes, sir.

Q. Barney Cleveland? A. I don't know him.

Q. Hopkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, name them all. A. Well, Mr. Jones, and Miss Kazey—that is myself.

Q. Yes? A. And Miss Brown and Miss Mitchell, and Mr. Rube Smith, and Nat Burns, and Albert Hopkins.

Q. Well, you all talked about coming to Muskogee, didn't you; you talked about the case? A. I was coming down there.

Q. And you talked about what you knew about it and the others told what all they knew about it? A. No.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. Well, we could find other things to talk about.

Q. You were all traveling right in a party together?

A. Well, we were but we didn't talk over that matter.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. We had other things to employ our mind.

Q. That was the very thing you were making the trip for?

A. Yes, I know it.

Q. When you got down to Muskogee when was that?

A. Got here in Muskogee.

Q. When? A. Six o'clock Wednesday evening.

Q. Wednesday morning? A. Evening.

Q. You went down here on South Second Street?

A. I don't know what street.

Q. How did you know where to go?

A. I went with Mr. Jones.

Q. And you have been down there ever since?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You all have been talking about what you knew about this case, haven't you? A. Why, no.

Q. You haven't? Well, why haven't you?

A. Why should I?

Q. You haven't been up to the courthouse, you haven't been here? A. This is my first time in here.

Q. Lizzie, who is going to pay you for coming down here?

A. I don't know.

Q. Didn't you ask about that? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you ask Dennis? A. No.

Q. Didn't you ask Pump? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, do you know how much you are going to get for coming down here? A. No, I don't know.

Q. Well, who is paying your expenses?

A. I suppose the Government is paying, they got me down here.

Q. You think the Government has got you down here?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else told you that the Government had you here besides Pump or Graham?

A. Nobody didn't tell me anything.

Q. Well, have you talked to Dennis about that?

A. No, sir, we ain't together.

Q. But you think the Government has got you here right now? A. I think it anyhow.

Q. You think it anyhow? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What lawyers have you talked to since you have been here? A. I ain't seen none.

Q. None at all. Some of these lawyers have talked to you, haven't they, Lizzie?

A. If they are lawyers I don't know.

Q. Any of these men sitting around in the room been talking to you at all? A. I can't pick them out.

Q. You know Mr. Bond, don't you, he lives up at Leavenworth? A. I know Lee Bond, but I haven't seen him.

Q. You haven't seen—have you seen this man over there, do you know him? A. I have seen him out in the hall.

Q. You have talked to all of these men haven't you, Lizzie, they have talked to you about what you knew in this case?

The Court: Well, I will assume that.

Mr. Linebaugh: I was trying to find out why the witness was trying to conceal it.

The Court: If she is trying to conceal it, I doubt if you will be able to find out why.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. You are pretty well acquainted in Leavenworth, aren't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Lived there forty-five years; you knew Granny Letcher pretty well in her lifetime?

A. Yes, I was pretty well acquainted with her.

Q. You knew her well enough to go to her for advice? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You had known her for several years then?

A. I really knew her before I was married.

The Court: I want you to talk up loud so the stenographer and I can hear you. I don't hear very well and you have to talk loud, now talk loud.

Q. You had gotten well enough acquainted with her to go to her for advice? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you testified awhile ago that she was the only party you knew you could go to for advice? A. I did.

Q. You must have known her pretty well. Now, you continued to know her until she died a number of years afterwards, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when you went to her for advice, you say this child Tommy Atkins was about two years old? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that right? A. Yes, that is what I said.

Q. There was other children playing around the house and around the yard there? A. Around the house.

Q. Did you see any other children there at the time?

A. No small ones right there.

Q. Well, any a little larger? A. No, sir.

Q. Wasn't Sam Nash and Walter Banks around there?

A. Might have been out playing.

Q. They lived with Granny at that time?

A. They were at that time.

Q. And they lived with her for a number of years?

A. I don't know how long Walter stayed there, I know he was there.

Q. Well, both of them stayed there a number of years; the fact is, Granny Letcher practically raised those boys didn't she? A. Yes.

Q. You also saw this boy Tommy Atkins playing around there with those boys for a number of years?

A. No, I wouldn't say that because I wasn't around there.

Q. Well, for quite a while?

A. When I was there he was running around in the house.

Q. I am not speaking about that one trip, but after that you saw the boy around there frequently, didn't you; you saw this boy Tommy Atkins there with Walter Banks and Sam Nash frequently after that playing around in the yard and different places close to Granny Letcher's, isn't that right?

A. Well, I never seen him playing with Sammy and never seen him playing with Walter.

Q. You have seen them around there?

A. Seen him in the house when I was there he was in the house.

Q. Did you ever see him any other time?

A. I said I seen him twice and every time he was in the house.

Q. You never saw him but twice, just the two times during all the time that you saw Granny Letcher is all you saw him?

A. Yes, sir.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, FRANK HEIS, a witness called and sworn for and on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins et al., testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Bond.

Q. What is your name, age, and residence?

A. Frank Heis, seventy years old April 22nd, last.

Q. Your residence? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. How long have you lived in Leavenworth?

A. Since 1868.

Q. What is your business, Mr. Heis?

A. I have worked in the marble granite and stone business.

Q. About how many years have you been in that business?

A. Why, ever since '73, 1873.

Q. In 1884, did you have work done at Lansing, Kansas?

A. We had a contract five years and our contract was about expiring.

Q. You spoke of we, who is we, were you in partnership?

A. I was in partnership with S. F. Burdett.

Q. You contemplated, did you, moving your factory into Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did Mr. Burdett own any property there in Leavenworth at that time, vacant property?

A. Yes, Mr. Burdett owned quite considerable property. This property where we contemplated putting our shop at.

Q. Tell the court where that was?

A. This was on Choctaw Street, the third and fourth lot east of Dels Bottling Works, Dels was on the corner occupying two lots, then there is another lot in there owned by an old German lady named Mrs. Schiller; then Mr. Burdett had the next two lots after that.

Q. Was there a building on the lot owned by Mrs. Schiller? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the nature of it? A. Frame house.

Q. I will ask you whether or not in the spring of 1885 you endeavored to get the Schiller property?

A. Why, yes, we were contemplating building there and I insisted that we didn't have enough room and that we ought to have three lots to carry on the stone business and monumental business. Then I tried to negotiate with Mrs. Schiller to see whether we could buy that.

Q. Did you buy that?

A. No, sir, we did not. She asked too much money, more than we could afford to pay for it and that was the reason we didn't buy it.

Q. Did you call upon Mrs. Schiller, did you personally?

A. I personally seen her, went to her house and seen her there.

Q. She was living there then was she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you if she moved out of that house?

A. She told me——

Q. No, you can't tell what she told you. Did you see her?

A. She moved away that spring, yes, sir.

Q. And who moved in?

A. What I knew at that time. Lilly White was her name.

Q. After that, what did you do with reference to preparing this lot or measuring it?

A. I had to make my plans for the building and my calculations, if we bought that lot of Mrs. Schiller, we could put up a larger building; and by not getting that lot we had to curtail our building to a smaller size and of course I was getting ready where we wanted the building, we wanted to move ourselves in there, move our stuff in there so we wouldn't have to remove it.

Q. You were then commencing to move from Lansing into Leavenworth? A. Yes.

Q. About what time of the spring would you say your best judgment was that Mrs. Schiller moved out and Lilly White moved in?

A. It was early in the spring. Of course we wanted to get our building up and have it in good shape.

Q. Early in the spring of 1885? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see her then afterwards, Lilly White?

A. Why, yes.

Q. And how long did you remain next door there with your plant?

A. Why, I stayed there from the time we built it up until the year following, 1886.

Q. And then you and Mr. Burdett dissolved partnership?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You went in for yourself? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And have been in business ever since? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. How long did Lilly White live there?

A. Why, she lived there from the spring after Miss Schiller moved out and lived there as long as I knew until I left there.

Q. When did you leave there?

A. In the summer of 1886.

Q. She was still living there in the spring of 1886 when you left? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you build that building that you and Mr. Burdett occupied there? A. Why, there in 1885.

Q. What time in 1885?

A. Well, it was during the spring, getting ready to put in a foundation and get our building up. Of course we was still running out at the penitentiary but I was there for two or three days to see about.

Q. It was in the spring that you were getting ready to put up that building? A. What say?

Q. Was it in the spring you were getting ready to put up that building? A. Yes, sir, it was in April.

Q. When you put up the building?

A. We put it up that summer.

Q. What time in the summer?

A. Well, towards—during the season.

Q. About what time? A. June or July.

Q. What sized building was it?

A. It was about sixty feet by twenty-five—hold on, a hundred and fifty, yes, seventy-five, I don't remember just exactly the size of the building now. Of course I didn't pay much attention to that part after we got it built.

Q. When did you and Mr. Burdett enter into a partnership? A. In the summer of 1886.

Q. Summer of 1886? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That is when you put up that building?

A. Put it up before in 1885.

Q. You put it up before——

The Court: I understood him to say they dissolved in 1886.

Q. When did you and Mr. Burdett form a partnership?

A. In 1877.

Q. In 1877? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you continued in partnership for some ten years?

A. About nine years.

Q. Well, how long, tell the court just exactly?

A. Well, nine years.

Q. To a day?

A. Well, it might have been a few days over or month over. Of course I know when I figured it up at that time it was about nine years.

Q. When did you first come to Leavenworth?

A. In 1868 in September.

Q. What was your business then?

A. I was a marble cutter at that time.

Q. A marble cutter? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was your place of business at the start?

A. Well, on Cherokee Street next to the Continental Hotel.

Q. Were you in business for yourself or somebody else?

A. I was foreman for Elksburn & Sprague.

Q. How long did you work for them? A. Until 1873.

Q. Seventy-three? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time in the year?

A. That was in the spring of 1873.

Q. Was it in the spring of '77 you came to Leavenworth?

A. Sixty-eight.

Q. Was it in the spring of 1868?

A. In the fall of 1868, September.

Q. All right, in the spring then— What year was it you went to work?

A. 1873 I went in with Elksburn & Sprague, the men I worked for.

Q. The man you worked for? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the spring of 1873? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you stay in business with him?

A. Until he sold out to Mr. Burdett.

Q. What year was that? A. In 1877.

Q. What time in the year?

A. Well, now, that I just don't remember but I know it was in 1877, I think it was in the fall or during the summer.

Q. Summer or fall? A. Yes.

Q. But you don't remember distinctly?

A. Well, I never went to work and charged my memory.

Q. Tell the court how you fixed the time you and Mr. Burdett started this building as being in the spring?

A. Because our contract expired in 1885, the latter part of 1885, and we wanted to get our machinery and put it up as we brought it from the penitentiary.

Q. Your contract expired in the fall of 1885?

A. Yes, out at the penitentiary.

Q. What time in the fall? A. Latter part of the fall.

Q. And you wanted a building down town to put your machinery in? A. Yes, sir.

Q. So you could go on with your business? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What sized building did you say that was you put up there?

A. It was about sixty or seventy feet long and twenty-five feet wide.

Q. How high?

A. The front part was high enough so we could put our gang of saws in.

Q. Well, was it a one-story building? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it made of brick or frame? A. Brick.

Q. How thick were the walls? A. A foot.

Q. A foot thick? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You mean to tell the Court that you commenced this building, that little building in the spring of 1885 so that you would have it ready by the late fall of 1885 for your machinery? A. Yes.

Q. You do. You got it ready in plenty of time, did you?

A. Oh, well, we kept putting it up, the machinery inside during the winter time.

Q. During the winter of 1885 and '6? A. Yes.

Q. You kept adding to that building and you got it finally finished?

A. No, sir, we were putting up the machinery inside. It didn't take long to put up a building of that kind.

Q. Why, of course not. You didn't need that building until the late fall of 1885? A. No.

Q. Now, when you did need that building you had it ready, didn't you?

A. We had it ready to put our machinery in of course.

Q. How long before you actually needed it did you have the machinery there?

A. We had it finished early in the spring——

Q. Had it ready there for six months?

A. No, sir, I told you we were working all during the winter inside.

Q. Working on what? A. Putting in our machinery.

Q. What winter? A. 1885.

Q. Winter of five? A. 1885.

Q. You mean November and December, 1885? A .Yes.

Q. You were working all the time?

A. We were working putting in our machinery I tell you, and bringing in the material there.

Q. When did you commence putting your machinery in that building?

A. We commenced bringing it in—— You see——

Q. I didn't ask you when you kept bringing it in.

Mr. Bond: The witness is trying to answer.

The Court: I think the witness is taking care of himself all right. Go on.

A. You see we pulled off some of the machinery we didn't need and started putting that in; that is the way we kept working putting it up so as to be ready for business early in the spring.

Q. When was it you discovered you would probably need the three lots instead of two? A. I knew that.

Q. You went out there in the late fall of 1885? A. Yes.

Q. How long before you went out there was it?

A. When we made the calculation to build down in Leavenworth? I told my partner we didn't have room enough, we ought to have three lots.

Q. You considered then, consulted Mrs. Schiller with reference to buying that lot on that street? A. Yes.

Q. Next to yours? A. Yes.

Q. And you didn't buy it? A. No, sir.

Q. You got through out at the Fort on this job?

A. Done what?

Q. You and Mr. Burdett hadn't finished your job—was it at the Fort or prison? A. At Lansing.

Q. And you continued out there until you got that job finished? A. Until our contract run out.

Q. In the late fall of 1885? A. Yes.

Q. Now, when was it that—— Give us as accurately as you can the date when that contract expired?

A. That I couldn't just exactly tell you. I didn't have these papers any more but I know the year it was.

Q. But you do know when you had finished up that job and gone down to this new building of yours on Choctaw that Lilly White was in the Schiller house?

A. Seen her there in the spring of the year, I will tell you the reason why. Mrs. Schiller told me she was going to move out to her son-in-law because she wanted to get her garden and she had a good chance to rent that house and she rented it then to Lilly White.

Q. There wasn't but one Lilly White in that town was there? A. All that I know of.

Q. She ran a house of ill repute? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know about that petition that was circulated July 5, 1885, to get her off of Seneca Street? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't know about that? A. No, sir.

Q. You never saw it? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear of it?

A. No, sir, I didn't that I recollect of.

Q. Were you a member of the City Council then?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you attend the City Council meetings any?

A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't? All right. Did you begin to move your machinery in there before the building was completed?

A. We moved some into the building, but we loaded it on the ground until we got ready to put it up.

Q. What kind of contract was it you had out at Lansing?

A. We had a gang of saws out there and rubbing bed.

Q. I am asking you about the contract?

A. We had a contract to work men out there, to do our work there.

Q. You worked men to do what?

A. To polish marble and cut marble.

Q. Prisoners? A. Prisoners.

Q. In the Lansing State Penitentiary at Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you had to use your machinery in order to work those men? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have to work a certain number of men?

A. We had from eighteen to twenty men working.

Q. All the time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what was the stuff that you were getting from the labor of those men?

A. Furniture marble, for the furniture dealers and furniture manufacturers around in the vicinity of Leavenworth, and Wash-stand tops for plumber slabs.

Q. How could you carry out your contract with those men and move your machinery away from there before the date on which your contract expired?

A. We had a lot of marble sawed up for that purpose so that we could work them until we got through with them. We got our marble in big blocks and sawed them up, and we sawed them up a car load and had it stacked away.

Q. Well, then, you didn't need the machinery any more, is that what you mean?

A. Well, we still used the machinery for sawing building stone.

Q. Kept on using it until the date of the expiration of your contract?

A. Well, not altogether. Now, there was a big loading bed and some other things that we didn't need, that we took out there. We had a lot of stones sawed up that we hauled down there and put it aside. I had to be there quite a number of times to locate where I wanted it put so it would not be in our way.

Q. Alright; now, after Lizzie White moved in that house on Choctaw she stayed there until you went away in the fall of '86? A. Yes.

Q. Yes. And your best recollection is—and that is all you base this on is your recollection, as to when she moved in?

A. Well, the reason I know is we were——

Q. I am asking you if that is right?

A. Making arrangement that year to make up our building and the reason I went to see Mrs. Schuler——

Q. She was still in that house?

A. She was still in there and she told me——

Q. Now what she told you, that is not competent——

By the Court:

Q. Not what Mrs. Schuler told you but when was it you first saw Lillie White in that house? Now, what time of year—early in the year do you remember having seen Lillie White in that house after you were working around there?

A. Well, she must have been there in May because I went to see Mrs. Schuler early in April.

Q. Have you in mind, now, the first time you noticed Lillie White actually in that house?

A. Why, she was—of course I didn't pay the exact date——

Q. Well, I mean do you remember, now, without the date, do you have in mind now, when you first saw Lillie White in the house? Not the time, but have you in mind the fact that you did see her for the first time, sometime there that year?

A. Sometime there in May I know.

Q. Well, your best judgment is that you actually saw her there sometime in May?

A. Of course, I laid out a foundation for that building.

Q. Now, when you went to pay out the foundation for the building, was Lillie White then actually in the house?

A. Yes.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, PATRICK DeLANEY, being produced as a witness on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins et al., being first duly sworn, testified under oath as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Bond.

Q. State your name. A. Patrick DeLaney.

Q. How old are you Mr. DeLaney? A. 53.

Q. Where were you born? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. *N*ow long did you live in Leavenworth?

A. Well, I lived there all my life except the last 12 years.

Q. You left Leavenworth about 12 years ago?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where are you now living? A. Kansas City, Missouri.

Q. What have you done in Kansas City?

A. I was on the force there—police force for a little over four years.

Q. And what are you doing now?

A. Night watchman for Guideman and Harrington, a mule firm.

Q. Guideman and Harrington?

A. Yes, sir, at the stockyards.

Q. What business are they in? A. Mule business.

Q. How many mules do you have usually under your charge?

A. At the present not very many; last summer when the Government was buying a whole lot, we had three or four thousand mules.

Q. Were you ever on the police force in Leavenworth?

A. I was.

Q. When did you go on the force of Leavenworth?

A. I think it was '94.

Q. And how long were you on the force then?

A. I was on about a year and then I was off for about two years; I think I went back on in '96, and I was on in '96, '97, '98, and then, I went in the fire department in '99.

Q. In the fire department, then, up to the time that you left Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And were fire chief there three years of that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you [] a woman there named Granny Letcher?

A. Well, I know of her.

Q. I mean did you know of her; where did she live, if you know?

A. She lived on Seneca street between Second and Third.

Q. At that time were you on the police force? A. I was.

Q. Did you ever know a boy around there called Tommy Atkins? A. I did.

A. Where did he live?

A. Well, he—— I think he boarded with her.

Q. At Granny Letcher's? A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever have occasion to arrest him? A. I did.

Q. About what time, if you can remember.

A. It was either '96 or '97.

Q. Did you know where to go—have any trouble arresting him?

A. Well, no—well, yes; I had been after him two or three times and I learned that he had been boarding at this—his aunt, I believe they called her—Aunty—Granny Letcher she was.

Q. Yes?

A. And we learned he was in there one evening and I went there that night and got him.

Q. He was there then, was he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of boy was he?

A. Why, he was a tall, slender boy; dark, black hair—straight hair; he was not fleshy, good sized face; appeared about 12 years old.

Q. Appeared about 12 years old? A. I think.

Q. Was he a mischievous boy? A. Very.

Q. Now, when you arrested him there, did you have any trouble getting him away from there? A. No, he was in bed.

Q. And what was said there or done by her?

Mr. Linebaugh: Objected to as inadmissible.

Q. Was objection made [] your taking him? A. No, sir.

Q. What did you do with him?

A. Why, I don't think he was tried in our court; I think he was taken to some justice court; I don't know what was done with him; in fact I just arrested him on a complaint.

Q. You had orders from the chief?

A. To pick him up. In fact, all the officers had it.

Q. Had you seen him around there?

A. Yes, he had been back on Third street and Esplanade and around and on Cherokee, and along in there.

Q. Did you ever know an Indian woman named Indian Minnie? A. No.

Q. Knew nothing about that? A. No.

Q. And you knew nothing about who the boy's father and mother was? A. No, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Out of what court was the warrant issued that you served? A. We didn't have a warrant.

Q. Well, where was the complaint made against him?

A. At the police station.

Q. At the police station?

A. Yes, the chief of police gave the order.

Q. Do you remember the charge preferred against him?

A. Yes, sir, stealing copper wire.

Q. What—stealing copper wire?

A. Three boys were implicated in it, I think.

Q. What sort of boys?

A. I don't know; I did at the time, though, one of them, but I forget his name.

Q. Why is it you remember Tommy Atkins and don't remember the other two?

A. Well, I know him better, and I don't think they lived on the beat I was walking at the time and I know him and I arrested him.

Q. I understand that, but you don't remember either of the other two boys? A. No.

Q. Now, where did you take him? A. Sir?

Q. Where did you take him after his arrest?

A. Taken him to the police station.

Q. Put him in jail? A. He was held over night, I think.

Q. Don't you know about that?

A. Why, we have nothing to do with locking them up, after we fetch him into the station.

Q. Well, he was tried? A. Not in our court.

Q. Well, was he tried?

A. I think by the justice, I don't know.

Q. Did you make any inquiry about that? A. No.

Q. You knew him well and had seen him about there; you were a little interested, weren't you?

A. No, I just made the arrest on complaint was all.

Q. You made a good many arrests on complaint about that time, didn't you Mr. DeLaney? A. Yes.

Q. This was in '96? A. Either '96 or '97.

Q. Who else did you arrest along at that time on complaint? A. Oh, I don't know.

Q. You don't remember anybody? A. No.

Q. Now, you knew Granny pretty well—this Granny Letcher? A. No, I didn't.

Q. She was a negro woman? A. Yes.

Q. When did you go to Leavenworth?

A. I was born there.

Q. You were born there? A. Yes.

Q. You never knew a woman about the town there named Indian Minnie, I believe you stated, A. Sir?

Q. I believe you said you never knew a woman about town there named Indian Minnie? A. I did not.

Q. Did you know one that was called Indian Mary?

A. Why, I did not. I recollect, though of seeing her, but I was not personally acquainted with her.

Q. Indian Mary went around with that old fortune teller, didn't she? A. I can't say.

Q. A fortune teller named Mollie Peters? A. I can't say.

Q. You knew of a fortune teller there named Mollie Peters didn't you?

A. Aunt Mollie, why I don't know as I did.

Q. How old are you Mr. DeLaney? A. 53 years old.

Q. You were a young man in '84 and '85, about 20 years old at that time? A. Yes.

Q. About town a good deal, weren't you? A. Yes.

Q. Weren't married at that time?

A. No, married in '95.

Q. You were going about in the day time and in the evening weren't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, this boy when you arrested him he appeared to be about 12 years old?

A. I should judge between 11 and 12.

Q. He was in bed there at Granny Letcher's?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Any other boys there? A. No.

Q. Any other boys lived there that you know of?

Q. Why, there used to be a fellow who stayed around there occasionally; I don't know whether—by the name of—I can't think of his name now.

Q. Jim Mayo? A. No, this fellow was one-armed.

Q. Sam Nash; [A.] he used to go back and forth there. I don't know whether he made that his home; seen him go in and come out frequently.

Q. Sam Nash and one other boy? A. That is the only one.

Q. Only ones you know of? Sam Nash and this boy that you arrested, and they lived with Granny? A. Yes.

Q. Well, Mr. DeLaney, to refresh your recollection, wasn't that Walter Banks? A. Sir?

Q. Wasn't Walter Banks? A. Well, I don't know, sir.

Q. Now, Walter Banks did live at Granny Letcher's and was a nephew of Granny's wasn't he? A. I don't know, sir.

Q. This boy that you arrested was a nephew of Granny Letcher's?

A. That is what I learned; I am not positive of that; I heard that, that is all.

Q. Your understanding is that Granny Letcher was his aunt? A. His aunt; called him aunty.

Q. He called her aunty? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And your understanding was that there was a relationship existing between the two? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that is the boy you arrested? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you don't know at this time, whether that boy was Walter Banks or not?

A. Oh, this Tommy had given me a lot of trouble on the beat; I knew him, that is all the name I ever heard for him.

Q. You just said a while ago that you didn't remember whether it was Walter Banks or not?

A. Oh, I knowed Tommy a good while because he would give me a lot of trouble, because he was very mischievous, but Walter Banks—I can't place Walter Banks.

Q. Can't place Walter Banks? A. No, sir.

Q. If Sam Nash and Walter Banks did live there at that time; those two boys; then Walter Banks is the boy you arrested?

Mr. Stuart: I object to that.

The Court: He may answer that question.

A. State that question, please.

Q. If Sam Nash and Walter Banks did live there at Granny Letcher's at that time, then Walter Banks is the boy you arrested at that time? A. I don't think so.

Q. You don't think so?

A. No, Tommy Atkins is the boy I arrested.

Q. Now, how do you fix this boy you arrested as Tommy Atkins? Have you got any record?

A. Why, I had always heard that as his name and as I said before, he would give me a lot of trouble on the beat; he was a mischievous little fellow.

Q. But had you arrested him?

A. No, I hadn't but he was arrested by others; a mischievous little boy—you couldn't catch him. He was just like a rabbit.

Q. Out ran you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you try? A. I had, yes, sir.

Q. Did you make any record on the police blotter when you brought him in?

A. Usually there was a record of it.

Q. You made a record of it?

A. No, the night captain made that.

Q. Were there any Englishmen on the block at that time, did you know of any Englishman living there?

A. No, I didn't know of any Englishman there.

Q. How did you hear this name Tommy Atkins?

A. It was a frequent thing along Third street.

Q. Well, tell us who you heard call the name Tommy Atkins.

A. Well, I don't [] that I could mention right now; I heard policemen talk about him.

Q. Well, did you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who? A. Joe Wagers.

Q. You and Joe Wagers talked about his name?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How did you get to talking about his name?

A. We walked the beat together at night; used to be that two officers walked the same beat.

Q. You got to talking about his name?

A. Probably something that he had done.

Q. This boy—would you see him in the day time?

A. Yes, sir, when I walked the beat in the day time. I would see him in the day time.

Q. He didn't go to school?

A. He might have gone to school; I don't know.

Q. How long did you know, now, of this boy living at Granny Letcher's house; how many years?

A. Well, about two years.

Q. About two years? You would say you think before you arrested him?

A. Yes, sir, probably long in '96 or '97.

Q. You never saw him there afterwards?

A. Why, I—no, in fact, I left the force, I went with the fire department in '98. I don't know whether it was——

Q. You didn't see anything more of him? A. No, sir.

By the Court.

Q. When did you first join the police force? A. '94.

Q. In '94; in what year was it you first took the beat down there in that neighborhood?

A. It was '95, '96 or '97—yes, I was not on in '95; either '96 or '97, I walked that beat, not steady but those two years I was off and on that beat.

Q. Where was Granny Letcher living then?

A. Lived in the frame house; I don't know the number, the second house from Van Tyle's stable; stone house and then, this frame, I think, was next.

Q. On what street?

A. Seneca street, going towards Third street.

Q. Now, were you familiar at that time with who frequented that house and went in and out as members of the family?

A. Why, no, nothing more than parties I have known.

By Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Your beat was right there on that street?

A. No, sir, I went clean to the north end of the town.

Q. That was part of your beat?

A. That was part of my beat.

Q. Now, Mr. DeLaney, who did you first tell about what you knew in this case?

A. Why, two or three weeks ago, I met a fellow down where I am working, a fellow named Higgens, a young fellow that I used to know in Leavenworth, and he said—called me by name—said, Pat, I am going down to Oklahoma on a case and I said what case, and he said maybe you know something about it; he said Tommy Atkins, and I said I hope I do, I arrested him on it; and Mr. Graham—he must have told Mr. Graham——

Q. What Mr. Graham was that? A. Pomp Graham.

Q. Pomp Graham, alright.

A. So he come down and talked to me about the case.

Q. How long have you known Pomp Graham?

A. Oh, I have known Pomp Graham all his life.

Q. Did you know him when you were on the police force?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did he do then?

A. He pretty nearly always had a job around the courthouse as deputy sheriff or constable. I think he was janitor there once, I wouldn't be sure.

Q. What has he been doing in recent years? A. Sir?

Q. What has he been doing in recent years?

A. I think he has been connected with the sheriff's office; in fact, I don't know—I have been away from there.

Q. And he came and talked to you about two or three weeks ago? A. Two or three weeks ago.

Q. Arranged for you to come down here to Muskogee, did he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Gave you transportation, did he?

A. Gave me money to buy my transportation, yes, sir.

Q. He told you who wanted you down here?

A. He didn't, only on this case.

Q. And when did you come here?

A. I came here Sunday morning; yesterday morning.

Q. Yesterday morning? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who came with you Mr. DeLaney?

A. Ten or twelve; Mr. Higgens, Mr. Foley, I don't remember all of them——

Q. Mr. DeLaney, how do you remember that this was in '96 or '97 that you arrested this boy?

A. Well, I went on the force in '94, and then I was off for about a year or a little over and then I went on in—it was either '96—'97 or '98; those three years I was on the force. Then, I was transferred from the police force on to the fire department.

Q. Evidently you didn't understand my question. The question was this; how do you fix the time that you arrested this boy as '96 or '97?

A. Those two years I remember I worked on the north end of town, the latter year on Shawnee street—that was the dividing line and I was up in the south end.

Q. You fix it then, not by the incident but by the place you worked? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was that right? Was that in the—what season of the year was it you arrested him?

A. Why, I disremember; I know it was warm—it wasn't —it might have been in the spring; it wasn't cold.

Q. He was in bed? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And it wasn't cold enough for him to be covered?

A. He had a spread over him, I think.

Q. Who else was in the house there?

A. Why, nobody but his aunty.

Q. Granny Letcher? A. Granny Letcher.

Q. No one else at all? A. None that I seen.

Q. Can you tell us more definitely than '96 or '97 when it was you made this arrest?

A. I can't; either one of those two years; I wouldn't be positive which year it was.

Q. You think it was in the summer of one of those years?

A. Yes, sir; yes, sir.

Q. You are not sure about that?

A. I wouldn't be positive which year it was.

Q. Did anything particular happen to you in '96?

A. Not a thing.

Q. Did you make any other arrests that you now remember in '96?

A. Oh, no; I made several arrests, but I don't recollect of them.

Q. Can you tell us the name of any man you arrested in '96? A. Well, no, I can't; can't think of their name.

Q. Can you tell us the name of any man you arrested in '97? A. I don't recollect.

Q. Can you tell us who the mayor of Leavenworth was in '96? A. Why, Ryan; Mayor Ryan.

Q. Mayor Ryan? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He was mayor, was he, in '96? A. In '96.

Q. Who was the city attorney, do you remember?

A. I don't know who was city attorney.

Q. Who was the justice of the peace?

A. Why, I think Franks and Plowman.

Q. This complaint you say issued out of the justice of the peace court?

A. It probably was; I never got a complaint.

Q. Is that right? A. Sir?

Q. The complaint, as you remember, was issued out of the justice court? A. I can't say.

Q. He was not tried in the police court? A. No, sir.

Q. What other courts were there misdemeanor cases?

A. Why the justice courts.

Q. Nothing but justice courts?

A. Unless they would make a state case out of it.

Q. And the police court? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when you arrested this boy, the justice courts were running and the police courts, those two courts?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are sure of that?

A. Yes, he might have been tried before Judge Bond.

Q. The United States Commissioner?

A. This stuff might have been stolen on the reservation; I really don't know; I just arrested him on——

Q. But you are sure you remember the time you made the arrest that the police court was in operation, justice court was in operation, and the United States Commissioner court was in operation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, if the justice courts were abolished in 1894, then you made this arrest before that time, didn't you? Sir?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is Pomp Graham here?

A. I don't know; I haven't seen him today.

Q. Have you seen him in town, in Muskogee, at all?

A. I seen him here Sunday; he was here Sunday.

Q. He was here when you got here?

A. He came with us that night.

Q. Oh, he came with you.

Cross Examination by Mr. Bell.

Q. Under whose administration did you belong to the police force?

A. Under Governor Llewellyn; had police commissioners when I went on.

Q. Yes, but I want to know what mayor.

A. I think Neeley was mayor.

Q. In 1894? A. I think he was, now.

Q. Who followed him? A. Sir?

Q. Who followed Neeley? A. I think Judge Hacker.

Q. Who followed Hacker? A. Sir?

Q. Who followed Hacker? A. Why, I think Hook.

Q. Who? A. Hook.

Q. Who followed Hook? A. I think Ryan.

Q. Who followed Ryan? A. Anthony, I think.

Q. Anthony. What year was Anthony? A. I can't say.

Q. What year were you in the fire department?

A. Why, I went on in either '98, last of '98 or '99.

Q. Who appointed you? A. How?

Q. Who appointed you as chief of the fire department?

A. Why, Spreads, was chief.

Q. I know, but who appointed you on the fire department?

A. Ryan.

Q. And you say near or the last part of 1898. Now, you were policeman in Leavenworth many years, were you not?

A. Probably five or six or seven years.

Q. Then you went Leavenworth and went to Kansas City? A. No, I went to the fire department.

Q. Then you went to Kansas City?

A. Went to Excelsior Springs.

Q. Then you went to Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were a policeman in Kansas City, Missouri, several years? A. Seven years, no.

Q. Several years? A. Yes, a little over.

Q. How long were you on the police force in Kansas City? A. Three years now, close.

Q. While you were on the police force in Leavenworth you became acquainted with a great many mischievous boys about the city, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir, a good many of them.

Q. Did you know Hezekiah Johnson?

A. I believe I did.

Q. Who was his father? A. Johnson's father?

Q. Yes. A. I guess Mr. Johnson.

Q. Perhaps so. Did you know Israel Johnson?

A. I didn't know him.

Q. You made a good guess. A. Yes, pretty close.

Q. Did you know Willie Robbins?

A. Willy Robbins? Yes.

Q. He was a mischievous colored boy there?

A. Yes, he was mischievous.

Q. They run in a kind of band together?

A. Yes, quite a few of them up there.

Q. Those boys, when they would do their mischief and didn't want to go home, would sleep down at Mother Letcher's down there, wouldn't they?

A. Well, I don't know of them sleeping down there.

Q. Now, was Mother Letcher living on what we called the middle-east beat, or northeast beat?

A. That was the northeast.

Q. Northeast. Sure? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you are positive in 1897 there you arrested Tommy Atkins? A. '96 or '07.

Q. Who told you it was Tommy Atkins?

A. Why I had known of him before.

Q. Where did you know him before?

A. On Third Street there, along Third.

Q. On Third Street? A. Yes.

Q. What did he ever do before that that caused you to know him?

A. Why, there used to be a gang of them on Sunday would go in between Abernathy's there and shoot craps and I tried several times to catch them; I used to go through a lot, that vacant place there. and I never could catch them.

Q. Do you know where the old John McHale property is on the corner of Seneca Street and Third?

A. Old frame, yes, sir.

Q. Do you know of a big building on northeast corner of Third and Seneca? Right across the street, the northeast corner? A. Yes, sir; I certainly do.

Q. Know the little old frame being used—used to be used as a kind of bakery on the lot back of that building?

A. No, I can't place it now.

Q. Well, that building would only be about a block or half block of where Mother Letcher lived, wouldn't it, or Granny Letcher? A. About half a block, I judge.

Q. Do you know who lived in there for many years, way back in '80 and up to 1900; do you know who lived in that little old building on the lot? A. I don't, sir.

Q. Do you know a woman, colored woman, name of York?

A. Maria York, yes, sir.

Q. Did you know her son? A. I did.

Q. Did you ever arrest her son? A. I never did.

Q. Don't you know as a policeman that he was the most mischievous boy in Leavenworth? A. He was very bad.

Q. Ever hear that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the police court every Monday morning, wasn't he, and he would run up there with Walter Banks and Tommy Nash and others, wouldn't he? A. I don't know, sir.

Q. And his name was Tommy York, wasn't it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Isn't that the boy you arrested? A. No, sir.

Q. Sure of that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never arrested Tommy York?

A. Never arrested Tommy York.

Q. He was the older of the boys on your beat?

A. He wasn't ony me beat; he lived on Third Street, beside the jail there; that was another beat.

Q. Yes, I know, he lived over there; he lived over there until a few years ago, didn't he?

A. Well, I don't know how long, but he lived there.

Q. Just about the time that you left Leavenworth, he lived there, didn't he?

A. Yes, about; he was living there, I know, when I changed off the force and went on the fire department.

Q. When you went on the police force in 1894, he lived on Third Street, near the corner of Shawnee and Seneca, didn't he?

A. I didn't know him then; I didn't know of him until he lived there by the county jail.

Q. You served on the middle-east beat, too, didn't you?

A. Yes, walked all those beats; it is just over the line.

Q. Where is the line?

A. That south street is supposed to be the—short street, whatever you call it in there.

Q. Then that was the southeast beat where the jail was?

A. Yes, the southeast beat.

Q. You walked that beat, didn't you?

A. Yes, I walked that beat.

Q. Never arrested Tommy York while you were there?

A. Never did.

Q. Never knew of him being arrested?

A. Yes, I know of him being arrested.

Q. Didn't you know as common knowledge that his name appears on the police court record for 10 years more than any other boy in—who lived in Leavenworth?

A. He was on there, yes.

> The Court: I can't see the materiality of that in this connection. You asked if he arrested Tommy York on this occasion detailed, and he says no.

Q. Now, then, will you describe the boy you arrested?

A. Why, he was a tall, spare built boy; very light; straight dark hair.

Q. Straight dark hair; how old?

A. I should judge he was between 11 and 12.

Q. And you arrested him and you don't know upon what authority, do you?

A. Why, from orders of the chief of police department.

Q. Do you know whether the chief of police had a warrant for him? A. I do not, sir.

Q. You know that whenever you made an arrest for the justice of the peace office they left their warrant with the chief of police, didn't they, and he gave it to the policeman that makes the arrest, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir, but you get orders at roll call, if you see so-and-so——

Q. I am not asking you that. Did he ever give it to you?

A. No, sir.

Q. You never did have that warrant? A. No, sir.

Q. How did you know then you were to arrest him?

A. I was ordered by the chief.

Q. Ordered by the chief, but wasn't it the duty of the chief to give you a warrant if you were to make that arrest?

A. That I don't know, sir.

Q. How is that?

> The Court: He says, I don't know.

Q. Now, then: Do you know what became of that arrest?

A. I do not.

Q. Was he ever tried? A. I can't say.

Q. Were you ever a witness against him after the arrest was made? A. Never was.

Q. You don't know what court he was ever tried in?

A. I don't, sir.

Q. What did you record on the docket at police court the evening you made the arrest?

A. Why, I didn't record anything; I think Taylor was night captain, and he made the record, police record; he put it down.

Q. Taylor was night captain? A. I think he was.

Q. Don't you know that it was a rule and a custom of the police to register their arrest and to register all property taken off before they locked up their prisoner?

A. No, sir, it was not. The night captain used very often to do it. The officer sometimes done it and sometimes the night captain, while very often we had to take the prisoner over ourselves, and if we did the night captain put it on the record.

Q. Who made the record of the arrest? A. I don't know.

Q. All you did was to take him in there? A. That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Was there a policeman with you when you made the arrest? A. I disremember, I think there was.

Q. Joe Wages? A. I don't think he was.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Bond.

Q. Did you arrest all three of the boys? A. I did.

Q. How many of them did you arrest? A. Just the one.

Q. There has been a great deal of talk about arresting him?

A. Picked him up; same thing is done in Kansas City every day.

Q. You don't know whether he was put in jail or not?

A. Yes, he was put in.

Q. They asked you about the justice court, there was finally a city court established that had jurisdiction over misdemeanors? A. There might have been, yes.

Q. All handled the same way? A. About the same.

Examination by the Court.

Q. I didn't quite understand what you did with him?

A. I don't know what was done with him myself.

Q. The last you saw of the boy was where?

A. I took him over there and put him in the city jail.

Q. After you arrested him, where did you first take him?

A. To the police station.

Q. The night captain was named Taylor?

A. I think that was his name.

Q. You remember taking him and reporting to the city calaboose? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then you put him in the city jail?

A. Yes, sir, that was the last I saw of him.

(Witness dismissed.)

And thereupon, W. J. COWLING, was called and sworn as a witness for and on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins et al., and testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. State your name? A. W. J. Cowling.

Q. What is your age, Mr. Cowling?

A. I will be fifty-seven in October.

Q. Where do you live? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. And what is your occupation?

A. I am foreman stone cutter at the federal penitentiary.

Q. Foreman stone cutter at the federal penitentiary, how long have you had that position?

A. Two years and a half.

Q. And prior to that you worked as a mason in Leavenworth?

A. Yes, in the contract business quite a number of years.

Q. Did you know Lilly White?

A. I knew a woman that they called Lilly White.

Q. You didn't know her personally?

A. No, I didn't know her personally, no, sir.

Q. Did you ever work for Burdett and Heis? A. I did.

Q. When did you work for them?

A. I worked for them in '85.

Q. Where did you work for them in '85?

A. Well, I worked for them partly on Choctaw Street and partly on Cherokee.

Q. When did you go to work for them on Choctaw?

A. Well, in the spring of 1885.

Q. Do you know the Schiller house next door to the stone yard there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know if Lilly White ever occupied that house?

A. She moved there that spring.

Q. In the spring of '85? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About the time you went to work for Burdett & Heis?

A. Well, about the time, it was in April, I think.

Q. You think she moved in there in April?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are you sure that she moved in there in the spring?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you work for Burdett and Heis out at Lansing?

A. No, sir.

Q. You went to work for them after they moved back from the penitentiary?

A. Well, I was working for them prior to the time that they moved in from the penitentiary. They run a shop on Cherokee Street, I worked for them from 1881 to the summer of '85.

Q. Now, think whether you have a distinct recollection of Lilly White being in that house in the spring of '85?

A. I have.

Q. And can you give the month of your earliest recollection of seeing her there?

A. Well, according to the best of my recollection it was in April, not later than very early in May that she moved in there.

Q. Not later than the first of May? A. Yes.

Mr. Hanford: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. When did you move to Leavenworth?

A. Why, I moved to Leavenworth in the spring of '61, that is my folks moved to Leavenworth.

Q. Were you born there? A. I was born in Atchison.

Q. Atchison? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What age were you when you commenced working for Mr. Heis? A. About twenty years, or twenty-one.

Q. Twenty-one when you commenced?

A. I would have been twenty-one that fall.

Q. Would have been twenty-one that fall?

A. Yes, sir, in 1881.

Q. And that is the time you saw Lilly White?

A. No, sir.

Q. What is there that causes you to associate the year 1885 with seeing Lilly White?

A. Well, because that was the year we moved down there, and that Schiller house wasn't vacated until that spring; old Mrs. Schiller lived there.

Q. Who moved down there?

A. Why, we moved down there to work, our yard was right next to the place.

Q. Do you know what months it was that you moved there? A. Why ,in April.

Q. Who is we?

A. Well, speaking about the men that was working there in the yard, generally we say we.

Q. We are the people then who worked at that place?

A. Yes.

Q. Who worked there?

A. Well, I can't recall all of them, not at this time, a man by the name of Henry Baney was one.

Q. What day in the month was it you moved down there?

A. I couldn't tell you that.

Q. Have you got any record at all that helps you fix the month you moved there? A. No, sir.

Q. How long did you work there?

A. I worked there until June or July. A. '85. That is, that fall.

Q. Do you know how long that firm stayed there?

A. Well, that firm had some little business trouble and they dissolved partnership, I believe that is the reason I quit work there.

Q. They didn't dissolve partnership until several years after?

A. No, I think it was in June or July that they had the trouble.

Q. That was in 1886, wasn't it?

A. I think it was in 1885; well, in fact, I know it was in 1885 I went there, because I got married in the fall of 1885 and I was working for the other firm.

Q. There is nothing connected with working there, no relation between that and your marriage is there that causes you to remember that? A. What is that?

Q. There is nothing of that work that was associated with your marriage that causes you to remember it?

A. Nothing only that I got married that fall, in the fall of '85.

Q. Did you move there when that firm commenced its business at that place?

A. Yes, sir, I moved down there and was running the yard for them, I was foreman of the yard.

Q. When the firm commenced business at that place?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. But you only stayed there for a couple of months?

A. I stayed there until either June or July, I think it was July.

Q. Lilly White was there all that time?

A. Yes, and after that.

Q. You never went about Lilly White's place?

A. No, sir.

Q. Never associated with Lilly White's people there?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Granny Letcher? A. I did not.

Q. Did you ever know of her at all?

A. No, I have no recollection of her.

Q. When is the first time that this matter was ever called to your attention after 1885, whatever year it was you were there? A. Well, I couldn't tell you that.

Q. When did you next think about the fact that you had ever worked there at that place?

A. I have no occasion to think about when I worked there because I know.

Q. You say now you remember it, when was it again called to your attention?

A. Well, when I seen the papers in regard to this Indian Minnie case.

Q. Who first talked to you about the Indian Minnie case?

A. Nobody in particular.

Q. You read it in the newspapers? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You read about the Indian Minnie case in the newspapers and then you thought about having worked at this place? A. No, not exactly.

Q. These articles you saw on the Indian Minnie case didn't say anything about Lilly White did they?

A. I don't know as they did.

Q. Never has mentioned Lilly White?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. All of these articles that you read said that Indian Minnie or Minnie Atkins, known to the people of Leavenworth as Indian Minnie in 1885 gave birth to a boy at the home of Granny Letcher and his name was Tommy Atkins?

A. I have seen something.

Q. That is the substance of all the newspaper articles you have read practically, you have read a great many?

A. No, I have not, I am not taking any interest in the case.

Q. In 1914 those articles appeared frequently in the papers? A. I couldn't tell you.

Q. Well, you read them, some of them?

A. I have read some.

Q. That firm you were with didn't commence business at this place until they had finished their contract at Lansing, did they?

A. They didn't move their machinery in there.

Q. You worked at Lansing on that job?

A. I never worked at Lansing.

Q. But they had finished the job at Lansing when you went to work for them?

A. I don't know that; they partly finished a good many jobs out there.

Q. But they had moved their tools into this place?

A. They were moving part of them in there; they were getting ready; we were working there before they moved the machinery in.

Q. How long? A. Oh, I don't know how long.

Q. You certainly remember about how long. How long before they moved the tools in there that you commenced working?

A. They was moving the machinery when we were working there.

Q. You say you first read a lot of articles about this Indian Minnie case?

A. I have read some, I haven't taken any great interest.

Q. Will you tell the court why that caused you to remember Lilly White didn't live in some other house?

A. It didn't cause me to remember anything about Lilly White.

Q. You didn't know Lilly White after she lived on Seneca Street, did you? A. No, I did not.

Q. So the fact that Indian Minnie gave birth to a child at 217 Seneca Street didn't cause you to remember about Lilly White living somewhere else?

A. I was asked in the court room.

Q. Who asked you?

A. I was asked right here on the witness stand.

Q. I know, but before that who first talked to you of your knowledge with regard to Lilly White?

A. Mr. Graham asked me if I remembered Lilly White.

Q. Pomp Graham? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did Pomp Graham first talk to you?

A. Two or three weeks ago.

Q. Where? A. He called me up over the telephone.

Q. Is that the first time you had thought about having worked for Mr. White in 1885? A. No, sir.

Q. What caused you to remember that?

A. He asked me at the time if I remembered Lilly White moved in there.

Q. Moved in where? A. The Schiller house.

Q. Where was the Schiller house located?

A. Located on Choctaw just east of Fourth, between Third and Fourth.

Q. You don't know where Lilly White came from to there?

A. No, sir, I do not.

Q. You don't know whether she was the same Lilly White that lived on Seneca?

A. I don't know whether she ever lived on Seneca. I don't know that that was her name, I know that is the name she went by.

Q. Who did you hear call her Lilly White?

A. Why, different parties.

Q. Who did you hear call her that?

A. Why, different men.

Q. Who was one? A. I couldn't recall their names now.

Q. Pomp Graham told you it was Lilly White, didn't he?

A. No, sir, he did not.

Q. He asked if you remembered that woman that moved into that Choctaw house in 1885, didn't he? A. Sir?

Q. He asked you if you remembered that woman that moved into the Schiller house in the spring of 1885?

A. He asked me if I remembered when Lilly White moved into that house.

Q. You remembered instantly all about it?

A. I told him it was in 1885, because that was the year we moved in there, and she moved in the house that spring.

Q. You remembered instantly the name Lilly White as soon as he mentioned the name, didn't you?

A. Why, certainly.

Q. She was no particular friend of yours or associate of yours?

A. She was not, but I worked down in that neighborhood for twenty-five years.

Q. I thought you said one or two months?

A. I said in that yard until July and I went to the other yard and started working.

Q. And you continued working there for twenty-five years? A. Not steady.

Q. All of which time you knew Lilly White?

A. I don't say I knew her all that time.

Q. How many years did you know her on Choctaw?

A. I don't know that.

Q. Did you know that until she left in 1910?

A. I don't recollect what year she left.

Q. She just left a few years ago, didn't she?

A. No, she lived there quite a while ago.

Q. Did she leave there in 1910? A. No, sir.

Q. Where did she move from to that place?

A. I couldn't tell you that.

Q. Don't you know how long she stayed on Choctaw?

A. I guess four or five years.

Q. You know she stayed there four or five years, now how much longer? A. I don't know.

Q. That is the best you will say that you knew her there four or five years?

A. I have no reason to want to know.

Q. Didn't you continue to work around in that community? A. I did.

Q. And the longer you worked there the better you became acquainted with the name, didn't you?

A. Not necessarily; I heard everyone call her by the name Lilly White, men that associated with her.

Q. And she disappeared without anybody paying any attention to her, is that right? A. I didn't say that.

Q. You know Max Harris, don't you? A. I do not, no, sir.

Q. Who came down here with you?

A. Man by the name of John Blass.

Q. Anybody else?

A. There was another man on the train. I didn't know he was on the train—— Well, we were pretty close to Muskogee.

Q. What was his name? A. Albert Rapp.

Q. Pomp wasn't on the train?

A. No, sir, I didn't see him.

Q. You found out later he was on the train?

A. No, sir, I don't think he was.

Q. You have seen him since you have been here, haven't you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know he was in town? A. No, sir.

Q. Did he tell you he was coming?

A. He told me he was coming Saturday night.

Q. Have you seen him? A. I got in here this morning.

Q. When did you see Pomp last?

A. I seen Pomp last Friday.

Q. Is Pomp the only man you have ever talked to about this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He is the only man that has refreshed your memory about Lilly White? A. He didn't refresh my memory.

Q. He is the only man that has ever asked you about Lilly White? A. Yes, sir.

Q. None of the lawyers here talked to you? A. No, sir.

Q. No one has talked to you before they put you on the witness stand? A. No, sir.

Examination by the Court.

Q. You say you went to work for this firm in the spring of 1885? A. That is when we moved down to that place.

Q. How far along was the building there? Did they build a building there at that place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of a building was it?

A. One store brick building.

Q. Now, how far along was that when you went to work in the spring of 1885 there?

A. I don't recollect exactly how far advanced it was.

Q. Had it been started? A. Yes, sir, it had been started.

Q. Do you remember whether it was completed or not, that is the building part?

A. Why, yes, it was completed because we sawed stone there.

Q. You sawed stone in the building?

A. Yes, sir, and worked marble.

Q. So, that when you went in there in April or May, 1885, the building was already completed so that you worked inside? A. I think we were sawing stone there in May.

Q. In May? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have a distinct recollection the building was completed then?

A. Well, I don't know whether it was completed, it was far enough advanced so we could saw stone. The walls were up.

Q. Did you know when that building was commenced of your own knowledge?

A. No, I couldn't, I wouldn't say positively when the building was commenced.

Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Did you know Lilly White before you went there to work? A. No, sir.

Q. Had you ever heard of her before?

A. I had heard mention of her.

Q. You know where she lived before that?

A. I do not, no, sir.

Q. Did you see her the day you went to work there?

A. I don't know as I did.

Q. You don't know when it was after that you saw her to know her?

A. Well, I really didn't know her only by other people calling her by that name.

Q. You don't remember who it was or when it was you heard her called that?

A. Oh, men in the yard called her by that name.

Q. You don't remember whether it was the day you started to work or later?

A. Well, I might have heard her spoken of before we started to work down there.

Q. All you remember is you heard of her four or five years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never went in her house at all?

A. No, sir, I never went in her house.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Lilly White was a notorious person?

A. It had the name of being that.

Q. It was a sporting house and was notorious about there, talked about? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were asked about other men that you have heard speak her name or refer to that place; did you know John Roher? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever see him around there?

A. He was agent for the Schlitz Brewing Company right next to this place; their place was on the corner; they run a bottling works.

Q. Did you ever see him at Lilly White's place?

A. I don't know as I have. I think he done business with her, that is furnished her beer as to that, I think she patronized him in that way.

Q. You don't know?

A. I don't know that to be a fact.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. That was after Mr. Rohr had been District Clerk?

A. I believe it was.

Q. He had formerly been clerk of the District Court I believe? A. Yes, sir.

(Witness dismissed.)

Whereupon, Court recessed until tomorrow morning at nine-thirty A. M.

And thereafter, and at 9:30 o'clock A. M., May 22nd, 1917, court having convened pursuant to adjournment, further proceedings herein were had as follows:

> Mr. Hanford: At this time, Your Honor, we wish to offer the deposition of James M. Allen, beginning at page 1940 of the depositions taken before Giles Penick, Special Examiner.

JAMES M. ALLEN being called on behalf of the defendant, being sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. James M. Allen.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Allen?

A. Well, I live at Leavenworth and Kansas City both. My office is divided; I spend part of the time in both places. Leavenworth is my legal residence.

Q. How long have you lived in the city of Leavenworth?

A. As the Dutchman says, my life long. I was born in Fort Leavenworth in 52 and that has been my legal residence ever since. I have been away a year or two at a time, but this has been my legal residence.

Q. You were one of the first births here, weren't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What has been your business during that period, Mr. Allen?

A. Well, I have been in various kinds of business; up to 1875 I was a printer and engaged in the—as assistant to the various editors in the early days, but since 1875 I have been with the Rock Island road in different capacities, principally as a passenger and ticket agent, etc.

Q. Now, tell us what service you first had for the Rock Island, what was your first service?

A. I was city passenger agent for the Rock Island.

Q. About how long did you remain in that particular service? A. Oh, about 10 years, commencing in '75.

Q. Then what place did you take?

A. I was appointed superintendent and ticket agent at the new Union Depot down here.

Q. About how long did that service continue?

A. Oh, I think about five or six years.

Q. And what business do you do now for them?

A. I am the general agent of the Rock Island at Leavenworth now, representing the passenger and freight business.

Q. Were you here in the years of 1884 and 1885?

A. I was.

Q. I will ask you whether or not during that period you knew a girl by the name of Indian Minnie?

A. Yes, sir, I did, in fact I knew pretty near everybody in town at that time. I was a passenger man and I was on the streets days and nights and between times looking after the business of the road.

Q. Where do you remember to have seen Indian Minnie?

A. Well, I saw her several times, particularly at a house across the street from the Seneca house, North Leavenworth, with an old lady by the name of Letcher, Granny Letcher, I believe they called her in those days.

Q. I will ask you whether or not when you saw Minnie she had a child in her arms?

A. Yes, I saw her with a baby in her arms more than once, two or three times.

Q. At Granny Letchers? A. Yes.

Q. Now, Mr. Allen, how old was the child, as near as you can remember when you first saw it?

A. I should imagine three or four months.

Q. Three or four months?

A. Yes, sir, as near as I can recall it.

Q. Now, what year did you see her with that baby in your best judgment?

A. Well, I can't tell you whether it was '84 or '85, it may have been earlier than '84 or '85, but sometime during that period.

Q. It was sometime during '84 or '85?

A. Yes, because I had no particular interest in her.

Q. You know it was not as late as eighty-six?

A. No, because I left the service of the Rock Island in eighty-five, and I wasn't running around the streets after that time. That is I left that particular kind of service, I was not searching on the streets for passenger business as I was before.

Q. Do you remember what kind of a looking girl this Indian Minnie was?

A. Why, she was a very comely looking girl, nice looking girl in fact, and I can picture her in my mind's eye as I saw her two or three times.

Q. I wish you would do that, what kind of hair did she have?

A. She had black hair, braided down her back in a plait, hanging down her back in a plait, neat looking and a nice looking girl.

Q. Did she show any signs of Indian?

A. Well, I wouldn't have taken her to be a white woman.

Q. Did you ever see the child after those two or three times?

A. No, not after that, because I was on the road traveling.

Q. And you didn't go about?

A. No, sir, after that, it was out of my line of business soliciting the streets.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Allen, are you a married man?

A. Not at the present time, I am a widower.

Q. When were you married, were you ever married more than once? A. Twice.

Q. When were you first married?

A. Oh, I believe it was seventy-four—seventy-four.

Q. Are you sure about that?

A. Well, it was either seventy-three or four. My mind has never been reverted to that since. My first wife has been dead a good many years, and my second wife has been dead ten years.

Q. When did your first wife die?

A. Let me see, about ninety-three I think.

Q. Are you sure about the year?

A. No, I wouldn't be sure about it exactly, it is about that time, she died from the effect of an operation in Kansas City for a specific complaint or disease.

Q. That fact is much more impressive than the seeing of this girl once or twice? A. I don't think so.

Q. The fact of the death of your wife with whom you lived for a good many years impresses itself more on your mind than seeing this girl once or twice? A. No, it don't.

Q. There was no intimacy between you and this girl?

A. Oh, no, not the slightest, I was out on the passenger business when I was up in that neighborhood.

Q. How many times did you see her?

A. Oh, I think perhaps three or four times.

Q. When did you first see her?

A. I can't tell you about that.

Q. Was it in eighty-one or eighty-two?

A. No, it was later than that, it might have been in eighty-four.

Q. It might have been earlier than that, might it not?

A. No, I don't think so, eighty-four or five.

Q. You have no way of fixing that, have you?

A. No, except I know at that time I know it was my business to solicit passenger——

Q. You didn't solicit this woman as a passenger, did you? A. No, but somebody at the house.

Q. Whom did you solicit at the house?

A. Some man out there, colored man by the name of—I think his name was Letcher.

Q. How many people were living there at that house at that time?

A. I don't know, I didn't see but two or three.

Q. Who did you see?

A. I saw this colored man that I was looking after to sell him transportation and——

Q. Where was he going?

A. Supposed to be going to Oklahoma.

Q. Did he go?

A. I don't know, I didn't get the business.

Q. Well, is that the only time that you ever remember of seeing her there?

A. No, I passed there once or twice, or maybe three times after that I saw her.

Q. Well, you passed there, whether you were a ticket agent or what not, you lived in town didn't you, didn't you ever pass except when you were ticket agent?

A. No, I wouldn't have any business up there, any other kind of business up there.

Q. Well, you would drive around different streets in town? A. No, I walked.

Q. You never drove around town in your life with anybody?

A. No, not at that time. No, I didn't have the price to buy anything to ride in.

Q. Wouldn't somebody give you a free ride around town?

A. No, I didn't have any intimate friends of that kind.

Q. When did you learn that this woman's name was Minnie? A. Oh, it was commonly known at the time.

Q. Tell me what person told you that her name was Minnie before this case came up?

A. Oh, I heard it from various parties. Heard her mentioned as Indian Minnie.

Q. You have—you had forgotten about her until your memory was refreshed, hadn't you?

A. No, oh, no, it was pretty well remarked here.

Q. What was her size?

A. Oh, I should judge five feet four, or five, something like that, moderate sized girl.

Q. If these other witnesses say a woman five feet high was or was not the woman that you saw——

> By Mr. Hanford: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination.
>
> By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and asking for a conclusion of the witness and as an improper request to compare evidence.
>
> By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Why, do you want me to give what my opinion was about the size?

Q. Yes, sir?

A. She was an ordinary sized girl, I am only guessing at her height, I suppose I would take it for granted that she was five foot five, just from my recollection, I never had any interest in sizing her up.

Q. She was not an extraordinarily low woman, then, was she? A. Just an ordinary looking girl, nice looking girl.

Q. What was her size?

A. I can't tell you that. I have answered that according to my recollection, about five feet five.

Q. She might have been lower than that or higher?

A. Oh, a half or three quarters of an inch maybe.

Q. What was her size though?

A. Why, she was a plump girl.

Q. A large plump girl?

A. No, I don't think she was a large plump girl.

Q. A slender girl?

A. What I would call a plump girl, a girl of good proportions.

Q. Weighing how much about?

A. I can't tell you about that.

Q. You saw her a number of times?

A. Two or three or four times.

Q. The girl you saw lived at Granny Letcher's?

A. Yes, as far as I know, I suppose so, I saw her there.

Q. You would see her there in the day time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You took her to be a mulatto didn't you? A. No.

Q. Why did you say to Judge Stuart a while ago that you didn't take her to be white?

By Mr. Hanford: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination.

A. I just simply knew that she wasn't a white woman, that is all, and she didn't look like a white woman.

Q. Well, what did she look like?

A. She looked to me like an Indian girl, her complexion was muddy, what I call ruddy.

Q. Ruddy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know whether she was a mulatto or an Indian did you?

A. No, I wasn't interested in it, only I understood——

Q. How long did she live there at Letcher's?

A. I don't know that.

Q. Did she live there during the two years that you were ticket agent?

A. Part of the time. I think she lived at the Fort a part of the time.

Q. When did she leave there—when did she live there?

A. When I saw her there.

Q. Who lived in the house, Granny Letcher?

A. That was my understanding. At least, I saw her there, I understood that was her house.

Q. And you never saw her until this child was up some size?

A. Well, my attention had never been attracted to her or called to her before that.

Q. You never saw her in a family way?

A. No, when I saw her and as a matter of fact it was this baby and that was three or four months old.

Q. But you saw her there frequently after that?

A. No, not frequently.

Q. Four or five times then? A. Probably three times.

Q. You never saw her before or afterwards in your life, did you?

A. Not to have her pointed out to me, but when I——

Q. Who pointed her out to you at that time?

A. I asked who she was and whose baby that was?

Q. Who told you at that time? A. The girl herself.

Q. She told you her name was Indian Minnie?

A. She didn't have to tell me that, I knew that.

Q. Well, you said a while ago that she told you herself, who told you? A. She told me that was her baby.

Q. And that his name was Tommy?

A. No, sir, she didn't tell me that, anything about its name, I didn't ask her.

Q. You never heard that before?

A. No, I didn't hear anything about that.

Q. You never saw that boy after that in your life, did you?

A. No, I simply knew she had a baby there three or four months old.

Q. That is the first time that you ever saw her?

A. The first time that I had ever seen the baby.

Q. Had you ever seen her before?

A. Well, not to know her definitely, no.

Q. You didn't see her in a family way, did you? A. No.

Q. You didn't see her after eighty-five?

A. No. Not after eighty-six, I think I saw her during eighty-five, but I don't remember what month.

Q. You remember that you didn't see her after eighty-five, because it was in eighty-five that you quit as the passenger agent of the Rock Island?

A. Yes, I didn't have any business running around among the people after that.

Q. What day in eighty-five did you quit as passenger agent for the Rock Island?

> By Mr. Hanford: I want to object to that other question as a misstatement of the evidence and move to strike the answer.

Q. What day in 1885 did you quit as passenger agent of the Rock Island? A. I can't tell you that.

Q. But you know you never saw her in your life after that?

A. Not after eighty-six, no. I wouldn't say but what I have seen her sometime during eighty-five, but as to eighty-six, I was away from here for some several years on the road.

Q. You might have seen her during eighty-four, five and six? A. No, not six.

Q. You never saw her after eighty-five then?

A. Well, not after January, 1886, I don't know——

Q. Do you know when you quit as passenger agent of the Rock Island? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you searched your memory about it? A. No.

Q. Have you asked anybody about it? A. No.

Q. With reference to the time that you quit as passenger agent of the Rock Island, when was it you saw Minnie Atkins?

A. I didn't see her after that at all, never seen her since.

Q. When was it with reference to that time, before that that you saw her?

A. It was sometime during eighty-five, I don't remember just when.

Q. You said a while ago eighty-four or five?

A. Well, I saw her in eighty-four and I think eighty-five too, I haven't got the dates marked down.

Q. You are quite positive you saw her in eighty-four?

A. Yes, I think——

Q. And the child was three or four months old when you saw her to know——

A. I am not sure about that. I said when I first saw the baby it looked like it was about three or four months old.

Q. You said a while ago that you had never seen her until then?

A. I said eighty-four or five. I am not going to swear to any special time because I don't remember.

Q. You never saw her until you became passenger agent of the Rock Island?

A. I was passenger agent of the Rock Island ten years before that particular one.

Q. It could have been any one of the ten years that you saw this woman at Granny Letcher's? A. No, sir.

Q. She was a slender woman about——

A. I wouldn't call her a slender woman, a plump woman.

Q. A hundred and sixty or seventy pounds?

A. I wouldn't think so.

Q. A hundred and twenty?

A. I think maybe a hundred and thirty at the time.

Q. She was just a plump girl and not very high?

A. No, I don't think she was so very high.

Q. And not quite white?

A. No, she wasn't a white woman.

Q. You wouldn't judge she was as much as five-five, you say? A. Yes, I would, I think she was about five-five.

Q. Wasn't she five ten or twelve?

A. No, not according to my opinion, she might have been five-five or five-five and a half, something like that.

Q. When, with reference to the time that you quit as agent of the Rock Island, did you see this woman there?

A. I never saw her after that.

Q. And she told you that she was the mother of this child?

A. That that was her baby.

Q. Where were you when you asked her that?

A. At Granny Letcher's.

Q. When? A. Well, I don't know that.

Q. What year? A. I think it was eighty-five.

Q. Why do you say eighty-five, you said a while ago it might be eighty-four?

A. Well, I said I had seen her several times there during eighty-four and five, the latter part of eighty-four and the early part of eighty-five.

Q. She lived at Granny Letcher's all the time that you saw her? A. I don't know whether she did or not.

Q. That was your understanding? A. I saw her there.

Q. You were not there at nights were you? A. No.

Q. Every time that you went there in the day time you saw this woman? Didn't you?

A. Along in these evenings.

Q. Evenings or afternoon? A. I think the evenings.

Q. I thought you said you weren't there at nights?

A. I wasn't there at night, didn't have any business there at night.

Q. What do you mean by evening?

A. Why, five o'clock, say late in the afternoon.

Q. What period of time would you say now that you saw her there covering what period, whether four, five or six months, twelve months, two years or what?

A. Well, it is pretty hard for me to answer that, I haven't given it any thought, and besides that I have no interest in it. As near as I can remember it was the latter part of eighty-four or possibly the early part of eighty-five.

Q. Was her name Indian Minnie, Indian Mary or Indian Mollie? A. Indian Minnie is the only name ever I knew her by.

Q. Was it Indian Minnie, Indian Mary or Indian Mollie?

A. Why, I understood it to be Indian Minnie, that is the name she went by.

Q. You have read a good deal about this case since it came up? A. Very little.

Q. You knew about this case involving a very large amount of money, didn't you?

A. Very little until quite recently I heard something about it.

Q. What period of time now would you say was covered by the time that you saw Minnie there at that place that you say she lived there?

A. As near as I can figure it running back over it in my mind, I would state it was early in eighty-five, I don't know positively about it, but I can't tell you about that.

Q. How long did she live there?

A. Why, that was her home as I understood it at that time.

Q. But you know how long she lived there? A. I do not.

Q. To your knowledge? A. I don't know.

Q. Well, was it a month?

A. Why, I knew that she was there covering a greater period than that, I knew of her being there several months.

Q. Would you say six months?

A. Five or six months, yes, I should think so.

Q. At least five or six months?

A. I should think so. It is pretty hard for a man to go back that far and give you the details.

Q. You say it was early in eighty-five that you first saw her there?

A. I would think it was in the spring of eighty-five, that is my——

Q. It wasn't later than that was it?

A. I don't think so, might have been in the summer time.

Q. And the child was three or four months old?

A. I think so.

Q. It wasn't as late as July, was it?

A. I wouldn't want to say about that.

Q. July is the seventh month in the year?

A. Well, it was during the first part of the year.

Q. You are sure of that? A. I think so.

Q. And the child was three or four months old at that time? A. That was my opinion.

Q. And this woman lived there continuously after that for at least four or five months? A. I don't know.

Q. That is your best recollection of the woman that you saw there?

A. Well, I saw her there during several months, during the spring of eighty-five and how long she lived there I don't know, I saw her there that is all that I know about it, several times, two or three times.

Q. How long did she live there, tell us at least how long to the best of your recollections, whether a month or six months?

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to the constant repetition of the questions that the witness has constantly answered that he can't say that she ever lived there.

By Mr. Allen: I just want one answer and then I will quit.

A. Read the question and I will answer it.

(Question read). A. I can't answer that very definitely, I know that she was there during the early part of eighty-five, whether it was three or four months or longer, I can't tell.

Q. Was she there a week? A. Oh, yes.

Q. Was she there a month?

A. There two or three months.

Q. There at least two or three months?

A. That is my recollection.

Q. Then, you want to correct your statement of a while ago that she was there at least four or five months?

A. Well, I am not going to trace answers in that way, I can't tell you. It was the early part as I told you before, it was during the first part of eighty-five and it will have to stand at that, because I can't get any other answer than that.

Q. And then it was at least two or three months you saw her there from the time that you would go around the place, and you understood she lived there?

A. Yes, during the early part of eighty-five was my understanding.

Q. You understood she lived there since the child was born, did you? A. I understood that was her home.

Q. She was there with the child two or three months old at that time? A. That is my recollection.

Q. Mr. Allen, there isn't a thing in the world connected with your knowledge of this woman that impresses itself on your mind, is it?

A. Nothing serious, just the passing acquaintance, that is all.

Q. You never had a thing in the world to do with it, never talked to her except—that she was the mother of the child?

A. I asked her if she was the mother of the baby.

Q. How many times did you talk to her? A. Once.

Q. You think that was—— What part of the house was that conversation in? A. The front room.

Q. How many rooms were there in the house?

A. I don't remember, I wasn't through the house.

Q. And how many stories did the house have?

A. My recollection is, looking backward the best I can state, it was a story and a half house.

Q. How many rooms up stairs?

A. I don't know, I never was up stairs.

Q. Who lived in the house besides Granny Letcher and Minnie?

A. If anybody did, I didn't know it, unless this girl was there.

Q. Did you ever see a white woman there in your life?

A. In that house?

Q. Yes?

A. I don't remember that I did, I don't think I did.

Q. Any other negroes living around there? A. Yes.

Q. Who?

A. I saw several. Oh, I saw several there, but I don't know their names.

Q. Any white people living there in the house?

A. Not that I saw.

Q. How many women were living there?

A. Well, I don't know that any were living there except Granny Letcher and this girl, I supposed they did.

Q. How many men lived there?

A. I don't know that any lived there.

Q. How many boys lived there? A. I didn't see any.

Q. Were there any other children that lived there?

A. I didn't see any.

Q. Not a one? A. Not one that I ever saw.

Q. What did you go there for, you say that you sold tickets? A. Went there to——

Q. To see a man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What man was that?

A. I understood his name was Letcher, but I don't know his front name.

Q. What did he do?

A. I don't know, we didn't go into any of those things with any one that we would go after for passenger.

Q. Had he a brother there?

A. I don't know whether he had a brother or son.

Q. You know a man named Spense Letcher who lives here in town now, don't you?

A. I think I would know him if I would see him.

Q. Wasn't that the man that you saw there?

A. No, I don't think so. The man that you are talking about now is not the man that I saw there.

Q. Sir?

A. You say a man in town named Letcher, a young fellow?

Q. No, an old man?

A. I don't think that was the same man. Wasn't a man named Terry Letcher who lived here in the other early days?

Q. You think it was Mary Letcher?

A. It seems to me that was his name, but I wouldn't swear to it. I wasn't interested in his name.

Q. What were you there for before that time?

A. I wasn't there for any specific purpose, I just passed there.

Q. You never was there before, was you?

A. Never was there before inside of the house.

Q. Did you ever stop there before?

A. I was up there and stopped in front of the house.

Q. What for?

A. Just like you stop anywhere and pass the time of day with somebody, I think I met Crilley in front of the house there and had a little chat with him about his business or something like that.

Q. Who is Crilley?

A. George Crilley, the livery barn across the street there.

Q. Is he the Crilley who is a witness in this case?

A. I don't know whether he is or not, I haven't met him here, I think he would have been though because he was a neighbor there.

Q. Did you see anybody else there around Crilley's house? A. No.

Q. And any children? A. No.

Q. Any woman?

A. I used to hear of some woman across at the old Seneca House occasionally.

Q. When did you see her? A. Oh, years before.

Q. Did you see any babies?

A. No, I didn't see any babies.

Q. Did you know any babies that were born in Leavenworth during eighty-five? A. Lots of them.

Q. Tell me one?

A. I don't know anything about their names, but I know there were some born here during that time.

Q. Where were they born?

A. All over town. This was a prolific town in those days.

Q. Tell us one?

A. I can't tell you one, I am not interested in any.

Q. Tell us some woman that you say in eighty-five had a baby except Minnie Atkins, just one?

A. I don't know that I know of any particular person, my attention was called to her on account of the fact that—well, her appearance for one thing.

Q. Well, there were other nice looking women here, were there? A. Oh, yes, I suppose there were.

Q. There were other good looking woman here that gave birth to babies?

A. I wasn't in their house looking for business.

Q. This was an assignation house, wasn't it?

A. I don't know, they never assigned anybody to me there. I was not in that line of business.

Q. You were then as you are now, only associating with the business people, weren't you, Mr. Allen?

A. Well, I was associating then as I am now with anybody that has any money to spend for the Rock Island. I go into places where there is business.

Q. What other house in this town did you go to, say that day or week, to sell tickets?

A. Well, I don't know, probably a dozen of them.

Q. Can you tell me one? A. No.

Q. One in 1885?

A. I was in every boarding house and every hotel in town during the week.

Q. This was not a boarding house was it?

A. No, I don't know that it was exactly a boarding house, but then we get traffic from everybody that wants to make a trip; we go to see them at least, in those days we did, regardless of whether it was a boarding house, private house, or what kind of a house.

Q. Tell me another boarding house in that entire year that you went to to sell tickets? A. Hundreds of them.

Q. Tell me one.

A. I just remember this particular incident on account of the incident, that is all.

Q. Because of what incident?

A. Because this girl was there with a young baby.

Q. You remembered it after this case came up?

A. I remembered it before the case came up.

Q. It passed out of your mind for thirty years, didn't it?

A. No, it didn't, lots of things I know that I wouldn't tell, wouldn't do for me to tell everything I discovered in Leavenworth.

Q. Tell us some of it that you discovered in eighty-five?

A. I don't have to.

By Mr. Blakeney: We object.

Q. Tell me everything you knew about Leavenworth?

A. No, indeed I wouldn't about Leavenworth, you are crazy.

By Mr. Blakeney: Objected to as irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial.

Q. In 1885, tell me one other fact, Mr. Allen that causes you to remember anything that happened in the year 1885, tell me one other happening in Leavenworth in 1884 or five?

A. Ask me what it is about and I will tell you.

Q. Anything? A. You name it.

Q. You name it, tell me one thing that happened in Leavenworth?

A. I could tell you a good many but I don't have to, I am not going to give away any personal history, or anything pertaining to the life of anybody else around here.

Q. There is nothing personal to you about Minnie Atkins, was there? A. Nothing, no.

Q. Now, can you tell me one other house in Leavenworth in 1884 or five that you went to to sell a ticket to anybody, just one, to whom you went to see to sell a ticket?

A. Yes, I can tell you, I went to—I went out here in Cincinnati and sold a European ticket to Carey Dodge to come over from Europe, and various other incidents like that.

Q. Tell me the name of that party?

A. Mrs. Nicholas Durgin.

Q. When did you sell that ticket?

A. I don't know, sometime in eighty-five. This just came up incidentally, I don't charge my memory with those things.

Q. That is the only kind of ticket that you sold of that kind in your life, isn't it?

A. I didn't sell it. I went up there to sell it but didn't sell it.

Q. I am talking about that ticket?

A. Yes, I sold lots of them. I could go to my books and refresh my memory and tell you lots of them.

Q. Have you got any of your books and refreshed your memory about your attempt to sell Letcher a ticket?

A. No, but that was one particular case.

Q. But one particular case that you didn't sell a ticket, wasn't it? A. Yes.

Q. There were hundreds of those, wasn't it? A. No.

Q. Many cases that you didn't sell it?

A. Very seldom that I didn't sell it.

Q. Was the disappointment so great you remembered it through life?

A. I think that has something to do with it.

Q. After you failed to sell a ticket to Oklahoma to some one named Carey Letcher? A. I think that is the name.

Q. Thirty years ago, it caused you to remember that did it? A. Yes, sir, that was the only time I was there.

Q. 1885? A. That is as near as I can fix the time.

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to the constant repetition as immaterial matters, and to matters in which the witness has repeatedly stated that he cannot give the definite date.

Q. The only thing that occurred in the years 1884 or five that you are positive about, Mr. Allen, is the fact that early in the spring of eighty-five, you saw this woman at Granny Letcher's with a child three or four months old?

A. That is my recollection.

Q. Mr. Allen, who did you first talk to about this case?

A. Let me see. I think Mr. Crilley asked me if I had been subpoenaed in the case and I said no.

Q. Did he know about you selling the ticket?

A. We didn't have any talk about that, that was all the conversation.

Q. What did Mr. Crilley ask you?

A. He asked me if I had been subpoenaed in the Indian Minnie case.

Q. And what did you tell him? A. Told him no.

Q. What else did he tell you? A. That is all.

Q. You say he is the first man that you ever talked to about it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How came him to know that you knew anything about the Indian Minnie case?

A. Because he came here as a kid and I helped to get him started in business and he has been a sort of protege of mine ever since in a business way.

Q. Sort of a protege of yours since he has been here?

A. Yes, always came to me for business advice.

Q. Do you think you ever saw this woman, Indian woman at the Fort?

A. My recollection is that I saw her up there. I think she was working at the officers up there at that time.

Q. What is the name, Stafford? A. No, Grodevant's.

Q. Who told you about that, Mr. Allen?

A. Nobody told me about that. I happen to be personally acquainted with Grodevant and his family.

Q. That is where you knew this woman, isn't it?

A. No, I never did know her there at all, I didn't know this woman except by sight, at that time I wasn't looking at Indian girls, I was a youngster and I had all the friends I needed.

Q. How many times did you see her at Grodevant's?

A. I never saw her there at all.

Q. Never saw her there at all?

A. I understood that she was working there.

Q. You understood that since this case came up?

A. No, nobody said anything to me about it since this case came up.

Q. When did you first talk about it to Crilley?

A. I got something else to think about besides this case, sir. He asked me if I had been subpoenaed in the Indian Minnie case and I said no have you? and he said yes.

Q. He asked you if you had been supoenaed in the Indian Minnie case?

A. Yes, he knew I knew Indian Minnie, knew that I was around in that neighborhood.

Q. How did he know that you knew her, knew Indian Minnie?

A. Because he and I stopped and talked there one day in front of the house as I told you a while ago.

Q. Talked about Indian Minnie?

A. No, not specifically.

Q. Pointed out Indian Minnie? A. No.

Q. Admiring Indian Minnie?

A. No, you are wrong about that.

Q. What were you and Indian Minnie talking about, do you reemmber that conversation well that only occurred thirty one years ago, don't you?

A. Well, no, but I have only had about a thousand conversations about matters relative to that character.

Q. You know about that conversation?

A. No, he simply mentioned something about Minnie's baby and that impressed it on my mind.

Q. He remembered that you had that conversation?

A. No, I remembered it.

Q. He must have remembered it because he came to see you——

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to what he must have known as a conclusion.

Q. Didn't he ever mention that conversation to you?

A. No, I had forgotten all about it, you have refreshed my memory more than anybody else.

Q. About the conversation with Crilley, I have refreshed your memory when I didn't refer to that conversation?

A. You asked me who I talked to and I happened to think that that was the man.

Q. I asked you who talked to you since this case came up?

A. Nobody but him.

Q. But you told me of the conversation that occurred in eighty-five?

A. No, the first you asked me, the first question you asked me was who I had talked to about it, and I said I talked to nobody about it but George Crilley who asked me if I was subpoenaed.

Q. You told me of this conversation and then said it was in 1885, didn't you?

A. Well, I told you that the only conversation I had about the case was that he asked me if I had been subpoenaed.

By Mr. Blakeney: Let my objection show that we both were talking at the same time and the Reporter got the testimony rather than my objection first, and I ask that it be inserted before the answer. I object to the argument between counsel and the witness as to what the record shows and to that form and character of examination as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Mr. Allen, you and Mr. Crilley didn't refer to that conversation? A. No.

Q. Crilley didn't refer to it? A. No, sir.

Q. Crilley didn't mention it to you? A. No, sir.

By Mr. Blakeney: We object to the repeated repetition.

Q. What did Crilley say to you?

A. I told you what he said.

Q. Is that all he said? A. That is all he said.

Q. And then when did anybody else talk to you?

A. Well, you have been about the only person talking to me about it, I guess since I can remember.

Q. Have I ever mentioned the case now in my life until you came on for cross examination?

A. Oh, no that is enough, it is a plenty.

Q. I never mentioned the case to you until you took this witness stand and I started to cross examine you, did I?

A. Go ahead.

Q. And I haven't mentioned it to you off the witness stand, have I? A. No.

Q. Who have you talked to about the case before you came into this Court house to testify?

A. I don't remember, some gentleman asked me.

Q. Where is he? Is he here in the room now?

A. This gentleman here.

Q. Pointing to Mr. Long—Frank Long?

A. Yes, he asked me, I don't remember what he said, but he said——

Q. He just talked to you, did he?

A. He just mentioned the fact; he asked me how long I had lived in Leavenworth and how long——.

Q. He didn't ask you a thing about your recollection of Minnie though, did he? A. No, he didn't.

Q. Nor he didn't mention the baby to you? A. No.

Q. He had no idea when he put you upon this witness stand that you would testify that you ever saw or heard of Minnie, did he?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object now to this witness testifying to the ideas of Mr. Long as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. You talked to Judge Stuart, didn't you—Judge Stuart here, the attorney? A. Indirectly.

Q. Judge Stuart over there, you never talked to him about the facts in the case, what you would testify?

A. Not in this particular case, no. We talked about the Rock Island business, he used to be General Attorney for the Rock Island, we talked about railroad business.

Q. He told you about it again and you talked about it again?

A. Incidentally he asked if ever I knew anything about Jack Lowe and some things like that.

Q. And you talked about the Rock Island and he put you on the witness stand to tell about Tommy Atkins?

A. He never said anything to me about Tommy Atkins, I don't know what you are talking about.

Q. You didn't know the name of the child at all?

A. No, sir.

Q. Never heard it in your life? A. No, sir.

Q. Did Crilley tell you that? A. No, sir.

Q. Crilley didn't tell you the name was Commodore, did he? A. No, nor Tommy Smith.

Q. This child was plainly an Indian looking child?

A. I don't know. I didn't take him up and examine him.

Q. He was a great big, burly boy, wasn't he?

A. He looked like any kid of that age. They all look alike to me.

Q. You knew he was a boy?

A. No, he might have been a boy or girl. I didn't examine it. Just saw it was a baby.

Q. All you know about this girl having worked at the Fort was what you heard?

A. Grodevant told me she was working for him.

Q. Grodevant didn't point to this girl did he?

A. No, but she was in there.

Q. Told you the girl was working for him?

A. Said Indian Minnie was working for him.

Q. When was that in reference to the time that you saw her in the house with the baby?

A. I don't know about that.

Q. She wasn't working for him then, was she?

A. After that I——

Q. Before that Grodevant told you that an Indian girl was working for him?

A. I think so. I am not swearing to that. That is my belief.

Q. Well was it before, after or at the time? Charge your memory Mr. Allen and tell me.

A. I can't do that. It was before that I am very sure.

Q. Tell me exactly what Grodevant said.

A. He just mentioned the fact that she was working for him.

Q. She, who? A. Indian Minnie.

Q. What did he say about her?

A. Said Indian Minnie was working for him.

Q. What Indian Minnie was he talking about?

A. I don't know. I suppose this same Indian Minnie that you are talking about.

Q. You had never seen this woman but once or twice in your life, had you?

A. Yes, I saw her once or twice before that.

Q. But you never heard of her until you saw her in bed with a baby?

A. I didn't see her in bed with a baby. You are drawing on your imagination. You don't have to do that.

Q. You never heard of her until you saw her at Granny Letcher's did you? A. Yes, I heard of her.

Q. Where did you hear of her?

Mr. Blakeney: We object to the repeated repetition of the matters and we figure it is done and we will appeal to the Court to examine the record and see if it is not done merely in an attempt to merely bulldoze the witness.

Mr. Allen: I object to the remark of counsel.

Q. Now, Mr. Allen you say that before you saw her in bed——

A. I didn't see her in the bed. Cut that out.

Q. Before you saw her with the baby three or four months old at Granny Letcher's when you went there to see a chicken to whom you now think was——

A. I didn't say, saw her in bed. Cut that out.

Q. Before Grodevant told you that Indian Minnie was working for her what was said?

A. I told you what was said. What do you want me to repeat it for? You make me tired.

The Examiner: Mr. Witness I will ask you to answer questions of counsel without any side remarks.

Mr. Blakeney: I want you to instruct the witness that he doesn't have to take the browbeating methods that counsel is giving him. He has some rights.

A. Don't worry about me.

Q. Mr. Allen, where were you standing when Grodevant told you that Indian Minnie was working for him?

A. Why I think it was in front of the prison. He was going there and I said: There goes Indian Minnie. And he said: Yes, she is working at our house now.

Q. That was long before you saw her at Granny Letcher's?

A. I don't remember. I don't know whether it was before or after. I simply remember the incident.

Q. Where did Grodevant live?

A. Up about the prison wall.

Q. What were you doing there that day?

A. I was deputy warden at the Federal Penitentiary. I had a right there.

Q. You were serving there as deputy warden, were you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were not ticket agent then?

A. Yes I was. You are getting in deep water. I was both.

Q. You held both offices?

A. I was twins. I represented the Rock Island Road and I was deputy warden at the Federal Penitentiary at the same time. I had an office at the west end of the Fort.

Q. Minnie Atkins, this Minnie, passed there and you said: There goes Indian Minnie, and he said: She is working for me? A. That is my recollection.

Q. Where had you known her before that time, Mr. Allen?

A. O, everybody in town knew Indian Minnie.

Q. That must have been after the time you saw her at the Letcher home?

A. I don't know. I won't testify to that. I don't remember whether it was before or after.

Q. Didn't you testify a while ago that you had never seen or heard of her until you saw her at the Letcher home?

A. No I didn't. I said she was a girl generally known in town by the name of Indian Minnie.

Q. When you saw that woman at the Letcher home you knew it to be who it was, didn't you?

A. Yes, I knew it was Indian Minnie, yes.

Q. You didn't have to be told who she was?

A. Yes, sure.

Q. You knew that woman was Indian Minnie? A. Sure.

Q. You had seen her and known her?

A. Yes, I had seen her to know who she was.

Q. You had seen her to know who she was for a long time?

A. For some time, yes.

Q. You had seen her to know who she was when you pointed her out to Grodevant? A. I guess I did.

Q. What were you doing in front of Grodevant's place?

A. I wasn't in front of Grodevant's place. In front of the prison.

Q. Where is the prison? A. Same place it is now.

Q. The Federal Military Prison?

A. No, sir, Military, and I didn't stutter when I said it before.

Q. Out at Fort Leavenworth?

A. There is not any Federal Military prison in this part of the country except Fort Leavenworth.

Q. She had the baby when you pointed her out to Grodevant, didn't she?

A. No, sir, there wasn't anybody with her or anything with her except herself.

Q. Was she pregnant at that time? A. I don't know.

Q. Well did she look like she was pregnant when you pointed her out to Grodevant?

A. I wasn't looking at her that close. I don't know.

Q. You remember that very distinctly don't you?

A. Not particularly distinctly. I remember she passed there.

Q. You remember that is the very woman that you saw at Granny Letcher's? A. That is my recollection.

Q. You are positive about that, are you, Mr. Allen?

A. Why, as positive as anybody can be, to something that is passed long ago.

Q. When were you appointed deputy warden at the prison? A. I don't remember what year.

Q. You were deputy warden of the prison post—the post prison? A. Yes.

Q. Who was warden?

A. First it was Col. Blunt, then Capt. Pope, then Col. French.

Q. Were you appointed deputy warden before you were ticket agent? Which were you appointed first?

A. I worked for the Rock Island first and then I worked for them while I was up there too.

Q. But you were not on a salary while you held that Government job up there, were you, with the Rock Island?

A. What has that got to do with the case?

Q. Were you or were you not?

A. Do I have to answer that?

Mr. German: Yes.

Mr. Stuart: No, he doesn't if he don't want to.

Mr. Blakeney: You do not. Of course the witness doesn't have to answer an immaterial question?

A. I object to answering the question.

Mr. Blakeney. Relating to his personal business.

A. I can answer that if it is necessary. I don't see that it has anything to do with the case.

Mr. Allen: That is all. If the witnesses are going to be instructed by counsel not to answer our questions, and trying to answer what we regard as legitimate questions, I will not undertake to further cross-examine him.

Mr. Stuart: I object to the question first, because it is immaterial and has no relation to this case and second, because it is going into the private, personal business of a witness which he objects to stating and I further object to a statement made by one of the counsel for the Government that if we are to instruct the witness not to answer questions that he will not further cross-examine the witness, because it is an assumption on his part that our objections are unjust and improper. This objection I have made in the best of faith and suggest to the Examiner and still insist that this gentleman need not answer that question unless he desires to do it.

Mr. Allen: If counsel wants to put a witness upon the witness stand and then upon cross-examination instruct the witness not to regard as a legitimate question— I see no use in undertaking to cross-examine the witness and I now decline to further undertake that task.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Mr. Allen, do you remember whether or not when I first came to this city that I came to your office? Do you remember my coming to your office, the Rock Island office, and talking with you about the Rock Island business? A. Yes.

Q. About how long you had been here? A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember that you were an unwilling witness—— Do you remember whether or not you were an unwilling witness and didn't want to come to testify in this case?

Mr. Allen: We object to that as leading and suggesting, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and improper re-direct examination and as suggestive to the witness.

Q. Now will you answer it? A. I certainly objected, yes.

Q. You objected. State whether or not I had to get a subpoena to bring you to this Court House?

Mr. Allen: We object to that for the same reason.

Q. Answer that? A. You bet you did.

The Examiner: Is that all gentlemen?

Mr. Allen: That is all in view of the instructions of counsel to the witness. I will ask the question again.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mr. Allen were you agent—— Were you on the payroll, that is drawing a salary from the Rock Island Company as ticket agent at the time that you were appointed and during the time that you served as deputy warden at the Federal Prison, at the post prison?

Mr. Stuart: Now you may answer that or refuse to answer it, just as you please.

A. I object.

Q. You refuse to answer it, do you?

A. I could answer it directly but I don't see that it has anything to do with the case and therefore I object. My private business has got nothing to do with the case.

Mr. Allen: That is all, in view of the attitude of counsel and the witness. I will not further try to cross-examine him.

Mr. Blakeney: I would like the record to show that I don't care to cross-examine the witness because he has not only been examined about everything and matter but everything that the ingenuity of counsel could conjure to try to irritate the witness.

The Examiner: Mr. Witness, as counsel requests it, and calls upon me as Examiner to do so, it will be my duty to certify to the United States District Court for this district your refusal to answer the question propounded to you for such action by the Court as may be proper. I make that statement to you for your information.

A. I will answer that question when it is demanded by the Court. I can do it in a very satisfactory manner but I don't consider it any of his business so far as my affairs are concerned. It was an agreement between the Rock Island and the Government. I don't see what this case has to do with it.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: Also the deposition of Mattie E. Cobb, beginning at page 1757.

And thereupon MATTIE COBB, being called on behalf of the defendant, sworn, and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. Mattie Cobb.

Q. Where do you live, Mrs. Cobb?

A. I live in Missouri; Tracy, Missouri. Platt City is our place, I live in the little town named Tracy.

Q. Did you ever live in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What years? A. Sir?

Q. What years did you live in Leavenworth?

A. Well, I lived fourteen years here.

Q. Fourteen years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you live in 1885?

A. I lived on Seneca street.

Q. What house did you live in?

A. I lived in Mr. George Crilley's house, in the old Seneca House.

Q. Did you know a woman by the name of Aunt Mollie, a fortune teller? A. Yes, sir, Mollie Teetors.

Q. Mollie Teeters?

A. Yes, sir, she was a fortune teller, she lived up stairs over Mr. George Crilley's front room.

Q. Did you know a woman by the name of Indian Minnie?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You may state, Mrs. Cobb, to the Examiner, if you had a child born in the Seneca House?

A. Yes, sir, I did in '85.

Q. What was the name of the child?

A. Grace Edwards, my name was Edwards then. Grace Edwards.

Q. Is your daughter still living?

A. Yes, sir, she lives in St. Louis.

Q. What day was Grace born? A. What day?

Q. What day, what month of the year?

A. She was born the 20th day of April in 1885, right in the City, in the Seneca House.

Q. Now, Mrs. Cobb, who waited on you just before your baby was born? A. Indian Minnie waited four days on me.

Q. What was her condition at the time she waited on you, pregnant or not? A. Yes, sir, indeed she was.

Q. After Indian Minnie left you, did she have a child?

A. Yes, sir, she did.

Q. Where? A. At old Grandmother Letcher's.

Q. How long after your child was born?

A. It was born the last day of May or the first day of June, and I won't be positive which day that was.

Q. Did you see the baby?

A. I did, indeed I have seen it, yes, sir, I have seen it and had it in my own home, in my house, I washed its hands and its face off several times, it played with my children.

Q. What did they call the baby?

A. Called it Commodore, that is the only name I ever knew it to go by.

Q. How often after that did you see Indian Minnie?

A. Oh, I seen her five or six months around there.

Q. And then what became of her?

A. Well, I don't know, she disappeared, and the old lady told me——

Q. Never mind about the old lady?

A. That she didn't know exactly.

Q. Didn't know what became of her. How did you come to get Indian Minnie to wait on you?

A. Well, I was helpless myself, and the lady I had spoke to, she was sick and couldn't come and my husband found this girl and brought her to me to my house and she stayed four days with me.

Q. Did you know whether Indian Minnie went backward and forward to the Fort?

A. Yes, sir, she did, backwards and forwards to the Fort.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mrs. Cobb, can you hear me here across the table, or had I better come around?

A. You better come around, I can't understand just what you say. I want to tell just what I know.

Q. How long had you lived at the place where you was living at the time this child Grace was born?

A. How long had I lived here?

Q. Lived in the same place, same house?

A. In that same place, I lived there about a year, yes, just about a year I guess that I lived there.

Q. Your name at that time was Edwards, you say?

A. Sir?

Q. Your name at that time was Mrs. Edwards?

A. Yes, sir, my husband's name was Edwards, he is dead.

Q. What was Minnie's condition when she was waiting on you, was she able to do the work?

A. She was in the same condition myself was.

Q. Could she do the work?

A. No, not very much of it, she done no washing or no ironing, she didn't do no washing or ironing for me because she wasn't able to do it.

Q. You say that you had the child in your own hands, when did you have it in your hands?

A. Why, I had it for a year or two there around the house.

Q. I want you to call your attention to the first time now?

A. Well, I had it, it was in long dresses, the old colored lady brought it over to my house when it was in long dresses and I was in the room and seen it when it was not but about four days old.

Q. Where was it when you saw it when it wasn't but four days old?

A. Up stairs in Grandmother Letcher's house in the bed room.

Q. Who was in there with it? A. Minnie.

Q. Did you go up there by yourself?

A. No, sir, I went with Mr. George Crilley's wife.

Q. You and she both went to see the baby?

A. Yes, sir, we went to see the baby, she called us over to see it.

Q. Who called you over? A. Grandmother Letcher.

Q. When you got over, just tell what the mother and baby both were doing, where were they when you got over?

A. Why, she was lying in bed with it.

Q. The baby in bed with the mother? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was it dressed? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Dressed?

A. Why, it had on its night dress—skirts.

Q. Had on sleeping garments in the bed?

A. Yes, sleeping garments.

Q. Was it asleep or awake?

A. No, it was awake, I took it in my hands.

Q. You took it up in your hands so?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. How long did you stay there with the baby at that time?

A. Oh, we didn't stay but just a little while, we didn't go for a visit or anything of that kind, we just went over to see it.

Q. Did you undress the baby?

A. No, I never dressed the baby.

Q. You didn't see the baby and know it until that day?

A. Just went over to see it was all.

Q. When did you next see the baby?

A. Why, I seen it around there every once in a while; wasn't but a few days at the time but what I seen it.

Q. Were you over there yourself, or did you see the baby out in the yard?

A. Yes, I would run over there every once in a while to see it.

Q. Did you see it any other time except when you would run over to see it?

A. Yes, she would fetch it over to my house, grandmother Letcher would, and when it got so it could run around it was back and forth at my house and Mr. Crilley's house, because our children played with it.

Q. You saw the baby from time to time when it was in the bed with its mother, from the time it was in the bed with its mother until it was running around?

A. Yes, sir, for the next four years I saw it.

Q. You saw it for the next four years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the complexion of the child?

A. Kind of brown Indian colored child, just like the Indians, black eyes and black hair, high cheeks.

Q. You was informed that Minnie was an Indian?

A. Sir.

Q. You were informed that Minnie was an Indian?

A. Everybody knowed that she was an Indian.

Q. Well, was it so distinct that you could tell that she was not a negro? A. Well, I didn't know it was a negro.

Q. I say, was the Indian characteristic so distinct so that you could see that it was an Indian?

A. Well, it favored the Indians when I seen it; I couldn't say it was a full blooded Indian.

Q. Was it light?

A. Yes, light brown colored, high cheek, black eyes, and black hair.

Q. How about its face, did you notice?

A. The face was kind of long.

Q. How was it as to length?

A. Well, I don't remember that.

Q. Nothing striking about the appearance as to whether it was—— A. Sir?

Q. Nothing so striking in the appearance? A. No.

Q. So that you could now remember? A. No.

Q. You say you did see it then? A. Sir?

Q. You saw it from day to day and week to week and month to month until it was four years old?

A. Yes, sir, I did, running around everywhere.

Q. After it could run around you frequently saw it?

A. Oh, I—— It was right there in my house, the children was with it all the time.

Q. Playing with Grace?

A. Oh, no, Grace would stay in the house, they would be out with the little ones, Grace would be playing in the house; they would be out with them on the sand pile and they would dump the little ones, those biggest ones would dump them on the pile.

Q. You have seen them playing with them?

A. All five of them, my two, Mr. Crilley's two, and this littlest one played together all the time.

Q. Now, when was the last time that you saw it?

A. When I moved away from there, I lived there four long years, I saw it after I moved away from there; I went backward and forward to Mr. Crilley's and I seen the child often.

Q. When was the last time that you did see it now?

A. I can't tell you the last time I seen it.

Q. Did you see the child at any time away from the place there? A. Sir?

Q. Did you see the child at any time away from the place there?

A. Why, I used to see it going out in a wagon with an old colored man that hauled vegetables around.

Q. Describe the old colored man?

A. Well, there are so many of them alike, I can't just exactly describe them. He drove a gray horse is all I can remember.

Q. Did he have whiskers?

A. Yes, sir, had whiskers.

Q. Was he a full blood colored man, or did he kind of show—— A. Well, he was a kind of a black——

Q. Do you know that old colored man's name?

A. No, I don't know his name.

Q. You had seen that old colored man several years, hadn't you?

A. Oh, he was around there every week or two with vegetables and things like that.

Q. He brought in his products from the farm?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he drove an old gray horse?

A. Yes, he wouldn't keep the child away any length of time, he just had it around in his wagon, would ride it around in his wagon; they would all climb in the wagon with him, all the children.

Q. The child had been climbing in the wagon?

A. Yes, and he would help the littlest in.

Q. And they would go around with him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Tommodore, as you call him, had been doing that for sometime while you were there?

A. Yes, sir, running after him.

Q. Did you notice every time he came to town he would go up and get Tommodore and ride him around?

A. Not every time.

Q. You had seen him do that frequently?

A. Frequently, yes, sir.

Q. He would do that when he wouldn't take Grace and the other children?

A. Yes, sir, wouldn't take the other children.

Q. He would take Tommodore and drive around by himself?

A. Yes, sir, I wouldn't let my children go every time.

Q. After you moved away, you would come back and see Tommodore, there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. There came a time when you didn't see Tommodore again, didn't it?

A. I never paid any attention to the boy after I left.

Q. You saw him a lot riding around with the old colored man in the wagon? A. Not after I moved away.

Q. Did you see the old colored man after that?

A. No, not that I know of.

Q. You don't recall that you ever saw the old colored man after you moved away from there?

A. No, not after I moved off that street.

Q. What kind of old vehicle did the old colored man drive? A. A gray horse.

Q. What kind of a buggy or wagon?

A. Just a little old straight wagon, wasn't no buggy at all.

Q. Now, during the time that the child was playing around that place, did you ever wash the child?

A. No, sir, only hands and face.

Q. You never washed its body?

A. No, I wasn't out at that.

Q. Did you see its mother after the child got seven or eight months old?

A. Oh, yes, I seen Minnie a long time after that going backwards and forth, going around there.

Q. How long did you see Minnie after that?

A. Oh, five or six months.

Q. Did you see her after that five or six months?

A. No.

Q. You have nothing to refresh your memory as to how long you saw Minnie there, except after the child was born, have you? A. No, I seen her for five or six months.

Q. The question is you have no data that you know?

A. No

Q. Or anything you can refresh your memory? A. No.

Q. What other members of your family were living with you?

A. Of my family? Why there wasn't no one but myself and husband and my older daughter.

Q. Your older daughter? A. Yes.

Q. What was her name?

A. Her name is Tittle—— Mary Edwards.

Q. Mary Edwards, what is her name now? A. Tittle.

Q. How much older was she than Grace?

A. Six years old.

Thereupon, the witness was excused until nine-thirty o'clock A. M., February 23rd, 1916.

And thereafter, on the 23rd day of February, 1916, at nine-thirty o'clock A. M., further testimony herein was taken as follows:

MRS. MATTIE COBB, being called, further testified as follows:

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mrs. Cobb, while Tommy lived at Granny Letcher's how was he dressed and clothed?

A. Why she dressed him in different garments.

Q. What I mean was he dressed well or poorly?

A. Why, he was dressed in common clothes like any other child that run around in, little calico dresses and little white dresses.

Q. Did you ever make him any clothing? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever make him any night gowns? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't make him any night gowns? A. No, sir.

Q. And you didn't put any night gowns on him, or try any on him? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever see a birth mark on his back?

A. No, sir.

Q. And you said, I believe, yesterday, that you didn't see him taken out to the country by old man Carter?

A. Well, I say that he went around with the old vegetable man over the country, and drove around in the wagon with the other children, I don't know whether he was taken out to his own home or not, to this old colored fellows house or not, I can't testify to that.

Q. Did Granny Letcher ever tell you where the boy had gone to? A. No, sir.

Q. And you did a few months or a few years after he disappeared from Granny's, see the boy go riding around in the wagon with this old colored man, this old colored vegetable man? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Mrs. Wills?

A. Yes, I knew her a long time.

Q. Did you ever talk to her about this case?

A. Not lately I haven't.

Q. When did you first talk to her about it?

A. When I first remembered it, when we first commenced talking about it, but I didn't since this started out, not late days.

Q. Do you remember when or about when you first talked to her? A. Oh, I guess it has been about a month or more.

Q. About a month ago?

A. Yes, it was after Mr. McMillian was at my house.

Q. About when do you say it was now?

A. Well, I don't know just what day it was, I was over here at my daughter's and I just talked over the fence to her and I asked her what she knew about it.

Q. Was that the first time you ever talked to her.

A. That was the first time I ever talked to her.

Q. Was that the only time that you ever talked to her?

A. The only time.

Q. I will ask you if you didn't tell her that you had made two gowns—— A. I never.

Q. Two gowns for this boy Tommy Atkins?

A. I never told her.

Q. And had tried one of them on and had seen the birth mark on his shoulder?

A. I raise my hand to God and man, I never done it.

Q. But you didn't know which shoulder it was on?

A. No, sir.

Q. Or words in substance to that effect?

A. I don't think he had a mark on him; I have heard several talk about him having a mark, but I never knowed it.

Q. Did you not also tell her in this same conversation that the boy had been taken out to the country by the old vegetable man, and calling his name as old man Carter?

A. No——

Q. And that you had seen the boy later in the old vegetable man's wagon in Leavenworth, or words in substance to that effect?

A. No, sir. I seen him in the wagon with my own two little children and Mr. Crilley's two little children riding around when he was selling vegetables around from house to house.

but I never seen him go to the country, I never watched where he went because I never thought anything about it.

Q. Did you have this conversation that I stated here with Mrs. Wills at any other time? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. And you didn't have that conversation over the 'phone with her? A. No, sir.

Q. About a month ago? A. No, sir.

Q. When you came here to visit your daughter in Leavenworth? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever talk to Mr. E. W. Bell? A. Bell?

Q. Bell in the hotel in Kansas City? A. Yes, yes, sir.

Q. When did you have that?

A. Why, that was when I was down to Kansas City last week.

Q. It was last Friday week, wasn't it?

A. I think it was Friday.

Q. Friday about the 18th. I will ask you if you didn't on or about the 18th day of February, 1916, in your room in the Federal Hotel, at Kansas City, have a conversation with Mr. E. W. Bell? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In which you stated that you had made two night gowns for this boy Tommy Atkins? A. I never done it, no, sir.

Q. And at the same time and place if you didn't state to him or in substance state that while you was living at the place where you removed from Seneca Street, that you returned to visit Mrs. Crilley and saw the boy get into the—the boy, Tommy Atkins, get into the wagon of old man Carter——

A. I never done it——

Q. And if you didn't at the same time and place, if you didn't in substance state that at some other time later that the old man brought the boy back and he visited Granny Letcher?

A. I never done it.

Q. And that you talked to Granny Letcher about it, and that Granny said that he had been taken out to the vegetable man's to take care of, or words to that effect?

A. I never said it.

Q. And at the time you had this talk with Mrs. Wills, did you mention Mr. Long's name to her? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you tell Mrs. Wills in substance that Mr. Long was trying to keep you from telling the truth about it?

A. I never done it.

Q. When you took the stand you were going to tell the truth? A. I never done it.

Q. Or words in substance to that effect?

A. Well, I can testify—stand before any one's face and say so, I never done it. I have come here to tell the truth and nothing but the truth.

Q. What is Mr. Long offering you?

A. He never offered me a penny in his life.

Q. What did he give you?

A. He never give me nothing.

Q. What do you expect him to give you?

A. No, I don't think I am expecting a penny.

Q. What do you expect in any form? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you tell Mrs. Wills in this conversation, in the conversation you have referred to at the time and place that you referred to, the conversation with Mrs. Wills, did you tell her that Long was trying to get you to go away to keep you from coming to Court? A. No, sir.

Q. Or words in substance to that effect?

A. No, sir, I never done it.

Q. How often have you seen Mr. Long?

A. I haven't seen Mr. Long since he was at my house until last night.

Q. You saw him last night? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you see him? A. At Mr. Bond's office.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. Why I stayed there quite a little bit.

Q. What was said and done there? A. Sir?

Q. What was said and done there, by Mr. Long?

A. Well, we just sit there and talked, wasn't anything done.

Q. Did you talk about the case?

A. Why, not particular.

Q. You mentioned it, didn't you?

A. Why once in a while we did.

Q. What were you talking about if you weren't talking about the case? A. Why, we were just talking.

Q. Just a social visit? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In Mr. Bond's office last night? A. Yes.

Q. You had been on the stand yesterday afternoon when Court adjourned? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you knew that the examination would be continued this morning? A. Yes.

Q. Where are you stopping in this town?

A. I am stopping at my son-in-law's, Earnest Tittle's.

Q. How did you happen to meet at Mr. Bond's office?

A. Well, I just went out to meet Mr. Bond and that was all, I went there.

Q. You knew Mr. Bond was representing Mr. Page and Mr. Long in this matter, didn't you? A. Sir?

Q. You knew that Mr. Bond was representing Mr. Page and Mr. Long in this matter in this case?

A. Why, I thought he was anyhow.

Q. Did you see Mr. Bond about the matter that you went out to see him about?

A. I had never seen Mr. Bond until I was ready to start, he never came in until I was ready to start, he had been to Kansas City.

Q. Well, did you get any money? A. Did he?

Q. Did you? A. No, sir, never got a cent.

Q. Never got a cent? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you see Mr. Bond just previous to this?

A. Never had seen him since he was over at my home.

Q. When was that?

A. Well, that was about, I don't just remember, just how many weeks it has been, but a month I guess since he was at my house.

Q. At your house where, in Kansas City? A. No, sir.

Q. Where?

A. In Tracy, Missouri, I don't live here.

Q. Did he pay you anything there?

A. No, sir, paid me nothing.

Q. Did you see Mrs. Wills last night? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have a talk with her?

A. No, I didn't talk with her, I sat in that hack with Mr. Crilley's daughter.

Q. You didn't talk with her at all?

A. Well, no, she came to the hack and talked but we were not talking on this subject.

Q. Did you say anything——

A. Of course I had gumption enough to answer questions when any was asked.

Q. Was the case mentioned? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you tell Mrs. Wills last night in Leavenworth that this morning that you were going to testify——

A. Yes, I told her that.

Q. Wait a minute; that you had seen the birth mark or scar on Tommy Atkins shoulder? A. I never done it.

Q. But that you didn't know which shoulder it was on?

A. I never done it.

Q. Or words in substance to that effect?

A. I never done it.

Q. Do you know Mr. Page? A. I seen Mr. Page once.

Q. Where did you see him?

A. I seen him at my own home.

Q. Talked to him about this case?

A. Well, he asked me what I knew about it.

Q. And you told him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did he make you any offer of financial assistance o any kind?

A. No, sir, he never made me no offer at all, I have never had no offer made to me with nothing.

Q. Do you remember talking to Mr. Bonds about this case, do you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you remember in a conversation with him——

A. Yes.

Q. That you told him of the birth mark and knowing where the boy was? A. No, sir.

Q. And he throwed up both his hands and said "My God, I thought you were my friend!" A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever tell Mrs. Wills that that incident occurred? A. No, sir.

Q. At the time and place now that you had this conversation with Mrs. Wills that you have referred to, did you tell Mrs. Wills about an incident occurring in Mr. Bond's office in which he threw up his hands as I have stated before?

A. No, sir, I never done it.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Mrs. Cobb, are you able to hear me now?

A. You will have to speak so I can understand what you say.

Q. Can you hear me now? A. Yes, I believe I can.

Q. Do you have any interest in this case, have you?

A. Sir?

Q. You haven't any interest in this case, have you?

A. No, sir, what do you mean by that?

Q. You simply want to tell us the truth about it, don't you?

A. Yes, sir, I do; I want to tell you the truth and nothing but the truth.

Q. You have taken an oath to do that, haven't you?

A. Yes, sir, I have.

Q. You realize the sanctity of that oath, do you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Your memory is good, isn't it?

A. Well, I think so.

Q. Well, I will ask you now just to follow me and we will go over the story of your life and of your residence at Leavworth? A. Well, I ain't an educated woman.

Q. Who was your father and mother?

A. My father was C. G. Monk.

Q. Was he ever married more than once? A. No, sir.

Q. Is your father living? A. No, sir.

Q. Is your mother living? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long has your father been dead?

A. He has been dead twelve years this coming May.

Q. He died long after you were grown then?

A. Oh, I was married and had children.

Q. How many brothers or sisters have you?

A. I haven't got but two brothers and there are seven sisters of us living.

Q. Who was the oldest of all the children?

A. My brother, my oldest brother.

Q. Where does he live?

A. Well, I don't know, he did live in Kansas City, but they say he has moved from Kansas City and I don't know just where he moved to.

Q. What was the occupation of your father?

A. Farmer, he farmed.

> By Mr. Stuart: We object to that, because it is immaterial and incompetent, not tending to prove any issue in this case.
>
> By Mr. Hanford: The same ground, and on the further ground that is improper cross examination.

Q. Your oldest brother you say lived in Kansas City when you last heard of him?

A. The last I heard of him, I haven't seen him for seven or eight years.

Q. Where was he born?

A. Well, I just can't tell you for I don't know.

Q. You don't remember the date of the birth of your brother?

A. No, I don't, it is set down in my mother's Bible but I have no education and I can't remember anything like that.

Q. But you remember the birth of Tommy?

A. Yes, I was there, I remember that.

Q. You were raised up with your brother, were you not?

A. Why, sure.

Q. And you tell me now that you don't know his age?

A. Well he was born in June, but I don't know how old he is, what year he was born in for he was born in Indiana.

Q. Did he have any children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many? A. I think he has got five.

Q. What is the name of his oldest child? A. Jimmy.

Q. When was Jimmy born? A. Well, I can't tell you.

Q. You remember that, don't you? A. No, I don't.

Q. Don't remember Jimmy's age?

A. I never kept track of their ages.

Q. What does Jimmy do? A. He is dead.

Q. What did he do before he died?

A. He died a small infant, a baby child, he didn't do anything.

Q. What does your brother do?

A. He works just at work he can get wherever he can, he works at the stone work most generally.

Q. Stone mason? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has he ever been married more than once?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many times? A. Twice.

Q. What became of his first wife? A. She is dead.

Q. Did she die—were they living together when she died?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he afterwards married again?

A. Yes, sir, he married a Smith.

Q. And Jimmy was born of the first marriage, was he?

A. No, sir.

Q. Of the second? A. Second.

Q. Who is the next child? A. Etta.

Q. How old is Etta?

A. She is about nineteen years old I think.

Q. About how old is Jimmy?

A. Well, Jimmy was older than her.

Q. Where did you live when Jimmy was born?

A. I lived in Missouri.

Q. How far from your brother?

A. I lived away in the country, I don't know just how far.

Q. Then, who is the next child?

By Mr. Hanford: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination.

A. Archie.

Q. How old is Archie?

By Mr. Hanford: Same objection.

A. Well, he must be about——

Q. When was he born?

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Well, I don't know what year he was born, I never kept no track of their ages.

Q. You kept no track of your brother's children's age?

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. No, I didn't keep no track of them.

Q. The next child was who? A. Ida.

Q. Ida, how old is Ida? A. Well, Ida is seventeen.

Q. She is seventeen?

A. They were older than her.

Q. When was she born?

A. I don't know what year, I can't tell the girls, I can tell what year we was born.

Q. You didn't keep up with that either, Mrs. Cobb?
A. No.

By Mr. Hanford: I object to all this line of testimony on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Who was the next child? A. Carrie.
Q. How old is Carrie?
A. She is the youngest child, I don't know how old she is, she is the youngest.

By Mr. Hanford: Judge Allen, will my objections go to all this line of testimony, this character of testimony?

By Mr. Allen: Yes, sir, each and every question.

By Mr. Hanford: As incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and improper cross examination.

Q. Carrie you say is the youngest? A. Yes, sir.
Q. How old is she? A. I don't know how old she is.
Q. You have visited in your brother's family, haven't you? A. Not lately.
Q. Well, you have since these children were born?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you ever there when any of them were born?
A. No.
Q. Were you ever there when any of them were small children?
A. Oh, yes, I was there when they were small children.
Q. Yet you dressed them, nursed, and held them, didn't you? A. No, I didn't.
Q. Never had your brother's children in your arms when they were little?
A. I had them in my arms, I never dressed them or anything like that. I was only there all day or maybe all night, I didn't do very much visiting.
Q. You were on good terms with your brother, weren't you?
A. Well, some things I was and some things I wasn't.
Q. What were the things you were, and some of the things you were not?

By Mr. Stuart: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Well, they didn't do quite to suit me.
Q. What did they do?
A. Well, they didn't live a life that I would like to live.

Q. What kind of a life did they live?

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Well, he let his children do lots of things that wasn't right.

Q. Did any of them go wrong?

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which one? A. Son, Willie.

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

Q. Did he go to the pen? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is he in the pen now? A. No, I don't know that he is.

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

Q. Well, what was the crime?

A. Well, he did something, I think about some tools of an automobile.

Q. Did your brother have anything to do with that?

A. No, he didn't have anything to do with it.

Q. Was he tried on the charge? A. Sir?

Q. Was your brother tried on that charge?

By Mr. Hanford: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

A. No, not that I know of; I wasn't there when it was done.

Q. Did your brother ever get into any trouble?

A. Yes, sir, he did.

By Mr. German: Your objection go to all of this.

Q. Did he go to the penitentiary too?

A. Yes, sir, he did, that is the reason we never went about.

Q. How long did he stay in the penitentiary?

A. Well, I don't know whether it was four or five [].

Q. What was his crime?

A. Well, he taken a horse, I am truthful what I tell.

Q. He took a horse? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was he sent to the pen from? A. Kansas.

Q. This town? A. Out at Lansing.

Q. Where was he living then?

A. He was living away out in Kansas.

Q. Near you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did your father ever get into any trouble?

A. No, sir, my father was a good noble man.

Q. Your brother ever in the pen more than once? A. No.

Q. And you visited there before that, didn't you?

A. Yes, I visited there once in a while, but I never visited any more after they been dropped.

Q. Did any of the other children ever get in bad?

A. No, not that I know of.

Q. But they were all bad children you thought?

A. Yes, they was all bad children.

Q. And you had a horror against the pen? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you didn't want to associate with him because he went to the pen?

A. No, I didn't, because they could do that if they wanted to.

Q. Didn't your husband go to the pen? A. No, sir.

Q. What? A. Not of my knowing.

Q. Your husband never was sentenced to the penitentiary? A. Not that I know of.

Q. Isn't this man the Edwards who was the father of this girl that you say was born on Seneca street?

A. Yes, George Edwards.

Q. Did he go to the penitentiary?

A. Yes, he did; yes, he did. But this husband didn't.

Q. Which husband didn't go? A. This last one, Cobb.

Q. Has he ever been in any trouble? A. No, sir.

Q. Well, going back now to your brother? A. Yes.

Q. You had a brother-in-law in the penitentiary, didn't you? A. Yes.

Q. Grace is now under—is Grace now under any charge?

A. Sir?

Mr. Hanford: That is objected to as immaterial.

Q. Is Grace under any charge now? A. No, sir.

Q. What? A. If he is I don't know it.

Q. What about Mary?

Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Well, I guess you read that in the paper. I am her mother.

Q. Grace was charged with running off with a man and violating the white slave law, wasn't she?

Mr. Hanford: Same objection.

Q. I mean Mary?

A. Yes, that is true enough. You read that in a paper.

Q. That was at a time when she was living with her own husband, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you raised her, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir, I did, but I raised her better than that.

Q. Yet you complain because this older brother of yours didn't raise his children to stay out of trouble.

A. I tried to raise mine better; they were good children when they married.

Q. Well, don't you suppose your brother did? A. No.

Mr. Blakeney: We object to supposition.

Q. Who was your next brother? A. My brother Willie.

Q. Was Willie ever in any trouble? A. No, sir.

Q. What was his occupation?

A. He run a poultry house in Kansas City of his own.

Q. In the poultry business in Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You never knew of him getting into trouble?

A. No, sir, I know he never did.

Q. How many times has he been married?

A. Well, he has been married once.

Q. Just once? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is his wife living? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are they living together? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many children have they? A. They have five.

Q. What is the name of the oldest? A. Mildred.

Q. When was this brother born? A. Why, I don't know.

Q. Why you were raised with him, weren't you?

A. Well, I know I was. He was the youngest child my mother had.

Q. You have seen him a great many times than you ever saw Connie, haven't you?

A. Oh, yes, but I know when Connie was born.

Q. And don't remember when your brother was born?

A. My brother was born in October, but I don't remember just what year it was.

Q. The oldest child is named what? A. What?

Q. This brother you are talking about now? A. Mildred.

Q. How old is Mildred? A. Mildred is 19.

Q. Is she married? A. No, sir, single, at home.

Q. When was she born?

A. She was born in May, but I don't know what year.

Q. Where does she live?

A. Lives at Kansas City with her father and mother.

Q. What street? A. Sir.

Q. What address? A. What is her address?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, I don't know, they moved just lately near the chicken house, but I don't know what number their house is.

Q. Where is the chicken house?

A. They are right by the Market Square.

Q. Where did they live?

A. They lived way out by, why I forget the name of the park. I don't know anything about Kansas City.

Q. Now, Mrs. Cobb, tell me when she was born, that 19-year-old neice of yours?

A. Well, I can't do it, because I can't tell the year that she was born in.

Q. Well, she was born since Connie was? A. Sir.

Q. She was born since Connie was, and you have forgotten that date, have you?

A. Well, I know Connie was born when my child was.

Q. Oh, no, he was born afterwards, wasn't he?

A. Yes, afterwards.

Q. So was this child, wasn't she?

A. I don't know when she was born.

Q. You have been there a number of times since, haven't you? A. I haven't been for eight years.

Q. When was the next girl? A. Wasn't no next girl.

Q. Boy? A. Herbert.

Q. How old is Herbert? A. 15 years old.

Q. What does he do?

A. Works at the office, I don't remember what man's office, a lawyer's office.

Q. He has never been in trouble?

A. No, he is just a 15-year-old boy, he has never been in no trouble.

Q. What about Herbert, how old is he? A. 15.

Q. When was he born?

A. I don't know; I never kept track of their ages.

Q. Where were you living when Herbert was born?

A. I was living here in Leavenworth.

Q. Where was your brother living when Herbert was born? A. Kansas City.

Q. You visited each other frequently, didn't you?

A. No, not very often, I didn't visit with them.

Q. Why didn't you visit with him?

A. Just because I never was able; I am a poor woman, and I work hard for my living, and I don't have time to go and visit; I don't visit very much.

Q. Did you ever live near your brother Monk?

A. No, sir.

Q. Your next brother? A. Second brother?

Q. Your second brother?

A. No, sir; he has always lived in Kansas City.

Q. Then who was the next child besides Herbert?

A. Billy.

Q. When was Billy born?

A. Well, I don't know just what year they were born in; I can't tell you the years.

Q. You visited in the home when Billy was a baby, didn't you?

A. Yes, I visited there at her house, but I never saw their ages, or anything of that kind.

Q. Never paid any attention to your neices' and nephews' ages? A. No, I never.

Q. What does he do? A. Who?

Q. This—— A. He goes to school.

Q. This nephew, what is the next one named?

A. Robert.

Q. How old is Robert? A. He is about 4 years old.

Q. When was he born? A. I don't know.

Q. You have been to their home while he was a baby, haven't you?

A. No, sir, never visited at his home since he was born.

Q. Why haven't you been there since he was born?

A. Because I didn't have the means to go, and it takes money to go.

Q. Why you were in Kansas City a day or two last week in conference with the attorneys in this case?

A. I never was at their house.

Q. I know, you were in Kansas City, weren't you, at the hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Why didn't you go to your brother's house?

A. I didn't want to.

Q. Any particular reason why you didn't want to go to your brother, that you haven't seen for over four years?

A. Well, I don't like his wife very well.

Q. Well, what is the matter with his wife?

A. She is pretty high strung.

Q. The fact is you don't want your brother to know you are mixed up in this case? A. My brother did.

Q. How did he know it? A. I was at the chicck house.

Q. And you told him about this case?

A. Yes, I did, and he told me I was silly to be into it.

Q. Did you tell him the circumstances about you getting into it?

A. No, sir, I didn't tell him the circumstances at all.

Q. What did he say about you getting into it?

A. He said I was silly.

Q. What did he say about getting into it himself?

A. About what?

Q. About being a witness himself? A. Well, he ain't.

Q. He wouldn't be, would he? A. No, sir.

Q. He tried to persuade you not to be, didn't he?

A. No, sir, he didn't tell me not to be, he told me if I was a witness to tell the truth, nothing but the truth, and let no one talk to me and tell me to do otherwise.

Q. Will you please explain to us why he thought it was necessary to coach you to tell the truth? A. Sir?

Q. Why did he think it was necessary for him to coach you to tell the truth?

> Mr. Stuart: I object to that as calling for a conclusion, improper cross examination, touching on impertinence to the woman.
>
> Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

Q. What did you say to that question?

A. I say he didn't; what was the last you asked me?

Q. He warned you to tell the truth, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir, he did.

Q. He urged you to do that, didn't he?

A. Well, I am going to do it; I was going to do it.

Q. But your own brother told you to tell the truth?

A. Yes, sir, he did not want me to tell something that wasn't so.

Q. Was this the same day you had the conversation with T. W. Bell? A. Yes, sir.

Q. A lawyer in this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the same day that you met the defendants in this case, or their attorneys in Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You saw Long that day, didn't you?

A. I never done it.

Q. Who did you see?

A. I saw nobody but Bob Martin, and Mr. Bell, and that man sitting back here, Mr. Hanford, talking to Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Did you see any of these attorneys here? A. No, sir.

Q. None of the agents? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you see them in Kansas City?

A. I never seen them in Kansas City.

Q. Never saw defendant, or representative of the defendant in this case in Kansas City?

A. I never seen any of these defendants excepting this colored man, and Bob Martin, and Mr. Blakeney, I think they call him.

> Mr. Hanford: One of Mr. Allen's previous questions was objected to, however, as to why it was necessary for her brother to tell her to tell the truth, the witness stated, no, sir, but she being hard of hearing didn't hear Judge Stuart's objection and continued while he was talking. The Examiner took Judge Stuart's objection, and then asked witness what her answer was. She asked what the question was and it was not repeated to her, so her answer doesn't appear in the record.

Mr. Allen: In view of the insistence of counsel I will ask that question.

Q. Why did you think it was necessary for your brother to insist upon your telling the truth, Mrs. Cobb?

Mr. Blakeney: Objected to as calling for a conclusion.

Mr. Hanford: Objected to as calling for a conclusion of the witness, improper cross examination, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Mr. Blakeney: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Mr. Allen: I withdraw the question.

Q. What did you say to your brother about testifying in this case that caused him to make the remark that you say he made, urging you to tell the truth in this case?

Mr. Hanford: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, a conversation not in the presence of the parties.

A. Well, I will tell you. I am going to be plain with you, and tell you the truth. This Mr. Bob Martin was with me, and he followed me all the way to Kansas City. I am going to tell you the truth; that is the truth, and he told me he followed me all the way to Kansas City, and he went with me to this chicken house of my brother, so as—I will change it; he wanted me to testify to this effect that that Indian child had a white spot beneath its shoulder. He wanted me to testify to that and I told him I wouldn't do it, and he told me, my brother says, "that man is going to get you in bad; don't go where that man is; don't talk with that man, sister," he says you tell nothing but the truth. Now the truth goes.

Q. Your brother warned you against this man Martin?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Bell and Blakeney; you knew they were together, didn't you? A. No, nobody but Martin was with me.

Q. And you knew that the three of them were associated together?

A. Yes, sir, I did, because they were all three at the hotel.

Q. This man Martin all the way to Kansas City tried to get you to swear that this child had a mark on its back?

A. Not all the way to Kansas City.

Q. You say he followed you all the way down?

A. He followed me, and we got on here at the depot, and when we got out here to Spruce street, he stepped on the car, and I said to him, I made the remark, "Now, where are you going," he said, "I am going with you," and I said, "You are not."

Q. Now what was said in your brother's presence that caused him to make—caused him to warn you to tell the truth?

A. Well, I was trying to get my sister from the chicken house at her home, and I went to him because I couldn't hear through the 'phone long distance, and I went to my brother to get him to call my sister at her home in the country near by Nachawa.

Q. What sister? A. Mrs. Parker.

Q. But what did you say about your testimony in this case that caused your brother to warn you to tell the truth?

A. Well, he knew that I was going to testify; he knew it before that, I had talked with him before that.

Q. Did he fear that you wouldn't tell the truth?

A. No, he wasn't a bit afraid; he was afraid I would look to this man and say something I didn't know.

Q. Did this man in the presence of your brother try to get you to swear to that?

A. No, sir, not there, but he told my brother that he would stand by me as long as he lived if I would testify.

Q. He told your brother that if you would testify to the scar on Tommy's back?

A. No, I told my brother that he wanted me to.

Q. What?

A. I told my brother that they wanted me to testify to the spot on Tommy's back.

Q. I thought you said that Martin told your brother that he wanted you to testify? A. No, I told him myself.

Q. Martin didn't talk with your brother, did he?

A. Oh, yes, he did.

Q. What did Martin say to your brother?

A. I don't know every word that Martin said, he talked with him and said—I think she ought to be—if she knows—a good witness, and that she will testify to the truth, and my brother said I know she will testify to the truth.

Q. Then Martin told your brother that he wanted you to testify to the truth? A. No, sir, he didn't.

Q. Oh, he didn't; I misunderstood you?

A. Well, you misunderstood it because I am the one that told my brother.

Q. Martin, what did he tell your brother?

A. I don't know what all they talked about.

Q. But he did tell your brother that he wanted you to testify to the truth, didn't he?

A. Yes, he said, I don't want her to testify to a lie.

Q. And your brother said if you look to that man Martin you will get into trouble? A. That is what he said.

Q. And the Martin he was talking about was the same man who had told your brother that he wanted you to testify to the truth?

A. He told me that, yes, but I told my brother, understand I told my brother.

Q. What did you tell your brother, that is what I have been trying to get you to do for 10 minutes?

A. Well, I told my brother that Mr. Martin wanted me— of the things he sought, and asked me to testify to was the spot on Tommy's back, that was all, and he did.

Q. Did you go to your brother to consult him, to determine whether or not to testify to that mark on Tommy's back?

A. No, I went there I told you to telephone.

Q. I know but while you were there, didn't you have a conference with him? A. Yes, sir, we talked.

Q. You had a conversation with him upon that question, didn't you? A. Yes, we talked about it.

Q. And he advised you not to do it, didn't he?

A. He didn't advise me not to do it, told me to tell just what I knowed was the truth.

Q. Well, he didn't expect you to do otherwise, did he?

A. No, he didn't expect me, but I told him I didn't know anything about the spot on Tommy's back.

Q. And you asked him whether or not you ought to tell it? A. Sir.

Q. You asked him whether or not you ought to swear to it, not knowing it? A. No, sir, I didn't do it.

Q. How do you account for his warning to you then?

A. Well——

Q. What did you say about your testifying here that caused him to instruct you to tell the truth.

A. Well, I told him I was going to testify about this Indian child, and he said I am afraid you will get bothered and hurried, and it won't do you no good.

Q. Now, what was it you say that caused him to tell you that you must tell the truth?

Mr. Hanford: I object to the question and insist that the witness be asked what she said, the testimony as to what was said and done.

A. Why about the spot.

Mr. Blakeney: I want to object to the many repetitions.

Mr. Allen: If I could get her to answer my question one time I would quit.

Mr. Hanford: She has answered it, told what was said.

Q. Now, Mrs. Cobb, listen to this question and answer it, please? A. Well, I will try.

Q. Tell me just what you said to your brother that caused him to warn you to tell the truth?

Mr. Blakeney: I object to that as repetition.

Mr. Hanford: Same objection.

A. I told my brother that Mr. Martin wanted me to testify to a spot on Tommy's back, and I said, I can't do that brother, because I don't know nothing about that spot on his back, and I can't testify to that fact at all, and he said, don't you do it, you don't know it; don't you testify to anything you don't know. Now that is what I said.

Mr. Blakeney: I withdraw my objection.

Q. In the hotel after that you had a conversation with Bell. didn't you? A. Yes, I did.

Q. You knew that Bell was the attorney for Martin, didn't you? A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. You knew that Martin had been trying to get you to testify to a lie in this case, didn't you? A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. You knew that the penalty for testifying to a lie in a government case was serious, didn't you?

A. No, I didn't know anything about that.

Q. You didn't know that if you testified falsely in a government case that you would be prosecuted by the government?

A. Well, I suppose I would, but I ain't going to do that.

Mr. Stuart: I object to that because it is not more of an offense against the law to testify falsely against the government than it is for it.

Q. Do you know that it is a crime punishable under the United States laws to testify falsely, either for or against the United States in any case? A. Sure I do.

Q. You know that this man Martin had been trying to get you to violate that sacred law, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew then that he was an enemy, and a dangerous man to you, didn't you? A. I thought so.

Q. You knew that Bell and he were working together on that, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Stuart: We want to interpose objection to Judge Allen—he may not realize it—is gesticulating very strongly in the face of the witness, that she is a woman, and we object to it.

Mr. Allen: I am having to talk loud, Judge Stuart, I don't want to do it.

Mr. Stuart: I understand the loud talk.

Mr. Allen: I am here at her invitation; she asked me to move close to her so she could hear me.

Mr. Stuart: It is not the voice, but the gesticulations.

Mr. Hanford: I object to the attitude of counsel, in close proximity to the witness.

Q. After this man Martin had been trying to get you into this serious trouble—had confronted you and urged you to testify falsely in his behalf, you permitted Bell to come into your room at the hotel and talk to you about it, did you not?

A. No, I didn't permit him to come into my room, he came into another room from my room.

Q. And you went in there, didn't you? A. No, I didn't.

Q. Was he stopping at the same hotel? A. I don't know.

Q. But where did you talk with him at that hotel?

A. I talked with him up there in the room.

Q. In his room? A. No, in our room.

Q. Our, who? A. Mine and my daughter's.

Q. Which daughter? A. Mrs. Tittle.

Q. Is that Mary? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In that room at that time? That was the same day that you had talked with your brother wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Didn't you tell Bell in that room at that time that your brother had warned you not to testify until you had received your money?

A. I never done it, I never told Mr. Bell that.

Q. At that time and place? A. I never done it.

Q. Did you tell him that or that in substance?

A. No, sir, I never told Mr. Bell that my brother said for me not to testify to nothing until I had my money, no.

Q. At that time and place? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you tell Bell that you would be willing to testify to the scar on Tommy's back? A. I never done it.

Q. And that that was the truth? A. I never done it.

Q. But that you wanted him to pay you for it, or that in substance? A. No, sir, I never done it.

Q. Didn't you tell him there in substance that you washed and dressed this baby when it was a little baby?

A. I never done it.

Q. And put a night gown on it, or dress?

A. I never done it.

Q. And that you saw the scar on his shoulder?

A. I never done it.

Q. Didn't you tell him there in substance that Page came to your home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And offered you a large sum of money? A. No, sir.

Q. Agreeing to make you comfortable for life?

A. No, sir.

Q. If you would testify to the birth of Tommy and say nothing about the scar on Tommy's back?

A. No, sir, I never done it, I never done it.

Q. Did you tell Bell that or that in substance?

A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Did you tell Bell that Page wasn't paying you enough and that you would testify for him if he would pay you more money, or that in substance? A. I never done it.

Q. Page did come to your house, didn't he?

A. He did come to my house, yes, sir.

Q. He talked with you in your house, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir, but he never made me no offer.

Q. Talked to you about this case, didn't he?

A. Well, he wanted to know what I knew about this case?

Q. And you told him what you knew about it?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. He told you he would take care of you, didn't he?

A. No, sir.

Q. He told you he would make you comfortable for life, didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. He gave you some money, didn't he?

A. No, sir, he didn't.

Q. He gave the children some money, didn't he?

A. He never, I had no children.

Q. Didn't you tell Bell in Kansas City in that room at the hotel? A. No, sir.

Q. That Page told you that if you would care for him that he would make you comfortable for life?

A. I never done it. I lift my hand to God and man, I never done it.

Q. It won't be necessary for you to lift your hand to God and man; you have taken an oath to tell the truth?

[A.] Yes, sir, and I am going to tell the truth, too.

Q. So without lifting your hand any more remember that oath and answer my question? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, when was it that Page talked to you at your home? A. Well, I don't know just what month it was.

Q. How long ago? A. Do you know?

Q. Never mind? They are not on the witness stand?

A. Well, I thought he knew the day.

Q. Was Mr. Bond with him? A. No, sir.

Q. Was Mr. Long with him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how long ago was it that Page talked with you?

A. Well, I guess about two months ago or more.

Q. Did you tell Long that you wouldn't testify for him, that you wanted to see the head of the concern? A. No, sir.

Q. How long was Page at your home?

A. He wasn't there more than 25 minutes.

Q. How far do you live from town?

A. I live right in town.

Q. What town? A. In Tracy.

Q. How far is that from Kansas City?

A. Why, it is a good ways, it is more than eight or nine miles from here.

Q. Did he come there in an automobile from here?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. They told you that they had been to Leavenworth to see some parties, came out there in an automobile to see you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was Crilly with them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. George Crilly? A. George Crilly.

Q. Were any of the rest of your friends with them?

A. No.

Q. George has been there a number of times, hasn't he?

A. Oh, sure.

Q. George has been talking to you about this case for about a year, most of the time, hasn't he?

A. Oh, no, no, not for about a year, no.

Q. He brought you to town here and drove you all over town seeing the buildings, didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. He took you around here and had you identified, didn't he? A. No.

Q. He had you down here at the hotel and called McMillan's house, didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. Told McMillan that that he wanted him to meet a witness that they had found that knew Tommy?

A. Mr. Crilly never sent Mr. McMillan to my house.

Q. Here in Leavenworth in front of the National Hotel?

A. No, sir, I never met Mr. McMillan there.

Q. In this room in the hotel in Kansas City didn't you tell Mr. Martin and Bell that your brother being in the other room at the time, that you were willing to talk, to testify for them, but before you did it you wanted to see and talk with the man that had he money? A. No, sir.

Q. Referring to Blakeney? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you tell him that or that in substance? A. No, sir.

Q. What did you bring your brother up there and put him in the next room for?

A. I never brought my brother up there.

Q. Who brought him up there? A. Nobody.

Q. He was up there, wasn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. Wasn't he in the hotel while you were there?

A. No, sir. No, sir, my brother wasn't.

Q. Didn't you tell Bell that you wanted to see the big white man with the money who was running the thing?

A. No, sir.

Q. Or that in substance? A. No, sir.

Q. Then you came back to Leavenworth, didn't you?

A. Yes, I came back Saturday night.

Q. Bell and Martin paid your expenses down to Kansas City, didn't they? A. No, sir, they did not.

Q. Who paid them? A. My daughter paid them.

Q. How came you to go to Kansas City to see them?

A. Just because I wanted to see my sister on some business.

Q. You didn't see your sister though, did you?

A. Yes, sir, I did, she came to the hotel to me.

Q. Which sister? A. Mrs. Foster.

Q. That isn't the one you are not on good terms with, is it?

A. Yes, I am on good terms with her; she is an older sister than me.

Q. And you came back to Leavenworth, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And went up to Bell's office then didn't you?

A. No, I didn't; I went before I went there.

Q. Before you went to Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You went up to Bell's office? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the City of Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And had a conversation with him about this case?

A. No, sir.

Q. What did you go there for?

A. Just because Mr. Martin wanted me to. I will tell you just what was said in the office.

Q. All right, you telephoned Bell that you wanted to see him didn't you? A. No, sir, I never done it.

Q. You sent him word that you wanted to see him, didn't you? A. No, sir, I never done it.

Q. You went anyway to his office, didn't you?

A. I did, with Mr. Martin.

Q. And you talked with Bell there?

A. Yes, sir, he asked me some questions and I answered them.

Q. And you told Bell there in substance that the child you saw at Granny Letcher's you dressed?

A. I never done it.

Q. And that he had a scar on his back?

A. I never done it.

Q. And that Page had told you that if you wouldn't tell that he would make you comfortable for life?

Q. And that they had told you that you must not testify to that scar? A. They never done it, and I never told it.

Q. You told them there in substance that, didn't you?

A. I told him that I——

Q. That you would be willing to testify for them and testify to the scar? A. No, sir.

Q. Provided they would make a substantial financial arrangement with you? A. No, sir. There was no——

Q. If they would give you enough money you would testify to those facts; you told them that, or that in substance, didn't you?

A. I never done it.

Q. Did you tell Bell in that office at that time in the City of Leavenworth in substance that you had told Lee Bond in his office about the scar—— A. No, sir.

Q. And that Lee Bond threw up his [] and said "My God, I thought you were my friend"? A. I never done it.

Q. Did you tell him that, or that in substance?

A. No, sir, I never done it.

Q. After this man Martin and Bell had taken you, they tried to get you in that office that day, you say, to testify?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did they want?

A. They wanted me to testify to a spot on Tommy's back.

Q. You did talk to them about the case, didn't you?

A. Sure I did, he talked to me about it.

Q. What did he say to you about it?

A. He asked me did I ever see a spot on Tommy's back and I told him I did not.

Q. Let's commence at the beginning of that conversation. Go ahead and tell what you said. You knew Bell before then, didn't you? A. No, sir, never seen him before.

Q. All right?

A. I went there with Mr. Martin and Mr. Martin introduced me to him, and he asked me did I know anything about where Tommy was and I told him I did not, and he ask me did I know that he had a white spot on his back, and I said I did not and I said I won't tell you anything. I said what I am telling is going to be the truth and I will testify to it on the witness stand, and not nothing else. Now that was the conversation and I got up and walked out of the room.

Q. They didn't say anything to you then did they?

A. Yes, he wanted me to testify to that fact.

Q. What was said about it? A. I said I wouldn't do it.

Q. Did they offer you any money?

A. No, sir, no money was offered me.

Q. What did he say?

A. Asked if I remember that he had a white spot on his back, and could I testify to that, and I told him I couldn't, and he wanted to know if I knew who had the child after old Granny left it there, and I told him I didn't.

Q. Now, after you had had that conversation in Bell's office? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You realized they were trying to get you to tell them that which wasn't true, didn't you?

A. Well, I didn't pay no attention to them at the hotel.

Q. It was the next day you met them at the hotel room, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. You had previously told your brother, you say, that they had tried to get you to permit perjury against the United States in this case? A. Yes, sir, I told my brother.

> Mr. Blakeney: I object to it being perjury against the United States; I think it would be against Page, if they were trying to [] them to commit perjury. The United States isn't concerned as to which defendant is cornered in this case.

Q. You made an engagement, you and Coody Johnson, Bell and Blakeney—and Bell made an engagement to meet Blakeney at the hotel at 5 o'clock, that evening, and Blakeney didn't come, did he? A. No, sir, I never done it.

Q. You had intended to meet them at 5 o'clock that afternoon at the hotel, hadn't you?

A. I never done it. I didn't know Mr. Page, I didn't know anything about——

Q. I mean that Bell told you that a white man was to meet you there, didn't he? A. No, sir, he never done it.

Q. What were you doing there?

A. I went there to get my sister. I intended to go out to her house that night, and I went to my nephew, her boy, and he told me it was too muddy, I would have to walk, and I went to the hotel and put up.

Q. You were there at 5 o'clock, weren't you?

A. I don't know whether I was there at 5 o'clock or not, I never made no engagement.

> Mr. Bond: I object to the witness not being allowed to answer the last question.
>
> The Examiner: Mr. Bond just for whom are you appearing?

Mr. Bond: I am an attorney of record for Mr. Charles Page, having entered my appearance in the United States Court, in which this action is pending, about 10 days ago.

Mr. Hanford: I make the same objection as made by Mr. Bond.

Q. Now let me see; you just happened to be at the hotel at 5 o'clock that evening?

A. I wasn't there at no 5 o'clock that evening.

Q. Well, you just happaned about there when these people came to see you?

A. I did not know these people were coming to see me.

Q. Didn't you have an understanding when you got off the car with some one—with Bell or some other party, that you were to meet these parties at 5 o'clock at the hotel?

A. No, sir, no.

Q. Didn't you stay at the Owl Drug Store at the station?

A. No, sir.

Q. Where you get on the car to come to Leavenworth and wait there a long time for Mr. Blakeney to come?

A. No, sir, I was waiting for nobody.

Q. I am speaking now of the day that you returned to Leavenworth, the day that you went from Leavenworth to Kansas City?

A. No, sir, I didn't wait for nobody. I didn't have no idea of waiting for anybody.

Q. You were there awhile though, weren't you? A. Sir?

Q. When you got off the car in Kansas City you did wait for awhile at the Owl Drug store? A. No, I didn't.

Q. You stayed there awhile, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I wasn't in there.

Q. Where did you wait?

A. We waited up*on* on the corner right across from Tenth and Main until my daughter went down to my brother's chicken house and got her cousin, my nephew, my sister's boy.

Q. Why did you wait there?

A. Because I didn't want to walk; I didn't feel very good that afternoon, I never went there to wait for anybody.

Q. Who waited? A. With me, nobody.

Q. Who waited with you? A. Bob Martin.

Q. Bob Martin waited there with you?

A. Yes, sir. He stayed right there on the corner.

Q. Did Bell come up while you were there? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't see Bell at all?

A. Yes, I seen him the next day.

Q. But you didn't see him then? A. No, sir.

Q. Did Coody Johnston come up? A. No, sir.

Q. This man over here? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever see him before?

A. No, I never seen him until the next day, he come to the office.

Q. To the hotel, you mean? A. Yes, to the hotel.

Q. And he was in the party at the hotel?

A. He was not up to our room at the hotel.

Q. But you didn't have any of the conversation at that hotel in his presence?

A. Why he talked about it, but I told him what I would testify, what I knowed I was going to testify to on the witness stand. I talked to nobody.

Q. They were trying to get you to tell something else?

A. They wanted to know what I knew and I told them I would tell that on the witness stand, what I knew.

Q. When you knew that those people were trying to get you to commit perjury why didn't you drive them out of your room?

A. Well, I didn't know this gentleman, I never seen him before.

Q. You knew Bell?

A. I knew Bell, but I didn't know what Bell came there for.

Q. You knew Martin? A. Yes, I knew Martin.

Q. You knew Blakeney? A. I give it to him too.

Q. You gave him Hail Columbia, didn't you; what did you say to him?

A. I told him I didn't want him following around after me; I would have nothing to do with him.

Q. Mr. Blakeney was following you around, was he?

A. No, this man, Martin.

Q. What about Blakeney giving him Hail Columbia too?

A. No, I just let him go; I wasn't going to talk to him and tell nothing until I got on the witness stand.

Q. You gave Mr. Blakeney to understand that you wouldn't talk until you got on the witness stand?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. You did tell him all you knew about it, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. You told him you knew Tommy, and that he had a scar on his back? A. I told him I knew Tommy.

Q. What did you say?

A. I told him—he asked me if I knew Tommy and I told him that I had seen him, but that there wasn't no scar on his back; that I never knewed there was.

Q. Didn't you tell him in substance, that you wanted to know how much a scar on Tommy's back would be worth?

A. No, sir, no, sir.

Q. You didn't tell him in substance that Page had told you that he would take care of you for life?

A. No, sir, no, sir.

Q. Did you tell Bell at any of the times I have mentioned of places—— A. Sir?

Q. Did you tell Bell either in Kansas City at the times and places I have mentioned, or Leavenworth at the time and place I have mentioned, that Grace used to push Tommy around in a cart? A. No, sir.

Q. In a wagon? A. No, sir.

Q. And that they used to fight because she called him a nigger? A. No, I didn't tell that; I said they played.

Q. Did you say that May used to pull Grace and Tommy in a wagon? A. No, I said they all played there together.

Q. And that May would call the boy a nigger and that they had a fight?

A. Yes, they fought. They called him a little nigger, all the children.

Q. He didn't look like a nigger, at all, did he?

A. No, he didn't. He was yellow, brown.

Q. Didn't you get after the children for calling him a nigger?

A. Yes, I told them they ought to be ashamed to call him a nigger, it wasn't right.

Q. What was it about his appearance or conduct that made them call him a nigger?

A. Simply because he stayed over at Letcher's.

Q. Did you chastise your children for calling little Tommy a nigger? A. Yes, sir.

Q. They used to fight about that, didn't they?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You told Bell that, didn't you?

A. No, sir, I didn't; I didn't tell Bell that.

Q. Didn't you tell Bell that little Tommy would come in and cry because they called him a nigger?

A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Who did you tell that to?

A. I never had any conversation in that at all.

Q. With anybody? A. No, sir.

Q. What did you tell Page?

A. Well I never told him much of anything.

Q. He just said Howdy do, and Goodbye? A. No.

Q. What did you say to him, if anything?

A. We talked a little bit, and he asked me where I first ever met Minnie, and I told him.

Q. What did you tell him?

A. I told him I met her at my own house the first time I ever met him

Q. That you were having a child then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that Minnie came there to wait on you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that is all you told him, was it?

A. Yes, sir. Oh, I don't know, I might——

Q. He didn't ask you about the boy at all, did he?

A. Yes, he did, he asked me if I had seen the child, and I told him I did.

Q. What child did he ask you about? A. Tommy.

Q. What did he say?

A. Minnie's baby; Minnie's child. He asked me if ever I saw Minnie's child, and I told him yes, sir, I did.

Q. Did you tell him that was in 1900 or in 1885? A. 1885.

Q. That is the only date indelibly fixed in your mind, isn't it?

A. Yes, sir, I knew when my own child was born in that year.

Q. Now, let's go back to your other brother? A. Yes.

Q. The last child you testified about was Billy. What was the next child's name? A. Which brother do you mean?

Q. Well, what is your nephew Billy, whose child is he, he is your Kansas City brother's child, isn't he?

A. Yes. Well, he is about six years old now; he is going to school.

Q. Billy is six years old and going to school?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were there around the place when he was a little child? A. No, I happened in there very often.

Q. Well, you have been there a number of times, though?

A. Oh, not very many times.

Q. You played with Billy when he was a baby, and had him in your lap? A. Sure I did.

Q. Now, when was Billy born?

A. I don't know what year he was born in now.

Q. Now, Billy is going to school?

A. Yes, he is going to school.

Q. What is the next child's name? A. Robert.

Q. How old is Robert?

A. Why he ain't over—he is not five.

Q. He is about five? A. No, he isn't quite five.

Q. Isn't Robert older than Billy? A. No, sir, younger.

Q. What does Robert do; does he go to school too?

A. No, sir.

Q. When was Robert born?

A. When he was six years old.

Q. I said when was Robert born?

A. I don't know just the years they was born.

Q. You don't have any idea about the date when Robert was born? A. No, sir, I never kept no tract of their ages.

Q. And your sister you say in Kansas City, you don't get along very good with? A. My sister-in-law.

Q. Your sister-in-law? A. Yes.

Q. She is one of those fighty kind of women, isn't she? A. Yes.

Q. Isn't the reason that you didn't go to your brother's house because you wanted to consult with him about this case and didn't want your sister-in-law to hear it?

A. No, sir; no, sir. It was no secret.

Q. Is your sister-in-law got such a bad reputation that you don't want to associate with her?

A. No, she is good and everything but I don't just go there often. I like her and everything that way.

Q. Well, have you ever had any trouble with her?

A. No, I never had no words with them in my life. I just don't go very often.

Q. How long since you have been there?

A. About eight years.

Q. You said a while ago that you had been there and that she visited your house and that you had held the child in your lap when he was a baby. This child you called Billy? A. No.

Q. That is the child you called——

A. I haven't been there for eight years to my brother's, but they have been home.

Mr. Hanford: Object to the statement as a misstatement of the evidence.

Mr. German: I object to counsel's statement because the record speaks for itself.

Mr. Stuart: I object to all this kind of testimony because it is incompetent and immaterial, has no bearing on this case and will be ruled out by the trial judge the moment objection is made.

Q. What did you say about playing— Where did you play with the children and have them on your lap?

A. Here at home.

Q. At your home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When they were babies your brother would bring them there? A. My sister-in-law would bring them there.

Q. She would come to see you and you would go to see her?

A. Well, I wasn't able to go very much. I am a poor woman and have to work for my living.

Q. Lack of funds, it is then instead of lack of affection?

A. I don't go very much.

Q. Who is paying your expenses now?

A. I pay it myself.

Q. Where did you get the money?

A. I work and wash for it.

Q. Do you mean to tell me that they haven't put up any money for your expenses in this case? A. They have not.

Q. They haven't paid you a dime have they? A. No, sir.

Q. Not since you first saw Crilly? A. No, sir.

Q. You haven't received one penny, have you?

A. I have not.

Q. And haven't received the promise of a cent?

A. No, sir, they never made me no promise. That is, I pledge you, the honest truth.

Q. Now this Kansas City brother. That is the next oldest child? A. My brother's child?

Q. Yes? A. Why the youngest.

Q. The one just next to you? A. Next to Robert?

Q. Yes.

A. Why, his name is— Well I can't tell you the last boy's name. It ain't over four months old.

Q. When was it born? A. It ain't only four months old.

Q. When was it born?

A. Well, I don't know just what month it was borned in. I haven't got very much education. I don't remember everything.

Q. You remember pretty well events in '85, don't you?

A. Well, I remember that because my own child was born there and she stayed with me when she was in that condition.

Q. But your memory slips when it passes before or after '85?

A. Well, I remember that very well. My child ages is in the Bible.

Q. What is the next brother or sister next to the Kansas City brother? A. I haven't got but two brothers.

> Mr. Blakeney: I want to object now. I want to interpose an objection to this evidence which can't be for any purpose except to test the recollection and memory of the witness and it has been carried now as far as any reasonable demand and a further examination in this regard is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Q. What was that sister's name? Your older sister?

A. Older sister?

Q. Yes. A. Miss Harris.

Q. Where does she live?

A. She works at North Kansas City for Bob Hall.

Q. Did you and she ever live close together?

A. Not of late years.

Q. When did you live close together?

A. Why we lived close together here in Leavenworth, the closest we ever lived.

Q. You both lived at Leavenworth at the same time?

A. Yes, sir, we did.

Q. When?

A. It has been about fourteen years since I lived here. I lived here fourteen years.

Q. Is she living here now?

A. Yes, she lives here now but she is away working.

Q. Is she married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was she married when you lived here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. It was her husband who was sent to the pen was it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was he sent to the penitentiary?

A. I don't know.

Mr. Hanford: I want my general objection to apply.

Q. Did you say it was her husband that was sent to the penitentiary? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When was that? A. I don't know.

Q. About how many years ago? A. Oh, a long time.

Mr. Blakeney: I want to move to strike all of this witness' evidence with reference to her kindred being sent to the pen as is no wise going to her credibility and as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial. I object to any of that class of evidence introduced.

Q. They were living together in Leavenworth when he was sent to the penitentiary weren't they?

A. No, sir, they lived in the country out near Fairmount.

Q. How far is that from Leavenworth?

A. Well, I don't just remember how many miles it is.

Q. All your life until fourteen years ago you lived close to that sister, didn't you? A. No.

Q. During what years was it that you were separated?

A. Separated?

Q. That you didn't live close together?

A. Well after I moved away from here I didn't live close to her.

Q. Now, how old is she?

A. She is the oldest sister. I don't remember how old she is.

Q. When was she born? A. I don't know that.

Q. How much older is she than you?

A. Oh she is— There are three older than me.

Q. Has she any children? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many? A. She has two.

Q. What are their ages?

A. Her boy, her youngest child, her next to the oldest child— She has three but one is dead and a boy and girl, one girl lives here and one boy in Missouri.

Q. The oldest one is living or dead?

A. No the oldest one is dead.

Q. What was his name? A. Emma Harry.

Q. Where was Emma born? A. In Missouri.

Q. How far were you living from her when that child was born?

A. Well, I guess— I don't remember where I lived at that time.

Q. Well you saw it very frequently didn't you?

A. No, not very often then.

Mr. Stuart: I object to this testimony because this witness is an aged woman and the testimony is not to the case, doesn't tend to prove any issue in the case and is an imposition upon the witness.

Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

Q. When did she come to Leavenworth to live?

A. Well, I don't know what year it was.

Q. You were living here at that time wasn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That didn't make any impression on you did it?

A. No.

Q. You and your sister are very fond of each other aren't you? A. Yes, sir, we like each other.

Q. Always have been, haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You always went to her home and she came to yours?

Q. And she moved here to live, didn't she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you couldn't tell me now the year?

A. No, I don't know what year she moved here. I don't remember it.

Q. With reference to '85, was it before or after?

A. No, she moved here after '85.

Q. You don't know what year?

A. No, I don't just remember what year.

Q. Did she have a child after coming here? A. No.

Q. Both her children were living then?

A. Yes, they were both living then.

Q. Was the oldest one living then?

A. No, the oldest one was dead.

Q. How old were her children when she moved to town?

A. Well, they was grown children. The youngest one I don't remember just how old she was.

Q. You couldn't tell about the year she came to Leavenworth? A. I don't know.

Q. What is the next sister's name?

A. Mrs. Doyle—Mrs. Evans.

Q. Who did she marry? A. She married Will Evans.

Q. She ever been married more than once?

A. Yes, married twice.

Q. Who was the other husband? A. Doyle.

Q. What became of him? A. He is living.

Q. She is living now with her second husband?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. They never got into any trouble did they?

A. No, no trouble.

Q. Did she have any children by the first husband?

A. Yes, sir, four little girls.

Q. By the second husband? A. No, sir.

Q. Where did she live when she married to her first husband? A. Always lived in Missouri.

Q. How far from you? A. They don't live very far.

Q. Close to you? A. In the same town with me.

Q. Same town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have they lived in the same town?

A. They have lived there all their lives.

Q. You have lived there fourteen years?

A. No, I haven't lived there fourteen years.

Q. How long have you lived there?

A. Haven't lived there more than ten or twelve.

Q. How far did you live from them before that?

A. Well, I just moved down yonder. My husband worked by the month and I had to move where he got work.

Q. Sometimes you lived there did you?

A. Yes, I have lived there now about ten years steady.

Q. Were you living there when any of her children were born? A. No, sir.

Q. Were you with her when any of her children were born? A. No, sir.

Q. Were you with her when any of her children was born?

A. I wasn't with her when the children was born.

Q. After they were born when they were little children?

A. Yes, I seen the last child.

Q. Do you know when any of her children was born?

A. No, I don't remember the date.

Q. What is the next sister's name? A. Mrs. Cobb.

Q. Where does she live? A. In the same town.

Q. Lived there all her life?

Q. Yes, sir, born and raised there.

Q. You have been intimately associated with her?

A. There every day.

Q. Has she any children?

A. Three. One is twenty years old and the other nineteen.

Q. You there when either was born?

A. No—— Yes, I was there with the second girl.

Q. When was she born? A. Yes, the second girl.

Q. When was she born?

A. I don't know what year. Couldn't tell you that.

Q. But you waited on the mother during the illness of the child? A. No, I didn't.

Q. You can't tell me what year that child was born?

A. No, I don't know what year it was born in. I could have got the ages if I knew it was necessary.

Q. How did you get Tommy's age?

A. I knew that woman was in that condition when Minnie was born and hers was born the next month after mine was born.

Q. What day was it born on?

A. I don't know whether it was the last day of May or the first day of June.

Q. Either one of those two dates? A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. You have no independent recollection of that fact except the fact that your child was born some four months before?

A. My child was born the 20th day of April in '85 and Minnie's child was born either the last day of May or the first day of June. I won't be positive, in '85? Now, I know that.

Q. What day of the week was it?

A. What day of the week?

Q. Yes? A. Well, I believe it was on Saturday.

Q. Who was born? A. Tommy.

Q. What day of the week was yours born? A. Sunday.

Q. You are sure Tommy was born on Saturday?

A. I think that was the day. I won't be positive now.

Q. You are sure your daughter was born on Sunday?

A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. Know that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Positive about that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you are referring to your daughter Grace that was born you say on Sunday April 20th, 1885?

A. The 20th day of April on Sunday.

Q. 1885? A. Yes, sir.

And thereupon the witness was excused until 1:30 o'clock P. M.

And thereafter and 1:30 o'clock P. M. further testimony herein was taken as follows:

Mrs. MATTIE COBB being recalled further testified as follows:

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. When were you first married? A. What is it?
Q. When were you first married?
A. I was—I forget just when I was married. In September the first time.

Mr. Hanford: Mr. Allen you agree to my general objection again?

Mr. Allen: Yes, sir.

Q. You were married when?
A. September, but I forget what year. It is in the Bible.
Q. You don't remember the year?
A. No, sir, I don't but it is in the Bible though.
Q. Tommy's age is not in the Bible?
A. Oh, no. What would I have any right to put his age in the Bible?
Q. You remember that though?
A. Well, I remember that because it was the same year my own baby was born.
Q. That is the only reason you remember it isn't it?
A. That is all. She stayed with me in that condition and I remember that.
Q. You remember your baby's birth?
A. Yes, sir, I think I do.
Q. Who was your first husband? A. George Edwards.
Q. When were you and he separated?
A. Why, we were separated after——

Mr. Hanford: That is object to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and improper cross-examination.

A. Well, I just disremember what year we were separated.
Q. Don't you remember what year you separated?
A. No. It was after my little girl, my youngest child was over four years old when we separated.
Q. What is your oldest child's name?
A. Mary Edwards. We called her May but her name is Mary.
Q. When was May born?
A. She was borned the 22nd day of July but I disremember the year but it is in the Bible. I got the Bible right here.

Q. The 22nd? A. The 22nd day of July.

Q. You don't remember the year she was born in?

A. Well, I just can't——

Q. Why can't you? A. Well, I don't know.

Q. Is she older or younger than Grace? A. She is older.

Q. Don't you suppose that is the child you might have had when Tommy was a baby? A. Who?

Q. May? A. No, sir.

Q. How much older is May than Grace? A. Six years.

Q. What day of the week was she born on?

A. Well she was borned on Wednesday.

Q. When you married Edwards where were you married?

A. Smithville, Clay County, Missouri.

Q. Who officiated at that marriage?

A. Brother By Waller.

Q. Waller? A. Byard Waller was the preacher's name.

Q. Who else was present when you were married?

A. His sister and his two daughters.

Q. Who acted as best man? A. Sir?

Q. Who acted as best man?

A. Well, we just went to his house and was married.

Q. None of your people was present?

A. No, none of my people at all.

Q. Did your people know you were going to get married?

A. No.

Q. How old were you?

A. I was nineteen years old in the 12th day of March before I married in September.

Q. And you went to his house and were married?

A. Went to the preacher's house, yes, sir.

Q. Went to the preacher's house and were married?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where is the preacher now? A. He is dead.

Q. Who were the brothers and sisters present?

A. No brother at all just his daughters, Mary and Lizzie and his sister. Let's see what her name was. I have forgotten his name.

Q. He was an old widower at that time, was he?

A. Yes, sir, he was a widower.

Q. What had become of his other wife? A. She died.

Q. Did you know her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was her name? A. Her name was Fanny.

Q. Was she any kin to you? A. No, sir.

Q. Was he? A. No, sir.

Q. How many children did he have by her?

A. He had two boys and two girls.

Q. What became of the boys?

A. Well, they are living I reckon. I don't know.

Q. Did they ever live with you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did the girls live with you? A. No, sir.

Q. How old was he when you married him? A. Who?

Q. Edwards?

A. Well, he was ten years and more older than I was.

Q. Had he ever been to the penitentiary at that time?

A. No, sir.

Q. What was his occupation at that time?

A. He was barber.

Q. Farmer? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What other occupation did he follow during the time that you lived with him? A. Stone mason.

Q. When did he get in trouble?

A. After my first child was born.

Q. Before Grace was born? A. Yes.

Q. And when Grace was born was he in the penitentiary?

A. No, sir.

Q. He went to the penitentiary after that?

A. No, before I got home.

Q. He had been in the penitentiary and got out and came home? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did he serve his term in the pen?

A. Right out here.

Q. You lived with him after that?

A. Yes, sir, lived with him.

Q. When was that he served a term in the penitentiary?

A. Well, I don't just remember that.

Q. Don't you know when he was convicted? A. No.

Mr. Hanford: I object to this line of questioning. It is manifestly discomforting to the witness to be gone into and on the further ground it is repetition.

Q. You say that was over a horse? A. No, sir.

Q. What did he go to the pen for?

A. He got on a drunk and broke the school house door.

Q. How long did he serve?

A. He went and served two years and a half.

Q. Who sentenced him? A. I don't know.

Q. Were you present at the trial? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't attend the trial? A. No, sir.

Q. Why didn't you?

A. Because I couldn't. I wasn't able.

Q. What was the matter with you? A. I was sick.

Q. You didn't have a young child about then did you?

A. No, sir, I didn't. Never had but two children.

Q. How long after he came out of the penitentiary was it that Grace was born? A. Oh, he was out a year or two.

Q. He was out a year or two when Grace was born?
A. Yes, sir.

(Short recess.)

Q. During the brief recess that we have just had have you talked to any one? A. Sir?

Q. During the brief recess that we have just had have you talked to any one? A. Only my brother-in-law.

Q. Who is your brother-in-law? A. Mr. Harris.

Q. Mr. Harris? A. Yes.

Q. From Kansas City?

A. No, he belongs here. Lives here.

Q. He is out in the hall now, is he?

A. Yes, sir, he is out in the hall.

Q. You talked to him? A. Yes, sir, I just spoke to him.

Q. After your—— How long after your marriage was it when your first child was born?

A. I was married in September and she was born the next July.

Q. What day of July?

A. I think it was Wednesday, no I will take that back. Yes, it was on Wednesday I think. I think that is it.

Q. What day of the month?

A. Well, I just forget what day of the month.

Q. What year?

A. I forget that. It is in the Bible. I have got it down in the Bible.

Q. That was the first child you had ever given birth to wasn't it? A. Yes, sir, that was the first child, yes, sir.

Q. That is an event in your life that you will always remember? A. Yes, sir, I will always remember it.

Q. And that date you have forgotten?

A. Yes, I have forgotten but still I remember, I can remember the ages that is all.

Mr. Hanford: I object on the ground that it is repetition.

Q. And yet you remember the day of the—the day of the week and the day of the month and the year of the birth of Grace?

A. Yes, that has been later and I have looked over that.

Q. That was only six years later, wasn't it?

A. Yes, just six years later but I didn't forget her age.

Q. Has she any children, this older girl? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who did she first marry?

A. She married Ernest Tittle.

Q. Going back to the time of her birth, where was she born? A. She was borned in Missouri.

Q. What place?

A. East of Platte City two miles on Mr. Hal Davis' place.

Q. Who was present when that child was born?

A. Mrs. Hal Davis and Mrs. Spain.

Q. What Spain? A. Well, she was Bill Spain's wife.

Q. What was her name? A. Her name was Annie Spain.

Q. Was any doctor there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who? A. Dr. McDonald.

Q. Where was he from? A. Platte City.

Q. What time of the day was that child born?

A. She was borned at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Q. You are not sure whether it was Wednesday or not?

A. Yes, I think it was Wednesday, positive it was Wednesday. I think it was Wednesday.

Q. But the day of the month and year you don't remember?

A. I don't remember. If I had thought over it I might.

Q. Who else was present besides Mrs. Spain?

A. Mrs. Cal Davis.

Q. And this doctor? A. And my husband.

Q. Your husband was present? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were there any other children born in that neighborhood about that time? A. Not that I know of.

Mr. Hanford: I object on the ground that all of this testimony has no relation whatever to the testimony that the witness has given in chief. Improper cross examination, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Q. You can not remember the name of a single child born about the time your oldest child was born?

A. No, I don't remember. I don't remember.

Q. Who played with that girl when she was a little child? A. Sir?

Q. What children did she play with when she was a little child?

A. Well, she didn't play with any children until she was up a big child and we moved way out in Kansas then. She played with my sister's little children and their little neighbor children around, some other little children out at Lyons Station. I lived in Lyons Station.

Q. Well, name some of them will you?

A. Well, Mrs. Broom's children and Mrs.—I just can't call the name—Mrs. Cutchenthalls' children.

Q. You don't remember the name of a single baby born about the time your oldest child was born?

A. No, I don't. We lived in the country and I don't remember

Q. Then when was your child born?

A. It was born in '85. The last children I ever had.

Q. You never had any other children? A. No, sir.

Q. You say this child was born out in the Crilly house?

A. Yes, sir, in the old Seneca house. Mr. George Crilly owned it but it was called the old Seneca house on Seneca Street.

Q. And what did you say about Indian Molly?

A. Indian Molly?

Q. Yes? A. I never said nothing about her.

Q. Did you know her?

A. Old Aunt Molly Peters, the fortune teller?

Q. Aunt Molly, the fortune teller?

A. Yes, sir, I knowed her.

Q. Where did she live?

A. She lived upstairs over Mr. George Crilly's front room.

Q. She didn't live in the same house you lived in?

A. She lived in the same house but she lived upstairs. A hall between our parts of the house and I and Mr. George Crilly lived downstairs and they lived upstairs with the exception of one family that lived back of Mr. Crilly.

Q. Now this Indian Minnie you didn't know at the time she came to wait on you where she lived or where she came from did you?

A. No, that is true, I didn't know.

Q. And if she had ever been in that community before you never had seen her?

A. I never had seen her before that.

Q. What did you say her name was?

A. Indian Minnie.

Q. What other name?

A. I never knowed no other name only Indian Minnie. I always called her Indian Minnie.

Q. Indian Minnie, Molly or Mary?

A. I just called her Minnie.

Q. Did you ever call her any other name?

A. No, I didn't call her no other name.

Q. You never called her Indian, did you?

A. Well, lots of times I did.

Q. What kind of looking woman was she?

A. Well, she was a right pretty girl, had coal black eyes, coal black hair, platted in two tails hanging down her back, high cheek bones, right pretty I thought.

Q. What size woman was she?

A. Medium sized woman. Wasn't big and wasn't little.

Q. Would weigh about two hundred pounds wouldn't she?

A. I don't think she would.

Q. About a hundred and fifty?

A. No, sir, I don't think so. I——

Q. A very tall woman? A. About as tall as I am myself.

Q. How high are you? A. About five foot something.

Q. You ever stood up many times by her?

A. No, I never stood up by her.

Q. In associating with her you could distinguish the size?

A. No, just passing back and forth to my house. I stopped her several times going back and forth after her baby was born.

Q. How much did she lack of being your heighth?

A. Not a great deal.

Q. Five inches? A. No, I don't think so.

Q. Four? A. About four as far as I can remember now.

Q. How tall are you? A. Five foot some inches.

Q. How many inches?

A. I think it is five foot four the last time I measured.

Q. She wasn't a fleshy woman?

A. No, when she stayed with me she wasn't fleshy.

Q. Rather small wasn't she?

A. She wasn't too small. She wasn't very small and she wasn't very high.

Q. About what you call a slender woman? A. Yes.

Q. Now how long did you say you knew her after this baby was born?

A. Well she was around there five or six months.

Q. Well you wouldn't see her around there every day would you?

A. O, no, not every day. I would see her once in a while passing by.

Q. So she might have been there at all, might she, except dropping in? A. Yes, she was.

Q. Every time you went around Granny's you saw her then?

A. Yes, I would see her at the fortune teller's and she was over at my house.

Mr. Hanford: Mrs. Cobb are you ill?

A. My head aches.

The Examiner: Your head aches otherwise you are all right?

A. Yes, otherwise I am all right.

Q. You are not feeling too badly to testify are you and to charge your memory with these things about which I am asking you? A. No, I am safe to do whatever is right.

Q. Aside from a little head ache you feel very well do you?

A. Yes, I can testify. I want to get through. My mother is lying very ill and I want to go home.

Q. Where did you say you were born?

A. I was born in Clay County, Missouri.

Q. Near where you now live? A. No.

Q. How far from Leavenworth?

A. O, it is quite a ways from Leavenworth to Smithville.

Q. When did you first leave home?

A. O, I worked out all my life.

Q. Who did you work for?

A. I worked for Mr. Marshals the first place, I worked out.

Q. What Marshals?

A. Mr. Ben Marshal in Clay County, Missouri.

Q. Where did he live?

A. Lived out in Clay County, Missouri, near Carrin.

Q. When did you commence working for him?

A. O, when I was nothing but a ten year old child.

Q. Was that the first time you had ever been away from home? A. Yes, that was the first time.

Q. How long did you work for him?

A. I worked three weeks.

Q. Where did you go then? A. I went back home.

Q. How long did you stay at home?

A. Well, I had to stay home all that summer and help my father in the field.

Q. Where did you then go?

A. I worked out then at Mr. Broom's.

Q. What Broom? A. Mike Broom.

Q. Did he have any children?

A. No, sir, he had an invalid wife.

Q. When did you commence working for him?

A. Well, I—— After that fall, in the fall after I worked there in the summer.

Q. What year was that?

A. I don't know. I don't remember the years.

Q. How long did you work for him?

A. I worked two months.

Q. Where did you then go?

A. I went to Mr. Lake Thather's in Smithville.

Q. Smithville, Missouri? A. Smithville, Missouri.

Q. How long did you work for him?

A. I worked three years.

Q. When did you commence working for him?

A. Well, I commenced in the spring. I went there in the spring of the year.

Q. What year? A. I don't know.

Q. How long did you work? A. Three years.

Q. When did you quit?

A. Well, I just stayed three years. I know I stayed three years. I don't know just what year it was I quit or nothing like that.

Q. Where did you then go? A. I went home.

Q. How long did you stay at home?

A. I stayed home all that winter and summer.

Q. Do you know what year that was? A. No.

Q. Where did you then go?

A. I worked out from place to place. I don't know, first one place and then another. I don't know. I worked at Mr. Balthid's.

Q. The next place you worked out was where?

A. Mr. Ben Marshal's first.

Q. I know, but after this first time that you went after you went home after you had worked these three years?

A. I went to Mr. Balthrop's.

Q. How long did you work there?

A. I didn't work there over three weeks.

Q. Where did you then go?

A. I went to Mr. Eckton's.

Q. How long did you work there?

A. Well I worked there a month or two.

Q. What year was that that you were working for those people?

A. Well, I don't just remember the year. I will tell you when you aint got no education you can't remember things of that kind.

Q. But you remember events in 1885?

A. Yes, I do remember that. I didn't come here to testify to you all nothing untrue.

Q. All we want you to do is to tell us the truth about it.

A. That is what I want to do as far as I can remember.

Mr. Blakeney: I except to that statement of counsel.

Q. Now after you had worked [ ] Balthid's and this other place where did you then go? A. I went home.

Q. What year was that? A. I don't know.

Q. How long did you stay home?

A. I stayed home all that fall and winter.

Q. What fall and winter was that? What year?

A. Well, I don't know. I stayed at home all winter. I had to stay home nearly every summer and help my father in the field.

Q. Then where did you next go?

A. Well, I just went—I went to—— The next place I worked I went to Mr. Devoe's.

Q. Who was Mr. Devoe?
A. Mr. John Devoe lived there near Smithville.
Q. What did he do? A. He farmed.

Mr. Hanford: I want to repeat my general objection so as to have it appear in the record from time to time. His question is entirely outside of the issue. This whole line of questioning is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and is improper cross-examination.

Q. Where did you next go?
A. Well, I don't remember now just where I went. I went so many places.
Q. Did Mr. Devoe have any children? A. No, sir.
Q. Well, don't you remember the next man you worked for? After Mr. Devoe?
A. I think the next man I worked for was at the hotel in Smithville.
Q. What hotel was that?
A. There wasn't but one hotel there.
Q. What was the name of it?
A. His name was—I just know it but I can't speak it.
Q. Can you remember the name of the hotel?
A. I can't speak the man's name.
Q. What kind of work did you do there?
A. I done table waiting.
Q. How old were you then?
A. I was about fifteen years old I guess.
Q. How long did you work there?
A. I didn't work there very long. The work was too hard for me.
Q. What year was that? A. I don't know.
Q. Then where did you go? A. Went home.
Q. How long did you stay at home?
A. Stayed at home about three months and then I went to my sister's.
Q. What sister?
A. My oldest sister Mrs. Harris, and I stayed there until after I was married.
Q. Mrs. Harris? A. Yes.
Q. Is that her husband out here? A. Yes, sir.
Q. And you stayed there until you married?
A. Not all the time. I went home.
Q. What year were you married?
A. I forget what year I was married.
Q. You went home on visits in the meantime?
A. Went home on visits.

Q. Do you remember what year you went home on any of those visits? A. No.

Q. What year did your father die?

A. I don't know what year he died.

Q. What month? A. He died in May.

Q. What day? A. He died the 2nd day of May.

Q. You don't remember the year?

A. No, he has been dead nine years this May. Now you can count it back. He will be dead nine years——

Q. Then you were married and lived how long after you were married? A. Sir?

Q. With your first husband?

A. I married him in the spring, in the fall it was, September.

Q. At Smithville or where?

A. I married him in Smithville.

Q. What County was that? A. Clay County.

Q. What was his name? A. George Edwards.

Q. How long did you and he live at Smithville?

A. Well we lived there pretty near a year.

Q. What year was that? A. I don't know.

Q. Where did you then go to?

A. Went home to my mother's.

Q. Did he go with you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you and he live together at your mother's home?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What business was he in at that time?

A. He did run a barber shop but he worked just here and yonder?

Q. What doing? A. Farming and done stone masonry.

Q. How long did you live then with your mother?

A. I lived there then—— I just disremember, I lived there until he got into this trouble and I disremember.

Q. Were you living there when he got into this trouble?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Grace was born then at your mother's house, was she?

A. No, sir. Not Grace.

Q. Not Grace but Mary? A. No, she wasn't.

Q. Where was she born?

A. Born in East Platte City.

Q. Well, now, she was born after you were married?

A. Why, sure.

Q. You said you lived only a year in Smithville?

A. Not quite one year I said.

Q. Then went to your mother's and lived there until he got in trouble?

A. No, that was after my baby was born that we moved to this place, this country, I disremember now; I will take that back, we lived on Mr. Flock Davis's place and he worked for Mr. Fred Krause.

Q. When was that with reference to the time that you were married?

A. That was in July after I was married in September.

Q. Then, where did you—— Were you living on that place when this oldest baby was born? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then how long—how old was this baby when you went to your mother's home?

A. Wasn't over two weeks—she wasn't a week old.

Q. Were there any other children around your mother there about the age of your girl?

A. No, there was none younger than mine; mine was the youngest.

Q. You say she was not a week old when you went to your mother's? A. Not quite.

Q. Not quite a week? A. Well, just about a week.

Q. That was your first child?

A. Yes, my mother's father came and got me, I wasn't able—for nothing.

Q. How far did you have to travel?

A. We traveled quite a little bit.

Q. How far was your father's place—your mother's place from where you lived? A. Lived in Loren, Kansas.

Q. How many miles from you?

A. Quite a ways from me; I lived in Platte County, and this was out in Loren, Kansas.

Q. They took you all that distance in a buggy?

A. No, sir, they didn't.

Q. How? A. They took me in a wagon.

Q. In a wagon?

A. Yes, sir, they fixed a bed in there.

Q. Forty or fifty miles?

A. I expect it was, I don't know, away yonder on the other side of the prison, I don't know how many miles that is, I don't remember that.

Q. How came you to go at that time?

A. I don't know, I wasn't able and had no one to stay with me.

By Mr. Hanford: I want to repeat my general objection at this time and have it appear in the record to all this line of questioning.

Q. Your husband was living with you at that time, wasn't he? A. Why, sure.

Q. Then, you did have him to stay with you at that time?

A. Yes, but he couldn't do the work, to work and make his living.

Q. Then, how long had you been at your mother's home when he got into this trouble?

A. We had been there about a year, my baby was just about a year old.

Q. And how long after he got into the trouble was it that he went to the Penitentiary?

A. Well, he was—I don't know just how many months he was in prison up here, I don't know.

Q. And then when did you leave your mother's home?

A. Well, I left it when my baby was just a little over a year old.

Q. You left it?

A. After he went to the penitentiary.

Q. After he went to prison? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you then go? A. I worked out.

Q. Where did you then go?

A. First one place and then another.

Q. Who did you first work for?

A. I worked for Mrs. Perry.

Q. Who was she? A. A lady who lives here in town.

Q. What did she do? A. Just house-keeping.

Q. What year was that?

A. I don't remember the years.

Q. You don't remember the year that your husband got into trouble or that he went to the penitentiary?

A. No, I don't.

Q. You can't remember that year?

A. No, I don't, I was so hurt I couldn't.

Q. Didn't that make an impression on you sufficient to remember it?

A. Well, I remember him going, I know that, but I don't remember the year.

Q. That was before 1885?

A. Oh, yes, I guess it was.

Q. Then after you worked for Mrs. Perry, who else did you work for?

A. I went then—I got sick and I went home to my sister's and I stayed there for one year that I wasn't able to work.

Q. Who was that? A. Mrs. Foster.

Q. Who is she now? A. Mrs. Foster.

Q. Is she the sister whose husband got in trouble?

A. No, sir.

Q. That was Harris, was it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you stay with her?

A. Well, I stayed there a year or two.

Q. What year was that?

A. I don't know, I can't tell you.

Q. Then where did you go?

A. Well, then I went to—— I then went from there, I went to Mr. Carl Brown's.

Q. Did your sister have any children while you were living there?

A. No, not while I lived there, she had children.

Q. Any little children about that time?

A. No, her children were older than mine.

Q. You went then? A. To Mr. Carl Brown's.

Q. Where was that? A. Over in Missouri.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. Well, I stayed there five or six months.

Q. Is he living now? A. Mr. Carl Brown?

Q. Yes? A. No, his wife is.

Q. Where does she live? A. Kansas City.

Q. What address? A. I don't know.

Q. How long did you stay with her?

A. About five or six months.

Q. What did you do? A. House work and cooking.

Q. Where did you go then?

A. I went back to my sister's.

Q. To this same Mrs. Foster's? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was she living then?

A. Right on Mr. Carl Brown's place.

Q. How long did you then stay with your sister?

A. Oh, I stayed quite a while, made my home from then on at my sister's and I would leave my baby with her and go and work out by the day first one place and another.

Q. What year was that? A. I don't know the year.

Q. Did you have any children while you were there?

A. No, sir.

Q. Who did you work for during the time that you stayed there? A. Why, I worked for Mrs. Charlie Johnson.

Q. Who is she?

A. She is a lady and lives in Missouri.

Q. Now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did she do then?

A. She did her house work, they farmed.

Q. Where did you then go?

A. Well, I worked several places there in the neighborhood.

Q. Just a day or two at a time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you move to after you left there?

A. After we left there?

Q. Yes? A. We moved to Tracy.

Q. What year was that?

A. I don't remember that year.

Q. Don't remember that? A. No, I don't.

Q. Summer, winter or fall? A. It was in the spring.

Q. Where—— How long did you live then at Tracy?

A. I have been living there twelve years—no, not quite twelve, I will take that back.

Q. Is this gentleman the Mr. Martin that you have been talking about? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He is the Martin who talked to you in Leavenworth and in Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you worked—— You lived twelve years, you say, in Platte County? A. Yes, I have.

Q. Then, where did you go?

A. Then I moved—I have been living right where I was. No, I moved into the country at Mr. Elihu Park's place, and I lived two years there.

Q. What years were they? A. I don't remember.

Q. Then, where did you go? A. I went back to Tracy.

Q. How long did you then live in Tracy?

A. I have been living there ever since.

Q. I understood you to say that during some of these years you lived here in Leavenworth?

A. Well, I did live here before my baby was born, and I lived here in—all together I lived fourteen years here.

Q. What year did you move to Leavenworth?

A. Well, I don't know just exactly the years.

Q. Well about what year?

A. I can't tell you for I don't know.

Q. With reference to the time when your husband was sentenced to the penitentiary, when did you come here?

A. He had just come out.

Q. You moved here just about the time that he came out of the penitentiary?

A. No, I moved afterwards, after he came out.

Q. After he came out? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And lived here then fourteen years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long after that was it that Grace was born?

A. She was borned—— Oh, she wasn't borned until eighty-five; I had lived here about—I guess I had lived here about two years or more before Grace was ever born, I don't just remember what year we moved, but I remember that my oldest child was six years old when my other baby was born, so I hadn't lived here a great while.

Q. Didn't you state this morning that George had been out of the Penitentiary about a year when Grace was born?

A. No, sir

Q. How long had he been out?

A. He had been out longer than that.

Q. How much longer?

A. Well, we lived here about three years before Grace was born.

Q. Where did you live during those two years?

A. Well, I lived first one place and then another.

Q. Was it two or three years?

A. It was about two years, I guess, after he came out.

Q. Two years and how many months?

A. Well, I don't know, I can't say.

Q. About two years? A. Yes, it was over two years.

Q. How much over two years?

A. I don't know positive how much.

Q. When was he released from the Penitentiary?

A. He came home in May, I don't know what year and what month. Now, if I had a good education I could remember all sorts of things as that.

Q. He came home in May? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what time was your girl Grace born, in what month? A. Eighty-five.

Q. What month? A. April, the 20th day of April.

> By Mr. Stuart: Now, we object to that because it has been asked twenty times of this witness, at least twenty times, it is useless repetition.

Q. Where were you living when George got out of the penitentiary? A. I was at my mother's.

Q. At your mother's where? A. Over in Missouri.

Q. What place in Missouri? A. Mr. Jordan's place.

Q. Did he come over there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And how long did he stay there with you then?

A. Well, he stayed there until in the fall like.

Q. And in the same year in the fall where did you go to?

A. Moved here.

Q. To Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you go to when you came here?

A. I lived on Choctaw street.

Q. Where on Choctaw street?

A. Well, I think it was between Second and Third, I disremember the house we lived in.

Q. Where did you move to then?

A. Then, we moved out on Lynn street.

Q. How long did you live between Second and Third on Choctaw street? A. Oh, four or five months.

Q. Four or five months? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of the year did you leave there?

A. I disremember, I don't know.

Q. Who did you rent that property from on Choctaw street? A. Librees.

Q. Is he living now? A. I don't know.

Q. Any of his folks that you know of?

A. I don't know.

Q. What is his name? A. Librees.

Q. How do you spell that? A. I don't know.

Q. Libry? A. Libree.

Q. Libree? What was his other name?

A. I don't know what his other name was.

Q. Was he white or black? A. White.

Q. What nationality?

A. I don't know, a stone mason, marble, tomb-stones.

Q. Where did he live?

A. He lived in the lower part, we lived up stairs.

Q. Is that house standing now?

A. No, sir, I don't think it is, I think they tore it down and got a lumber yard there.

Q. How old was Mary at that time?

A. Why, she was about four years old, I reckon.

Q. She was a little child?

A. Yes, she was a little girl.

Q. Were there any other little girls there in the neighborhood playing with her? A. Lots of children but——

Q. Who? A. I don't remember the children now.

Q. You can't remember a one that she played with then, can you? A. Mrs. Libree's child down stairs.

Q. What was the name of that child?

A. I think its name was Dely.

Q. Is she living now? A. I don't know.

Q. Have you seen her since then? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you seen her since you moved out of that community? A. No, sir.

Q. Any other boys or girls that she played with?

A. No, I don't remember any others being in the——

By Mr. Hanford: I wish to repeat my former objection to this line of examination, on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and improper cross examination; and I wish to call attention of the Court to the great bulk of irrelevant testimony with which this record is filled on cross examination of this witness, and ask that the same be taken into consideration in the assessment of cost.

Q. I don't want to tire you, and when you get too tired to stand the cross examination, I wish you would indicate it and we will take a recess and adjourn until you are able to go ahead with it. These are matters that I want you to think about and I want to inquire about?

A. Sure, that is all right.

Q. And have you tell me the best you can about it?

A. I am going to do the best I can with no aducation, if I had some education——

By Mr. Blakeney: I object to the statement of counsel, there is nothing in the appearance of the witness to justify the statement.

By Mr. Stuart: I object to the admonition of counsel and the suggestion to the witness constantly that she is under oath and expected to tell the truth.

By Mr. German: I desire to cause the record to show that the only suggestion that counsel has made to the witness on the subject referred to appear in the examination and have been taken down by the Examiner.

Q. Can you name another girl in that community at that time that your oldest girl played with?

A. No, not down on Choctaw, there was nothing but colored children there and I never allowed them to play with colored children.

Q. You never allowed your children to play with anybody that had colored blood in them?

A. Oh, yes, they have lots of times.

Q. You were not more partial to Mary than you were to Grace? A. They played back and forth.

Q. Tommy was regarded as a colored child?

A. He was a colored child.

Q. And you let Mary play with him, didn't you?

A. And Grace too.

By Mr. Hanford: I object to the statement of counsel and ask that it be not considered as testimony. The witness replied that he was regarded as a colored child.

By Mr. Stuart: I object to it, because it is not a badge of disgrace for a white boy to play with a colored child.

By Mr. German: I move to strike Judge Stuart's statement on the ground that it forms no part of this kind of a record.

By Mr. Blakeney: I want to insist that it is an admission into the record as a matter of fact. and ought not to be stricken.

Q. So, you didn't object to your children playing with colored children?

A. Oh, no, not altogether, just owing to——

Q. Well, there were lots of colored children in the Choctaw community there, were there not?

A. Yes, lots of colored children there.

Q. Tell me the name of one that your children played with?

A. Well, I don't know their names, I always called them Aunt Jennie, she was the nearest neighbor.

Q. Do you mean you always called all the children Aunt Jennie?

A. No, the old lady that had the children, their names were first one thing and another. One was Mary and one was named Lilly.

Q. Lilly who?

A. Old Aunt Jennie's children, I don't know what their names were.

Q. Well, there were other families there and other small children?

A. I didn't let them play outside of that yard, the cars run right along there you know.

Q. How long did you live on Choctaw?

A. Not very many months, about three months about as many months as I lived there, I had to go up stairs and down with water and I wasn't able.

Q. Then, where did you go to? A. Lynn street.

Q. What part of Lynn street?

A. I don't know, I forgotten.

Q. Between what streets?

A. Between Second and Third.

Q. How long did you live then—— What year was that?

A. I don't know what year.

Q. You don't remember what year you went to Lynn street? A. No.

Q. How long did you live on Lynn street?

A. I lived there about five or—about four months, about four months I lived there.

Q. What year was that? A. I don't know.

Q. Then where did you go?

A. I went to the Seneca House.

Q. Who did you rent the Lynn street property from?

A. From a colored family by the name of Miss Meyers.

Q. Were there any colored children born around there during that time? A. Not that I ever knew of.

Q. Was Miss Meyers owner of the property?

A. Yes, sir

Q. Is she living now? A. No, sir.

Q. Who did you pay the rent to?

A. I think I paid it to her.

Q. Were there any children living around there that your girl played with?

A. Oh, yes, lots of white children lived there, no colored children.

Q. Can you give me the names of any of them?

A. Oh, yes, I can give you the names of—— Let me see ——Miss Jackson—Mrs. Jackson.

Q. Where did she live? A. Lived out on Lynn too.

Q. Is that all? A. No.

Q. Who? A. Steve Mears children.

Q. When were any of them born?

A. I don't know when any of them were born. They didn't have no children born while I was there that I knew of.

Q. Where did you then go? A. Went to Seneca street.

Q. What year was that?

A. I don't know what year that was, I think it was in eighty-four.

Q. Who did you rent that property from?

A. Mr. George Crilley.

Q. What makes you think it was eighty-four?

A. It was just a year before my baby was born.

Q. And your baby was born in eighty-five?

A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Blakeney: I move to strike that answer that the baby was born in eighty-five as a repetition innumerably into the record.

Q. You have talked that over with George Crilley, haven't you? A. Well, yes, I have talked some, not much though.

Q. Who else lived in that Seneca property when you lived there?

A. Well, I can't tell you; there was myself and Mrs. Crooms, and there was a—— I forget what his name is though, who lived in the back up stairs behind where Mr. Crooms lived, and Mr. George Crilley lived there, and old Aunt Mollie Peters lived up stairs over him, and Mr. Cusheburg lived back of old Aunt Mollie Peters; Mr. Alex Hargrove lived down stairs back of Mr. George Crilley.

Q. Was Mr. Crilley's wife there then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did they separate?

A. Well, they separated just in the fall, I think it was in the fall they separated. No, it was in the spring before I moved away from there in the fall.

Q. He has talked to you about that too, hasn't he?

A. No, I remember that, I was right there living.

Q. And you remember independent of talking to him that it was in the spring before you moved away in the fall?

A. Yes, I think it was, I think it was.

Q. Did you talk to him about that date, and you have refreshed your memory from him about it? A. No.

Q. You remember that of your own knowledge?

A. Yes, sir, I remember that.

Q. What makes you remember that?

A. Well, because I worked a great deal for them, you know, and washed and ironed and taken care of the children.

Q. How long was that separation after Grace was born?

A. Grace was about— —She was about, pretty near four years old.

Q. You are sure of that, are you?

A. Sure of that.

Q. Now, Mrs. Edwards? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who told you that this Indian woman's name was Minnie? A. Why, she did.

Q. Who was it told you about it since this law suit came up? A. Who has told me?

Q. Yes? A. Who has talked to me about it?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, I talked to Mr. George Crilley, Mr. McMillian.

Q. You never knew Minnie Atkins but four months in your life, did you? A. Oh, yes, I did.

Q. How long have you known her?

A. She was around there four or five or six months after her baby was born.

Q. Yes, but you say you never saw her before her baby was born?

A. I never, that is all true, that is right I never done that.

Q. So, you don't know whether that was her baby except from what other people told you, do you?

A. Yes, I do, I have seen it in the bed with her.

Q. You never saw her have the baby did you? A. No.

Q. You never saw it until it was a week old, did you?

A. Yes, sir, it wasn't a week old.

Q. How old was it?

A. It wasn't over three or four days.

Q. And you saw it in the bed with her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. This slender woman you say, who was about four inches lower than you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, Mrs. Edwards, you never saw her but about three or four times in your life after that, did you?

A. Oh, yes, I did.

Q. It sometimes would be a week that you didn't see her at all? A. I seen her every week.

Q. Did you see her there daily for the four months that you say you saw her? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you remember that fact? A. Yes, sir.

Q. She wasn't then living there, was she?

A. Yes she was, she was working at—out to the Fort—back to the Fort and came backwards and forth.

Q. When would you go to see her?

A. Why, didn't she have to pass my house, stop in my house and go up to the fortune tellers.

Q. What was she doing up at the fortune tellers?

A. Well, I never asked her questions of that matter.

Q. Where did she sleep at night?

A. Slept at Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. Where was she staying in the day time?

A. Worked out, said she was working out, I don't know where she stayed, she said she was working out.

Q. She was at Granny Letcher's any in the day time?

A. No.

Q. Would she be there any time in the day time?

A. No, she would go in the morning and come in the evening.

Q. You remember that distinctly? A. Yes, sir, I do.

Q. And by seeing this woman in bed there and seeing her only at nights, you say you remembered her——

> By Mr. Blakeney: I want to object to that as a misstatement of the facts, she said the woman worked for her four days.

A. Yes, she worked for me.

Q. She worked for you four days?

A. Yes, sir, she did.

Q. That is all, isn't it, you remember that very distinctly?

A. Yes, sir, I do remember that.

Q. She came there the day Grace was born, did she?

A. No, sir.

Q. When did she come?

A. She stayed four days before Grace was born?

Q. As quick as Grace was born she left, did she?

A. No, she didn't stay there until Grace was born, she stayed four days and the other girl came and she went to Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. Who else came? A. Maggie Davis.

Q. Is she living? A. I don't know.

Q. Stayed four days and then Maggie Davis came?

A. Yes, sir, she was the girl that I spoke to first. The reason that Minnie left was because she was so heavy with child that she couldn't—wasn't able to do nothing.

Q. She wasn't able to do nothing? A. No, sir.

Q. And she went over to Mrs. Letcher's and stayed there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I thought you said a while ago that you never saw her until after Tommy was born?

A. I said she stayed four days with me.

By Mr. Stuart: I object to the statement because it is putting words into the mouth of the witness that she didn't speak.

Q. When did you say that you first saw her?

A. When she came to my house to stay.

Q. Then, how long after Tommy was born was it that she stayed at Granny's?

A. Well, I don't know just how long. After Tommy was born?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, there much as a week or two, until the woman got able to go.

Q. She was in such a physical condition when Grace was born that she couldn't stay there to wait on you, wasn't she?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And had to go home to Granny Letcher's to go to bed?

A. No, she didn't go to bed.

Q. She couldn't wait on you though?

A. No, wasn't able to wait on me.

Q. She was very heavy with child then wasn't she?

A. It was born the next month.

Q. She wasn't able to work then was she?

A. No, she wasn't.

Q. Did she do any more work until Tommy was born?

A. I don't know what she done.

Q. She didn't do any work until Tommy was born did she? A. I don't know.

By Mr. Hanford: I object to the question on the ground that it calls for a conclusion of the witness, and that it is improper cross examination.

Q. You say she wasn't able to do any work and had to leave your house?

A. Well, she didn't have to leave but the other girl came and I just let her go.

Q. But the reason the other girl came, you said didn't you that Minnie wasn't able to work?

A. She wasn't able to do my work and I spoke to this girl first.

Q. Four days she stayed right with you?

A. Four days straight with me.

Q. She wasn't out of that house during that four days, was she?

A. Oh, yes, she was over to Granny Letcher's and up stairs and around.

Q. I mean she stayed there with you constantly except just going out for a little while and coming back?

A. Yes, four days yes, sir.

Q. You understood then that she had lived at Granny's for sometime, hadn't you?

A. No, she didn't tell me, she talked very little.

Q. I know, but you understood later from the Letcher's and others that she had been living there?

A. That she had been living there.

Q. And that she had stayed there constantly during these four or five months? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you say she wasn't at Granny's more than about a week after the baby was born?

A. Oh, yes, she was there longer than a week, wasn't able to go.

Q. You saw her four or five days afterwards?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she hadn't been out of bed had she?

A. No, sir.

Q. Then she was in bed sometime after the baby was born? A. Sure she was, more than two weeks.

Q. How long, a month?

A. No, not a month, confined to the bed two weeks and she then sat up in a chair.

Q. You were around there a good deal during that month?

A. I was right there back and forth and at my house.

Q. You saw her in bed and sitting around there for a month or more after the baby was born, didn't you?

A. Yes, about a month afterwards.

Q. Well, about a month or more than a month?

A. Well, about a month, and then she went away to work.

Q. Where did she go to work?

A. Well, she said she was going to the Fort, I can't tell where she went to the Fort to work.

Q. Who named this boy Tommodore? A. Sir?

Q. Who named this boy Tommodore?

A. Who named it?

Q. Yes?

A. Old Granny Letcher, I reckon, or her; I don't know who named it.

Q. You have a very distinct recollection that they called him Commodore?

A. Yes, we all called him that, all of the barn boys and everybody around Mr. Crilley's and Cranston's barn.

Q. Nobody ever called him by any other name, did they?

A. No, he never went by any other name that I ever heard of only "Minnie's child."

Q. The- called him Papoose?

A. Well, once in a while they called him that, boys out in the barn.

Q. Did Minnie carry him strapped on her shoulder like most Indians do?

A. No, I aint going to say that. I am just saying what I saw.

Q. Everybody around there thought he was a mulatto?

A. Thought he was a little Indian.

Q. Your children did? A. They called him that.

Q. What doctor attended you when Grace was born?

A. Dr. Johnson and Dr. Miller.

Q. Either of them living? A. I don't know, sir.

Q. What were the initials of Dr. Johnson?

A. He was a Homeopathic.

Q. What was the initials of Dr. Miller?

A. I don't know what his name was.

Q. Johnson's initials?

A. I don't know what Dr. Johnson's name was. I had his card at home but I don't remember what his name was.

Q. Who else was present when Grace was born?

A. Mr. George Crilley and Mrs. Hargrove and Maggie Davis.

Q. How long had Minnie left when the child was born?

A. Well, Minnie left—— Oh, she stayed four days and then Maggie came and she left on Tuesday. She left on a Tuesday and Grace was born next Saturday.

Q. You saw her about as much at the fortune tellers as you saw her anywhere else, didn't you?

A. Yes, about as much.

Q. She hung around that fortune teller a great deal, didn't she?

A. Yes, there was—— Yes, she was part Indian herself.

Q. The fortune teller was? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you move to from the Seneca House?

A. Where did I?

Q. Yes?

A. Where did I move to—I moved down on Miami street between Ninth and Tenth.

Q. How long did you live there?

A. I lived there five or six months.

Q. Where did you move to then? A. I moved to Missouri.

Q. Who owned the house you lived in on Miama street?

A. Welcher's I think—— Welch.

Q. How long did you live in the Seneca property after Grace was born? A. I lived four years.

Q. During those four years how many times did you see Minnie?

A. Oh, I seen her several—for several months there.

Q. She was around there off and on during those four years, wasn't she? A. No, not for the four years no.

Q. You never saw her or laid eyes on her for four months, did you?

A. She was around there four or five months, backwards and forth, and then she disappeared and I didn't know what became of her.

Q. You heard she left Leavenworth and the Fort, didn't you?

A. No, I didn't know whether she left the Fort and Leavenworth or not, I didn't know.

Q. You never saw or heard of her after that, did you?

A. No, sir, not afterwards.

Q. Did you ever see or hear of Tommy after that, did you? A. Yes, sir, I seen him after I left there.

Q. Where did you see Tommodore?

A. Up in front of there with Mr. Crilley's two children.

Q. How old was he when you last saw him?

A. I guess he must have been five years old the last I seen him.

Q. Five years old? A. I think he must have been.

Q. During all these five years you had known him, and known him only as Tommodore?

A. Yes, sir, had him in my house.

Q. And he was a little boy that your children always called a negro? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Didn't you ever inquire about his mother?

A. I asked Granny Letcher several times about her?

Q. What did she say?

A. She said she didn't know where she went to.

Q. How long after she disappeared when you asked Granny Letcher? A. She was gone a month or two.

Q. Gone a month or two and naturally you were aroused over the matter of her leaving her little child?

A. Yes, I said where is Minnie and she said she didn't know, and I said what are you going to do with the baby, and she said I am going to keep it.

Q. And you asked her a number of times after that about her? A. Yes, I asked about her.

Q. Granny never knew?

A. No, not that I ever knew of.

Q. Did Crilley ever ask you about that until this law suit came up? A. Yes, occasionally spoke of it.

Q. About Minnie leaving this child four or five years old and never coming back?

A. Yes, we talked about that. We thought it was strange that anybody would get up and leave a child like that.

Q. What about Sam Nash, did you ever talk to him about it? A. Never did.

Q. You knew Sam?

A. No, they said that was the name of the man that hauled the vegetables to our house, but I wasn't personally acquainted with him.

Q. You knew Walter Banks, didn't you?

A. Yes, I have seen him there around Granny Letcher's, she raised him.

Q. He was an orphan boy?

A. Yes, she raised him, he had one arm.

Q. Did you ever talk to him about his mother leaving him? A. No, never heard about that.

Q. Didn't Granny tell you that his mother—when he was about a year or a year and a half old his mother left him there?

A. She said she left, said she raised three orphan children.

Q. Told you that Walter Banks' mother left him when he was a year and a half or two years old, didn't she?

A. No, sir, she didn't.

Q. What did she tell you?

A. She told me they were orphan children, I didn't ask about the mother.

Q. Did you and George Crilley talk, about that time, talk about poor Walter and his mother deserting him?

A. No, never talked about that.

Q. But about a month after Tommy's mother left, when he was—how old was he?

A. He was about three or four months old when she left him.

Q. And when you last saw her?

A. Yes, sir, that is when I last saw her.

Q. When did you—— How long did you know Minnie all together?

A. Well, I don't know just—from a while before the 20th day of April, until two or three months after her baby was born.

Q. You said a while ago three or four? A. Well.

Q. Now, was it two or three, or three or four months when Minnie finally left him for good?

A. I think he was four months old.

Q. So, you want to correct your testimony now that you knew her now more than five months?

A. Well, I don't remember now just how many months it was, but still I know I just seen her four days before my baby was born.

Q. Then, after your baby was born, did Minnie come up there to see your baby?

A. No, she didn't come because she wasn't able to come there, she didn't come over until after her baby was born.

Q. Was she extremely ill? A. Yes, sir, she was.

Q. And so large that she couldn't get around?

A. I don't know what made her not get around, but she didn't.

Q. She wasn't able to do anything, was she?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever know of any white people living at Granny Letcher's house?

A. No, I don't remember of any white people.

Q. At any time did you ever know of any white people living at Granny Letcher's house?

A. She was the whitest one that I remember.

Q. She was the only negro living on that part of the street wasn't she?

A. I don't know of any other negro family.

Q. Do you remember what a racket was caused when she moved in there?

A. No, sir, I don't remember what the racket was.

Q. Do you remember when she moved in there?

A. Yes, I remember when she moved in there.

Q. Who was living there before she moved in there?

A. Well, I don't know the names of the people that lived in there.

Q. They were colored people too?

A. No, I don't believe they was colored, I believe they was white.

Q. Was their name White?

A. They were white people, I think, that lived there.

Q. What was their name?

A. Well, I don't remember. You see we just moved there in eighty-four and I wasn't personally acquainted with the neighbors around there.

Q. But those white people moved out before Granny came there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did Granny move in there before Grace was born?

A. She moved in there in the fall I believe before Grace was born in the spring.

Q. In the late fall?

A. Yes, I believe it was in the late fall, I wont be positive now.

Q. You don't remember the exact year? A. No, sir.

Q. But you do know that?

A. It was the year before my child was borned.

Q. She moved in there in the fall of Eighty-four?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Whatever year that was, she moved in there late in the fall, did she? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are sure of that? A. Well, I think so.

Q. It was winter time wasn't it? A. It was getting cool.

Q. Before Granny came there, the white people that you are talking about ran a bad house, didn't they?

A. Yes, sir, they did.

Q. And there was a good deal of complaint about that because they did? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know the names of any of them?

A. I think one of them was Emma Moss, I think that is what they called her.

Q. What was the other? A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know who was running the place? A. Sir?

Q. Do you know who was running the place, who was proprietor of the place?

A. I think Emma Moss, I aint sure, I didn't go about no such places as that.

Q. Do you remember about a shooting that occurred here?

A. Sir?

Q. Do you remember about a young couple that were walking along the street here in eighty-five or maybe in eighty-four——Or May in eighty-four, or do you remember when it was? A. No, I don't.

Q. And a man riding up on horse back and calling the man——

A. No, I don't remember that, I might have heard it and just disremembered it. It was here in the streets of Leavenworth, here?

Q. Do you remember Mrs. Birdell? A. Mrs. Who?

Q. Mrs. Birdell who used to reside on Seneca street, a mid-wife? A. A mid-wife?

Q. Yes, a Mrs. Birdell? A. I don't believe I do.

Q. Do you remember she was arrested for producing an abortion? A. I don't believe I remember.

Q. From the person of one Berlin Werburg who lived on Seneca street? A. I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember any of those occurrences?

A. No, I wasn't out much, you know.

Q. Is there anything in the world that you can remember now except the fact that Tommy was born after Grace, that his name was Tommodore and that he lived on Seneca street?

A. I know that.

Q. Do you remember any other child being born about that time? A. No, not that I know of.

Q. Do you remember any other occurrence about that time?

A. Well, there was lots that happened, I don't know just what there was.

Q. This was a woman that stayed in your house four days?

A. Yes, sir, she stayed in my house four days, that is all true, I am not telling no story.

Q. When you were sick? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you saw her occasionally thereafter for four months? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Or five? A. Five months.

Q. And then she went away and disappeared?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And was never seen or heard of in that community again, was she? A. Well, not by me.

Q. Well, Granny didn't know what became of her, did she?

A. I never did hear Granny say that she had seen her.

Q. Granny told you that she had left?

A. Yes, she worried and cried terribly about it.

Q. Worried and cried terribly about it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did she worry and cry?

A. That was about two weeks after she was gone.

Q. About two weeks after Minnie had gone when you last saw her? A. Yes, the last time we saw her.

Q. Granny cried and took on terribly because——

A. Minnie was gone.

Q. And had left the child an orphan on her hands?

A. Yes, sir, she did.

Q. And she never was able to find her, was she?

A. Well, not that I ever knew of, she might have found her after I moved away from there and lost track of her.

Q. But during the three or four years that you stayed there, Granny was still unable to find her?

A. Yes, never had found her when I left there.

Q. Was this woman married, this Minnie?

A. I never seen no husband.

Q. Tell me who was that woman, who was it?

A. Who was it?

Q. Yes?

A. Well, I don't know who, only Indian Minnie, that is all I ever knew about her.

Q. Where did she live? A. Lived at Mrs. Letcher's.

Q. She stayed there part of the time, didn't she?

A. Part of the time.

Q. Didn't you hear about then where she lived?

A. Where she lived?

Q. Yes? A. No, I didn't know where she lived.

Q. You had forgotten this incident and it had passed out of your mind until George Crilley came to you, hadn't it now?

A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Now, who was the first person who ever mentioned this name to you after 1885? A. Mr. George Crilley.

Q. Where? A. In the hack.

Q. When? A. About three months ago.

Q. He came to your house did he? A. No.

Q. Where did he come to see you?

A. I met him right here at the Electric Car Depot. I was coming up here with my sick child taking it out to Earnest Tittles.

Q. How did he know you were coming?

A. Well, I knew him, knowed him all my life nearly, and I knew him and I passed him and I just spoke to him; he was just sitting up on his hack and he turned around and came up and overtaken me and said get in the hack and I will take you out to May's and I said all right. We were taking Grace out there very sick and I got in, and he said have you forgotten Indian Minnie, and I said well let's see, was it the girl that had the baby at old Mrs. Letcher's, and he said yes. And I said, no I haven't forgotten her, I said I took the shoes off my feet to give them to her.

Q. When did you take shoes off your feet and give them to her?

A. One night she went to Fort Leavenworth and lost her shoes, left them in the bus between Leavenworth and the Fort.

Q. When was that?

A. That was the only time when she stayed with me.

Q. What did she go up there for?

A. I don't know, I can't tell you.

Q. She was staying with you in the day time, wasn't she?

A. Yes, stayed with me in the day time, she came back in the night.

Q. She just went up in the Fort and came back?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know who she went with?

A. I don't know who she went with I can't say. I knew she lost her shoes all right.

Q. He asked you if you knew Indian Minnie that used to be out at Granny Letcher's didn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was at Granny Letcher's in 1885? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He told you about her having a baby there, didn't he?

A. No, sir, he didn't.

Q. And asked you if you knew anything about it?

A. Asked me if I had forgotten Indian Minnie, and I said no sir I haven't forgotten her, and I said was she the mother of the boy borned at Granny Letcher's and he said yes.

Q. But he asked you first if you remembered about her having a child at Granny Letcher's? A. No, he didn't.

Q. Did you mention the child?

A. I mentioned the child myself.

Q. You didn't know anything about her having the child except that you saw the child in the bed with her, did you?

A. I seen it in the bed of course, and never seen her have it. I knew she was in that condition.

Q. Then, what did Crilley say to you?

A. He asked me about it and he said—I stayed out to my daughters that night and I stayed the next night out to my daughters and then I went home to Missouri and Mr. Vermillian came to my house the next morning very early.

Q. Mr. Who? A. McMillian, very early.

Q. I am talking about what Crilley said to you. What did he say to you on that day?

A. He came and asked me did I know Indian Minnie.

Q. What did Mr. Crilley say to you in the hack when you told him about them?

A. Asked me if I had forgotten her, and he said I didn't know whether you remembered her or not, and I said yes I did remember Indian Minnie.

Q. Crilley told you he didn't know whether you would remember her or not?

A. Yes, said he didn't know whether I had forgotten her or not.

Q. When was that, about three months ago?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Tell us all the conversations you had on that occasion?

A. Who all I talked to?

Q. Yes, what did Crilley say to you?

A. Well, he told me they was looking it up and if I remembered it that I could—that I could tell it.

Q. He told you that he was looking it up?

A. No, he didn't tell me, I didn't ask him who was looking it up.

Q. What did you tell him?

A. I told him that I remembered, that I remembered him and the child.

Q. Well, go ahead and tell us all that you told him?

A. Well, that is all that I told him, that is all we talked about. I got out and went in the house and helped carry my sick daughter in and we didn't talk any more about it.

Q. Do you know a W. H. Bond, who lives on Second and Elm Street? A. Mr. Lee Bond?

Q. Did you know Mr. Lee Bond? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you get acquainted with him?

A. Oh, I have seen Mr. Lee Bond several times.

Q. Did you know his parents? A. My father did.

Q. Were they friendly? A. Why sure.

Q. And you have always felt very friendly to Lee, haven't you?

A. Yes, sir, always treated him very nice and he has me.

Q. When did you talk to Lee Bond with reference to the time that you talked to Crilly?

A. I didn't talk to—the second person I talked to was Mr. Vermillion.

Q. I am talking about after you talked to Crilley when did you talk to Bond?

A. Oh, I guess it must have been—I left before I talked to Mr. Bond—a month after I talked to Mr. Crilley before I talked to Mr. Bond.

Q. Had you in the meantime talked to Page and to Mr. Long? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you talk to Page and Mr. Long with reference to the time that you talked to Bond?

A. Oh, Mr. Bond, it has been about two months.

Q. Crilley told you that Mr. Bond was in the case, didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. What did he tell you about it?

A. He didn't tell me who was in the case.

Q. He said that they would want to use you in the case if you could remember about Indian Minnie and the child, didn't he? A. No, sir, he didn't.

Q. What did he say about them?

A. He just asked me did I remember anything about Indian Minnie.

Q. What did he say about wanting your testimony?

A. He didn't say about wanting testimony, just asked me did I remember it.

Q. What did you say a while ago in the event you remembered it?

A. He asked me did I remember Indian Minnie, and I said yes, sir. I said, let me see, was it the mother of the child born to Mrs. Letcher's? and he said yes, and I said, well I remember Minnie.

Q. Now, he asked you if you remembered Indian Minnie?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you said was that the mother of the child who was born at Granny's? A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. And he said yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you said you remembered her?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. Now, what did he say when you told him that?

A. He said the Government was looking it up.

Q. The Government was looking it up?

A. Yes, sir, the Government.

Q. And did he want you to testify for the Government?

A. He never said who he wanted me to testify for.

Q. Did you think then that he represented the Government? A. I didn't know.

Q. You thought naturally by that remark that he was looking after the interest of the Government, didn't you?

A. Well, I thought so, but I didn't know.

Q. Anyway, you discovered from what he did say, that he wanted you to remember about this matter and this child?

A. Yes, sir, did I remember it?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial.

Q. And Crilley had been your old friend, hadn't he?

A. Always been just like a brother to me, him and Mr. Joe Cranston too.

Q. You rented from him when you were in the Seneca House? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Been your brother ever since that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You want to do him a favor if you could do it, don't you? A. Sure I would.

Q. When did you and George Edwards separate?

By Mr. Hanford: I object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and on the ground of constant repetition.

A. My child was just about four years old when we separated, we separated right in Crilley's house.

Q. What brought about that separation?

By Mr. Hanford: I object on the ground as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination, and improper treatment of the witness; no authority whatever for inquiring into these intimate affairs of the witnesses life.

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, could be of no use or purpose except to disgrace the—except to discredit the witness and is not a proper matter for discrediting of the witness.

Q. You may answer? A. Sir?
Q. What brought about your separation?

By Mr. Hanford: Same objection.

By Mr. Blakeney: The same objection.

A. He got mixed up with some other woman.
Q. He got mixed up with some other woman?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you move to Third and Lynn as soon as you separated? A. No, sir.
Q. Where did you stay?
A. Moved on to Miama, I told you.
Q. Where did he go? A. Well, he went to Missouri.
Q. Did he ever have any difficulty there with Crilley?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial.

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. Mr. Crilley didn't like for him to treat me and the children the way he did, and they had some words.

Q. He thought Crilley was interferring with his domestic——

By Mr. Blakeney: We object now as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, insulting to the witness and an incompetent examination.

By Mr. Hanford: Same objection.

By Mr. Stuart: Judge, you know you couldn't ask that question in a Court of Justice, don't you?

By Mr. Allen: I know I would do it. I have got a right to show her relation with Crilley.

Q. Your husband complained because Crilley was interferring with the management of the children?

By Mr. Blakeney: We object as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and not proper examination.

By Mr. Hanford: The same objection.

A. No, sir, he was not.

Q. Well, what was then the trouble about?

A. Something happened in the barn among the work——

By Mr. Blakeney: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination.

Q. They didn't like each other very much, did they?

A. Why, yes, Mr. Crilley liked him and he liked Mr. Crilley, only they had little spats.

Q. Did they ever have a fight? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you come to town this time?

A. Over here this time?

Q. Yes? A. Last Tuesday was a week I came here.

Q. Who came with you? A. Mr. George Crilley.

Q. He went for you and brought you here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were you? A. At home.

Q. Where? A. At my own home.

Q. At Tracy, Missouri? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How far is that from here?

A. I guess it is about—well, I don't know whether it is ten miles from here or not, it is ten miles by wagon road.

Q. That is the same George Crilley——

A. Because, I don't think it is that by the car.

Q. That is the same George Crilley who first talked to you in the hack? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And who brought to your home Mr. Page and Mr. Long? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who afterwards brought Lee Bond?

A. Yes, sir, he brought Mr. Lee Bond before he did Mr. Page.

Q. Before he did Mr. Page and Mr. Long? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time did Crilley go to your house? A. When?

Q. When he brought you over here this time?

A. He came about four o'clock in the afternoon.

Q. How long ago? A. Last Tuesday was a week.

Q. A week ago last Tuesday?

A. Yes, a week ago last Tuesday.

Q. What time did you and he leave for Leavenworth?

A. Left about four o'clock when the little boy's school was out.

Q. How did you come? A. In the buggy.

Q. What little boy? A. My grandson.

Q. Whose son is he? A. He is Grace's.

Q. How old is he? A. He is nine years old.

Q. When was he born?

A. He was borned in August—in August I forget.

Q. Then you and Crilley came to Leavenworth, where did you go? A. I went to my daughter's.

Q. He took you there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That night? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you see him again?

A. Why, I never seen him then for—I never seen him again until Friday he came out and took me to the train, I went home Friday night.

Q. You went back to your home Friday night?

A. Friday night.

Q. When did you see him again?

A. I never seen him after that until he came out to the house after me.

Q. When did he come out to your house after you?

A. Yesterday afternoon.

Q. And you came in here last night?

A. No, I came last Tuesday here again, I came Tuesday morning here again.

Q. Then, last Tuesday—was that yesterday? A. Sir?

Q. That was yesterday? A. No, sir.

Q. Last Tuesday a week? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you have been here ever since? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Whom did you first see after you came to town on Tuesday of last week? A. First see?

Q. Yes? A. Why, I seen Lyon.

Q. Who is Mr. Lyon? A. That is that gentleman.

Q. Long, you mean? A. Yes, I call him Mr. Lyon.

Q. Where did you see him?

A. I seen him down here in town at the National.

Q. Did you go down to the National?

A. No, sir, I just stopped there.

Q. Well, you went there? A. Yes, sir, I seen him.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. I never got out of the buggy.

Q. Who else did you see there?

A. I seen that gentleman right there.

Mr. Hanford: Pointing to Judge Stuart.

Q. Judge Stuart? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And who else did you see? A. No one else.

Q. When did you again see any of the parties here?

A. Sir?

Q. When did you again see—when was the next time that you talked to anybody? A. Well, I think——

Q. Did you come back that night? A. Come back?

Q. That night to the Hotel?

A. No, sir, I didn't go back to the Hotel. As I came over I stopped at the Hotel and Mr. Lyon came out and talked to us, we went on out to my daughters.

Q. Did anybody come out to your daughter's that night to see you? A. Mr. Long and Mr. Stuart.

Q. Mr. Long and Mr. Stuart?

A. Mr. Long and Mr. Stuart.

Q. How long were they with you there that night?

A. Not very long, not more than a half an hour I reckon.

Q. When did you next see anybody?

A. I seen Mr. Bond next.

Q. Mr. Lee Bond? A. Mr. Lee Bond.

Q. When? A. Last Friday.

Q. Between Tuesday and Friday, haven't you seen anybody? A. No, sir.

Q. Haven't seen George Crilley?

A. Haven't talked to George Crilley yet.

Q. You have seen him haven't you?

A. No, I haven't been out in town.

Q. Last Friday you saw Crilley, didn't you?

A. I went home a week before that; I was in Kansas City last Friday.

Q. Last Friday you saw Lee Bond, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you see him? A. Seen him at his office.

Q. How long were you with him?

A. Just a few minutes, I wanted to go home but he said I couldn't go.

Q. But he let you go to Kansas City?

A. I had to go on business to Kansas City.

Q. Then the next day you came back from Kansas City?

A. That was Saturday.

Q. Then, did you see any of them that day?

A. No, I never seen none of them that day.

Q. Never seen Crilley that day? A. No, sir.

Q. Then, Sunday who did you see?

A. Didn't see none of them.

Q. Monday who did you see? A. None of them.

Q. Tuesday, yesterday? A. Yesterday?

Q. Talk to George Crilley yesterday morning?

A. He fetched me out in the hack.

Q. You talked to him some about the case yesterday morning? A. No, I never mentioned the case.

Q. What did you talk about?

A. He just came out and told me they wanted me down here, to get ready, and I came.

(Brief recess).

Q. You can read and write, can't you?

A. No, sir, I can't.

Q. You can't read or write?

A. No, sir, I don't deny nothing I can't do.

Q. You remember the dates of the births of Grace and Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Very distinctly?

A. Yes, because I looked at the Bible and seen their ages.

Q. Well, could you read it?

A. No, I have my daughter read it to me.

Q. Well, you knew anyway besides that, didn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. The Bible hasn't got the age of Tommy in it?

A. No, didn't put his age in it.

Q. Tommodore, it is. Who was the doctor that waited on Minnie when she was—— A. I don't know.

Q. Do you know who the father of this Minnie's child was? A. No, sir.

Q. Wasn't that talked around there?

A. No, sir, I didn't hear of it.

By Mr. Hanford: I object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. You never heard of that? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Bob Martin, that white man that was in here today? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you known him?

A. I knew him when he was quite a boy over in Missouri. He was born and raised in Missouri, but I haven't known anything about him of late days.

Q. When did you first talk to him about this case?

A. Last Monday—— No, not last Monday, I will take that back, it was Thursday, last Thursday.

Q. Was that the day that you went to Kansas City?

A. No, sir, we went Friday to Kansas City.

Q. Was it Thursday night, or when?

A. Thursday night when we went to Kansas City, he was there in the forenoon.

Q. Where? A. Out at my daughters.

Q. At that time and place, did you tell him this, or this in substance: That you washed and dressed this Tommodore when he was a little baby? A. I never did.

Q. A few days old? A. I never done it.

Q. And that he had a scar on his back?

A. I never done it.

Q. Did you tell him that Page had told you that he didn't want you to recall that? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. And that he would make you comfortable for life, or that in substance? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Did you tell him that you weren't getting enough money out of the case? A. I didn't.

Q. And if they would put up enough money that you would remember those things, or that in substance?

A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Nothing of that kind was said? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. How old is Grace?

A. She is thirty-one years old the 20th day of this April.

Q. You had a conversation the next day in Kansas City with Mr. Blakeney, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. After you talked to Bell—to Martin you went up to Bell's office and had a conversation with him?

A. That was in Kansas City.

Q. That was in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was on the same day that you talked to Martin at your house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of the day?

A. It was about one o'clock, I guess.

Q. Who was present? A. Who was present with me?

Q. At the time this conversation was had with Bell?

A. Mr. Martin and myself and Annie Wills.

Q. And T. W. Bell? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were they present in Bell's office? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At that time and place in the presence of those parties did you say this or this in substance, that you knew about Commodore, that you had a daughter born on April 20th, 1885, that Commodore was born at Granny Letcher's——

A. Yes, sir, I said that.

Q. And that a man—— That soon after he was born, a few days at least, that you dressed him once or twice?

A. I never done it.

Q. And that he had a scar on his either left or right shoulder? A. I never said it.

Q. Did you say in that conversation that when the boy was four or five years old that a man by the name of Carter who sold produce to Granny Letcher and all of you——

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Took him in his wagon and held him——

A. And hauled him around.

Q. And took him to the country?

A. I didn't say that he took him to the country. I don't know that he did.

Q. Did you say in that conversation in substance this, that the Commodore there at Granny Letcher's had a birthmark on his left or right shoulder because you saw it when you washed him when he was two or three days old?

A. I never done it.

Q. Just a minute. You didn't?

Q. I didn't wash him.

Q. Did you say in that conversation—— You say you didn't? A. I didn't. I didn't wash and didn't dress him.

Q. I am asking you the facts?

A. I will give you the facts.

Q. Whether or not you had that conversation in Bell's office?

A. I never done it. They asked me did I remember that.

Q. Well.

Mr. Stuart: Let her explain.

Mr. Allen: I will let you explain.

Mr. Hanford: I insist that the witness be allowed to tell what she said.

Mr. German: You can do that on redirect.

Q. At that time in Bell's office in the presence of those parties, did you tell them that you ought to have something in this case, that Page had told you that you didn't recollect quite right and that he would—and that they wouldn't ask you anything about the scar and that if you would testify right that he would make you comfortable for life?

A. No, he never.

Q. Wait a minute. Did you have that conversation in that office? A. I didn't have that conversation there.

Q. Did you say that or that in substance?

A. I never said it. I never spoke of Mr. Page's name.

Q. At that time and place? A. I never done it.

Q. Did you have this conversation or this in substance?

A. I never had.

Q. Wait a minute. When this boy was four or five years old Henry Carter took him to the farm?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. Wait a minute. That you afterwards saw him here, that the old man was bringing him back to visit Granny Letcher. Q. I say this——

Q. Wait a minute. Did you say that or that in substance?

A. No, sir.

Q. Then the next day you went to Kansas City, didn't you? A. That same day.

Q. That same day? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Bob Martin went with you didn't he?

A. Yes, he got on the car at Spruce Street. He didn't go with me.

Q. The next day you had a conversation with Mr. Blakeney, didn't you? A Yes, sir, a few minutes.

Q. Was that conversation before the conversation with Bell and Coody Johnson and Martin or after? A. Before.

Q. Where was that conversation with Mr. Blakeney?

A. It was up at my room.

Q. What hotel? A. At the Federal Hotel.

Q. What time of day? A. It was after dinner, I think.

Q. In Kansas City, Missouri? A. Yes, sir.

Q. That was before you talked—— Is that the conversation you had with Mr. Blakeney that was in your room?

A. Yes, sir, it was in a room.

Q. Who was present? A. My daughter.

Q. Any one else? A. Bob Martin.

Q. Anyone else? A. No, sir.

Q. In the conversation did you say this, or this in substance, that you knew about this boy, that you dressed him when he was a little baby, that he had a birthmark on his back, that he was afterwards taken to the country by Henry Carter? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you say that or that in substance?

A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Did you tell him there in substance this—— When did you next have a conversation with Bell and Martin?

A. I never had any more after Kansas City. I never seen them.

Q. I know, but after talking with Blakeney and Martin there, you met Bell and Martin and who else?

A. My daughter was there. That was all but I only talked——

Q. Where was that?

A. That was down at Kansas City in the room.

Q. Wasn't your interview in the other room? A. No, sir.

Q. Was any of your kin folks in the other room?

A. No, sir.

Q. That was in your room at the Federal Hotel?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. On last Friday? A. Yes, sir.

Q. At that time and place? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you say in substance this, that you had talked with Mr. Lee Brown and that Bell said why isn't Bond going to use you, and you said that you had told him about the scar and about old man Carter and that Bond threw up his hands and said, good God? A. I never done it.

Q. That would ruin me and I don't want that part of it?

A. I never done it.

Q. And Bell asked what they wanted and you stated they wanted to know if Tommy was Indian Minnie's boy and that he was born there at Granny Letcher's and that was all they did want to know. Did that conversation or that in substance occur?

A. No, sir, that wasn't about Mr. Bond, no, sir.

Q. Did you have that conversation or that in substance there? A. No, sir.

Q. If it wasn't about Mr. Bond who was it about?

A. It wasn't about no one that I have ever mentioned to Mr. Bell.

Q. At that time and place didn't you also say that Bond told you to go on and keep out of the way? A. No, sir.

Q. Of the other side and he would see you again?

A. Ho, sir, he never done it.

Q. Did you say that? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. Did you also at that time and place say this or this in substance: Now I have never got nothing out of this and I want to see that big white man with the money?

A. I never said it.

Q. And Bell said the big white man hasn't got any money. It is a big black man as black as my shoe and then laughed and then he spoke of getting you to sign a statement and you said, No you wouldn't? A. Yes, sir, I said, No I wouldn't.

Q. Did you say that or that in substance?

A. No, sir, I never said that.

Q. Did you state further at that time and place that you had seen Mr. Page? A. No, sir.

Q. Meaning Page, the defendant in this case and Mr. Long and that Mr. Page had told you that all they want was for you to tell the truth about a boy being Minnie's and being born at Granny's and that that was all they wanted to prove and that if you swore to that that he would take care of you the rest of your life? A. I never did it.

Q. And that Frank Long would see you again?

A. I never said it.

Q. Did you tell him that Page made that statement to you? A. I never done it.

Q. Did you further say in that conversation at that time and place that Mr. Page stated to you that he didn't want you to remember about the scar? A. No, sir.

Q. That if you would remember right he would take care of you the balance of your life? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you say that or that in substance?

A. I never said it.

Q. Did you say this or this in substance, that Mr. Long had told you if you would testify that way he would pay you for it? A. He never did.

Q. Did you tell those people that or that in substance?

A. I never told them. I will pledge you my honor to God I never done it.

Q. You did tell Bell that you wouldn't sign a statement?

A. I told him I didn't have to sign no statement. I said, what I have got to tell you I will tell it on the witness stand, let it be for Tommy or for the Government or whoever it may be. What I tell is going to be the truth and nothing but the truth.

Q. You did talk to—— A. I didn't talk to either man.

Q. You did talk to Martin at your home?

A. Yes, I talked out there but nothing on that.

Q. You did talk to Bell in his office in the presence of Annie Wills and these other people?

A. I did talk up there and he asked me did I ever see——

Q. I didn't ask that. A. All right.

Q. You did talk to Mr. Blakeney in your room in the hotel in Kansas City?

A. I don't deny talking to him in some words.

Q. You did talk to Bell and Martin in your room in Kansas City?

A. I don't deny that. That is all true. I did do that.

Q. What did you state your age was?

A. Fifty-seven years old the 12th day of March.

Q. Your mother is still living?

A. O yes. My mother is very old though and feeble. She is very old and feeble.

And thereupon the witness is excused until 9:30 o'clock A. M.

And thereafter and on February 24th, 1916, at 9:30 o'clock A. M. further testimony herein was taken as follows:

Mrs. MATTIE COBB being recalled further testified as follows:

Recross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Mrs. Cobb, you said you were acquainted with Mrs. Annie Wills? A. Sir?

Q. You are acquainted with Mrs. Annie Wills?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I believe you say you telephoned her? A. Sir?

Q. You telephoned her one day last week?

A. Yes, sir, I did.

Q. After you telephoned her you went down to her house?

A. No, sir.

Q. In a day or two? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you not on the night of the 15th day of February, 1916, with your daughter and your daughter's husband——

A. Daughter's husband?

Q. Daughter's husband, Ernest Tittle, go down to the house of Annie Wills? A. Yes, sir, went with Mr. Martin.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. Well, we didn't stay very long.

Q. Well, you visited a while?

A. Just a little while. Mr. Martin went to see her on some business.

Q. You had a conversation at that time and place at her house in Leavenworth in the state of Kansas? A. Yes.

Q. Regarding Tommy Atkins? A. Yes, he talked to me.

Mr. Hanford: Object to that question as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Q. Did you in that conversation say that you would know the boy if he had the throw or walk that he had when he was a child, which was like his mother's?

A. I said I believed I would know the child if it resembled its mother in any way. I believed—I would know him.

Q. Did you say his mother had sort of a throwing walk and the boy had it?

A. Well, it did when it was little. I don't know nothing about it since it is big.

Q. You said that? A. Yes, I said that.

Q. Did you say to her that you had given the boy a couple of night dresses? A. No, sir.

Q. In the conversation at the time and place?

A. I gave it a white dress.

Mr. Hanford: I object to all this as not between the parties to the suit.

A. I gave it a white dress. No night gown.

Q. A white dress? A. Yes, sir, a white dress.

Q. One or more? A. One.

Q. After you had talked there a while you say you left?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you during that day see her again at lawyer Bell's —T. W. Bell's office in Leavenworth? A. No, sir, not that day.

Q. Do you see her there the next day?

A. Yes, sir, on Thursday.

Q. Did you have a conversation there with Bell?

A. Yes, sir, we talked there a little bit.

Q. Who was present?

A. Mr. Martin and hisself and I and Annie Wills.

Q. When you say "hisself", you mean Bell?

A. Yes, sir, lawyer Bell.

Q. Did you in that conversation there now on the 16th day of February, 1916, at about that time, state that the boy had a birthmark on his back below the shoulder but I don't remember which shoulder? A. I did not.

Q. Or anything in substance to that effect?

A. I never did it. They told me about the spot.

Q. Did you also in that conversation at the time and place stated say that an old huckster took Tommy to the country? A. No, I said——

Q. Wait a minute. That this old huckster was a pale faced, long whiskered colored man who sold vegetables?

A. I said that the old colored man would come and take him out riding.

Q. Did you say what I asked you? Did you say it?

A. What did I ask? Yes, sir, I said that.

Q. You may not have understood. I asked you in the same question if you stated that the old colored man of the description that I gave, took Tommy to the country?

A. Well, I don't know whether he taken him to the country or not. He taken him away though.

Q. Did you in that conversation then state that you saw Tommy afterwards? A. Why, sure.

Q. The old man came to your house selling smearcase and Tommy was in the wagon? A. Selling what?

Q. Smearcase? A. No, sir.

Q. After you moved from the livery stable or near there?

A. No, sir, never did.

Q. You said nothing in substance to that effect?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you in that conversation also state that you had known this old vegetable man four or five years? A. No, sir.

Q. That he had delivered vegetables to your place or sold around town during that time? A. No, sir.

Q. Or anything in substance to that effect?

A. I never said it.

Q. Did you also say to Mr. Bell that the trouble with your case is, that you haven't got any money on your side of it? A. Why, I never asked any money. I didn't say it.

Q. Please answer the question. Did you in this conversation at the time and place referred to also state in substance the trouble with your case is that you haven't got any money on your side? A. I never said it.

Q. And Mr. Bell asked you in this same conversation if Long wasn't paying your expenses and if you didn't answer no? A. I did.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You did go down to Annie Wills with Martin did you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. How came you to go? A. He asked us to go.

Q. Had you known Annie Wills before? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with her?

A. When I was nothing but a child in Missouri. She lived at Waldron.

Q. Did you play around her house when a child?

A. No, sir, wasn't close to her. We knowed her, backwards and forth.

Q. You have been in and around her house a great many times during your life though? A. Yes.

Q. When you lived in Leavenworth you visited her?

A. Yes, I was there often.

Q. She was then running a house of ill fame wasn't she?

A. No, sir, she wasn't.

Q. She was regarded as a loose character?

A. No, sir, she wasn't. She lived with her husband and children.

Q. You telephoned her a number of times while you were here last week? A. No, sir, I didn't.

Q. How many times? A. Once.

Q. How many times did you see her? A. I seen her twice.

Q. Once at her home and once at Bell's office?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You knew at that time that they were trying to get you to identify Henry Carter didn't you?

A. Well, they asked me to.

Q. And you went to her house and later to Bell's office and then saw them in Kansas City?

A. I saw them in Kansas City, that is true.

Q. Who took you home last night after you finished testifying? A. Mr. Crilly.

Q. Mr. George Crilly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who brought you to the courthouse this morning?

A. Mr. George Crilly.

Q. He has taken you home and brought you here several times, hasn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he out to see you last night? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you see him last night?

A. No, sir, not after I got out of the hack.

Q. Who did you see last night?

A. I didn't see nobody. I wasn't out of the house. I went to bed.

Q. Who did you talk to this morning?

A. Nobody at all.

Q. Nobody except George Crilly?

A. I just talked to him on family affairs. I was just talking about my sick mother being so bad. She is very low.

Q. That is the same George Crilly that you first talked to about this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And the first time you have thought about this woman and child in some thirty years?

A. Well, I haven't thought so awful much about her. I have always remembered Minnie and everything that way.

Q. Your daughter Grace was married at Annie Wills' home wasn't she? A. No, sir.

Q. Was either one of your daughters? A. No, sir.

Q. They all visited at the home though?

A. Well, back and forth. Lived close to her. I didn't mistreat nobody.

Q. Didn't May marry one of her husbands at Annie Wills' home?

A. No, sir, not that I know of. She never was married but once.

Q. Never married but once? A. Once.

Q. That was not at Annie Wills' home?

A. No, sir, it was in the court house.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. How did you happen to go to Mr. Bell's office?

A. Why, Mr. Martin met me on the street——

Mr. Allen: We object to the redirect examination of Mr. Hanford for the reason that he represents interests identical with the interests with the defendants represented by Judge Stuart and he has waived the right to direct examination and we now insist that the redirect examination be made by counsel who directed the examination in chief.

Mr. Blakeney: I would like to ask a question. How did Mr. Hanford waive it?

Mr. Allen: By announcing that he did not desire to examine the witness. He was present at the table when Judge Stuart made the announcement for him.

Mr. Hanford: I except to the statement of counsel that I made any announcement.

Mr. Allen: I think Judge Stuart will bear me out. I said: Mr. Hanford, do you want to examine her? and Judge Stuart said: No, that is all.

Mr. Hanford: He made no announcement for me nor was he authorized to make any for me nor am I bound by any statement of Judge Stuart's. I insist upon my right to examine the witness.

Mr. Allen: We then ask that this examination be regarded as an examination in chief and we will examine her when he concludes.

Mr. German: We object on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Mr. Blakeney: I want to object to counsel interposing objection to the same question.

Mr. German: He didn't object to the question. He objected to Mr. Hanford's examining.

Q. How did you come to go to Mr. Bell's office?

A. Well, I had been down in town and I was going out home by the Santa Fe depot and the hack drove up next to the walk to me and he asked me to get in and he said: Now, get in here I want to see if you won't go down in town with me a little while and I said, Yes I will. What for, I said, and he said, Well I want you to go to Bell's with me on a little business, and I said all right, and I said to him, I said, Now Mr. Martin, remember that I put my hands to no papers. I will sign no agreements with nothing and I said, what I know about that Indian Minnie's case I will testify it on the witness stand and if it suits you it is all right and if it don't it is all right, and he said, well all right, I don't want you to swear anything that ain't true, and then we got in the hack and we went out to my daughter's. He had taken Mrs. Wills out to my daughter's and we got her and we went down to Mr. Bell's office. I didn't know where he was going.

Q. You got who?

A. Got Mrs. Wills and we went down to Bell's office and they asked me those questions about this boy going out with that old colored man and I answered it because I had bought vegetables from him.

Q. Did you ever know the name of that old colored man?

A. No, I didn't know what his name was and he asked—Mr. Bell asked me if I had ever washed and dressed this child and I told him that I did not. He said: Do you remember——

Mr. German: I move to strike that answer on the ground that it is not responsive to the question.

A. And he asked me did I remember——

Q. Wait just a minute. How did you come to go to Mrs. Wills' home prior to this?

A. Well, he asked Erny to go and his wife and myself, we all went along together.

Q. Was anything said at his house about this case?

A. Nothing to amount to anything. He asked her if she remembered—had she washed and dressed this child and she told him she had.

Mr. German: I move to strike that answer as not responsive to the question, and being hearsay and a self-serving declaration.

A. And she told him she had.

Q. Who told him? A. He asked her.

Q. Ask who?

A. Asked Annie Wills if this child—if she ever gave him a bath.

Mr. German: I just want the record to show that I am going to move to strike this. Got no way to stop her from telling it.

A. And she said, yes.

Q. Did they ask you anything about the case?

Mr. German: I move to strike the preceding answer on the ground that it is hearsay evidence and incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and I would have made the motion before the question if I had known that the witness had finished the answer and I object to the question just put on the ground that it calls for hearsay evidence.

A. And Mr. Martin said to me——

Q. When you said: He asked her, he asked who? Mrs. Wills or your daughter? A. Mrs. Wills.

Q. Mrs. Wills? A. Mrs. Wills.

Mr. German: It is so difficult to object because the witness doesn't hear. May we not have objection to each question and answer here?

Mr. Hanford: Yes.

Mr. German: On the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, calls for hearsay evidence, and is improper redirect examination.

Mr. Hanford: Yes.

Q. What did they ask you out at Mrs. Wills' house?

A. They asked me if I had ever washed and dressed this child.

Q. And what did you say?

A. I said, no, sir. No Marm. Never did.

Q. Did you ever ask Mr. Martin to take you to Mrs. Wills' house or to Mr. Bell's office?

A. Never in my life.

(Witness dismissed.)

Mr. Hanford: Also the depositions of Richard Nichols, a witness for the complainant, beginning at page 1994; and Charlie Anderson, beginning at page 1975.

Mr. German: Now, Your Honor, with reference to those two witnesses, I desire to object to the introduction of these two witnesses, on the ground that their testimony is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: The record may show that.

Mr. Maxey: The same objection on the part of Nancy Atkins.

The Court: The record may show your objection also.

And thereupon, RICHARD NICHOLS being called on behalf of the United States, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. State your name, age, and place of residence.

A. My name is Richard Nichols; 418 Third Avenue, Leavenworth, Kansas; 56 last December 10th, past.

Q. What is your color? A. Sir?

Q. Are you a colored man? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Dick, did you testify as a witness, and give your deposition on the 7th day of October, or about that day, 1914, in the case wherein Nancy et al., were plaintiff, and Minnie Atkins et al., were defendants, involving the birth of Thomas Atkins?

Mr. Hanford: Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. At the county court house, in the City of Leavenworth?

A. Yes, sir. I don't know what day it was, but I testified over there.

Q. That was when others were giving their depositions here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What other witnesses had testified when you went on the witness stand?

A. Why, there were several of them there.

Mr. Hanford: The same objections.

Q. Name some that you knew, that you remembered testified before you did.

A. Well, I seen Charlie Anderson up there. I don't know —they went in the room and come out—I suppose they testified; and Will Parker—several of them.

Q. Who did you hear testify?

A. I didn't hear any of them testify. They went in there and come out; I didn't hear any of them. They had it separate; each one went in by themselves. They was there a day or two before I knowed what was going on.

Q. Were you subpoenaed as a witness in that case?

A. I think I was, I don't remember. I ain't sure; they swore me after I went in.

Q. When did you find out that you were going to be a witness there, with reference to the time that you testified?

A. About fifteen, or a half hour, or a little over—or something.

Q. You gave your testimony then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you came off the witness stand, did anybody pay you any money? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who?

A. Why, I don't know hardly. A fellow told me that he would pay me a couple of days, as a witness fees.

Q. I asked you how much they paid you when you came off the witness stand? A. Five dollars.

Q. Where did they pay that?

A. Right there, after I got through.

Q. Who paid you?

A. Why, I think Rube give it to me, I think.

Q. Who did you see—anybody give it to Rube?

A. Well, no, other fellows around there, I suppose did; I don't know how it is. Anyhow, he give it to me; I just saw I was getting it. I didn't bother very much where I got it from.

Q. Did anybody go over the testimony with you before you went on the witness stand?

> Mr. Hanford: Judge Allen, for the purpose of the record, will you allow my general objection to all this line of testimony?
>
> Mr. Allen: Yes.

Q. Did anybody talk to you before you went on the witness stand? A. No, sir.

Q. Did anybody talk to you about what the other witnesses testified to before you went on the witness stand?

A. No, sir.

Q. No one told you what the other witnesses testified to?

A. No, sir.

> Mr. Allen: Now, I claim surprise at the testimony of this witness, and state in the record, that the statement he is now making is in conflict to the statement he gave to me before going on the witness stand.

Mr. Stuart: I object to that because the attorney is impeaching his own witness.

Mr. Allen: I now ask leave to cross examine him upon that question.

Mr. Hanford: We object to the right of Mr. Allen to cross examine this witness—his own witness—who has been called at his own risk.

Q. Didn't you talk to Mr. German, the Assistant United States Attorney and myself, in Mr. German's room at the National hotel, didn't you, last week, or the week before last?

A. I talked to two or three men there; I don't know what their names were.

Q. Mr. Bagley, the United States Special Agent, was there, wasn't he?

A. Well, I think he said he was; I don't know. I talked to two or three men there.

Q. Didn't you say in that conversation that Rube Smith and Dennis went over the testimony of the other witnesses?

A. No, sir.

Q. With you, before you went on the witness stand?

A. No, sir.

Q. Or that in substance? A. No, I never said that.

Q. Did you say that Rube Smith went over the testimony of the other witnesses with you before you went on the witness stand, or that in substance? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you have a conversation with Mr. Fred Cook and myself in Mr. Codding's office in the City of Leavenworth about a year ago?

A. Yes, I was down there; I don't know the other men, but I was down there.

Q. At that time and place, did you not say in substance, that you knew nothing about the case, that Rube Smith told you that you just as well make some money out of it; that others were making money? A. No, I can't say that.

Q. And that he went over the testimony of the other witnesses with you, and that you went on the witness stand and swore to just what the others were swearing to; did you say that, or that in substance?

A. No, I never said nothing like that. They had a shorthand fellow there taking some stuff—I don't know what the fellow put down. They may have said that they wanted me to sign some statement, but I didn't sign nothing; I don't know what it was. I heard that they said that stuff but I never said that.

Q. Didn't you tell Mr. German and myself ,in the room at the National hotel, that the reason that you didn't sign—didn't come back and sign the statement after the stenographer got it out, was because Dennis Jones wouldn't let you?

A. No, I didn't say Dennis wouldn't let me.

Q. Told you that you had made one statement and that you had better stick to it, or that in substance?

A. Well, I said that Mr. Codding came up there to the court house for me and while he was up there, the judge of the District Court—he heard a little something about it, and he said, Dick, haven't you made one statement? And I said, yes; and he said, was it true, and I said yes; and he said, well, I wouldn't make another one to contradict it, if you made it true, until it is the same one again. That is all that was said.

Q. Didn't you testify in 1914, that you knew Minnie Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you tell Mr. German and Mr. Bagley, and myself, in the National hotel, in Mr. German's room, that Dennis Jones, or Rube Smith, or both of them, had put up to say that, and that as a matter of fact, you didn't know her at all?

A. Oh, I know her.

Q. Did you say that to Mr. German, Mr. Bagley, and myself—or that in substance?

A. No, sir, I never said that to you.

Q. Were you in Dennis Jones' office yesterday?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Day before yesterday?

A. No, sir; hadn't been in Dennis Jones' office for two or three weeks.

Q. Have you talked to him in the last day or two?

A. This morning, and I spoke to him yesterday, up at Lee Goff's. I just spoke to him when they came in there, but I was busy myself.

Q. At the pool hall?

A. Lee Goff ain't got a pool hall, but got a restaurant in there, and I was sitting down there—I and some more fellows—and Dennis came in there, and he spoke and I spoke, and he went out. I haven't seen him any more.

Mr. Allen: I will probably recall this witness for further examination when I get the statement.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Dick, when did you first meet Mr. Allen here?

A. Well, I don't remember; at the court house, about sometime like he said. That is about the first time I ever seen him.

Q. Who introduced you to him, do you remember?

A. Well, now, I can't tell you who it was but somebody told me that where I got on the stand there—I don't know whether I was every introduced to him.

Q. I will ask you if he didn't tell you that if you didn't change your statement in this case, that he would send you to the penitentiary?

A. They said that I had better get right and I didn't know whether it was——

Q. Is that right, now? Tell it straight.

A. They said because—I didn't know it was a bunch of them—so many of them talking—said that; I didn't—I would get a chance to go to the penitentiary.

Q. And didn't he ask you to change a statement that you had made in this case?

A. Well, they said there wasn't any chance for me to—didn't I know that I had a wrong statement and I had better change it and get right.

Q. What did you tell them? A. Yes.

Q. What did you tell them?

A. I told them that I had made a true statement.

Q. That you had made a true statment?

A. Yes. If I had made a mistake in it, it was more than I knowed.

Q. And what did they tell you what they would do to you, if you didn't change your statement?

A. Well, that is what I said. They said that I had better get right because I would get in trouble; the Government was going to prosecute some of them and send them to the penitentiary.

Q. And didn't you——

Mr. Allen: Let him finish the answer.

A. That the Government was going to send them to the penitentiary for false statement.

Q. You had already made a statement in this case, hadn't you, Dick? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you refused to change your statement? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And they told you if you didn't change your statement, they would send you to the penitentiary? A. Yes, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Before you made that statement, you were sworn by Mr. Fred Cook, a special agent of the Government, weren't you? A. Where at?

Q. As you sat down there in Mr. Codding's office?

A. No, I wasn't sworn, at all, down there.

Q. In the presence of a stenographer? A. No.

Q. At the first time I ever saw you?

A. I was sworn at the court house, I was.

Q. The first time that I ever saw you, was in Mr. Codding's office, wasn't it?

A. No, sir. The first time I ever saw you was up in the courthouse.

Q. When? A. When they were taking that deposition.

Q. I was there, was I?

A. I supposed you was there. I saw some fellow and they called him Mr. Allen. You may not have been there at all.

Q. The first time you ever saw me to know me, was in Codding's office, wasn't it?

A. I had seen you before that but that was the first time I had any talk.

Q. The first time I ever talked to you in my life, was in Codding's office? A. You was up at the courthouse.

Q. I know; but after that, the first time I ever talked to you was in Codding's office? A. I think so.

Q. What you said to me was taken down by a stenographer, wasn't it?

A. I don't know whether it was or not; there was a fellow there, shorthanding; a fellow there telling a fellow what to take down, and I thought he would read it after he had taken it down, but he didn't read it.

Q. You agreed to go back and sign it?

A. I said after they had written and translated it into writing, and if it was right, then I would sign it, and you didn't do that.

Q. You didn't go back to see whether we did or not.

A. I haven't seen it yet.

Q. You haven't seen it yet, have you? A. No.

Q. And you told Mr. German, and Mr. Bagley, and myself, in the National hotel, that the reason that you didn't come back, was because Dennis Jones told you not to come back?

Q. I might have had, but then if I had, Mr. Bond and Mr. Jones, and them—they was on the other side; of course there wasn't no use of me going back there, unless I was going to change that and I can't change that and tell the truth, and there wasn't no reason for me to go back there. Wasn't no reason to care if I could read it; I could tell, but there wasn't no use of my going back. It wasn't worth while.

Q. Did you ever serve a term in the penitentiary, Dick?

Mr. Hanford: Objected to—I withdraw my objection.

A. I have been in the penitentiary but I had a gun on me when I was there.

Q. What do you mean?

A. I get tired of folks asking me that, I never served no term.

Mr. Stuart: Go on and tell it.

A. No, no; I don't know where they get that at.

Cross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Dick, when you were in the penitentiary, what were you doing? A. I was a deputy sheriff.

Q. You went there for what purpose?

A. Went down there to take prisoners down there.

Q. You are still a deputy sheriff are you not?

A. Yes, sir, and janitor, together.

Q. Where do you work?

A. County Courthouse; been there 18 years.

Q. Is that the same place that those depositions were taken in the state court case, in 1914? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were around the courthouse at that time, were you not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You saw them taking depositions there?

A. Yes, for two or three days.

Q. Do you remember how you came to be called as a witness in that case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Just tell it.

A. Why, they was there for a couple of days; they had the judge of the state court room there, and it had been usual when I fixes up them rooms, a fellow would get a little extra pay around there, so I was wondering who this bunch was—I wasn't getting nothing. So, I said to Rube, what is this going on in here?

Q. You mean a tip?

A. Yes. You know when anybody goes and fixes up a room or anything for lawyers, they usually give him fifty cents, or a quarter, or something—and I was fixing that room every day and I wasn't getting nothing—I seen a fellow, thought maybe he would give me a piece of money; that is what I was figuring on. He said depositions are going on here; Rube Smith said that to me. And I said, what about; and he said, Minnie Atkins, and I said, I know that woman. So, one or two words changed and he said—it may have been you—I was standing not far away—and he said, be careful because——

Q. Don't you rememoer it was me?

A. Yes, I think it was you. He said, be careful, you will be subpoenaed, and sure enough, I don't know whether I was subpoenaed or not; anyhow, they got me into that room and I was sworn and I made a statement.

Q. You said you knew Minnie Atkins, in my presence, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Allen: I object to that as improper cross examination; leading and suggestive.

Q. State whether or not I was present when that conversation took place between you and Rube Smith.

Mr. Allen: We object to that for the same reason.

Q. Was I there? A. Yes.

Q. Then I did call you as a witness? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And how long after that did you go on the stand?

A. Wasn't very long; I think about twenty minutes, or something like that. I went on about my work and in a few minutes, they called me to come in there.

Q. That is all the conversation you had with me there?

A. That is all.

Q. And with anybody else? A. No, sir.

Q. I say that is all the conversation you had with me or anybody else?

Mr. Allen: I object to that for the same reason.

A. That is all the conversation I had.

Re-Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You didn't have any conversation there with Rube Smith? A. No, no more than what I said.

Q. In his presence? A. Yes.

Q. Who found out you knew anything about the case?

A. Who found out I knew anything about it?

Q. Yes. A. Rube, I told him.

Q. Didn't you, in the National hotel, in the presence of Mr. German, Mr. Bagley, and myself, at the time stated, say that Rube Smith went over the testimony of several of the other witnesses with you, and that you heard some of their testimony, and that Rube said that you just as well make some money out of this—everybody else is making some money—and you went on the witness stand and testified to just what the others were testifying to, and that they paid you five dollars and promised you some more money, and a trip to Oklahoma? A. If they needed me.

Q. Did you make that statement, or that in substance, to Mr. German, Mr. Bagley, and myself? A. Not that way.

Q. Did you say that in substance to us?

A. Not that way; that wouldn't be in substance, I don't think.

Q. And didn't you say repeatedly there, that you didn't know Minnie Atkins at all? A. Oh, I knowed her.

Q. Did you say to Mr. German, Mr. Bagley and myself, repeatedly, that you didn't know Minnie Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't you go over with us the names of the witnesses who had testified and tell us there, that at the time and place that I have mentioned, that Sam Nash told you that he had gotten twenty-five dollars and a restaurant in Oklahoma for testifying? A. No, I didn't know he had a restaurant.

Mr. German: Now, answer the question, Dick.

A. No, I say.

Q. Did you tell us at that time and place that Charlie Anderson told you that he got fifteen or twenty dollars for what he told? A. No, I didn't say that Charlie said that.

Q. What did you say?

A. I think I said Charlie said he got five dollars for a couple of day's witnesses—something like that. I think that is what Charlie told me.

Q. Did you say to us in substance that Charlie said he got fifteen or twenty dollars? A. No, not that much.

Q. Did you tell us at that time and place, that W. H. Parker told you that he got fifteen or twenty dollars for what he told? A. I hadn't talked with Parker at all; no.

Q. Did you say that to us——

A. No, I never said nothing about Parker.

Q. Did you tell us that Mary Smith told you that she was after the money?

A. No; I will tell you why. You had one Mary Smith and I had another one. I thought you were talking about our Mary Smith, here in town, and I didn't know this other Mary Smith that you talked about.

Mr. German: Dick, did you, or did you not tell us that?

A. No, I didn't know Mary Smith.

Mr. German: Well, answer it that way; tell us whether you did or not.

A. No.

Q. Did they say anything to you about giving you some more money when you went to Oklahoma?

A. Yes, sir; said they would pay my expenses down there if I had to go as a witness, and so, I guess they didn't happen to need me, or I would have went down. I was going to make arrangements with the chairman of the board about going off.

Q. Answer my question. Did you tell us that they promised to give you some more money when you went to Oklahoma; and that you wanted that trip to Oklahoma, and the rest of the money that you were going to get, or that in substance?

A. Not in that way, I didn't tell you; not in that way.

Q. Did you tell us that they had done fell down with you on taking you to Oklahoma?

A. I said I didn't get to go, no. They said I was going to get to go but I didn't know whether I would get to go or not.

Q. Did you tell us that they promised to take you to Oklahoma? A. Yes, if they needed me.

Q. Did you say anything about needing you, in that conversation?

A. Common sense teaches me if they needed me; I knew that.

Q. Did you say in substance there, that they promised you some more money and a trip to Oklahoma?

A. That word substance, I don't know what you mean by that.

Q. Did you say anything like that? A. No.

Re-Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Dick, do you know Judge Wendorff, here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who is he; District Judge? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When you left Judge Allen's office, you went to consult Judge Wendorff, didn't you? A. Sir?

Q. You went to consult Judge Wendorff after you left this man? After you left Codding's office?

A. Yes, sir. He seen Codding, when he come after me, about it.

Q. And he told you not to make any other statement except a true statement, didn't he?

A. He asked me if I made a true statement of that affair and I told him yes, and he said, then just stay with that one; don't make any more. You have been around here long enough to know that anyhow.

Q. You told him that they were trying to terrify you, didn't you?

A. I told him what they said about that penitentiary affair.

Q. And you asked Judge Wendorff what to do?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And judge told you if you had made a true statement, to stick to it, didn't he? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have been a soldier in the army?

A. Yes, sir; twice.

Q. Where?

A. I enlisted here in '81, and went down to Fort Supply, Indian Territory, and stayed down there until the latter part of that, and then I enlisted in '98 again and went over to Cuba.

Q. Was you in the Spanish American War? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was you under there?

A. Under Colonel Beck of the 23rd Kansas Volunteers.

Q. How long had you served here as an officer of the court, here?

A. Well, ever since I have been there, sixteen or seventeen years.

Q. What court? A. District Court.

Q. District Court? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What business had you done there with the court; what had been your job there? A. How much pay is in it?

Q. What has been your job? I don't care about the pay?

A. Janitor and deputy sheriff, and all.

Q. What court? A. Of the District Court.

Q. Of this county? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how many years—seventeen or eighteen years?

A. Seventeen or eighteen years.

Q. Are you still filling that place? A. Yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Dick, when you had that conversation with Judge Allen, and Mr. German and Mr. Bagley, at the National hotel, that Mr. Allen has just inquired about, didn't they try to get you to say—to testify here that you were mistaken about the identity of the Minnie Atkins that you knew, and that they wanted you to say that you were mistaken?

A. Why yes—one—that other fellow, whatever his name is, he said——

Q. The little one or the big one?

A. The big fellow; he said, isn't there a chance for you to be mistaken about that, and I said I can't make a statement that would contradict the one that I have made. And he said, well, isn't there a chance for you to be mistaken in this and if it is, why you make a statement to that affect, he says, but I didn't go back anymore. I told Mr. Bond something about it and he said, if I was you, I would just stay away from those fellows if you gave a true statement. If they keep sending around, and that was the end of it. Old man Codding got me down there because I thought he was going to pull one of these joints; he was raiding them, and I went down there and when I got down there, he had all this down there.

Q. You thought he called you in an official capacity?

A. He called, and Mr. Codding said come right away, and I thought he was going to raid and I got down there, and he had these men there.

Mr. German: What conversation are you referring to, Dick?

A. At Mr. Codding's office.

Mr. Stuart: We object to that.

Q. Didn't you tell Mr. Bagley, Mr. German and myself in the National hotel, that you had told me the truth in Codding's office? A. No, I didn't tell you that.

Q. Didn't you tell us in the National hotel when you went to Codding's office that you thought—— A. Going to raid.

Q. That Codding was going to raid a joint that you were interested in? A. I don't own no joint, no, sir.

Q. Did you not tell us something about having a partner; that you and the partner was in business and that you thought Codding was going to raid that?

A. No, sir, I might have said that I was manager of a park out here; might have said that but I didn't think he was going to raid there, because there wasn't nothing out there.

Q. Didn't you tell Bagley and German and myself, in substance, that when you were called down there, that you thought they had raided, or was going to raid, that park that you were in partnership with another man in?

A. No, sir, I thought they were going to raid something fraudulent, or something around town here, and we would go along with him—but not nothing that I was in to; I ain't in to nothing; wouldn't let me run them things.

Q. I told you in Mr. Codding's office that all I wanted you to tell here was the truth about the matter, didn't I?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. German and Mr. Bagley and myself told you that in the hotel, didn't we? A. Well, I know you said that.

Q. You said you would come back up there to see us, didn't you? A. Yes, I said I would come back.

Q. Didn't you meet me on the street, either Saturday or Sunday—I think it was Saturday—near the corner of the National hotel, and tell me that you had been up there four times to see me but couldn't find me in?

A. No, sir, I never seen you Saturday.

Q. When was that you told me that on the street?

A. You sen Sad Baker around hunting me Saturday, and all day yesterday he was after me, but I told him I couldn't do that, and he said, well, there would be some money in it; of course, I like to get hold of money but I wasn't going to change that for that money, that is all. I didn't know whether he had anything at all. Of course he was have to show me, but I wouldn't change anything, even if he had any money.

Q. You thought the Government would pay you some money, did you?

A. No, he didn't say Government. He said he was hired to go and get Will Parker and me and Charlie Anderson, he said, and one or two other fellows that he called—I don't remember them—and said, they said they want to see you.

Q. You had told Sad, had you not, that you wanted to get out of this? A. No, I didn't tell him nothing.

Q. You told him that Saturday, didn't you?

A. I didn't see Sad until yesterday morning.

Q. You told him that Sunday morning, didn't you?

A. That I wanted to get out of it?

Q. Yes.

A. No, I didn't tell him that I wanted to get out of it.

Q. Did you have Sad tell me that you would telephone?

A. Sad called me up about nine o'clock and said, Dick, I want to see you, and I said, well, I can come out; I am going over to church, I said, but you can come over to my house if you want to see me, if you will be here before eleven o'clock; and about eleven o'clock, he came down, and he said I am hired by—he said, you see Judge Allen—he is the whole cheese, he said, and you see him, he said and he said, of course I and you worked in politics all our lives, he said——

Mr. Hanford: Answer the question. I insist that the witness have that right——

Q. Did you tell Sad Baker on yesterday morning that you wanted to see me and that you would call me up at the National hotel at four o'clock and have me meet you at the courthouse—that you didn't want to come to the National hotel because those fellows were shadowing you?

A. Not that way.

Q. Did you tell him that, or that in substance?

A. I said, I didn't tell him in that way and not at that time.

Q. Did you tell him that you would telephone me at four o'clock yesterday?

A. Yesterday evening, I told him yesterday evening, I would but I had no intention of doing it; I just told him that to get rid of him.

Q. Did you tell Mr. German, Mr. Bagley and myself, in the National hotel, that you knew that Will Parker, Charlie Anderson, and Annie Wills were lying about this case and that you would either get them out at your house, and your brother's house, or some relatives house, out in your neighborhood, and that you were satisfied that they would tell us the truth about it?

A. No, for I didn't know what they testified to.

Q. Did you tell us that, or that in substance?

A. No, sir, because I didn't know what they testified to.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. When you were up at the National Hotel, Dick, didn't they try to get you to go and get Will Parker and some other people and bring them up there to see them?

A. Yes, they wanted me to go and get—I don't know, they called off the names there, five or six fellows there and asked me if I thought I could go and get them, and of course I told them yes, but I never bothered them, I never asked them.

Q. Now, Dick, when you were up there in the room, Mr. German, the gentleman sitting right there, and Judge Allen and Mr. Bagley, that big man, were all there, weren't they?

A. They said he was a Government man.

Q. Yes, now that Government man wasn't in there all the time, he left the room for a little while, didn't he?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, when he was out of the room, didn't one of these gentlemen tell you that if you would change your statement they would see that you were well paid, that they couldn't pay you themselves, because they were representing the Government, but that they would see that you were well paid? Didn't they tell you that?

A. One of them said that they would see that I didn't lose nothing but this was a Government affair now and there would be plenty of time for that.

Q. They told you that when Mr. Bag*by* went down the hall, didn't they?

A. Well, I don't know whether he was down the hall or not, but I think there wasn't only one of them in there, I thought they was all the same men. I said, you were here before and said you were a Government man and it didn't seem to me, I thought it was the same bunch of men.

Re-examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You don't know whether they was all in there at that time, or just one or two?

A. I don't think they was all in there, I think just one was in there.

Q. Nobody ever promised you any money did they?

A. Said I wouldn't lose nothing.

By Mr. Stuart: Said you wouldn't lose nothing?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, Dick, look at me and testify?

A. Yes, I can look at you.

Q. You came up to the National hotel of your own accord, didn't you? A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Who brought you up there?

A. You telephoned there, I don't know which one of you it was that telephoned and told me to come to room 17.

Q. You came on up there then did you?

A. Yes, sir, they called three or four times before I came and finally I made up my mind.

Q. And did you tell this court now that anybody in that room incriminated or suggested that you would ever be taken care of, paid, or done anything else or compensated in any way?

A. There was some of them said I wouldn't lose anything.

Q. Who said you wouldn't lose anything?

A. Oh, I don't know which one of you.

Q. This, Dick, was just week before last, wasn't it?

A. I think so.

Q. Tell this court who said you wouldn't lose anything?

A. Well, there was two or three of you talking, I don't know.

Q. Well, this was at a time when there wasn't but one in the room, wasn't it, now tell the court who it was that told you that you wouldn't lose anything?

A. I don't know which one of you it was, some of you said it.

Q. Who did you tell that you had been told that after you got out of that room?

A. I don't know who I told, I might have told one or two folks.

Q. Did you tell Dennis Jones or Rube Smith?

A. I didn't tell Rube, I might have told——

Q. You might have told Dennis?

A. I might have told Lee Bond, I don't know.

Q. Didn't you tell us in that room that you were afraid to testify for the Government in this case, because they would cause you to lose your job, or that in substance, at the courthouse? A. No, they couldn't make me lose my job.

Q. Didn't you tell us that, or that in substance?

A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Didn't you tell us that Rube Smith and Dennis Jones were strong here in politics and if you testified for the Government that they would make you lose your job?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did you tell us that in substance? A. No, sir.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Dick, you still say that you knew Indian Minnie, don't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that is the truth?

A. Yes, that is the truth, I seen her.

Q. You ain't scared are you? A. No, sir.

Q. Not a bit terrified? A. No, sir.

Q. You are telling the truth as you understand it?

A. Yes.

Q. Who is this fellow Sad Baker?

A. He is a fellow, a witness, who was raised up here, he has been here his lifetime.

Q. What does he do? Go on and tell it.

A. These other folks, Mr. Bond her can tell you?

Q. You tell me what does Sad do?

A. I don't know what he is doing now.

Q. Well, what did he do?

A. I didn't have nothing to do with it.

Q. You are afraid of him ain't you?

A. I ain't afraid of him, but other people here know all about it and can tell it.

Q. What sort of man is he, tell me his name, who is Sad? I just want to know who he is? A. Well, I knew his name.

Q. Go ahead now and tell me about Sad?

A. Well, I ain't going to tell what all about Sad unless questions would be asked question after question.

Q. Did they try to send him to the penitentiary here a little while ago—didn't Codding try to do it?

A. They liked to got him there.

Q. Didn't they try him over there and try to send him to the penitentiary? A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the District Court? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, who has got Sad employed, do you know?

A. Well, Sad told me Mr. Allen had him.

Q. Judge Allen here had him employed?

A. That is what he told me, I don't know.

Q. Did Sad run an assignation house here?

A. That is what he was arrested for.

Q. He was the proprietor? A. He was found guilty.

Q. Found guilty too? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he told you that Judge Allen had him employed?

A. Yes, sir, he told me—he said——

Q. How many times was he arrested, do you know?

A. Oh, lots of times.

Q. Lots of times? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And this man Sad came to you as the agent of the Government, didn't he?

A. Well, he said—he came there, he said he told him to come and see me he said.

Q. Who is he?

A. He said Judge Allen had told him to come and see me and see these other folks also.

Q. Did Sad threaten you in any way?

A. No, he told me he was getting so much, he didn't say how much that was, but he said he expected I would get more, he said.

Q. What did he tell you?

A. He told me he expected I would get more, he was getting so much a day and he expected I would get more.

Cross Examination by Mr. Bell.

Q. Now, Dick, do you mean to say that Sad Baker was convicted? A. You know about the court.

Q. I am just asking you if you mean to say that Sad Baker was convicted?

A. Oh, no, you know he wasn't convicted, found guilty of running that kind of a place.

Q. Was he found guilty by a jury in the District Court of running any place?

A. I don't know what he was found, they fined a woman fifteen dollars there in that place.

Q. Answer the question. Was Sad Baker found guilty?

A. No, he never went before the jury.

Q. Was he tried for it? A. Tried for it.

Q. Was he ever convicted?

A. No, he wasn't convicted. Old man Codding—I don't know what he was tried for.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. They got him in the police court?

A. Got him in the police court.

Q. And found him guilty there?

A. And found him guilty there.

Recross Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. Dick, do you know John T. Beechler?

A. Yes, sir, I know him.

Q. Has he been to see you?

By Mr. German: I want to object to that question.

A. No, sir.

By Mr. German: He said he had not. Let it go.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Dick, how long ago was it that Baker ran an assignation house?

A. How long ago was it, how long has it been?

Q. Yes, sir?

A. Well, Sad ran that place, that has been now about two years since he run it, run it about six or seven years when he did run it, been about two years since he run it.

Q. He has been living a clean honorable life since he quit that, hasn't he? A. I don't know.

Q. Is settled down, married, and living at home, isn't he?

A. He settled down and is married and is living at home?

Q. Living at home now?

A. I don't know whether he is living at home.

Q. With his wife? A. His wife ain't here.

Q. Was he ever in partnership with you in any business?

A. Sir?

Q. Was he ever in partnership with you in any business, some kind of business that you are in.

A. Politics was the only business that he and I were ever in.

Q. You and he are in politics? A. Working.

Q. He used to be a policeman here didn't he?

A. Yes, sir, he used to be a city policeman.

Q. Don't you know, Dick, and didn't Sad tell you that Mr. German and myself told him that we would not pay anybody a cent of money in this case? A. Sad never told me that.

Q. Didn't Mr. German and myself both say to you, in the presence of Mr. Bagley in the National hotel, that we would not pay any witness a penny except the fees that the Government allowed as a witness?

A. I know now how that other thing came up there now, just come to me. When you all said something to me about getting this Will Parker and Charlie Anderson and all them folks, I said a person's time is worth something running around looking up these folks, and you said I wouldn't lose nothing if I had to go and hunt up them fellows. I was just thinking now how that came in there.

By Mr. German: That was that lose nothing proposition that you were talking about, was it?

A. Lose——

By Mr. German: Lose nothing proposition?

A. Yes, yes.

Q. Didn't we tell you in the National Hotel that the Government could not and would not pay a cent?

A. Yes, I think you said that.

Q. And didn't we mention anybody else to you that was connected with this case that could or would pay a cent?

A. No, didn't mention anybody.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Who was it that told you you wouldn't lose anything? I want to know who said that?

A. Well, there is three of them was up there, and when I said—that is what I was trying to get at—and when they told me about going and getting these two or three fellows they wanted to see them, I said my time was worth something running and hunting up those fellows, and they said you won't lose nothing. I don't know who said that—would have to put money up in my hands if I went and saw them.

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. The reason you didn't do it was because the money wasn't put up?

A. Yes, sir, if you had given me the money I would have told each one of them fellows that you wanted to see them.

Q. You didn't do that?

A. No, sir, I wasn't paid nothing and I didn't get them.

Redirect Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Sad got a divorce from his wife here, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. German: I object to the question on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and is hearsay evidence, and if the witness has answered before I made this objection I move to strike the answer for that reason.

A. I know it.

Q. Who was Sad's lawyer?

By Mr. German: The same objection.

A. Mr. Bell there.

Q. Who was her lawyer?

By Mr. German. The same objection.

Q. Who was the wife's lawyer?

A. Mr. Codding—— Young Codding and the old man both I think.

Q. How long nas Sad been back?

A. Well, he has been back—his mother died and he came back to attend her, he has been back here a couple of months. Now, if they want me to tell the whole thing now I will tell it.

Recross Examination by Mr. Bell.

Q. Now, Dick, you say Sad got a divorce? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You was his witness, wasn't you?

A. I was a witness for his wife.

Q. You were a witness for his wife? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Sad got the divorce?

A. Yes, he asked me to be a witness for her so she could get it, he was going away.

Witness dismissed.

CHARLIE ANDERSON being called on behalf of the United States sworn and under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. What is your name? A. Charley Anderson.

Q. Your age and place of residence?

A. I am fifty-seven my next birthday.

Q. Where do you live?

A. 807 Walnut, Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. Charlie, do you remember testifying on October 7th, 1915, or about that day? A. Yes, sir.

Q. As a witness. Giving your deposition as a witness?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. In the case of Atkins et al. against Atkins et al., involving the birth of Tommy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who did you talk to before you testified upon that occasion?

A. I was talking up in the courthouse. Everybody was talking about it down in town. I said I will walk over to the courthouse and see who is going to be the witnesses.

Q. Who did you talk to over there?

A. When I got over there we boys were all talking among ourselves. I didn't know I was going to be a witness at all.

Q. After you got up there they called you on the witness stand and you testified? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You didn't know until that time——

A. No, I didn't know that I was going to be a witness at all.

Q. When you got off the witness stand were you paid any money? A. After I testified?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much? A. I got five dollars.

Q. Who paid you?

A. Rube Jackson—Rube Smith I should say.

Cross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Now, Charlie, you testified in this case once before didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You have testified the truth as you understand it? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Allen: We object to that as improper cross examination. If you desire to make the witness we want to cross examination him.

Mr. Stuart: I want him as my witness.

Q. You testified to the truth as you understood it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you gave your testimony in a former hearing of this case, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you testify truthfully then?

Mr. German: I think that is calling for a conclusion and opinion.

Q. Did you testify truthfully then?

Mr. German: The same objection.

Q. Did you testify truthfully then? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The five dollars that you got, what was that for?

A. Well, I don't know what it was for. When they got me didn't know I was going to be a witness at all until I got over there. I didn't know it.

Q. How many days did you attend court?

A. Attend over there?

Q. Yes? Attend court? A. To the court?

Q. Yes? How many days did you hang around court?

A. Three days.

Q. Three days, and you got five dollars for it?

A. Yes, sir, five dollars.

Q. And who did you say paid it to you? A. Rube Smith.

Q. That is all?

A. That is all he gave me then, yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Charley you didn't know when you went to the courthouse that you were going to be a witness did you?

A. No, sir.

Q. When they called you to the witness stand it was the first time that you knew you were to be a witness, wasn't it?

A. Yes, sir. They got me off.

Q. You hadn't been examined as a witness had you?

A. No, sir

Q. You came right off the witness stand and Rube Smith gave you five dollars didn't he? A. Not right off.

Q. He gave it to you that same day?

A. Gave it to me the same day, yes, sir.

Re-examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Charley, who has been trying to terrify you in this case?

> Mr. German: I object to that as calling for an opinion and conclusion of the witness.

Q. Who has been trying to terrify you here? I want to know the name of the man.

A. He was talking to me this morning.

Q. Who has been trying to terrify you?

> Mr. German: The same objection.

A. This man here is the only [] that I was talking to here.

Q. What did he tell you?

Q. He said he knowed everything that had been done and I want you to tell me the truth.

Q. Well, cough up. What did he say to you?

A. He asked me who paid me that money. Did I get some money and I said, yes. He says——

Q. Go on and tell the whole thing.

A. He said who paid you and I said Rube Smith. I told him. He said he knowed it though. He said he knowed it. He was the Government.

Q. Go on and tell what he said about the Government, that is what I want to know. Did he say he represented the Government?

> Mr. German: I object to this as improper cross examination, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and hearsay.

Q. Go ahead and tell what you said?

A. He said I want you to tell me. I says, well, I want some of my witnesses here, my men here.

Q. You wanted what?

A. I wanted some of my men here. I was a witness before. I wanted you here because I got acquainted with you and I didn't know you was an attorney in favor of Thomas Atkinson until Friday night and you told me to tell the truth when I first came in there. I didn't know you, Judge, you know.

Q. What was it I told you? I would like to know what I said to you. What did I say to you?

Mr. German: I object to that as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, improper cross examination and self serving declaration.

Q. What was it I told you now?

A. You asked me how old I was.

Q. Go on. I want to know just exactly what I said to you. Tell it out.

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. And you asked me who had been talking to me and I named over the men that I could that had been talking to me and I want you to tell the truth and if anybody asked me did I go up there and told to you, to tell them yes.

Q. You've got that straight haven't you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now when did Judge Allen approach you about this case? A. This morning in there.

Q. This morning? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the first thing he said now? To you?

Mr. German: I object to that as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and hearsay and improper cross examination.

Q. I want to hear the whole conversation.

A. The first thing he said to me. He said, Charlie, come in here I want to speak to you. He says, I want to keep you away from those other witnesses.

Q. That is it, go on, what else?

A. He says, now who hired you to be a witness. I said, I didn't know I was going to be hired until I got over to the courthouse because I just went over there to look around and see who was the witnesses because I knowed Minnie and Tommy and when I was in there the boys said, Charlie Anderson he ought to know Minnie and somebody was passing there. Mr. Long was passing there and he said, do you know Minnie.

Q. Who said that?

A. Mr. Long said, do you know Minnie?

Q. When was that? A. October.

Q. I am talking about what you said to this man?

A. What I said to this man? I told him I didn't know I was going to be a witness until I got over there. And he said—and he asked me, how much money did they give you that day for testifying, what money did he give you?

Q. Charley, you haven't told all. Tell everything he said.

A. I said I didn't understand his question then. I didn't know whether he meant for all the time I was over there or not. I says, I got two dollars and a half a day, I says. Two dollars and a half a day, what that lady says for trailing.

You said in the police court she tried to get me arrested because she said I trailed her out to South Leavenworth and had been trailing her for two or three weeks.

Q. Tell it all.

A. And she arrested me and I went in there and they said how much did they pay you that day and who paid you that money? He said, we know. How much did they pay you.

Q. Said we know? A. Yes, said we know. Who paid you?

Q. Go ahead.

A. I said, Rube Smith paid me. How much. I said Five Dollars. He said he knowed. He said you stay right in here now. I don't [] you to talk to these witnesses.

Q. Said what?

A. You stay right in here. I don't want you to talk to these other witnesses. I will call you in a few minutes.

Q. Told you not to talk to anybody else? A. Yes.

Q. Not to any other witness?

A. Yes, sir, and I stayed in that room there.

Cross Examination by Mr. Bell.

Q. You had a talk with somebody last Friday night, who was it? A. Last Friday night?

Q. Yes, didn't you say you talked with Judge Stuart here last Friday night?

A. That is, he telephoned out there and I was afraid to come down town you know. I didn't know who it was. I said, who is it. Judge Stuart telephoned. They came and told me to come to the telephone.

Q. You stated in your direct testimony there and cross-examination to Judge Stuart that you didn't know that he was representing Tommy Atkins until Friday night didn't you?

A. I didn't know it.

Q. How did you learn it then?

A. I didn't know it until I got there to the hotel.

Q. He informed you that he was representing Tommy Atkins?

A. No, he didn't inform me until he said, I sent for you. After they introduced me he said, I want you to tell the truth. I thought he was a United States man like them over there. I seen him talking to a carpenter not on the payroll, that is the reason I bucked against him and thought he was a United States man.

Mr. Allen: Let the record show that he is pointing to the Deputy United States Marshal who served the——

Q. How did you get the impression that Judge Stuart was representing Tommy Atkins?

A. How did I get the impression?

Q. Yes, sir?

A. I didn't know until after I was there and they talked to me, questioned me. I want you to tell the truth he said.

Q. Wanted you to tell the truth?

A. Yes, want you to tell the truth. How old are you?

Q. But did he tell you that he was representing Tommy Atkins?

A. He didn't tell me he was representing Tommy Atkins, no.

Q. How did you get that impression?

A. Well, I seen Mr. Long there and where is that other gentleman?

Q. Is Mr. Long representing Tommy Atkins?

A. I don't know who he is representing. That is the one I have been——

Q. Have you been consulting with Mr. Long?

A. Consulting with him since the first day of October in that trial over there.

Q. You knew Tommy Atkins, did you? A. Yes.

Q. Where? A. In the city.

Q. Where abouts in the city?

A. Here on Seneca Street.

Q. Seneca Street?

A. Between Second and Third on the south side of the street.

Q. At whose home? A. Aunt Mary Letcher's.

Q. When did you know him there?

Mr. Allen: We object to that unless you make him your own witness for that purpose.

Mr. Bell: We don't care to at this time.

Mr. Allen: We object to that as improper cross-examination unless Mr. Bell wants to make him his own witness for that purpose.

Q. What time did you know him there?

Mr. Allen: Let our objection go to each and every question.

Mr. Bell: Alright.

Q. When did you know him there?

A. Well when I knowed him there. The reason I can remember so well that is a long time you know.

Q. Yes?

A. Thirty some odd years ago. I was married in 1883.

Q. Yes, 1883?

A. Yes, sir, and I went to Montana and came back in about—in 1884. Then this Minnie Atkins was in town then. She was in town about a year or two years after I got married and she was a good looking girl. She was the belle of that kind of class down there and I used to go to Jim's house frequently. We were raised up together with him. Sometime when I was not working——

Mr. Stuart: You are making him your witness now I guess, Mr. Bell?

Mr. Bell: No, sir.

Mr. Stuart: What are you doing then? Of course it is improper cross-examination.

Mr. Bell: You said a while ago, go ahead. I just want to ask him when he knew Tommy Atkins. That is all I want to ask him.

Mr. Allen: I object to it. Of course my objection goes to all these questions.

Mr. Bell: We don't want to ask any further questions. We just want to know if he knew Tommy was there.

Mr. Allen: Without waiving any of our objections and still insisting upon the same I want to cross-examine the witness upon the testimony he has just given.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Charlie you say you were married in '83? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you know this woman before then?
A. Know Minnie?
Q. Yes?
A. No, I didn't know her before I married, no.
Q. When did you get acquainted with her?
A. I got acquainted with her at Granny Letcher's. She introduced me to her.

Q. You knew her then for several years while she lived there? A. Several years.

Q. Yes. A. Not so many years now.

Q. Three or four didn't you? Lived around in that neighborhood for three or four years? A. Who?

Q. Minnie?

A. I don't know. She disappeared from there. I know that boy was there.

Q. That boy, he lived there at Granny's until he was fourteen or fifteen years old, didn't he?

A. I don't remember him that long.
Q. How long did you know him?
A. The last time I seen Tommy, to remember now thirty-one or two years ago is a long time to remember. He was a boy about this high.

Q. Seven or eight years old?

A. No, he looked like he was four or five years old.

Q. You say I talked to you this morning?

A. Yes, you called me in there.

Q. I told you all the Government wanted in this case didn't I? A. You said the Government knows everything.

Q. And all I want you to do is to tell me the truth?

Mr. Stuart: We object to that as leading and suggestive and putting words in the mouth of the witness.

Q. Is that what I told you?

A. You said, we are the Government. We know.

Q. I told you that the Government knew? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About the testimony?

A. Yes, sir, you knowed how much we got.

Q. I asked how much it was, didn't I? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you told me? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I asked you who paid you and you told me didn't you?

A. I told you. I didn't understand you at first. I said I got Two Dollars a day.

Q. You went on and told me about different sums of money?

A. Two Dollars and a half a day I said. And you said, how much did you get that day for testifying.

Q. For testifying? A. And I said Five Dollars.

Q. I asked you who paid you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you said Rube Smith? A. I said Rube Smith.

Q. Did you ever see Minnie drunk? A. Drunk?

Q. Yes? A. No, I never saw her drunk.

Q. Did you ever hear of her being in police court?

A. I have heard she was arrested. I heard the cops went down there to Aunt Granny's one night. I know I wasn't there the night they went there.

Q. In your testimony in 1914 this question was asked you: This other boy was named what? "Tommy, I think." Was that question asked and answer given?

A. No, sir, I don't remember nothing like that. I knowed Tommy.

Q. State whether or not this question was asked and this answer given it at that time: "And this boy, when did you last see him?" "A. He was two or three years old?"

A. I said he was a boy about this high, four or five years—

Q. Did you or did you not answer, give that answer to the question I have read?

A. I don't remember anything like that.

Q. Did you say it or did you not? A. What did you say?

Q. Did you say that or did you not?

A. Now what was the question? I want to see what that is?

Q. Read him the question please.

A. I don't remember saying that. I might have said that, I don't remember it. I don't remember it. I might have said it. He was a small boy you know.

Recross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. You say your name is Charlie Anderson? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You testified in this case before? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is there anything that has occurred that has terrified you in this case? A. What is that?

Mr. German: I object to that as calling for a conclusion and opinion of the witness.

Q. Are you afraid to tell the truth?

A. No, sir, I aint afraid to tell the truth.

Q. Who has done anything to you to make you afraid to tell the truth? A. Nobody.

Mr. German: I object to that as calling for a conclusion and opinion of the witness and presuming that he is afraid to tell the truth.

A. Nobody said nothing to make me afraid because I know——

Q. When Judge Allen got you in his place this morning—

A. I come up here at nine o'clock.

Q. Did he summon you? A. I got the summons here.

Q. That is what I want to know. You got a subpoena have you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you first meet Judge Allen this morning I mean? A. I met him in here in this room here.

Q. This room or the other room? Which one?

A. This room here and he taken me out there.

Q. Did the Judge tell you he expected you to tell the truth in this case?

A. He said, Charley who hired you? Who summoned you over there?

Q. Who summoned you?

A. Yes, and I said I didn't [] I was going to be a witness when I went over there I was going to be a witness.

Q. Did he tell you, Charlie, that the Government of the United States expected you to tell the truth and if you didn't tell the truth they would get you?

A. He said he knowed who give me the money.

Q. Just tell me exactly what he said now.

A. He said he knowed who give me the money and, how much did he give you? Who was it give it to you?

Q. What else did he say?

A. And I told him Rube Smith give it to me. How much did he give you? And I didn't know—for being over there—and I didn't know what he meant. I thought he meant for working. I told him I got Two and a Half a day for working, trailing that girl. He said, No I don't mean that. How much did you get for that day.

Q. When were you subpoenaed? A. What?

Q. When were you subpoenaed to come here as a witness?

A. Friday.

Q. Friday? A. Yes, sir, afternoon.

Q. You came up to my room in the hotel, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And I asked you what you knew about this case?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that correct? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you told me what you knew and you understood it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Had you ever seen me before?

A. I had never seen you to know you. I didn't know who you was nor nothing. I got introduced to you up there, you and this other gentleman there.

Mr. Hanford: Pointing to Mr. Hanford.

A. Yes, Mr. Hanford.

Q. Mr. Hanford: Who else was there besides me?

A. Mr. Long and Attorney Jones.

Q. Who, Dennis Jones? A. Dennis Jones, yes, sir.

Q. He was there? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you tell what you knew about this case?

A. Yes, sir. I told. You asked me questions and I told what I knowed.

Q. Was any inducements held out to you of any kind there to tell what you knew about this case? A. No, sir.

Q. Was any promise made to you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you tell it as you understood it? A. Yes, sir.

Re-Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You are a colored man, are you?

A. Yes, sir, that is what they call me.

Q. Let me see the subpoena that was served on you?

A. This is the one.

Q. On the back of this subpoena is written, "In Montana

1884 and in 1894," "In Oregon in 1882 and in 1882," and married in 1883, February 12"?

A. Yes, sir, I wrote that there myself after I got that.

Q. What did you write that for?

A. I got busy because I wanted to know exactly. I wanted to tell the truth is the reason I done it. I put it right on there so nobody could see it.

Q. Did anybody go over your former testimony with you?

A. No, sir. No, sir.

Q. Charlie they haven't used you as a witness in this case, have they? A. In this case?

Q. Yes?

A. I guess they used me over there at the Court House in October, 1914.

Q. They haven't used you since then, have they?

A. Well I say—— What this lady says. I was trailing her and they tried to arrest me.

Q. When was that?

A. Well that was right after that. Mr. White was in town and Mr. White——

Q. How long did you trail Sadie?

A. I trailed Sadie a good while. Every day she said I was trailing her. I thought I was shadowing her but she said I was trailing her. I used to cook for a cow man what said trailing——

Q. You are a detective by profession?

A. No, sir, that is the first detective work and she caught me too. She is sharp. I was keeping up with her. She walked so fast. She walked same as one of these Texas bronchos, going just this way, and she went around a corner and I thought she was going to get out of sight and she would run a few minutes and throwed her head back that way and she caught me. That is the way she caught me.

Q. Who hired you to do that detective work?

A. I don't know. Jones told me to keep track of Sadie to see where she went to.

Q. Who paid you? A. I don't know. Jones.

Q. Dennis Jones? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Sallie, have they promised to take you down to Oklahoma?

A. No, sir, aint promised to take me; I don't know whether I am going down there, or not.

Q. Did they ever talk to you about going to Oklahoma?

A. Said they expected I would have to go down there; didn't know whether I would or not. I don't know whether I have to go or not.

Q. You still think you will have to go down there as a witness in this case?

A. I didn't know whether I will or not. The way they grabbed me Friday, I don't know what they are liable to do to me.

Q. Well, a deputy marshal is the man you are talking about grabbing you Friday? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Just as he started to read a subpoena to you, a young man by the name of Brown, ran up, and told you not to let him serve that on you, until you talked to Mr. Bond—Lee Bond, an attorney in this case—didn't he?

A. He says, go and see Mr. Bond first; he says, before you go with him. He didn't know who he was.

Q. And you started to run away, didn't you?

A. I was going up to see Mr. Bond, and went up there, too.

Q. The marshal had to catch you and hold you to serve the subpoena on you, didn't he?

A. I went up stairs and Mr. Bond wasn't there, and I said I will go down to attorney Jones; I wanted somebody else to see what I said. I didn't know it was a subpoena at first—only what he said; he wanted to read it to me—wanted to sign it; he just wrote something on the bottom of it there—his name, I guess—and he give it to me. I didn't know he was a marshal until Mr. Bond told me.

Q. He went with you to Mr. Bond's office?

A. Yes, he was good enough.

Q. He was good enough to do that?

A. Yes, he was good enough to go there with me.

Q. Then, he had to hold you to serve you, didn't he?

A. Because I couldn't catch him up there, when he was holding me, I was going to go out some other way and he came up to save me, just in the nick of time.

Q. You are pointing to Mr. Bond? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Coming up where? To Mr. Bond's office?

A. He came up and he said he is a United States——

Q. Where did he come up?

A. He come up in his office.

Q. Whose office?

A. Mr. Bond's office, over the Times Building.

Q. Mr. Bond just came up there in time to get you to stop and let the marshal serve you, is that right?

A. Yes, he was grabbing hold of me and I thought it was a big gun he had in there, and he pushed him in there.

Q. He told you he wanted to serve a subpoena on you, hadn't he?

A. Yes, he said I want to go in here and write in the National hotel, and I said, wait a minute, and I seen Brown up there, and I went and asked young Brown——

Q. Who is Brown?

A. Well, he drives an express wagon here.

Q. What is he doing now?

A. He was on the street every day like I was; I was shadowing Sadie, and I don't know who he was shadowing.

Q. He was doing detective work, too, for Mr. Jones, wasn't he? A. I guess so.

Q. Is he a detective by profession, too?

A. Always see him driving that express wagon.

Q. You never saw him following the profession of detective? A. No.

Q. The first detective work that you ever knew of him doing? A. That is the first and the first I ever done.

Q. Brown tell you how much he was getting? A. No, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. Now, listen, you know Mr. Lee Bond, don't you?

A. Yes, sir; known him a number of years.

Q. You have known him all your life?

A. Knowed him all his life, I am older than him.

Q. Did you ever know him to do anything crooked in your life?

> Mr. German: I object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and improper cross examination.

Q. Did you?

A. No, sir; I never knowed him to do anything wrong in my life.

Q. Did you ever know him to try to get anybody to tell a falsehood on the stand?

> Mr. German: The same objection.

A. No, sir.

Q. Do you mean to say, or leave the impression here, that Mr. Lee Bond has done anything that is not worthy of a gentleman, in this case?

> Mr. German: I object to that as calling for a conclusion and opinion of the witness, and as argument, and as improper cross examination, and as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Q. Go ahead, did you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did Mr. Lee Bond, at any time, any where, ever ask you to tell anything but the truth in this case?

> The German: The same objection.

Q. Answer. A. He never did in his life.

Q. Did Mr. Lee Bond at any time try to get you to do anything that was not right, and proper?

Mr. Allen: The objection for the same reason.

A. He never did in his life.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: I move to strike the testimony on direct examination of this witness, on the ground that it is incompetent, and immaterial, and entirely outside of the issues in this case, and relates wholly to a matter of a former suit in the State Court, and on the further ground that the Government appearing in this case, in purely a representative capacity in a civil suit with a private litigant; that the attorneys representing the Government here, are entirely without authority to inquire of the witness in any way relating to his testimony in that case, or as to the witness fees paid.

Mr. Hanford: Also the deposition of Theresa Swoboda, beginning at page 2576.

And thereupon, THERESA SWOBODA, being called on behalf of the defendants, sworn and under oath, testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Bond.

Q. State your name please? A. Theresa Swoboda.

Q. What position do you now hold?

A. Why assistant bookkeeper and stenographer, and I have charge of the filing of the papers each day.

Q. For what institution?

A. For the Leavenworth Times.

Q. In this City? A. Leavenworth, Kansas, yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you what is the record that is here before you? A. It is the first half of 1886, the papers bound.

Q. Directing your attention to the paper that is found in this volume, headed The Leavenworth Times, Leavenworth, Kansas, Wednesday Morning, May 12th, 1886. I will ask you if that is the copy of that issue?

A. Well, all the copies are bound into the files. Now, that has been on our shelves for five years, you know, all I can swear, that is a paper from our papers, that is the way our papers, that is the way our papers are bound at the end of six months. Each day I put certain number of papers away and then I take one paper and send it to the bindery and it is made into this book.

Q. And that is one of the papers found in one of these bound volumes of which you have testified?

A. Yes, sir, a copy of The Times of that date.

By Mr. Bond: We desire to offer in evidence the article found on—the first three columns on the front page under the heading, "Death and Disaster, and Terrible Tornado Visits Kansas City, Leaving Death and Destruction in its Wake," with numerous other headings.

By Mr. German: We object to the article referred to, on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and is hearsay.

Q. Directing your attention to another sheet in this same book, headed The Leavenworth Times, Wednesday Morning, May 12th, 1886, is that a copy of the same issue of the paper?

A. Yes, sir.

By Mr. Bond: We desire to offer in evidence the article found on that page, being in the third column and column headed, "The Storm King Pays Leavenworth a Very Destructive Visit, Great Damage by Wind and Rain; The Morris School Building Unroofed. One Man Injured, Three Horses Killed. A General Review of the Storm's Work."

Mr. German: I make the same objection to that. I object to both of them upon the further ground that the paper referred to has not been properly identified.

Mr. Blakeney: Are you offering those four columns now, fine printed matter, with the expectation that they should be copied into the records, Mr. Bond?

Mr. Bond: No, just the headings as I have read them.

Mr. German: Then we object to the introduction of the headings for the same reason that we objected to the article.

Mr. Blakeney: You are just making an offer of the issue of that paper of that date giving an account in four column article of a storm that passed over this city and Kansas City?

Mr. Bond: Yes, sir. Of that date.

Q. Directing your attention to another sheet of this bound volume headed "The Leavenworth Times, Leavenworth, Kansas, Thursday Morning, May 13th, 1886," and article in the first and subsequent column headed "After the storm The Work of Clearing away the Debris Continued. The Total Number Killed Thirty. Tornado Passes On Through Illinois and Indiana and Causes Some Loss of Life and Great Damage to Crops and Stock"—

Mr. German: We make the same objections to the offer.

Q. I will ask you if that sheet referred to containing the article referred to is part of the Leavenworth Times of that date as shown by this record? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. German: I object to the question on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and that the witness is not qualified and that the paper speaks for itself and that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. I wish you would take the files that you produced into court at the page bearing date of May 12th, 1886, and read the headlines to the first article appearing in that paper.

Mr. German: I object to the question on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and hearsay.

A. "Death and Disaster, A Terrible Tornado Visits Kansas City, Leaving Death and Destruction in its Track. The Lathrop School gives away and Scores of Children are Buried in its Ruins. A Dozen or More Children are Taken out Dead and Many More are Fatally Injured. The Courthouse Topples over with a Terrible Crash and Several Inmates Killed. Smith and Murphy Spike Mills are Demolished and Senior proprietor Killed. Fire and—also Discharged and Several of the Operators Hurled to Death. Span of the Railroad Bridge Swept away by the River's Dreadful Flood. The Latest Obtainable Details of the Terrible Casualty and Revised List of the Killed."

Q. Now under that headline there appears to be how many columns devoted to a discussion of that subject?

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. Four and about a quarter I guess.

Q. Four and about two sticks?

A. Yes, I guess it is two sticks. I don't know about that part of it.

Q. On what page of the paper does that appear?

A. We never number the pages.

Q. What you call the first page?

A. Oh, the first page of the paper, yes.

Q. You identified an article, did you not, in that same paper? A. The Storm King?

Q. What page is that article on? A. Page four.

Q. That was the last page of the paper then, was it?

A. Yes, the last page.

Q. I wish you would read the headlines of that article.

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. The Storm King Pays Leavenworth a very Destructive Visit. Great Damage by Wind and Rain. The Morris School and Market Building unroofed. One Man Injured, Three Horses Killed. A General Review of the Storm's Work.

Q. Have you examined the paper now of May 13th, 1886, to see if there is any reference to that storm? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where do you find any discussion of it?

A. The first column, first page.

Q. I wish you would read the headlines of that.

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. "After the Storm the Work of Clearing away the Debris Continued. The Total Number Killed Thirty. The Tornado passes on through Illinois and Indiana and causes some loss of Life and Great Damage to Crops and Stock."

Q. I call your attention to the body of that article and I will ask you if you find the sub-head in the article say: "The killed and injured."? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. German: I object to that for the same reason.

A. I do.

Q. Following that sub-head does it give what purports to be the names of the persons maimed and injured?

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. It gives the names of those killed.

Q. I wish you would just count under the different subheads the number of those given as being killed and those also being injured, giving it separately the number whose names are given as being killed first?

Mr. German: The same objection.

Q. How many names are given as persons killed?

A. Twenty-nine.

Q. And how many of persons being injured?

Mr. Allen: The same objection.

A: Forty-seven.

Cross Examination by Mr. German.

Q. Where were those killed and injured reported to be killed and injured? A. Killed at Lathrop.

Q. Where? A. Lathrop, Missouri.

Q. Lathrop School in Kansas City, Missouri?

A. I suppose that is it, yes.

Q. And the injured were at the same place weren't they? Or at some other different point not at Leavenworth, is what I am getting at? A. No.

Q. Not at Leavenworth? A. No.

Q. How old were you in May, '86?

A. Let me see. I guess I was about two years old.

Q. You don't know anything about——

A. I know this is the file of the Leavenworth Times which has been on our shelves the last five years.

Q. And that is all you know?

A. I know that is the files and used as such.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. I show you a paper dated May 1st, 1885, and ask you if it is an account in that paper of a storm that occurred on Tuesday night before Friday, May 1st?

A. During the storm Thursday night Several Teams Ran Away causing considerable damage to the vehicles to which they were attached though no person was seriously injured so far as could be learned.

Q. Now in the issue of the paper of May 21, 1885.

Mr. Blakeney: Let the record show now that this gentleman——

Mr. Allen: Let the record show that Mr. Paul Miles is assisting me to find the article I am trying to call the witness' attention to.

Mr. Blakeney: The same gentleman that took the depositions in the Yokum case.

Q. I will ask you to examine that paper and state whether or not there is an account of the departure of the Twentieth United States Infantry? A. Yes, sir, there is.

Q. Read the item, please?

Mr. Blakeney: Now I want to make a record. I am entirely willing to have any article from these papers read but the counsel has objected to the other and if they are sustained of course we insist upon the same objection to the article offered by counsel.

A. Departure of the Twentieth United States Infantry. The Twentieth United States Infantry left Fort Leavenworth Yesterday Morning under command of Colonel Bates for Fort Assinniborne. Transportation of the Troops required Three Trains on the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Road under command of Mr. H. F. Royce, Assistant General Superintendent for the Road. Dr. Ben Calvert of this City has charge of one of the trains as far as Minneapolis, Minnesota. Troops will go by rail as far as—hence to Coalbanks by boat and overland to Assinniborne.

Mr. Blakeney: I would like to let the record show that Judge Cruce asked me to introduce the same objection to take care of his interests as he is temporarily out of the room and I would like to have the objection considered on his behalf that I interpose.

Mr. German: Oh, yes.

Cross Examination by Mr. Blakeney.

Q. Calling your attention to the articles that appeared on May 1st, 1885, that you read. That item appears in the column called "City News"? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Among a large number of local items. No heading or subheads indicating any storm or any considerable size of that?

Mr. Allen: We object——

Q. In the paper of that date? A. No.

Mr. Allen: We object because the question calls for a conclusion and opinion of the witness and is hearsay.

Q. You do know do you that storms of that importance occur practically every spring in Leavenworth don't you, since you have been old enough to remember?

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you now if you recall that this storm that we first referred to in '86, while you say you were not old enough to remember, you have heard of that storm all your life, haven't you? Since you have been old enough to know anything about the town?

Mr. German: The same objection.

A. I don't believe I have. Not until this affair came up. This Indian affair. I might have but I don't remember nothing about it.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, THOMAS HIGGINS, a witness produced on behalf of the defendant Minnie Atkins, et al., being first duly sworn, under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Hanford.

Q. State your name? A. Thomas Higgins.

Q. How old are you Mr. Higgins? A. 36 years old.

Q. Where do you reside?

A. Kansas City, Missouri at the present time.

Q. What is your occupation?

A. My occupation is assistant shipping clerk for Peek Brothers Manufacturing Company at present.

Q. How long have you lived in Kansas City?

A. I have lived here for going on thirteen years; since 1905.

Q. You formerly lived in Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Born and raised there, weren't you?

A. Born and raised there.

Q. What year were you born? A. 1881.

Q. Who did you first work for in Leavenworth?

A. I first worked for my father for three years, from the time I was 12 years old, about thirteen.

Q. You learned your trade with your father? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What business was he in?

A. He was in the cooper business.

Q. And you worked for him about three years?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then what did you do?

A. I went down and went to work for Mr. McNally—transfer man.

Q. And how long did you work for Mr. McNally?

A. Well, sir, I worked for Mr. McNally off and on up until about 1900.

Q. Well, about when was it when you commenced work for him? A. Well, about 1896 or '97.

Q. What did you do working for Mr. McNally—drive team?

A. Yes, sir, drove team—a one horse quick delivery; first started to work with a one horse quick delivery—one horse wagon.

Q. You drove a one horse wagon until you got large enough to handle a team? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Got experience enough and they put you on to a team, is that right? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You are married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Mr. Higgins, did you ever know Tommy Atkins?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did you know him?

A. I know him to be around through the alleys and playing around on Seneca street and Third street.

Q. That is in Leavenworth? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. How old a boy was he when you knew him?

A. Well, sir, I judge him to be about 11 or 12 years old.

Q. What was he called besides Tommy Atkins? Did you hear him called Tommy Atkins?

A. I did hear him called Tommy Atkins.

Q. You knew that was his name? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what else did he go by?

A. Why, the boys in the alley there used to call him Texas Tommy, or something like that; playing with him around and up and down alleys.

Q. Did you say Texas Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you ever hear him called Indian Tommy?

Mr. Linebaugh: Objected to as leading.

The Court: Sustained; let the witness state.

Q. I don't know whether I ever heard him called Indian Tommy or not.

Q. What kind of looking boy was he?

A. A small—stout built—wasn't so stout built either; high cheek bones and kind of olive color.

Q. What kind of hair did he have?

A. He had straight hair; about straight hair.

Q. Black? A. Black hair, yes, sir.

Q. How old a boy was he at that time?

A. When I first knew him?

Q. Yes?

A. Why, he was a boy I judge between 11 and 12 years old—when I first knew him.

Q. When you first worked for McNally?

A. Yes, sir, when I was driving the one horse wagon.

Q. Was he ever around you—did you ever have an opportunity to see him?

A. Yes, sir, I used to see him in the alleys; he would be around the wagon—the back end of the wagon like the rest of the boys would.

Q. Did he ride any?

A. He rode on the back end; he was never up on the seat.

Q. How long a period did you see him around there, Higgins?

A. Well, I don't know. Never remembered seeing him after 1900.

Q. That is the nearest you can come to fixing the time that you last saw him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Higgins, do you know——

A. He lived up on Seneca Street with an old lady they called Granny Letcher.

Q. Where was that?

A. Next to Van Tyle's livery Stable in a stone building.

Q. Name some of the other places that you have seen him, Higgins?

A. Why, I have seen him around in the alleys and on Second Street and on Shawnee Street. And see him there in the alley between Delaware and Cherokee and Choctaw, around through the alleys, played with the rest of the boys. That was my main driving and unloading, in the alleys.

Q. Now, what would you say as to the boy's race or nationality? A. Well, he looked to me like an Indian.

Q. He looked to you like he was an Indian, do you know what he was?

A. I never knowed exactly, no, sir, no more than I did any of the rest of the boys running around playing.

Mr. Hanford: That is all.

Cross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. You knew him in 1896? A. Between 1896 and 1897.

Q. How do you remember that? A. Sir?

Q. How do you remember that?

A. I remember the time that I quit school and the time that I worked three years with my father.

Q. When did you quit school?

A. When I was twelve years old.

Q. And you went to work for your father? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long did you work for him? A. Three years.

Q. And how do your remember that it was in 1896 or 1897 that you knew this boy?

A. Well, that was when I first started driving a one horse quick delivery and driving around through the alleys.

Q. What character of delivery did you make?

A. Well, transfer from the depot, boxes, stoves, vegetables, products of all kinds.

Q. Ordinary drayman? A. Yes, sir, ordinary drayman.

Q. You are thirty six years old now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How much do you weigh?

A. I should judge about a hundred and forty pounds.

Q. How tall are you? A. Five foot nine.

Q. What approximately was your weight when you were fifteen years old? A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you remember about how tall you were at that time? A. I don't remember.

Q. You are under the medium size now aren't you?

A. I should judge you would call a medium sized man a hundred and sixty pounds.

Q. You are under that now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Anybody on the dray with you? A. No, sir.

Q. How do you remember this particular boy was there? Anything particularly peculiar about him to impress him upon your memory?

A. I remember him the same as the rest of the names of the boys running around playing.

Q. There was nothing peculiar about this boy?

A. Not any more than the rest.

Q. What are the other boys?

A. George Warren, Bully Warren, George Foster, Swipe Smith, Alva Adams.

Q. What kind of looking boy was Swipe Smith?

A. He was a white boy.

Q. They called him Swipe because of his peculiar face?

A. They had nicknames for all of them.

Q. What was the color of his hair?

A. I don't remember now.

Q. How old was he?

A. I should judge he was about the age of the other boys.

Q. George Foster, what color was George's hair?

A. I don't remember.

Q. What complexion did he have?

A. He was a white boy.

Q. About how old was George?

A. I don't remember now, he was about the same as the rest of the boys.

Q. All of the boys about the same age?

A. All about the same age, yes, sir.

Q. All white boys?

A. All except this Ranklin Clay, he was a little colored boy.

Q. He was a negro boy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. All of the other boys except this one were white boys?

A. There was another named Tommy York up on Third Street by the County Jail.

Q. He played with them too, did he?

A. I would see him around with the rest of the boys once in a while, yes, sir.

Q. Where did this boy Tommy live?

A. On Seneca Street.

Q. In the stone house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And Granny Letcher lived there? A. Granny Letcher.

Q. She lived there in 1896 and 1897?

A. Yes, sir. Somewhere along there, while I was driving, I think it was about 1897.

Q. In that stone house. Well, Higgins, who did you hear call this boy Tommy Atkins? A. Well, I heard Alva Adams.

Q. What kind of a looking boy was Alva?

A. Kind of slim and sandy hair.

Q. You remember the color of his hair? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know him now, do you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. All right, who else do you recall?

A. Well, I heard Ranklin Clay and Wooley Warren.

Q. Ranklin Clay? A. Colored boy.

Q. What color was his hair? A. Black.

Q. Black Kinky hair? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You know that because that is a peculiarity to that race. Now who else called him Tommy Atkins?

A. Well, I don't remember, I heard all the boys calling him that as I went through the alleys.

Q. You say Alva Adams, what was the color of his hair?

A. Kind of Sandy.

Q. Oh, yes, he is the man you know now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He is your brother-in-law? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, these boys would hang on the back of your wagon?

A. Sometimes hang on the back of the wagon and be around the wagon while I was unloading.

Q. Now, that was covering a period of four years was it, three or four years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How often did you see him?

A. I don't remember how often.

Q. Who was calling him Texas Tommy?

A. Well, I heard all of the boys calling him. I couldn't say just particular which ones; they were playing there.

Q. That was his nickname?

A. That was what they were calling him. I didn't take any particular pains to remember, I was busy working.

Q. Well, you remember it now?

A. Well, yes, I remember all of the boys there, I remember them very well.

Q. Now, you last saw him in 1900?

A. The last I remember.

Q. How do you remember it was 1900?

A. Because I quit driving around through the alleys and went to work for a grocery company.

Q. You never saw him after that?

A. Not that I remember.

Q. Did you ever see any of these boys after that except Alva Adams? A. I saw George Foster and Swipe Smith.

Q. When was the last time you saw George?

A. I haven't seen George Foster I don't remember just how many years ago; he was staying on Delaware Street with his foster mother, Mrs. Foster,

Q. When was the last time you saw Swipe Smith?

A. I don't remember how long ago it has been. I left there in 1905.

Q. You can't tell us the last time you saw him?

A. No, sir.

Q. This George Foster, did he have any other name?

A. George Foster?

Q. Yes? A. No, not that I know of.

Q. Did you know any other Foster there?

A. He had a sister there.

Q. Did you know a boy named Kitch Foster?

A. I knew a man by the name of Kitch Foster.

Q. This is not the same person that you refer to?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, you live in Kansas City now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was the peculiarity with reference to this Texas Tommy boy, or Tommy Atkins, that impresses itself upon your mind, his facial appearance, anything about his facial appearance that was different from the other boys?

A. No, no more than I just remember his being around there.

Q. Was there anything about his facial appearance which appeared different from the other boys? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it?

A. He appeared to be kind of an Indian and was an olive drab and had straight hair, kind of olive color.

Q. Olive color? Ripe or green olive?

A. Well, a green olive.

Q. Was the color of a ripe or green olive?

A. The olive I am speaking of is kind of brown.

Q. Kind of a brownish color? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And appeared to be an Indian? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What made you think he was an Indian?

A. He had straight hair.

Q. You thought he was an Indian because of the fact that his hair was straight? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Anything else about him that made you think he was an Indian?

A. Well, his cheek bones were a little higher than the ordinary colored boy.

Q. You noticed his cheek bones particularly, did you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which one of the boys that played around there had the lowest cheek bones? A. Had the lowest cheek bones?

Q. Yes? A. I should judge the white boys did.

Q. Well, what do you remember about it; which one of those white boys cheek bones were the lowest?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you remember which one of the white boys cheek bones were the highest? A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you remember whether this Texas Tommy had any scar on his face? A. I do not.

Q. Do you remember whether any of the other boys had any scars on their faces? A. I do not.

Q. If they had a scar across their cheek, you—either one of those boys, you don't now remember it? A. No, sir.

Q. You can't say whether they did or did not?

A. No, sir.

Q. Now, if any of those boys had a scar, Mr. Higgins, starting here where the hair is parted and coming down over the eye, which one of the boys, do you remember that?

A. No, sir.

Q. If one of those boys had such a scar, you don't remember it now? A. No, sir.

Q. You can't tell the Court whether they did have such a scar entirely across their forehead or not? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, about where in Leavenworth did you live at that time? A. At which time?

Q. The time that you say that you saw this Texas Tommy, or Tommy Atkins?

A. I was living at home with my mother and father.

Q. Well, where in the city of Leavenworth?

A. Living up around what we call Hennessey farm; wasn't no street through there at the time.

Q. How far is that place from Third and Seneca street?

A. Where I was living—it was about a mile or something like that.

Q. And you would drive down there in your wagon would you? A. Drive down?

Q. Yes. You would make deliveries in that part of town?

A. I came there to work from my home, yes, sir.

Q. Would you make deliveries in other parts of town?

A. Yes, sir, make deliveries all over the town.

A. I see. Now, tell us some part of town that you made deliveries.

A. I delivered all over North Leavenworth and south Leavenworth.

Q. Wait a minute; about North Leavenworth—what boys lived up in that part of town—boys about 10, or 11, or 12 years old?

A. Tommy Atkins was living up on Third and Seneca.

Q. That is in the north part of town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Would you make deliveries in—what other part of town? A. The south part.

Q. What boys lived in the south part of town?

A. Tommy York lived in the south part of town.

Q. I thought you said a while ago that Tommy Atkins and Tommy York lived together and they rode in your wagon in the same part of town? A. No, sir.

Q. That is not right? A. No, sir.

Q. Tommy Atkins and Tommy York lived in different parts of town? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who else lived in the south part of town besides Tommy York? A. I don't know who lived down in there.

Q. There were boys who lived down in there, weren't there? A. There were boys that lived down there, yes.

Q. What other part of town did you make deliveries in?

A. The west part of town.

Q. What boys was in the part of town about 10 or 12 years old?

A. I don't remember the boys around there; that was the residence district—never was no business district.

Q. Do you know some of them?

A. I remember all the boys around there but I——

Q. Tell us the names of some of them?

A. Well, there was some Newhouse boys lived down on Cherokee street.

Q. What color hair did they have?

A. I don't remember what color of hair they had—they were white, white boys.

Q. Hair wasn't white was it? A. No, sir.

Q. What color was it?

A. It wasn't white—it wasn't brown.

Q. How old was those boys?

A. I don't remember what color their hair was.

Q. How old was that boy at that time—'96?

A. Well, they were boys about 12, 13, or 14 years—13; there were two or three of them—two of them I think.

Q. You work now in Kansas City? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who did you first tell what you knew about this Texas Tommy or Tommy Atkins?

A. Why, Pomp Graham came to me and asked me about it.

Q. Pomp Graham? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did he come to you?

A. He came to me last November.

Q. What did he say to you?

A. He asked me did I remember Tommy Atkins of Leavenworth.

Q. Go ahead; just tell all the conversation.

A. And I told him I did; and then he asked me what about him and I told him just exactly as I am telling you.

Q. Go ahead and tell all the conversation.

A. Well, he asked me did I know Tommy Atkins and I told him I did; and he asked me would I come down to Muskogee to court and testify down there if I was called as a witness, and I told him I would; and he says I will pay your fare down there if you will go down, and I said alright sir, I will go down any time that you need me.

Q. Go ahead? A. That is all.

Q. Did he pay your fare down here? A. Yes, sir.

Q. When did you leave?

A. I left there—he never called me until last Saturday.

Q. And he bought your transportation, did he?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And came down here with you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were with Pat De Laney and who else came along?

A. Pat DeLaney and several more of them—I don't recall their names; Hump Larry and Jim Foley, and Bert Farry—well 10 or 12 of them.

Q. Well, which one of those boys in '96 was out there in that north part of town where Texas Tommy played—which one of those boys lost the sight of his right eye?

A. I don't remember.

Q. You don't know whether either one of them did or not? A. No, sir.

Q. You don't remember that now? A. No, sir.

Q. Is your wife here with you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is she a witness? A. Sir?

Q. Is she a witness in this case? A. I don't know.

Q. Who paid her transportation?

A. Why, Pomp Graham.

Q. In addition to your transportation what compensation are you receiving? A. Receiving my expenses.

Q. Just your expenses. You are not being paid anything per day? A. I don't know; I haven't received nothing.

Q. Haven't you asked about that? A. Sir?

Q. Haven't you inquired about that?

A. Pomp Graham said he would pay my expenses; I haven't received it.

Q. Aren't you getting something for your work, that is in lieu of what you were earning at home?

A. I am promised that, yes, sir; I don't know.

Q. Who promised you? A. Yes, sir, I am promised that.

Q. Who promised you? A. Pomp Graham.

Q. How much? A. My wages..

Q. How much is that?

A. Three dollars a day I am receiving.

Q. And Pomp Graham is to pay you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, you say Willie Warren played with this Texas Tommy? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What sort of looking boy was Willie Warren?

A. He was sort of a slim little boy.

Q. What was the color of his hair?

A. I think the color of his hair was a little light.

Q. You remember that, do you? A. Yes.

Q. And he played around with Texas Tommy or Tommy Atkins?

A. In '96 and '97 run around the alleys together.

Q. You remember anything else that happened in'98?

A. No, sir.

Q. Anything at all that happened in the year '98? Anything that happened of public importance or private interest to you? A. I don't remember.

Q. You don't? You at present haven't any recollection of anything that happened in the year 1898 of public interest or of private interest to you? A. I don't remember.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. Mr. Higgins, this party you called Swipe Smith was the son of Mary Smith, wasn't he?

A. He lived on Shawnee street—Mary Smith, I think that was the name of the mother, I am not sure.

Q. She was still living in Leavenworth the last you knew of her, wasn't she?

A. No, sir, not that I remember; I don't know where she went.

Q. You don't remember whether she was still living there or not? A. No, sir.

Q. This boy you called Swipe Smith was playing with Tommy Atkins around in the same neighborhood there?

A. Around in the alleys with the rest of the boys.

Q. And your recollection is that he was the son of Mary Smith? A. My recollection is, yes, sir.

Recross Examination by Mr. Linebaugh.

Q. Mary Smith, she was part Indian, wasn't she?

A. I don't remember what her nationality was.

Q. You have heard of Indian Mary, haven't you?

A. Indian Mary, I don't remember what her nationality was.

Q. But you have heard of Indian Mary up there?

A. Yes, sir.

By the Court.

Q. Well, who was Indian Mary?

A. I don't remember, I don't know anything—who she was—I don't know Mrs. Smith personally at all.

Q. You never saw Indian Mary? A. No, sir.

Witness dismissed.

And thereupon, ALVA ADAMS, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants Minnie Atkins, et al., being first duly sworn, under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. Alva Adams.

Q. Where do you live now?

A. I live at 2008 Belview, Kansas City, Missouri.

Q. Where do you work?

A. Peek Brothers Soap Manufacturing Company.

Q. How long have you been working for them?

A. Seven months; between six and seven months.

Q. [] were you born? A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. When? A. The 17th day of March, 1886.

Q. You are 31 years old? A. 31.

Q. When a child, do you remember where Granny Letcher's place was? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where was it?

A. It was on Seneca street between Second and Third on the south side of the street, across from Mr. Crilley's livery stable.

Q. And what kind of house if you remember?

A. Frame house.

Q. Was any house next to it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What kind of house was that? A. Stone house.

Q. Now, will you tell the Court whether when you were a child you played in the neighborhood?

A. Yes, sir I played all around up through there; by Abernathy's Furniture Factory, by Mr. Crilley's livery stable, Van Tuyl's livery stable, and all around in the lumber yards through there; down on Delaware street, down on Third and Cherokee.

Q. Did you know a boy there by the name of Tommy Owens? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did Tommy Owens live?

A. Tommy Owens lived on Delaware between Second and Third.

Q. Did you know a boy by the name of Tommy York?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where did Tommy York live?

A. Tommy York lived down the hill by the county jail; right across Third street bridge.

Q. Did you know a boy there by the name of Tommy Atkins? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, did you ever play with these boys there around Granny Letcher's at any time?

A. Yes, sir, never played with them around Granny Letcher's; we would always play around through the alleys and around through the lumber yards there.

Q. About how long did you play with this boy that you call Tommy Atkins? Do you remember when was the last time you saw him as near as you can remember.

A. As near as I can remember—the last time I saw him, as near as I can remember was between 1897 and 1898.

Q. Now, at that time did you get into any trouble in that neighborhood? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What was it? A. I was arrested for stealing bolts.

Q. Some what? A. Brass bolts.

Q. Brass bolts; where from?

A. From the water works building.

Q. Were you taken up and tried for it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And what were you given?

A. 60 days in the county jail.

Q. County jail; have you ever been in any trouble since that time? A. Only just a fight is all.

Q. Only a fight? Do you remember any particular game that you used to play with these boys there?

A. Yes, sir, we used to play marbles and played war.

Q. Played war? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I will ask you whether Tommy Atkins played any part in that game? A. Yes, sir, we would choose sides——

Q. Talk a little louder.

A. We would choose sides in the war, and he would be captain of one side and I or somebody else would be captain of the other.

Q. What would he do—what did you call him?

A. Called him Indian Tommy.

Q. I know, but what did he do? In that game?

A. Called him our trailer; he trailed.

Q. And why did you call him your trailer?

A. Why, because he was an Indian I suppose; we took him to be.

Cross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. You say you were tried for stealing and convicted in 1908? A. I wouldn't say in '98—between 1897 and '98.

Q. Who arested you?

A. Jack Glenn and Mike McDonald.

Q. Then, Pat Delaney didn't have anything to do with arresting you then? A. Not with me, no.

Q. Sure of that? A. Yes, sir.

Q. If he said he did, he is mistaken about it?

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, there is no such proof as that in this case.

The Court: I don't remember—it would follow that if this man is telling the truth about that the other man is mistaken, I think.

Mr. Stuart: Your Honor, let me make this suggestion, if you please. The proof has reference to the arrest of another boy.

Mr. Allen: I will——

The Court: Just a moment; I am hearing argument of counsel.

Mr. Stuart: The proof yesterday, your Honor, with reference to the arrest was as to another boy; that is another case.

The Court: Judge Allen, do you remember the testimony of De Laney that he arrested this boy?

Mr. Allen: He said that he arrested Thomas Atkins with some other boy; arrested him about the same time this boy said that he was arrested.

The Court: This is Alva Adams, I don't remember that the record said that DeLaney arrested Alva Adams.

Mr. Allen: I didn't say so.

Mr. Cruce: Didn't that witness say that he arrested Tommy Atkins but didn't arrest the other two; there was a complaint against three but he didn't arrest the other two.

The Court: Well, the record will show. It follows if DeLaney said that he did and this man knows that he did not, it shows that DeLaney is mistaken.

Q. DeLaney ever arrest you? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever talk to him or he to you about any arrest there? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you hear him say anything about arresting Tommy Atkins? A. No, sir.

Q. You haven't talked about that since you have been in town? A. No, sir.

Q. How long have you been here?

A. I have been here, come here Sunday morning.

Q. Came here as a witness in this case? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who have you talked to since you came to town?

A. Nobody but my lawyers.

Q. But your lawyers? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who are they?

A. Mr. Bond; I can't think of the other gentleman's name.

Q. Hanford? A. Yes, sir, the gentleman right there.

Q. Dennis Jones, have you talked to Dennis Jones?

A. I don't know him.

Q. You don't know Dennis Jones at all?

A. Dennis Jones?

Q. Yes? A. I know a colored man by that name.

Q. Living at Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know Rube Smith? A. Rube Smith? Yes.

Q. Yes, where does he live?

A. I don't know where he lives.

Q. Have you seen him here? A. I think so.

Q. Do you know Pomp Graham? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you come here with him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where were you raised? A. Raised?

Q. Yes? A. At Leavenworth.

Q. What year were you born?

A. 17th day of March, 1886.

Q. When did you commence playing with Tommy Atkins?

A. Why, I don't know just how old I was, but I was between ten—I was a little boy past ten I guess.

Q. Where did you live in Leavenworth?

A. I lived over the Water Works Building at Main and Delaware across from the Union Station.

Q. How far is that from Seneca? A. Four blocks.

Q. You say Granny Letcher lived in the frame building next to the stone building? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Across the street from Crilley's Barn? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And there is where you saw Tommy live? A. Yes, sir.

Q. All of the time you played with him?

A. Well, all the time I played with him, that I don't know, because I was never inside of the house and we very seldom went around there.

Q. You would go in his house and he would go in yours?
A. No, sir, down in the alley.
Q. But you said on direct examination, didn't you, that you knew where Granny lived? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you say that this boy lived there? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You knew he lived there? A. Yes, sir.
Q. He lived there all the time that you knew him?
A. I suppose that is where he lived.
Q. Did you know any of the other boys that lived there?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Who?
A. I knew Tommy Owens, Tommy York, George Warren, Tommy Warren, George Foster, Ernie Ender, Swipe Smith.
Q. Is this the Minnie Enders in the Court Room?
A. Ernie.
Q. He played with Tommy too?
A. I don't know that he did any more than the rest of us did.
Q. All of you boys played there every day?
A. Not every day.
Q. During the ball season you did?
A. Well sometimes we would and sometimes we wouldn't. The boys was up to devilment.
Q. How long did you continue to live in Leavenworth?
A. Well, it was my home up until 1912, but part of the time I wasn't there.
Q. Did you see Tommy in 1912? A. No, sir.
Q. Where did he go to? A. I don't know.
Q. He was a playmate of yours, you played together a great deal, didn't you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. You knew him for years and years, didn't you?
A. Not for years and years, no, sir.
Q. You never knew him until you were ten or twelve ears old? A. Ten or twelve.
Q. You were ten or twelve when you first knew him?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Were you ten or twelve?
A. Well, kid like, I don't know, I wasn't giving my age a hought.
Q. Well, you were a great big boy?
A. Not so very big, I wasn't very large.
Q. You didn't play in Leavenworth before you were ten ears old, did you? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Where did you play then? A. Different places.
Q. Didn't play with Tommy though? A. No, sir.
Q. Tommy associated altogether with white boys, didn't
?

A. Almost always, there was two or three colored boys in our gang.

Q. Granny Letcher ran a house of ill fame there, didn't she? A. I couldn't say that she did.

Q. Your people never objected to your going there and playing with Tommy? A. My people never did know it.

Q. Never did object to your playing with Tommy?

A. They never did know it.

Q. Tommy was a white boy, wasn't he?

A. He was a kind of brown.

Q. Had some Indian blood in him?

A. That is what we all supposed.

Q. You had been associated all your life up to that time with Indians, hadn't you? A. No.

Q. You knew an Indian when you saw one? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where had you seen other Indians?

A. When my father took me on the train with him.

Q. Did you know Indian Mollie at Leavenworth?

A. No, sir.

Q. You heard of her? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you know Indian Mary? A. No, sir.

Q. Never knew Indian Mary? A. No, sir.

Q. What Indian did you know there besides Tommy?

A. I never knew none.

Q. Tommy was the only Indian you saw?

A. I have seen other Indians around there.

Q. What Indians?

A. I don't know, they was just coming and going.

Q. What was there peculiar about this boy?

A. He was our trailer to play war.

Q. Played war? A. Played war.

Q. What was the peculiarity about him, any facial peculiarity about him?

A. No, not any more than there was about anybody else.

Q. He didn't have high cheek bones? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Very high cheek bones? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Any of the rest of the boys there have high cheek bones? A. No, sir.

Q. You remember that very well? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He didn't have any scars on him?

A. Not that I know of.

Q. His hair was very dark? A. His hair was black.

Q. Very black, little kinky?

A. No, sir, straight hair.

Q. Didn't show a particle of negro blood about him?

A. Well, I don't know what you would call that. All I know he had straight hair and high cheek bones.

Q. But you didn't associate with negroes there?

A. Yes, sir, there was one or two negro boys in our gang.

Q. But Tommy wasn't classed as negro boy?

A. We didn't pay particular attention, we were all playing together and were out for fun.

Q. But you thought he was white?

A. Thought he was Indian.

Q. But you thought the other was white?

A. We didn't give a thought, we always considered him an Indian.

Q. Did he look very much like an Indian? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Nearly a full blood?

A. I never gave it a thought.

Q. One of these light red complected Indian?

A. I couldn't say that because I never gave it a thought.

Q. Did he live in the stone house?

A. He lived in the frame house next door to the stone house.

Q. Who lived in the house where Tommy was living?

A. Granny Letcher.

Q. What was the name of the judge who sentenced you to jail? A. Well, I couldn't tell you what his name was.

Q. Don't remember him? A. No, sir.

Q. Didn't that make some impression on you?

A. No, sir, I was too scared.

Q. You were not scared all the time you were in jail, were you? A. No, sir.

Q. You had time to reflect and think about that charge after you got in jail?

A. I never gave that Judge a thought.

Q. He was a long whiskered man or not?

A. I can't remember.

Q. Don't remember a thing about his face?

A. No, sir, I don't remember his face.

Q. Who do you say arrested you?

A. Reddy Mike and Jack Glenn.

Q. Took you to the County Jail or City Jail?

A. County Jail.

Q. Were you tried in the District Court or in a Justice Court? A. I couldn't tell you what Court it was.

Q. Were you tried by a jury? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you plead guilty? A. I never did plead guilty.

Q. You didn't plead guilty? A. No, sir.

Q. They just took you up there and sent you to jail without a trial?

A. No, sir, they had a trial and one of the other boys there told about it.

Q. Who was the other boy that was tried? A. Billy Clay.

The Court: He was the boy that told about it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was he tried? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And sent to jail with you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where is he now? A. I don't know.

Q. This man who just left the witness stand, how long have you known him? A. Who was that?

Q. Higgins?

A. Higgins, I have known him almost all my life.

Q. Do you work together? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are you related? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How? A. He is my brother-in-law.

Q. He is your wife's brother?

A. No sir, my sister's husband.

Q. Did he come to you with Pomp Graham?

A. Pomp Graham come to us.

Q. You were together when Pomp Graham come to you?

A. No sir, I was in one part of the factory and he was in the other.

Q. Which one did Pomp come to first?

A. He come to Higgins.

Q. When was that? A. Last week.

Q. Then Pomp and Higgins came to you? A. Yes sir.

Q. That was last week? A. Last week sometime.

Q. That was the first time you had heard about this case, was it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The first time your brother-in-law had heard about it?

A. As far as I know it was.

Q. He had never mentioned this to you before?

A. No sir.

Q. And neither had Pomp Graham? A. No, sir.

Q. What did Pomp and your brother-in-law say to you when they came to you?

A. They asked me if I knew Tommy Atkins. Pomp asked me if I knew Tommy Atkins from Leavenworth and I told him yes.

Q. What else did he say?

A. He told me they had a case in Oklahoma and if I knew Tommy Atkins he asked if I would be a witness and I told him I would.

Q. People never called this boy Texas Tommy, did they?

A. Not that I ever heard.

Q. You never heard him called Texas Tommy in his life?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did call Tommy York Texas Tommy?

A. Not that I heard.

Q. What boy that you played with did they call Texas Tommy? A. None that I knew.

Q. They called this boy Tommy Atkins?

A. Tommy, Indian Tommy and Trailer.

Q. Did they call him by all three names all the time?

A. No, some at one and some another.

Q. Who called him Trailer?

A. I principally called him Trailer, and sometimes I called him Tommy.

Q. You never did call him Tommy Atkins, did you?

A. No.

Q. What other boys called him Tommy Atkins?

A. Willie Warren.

Q. Willie Warren always referred to him as Tommy Atkins?? A. He didn't always.

Q. How else did he refer to him?

A. Well, he called him Indian Tommy.

Q. But he always called him Indian Tommy or Tommy Atkins? A. Sometimes Indian.

Q. Who called him Indian Tommy?

A. All of us if it come to your mind we would say Indian Tommy; some would say where is Indian at.

Q. Did you inquire about him after he left there?

A. No, sir, I left myself.

Q. When did you leave?

A. I left right after I got out of jail.

Q. What time was that? A. Ninety-eight sometime.

Q. In 1898 just after getting out of jail you left there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you met Tommy in 1897?

A. Didn't meet him in 1897.

Q. When did you meet him?

A. Between the time I was ten years old and that.

Q. If you were ten years old—— You were ten years old in 1896? A. I never figured the dates.

Q. But you never met him until after you were ten or twelve years old? A. No, sir.

Q. And you never saw him after you got out of jail?

A. No, sir.

Q. And that was in 1898? A. I think it was in 1898.

Q. He was living at Granny's when you left there?

A. Well, that I don't know. I spent the last sixty days in jail, I don't know what become of him in the meantime.

Q. He was living at Granny's when you went to jail?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he was living at Granny's when you first knew him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you been back to Leavenworth since then?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you go back recently?

A. I went to St. Joe and was there about a year and eight months.

Q. Then, did you go back to Leavenworth? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you see Tommy then? A. No, sir.

Q. Tommy was gone? A. Tommy was gone.

Q. Did you inquire about Tommy?

A. No, sir, my life had changed from then and I had started working and never had the same views.

Q. What did you do at St. Joe?

A. I worked for the National Biscuit Company in the Candy Department.

Q. Did you know any of the other boys there at Granny Letcher's?

A. Why, I knew one that was around up there but he always seemed to me like he was older than I was. He was a negro with one arm.

Q. Did you know a little Indian looking boy there called Walter Banks? A. No, sir.

Q. You knew Sam Nash, the one armed boy, quite well?

A. No, I never knew him very well.

Q. He sometimes played ball with you? A. Not with me.

Q. Did you know him for several years?

A. I knew him seeing him around.

Q. You knew him all your life? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you first get acquainted with him?

A. I never became very much acquainted with him.

Q. But you saw him around Granny's there?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And he and this Tommy were the only boys you ever saw around Granny's, they were the only boys that lived at Granny's?

A. I don't know that this one armed nigger lived there at all, that I couldn't say.

Q. How old is Sam now?

A. I don't know how old he is.

Examination by the Court.

Q. Sam is the one with one hand? A. Yes, sir.

Q. About how old was he when you used to be around there playing with Tommy? A. Sam Nash?

Q. Yes? A. I don't know.

Q. What was your judgment?

A. I judge at least six or seven years older than me.

Q. When you and Tommy were playing together there, which was the older, you or Tommy?

A. I think Tommy was older than I am.

Q. How much would you think he is older than you are?

A. A year or so.

Q. A year or so older than you are? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who was it arrested with you? A. Billy Clay.

Q. Tommy Atkins wasn't in that deal, so far as you know?

A. So far as I know he wasn't.

Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. Do you know that you were born in March, '86?

A. I don't know it, I am just taking my mother's word for it.

Q. And you heard them say Tommy was born in the spring of '85, haven't you?

A. No, sir, never heard that, I don't know that he was.

Q. Now, was he a year or two years or three years older than you? A. I don't know.

Q. He was considerably older than you?

A. He was older than I was, I consider him, yes, sir.

Q. Considerably older? A. No, sir, a year or so.

Q. Now, where did you play in 1891? A. 1891.

Q. Yes? A. That is too far back.

Q. When you were five years old?

A. I can't remember that.

Q. Do you know where you played in 1892? A. 1892?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. 1893? A. No, sir.

Q. 1894? A. No, sir.

Q. 1895? A. No.

Q. 1896?

A. 1896, I think I was playing around on Delaware street.

Q. That was when you commenced playing with Tommy?

A. When I first moved down there I didn't get acquainted with Tommy.

Examination by the Court.

Q. When did you first move down there?

A. When we moved down there?

Q. How old were you?

A. I suppose I was about nine or ten.

Q. Where had you lived just before that, where did you live before you moved down there, that is how far away from there as a boy six, seven and eight years old, where did you live, what part of the City?

A. We moved so many times. I can tell you the name of the places.

Q. Before you moved down there, how near had you lived to this place before in any of the places?

A. Before, we lived on Second and Pottawatomie and on Miami between Third and Fourth.

Q. That would be about how far from where Granny Letcher's place was? A. About two blocks.

Q. You lived at those places about how long before you moved down in this other place, several years? A. Oh, no.

Q. I mean while you were six, seven, and eight years old, can you tell me about how far you lived from where Tommy lived? A. No, I can't. I can't remember.

Q. When did you start to school, how old were you then?

A. About, well, I couldn't remember.

Q. Five or six? A. Along in there somewhere.

Q. What school did you go to, what was the first school you went to? A. Morris School.

Q. And where were you living then, how far from where Granny Letcher lived?

A. I don't remember where I lived. I remember going to school at the Morris School.

Q. Do you remember how long you went to the Morris School. About how long; did you finally change to some other school? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What? A. I changed to Oak Street School.

Q. About how old were you when you went to the Oak Street School? A. About ten I think.

Q. About ten; that was about the time you met Tommy?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know whether Tommy went to school or not?

A. No.

Q. No? A. I don't know.

Q. But you never had seen Tommy until you moved down into that neighborhood. Now, where did you move to with reference to where Granny Letcher lived when you were about ten years old and first met Tommy?

A. Where did I move to when I first met Tommy?

Q. Yes? A. To the waterworks building.

Q. Now, how far from Granny Letcher's?

A. Four blocks.

Q. Four blocks. How far had you been living from Granny Letcher's before that? A. Before that?

Q. About how many blocks? A. Oh, quite a ways.

Q. Quite a ways? A. Yes, sir.

Q. A good deal farther than four blocks?

A. Yes, sir, a good deal farther than four blocks.

Q. Had you ever lived within four or five blocks of Granny Letcher's until you moved down to this waterworks building?

A. Yes, sir, when I was just a little bit of tad.

Q. About how old?

A. I don't remember how old but I was just a little bit of thing.

Q. Before you started to school? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Allen.

Q. Where did you live then when you were just a little bit of boy?

A. Lived down on Miami between Third and Fourth.

Q. Well, that is right there next to 217 Seneca, isn't it? About a block away? A. Yes, two blocks.

Q. You didn't play with Tommy in those days, did you?

A. No, sir, I never got out to play with anybody.

Q. Now, you knew Alex and Joe Friedman, didn't you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. They played with Tommy, too, didn't they?

A. Well, those boys didn't hardly play with anybody.

Q. They were in your parties there?

A. No, their father wouldn't allow them out with us.

Q. Their father wouldn't? A. No, sir.

Q. But they knew you and you knew them? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Browse, Senny Browse, did you know them?

A. Browse?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir, I knew them.

Q. They played with you boys?

A. No, sir, they never played with us.

Q. You all knew them and he knew you, didn't he?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Solly Browse? A. Sally Browse? Yes.

Q. That a boy or girl?

A. Yes—no, I was thinking it was a boy; there were three boys and one girl; I don't know what the girl's name is.

Q. This Solly, that is a boy is a boy, isn't it?

A. Sol, we called him, Sol.

Q. He played with you boys didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. You didn't play with him? A. No, sir.

Q. He knew you boys and you knew him? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, what boys did you play with when you were six or seven years old?

A. Six or seven years old—I can't remember what boys we played with when I was six or seven.

Q. Didn't you play with some boys when you were that old? A. I might have; I don't remember who they were.

Q. What boys did you play with when you were 8 or 9 years old?

A. Eight or nine years old? Well, I played with a boy name of Cotty Conly.

Q. Where is he now? A. I don't know where he is at.

Q. Where did you live then?

A. We lived on Second and Chestnut.

Q. How far is that from Granny Letcher's?

Q. About a mile.

Q. You knew where Granny Letcher lived then, of course?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. She was living then on Seneca street?

A. I knew where Granny Letcher lived then?

Q. Yes? A. When I was living at Second and Chestnut?

Q. Yes? A. No, sir.

Q. You said yes a while ago; you were mistaken about that?

A. I was mistaken about that, when I lived at Second and Chestnut.

Q. You played though, with Tommy, didn't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. And you never saw Tommy or heard of him in your life until 1897 or '98? A. I played with Tommy before 1897.

Q. In 1896 you played with him?

A. I wouldn't say 1896; I played with him up until the time I got sentenced in jail.

Q. Well, how long had you been playing with him when you got sentenced to jail?

A. A couple of years, I expect.

Q. Two years?

A. Probably two years; sometime around there. I didn't give no particular attention to the time.

Q. Prior to the time that you commenced to play with him, you had never seen or heard of him in your life?

A. No, sir.

Q. And haven't seen or heard of him since then?

A. No, sir.

Q. Until Pomp Graham came to you with your brother-in-law? A. No, sir.

Q. You remembered him before he mentioned his name?

A. I remembered all the boys.

Q. Remembered all the boys that you played with in '97, '98 and '96? A. '96, around there; yes, sir.

Q. But you can't remember any of the boys that you played with before then, can you? A. Before that?

Q. Yes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Well, I am trying to get you to tell me who you played with before '96.

A. Before '96? I just started to tell you.

Q. Alright; tell me? A. Cotty Conly.

Q. When did you play with Cotty Conly?

A. When I lived at Second and Chestnut.

Q. How long did you play with him?

A. We never lived out there very long, until we moved from there to the water-works building.

Q. Then you didn't play with him any more? A. No, sir.

Q. Who else did you play with at that same time?

A. Albert Thompson.

Q. Where is Albert now?

A. I don't know; I don't know where any of the boys are.

Q. Who else did you play with then? A. Carl Sheeps.

Q. Where is he now? A. I don't know.

Q. Who else did you play?

A. A boy named of Prather; Henry Prather.

Q. Is that all you remember now?

A. All I remember out there.

Q. Now, before you went there, who did you play with?

A. With these boys you mean?

Q. Yes, Second street.

A. That is going back too far; I don't remember.

Q. You don't remember who you played with after that?

A. After that?

Q. Yes? A. After this——

Q. Except Tommy and his crowd?

A. I remember after this who I played with.

Q. Pomp Graham asked you if you played with these boys, didn't he? A. Asked me if I knew them.

Q. Asked you if you knew these other boys, too, didn't he? A. No; he asked me if I knew Tommy Atkins.

Q. Asked you there if you knew these other boys, didn't he? A. No, sir.

Q. What did Tommy Atkins call Granny Letcher?

A. I don't know, sir.

Q. He didn't call her aunty, did he?

A. I don't know; we never spoke of——

Q. How did you spell his name?

A. I don't know how to spell it.

Q. Was it A-d-k-i-n-s, or A-i-k-i-n-s?

A. I don't know; A-t-k-i-n-s is my notion now but then I didn't know about it.

Q. That is your notion now? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you read much about this in the Leavenworth papers? A. No, sir.

Q. The first time you knew about it was from Pomp Graham and your brother-in-law? A. Yes, sir.

Cross Examination by Mr. Cobb.

Q. What kind of ball was it you played?

A. We never played ball at all; generally played marbles and war was our principal game.

Q. I thought you said that you played ball and called Tommy Atkins trailer? A. No, sir, I said played war.

Q. Played war? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time of year was it you played?

A. I can't tell what time—the date it was.

Q. Summer or winter?

A. It was in the fall because we used to use the sunflowers for arrows.

Q. This Tommy Atkins that you say was just about a year or two younger than yourself, was that your best recollection? A. No, sir, he was about a year or two older.

Q. A year or two older? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I believe you described him in other ways except his eyes. What was the color of his eyes?

A. Well, pretty near the same color of his hair; they were about black.

Q. About black eyes? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Inclined to be rather large eyes or small eyes?

A. Well, they were not very small.

Q. Large eyes, weren't they?

A. About medium sized, I think; I never paid particular attention to his eyes.

Q. You know they were not small eyes?

A. They were not small eyes.

Q. Did you notice any scars on his hand? A. No, sir.

Q. Anything here, or his wrist, or his arm?

A. No, sir, I never paid no attention to it.

Q. They might have been there and you never known anything about it? A. I didn't know anything about it.

Q. Did you ever notice any peculiar marks of any kind on his body? A. No, sir.

Q. They might have been there and might have not?

A. They might have been there; if they were, I didn't know it.

Q. You didn't know it?

Recross Examination by Mr. Allen.

Q. How much are you being paid for attending here as a witness? A. Well, they are paying me my time.

Q. What is that?

A. Amounts to about seventy dollars a month.

Q. How much? A. About seventy dollars a month.

Q. Well, do they pay you seventy dollars? A. No, sir.

Q. How much do they pay you?

A. They gave me twenty dollars to pay my fare with.

Q. To pay your fare down here? A. And my expenses.

Q. Who agreed to pay you?

A. Mr. Graham—Pomp Graham gave me the twenty dollar bill.

Q. Did he give your brother-in-law a twenty dollar bill also? A. I think so.

Q. And he told you that Mr. Page would take care of you when you got here, didn't he?

A. He said he would have our expenses paid.

Q. And you are staying at the Severs? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Are you married? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is your wife with you? A. No, sir.

Q. And how much per day are they paying you?

A. My wages.

Q. Your wages? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And all expenses? A. And expenses.

Q. Pomp bought your ticket, didn't he?

A. No, sir, I bought my ticket.

Q. Out of the twenty dollars? A. Yes, sir.

By the Court.

Q. Do you think this boy Tommy Atkins' features were so familiar to you then that you would probably know him now if you would see him?

A. Yes, sir, I think that I would know him if I ever seen him.

By Mr. Allen.

Q. Stand up. Is that the boy you saw? A. No, sir.

Q. That is not the boy you saw? You didn't know Walter Banks by that name at Grammy Letcher's? A. No, sir.

The Court: The record may show that at the—following the question, at the suggestion of the counsel for the Government, the defendant Henry Carter stood up, and that he was the person that the witness was interrogated about in regard to whether he was the Tommy Atkins that he had been testifying about.

Witness dismissed.

Mr. Hanford: At this time, your Honor, we wish to offer the deposition of Eloe Crilley, beginning at page 1592 of the depositions taken before Mr. Penick.

ELOF A. CRILLEY, being called on behalf of the defendants Page and Minnie Atkins, and being first duly sworn, under oath testified as follows:

Direct Examination by Mr. Stuart.

Q. What is your name? A. Elof A. Crilley.

Q. Where do you live, Mr. Crilley?

A. Live at 3032 Johnson, Kansas City, Missouri.

A. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Q. In what year? A. March 20th, 1880.

Q. Did you in your early youth at any time go away from Kansas City? A. Never was in Kansas City——

Q. Leavenworth, Kansas? A. Leavenworth?

Q. Yes, if so, about what year did you go away?

A. In 1889 I was gone right close to a year is my nearest recollection.

Q. In 1889? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Do you know where your father's barn was?

A. Known as 220 and 222 Seneca Street.

Q. Do you know who lived nearly across the street from your father's barn?

A. There were two houses, one was occupied by colored people, and the other one was a stone—part of it stone building.

Q. What colored people occupied the building nearly opposite your father?

A. An elderly lady, colored lady name of Mrs.—we called her Granny Letcher, and others lived with her.

Q. And others? You may state whether or not when you returned in 1889 where your father lived in that community—had a house there?

A. In 1889, he lived on Fourth and Miami.

Q. Did you ever live on Seneca?

A. Previous to that time we had lived in the old Seneca house.

Q. How long did you live at the old Seneca House?

A. Up until I was about six years old, I think.

Q. Do you know whether the old Seneca house was destroyed or not? A. I think it burned down.

Q. By fire? A. I think it burned down.

Q. Do you know whether or not your father rebuilt it?

A. He built another house on the same place.

Q. Now, you may state whether or not after your return you ever lived in the new Seneca House?

A. Yes, sir, lived there up until the time I was married.

Q. What time was that?

A. That was, I think it was built in 1891 or the early part of 1892.

Q. Now, how long did you live there as a boy?
